Tired Christians: Will work if coaxed to do so, but they complain so much while working, the joy is all taken out of service.

Retired Christians: These believe they have done their share and sit idly by. These are the spectators, usually the critics too.

Rubber-Tired Christians: They demand a smooth road. Every thing must be so-so or they refuse.

Flat-Tired Christians: Once active and faithful, but they suffered a puncture and never recovered their wind. They need to be refilled!

Wool Outlook Bright, Bureau Head Reports Material Remains Quality Fabric for Human Needs

For the sheep ranchers and the farmers who maintain small flocks, W. F. Fitzgerald, president of the Wool Bureau, had a good word when he predicted markets for wool are bound to increase.

Speaking before the National Association of Wool Manufacturers at their annual meeting in New York, he said: "Harrang a national catastrophe, markets for wool, and indeed for all textiles of established service values, is bound to increase. The reasons are fundamental and are to be found in even a casual study of our increasing population, our expanding birth rate, the total

Newly-scoured virgin wool is turned to hasten drying. There will be a greater demand for this fiber, spokesmen for the wool producing industry predict.

Corn needs plenty to eat and drink to produce high protein yields.
 You can get extra pounds of protein and more bushels per acre, too, with a well-rounded bill of fare based on good soil management. University of Illinois research men proved that in tests on a number of experiment fields.
 H. J. Snider of the agronomy staff reports that good soil management increased the corn's protein content by nearly a pound per bushel. Corn grown on well treated land averaged 5.6 pounds of protein per bushel, or about 10 percent of the total weight. Corn on untreated soil averaged only 4.8 pounds of protein per bushel, or about 8.3 percent.

The well-managed land had the benefit of liming and rotation built around well-fed, deep-rooted legumes. The organic matter added by the legumes built good soil structure and tilth, improved the drainage and increased the soil's water holding capacity. That made it easier for corn roots to get at plant nutrients, oxygen and moisture.
 The fertilizer treatment included phosphate and potash when needed. In soils requiring more nitrogen than the legume crops provided, nitrogen fertilizer helped increase the corn's protein content. Snider says good soil management not only improved the corn's feeding value, but increases yield.

Peevish Prophet

Lesson for June 25, 1950.

ONAH THOUGHT he knew better than God. When men said, "A prophet," Jonah decided to take a long vacation. He took a ship for a far place so far away he thought even God could not follow. When God said, "Preach to Nineveh," Jonah decided that was the very thing he did not want to do. When God said, "Preach," he thought he would rather be a tourist of all the promised lands on record," said Dr. Foreman on the peevish one.

The remarkable and unique little book of Jonah is perhaps the most misunderstood book in the Bible. Nobody knows how much ink has been wasted on the whale (which incidentally, whereas the real message of Jonah is not about whales at all. It is about taking the message of God to the most unlikely places in the world; it is the story of how the very people who ought to be doing it, sometimes won't do it.

Does God Care?

CONSIDER the good reasons Jonah might have given for not going to Nineveh. They are like the reasons people give nowadays for not believing in foreign missions.
Reason number one: The Ninevites were mean people. So they were, Assyria, of which Nineveh was the capital city, had done, and would do, Israel more harm than any other enemy she had.
 The Ninevites were unscrupulous, greedy people. They knew no law but force. They spread by violence into many a country. They were the nation nobody loved.

Should the message of God be given to such a city? Jonah thought not. God said it should be.
 And of course, God was right. If the message of God had been sent only to peoples and nations that "deserved" such a favor, God's messengers would all have stayed at home.

Too Far From God

REASON number two: Nineveh is a long way off. Indeed it was. To reach Nineveh, Jonah would have to pass through at least a dozen cities, all of which no doubt needed preachers. Were there not enough people at home who needed preaching? Of course there were. Only Jonah did not preach to them.
 This is often too true. People will protest about foreign missions; why send preachers and doctors and teachers and money so far away? Aren't there plenty of heathen right at home? Of course; but you won't often find the objector to foreign missions doing much about it.

Judge The World

REASON number three: (This sounds like a silly reason, but Jonah actually put it forward.)—Jonah's God is too good! What was the use of preaching to Nineveh, Jonah wanted to know, if God was going to be gracious and not destroy the city with fire from the sky?
 If God is good and merciful, why should we bother about sending missionaries anywhere? Won't he save every one anyhow? Isn't God too good to judge the world?

Jonah overlooked the fact that God had mercy on the Ninevites because they repented. Nowhere in the Bible is there any encouragement to believe that God has mercy on the unrepentant. To all who turn to him, God is gracious; and the job of the missionary, whatever else he does, is to persuade people to turn to God.
 The great tragedy of Judah—the tragedy of Jonah; God wanted his people to win the world; but they became ingrown, they ceased even to wish to be a missionary faith. Shall the same tragedy overtake Christianity?
