

W.E. TIMMONS, Editor and Publisher.

COTTONWOOD FALLS: FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1878.

VOL. V, NO. 1.

With this issue the COURANT enters its fifth year. It has been in existence long enough for its readers to know what it is and what may be expected of it.

A vote for St. John means a mortgage upon your stomach. Are you ready to sacrifice your liberty in order that a fanatic may be elected to office?

In the California Constitutional Convention the Republicans, Democrats and non-partisans united to elect the officers, and controlled the organization against the Kearneyites.

The Florence Herald asks: "Why is it that the Topeka Blade is getting so toy since it has been declared the State organ? We have not," says that paper, "seen its daily for two weeks or more."

Gen. Banks has been defeated for renomination to Congress in Massachusetts. This is a bad year for banks and bankers' candidates.

Mr. Sol Smith, of the Cherokee Banner, has stepped "down and out," and Mr. H. H. Webb, who was formerly connected with that paper, will continue its publication at Gilletta, Cherokee county.

Vol. 1, No. 1, of the Blois Democrat, a neat and newswy, six column, quarto, Democratic paper, has reached this office, marked "Please X." Of course we will, and we wish the Democrat, which is edited by Mr. J. B. Chapman, a long and prosperous life.

The City of Glasgow (Scotland) Bank has closed its doors, with liabilities stated at $50,000,000. The cause of the failure of this bank is believed to have been in consequence of large advances on American securities, grain and real estate values, which are largely depreciated.

"Our Representatives and Senators seem to have had all they could attend to looking after their postmasters and an uneasy constituency." Our State charitable institutions have been built and maintained and a voucher pertaining to this business can not be found in the archives of the State.

We have received a copy of the Atchison Weekly Champion, one of the largest weeklies published in the State. It is a ten-column to the page folio, and every square inch is full to the brim of news of interest to every Kansan.

The ticket nominated by the Ben Butler Democrats in Massachusetts seems to be going to pieces. Mr. Allen, nominated for Lieut. Governor, has declined; Mr. Skillings, nominated for Treasurer, has bowed himself off; Mr. O'Reilly, the nominee for Auditor, has retired; and Caleb Cushing, nominated for Attorney-General, regards his nomination as an insult, and declines without thanks.

In his speech in this city, Mr. Mitchell, the Greenback candidate for Governor, asked himself what he would do with gold now in the U. S. Treasury, and then answered it by saying he would take that gold to pay of the bonds that call for gold payment.

will make anything by voting their ticket, especially in this county, except to defeat the end for which they and the Democrats are both working.

"The Republican platform enacted at the Topeka Convention says: 'We are proud of the degree of purity with which the public affairs of the State have been conducted.' When they gaze with enraptured eyes upon the thrilling pictures of frauds, openly exposed briberies in their legislative halls, embezzlements, treasury robberies, impeachments and fleeing exiled officers, 'the degree of purity' of which they are proud, exhibits the assembled wisdom of that convention as a body of gentlemen thankful for very small favors—and in the face of this record of years they claim to be the party of purity, integrity and honesty."

The Emporia News says: "Now, in the case of Ryan we know just what we are getting. He was elected on a ground greenback platform two years ago, the first Congressman elected in Kansas on such a platform, and his constituents have not been deceived in him in the least." In reply to which the Eureka Herald (Rep.) of Aug. 12, says: "We don't know what the News means by a 'ground greenback platform,' but we do know that if Mr. Ryan is a Greenbacker, he has misrepresented the fact to us; and has, therefore, deceived us. If we are able to learn anything from what Mr. Ryan says, we are convinced that he is not in sympathy with the greenback movement in any of its many wild phases or features, and should count it an injustice to him to say that he is."

The Leavenworth Times says: "From revelations made in a Bridgeport, Conn., murder case, in which a man was deliberately murdered in order that his body might be sold to a medical college, it would seem as if the crime were not an isolated one. One person, a woman, testified that she wanted to sell her body, and a doctor directed her where she might possibly find a purchaser. That person, said the witness, belonged to the Yale Medical School, and told her to bring other bodies, and that when she was dead he would buy her corpse. An inference, deducible from the testimony, is that body-selling in the East is a profession, and that the people engaged in it are not scrupulous as to whether the subjects are dead or alive at the start; in other words, men are killed in order that their bodies may be sold."

The Chicago Tribune thinks the actual pecuniary loss to the Southern States, from the yellow fever epidemic, will be almost beyond computation. It says: "While the North is giving without stint for the relief of the suffering, and death and distress occupy public attention, there is little thought taken of the real nature and extent of the terrible calamity which has overwhelmed the fever-stricken portions of the South. The material loss that will be sustained by the afflicted people is something appalling to contemplate. Careful estimates place the sum total at $200,000,000, but even this probably will not include the indirect or consequential damage that will be felt for years to come in the arrest of development and growth in the districts within the fever-belt resulting from the partial, if not entire, stopping of immigration. When the future is considered, together with the immediate loss to the cotton and sugar crops for the year, the aggregate injury to the South becomes almost beyond computation."

THE PUBLIC MONEY IN POLITICS.

In whatever branch of the public service investigation is made, the most flagrant abuses are discovered showing that the Treasury has been habitually plundered under Republican rule to subserve partisan interests, and that the expenditures were contracted or expanded as they would operate on national or local politics. In other words, the whole machinery of government and the revenues were constantly used to preserve a partisan ascendancy in the Administration and in Congress.

The reports to Congress are made up in a way to mislead the country, by concealing information to which the people are entitled. The whole truth can never be known until a change of Administration takes place and the books and papers pass into other hands. But with all the artifices employed to hide the truth, a careful analysis of even the official and prevented figures brings to light the practices that were pursued to retain possession of power.

Take as an illustration the great variety of expenditures for the civil list, all lumped together in the report of the Secretary of the Treasury, under the head of miscellaneous, the elements of which can only be known to the initiated, and even to well-informed public men but imperfectly under the system which prevails at Washington of making up the public accounts and substituting general statements for specific details, by means of which every charge might be followed.

Following the miscellaneous expenditures from 1863-'64 down to 1872-'73 it will be found that in the years of three Presidential elections, and in nearly all the years of Congress elections, the outlay was entirely disproportioned to what may be called, for discrimination, the non-political years. Here is a table made up from the last Treasury report, which shows at a glance the marked difference between the two classes of years:

Table with columns: Year, Amount, Increase, Decrease. Rows include 1863-64, 1864-65, 1865-66, 1866-67, 1867-68, 1868-69, 1869-70, 1870-71, 1871-72, 1872-73, 1873-74, 1874-75, 1875-76.

The years marked with a + were those in which Presidential and congressional elections were held—three of them in 1864, 1868, and 1872, and six of the latter. Of the thirteen other years, the miscellaneous expenditures were increased for the three Presidential elections $31,224,714 over the preceding years, and ten millions more, including the Congress elections, in the intervening years. In the years succeeding the Presidential elections, the miscellaneous expenses fell off more than nine millions and a quarter. The regularity of this increase and diminution tells the whole story with as much precision as if it were written in the plainest terms, and not in mixed figures intended to deceive the unwary and to put opponents off their guard. Although the appropriations made by Congress ought to be the limitation of expenditures, the executive departments, under various pretexts, have assumed to disregard them, and thus created deficiencies at their own discretion. It is the duty of Congress at the first opportunity to abolish this practice summarily, by making it a penal offence for any public officer to expend more money or to contract more debt than is legally and explicitly authorized.

USEFUL RECEIPTS.

A Good Baking Powder.—Eight ounces of flour, eight ounces of English carbonate of soda, seven ounces of tartaric acid, mixed thoroughly by passing several times through the sieve.

Liniment for Horses.—It is said that equal parts of spirits of camphor, sweet oil and spirits of turpentine, make a good liniment for bruises, sores, &c., on horses or cattle. Any druggist has the materials.

A Sure Way to Prevent Lockjaw.—Twenty minutes in the smoke of wood or woolen cloth will take the pain out of the worst case of inflammation arising from any wound. No one need die from lockjaw if this simple remedy is resorted to.

A Good Drink for Convalescents.—Beat the yolk with some pulverized sugar and add a little sherry or port wine and some grated nutmeg. Beat the white of the egg to a stiff froth, and mix the two lightly together. Valuable medicinal properties may be obtained by substituting brandy for the wine, and adding the grated surface of a toasted cracker.

Thanksgiving Fruit Cake.—One pound of brown sugar, one pound of browned flour, three pounds of seedless raisins, two pounds of currants, one pound of citron, three-fourths of a pound of butter, one cup of molasses, two teaspoonfuls of mace, two of cinnamon, one of cloves, one of black pepper, one of nutmeg, one of soda, twelve eggs, one-half cup of currant jelly melted in one-half cup of hot water. This cake will keep for years.

The Commonwealth has a special from Hays City saying that a band of the runaway Indians crossed the Kansas Pacific track, Oct. 2, sixty miles east of the city, and when eight to ten miles north of the station they came upon a lot of cattle men, when a hand to hand fight ensued, resulting in the loss of eighteen citizens killed and five wounded. The troops were all west of Buffalo in pursuit of the band that crossed near Sheridan on Sunday morning.

The White Sewing Machine. THE EASIEST SELLING; THE BEST SATISFYING Sewing Machine. Its introduction and world-renowned reputation was the death-blow to high-priced machines. THERE ARE NO SECOND HAND WHITE MACHINES IN THE MARKET. This is a very important matter, as it is a well-known and undisputed fact that many of the so-called first-class machines which are offered so cheap now-days are those that have been repossessed (that is, taken back from customers after use) and rebuilt and put upon the market as new.

THE NEEDHAM Musical Cabinet. THIS new and wonderful Instrument enables any one, whether understanding music or not, to play any desired melody or harmony, sacred or secular, from the most plaintive dirge to the most lively dance music. It possesses a mechanism of marvelous simplicity, requiring but the intelligence of a child to manipulate, yet capable of reproducing, without limitation, the musical compositions of the PAST, PRESENT and FUTURE. The execution is faultless, strict in melody, harmony and rhythm, and the instrument is eminently adapted for Sunday Schools, prayer and revival meetings, home devotional exercises, and in all cases where good, correct music is required, and no musician is at hand to perform. Address, E. P. NEEDHAM & SON, MANUFACTURERS, 143, 145 & 147 E. 23d St., New York.

The most important piece of Roman sculpture ever found in London was lately excavated. It is believed to have formed part of a mausoleum. London was a large city, with a mint and other metropolitan institutions, even in Roman days.

While four miners were endeavoring to disperse an accumulation of gas in a shaft of the Lehigh Coal Company, at Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 9, one of them made his appearance with a naked lamp; an explosion instantly followed, killing the entire party.

Some negro boys organized a mock court in Baldwin, Ga., condemned a playfellow to death, and hanged him from a beam. They supposed he would tell them when to let him down, but he only kicked, and they took that for sport. He was choked to death.

One of the most violent rain storms of the season visited St. Joseph, Mo., October 10, accompanied by hail and a terrific gale of wind from the northwest. The water came down in sheets for more than an hour, flooding the streets and cellars. Many shade trees were damaged by the hail and wind.

The house of John Conquest, near Clio, Arkansas, on the A. & P. M. railroad, was burned, Oct. 9, and the charred remains of himself and wife and their children were found in the ruins the next day. Mr. and Mrs. Conquest had their throats cut from ear to ear and their skulls crushed in. The baby's throat was cut.

A dispatch from Dallas, Texas, October 10, says a heavy robbery of money and freight from the Texas & Pacific and Houston & Texas railroads has been detected, and that many persons in high business and social standing, including officers, conductors, agents, and citizens from St. Louis to Galveston, are implicated.

The Missouri Republicans have put the following ticket in the field: For Judge of Supreme Court, Alex. F. Donoy; Superintendent of Public Instruction, Roderick Baldwin; Register of Lands, Wm. N. Norvel; Railroad Commissioner, John B. Tracy. A resolution endorsing Grant for President in 1880 was received with tremendous applause, but it was thought inexpedient to adopt it.

Burgess, who murdered Mr. Williams, Assistant Cashier of the Bank of England, August 3, 1877, and then robbed the bank of a quarter of a million pounds sterling in sterling notes, was, Oct. 12, arrested at Niles, Alameda county, Cal., by Detective Henderson, of London, and Charles Pinkerton, brother of Allen Pinkerton, Chief Detective of the Chicago Police. Detective Henderson traveled 22,000 miles before catching his man. Burgess was taken in irons to London.

SOMETHING FOR THE REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS TO PONDER OVER.

"It is a fact that all the legislation affecting finance, passed by the Republican party since the close of the war, has been such as to make the producing classes poorer every year, and to make the classes represented by August Belmont and the National Bank richer every year?"

"Is it a fact that the 5-20 bonds were made payable in lawful money of the United States which greenbacks were, under the first legal tender act of Feb. 25th, 1862?"

"Is it a fact that when the bill authorizing the issue of those 5-20 bonds was pending, McCollmer, of Vermont, offered an amendment, depriving the greenback of its legal tender quality, so far as the public debt was concerned, which was voted down?"

"Is it a fact that Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, declared that if the bill did not authorize the payment of the 5-20 bonds in greenbacks, he should vote against it?"

"Is it a fact that when the bill was on its final passage, Hon. Thad. Stevens, Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, was directly asked, and he directly answered that only the interest is payable in coin?"

"Is it a fact that early in the session of 1867-8 the bondholders and bullionists succeeded in getting a bill introduced in Congress, known as the 'Credit Strengthening Act,' declaring the United States solemnly pledged to the payment in coin or its equivalent of all the obligations of the United States, and that act failed to pass at that session of Congress?"

"Is it a fact that Grant in his inaugural message of March, 1869, promptly said: 'Let it be understood that no repudiator of one farthing of our public debt will be trusted in public places?'"

"Is it a fact that heeding the warning given to all opposers of the Credit Strengthening Act, and true to their pledges to Belmont, the Republican Congress on the 12th of March, 1869, introduced the measure again, whipped it through both branches of that body, and had it approved on the 18th, six days from the time it was introduced?"

"Is it a fact that the approval of this infamous measure was Grant's first official act, and that Congress was convened that early, for no other reasonable purpose than to hasten through this first bill passed by them?"

We clip the foregoing from the Fredonia Tribune. The facts therein stated should be well considered. They are proof conclusive that the financial legislation of the Government has been in the interest of capital, and against the masses of the people. But this state of things is closed. The people have taken the matter into their own hands, and it is to be hoped that in the future the Government will run in the interest of the country at large, and not for the benefit of a class.

LOUISVILLE AND NEW YORK.

The Norfolk Virginia Landmark says: "When the history of the fever now devastating a part of the country is written the names of two cities will be set down in letters of gold and spoken with honest admiration wherever the mournful story penetrates. We need hardly say that we refer to Louisville and New York. When the banks of the Mississippi were lined with pickets, musket in hand, to shoot, if need arose, the wretched refugees; when railroad trains were prohibited from landing fugitives; when steamers were guarded in the stream, filled with sick and dying, and forbidden intercourse with the shore, Louisville, to her everlasting honor, threw open her gates to our unhappy countrymen. She gave the cup of cold water, the bread when others hurled stones, and without ostentation she has played the part of the Good Samaritan. If communities could have a hereafter, the recent acts of Louisville would entitle her to a great reward, for her hospitality and tender ministrations have been offered without money and without price, in the name of God and humanity, to those excluded from almost every other refuge. We have not exaggerated the claims of the gallant Kentuckians to the claims of their country men, and we sincerely trust that the noble charities of Louisville may be repaid to her a thousand fold, but never in kind. New York comes next in her claims upon the admiration of the Republic—next because she has not encountered the special danger which Louisville confronted; but her work, though less perilous, was not less necessary. In the beginning of the plague she came forward, prescient and pious, with benevolent alacrity to aid the sick and suffering.

She has given already over $250,000, and hardly a day passes that gifts from her generous people do not pass through this town en route for the scenes of distress and affliction. The tale of these two cities is here only suggested; but the time will come, we trust, when it will be written out in full for the instruction of our countrymen, who, in reading it, must of necessity be ennobled by the contemplation of such large hearted benevolence as Louisville and New York have displayed since the pestilence began. May God reward them both, for they are doing his service with an unselfish alacrity and systematic devotion above all praise!"

"THE INVESTIGATION."

Though the investigation of election frauds is still going on in Washington, the people of the great and prosperous west are not agitated very much over the title of Hayes to the Presidency—what they want to know is where to go during the summer for recreation and pleasure—and as usual the Old Reliable Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad comes to the front and offers cheaper rates, close connections, and through cars from Missouri River to the principal places of interest in the North, South and East. Through Day Coaches and Pullman Sleeping Cars are run from Missouri River points to Chicago, via Quincy, (and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad,) making close connections with all lines to the North and East, also with the different steamboat lines on the Great Lakes. This is the only line offering a through Day Coach and Pullman Sleeping Car, from Missouri River to Toledo, Ohio (via the Wabash) without change, making close connections with Rail lines to all points East, direct connections made with Boat for Put-In Bay, (the Saratoga of the west). This is also the only line offering a through Day Coach from Kansas City to Indianapolis without change—making close connections with all lines East and South. Pleasure seekers, business men and the public generally should remember this fact and purchase their tickets accordingly; for sale at all offices in the west.
