Texas Needs $215 Million More Next Two Years for Debts, Improvements

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Texas will need $215,000,000 in new money during the next two years to pay its debts and make needed improvements.

This is the conclusion of the State Finance Advisory Commission. To get the money, the Commission is officially recommending a one percent, state-payroll tax as a revenue source that would grow as the state grows. Half the tax would be paid by employers, half by employees.

The Commission made a six-months study of the state's fiscal problems at Gov. Price Daniel's request. It is made up of leaders from the fields of business, labor, and the professions.

As a second choice, the Commission proposed increasing selective sales taxes. Main emphasis, however, was on the payroll tax which, it was noted, both employers and employees could deduct from federal income taxes.

In addition, the Commission endorsed several secondary methods of fattening the treasury. Among them: increasing college tuition, enacting the governor's abandoned property measure, halting refunds of gasoline taxes to non-highway users.

The Commission outlined need for 1961-63 spending increases that would total approximately $189,000,000. Extra money would go to: (1) public school improvements, including $400 a year raises for teachers, (2) medical care for the aged, (3) faculty raises in state colleges and universities, (4) expansion of the state hospital and prison systems, (5) increasing legislators' salaries as provided by constitutional amendment, and (6) stepping up the state water program, parks development, tourist and industry promotion and several others.

Besides this $189,000,000, the state will need an estimated $70,000,000 to cover the deficit in the general revenue fund. This brings total new needs to $259,000,000. But the Commission believes increased income from present sources could bring in as much as $44,000,000, leaving only $215,000,000 to be raised.

A payroll tax, according to the Commission estimates, would bring in $217,000,000 in the two-year period ahead.

HELP FOR RETARDED ASKED

State Hospital Board has been urged to make another try at getting a new school for retarded children in the 1961-63 budget.

The Board had originally included a request for $1,500,000 for a school in the Gulf Coast area in its budget, but took it out after budget officials said the Capital budget was too big.

Harvey Phillips, president of the Texas Association for Retarded Children, said the school was badly needed. State schools for retarded children have long waiting lists of applicants.

At present the Board is seeking to expand present schools quickly with low-cost housing units. Phillips said the Association recognizes the necessity for this, but feels the state should move toward having smaller schools in more locations.

BROKERAGE LOANS HELD ILLEGAL

Austin Court of Civil Appeals upheld a district court decision outlawing a brokerage system for loan companies.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, who filed the suit against an Austin loan company and a Corpus Christi loan company, called the ruling "an important victory in the war against loan sharks."

According to the attorney general's charges, people who borrowed money from the Austin company had to pay a brokerage fee to the Austin loan company for obtaining the money from the Corpus Christi company. Appeals court agreed with the trial court that this was an illegal means of charging excessively for loans.

Attorney General Wilson said the Corpus Christi firm has such brokerage arrangements with about 175 loan companies over the state.

ADC TOTALS DROP

Development of a corps of intensively trained case workers resulted in a 17 percent drop in aid to dependent children payments, says the State Welfare Department.

In the past fiscal year the number of families receiving ADC declined from 23,147 to 19,662 for a saving of $3,103,614. The Department said specialization enabled case workers to help some of the ADC families overcome their problems.

The Department report also showed a decline in the number receiving old age assistance — from 5.38 percent of the population over 65 to 5.29 percent. Average monthly check for year was $52.89.

SCHOOL LEASES SOLD

High bids totaled $6,536,606 in the first sale of drilling rights on Texas school land since the U. S. Supreme Court affirmed state ownership of 10.5 mile-wide tidelands.

Twenty of the 243 tracts on which leases were sold are in Kleberg County.

Money from the sale will be added to the $440,000,000 already in the permanent school fund. Only earnings from the investment of this fund may be spent on the schools.

A sale of mineral leases on University of Texas lands had been scheduled for March, but has been postponed.

SHORT SNORTS
Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the conviction of a Houston man for using hypnosis to treat illness. A 30-day jail sentence and $500 fine were assessed in trial court. Jerry Sadler, who is to become land commissioner January 1, announced he will appoint Tom Stilwell of Palestine as chief clerk of the land office. Stilwell is a former House member. Abilene State School has failed to follow recommended procedures for keeping track of money. State Auditor C. H. Cabness said in his audit report. Cabness said he had suggested before that one employee open students' mail in the presence of another, removing any money and making a record of it before it leaves the mail room. The school houses 1,577 mentally retarded children.

Dear Santa:
We are a little girl and boy who live way up north. I'm Sherry, 3 1-2 years and my brother David, 1 1-2 years. I would like a big doll baby and a stove and refrigerator. My brother David would like a telephone and a dancing top. Also some candy and nuts.
We love you,
Sherry and David Standley

Teachers Show Concern Over Money Decisions

Officials of the Texas State Teachers Association expressed a deep disappointment and concern regarding recommendations by the State Finance Advisory Commission for improvement in education.

TSTA Pres. Richard Bowles of Austin said the governor's citizen commission recommended only one-half of the base increase in teacher salaries proposed by TSTA for presentation to the 57th Legislature.

"The total State expenditures for improvement of education recommended by the commission is $37.5 million for the biennium, compared with $160 million required to finance the full TSTA-Hale-Aikin Program," Bowles noted.

"This would mean only $28.7 million per year which is only one-third of the amount requested and is little more than $10 per student," Bowles pointed out. "This will not provide material improvements in the public school system of Texas."

Bowles expressed appreciation for the commission's efforts and for the time they have devoted to the study.

Nevertheless, he explained, the $3,600 minimum teacher pay proposed by the commission is $400 short of the $4,000 minimum which has been recommended and approved by TSTA, the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, and other organizations interested in education.

The $4,000 minimum was presented to the Legislature in 1959 and is fully supported by recommendations which the 254 county Hale-Aikin committees made more than two years ago.

The TSTA president said that TSTA will present its full program to the 57th Legislature with the knowledge that it already has the endorsement of thousands of Texas citizens.

"Recognizing the real emergency which confronts our schools, we solicit the understanding and support of this program by every Texan who is concerned with providing better educational opportunities for Texas children to meet the demands of our rapidly changing times," he declared.

The TSTA program calls for, among other things: A beginning annual salary of $4,014, for a bachelor degree teacher (present $3,204); an increase of $380 per school bus; and an average increase of $125 per teacher for maintenance and operation.

Christmas Greetings . . .

Down through the centuries the Star of Bethlehem sheds its light. The Christmas spirit, as exemplified by good will and thoughtfulness of others, is one of the fine and permanent things in a changed and ever changing world.

Christmas is the anniversary of the greatest event in history and it is the day of days. Its outward symbols may not be the same as in by-gone years, but its deeper meaning is as eternal as time itself. The more happiness we give the more we have

McMILLAN CLEANERS

Woodman! Don't Spare Those Christmas Trees

Some people think the cutting and selling of trees and evergreens at Christmas is a wasteful practice. Forestry experts, however, disagree.

Sales of Christmas trees put millions of extra dollars into circulation each year, and do not deplete our natural forests. Most of these trees are grown on farms especially for the seasonal purpose.

The others are trees which have been thinned out of logging stands. Their growth there takes up space that the larger trees need. And, these small trees would probably be eliminated in the struggle for earth and breathing space anyway.

FIRS FAVORED

The biggest selling tree for Christmas is the Balsam fir, which comes from New England and the Northeastern United States.

Douglas fir is the second choice, followed by spruces (the Black, cedar and white).

Combined, these five trees constitute about two-thirds of all sales.

The other popular trees are Scotch pine, Southern pine, red spruce, Virginia pine, white fir, Norway spruce, hemlock, cypress and juniper.

CARD DISPLAY

Here's a novel way to display cards: Color thin wooden dowels with vegetable dyes or ink and arrange them in a decorated container and spike your cards on to the end of each dowel.

Incidentally, it will look prettier if you keep the dowels at different heights. The effect is like a bouquet of lovely Christmas cards.

WREATH MAKING

It's fun and easy to make your own Della Robbia wreath. You can buy evergreen roping of the length you desire. Form a circle with it. Then with wire attach fruit and nuts that have been dipped in white shellac. It's good to use crab apples, pears, limes, lemons, tangerines, kumquats, grapes and cranberries. Wash the fruit before you shellac them.

LIGHT PLANE ALIGHTS—Crane crew gently eases a light plane out of a tree in Peoria, Ill. Pilot John Zimmerman climbed down unhurt after the craft landed in the branches 40 feet above the ground.

Make Your Holiday 100% Safe This Christmas

Don't let your Christmas be marred by the tragedy of fire. Read and follow the following good rules from the National Fire Protection Association . . . they could save the lives of you and your family!

Choice of Tree

Pick out a fresh-cut tree . . . it's fresh if the needles stay on when you bounce the butt hard on the ground; if you cannot pull needles out of the end of branches easily, and if the stump cut is sticky with resin.

Keep the tree out of doors standing in water or snow, until right before Christmas. Remove the tree from the house after Christmas as soon as possible.

Don't get a tree that's any larger than you need . . . the bigger the tree, the greater the hazard.

Before putting the tree up, saw off the trunk at an angle at least one inch above the regular cut. Then stand the tree in a solid support and in water. Check the water level at least once a day.

Do not place the tree near sources of heat or where it could block the exit out of the house in case it should burn and fall.

About Lighting

Never use candles on a tree. Use only electric lighting sets that bear the UL (Underwriters' Laboratories) label. Be careful about imported sets and bulbs . . . some are hazardous.

Check lighting sets each year before using . . . for frayed wires, loose connections, and broken sockets.

Other hints: Don't plug too many cords into one outlet; make certain all tree lights are off before leaving the house or retiring for night; and if you intend to do any extensive lighting, don't try to do your own wiring.

Decorations—Wrapping

Don't let Christmas wrappings accumulate in your home. Burn them as soon as possible.

Use non-combustible material (metal, glass, asbestos, etc.) to decorate your home, whenever possible. Or, be sure combustible materials are "flameproofed." Untreated cotton batting, paper and some inexpensive cloth ignite easily and burn with great intensity if not "flame-proofed."

About Your Gifts

Don't buy pyrozylin plastic dolls, toys or non-flameproofed costumes, etc. Toys operated by alcohol, kerosene or gasoline are especially dangerous. And, don't set up electric trains or spirit-fueled toys under a Christmas tree.

Remember, Too . . .

Have plenty of ash trays around and see that they are used. Do not allow smoking near the tree, amidst decorations or piles of wrappings.

Guard against flying sparks from a fireplace with a substantial screen, and do not use the fireplace to burn Christmas wrappings and decorations.

Be sure to practice all the other everyday rules for fire prevention . . . and be prepared if fire should strike.

Have water-type fire extinguishers that work, buckets of water, or your garden hose connected to a faucet, within reach of the tree.

Best of all — take every precaution that your Christmas be safe as well as merry.

TO BALLINGER

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Patterson and Mike plan to spend Christmas in Ballinger with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Graves.

You can make a traditional Kissing Ball by poking sprigs of evergreen into a foam ball. Tuck a bit of mistletoe at the bottom; attach a big bow at the top. It's ready to hang from the ceiling.

Always Right For Man's Gift

If you're doubtful about what to give any man on your list, play it safe—give him a handsome shirt. No matter how many he already has, a new one to brighten his wardrobe is always a definite success.

Another good feature, you'll have a wide selection to pick from both in material and price. Naturally, there are sports type shirts and dressy styles, and it's always wise to fit the gift to the man's mode of living.

The important fashion news in male attire this season has been the slim, continental look, so shirts have followed the trend . . . with fancy fabrics, fancy patterns and fronts and cuffs. Pastels have joined the color parade . . . pleats and even embroidering have found enthusiastic followers . . . and stripes and bamboo patterns are especially popular.

For older men, white shirts are the most desirable, for both business and dressier occasions. But, for the younger set this holiday season, you can really be bold and gay . . . the more so the merrier.

Best Wishes

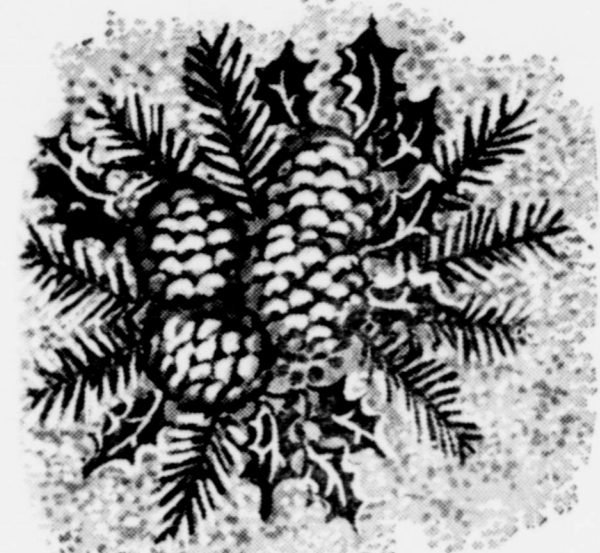

For a Merry Christmas!

Edward Joe Nitsch Killed In Oilfield Accident Saturday

Edward Joe (Poncho) Nitsch, 50, was killed instantly in an oil field accident seven miles north east of Ballinger on the Malone lease. He was caught between two trucks in the process of moving a rig.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 10:30 in Spill Memorial Chapel with the Rev. B. T. Shoemaker, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. The Rev. Ray Elliott, pastor of the First Methodist Church, assisted and burial was in the Crews Cemetery. Employees of J. E. Cox and Sons served as pallbearers.

Survivors include his wife; one daughter, Cecile, a senior in Winters High School, three sisters, Mrs. Edna Mae Ludwig of New Braunfels, Mrs. Lorena Sammann of Hawthorne, California and Mrs. Clara Holman of Whiteman Air Force Base, Missouri; two brothers, Alvin and Joe Nitsch, both of Winters. Three children preceded him in death.

Queen." Universal - International's feature length animated cartoon in full color.

At Local Movies

Art Linkletter one of the master talents of show business, also is one of the busiest men in or out of the entertainment world. Nevertheless, he eagerly took the time to star in a special prologue for "The Snow Queen," feature length animated cartoon in full color which is based on Hans Christian Andersen's widely-read fable and which opens Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre.

This brilliant and amusing picture is considerably enhanced by the use Universal-International made of Linkletter's prologue and the voices of many top Hollywood personalities headed by Sandra Dee, Tommy Kirk and Patty McCormack, talking for the cartoon characters.

Linkletter is a perfect example of that old saying that if you want something done, ask a busy man to do it. How he manages to crowd all of his activities into a 24-hour day, long has been one of Hollywood's mysteries. First of all he has his two regular shows, "House Party" and "People Are Funny," both of which are on both TV and radio. In addition, he's a best-selling author, active in a score of charities and a businessman with interests in some 20 corporations.

"The Apartment"

Billy Wilder's newest film, "The Apartment," is a comedy, but that description only skims the surface of the film's intent. It also contains pathos, near-tragedy, satire and a wealth of observation on life.

"The Apartment," which opens On Sunday and Monday at the State Theatre through United Artists release, is a biting view of deed and action in the aspirin age, with emphasis on the pursuit of money and sex. It stars Jack Lemmon (in a role that for the first time exploits to the fullest degree what is acknowledged to be the finest young comedy talent in Hollywood), Shirley MacLaine and Fred MacMurray.

The strong supporting cast of "The Apartment" is headed by Ray Walston, David Lewis, Jack Kruschen, Joan Shawlee, Edie Adams (in her movie debut) and Hope Holiday.

Mary Lou Snow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Snow of Altus, Okla., and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Dobbins, is the recipient of the largest freshman scholarship ever awarded an Altus high school student, according to an article appearing in the Altus Times-Democrat.

Dr. Teresa G. Frisch, chairman of the Wesley Committee on scholarships, stated the award would be formally announced next May. She indicated that similar stipends would be available for Miss Snow during her three years in school with an opportunity for a combination scholarship, interest free loan and campus job no more than five hours weekly.

Mary Lou, a senior in Altus High school, was recently voted "most likely to succeed" by her classmates.

So Many Gifted Ways To Please Your Menfolk

A new Yuletide custom is for the entire family to chip in and buy their favorite male something big.

A handsome wool outerjacket is one gift, whether he's sixteen or sixty, that's really appreciated.

Even junior will be glad the folks gave him a good-looking emilton cloth outerjacket with a warm wool shawl collar. It's smart and practical, just what boys and youths are wearing today.

Wool plaid outerjackets are the right gift for the out-of-doors man too. Keep the hunter happy and warm in the new safety color—yellow—now being endorsed by hunting and safety clubs. Yellow wool hunting shirts, caps and outerjackets are shown too.

For other warmly - welcomed gifts, choose wool socks in either fancy designs or conservative ribs . . . sleeveless lamb's wool sweaters, in gay solid colors to go with a checked or striped Shetland sports coat . . . or, comfortable wool slipper-socks for at - home ease.

Wool flannel slacks are new in pleatless types . . . backstrap and buckle . . . for young men. The more mature look best in pleated trousers. But whatever the style, remember that all - wool slacks hold a sharp crease.

FROM AUSTIN

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Young of Austin plan to spend the Christmas holidays visiting in the homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bedford and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Young.

True Date of Christ's Birth A Mystery

Christmas is, indeed, a Happy Holiday around the world . . . and in most countries it is also a beautiful time, filled with traditions honoring the Birth of the Child, Jesus.

"Christmas comes but once a year" — but when does it come and when is it supposed to come? The exact date of Jesus' birth has been disputed by scholars for centuries. In fact, about all they agree on is that it is not December 25.

Certainly not everyone celebrates Christ's birth on December 25. At one time or another, celebrations have been held in January, March, April, May, October, November, and December. The date in December differ too, even today.

Why all the confusion? Well there are several reasons. One is that the Bible does not furnish many clues. Second is that the ancient manuscripts differ. Third, the interpretations of these manuscripts differ. And yet another reason is that calendars have been changed over the years.

Most scholars estimate that the true date falls in late August or early September.

It is not even certain why December 25 was chosen, though there is one generally accepted reason. Saturnalia was the great Roman Holiday and it came around the third week of December. Christian leaders hoped that celebrating Christmas at this time would lessen the impact of the pagans' festival.

Also, December in all civilized lands in the early centuries was the time of many Winter festivities.

It really seems that the only agreement on this celebration is that it commemorates the birth of Jesus Christ. The dates differ widely; the names for the occasion are many; the myriad means of showing happiness cannot be counted—but it is a wondrous time, our December 25th, and we say "a very Merry Christmas."

It's Easy To Rate With Guys With Fashionable Gift Buys — In Winters

Who says, "men are hard to buy for"? Well, lots of women do, but if they would down their fears of giving men clothing—a whole new huge area of gift possibilities would open up. Men seldom hesitate to give women fashion gifts, why not vice versa!

Here's Some Help
A man can never have too many pairs of slacks and the selection for his leisure hours is wide and wonderful.

No matter what his taste, conservative or liberal, plaid will get his vote. They range from an almost indiscernible pattern to extremely bold.

The style trend is back to the traditional slacks with belt loops, standard slash pockets, and single pleats. Either cuff or cuffless are acceptable.

Sport Coats
Once again, never can he have too many! In this era of casual dress, sport coats go to the office, country club and country. The pattern and color designate the "where to wear."

The color guide for '61 clear through Spring designates the leaders as gold, green, wine, navy blues. Patterns will be bolder and brighter than ever, but there are many smart solids and more subdued patterns.

Sport Shirts
A good way to give yourself a gift, if you're gifting a hubby or son—is with a stack of sport shirts in easy-care fabrics.

Knit sport shirts are coming into greater favor with men of every age, too. These may be seen in patterns as well as solids, in almost every style.

Sweaters
Bulkies belong in every man's wardrobe. These are no longer the college man's uniform. This season they are lighter, brighter, fashioned for every age and taste.

The neckline is the important style point and the V is the important look. It takes off in deep V yokes, collars that roll into a V shape, high V necks with or without collar.

Cardigans have a new look with five or six buttons and sometimes come in vest styling.

Throughout the sweater picture, pattern is the big thing . . . taking off from the classic ski sweater, and ribbing often makes the pattern.

Men like good - looking, warm jackets for wear while hunting, football spectating, garden putting, or what have you. And, there are jackets for every occasion. Parkas are as important in fashion this season for men as for women, and many suburban coat features pile or fur linings and collars.

Dressy Casuals
If you know your man well enough to select a suit for him—look into the new country suits. These usually consist of a coat, vest and trousers, some with two pairs of slacks—one to match and one to harmonize.

These smart suits may be in a solid color with a patterned vest, or vice versa.
You don't have to worry about alterations. Inquire when you make your purchase about having this matter taken care of after Christmas. Winters stores will be glad to cooperate.

Take the plunge this year—give the men in your life a gift of fashion.

EXPECTED CHRISTMAS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sharp and baby of Las Cruces, N. M., and Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Benson of Austin are expected to spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Benson.

Robes Rate With Femmes

There's a lot of fashion news in the robe story for Christmas giving.

From classic wrap-around flannels, to elegant wide-sweep beauties, the robe story is elegant!

Smartly printed cottons, cotton flannels and cotton quilts make up into neat novelties for about the best new robes.

Woven nylon quilts, nylon tricort quilts and nylon chiffon quilts shape up into some of the smartest new robes.

The perennially popular quilted rayon, new handlings in chenille and corduroy, soft wools and fleeces, as well as the more traditional silk, lined nylons and satin-types continue to score in robe styles.

Zipped front, smooth fitting brunch coats . . . patch pocketed, button front dusters . . . semi-fitted or free 'n' loose peignoir styles lead the array with such details as braid trims, smocking, bows, binding and ric-rac trims, lavish lace touches, handsome yoke and sleeve handlings, beautiful prints and — above all — wonderful wearability, soft colors and usually, washability.

Lots of Lore and Legend Highlight Christmas Celebrations World Over

From Alaska to Australia . . . from Hawaii to Holland . . . from Portugal to Peru—it's Christmas now, or going to be soon. For Christmas is a 'round-the-world event that starts in some countries December 5 . . . and the ending is not in sight until January 6!

Holland, Switzerland, Belgium and Germany begin their celebrations December 5, the eve of St. Nicholas' Day. In the American countries, the Feast of the Epiphany, January 6, is the big day.

In the Philippines, Christmas starts on December 16. The country, which is predominately Catholic, climaxes eight days of mass worship at 3 a. m. with midnight services on Christmas Eve. Then the caroling, food, gift exchanges and fireworks begin.

The Philippine Christmas finally ends on January 6 with the visit from the Three Kings of the East. Children put their shoes out the night before and in the morning find them filled with coins. This same tradition is also found in Spain, Portugal and Latin America.

In Sweden, Christmas is actually the celebration of Lucia, on December 13. That day the eldest girl of each family arises early and dresses in a long white robe with a crown of lighted candles on her head. She wakes the family with servings of cake and coffee.

One of the most delightful practices in Sweden, and in Denmark and Norway, is to prepare a tree for the birds on Christmas Eve Day. A wheat sheaf is tied to the top of a pole. Beneath it the children scatter suet.

Another custom in the Scandinavian countries centers around the Christmas dinner dessert of rice pudding. One whole almond is hidden and the person who finds it, while eating the pudding, gets a prize and the assurance of good luck in the coming year.

Danish children leave a bowl of milk and rice for their Jule-Nissen. This custom of Hospitality is found in Holland too. There children put out carrots and hay for St. Nicholas' horse.

WAYS WITH GIFTS
In Holland gifts are disguised. Small gifts are sent in immense packages—gifts are tucked into anything, including a sausage, to make it impossible to guess the content.

German families made a game out of unwrapping of gifts. Presents are wrapped in layers of paper, each marked with a different person's name. This gift is passed from one to another until the last wrapper is removed. The gift is for that person. Sometimes, instead of the gift there will be instructions for how to locate it.

In Mexico children have a pinata rather than a stocking hung for small gifts. The pinata is a fragile earthen jar usually, which is decorated and disguised. It's filled with inexpensive toys, nuts, candy and other goodies. The children each have a turn at breaking the pinata which is suspended from the ceiling. When the contents tumble, everyone makes a scramble for them.

"WINTER" FESTIVALS
Behind the Iron Curtain, Christmas is similar to ours . . . but there is no reference to the religious meaning of the Day. They have "Winter Trees" and "Father Frost."

The Chinese too, follow our traditions without any religious theme. They have a wonderful, gay time, but don't believe in the meaning of the occasion.

The special Japanese holiday marks the New Year, but they liked the celebration they saw the GIs having so much . . . they now have a Kurisumasu (Christmas) too. BUT, it is much more like our wild New Year's Eve frolics, while their New Year resembles our Christmas.

The Japanese like Santa's red and white outfit because those are their traditional festival colors. So Santa, and especially short-skirted girl Santas, are pictured everywhere. Most employers give one or two month's salary as a bonus at this time . . . and the Japanese spend it freely.

ALOHA - HOLIDAY
Christmas in our newest State, Hawaii, is typical of the Islands. Santa arrives by outrigger canoe with hula-skirted helpers. Evergreens are put up and decorated the same as we do, but they are soaked in a wide variety of solutions to keep the needles from drying out. Poinsettias are used generously as they grow wild. Tiny trees are made from the greenery tops of pineapples to use as table decorations.

"BORROWED" CUSTOMS
Christmas in the United States is the product of a mixture of traditions from most all countries, but especially from England, Germany, Italy, Holland, Switzerland, and even Bavaria.

One tradition from England which we do not follow is their Boxing Day. It's the day after Christmas and at that time gifts are left for the Milkman, postman and others who have served.

Santa's "locomotion" comes from Switzerland, where it is believed that gifts are brought by a radiant angel who rides in a sleigh drawn by six reindeer.

The tradition of putting candles in the window comes from Bavaria where every window has a candle . . . to light the way for Kristkind, messenger of the Infant Jesus.

The burning of the Yule Log is a custom from England and from Italy. In Italy, the Log replaces the Christmas tree. Children stand blindfolded before the fire and recite a poem. When they are finished and the blindfold removed, there are gifts at their feet.

In Italy, and in Spain, some gifts are given by drawing from a large bowl, called the Urn of Fate. Packages, some of them empty, are placed in the bowl and everyone draws until they have a gift. Then they may trade around until each person has a suitable gift.

Christmas is, indeed, a Happy Holiday around the world . . . and in most countries it is also a beautiful time, filled with traditions honoring the Birth of the Child, Jesus.

IN MILLS HOME
Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Poe and children of Eunice, N. M., Capt. and Mrs. A. A. Morinello and family of Boulder, Colo., are expected during the holidays for a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Mills. They also will visit with other relatives.

IN JONES HOME
Mike Jones, student of the University of Texas in Austin, is spending the Christmas holidays visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey D. Jones.

Playing Santa To the 'Very Young Crowd'

If toddler could write their notes to Santa Claus, they'd have a really glorious time this year . . . with hundreds of exciting new items to list. Starting with a very tiny infant and going up to the six year old, the choice is wide.

Cuddly animals and unbreakable plastic toys are still the most popular for a baby under eighteen months, and the more colorful the better. Very little children respond to bright, cheery shades. But be sure the toy is safe.

Blocks, small battery - driven cars, music boxes or simple take-apart toys are best for this age group. Also, there are soft paperback picture books and wonderful cuddly life-like dolls.

Mechanical figures which can dance are a constant delight, and little eyes always sparkle at the sight of a colorful, hand painted wooden train.

For the group just under six, the emphasis again is on educational toys and those which teach the child coordination. An easy-to-assemble car kit, blackboard desk, peg boards, alphabet building sets are always good.

Doll furniture, tea sets, and a "little seamstress" sewing kits are ideal for training children at an early age.

Finally, if there already are toys galore under your toddler's tree, you might consider "wearables." A visit to the "Small fry" department of a store will open up another world of suggestions.

Driving is a lot like baseball: it's only the number of times you get home safely that counts!

FROM AUSTIN
Harvey Edward and Billy Lynn Little, both students of the University of Texas, are spending the holidays visiting in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Little.

LITTLE STUDIO

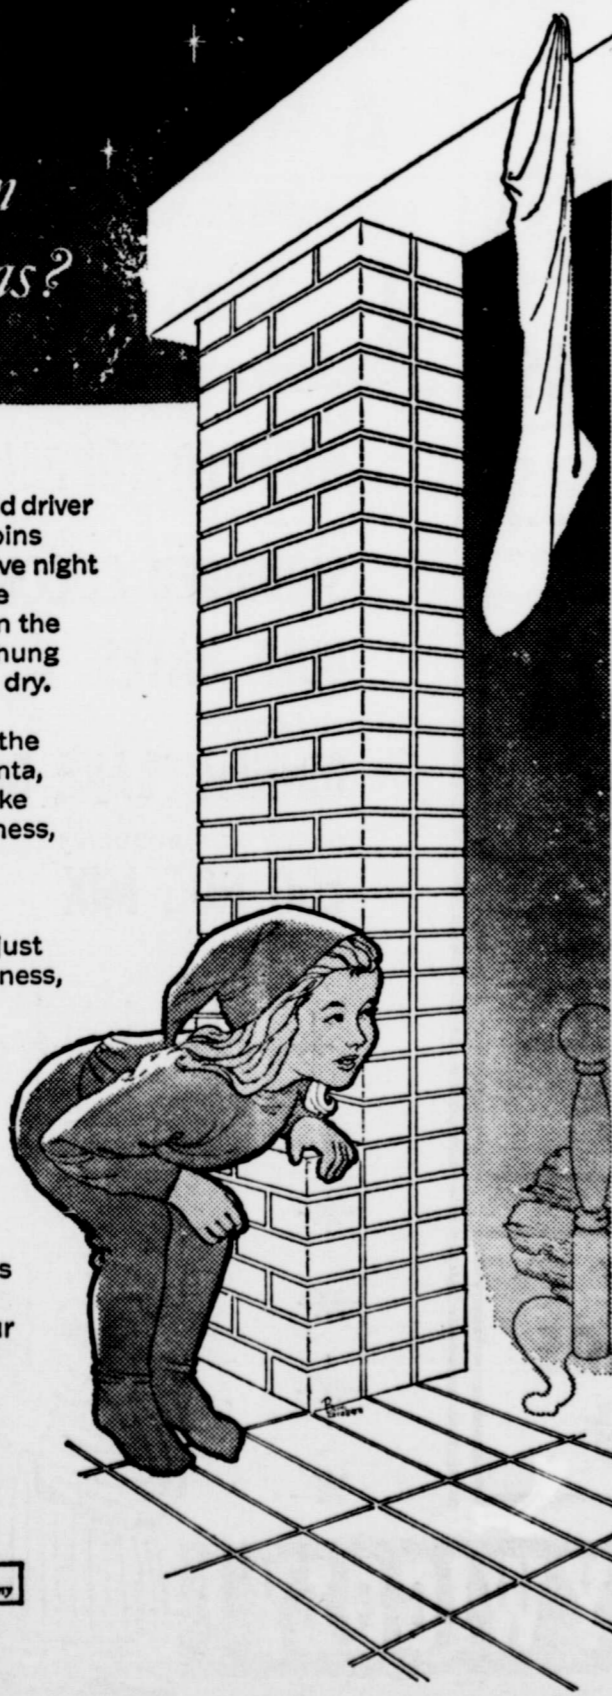

Who put the sock in Susie's Christmas?

One legend goes that the jolly old driver of the reindeer dropped some coins down a chimney on Christmas Eve night . . . as was his custom a long time ago . . . and instead of clinking on the hearth, they fell into a stocking hung up by a child from the mantel to dry.

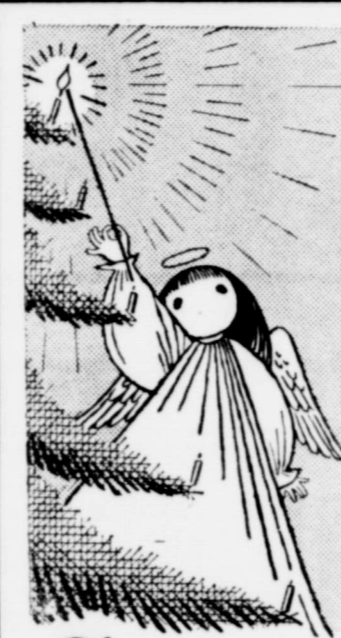

Ever since that time, visits from the jolly old fellow, known as Old Santa, have been awaited by children like Susie . . . with very special eagerness, hoping he might fill their stocking with gifts!

Yet, Christmas was not created just for gifts . . . Christmas is for kindness, friendship, warmth and beauty. Only by keeping the spiritual meaning of Christmas can we hope to acknowledge the greatest gift to man: The First Christmas.

Let us help Susie understand this deeper meaning of Christmas . . . the joy that goes beyond her Christmas stocking. Why don't you sit down with your children now and tell them this greater story?

Familiar Carols Ring Out Everywhere During Christmastime Celebrations

The joyful strains of "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," and other carols each year renew a lovely tradition as they fill the air at Christmas. All Christian nations have carols which are religious seasonal songs usually happy in spirit. The singing of carols at Easter time has declined over the years, but Christmas carols have survived and grown in popularity. Carols originally were sung to accompany a ring dance in which dancers joined hands to form a circle. Many of these tunes still retain their lilt.

About the 13th century, traditional dance melodies were adapted to religious texts. Worshipers welcomed something less severe than the old Latin hymns and found these more lively than plain song or chants.

Carols were written by clergymen, poets, composers, peasants, and by university scholars. They were equally at home in the alehouse, hall, marketplace or cloister.

Hundreds of carols were written in England between 1400 and 1647, when the Puritan Parliament abolished Christmas celebrations and suppressed carols.

The favorite songs survived by oral tradition and in crudely printed broadsheets. They did not fully regain their popularity for some 200 years.

In the middle of the 19th century texts for several old carols came to light when a book belonging to Richard Hill, a London grocer, was found behind a bookcase. From about 1500 to 1536, Hill recorded all manner of things in the book. Among his many notes were transcriptions of long lost carols.

The Rev. J. M. Neale and the Rev. T. Helmore created more interest in carols when they publish-

Here's Legend Told About The Mistletoe

Mistletoe, which can strangle a tree and kill it, has been hailed as a symbol of eternal life since ancient times.

This inconsistency is easy to understand though . . . for in the dark, barren, cold days of winter, mistletoe, along with evergreens, is generally the only greenery to be seen.

The custom of kissing under the mistletoe dates back centuries too. This display of affection offered beneath the mistletoe was an expression of everlasting love in its highest form—between mother and child, father and son, brother and brother, sister and sister.

The ancient Arabians showed their devotion to the gods with kisses as a part of their sacred rites. In the Roman Empire too the kiss indicated reverence and respect.

In the rites of the Druids, mistletoe was broken into small pieces and given to the people to hang over the entrance to their dwellings. Among the early Scandinavians this sentiment toward mistletoe was widespread.

Also in many countries from time to time, mistle has been used as a medicine . . . to "cure" almost anything.

Few people in the modern world really consider mistletoe a symbol of eternity or anything else . . . but it is fun to have it hanging in your home at Christmas, and very pretty as well.

Each of the gifts received by the Infant Jesus from the Three Wise Men had a symbolic meaning: gold expressed the royalty of the Baby; frankincense for His priesthood; myrrh for Christ's entombment.

A child may dare, so drive with care.

ed "Carols for Christmas Tide" in 1853 which set England texts to 16th century Swedish carol tunes. One of the favorites in the collection, "Good King Wenceslas," was written to the tune of a Spring carol, "Tempus Adest Floridum."

The resurgence of carol writing in the mid-19th century led to many American carols, including "We Three Kings of Orient, Are," and "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear."

Traditional old English carols, as well as carols from other European countries, especially Germany and France, remain as favorites.

THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS
By Dr. J. W. Holland

At Christmastime we often give most of our thought to discussing the story and miracle of Christ's birth. But our supreme duty is to ask for a redoubling of Christ's Spirit. And to this end I repeat a story:

During the days of World War II, the "American Friends of France" had put up a beautiful decoration in a window on Park Avenue, New York. In the window stood Melvina Hoffman's statue of St. Francis of Assisi, the sculptor's gift to the cause of peace and French relief. It made an impressive view—the commanding figure of the sainted man with his dog at his side, a hare in his arms, and a bird on his shoulder.

A man stood for many minutes looking at the window before he noticed a hand-illuminated copy of St. Francis' Prayer. The man at the window took out his notebook and was busy copying it when a shadow fell across the page. Looking up, he saw a young traffic officer beside him. The officer put his mind to rest by saying, "Fine, isn't it? I am trying to memorize it myself so that I can repeat it each morning." The officer looked intently at the prayer as the man continued copying it:

Lord, make me an instrument of Thy Peace.

Where there is injury, pardon.

Where there is doubt, faith.

Where there is darkness, light.

Where there is sadness, joy.

O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be understood as to understand;

To be loved as to love.

For it is in giving that we receive.

It is in pardoning that we are pardoned.

It is in dying that we are born to eternal life.

I do not understate the facts when I say that this universal prayer expresses the truth of faith.

It is a part of our common Christian heritage and should help us all to understand each other better.

For each and everyone of you your Bradshaw Correspondent wishes you a VERY HAPPY CHRISTMAS.

Labor Should Be Allowed to Strike Only When Employer is Hurt

Babson Park, Mass. — I am greatly relieved to hear that the threatened newspaper strike in New York City has been called off. I believe that labor is entitled to strike provided only the employer is hurt. But, for labor to use its power to harm the public is morally, economically, and politically wrong.

All Monopolies Are Dangerous

For the employees in a large department store in New York to strike for higher wages or better working conditions is perhaps justifiable, as there are enough other good stores in New York City to supply the goods needed. For example, if the employees of Macy's should strike, only the union or the employees of the company which supplies electricity to New York—or to any other city—should strike, it would be a crime. In fact, every householder would suffer so badly, especially in winter, that the people would rise en masse and demand a special session of the State legislature to put the militia in to run the plant.

In reality, every newspaper is a public utility in which the public is vitally interested; this especially applies to cities with only one newspaper. Labor's argument that the people could get a paper from some adjoining city is not sound. This would not help the local merchant. The present anti-trust laws appear to exempt labor unions. They certainly should be amended so that they would apply to newspaper workers or to labor in any other business that could be classified as a public utility.

Many states voted two weeks ago on "right-to-work" legislation. I have not tabulated the final decisions, and in many states such legislation must be approved by the courts. The point of conflict is the "closed shop," so to speak. Labor leaders insist that in order for anyone to work in a unionized mill he must be a union member, and in some cases they insist the employer collect the dues for the union.

Some states have already passed right-to-work laws making the "closed shop" illegal. Indirectly, this right-to-work problem is mixed up with civil rights on the theory that the Negro vote is much interested in this subject. Investigation, however, shows me that the Negro vote is divided on this. Certainly, the colored vote is becoming constantly more important. In this connection it should be remembered that some of our best baseball players are Negroes. Also, in the recent Olympic games at Rome a Negro girl from Clarksville, Tenn. brought home three medals. The "right to compete" there depended solely upon qualification for the races. This should be equally true of industry and the right to work.

Employers Versus Management
From a statistical standpoint, of course, employers would appear to be fighting a losing game. At every state or national election the wage-workers are in the majority and may be aroused to "bite the hand that feeds them." A consistent leveling has been going on for some years; and it is still rapidly taking place through inheritance taxes, labor unions, and benefits to special groups. This is especially true under a system wherein everyone has an equal vote whether he is a college president of a street sweeper.

But to get back to the threatened New York newspaper strike that was called off: Such a strike at any time of year would be very unfair to the people of New York, but to have it come just at the Christmas season would cause a tremendous loss to all parties. I am not yet prepared to vote for compulsory arbitration, but I believe that certain regulatory legislation—including a time for striking—should become law immediately. For instance, the unions in the fuel oil business should not be allowed to strike in the wintertime. Likewise, it would be unfair for employers to be allowed to operate lockouts during the wintertime. I certainly hope there will be no more newspaper strikes anywhere. Surely the existing legislation covering railroad strikes could be applied equally well to newspaper strikes. This column appeals for justice for all concerned—and this includes all readers whether they are employers, or wage-workers, or other consumers.

In 1959, there was only one day in which some person did not die in Texas traffic, only one "Deathless Day" of all the days in the year.

On 11 days in 1959, only one person per day died in a traffic crash. With just a little additional caution, care or courtesy, there could have been 11 more "Deathless Days" in Texas last year.

The month of July, 1959, had four days on which 11 Texans died in traffic, July 1, 2, 18 and 20. August, October and November each had three 11-death days.

Christmas Stories Come To Life In Journey Through Holy Land

Most of the events we find recorded in the Bible occurred in an area about 80 miles wide and 400 miles long.

Although the Holy Land is a small area, it is filled with historical landmarks and is a land of contrasts.

Around Galilee the rainfall is abundant, while Negey is a desolate desert. In 15 miles you can travel from 2,600 feet above sea level to 1,297 feet below sea level.

Damascus, the oldest city in the world which has been continuously inhabited, today has many modern areas. The old Damascus wall still stands and is so thick that some families have made living quarters in it.

Jericho is the oldest town in the world, 10,000 years, but has not always been lived in . . . there have been four Jerichos in various periods, all within two miles of each other.

The River Jordan, where Jesus was baptized, is only about 50 feet wide, muddy . . . deep in the spring, but dry before winter.

The Sea of Galilee is beautiful, but is in reality a lake about thirteen miles long and eight miles wide.

Jerusalem, a fortress city which has been besieged over 30 times and razed to the ground and rebuilt at least six, covers somewhat over 80 acres. It, like Damascus, is still surrounded by the old wall.

The Mount of Olives is outside the wall and there you will find the Garden of Gethsemane.

Nazareth, where Joseph and Mary started from on their trip to Bethlehem, is a humble little town and somewhat barren.

Today, the Holy Land, birthplace of three great religions—Christianity, Judaism and Mohammedanism—is not the peaceful country we pray it would be . . . but perhaps one day its problems will be solved.

Be careful in arranging the centerpiece for your holiday dining table—make sure that the guests can see over it and that it looks equally attractive from all sides.

The meaning of the word Bethlehem, the city where Christ was born, is home of bread. Although Beth resembles our word bread and lehem is close in sound to home . . . actually the translation is reversed: Beth is home; lehem is bread!

Elizabeth Marcus Knox, David Dobbins, Wed December 17 In Bertram Church

First Christian Church in Bertram was the scene Saturday evening, December 17, of the wedding uniting Elizabeth Marcus Knox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter McLean Knox of Bertram, and James David Dobbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Dobbins of Winters.

The Rev. Ray Aiken, minister, officiated for the ceremony. Miss Glenda Williams of Bertram, organist, accompanied Mrs. Robert Tillman of Dallas, cousin of the bride, soloist, who sang "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer."

M. L. Dobbins served his son as best man and ushers and groomsmen were Jerry Dobbins of Dallas, Wayne Dobbins of Winters, both brothers of the groom, Joel Knox of Bertram, brother of the bride, and Richard Harrod of Burnet.

Miss Carolyn Knox of Austin, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Ophelia Dietz and Mrs. Paul Thorp, both of Winters and Mrs. Allen Sikes of Coleman, sister of the groom.

The maid of honor wore a street length dress of gold peau de soie styled with a square neckline and elbow-length sleeves. Bridesmaids wore identical dresses in a deep jewel shade of peacock blue. They carried gold sheared velvet muffs and wore wired headdresses topped with gold velvet roses and gold tulle circlets.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess gown of Gollite satin cut with traditional lines. The side fullness of the carriage skirt was accented by a great over-skirt curved to form a chapel train caught with scattered satin roses. The high lifted bodice featured a petal-curved neckline and elbow length sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of Chantilly lace etched with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a single long stemmed white rose and a white Bibie.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mrs. Reed Davidson in Bertram. After a wedding trip to south Texas the couple will reside in Spokane, Washington.

The bride is a 1959 graduate of Winters High School where she was selected as most representative girl, head cheerleader, vice president of the Student Council, a member of the National Honor Society and Quill and Scroll. She attended the University of Texas and had been employed in the State Comptroller Department in Austin.

The bridegroom, a 1959 graduate of Winters High School, is stationed at Fairchild Air Force Base, Washington.

BOOTS FOR SPORTSMEN

Boots rate high as gifts with the sportsman. Check his shoes for the size—or if in doubt, you can always give him a gift certificate and he can select his own.

Sturdy leather boots with flexible soles, that protect feet from rough terrain and yet allow freedom of movement for comfort over long stretches of walking or standing are preferred. Hunting boots, riding boots, and hiking boots come into this category.

Mrs. W. Middleton Gave Program At Club Yule Party

Mrs. W. B. Middleton presented the program, "The Wood Carver," at the Christmas party for the Diversity Club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Roach.

Mrs. Middleton stated that this is the story of a talented humble man and his little crippled boy who came to America from Switzerland. Through the grace of God his fine talent and his humbleness, he carves a marvelous Creche for his church. There at the Christmas Eve service, it was viewed by a fine physician, who also by his talent, his humble spirit, and the grace of God, creates a miracle in the little crippled lad and makes him well.

Mrs. Roy Young, president, presided for the business session and response to roll call call was "a Christmas experience of childhood."

Members exchanged gifts from a gaily lighted Christmas tree. Holiday decorations of pink, white and gold were used at vantage points throughout the party rooms.

Those present were Mesdames C. L. Bellis, Sam Jones, C. R. Kendrick, W. B. Middleton, Noel Reid, Earl Roach, Loucille Roberts, J. E. Smith, Roy Young and G. E. Wilson.

Jaycee-Ettes Assist Special Education Class In School

Winters Jaycee-Ettes' project for the year is helping the Special Education Class in Winters Primary School. Mrs. Loucille Roberts, teacher of the class, is coordinating the program.

At the beginning of the school year, educational toys were distributed to the children and directions were given on how to construct them. Pegs, for use in peg boards, will help increase the child's knowledge of arithmetic, magic word games teach them the use of corresponding words with pictures, and colored beads in all sizes and colors help in teaching them to count and keeps their hands active. Two sets of capitals and small letters of the alphabet and the numbers aid in helping the children learn to spell and to recognize their numbers were also presented by the Jaycee-Ettes.

In November, the organization bought and presented each member of the class with workbooks. This book includes arithmetic, spelling, reading, science and other subjects concerning this age child. Also in this group of books, a magazine concerning reading and science was given to each member of the class.

For the Christmas holiday season, several of the Winters Jaycee-Ettes, as a sponsoring group, met with the class and set up a Christmas tree and helped the children decorate it. Pictures were taken and a Christmas party was hosted by the Jaycee-Ettes in the Special Education Class room Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. James Colburn and Mrs. Obie Dee Bradford furnished refreshments of Christmas decorated cookies and soft drinks. Mesdames Morris Robinson, James Buxkemper, John McAdoo, Floyd Sims and James West assisted with the Christmas party.

Mrs. Bradford read the poem, "Twas the Night Before Christmas," as the children sat around the tree. Special gifts, a loom and loopers, were presented to each child. Personal gifts brought by each member of the organization were also given to the children.

The program was concluded with the children singing Christmas carols.

HOME TOWN

Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Out on Mel Street, in the Leeman Addition on the western edge of town, is a pattern for progress which, if properly adjudged, could serve as a starting place to bring much more light to the city of Winters.

Recently the City of Winters, when faced with the problem of installing street lights on Mel Street, acquired three new mercury vapor type lights. These three lights were bought in a "package" deal from the manufacturing company, and were installed as an experiment. If satisfactory, there is a possibility that more and more of this type of street lighting will be installed on the streets of Winters.

According to available information, this type of street light provides about three times as much light as the ordinary incandescent bulb, at about the same operation cost. The three lights on Mel street are of the type and size recommended for residential sections. A much bigger and brighter light would be used for commercial sections. Those already installed produce about 7,000 lumens; commercial lights would produce about 21,000 lumens.

If you will drive around town at night you will immediately see the effects these lights have. The rest of the town, lighted by the old type incandescent bulbs, seems dark and foreboding after driving down that one block in the Leeman Addition. If you haven't seen them, the City Council has suggested you take a look—and then let them know what your impression is.

According to the final report by the Bureau of the Census, the population count for Winters is 3266. In the Winters Division, which includes outlying districts and areas, the county was 6,982. The county population was listed as 15,016. According to the report 44.7 percent of the county population is listed as rural.

In several previous years, at Christmastime, we have made long trips out-of-state. This year, we voted to remain in Texas—but drove more than we ordinarily would have if we had left the state. Seems we criss-crossed the state a couple or three times—visiting places in deep Central Texas and then out to the High Plains country. Had the trip planned so as to always be with relatives or friends during mealtime, and even managed to be near a full pot at coffee time. About the third time we came through Winters, though, we decided we'd had enough of fighting traffic, so stepped out and let the transportation continue on without us.

A school teacher friend in Corpus Christi reports on a note received from the mother of one of his pupils: "Please excuse Johnny for being absent. He's been in bed with the missiles."

Girl Scout Ass'n To Meet Jan. 9 In Rozmen Home

Winters Girl Scout Association will have their first meeting of the year on Monday, January 9, in the Rozmen home, beginning at 1 o'clock.

In announcing the meeting, Mrs. Clem Rozmen, Chairman of the Association, emphasized the fact that throughout the entire Girl Scout program girls are guided by adults specifically trained for their Girl Scout jobs.

In addition to installation of officers, reports will be heard on activities being carried out in troops. All troop leaders are urged to attend to give reports on troop activities.

ROGER W. BABSON

Forecast For Coming Year

This year I have divided my forecast into eight sections as indicated by the following eight headings. Instead of covering general business as a separate topic, I am sure that a reading of the following will give a clear idea of my thoughts on general business. Naturally, my first subject will be the political outlook.

Politics and the New President

I do not expect any big changes under President Kennedy. If he had won by a landslide I would be quite worried, but with a narrow plurality in the electoral college and only a small fraction of one per cent over Nixon in the total popular vote, I think that our new President will be very much on his good behavior. Certainly he will not have much influence with either the Republicans or the Conservative Democrats of the South. He may make radical recommendations in his inaugural address to "save face," but most of these will not become legislation.

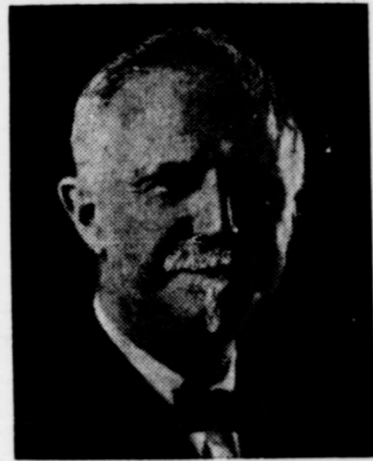

He will recommend certain new welfare legislation, which will include medical care for the aged, an increase in Social Security, a new minimum wage, increased public housing, help for the distressed areas, and more aid for education.

Commodity Prices, Including Gold

Higher prices of commodities at the retail level are more or less certain, but wholesale prices will probably decline in most instances. Prices will not rise because of inflation during 1961. The first of the price advances will be absorbed by the manufacturer. Owing to the increased competition in all lines, wise manufacturers and retailers will keep their selling prices down. This means that their profits will be less if they are unable to reduce their own costs. All of this means that general business may show less increase in activity and profits in 1961 than in the previous year.

Now, in relation to gold: Three-fifths of the Free World's gold comes from African mines; one-fifth from Canada; and the balance from the U. S. and elsewhere. There are many rumors that the U. S. will "revalue," creating a higher price for gold. This will not happen during 1961; and I think that the price of many gold stocks will decline during 1961. The very discussion in Congress of possible devaluation would cause us to lose more gold. Everything will probably be done to avoid such a discussion and I believe President Kennedy will publicly state that he is opposed to it.

Temporarily, dollar devaluation might be a shot in the arm for American business, but it will not cure the cancer or whatever else is causing the pain. Not only would foreign banks withdraw gold before such legislation was passed; but if such legislation should pass in the U. S., it would be followed by similar legislation in England, France, Switzerland, Germany, and other important countries. I advise investors now to forget this question of gold devaluation and not speculate in gold stocks at this time. Leading gold stocks are now selling 25 per cent or more above their price of a year ago. Another thing that investors should remember when buying Canadian gold stocks is that a number of Canadian gold mining companies are now receiving a subsidy from the Canadian government to keep them from being shut down by high labor costs. This subsidy would come off as the price of gold rises.

Stocks and Bonds

It is unpopular for me to take a bearish position in my Annual Forecast. Most of the newspapers and my readers like optimistic forecasts. In all the years I have been making these forecasts, last December was the first time that I refused to take a definite position. At that time the Dow-Jones Industrial Average was 670 and today it is fluctuating around 600. Corporation earnings reports now coming out are not good. In many cases the gross is kept up or perhaps increased, but the net is off. Many companies will show a decline for 1960 compared with 1959. Prosperity has continued so long that most manufacturers, retailers, and consumers are assuming it will last at least another year. I cannot honestly agree with this. Therefore, I feel that 1961 will see lower prices for the Dow-Jones Industrial Averages. I hope that many readers with small businesses are showing a profit. Those who are not should begin to reduce their loans and "trim their sails."

In many cases good bonds now yield more than good stocks. This is unfavorable to the stock market and favorable to the bond market. Therefore, I believe that bonds will continue around their present levels in 1961. Many readers will be wise in shifting now from certain stocks to bonds. There will be reductions in stock dividends; hence it would be much better to hold bonds with fixed-interest payments rather than risk a reduction in the dividend payments of stocks. I especially call readers' attention to "tax-exempt general obligation municipal bonds." These are the fixed-interest municipals of cities with a direct lien on all the taxable property in the city. I would advise against holding bonds of such large cities as might be vulnerable to bombing in case of World War III.

Living Costs and Inflation

Living costs may rise somewhat during 1961 due to the increase in population and the desire for more comforts and convenience. A person like myself, who has had children and grandchildren, knows how each succeeding generation considers necessities what the parents considered luxuries. This, together with the higher cost of labor, is the primary reason for today's record-high (127.3) cost of living.

Farm Income and Prices

Good crops and moderate prices indicate a fair year in 1961 for farmers. I, therefore, look for a reasonably heavy volume of the things farmers buy during 1961, including equipment for getting on with less help. The farmers cannot expect any boom, but profits, on average, should be at satisfactory levels. My forecast, in detail, is:

Larger volume of marketings should more than offset any reduction in farm prices. Therefore, (Continued on page 7)

New Aircraft Landing Strip Seen For Winters

Plans are being completed to give Winters a long-sought landing strip for light aircraft. There is at present no site near Winters where light aircraft can land. The old airport, situated northwest of town, was abandoned some time ago.

John W. Norman, heading a chamber of commerce committee working with the City of Winters on the project, said this week that plans were going forward to convert a strip of land east of the Winters City Lake into a landing strip.

The site picked for the landing strip will offer a north-south runway surface of sufficient length to accommodate most light planes, Norman said. Several trees and some brush will have to be cleared from the north end of the strip, he said. The City of Winters will do this work, and Melvin Mapes, County Commissioner, will assist in grading and leveling the strip.

There are no plans for hangar facilities at the present time, but the committee expects to install a windsock and a telephone. Norman also said that the landing strip will be brought up to specifications for such strips called for by Federal aviation authorities.

County Roads Included In 1961 Program

State highways and farm-to-market roads in Runnels County are included in a big highway safety and betterment program announced by the Texas Highway Commission. District Engineer J. A. Snell of San Angelo said a total of 275.8 miles in this district will be involved, at a total cost of $1,162,000.

The following projects will take place in Runnels County:

- On U. S. 67 from Benoit to Coleman County line, 6.6 miles.
- U. S. 83, from Hutchins Ave. in Ballinger, northwest, 1 mile.
- State 158, west of Ballinger, .2 miles, widen five bridges.
- FM 382, from FM 53 at Crews southwest a distance of 6.4 miles.
- FM 53, from Coleman County line west for 11 miles.
- FM 1770, from Winters to Coleman County line, 15.2 miles.
- FM 2133, from U. S. 67 in Ballinger to Rowena, 8.8 miles.

This work is part of two statewide "highway housekeeping" programs revealed by the Texas Highway Department. Totaling $40 million, the programs are keyed to safety features and proper upkeep of the state's highway systems.

Regular inspection of your boat and outboard motor pays dividends.

Even if you use your boat only a few times a month, you should take it out of the water for a thorough check-up every 30 days. Do so every 60 to 90 days, even if you haven't used it at all.

There are sound reasons for this suggestion.

If you accomplish nothing more than cleaning the scum off the bottom, it will be well worth the time and trouble. A bottom encrusted with scum cuts speed a great deal. Far more than the average boat owner realizes. It causes a heavier pull against the motor and hikes fuel consumption.

With the introduction of the high-horsepower engines, continuous maximum boat performance is expected by most outboard owners. One factor, however, often is overlooked by the boat operator. That factor is the condition of the boat bottom.

Most everyone is aware of the effect of salt water on hulls. But not all boat owners realize the reduction in performance that occurs in so-called fresh water.

Billy Disch, Austin marine dealer, was telling me just the other day about tests recently conducted by Evinrude. They were eye-openers.

"One thing most people don't understand," said Billy, "is that results will vary with water and air temperature and according to the foreign matter present in the water."

In salt water the growth usually is in the form of barnacles and other marine life.

In fresh water the growth is not as conspicuous in the early stages. It will first appear as a light film of scum which can be felt easier than it can be seen. However, even this early stage of fouling can result in obvious loss of performance.

According to Billy, Evinrude equipped a 16-foot boat with a 35 hp engine and checked its performance with various loads. Then it was left in salt water. At the end of 30 days the speed, with one man aboard, had dropped almost 8 mph. With a six-man load it lost 10 mph and would not plane.

This was not too surprising since salt water was involved. But, the next test was in fresh water.

The same sequence was followed. After 30 days the speed with two men had dropped almost 6 mph. A six-man load showed a loss of almost 10 mph and planing was impossible.

In each case, where the hull was thoroughly cleaned, performance was restored.

The significance is obvious.

If boats are left at moorings, they should have anti-fouling bottom paint in order that maximum performance can be maintained. This is true for all types of boats—wood, aluminum and fiberglass. Good, anti-fouling bottom paints are available from many sources and most boat manufacturers provide anti-fouling paint as an extra.

Anyway, Mr. Boater, when you find that your boat gradually is losing speed over the course of a season, don't condemn the motor before you first check the condition of the boat bottom. Just a light film of scum can drastically affect performance.

Moral—clean your boat occasionally.

Obviously, a boat kept on a trailer, or used for short periods of time, will not be affected greatly by fouling conditions. However, two or three weeks of continuous exposure during summer or winter can result in some growth build-up.

Last time we pulled our 16-foot fiberglass Invader runabout out of the water and removed the scum that had accumulated on the bottom, we got a noticeable increase in speed. That improvement was made solely because we removed the scum that was serving as a drag against the powerful 45 hp Crofton outboard motor.

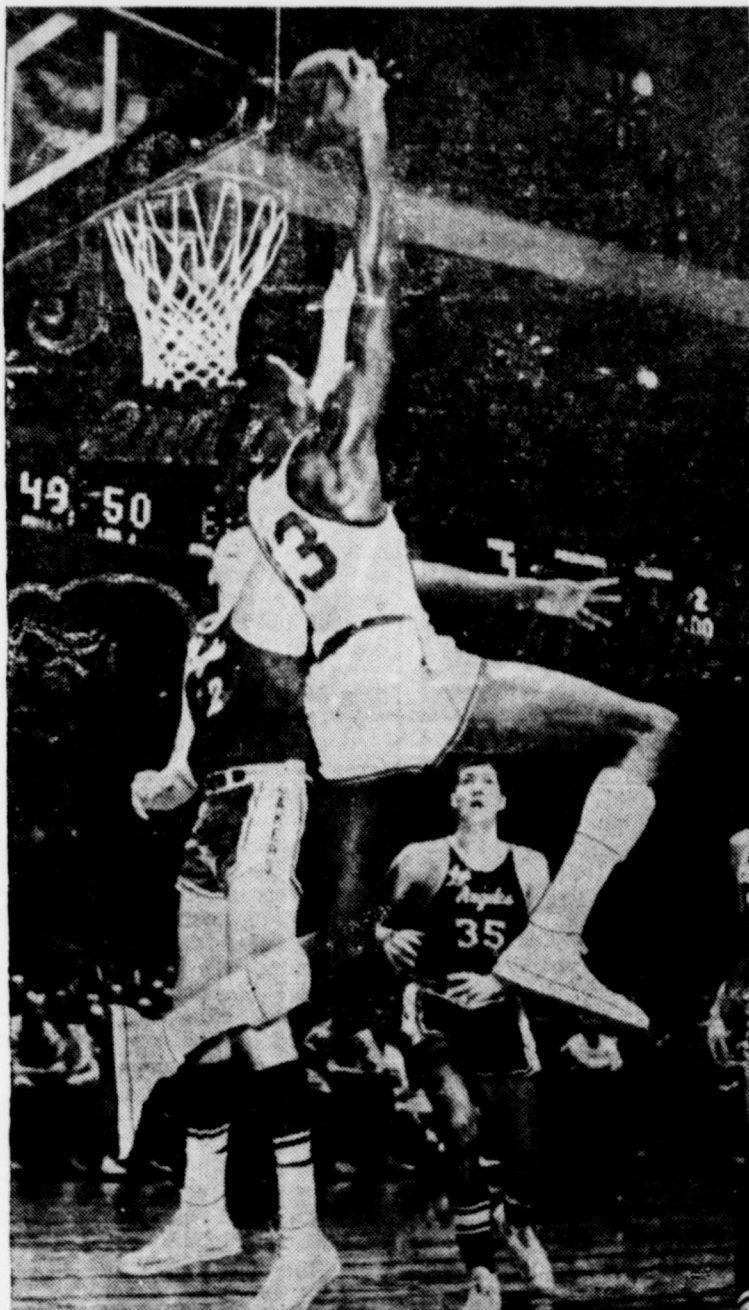

We had heard that the accumulation of dirt on the exterior of an airplane would slow the plane's speed appreciably. In fact, even the paint cuts the efficiency. This seems impossible. But we're a believer now, after our experience with the boat.

So, keep your boat clean and smooth—especially that part that is under the water.

How to clean it? It's really simple. Much easier than we thought.

Best method we have found is to locate a roomy loading spot, along the shore, where you won't be in the way of others. Then back your trailer into the water and winch your boat into place.

Now, roll up your trousers, or better yet don a swim suit, and give the Old Ark a good scrub-down . . . right where you are. Being directly over the water you eliminate the problem of hauling scrub and rinse water and of moving buckets of water along with you as you work. All you need to do now is dip down into the lake for plenty of fresh, clear water every time you need it.

THAT'S HIS NAME—Philadelphia Warriors ace scorer Wilt Chamberlain shows where he got his name in a game against the Los Angeles Lakers. He scored 44 points.

We have found that the little metal kitchen scouring pads, like the Chore-Girl, work better than the softer and finer soap filled types.

Another advantage of house-cleaning right over the water is you get busy immediately—before the bottom dries and the scum hardens.

And, needless to say—this is a good time to give the entire boat a sparkling appearance, from bow to stern and gunwale to gunwale.

RECEIVED WORD SATURDAY

Mrs. W. H. Jennings received word Saturday that her son-in-law, A. E. (Pete) Walton of Fairbanks, Alaska had passed away. Funeral services were held Tuesday and the body was flown to Fort Smith, Ark. for burial Friday. Mrs. Walton is the former Anita Jennings.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to friends and neighbors for their many kind acts of sympathy during our recent bereavement. Your cards and beautiful floral offerings were deeply appreciated. Mrs. Pete Nance and Patsy, Mrs. R. I. Collinsworth, Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Colburn and family.

Governor Price Daniel has mailed more than 11,000 letters to Texans in all parts of the State to request their assistance in holding down the Christmas - New Year's traffic death toll as much as possible.

One of the most unusual developments revealed by 1959 Texas traffic death records was the deadly fact that 11 persons were killed on each of 21 different days. Only three months missed an 11-death day, March, June and December.

"Jungle Cat"

Coming Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre, Walt Disney's most sensational True-Life Adventure feature, "Jungle Cat," unveils the mysterious animal life of the world's greatest equatorial wilderness, the vast rain forest along the mighty Amazon river in Brazil.

Named for the savage lord of this domain, "Jungle Cat" pictures the dramatic life story of the jaguar, prince of predators, among his forest fellows—beast, bird and reptile—including some of the strangest and most ferocious creatures on earth.

The jungle itself, more than a million square miles of it along the middle and upper reaches of the 4,000-mile long Amazon, plays the principal role in the new Disney wildlife epic, which comes to the screen in color by Technicolor.

In this green tangle of lofty trees, matted brush, pendant vines and secret swamps, with orchids adding a touch of exotic beauty to the sombre scene, three veteran naturalist associates of Disney spent more than two years to bring out the first full, exciting, informative pictorial report of the life it harbors. The intrepid trio are James Simon, Lloyd Beebe and Hugh Wilmar.

Their color cameras caught the wild splendors of the mammoth green waste as well as its sinister aspects and the furtive ways of the most colossal pool of wildlife on earth today—a dead end for many species and varieties of nature's concluded experiments! To attempt their definition would be futile. Few are familiar even by name. Many are living relics of a bygone age, but the film unforgettably introduces them as entertainment, and as accurate natural history from one of the least known primitive regions.

The picture represents one of Disney's most extensive wildlife projects.

"The Hound That Thought He Was A Raccoon"

The title of Walt Disney's Technicolor featurette, "The Hound That Thought He Was A Raccoon," is self-evident.

It is a funny title to suit a funny picture about a funny Red-bone hound named Nubbin.

Actually, Nubbin never really gets to be what he wants to be. He is brought up by raccoons all right, but when he tries the whole tricky business on for size it fails to fit. He can't grow coonskin, for instance.

Hounds are traditionally straightforward and honest, and painfully shy about their business. Raccoons are just the opposite: quiet, furtive, tricky, and nocturnal.

For a while Nubbin scores with the tribe of his adoption, after wandering away from home in the very green weeks. He wins a berth at the raccoon table and develops a taste for raccoon living rather than living raccoon.

Then he goes back to the dogs and becomes their leader. But he can never forget his past, and therein lies the most endearing, sidebusting nature story yet to come from the hand of the Wizard of Burbank.

In color by Technicolor, the picture was produced for Disney by Winston Hibler and directed by Tom McGowan from the Albert Aley script. Rutherford Montgomery wrote the original. Buena Vista releases.

"The Hound That Thought He Was A Raccoon" comes Friday and Saturday to the State Theatre.

"House of Usher"

Burt Shoenberg is the artist who painted the portraits of the family's ancestors in American International's "House of Usher" coming Sunday and Monday to the State Theatre.

We are familiar with the phrase "Art is fleeting" but it was as swift as lightning with several of the paintings done by Shoenberg for the film. He knew in advance, of course, that they would be damaged by fire—perhaps destroyed altogether—for certain spectacular scenes in the picture.

Visiting the set during the filming of a nightmare scene, Shoenberg let out a joyous yelp when he saw Bill Barzage, made up to resemble the artist's portrait of the evil sea captain, one of the Ushers.

Pointing a finger at Barzage, Shoenberg exclaimed: "I created you!" Perhaps, after all, it is not what happens to a picture after it's completed so much as the joy of "creating" that gives an artist like Burt Shoenberg his greatest happiness.

"House of Usher" is based on the world-famed macabre tale by Edgar Allan Poe and stars Vincent Price, Mark Damon, Myrna Fahey and Harry Ellerbe. Producer-director was Roger Corman. The CinemaScope-color film has a thrilling musical score by Les Baxter.

If you're the squeamish type, don't forget—it combines Edgar Allan Poe and Vincent Price—and that's a guarantee it's a real thriller!

New Year Will See "Changing of the Guard" At the Statehouse

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Beginning of an odd-numbered year brings a "changing of the guard" at the statehouse.

Actual number of turnovers this year will be few, with Gov. Price Daniel, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson continuing in their present offices.

No. 1 change will be in the Supreme Court. Chief Justice John E. Hickman, 76, is retiring after a 50-year legal career, including 34 years of appellate court service.

Judge Hickman will be succeeded by Robert W. Calvert, now an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Succeeding Calvert will be Zolie Steakley, who has served as Secretary of State since 1957. He will be sworn in on January 3, in the Supreme Court Room of the State Courts Building in Austin. A reception and informal Open House will be held in the State Bar Building. The public is invited for both occasions.

Court of Criminal Appeals will get a new judge, also, W. T. McDonald of Bryan will succeed Judge Lloyd Davidson, defeated at the polls last summer. McDonald will be sworn in January 2, in Bryan, in the district courtroom where he has presided as judge for the past five years. His brother, Reed McDonald, a notary public, will administer the oath.

Already sworn in and ready to go when his term as land commissioner begins on January 1 is Jerry Sadler. Mrs. Dorothy Hallman, chief clerk of the House of Representatives in which Sadler served three terms, gave the oath. Sadler was sworn in nearly two weeks ahead of time in order to be "ready." He defeated the incumbent, Bill Allcorn.

HOME WORK

While they're still home, members of the next Legislature can take their minds off Christmas bills by studying Governor Daniel's proposed budget for state government.

It calls for spending $376,000,000 from the general revenue fund for the 1962-63 biennium.

This is $54,000,000 more than appropriated for the present two-year period, but is 49 per cent less than the agencies requested. It does not include any funds for public-school-teacher pay raises, a recommendation which the governor said he will present after the legislature convenes.

Governor Daniel will propose a $600 a year increase per teacher, adding approximately $94,000,000 to the state's two-year costs.

This $94,000,000 plus the $54,000,000 increase above, plus the $76,000,000 general revenue fund deficit, adds up to a $224,000,000 problem which the new legislature will face.

MAVERICK TO RUN

Latest to announce for the U.S. Senate seat to be vacated by Sen. Lyndon Johnson is Maury Maverick of San Antonio, former member of the Texas House of Representatives.

The former legislator from San Antonio is a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee and son of the late Congressman and Mrs. Maury Maverick of the Alamo City.

His great-grandfather was Samuel Maverick, also of San Antonio, one of the signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence.

Other announced candidates for the Senate seat are: Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth; Former Senator William A. Blakley of Dallas; State Senator Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio and John G. Tower of Wichita Falls.

COLORADO DAM APPROVED

State Board of Water Engineers approved plans to build a $21,690,000 reservoir on the Colorado River between La Grange and Columbus.

Farmers, ranchers and business men from the affected area had vigorously protested the flooding of what they described as a prosperous agricultural area. They estimated it would destroy an annual agricultural income of about $1,500,000.

Proposed reservoir would be 22 miles long, with 160,000 acre feet of initial water storage space and 75,000 acre feet of reserve. Lower Colorado River Authority estimates it will save for use some 100,000 acre feet of water that now flows into the Gulf.

U. S. Bureau of Reclamation is planning the project which is to be operated by LCRA after construction.

YOUTH PROGRAM GOALS

Texas Youth Council will urge the next Legislature to enact a six-point program to cut down on the number of Texas youngsters who "turn out bad."

Goals are: 1. Adequate funds to operate the state training schools and orphan homes; 2. A juvenile parole system to provide supervision for youngsters released from training schools; 3. A state home for dependent and neglected Negro children; 4. Local youth councils to work with delinquents and to help prevent development of delinquency; 5. Testing and guidance programs to spot problem children before they become delinquents; 6. More job opportunities for youngsters to keep them out of trouble.

NO HORSE-TRADING

Highway Department agents seeking to buy land for rights of way cannot "dicker" with land owners over prices. Commissioner DeWitt C. Greer re-stated this policy in reviewing an instance in which a landowner eventually got in court nearly four times what the Department originally offered for the land.

Though dickering might have saved state money in this case, Highway officials feel that giving more than a thousand different agents authority to "barter" with state money would create many more inequities.

Commission policy is to have an appraisal made and offer the amount indicated by the appraisal. Landowners who do not feel this price is fair can seek a better one in court.

SHORT SNORTS

Women seeking to attend Texas A and M College have struck out again. U. S. Supreme Court refused to review state court decisions upholding A and M's all-male status. . . . Texas Employment Commission reports a creeping up of joblessness in Texas. Latest weekly figures show 80,458 claiming unemployment benefits, an increase of 8,241 over the previous week and 23,639 more than for a year ago.

OUTDOOR PARAGRAPHS—There Are Times When Minnows Will Catch More Fish Than Artificial Lures

By VERN SANFORD

Some don't think it's the sportiest thing to do. But when the locker gets low on fish it's time to resort to minnows.

Like a great many other bass fishermen, we much prefer the artificial lure. But there are times, for us at least, when artificials just won't get the job done.

Here's our order of trial. First, we cast out a top-water. Why first? Mainly because we get our greatest thrill out of seeing a lunker bass hit a top-water plug. Our biggest success has been with the Heddon Spook. Color, black. This probably because we have more of them, so we use them more often.

If no luck with top-water experimenting, we try a spinner, such as Garcia's Abu-Reflex or Evans' Shyster, our favorites in the spinner line.

Then we go to a Dixie Spoon, with or without bucktail.

If we're still without success, we go deeper. Best results we have had down deep have been with a small, black-colored bucktailed jig. Like the Dixie Spoon, many of them are made in Texas. We've had good luck with Pico's jig. Also those made by Bomber and Whopper Stopper.

All these are what we call "fast fishing" lures. Slowest, of course, is the top water. Even it should be worked fast too, if the water is exceptionally calm and without ripples.

But, we've got to admit, here and now, that the biggest fish have been caught on artificial worms. Not being a too-patient guy, we resort to plastic worm fishing only when we're tired, or lazy, or just plain want to take it easy. That's the only way we can land 'em on the plastic worms—fishing slow and easy. In fact, that seems to be the only way anyone can land 'em.

We'll try all these methods for hours upon hours, trip after trip, before we finally succumb to the live minnow.

Then we try small ones, medium size and finally the Texas-size shiners. They get fish. But they don't give us the thrill we expect from fishing. As stated earlier, it's "meat on the table" fishing only—sans the thrill of seeing a strike happen.

We find boating restful and relaxing. So, when the larder is getting low and fishing is slow, we troll for fish. Usually our lure is the Dixie Spoon, or the Dave Hawk Champion.

Latest adventure was trolling with live minnows. Great big, jumbo-size shiners they were. Cost 50 cents a dozen. But they took fish when nothing else would.

We'd work back and forth over the flats, or alongside the bluffs, and across the points. Motor speed? Not more than five miles per hour, slower if possible. But we caught fish.

We'd slap a big shiner on a number two hook, put a couple of large size split shot on the line, about three feet up from the hook, and cast out. We'd vary the location of the shot from time to time until we found the right depth then troll away.

My fishing companion, who likes to fish, but not to eat fish, also gets a big bang out of top-water lure plugging. He wants to see the fish strike.

To partially satisfy this craving, while trolling with minnows, he holds his rod high as he reels in the fish and makes it rise out of the water and tail-walk on the surface. Admittedly he loses lots of fish that way, but he gets a thrill out of the sight of the snared fish leaping out of the water to accept the challenge and try to shake the hook—which it does quite often.

Anyway, when the lake is low

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

Southern commissioners of agriculture, having made clear their views of what is needed in the way of a Federal farm program at their recent 1960 session in San Antonio, are awaiting the outcome of the November election and the next session of Congress to see what develops.

Among other items, the Southern commissioners warned against the delegation of too much administrative power in putting in any Federal farm program into effect.

It was pointed out that "the experience of the past seven years has clearly demonstrated the danger of allowing too much administrative leeway in farm legislation—in effect, delegating legislative powers to the administrative branch of the government. During this time all of the administrative powers have been used negatively to wreck the farm program. "As a result it has been unnecessarily expensive, with too little benefit to the farmers, and surpluses have piled up in certain commodities to the point of the ridiculous. This has been by design, not mere bungling, and by making the farm program unpopular with the people has enabled the administration to hack away at farm legislation. This could not have happened if our farm program had been more broadly based in concept and legislative provisions to carry out its intent had been more rigidly drawn.

"The time has come when we should seek to avoid more piecemeal, patched-up or piece-meal legislation for agriculture. The urgent need now is for a program to meet the total needs of agriculture and give it stability.

Babson Predicts--

1961 cash receipts for farmers should be slightly higher than 1960's $11,300,000,000 net. I further more learn that the intelligent farmer is reducing his indebtedness, which is always an optimistic sign. As I dictate this forecast, I am told that growing conditions are favorable in most sections, with sufficient moisture in the ground and other seasonal optimistic factors. The prices which farmers will receive in 1961 for crops will, of course, depend upon weather; but, each year, agricultural science is helping the farmers to avoid early frost losses and to secure needed moisture.

Employment, Wages, and Taxes
Strike activity may well be at a postwar minimum during 1961, with any dislocations limited to independent separate companies. First important industrywide negotiations will come in the auto industry, but not until September 1961. Railroad workers cannot strike until November 1, 1961 at the earliest. Most steel contracts hold until June 30, 1962.

The average employment in 1960 was about 67,000,000 workers. I forecast that 1961 will average a million fewer wageworkers. Countrywide, unemployment reached as high as 4 and one-half million in 1960, and for 1961 may hit 5 and one-half million. The basic difficulty is that while industry is cutting back, the labor force is becoming larger. This means that it will be more difficult for those getting through schools and colleges to get positions in 1961 unless they are well trained in business, mechanics, or electronics. Certainly, the demand for executives will be less in 1961 than it has been for some years. Those executives who now have positions should strive to do better work, not ask for increases, and do everything possible to hold onto their jobs.

Labor leaders hope to have a key to the White House with Mr. Kennedy as President. This may apply to the settling of strikes and contract disputes. The AFL-CIO will influence more votes in Congress during 1961-62 than in 1959-60. The conservative Southern Democrats, however, will unite with Republicans to block radical labor legislation. Congress certainly will not outlaw the "right-to-work" legislation which has been passed in certain conservative states, nor will labor get a revision of the Taft-Hartley Act. Congress will not compel industry to collect dues from union members, but may temper the recent Court decisions ruling against excess union spending.

All the above means that labor will be able to hold its own during 1961 and secure some small increases in wages, pensions, and improved working conditions; but this may not be what labor expected to get from the election of President Kennedy.

The Federal Government will not increase income taxes during 1961; but may close some loopholes and increase certain excise taxes.

Building and Real Estate
Looking back over the years that I have been making these Annual Forecasts, it seems that building and real estate have been the last to profit from a boom, and the last to suffer from the following reaction. Readers all know that from its World War II low point new building, especially of homes, gradually rose to an all-time high in 1959. Part of this growth has been due to increased population and higher incomes.

In addition to the natural growth to which new building was entitled, it was greatly encouraged by loans to veterans without any down payment, the acceptance of twenty-year mortgages by banks in place of a maximum mortgage of five years, and by subsidies of various kinds. Like all stimulants, however, these have gradually become less effective. Hence, a decline in new building and new home construction is only natural to expect in 1961.

I do, however, forecast that a move for urban renewal will be urged and secured by the new President. This means pulling down the slums of large cities and substituting brick apartment houses with playgrounds. When any new building is built, it increases the value of the adjoining land and increases real estate taxes.

Therefore, 1961 may see real estate prices hold their own and even rise in certain sections. Small farms near cities will continue to increase in price, and this will be true of most well-drained suburban property. Every family is justified in mortgaging to buy a home in 1961, but I doubt if 1961 will be a good year to speculate in real estate. The bloom is surely off in Florida, where the supply of new houses temporarily exceeds the demand.

World Outlook
I cannot conscientiously close this Forecast for 1961 without calling readers' attention to the unsatisfactory situation that we find the world in today. I do not need to comment on Russia or China, as readers are well acquainted with conditions there. I, however, must add that Mr. Kennedy is agreeable to a Summit Conference as he is itching for a talk with Mr. Khrushchev; Kennedy has already stated that he is willing to put Formosa under the United Nations.

Readers should note the headway which the Communists are making in other parts of the world. Southeast Asia, for instance, is a very rich area. It is envied by both China and Russia. We may expect continued revolts in South Vietnam, Cambodia, and Laos.

I am especially troubled about the way the Communists are working into Central and South America. I know South America very well. It has virtually no "middle class." There are a few rich, but millions of very poor. The Communists are organizing great strikes in Latin America. As these strikes accomplish something for the wageworkers, they give the Communists good ammunition for further progress. This situation has been intensified by the agents of Castro.

Another very sore spot is Africa, which I visited two years ago. South Africa will blow up of itself, without any help or hindrance from Russia. The Congo, however, which the United Nations is now trying to straighten out, is a serious problem; and the Congolese feel that their condition would be improved by Russia's help. The great African question, however, will be concerned with the new countries which have been given their independence from the colonial system they have been under for 150 years. Here, Russia, Belgium, and France are playing a waiting game to see if the new nations can make good by themselves.

I cannot imagine the Russians now going to war over Berlin. I am more disturbed about the gains in the Communist vote in European countries. For instance, the Communists in Italy received only 19 per cent of the vote in 1946, but 28 per cent in 1960. Even in France, the Communist vote is again increasing. The money interests of France want the Algerian rebels stamped out for good, while the farmers and small businessmen want DeGaulle to give Algeria its freedom. When I was in France a few weeks ago, it was generally conceded that if DeGaulle should suddenly drop dead, chaos might reign. I dislike to end this forecast with these pessimistic comments; but even if our country is going along on an even keel, some occurrence in some other part of the world could upset all our plans. Hence, Be sure you have made a will!

More Research On Sheep Breeding Is Requested

Expansion of sheep breeding research to speed development of animals with improved ability to produce wool and meat that will satisfy consumer needs was advocated by members of the USDA's Sheep and Wool Research and Marketing Advisory Committee at their annual meeting, held Nov. 2-4, in Washington, D. C.

Breeds and strains of sheep which are resistant to hot, humid weather, parasitism and special diseases are needed to enable the sheep industry to expand into areas of abundant, year-round pastures, the committee noted.

In the area of marketing research, the most important need is for studies to determine consumer preferences for lamb quality, especially as they apply to maturity, degree of finish and meat color, the committee said.

Expanded research on chemical treatment of wool was recommended as the most important need in the field of utilization study. The committee also urged publication of complete annual statistics on wool stocks in the United States.

The committee, of which T. A. Kincaid, Jr. of Ozona, Texas is a member, also recommended studies on ways to increase mohair production, economic studies of price, supply and consumption, and studies to increase the use of wool in blended fabrics.

Detailed recommendations for sheep and wool research will be formally submitted to the USDA within the next few weeks. Copies of this report will be available from the committee's executive secretary, Max Hinds, Office of the Administrator, Agricultural Research Service, USDA, Washington 25, D. C.

Karen Parrish and Jerry A. Cunningham Exchanged Wedding Vows In Abilene

The chapel of the First Baptist Church in Abilene was the scene for the wedding Friday evening at 7 o'clock uniting Lela Karen Parrish, daughter of Vester Parrish and the late Mrs. Parrish of Wingate, and Jerry Arnold Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cunningham of Merkel.

The Rev. Lee Butler, pastor of the Iraan Baptist Church, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Wedding music was presented by Judy Royal, organist and Donnie Johnson, soloist. Wedding guests were registered by Nan Futch of Dickens.

Joe Cunningham of Merkel served his brother as best man and ushers were Bruce Knight of Merkel and Robert Ryan of Ira.

Sandra Thompson of Dimmitt was maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of beau de soie styled with round neckline, long torso and box pleated skirt. She wore a white organza hat with silk illusion veil and carried a crescent bouquet of white French-carnations with white satin leaves.

The bride wore a formal gown of beau de soie fashioned with basque bodice, long pointed sleeves and bouffant skirt which extended into a chapel trail. The scalloped sabra neckline was outlined with alencon lace medallions re-embroidered with iridescents. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a headpiece of beau de soie and alencon lace accented with seed pearls and sequins. She carried an orchid surrounded with Frenched carnations atop a white Bible.

For traveling to Mexico, the bride wore a tailored suit of brown wool with a mink collar and brown and beige accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

After Dec. 30, the couple will reside in Westbrook where the bridegroom is a coach and social studies teacher in Westbrook High School. He is a graduate of Merkel High School and holds a bachelor of science and master of education degrees from Hardin-Simmons University.

The bride was graduated from Winters High School. She will continue her studies at H-SU where she is a junior.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Thursday evening at their home.

Persons Past Age of Retirement Asked To Contact SS Office

Every person past retirement age (62 for women, 65 for men), who has not yet filed a claim is invited to get in touch with his social security office before January 31, 1961. This is to make certain that no possible benefits are lost for 1960 or 1961 because of failure to file a formal claim, according to Floyd B. Ellington, District Manager, Social Security Office, San Angelo, Texas.

The 1960 Amendments to the Social Security Act liberalized the earnings restrictions on beneficiaries, and hundreds of persons in this district who were unable to collect retirement checks before 1961 because they had not "retired," can be paid some checks in 1961. Many of them are also due some checks for 1960, but have not realized it.
