COL. COOLIDGE DIES BEFORE SON ARRIVES

(By Associated Press) PLYMOUTH, Vermont, March 19.—Colonel John Coolidge, father of President Calvin Coolidge, is dead. He died while his son was making a losing race to his bedside to bid him farewell. The end of the long career of Col. Coolidge came at 10:41 o'clock last night, and the country merchant, justice of the peace and former member of the governor's staff, upon whose homely rural career special attention had been focused for some time, passed out. The attention of the country was attracted to the Coolidge rural home when Col. Coolidge administered the presidential oath of office to his son in the family homestead by the light of a kerosene lamp. This was at the death of President Warren G. Harding. He was the only father of a president to have such a distinction. Col. Coolidge would have been 81 years of age on March 31st. Leaving Washington yesterday afternoon when the news came that the inevitable ending of his father's protracted illness was in sight, President Coolidge was between New York and Bridgeport, Conn., traveling on his special train at a rapid rate in an effort to reach his father's bedside before the end came, when his father died. The news of the death of Col. Coolidge was reported to the president at Bridgeport about an hour after death occurred. The news of the death of Col. Coolidge was flashed immediately to the White House to be relayed to the president's train which was en route to Vermont. The president's train reached Woodstock, 13 miles from here at 6:00 o'clock this morning, and the president and party were met and carried to the Coolidge home. Carcinoma, a form of cancer, was given today as the cause of Colonel John Coolidge's death. The cancer affected the region of the bladder, his physician said, and myocarditis, an inflammation of the heart muscles, was a contributing factor to the aged man's death.

PLYMOUTH, March 19.—President Coolidge came back home at Plymouth today, arriving at ten minutes after ten o'clock. The president arrived at the White House Farm where his father, Col. John Coolidge, lay dead. He was driven to Plymouth from Woodstock accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, their son John, Attorney General Sargent, and Major James Coupal, the White House physician. The presidential party arrived in snow sleighs, having been forced to leave their automobiles at Bridgewater, Conn. For the last seven miles of the journey snow covered the roads, making auto travel difficult. It was announced that the funeral services would be held at 2:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and that interment would be made in the Plymouth cemetery. After an hour's stay at his father's home, President and Mrs. Coolidge returned to Woodstock. They planned to remain there and probably will not return to Plymouth until tomorrow.

When Calvin Coolidge succeeded to the presidency upon the death of President Harding in August, 1923, his father, John C. Coolidge, suddenly sprang from the obscurity of a quiet, little Vermont town to national prominence. Up to that time the father of the new president, although he had been actively interested in public affairs for many years, scarcely was known or heard of outside his native state.

Not many of the 29 men who were fathers of presidents lived to see their sons inducted into the highest public office, and among those who did Colonel Coolidge had the distinction of being the only one to administer the oath of the presidential office to his son. It was this more than the mere fact that he had become father of the president that caused the attention of the nation to be directed to him.

It was only a few weeks before that the son, then vice-president, with his family had returned to the paternal homestead for a vacation. In the midst of this family reunion and holiday came the death of President Harding. It was near midnight when the news reached the Coolidge home in the little mountain village of Plymouth remote from the railroad, and immediately plans were made for swearing in the new president.

The ceremony was delayed only long enough to receive from Washington the official form of the presidential oath and when it arrived in the early morning hours the stage was all set for one of the most solemn and dramatic inductions of a president in the history of the country.

The vice-president had decided that his father, by virtue of his office of notary public of Plymouth, was qualified to administer the oath, which was done in the living room of the Coolidge home by the light of a small kerosene lamp of the type commonly used in farmhouse kitchens.

The ceremony, thus performed amid surroundings that were more like the early years of the country rather than of the twentieth century, was in conformity to the simple traditions that have marked the lives of the Coolidges of Vermont for many years.

"LOVE A LA CARTE" High School Auditorium Seats on Sale at Weeks

Last but by no means least, Coilla Mason, who will appear as "Cookie" tonight with the DeMolay show "Love a la Carte" will be the big laugh of the entire show. Playing the part of an old negro servant in the Huff home she has a big share in every comedy scene throughout the performance.

Miss Mason can dialect the cold southern negro and is able to pick her comedy lines and handle them in a way that would do credit to a professional. You will miss many laughs if you fail to see her tonight.

PROPOSE HEARING ON LIQUOR BILLS

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 19.—Public hearings on bills for modification of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act will be recommended to the Senate judiciary committee by its special sub-committee. ## 32 KILLED IN CHINESE RIOT

(By Associated Press) PEKING, March 19.—Thirty-two persons are dead today as a result of soldiers firing upon a parade in which 2,000 men and women students marched, and who sought to protest against the Chinese government's acceptance of the demands of foreign powers that the Tientsin blockade be ended.

The trouble today followed similar trouble yesterday in which a number of persons were killed as a result of the government's action in the Tientsin matter.

CHANGE IN LINE-UP FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEE

The Ledger has been requested to withdraw the name of R. P. Tunnell, who had been announced as a candidate for school trustee, and to add to the ticket the name of Henry Todd. This leaves the following names on the ticket, with four to be elected:

- Henry Todd
- C. A. Doose
- G. A. Ludwig
- E. C. Baskin
- E. T. Branham
- Lee Butler
- R. T. Williams

The election will be held Saturday, April 3rd, and no doubt a sufficient number of votes will be polled to elect four men from the above list, who with Rev. W. H. Doss, W. E. Middleton and Jess Jones will form the new board.

Rufus Wheeler arrived Friday at noon from San Antonio, and is here for a short visit on business. His stay may be prolonged in order to give him time to shake hands with all his friends.

Texas still holds fifth place in population, and the time is rapidly coming when Texas will have the largest population of any state in the union. She has the territory and can feed the world, if it becomes necessary.

The Brownwood Bulletin says that the dairy business in Brown county is rapidly getting to be one of the leading industries of that county, all of which means that the farmers of that county will have no cause to worry over the low price of cotton.

Some of the major oil companies are drilling in Coleman and Brown counties, and activities in the oil development have been greatly revived since the first of the year. Where there is so much "wild catting" going on another big field is certain to be discovered.

Five churches in Coleman have announced a simultaneous revival campaign, and all will begin protracted meetings on March 28th. The churches are using a page advertisement in the Coleman paper to tell the folks about it. Rev. E. W. McLaurin, of Ballinger, will assist the Presbyterian services.

 County of Runnels:
 By virtue of authority given me under Article No. 6970 Revised Civil Statutes 1925 Edition, and the filing by one J. J. Hoch before C. H. Willingham, Justice of the Peace in and for Precinct No. 1, Runnels County, Texas, which affidavit alleges that on the 6th day of February, A. D. 1926, he impounded three heifers, one red about two years old, no brands; one light Jersey about 18 months old, no brands; one dark Jersey about 18 months old, no brands; that said animals were found roaming in and around his premises five miles Southeast of Rowena, Runnels County, Texas, and that after diligent search no owner could be found;

Now, Therefore, on the 22nd day of March, A. D. 1926, between the hours of 10:00 o'clock a. m. and 4:00 o'clock p. m., at Rowena, Texas, I will sell for cash to the highest bidder the aforesaid stock to satisfy the expense of impounding and court costs as the law directs in such cases.

 Constable, Precinct No. 7,

Two ambulances were called at the same minute in Dallas Thursday, each being called to opposite ends of the city to get two elderly women who had fallen down stairs and were seriously injured at exactly the same time. Both of the old ladies sustained the same kind of injury. Both ambulances arrived at the same hospital at the same time.

A Dallas income tax payer whose dues to the government amounted to four cents, declares he will take advantage of the provision whereby he is allowed to pay the income tax in quarterly installments. Opposition to the income tax law was given as the reason for handling the payments in this manner.

It happened in Coleman county at the greatest distance from the Brown county line and we challenge comparison. Last week a batch of eggs that had slumbered in an incubator some nineteen or twenty days were cast overboard at the city dump ground by some fellow that evidently got his dates mixed. Several days later Jess Watson was passing and heard chicks chirp. Investigation was made and he discovered that the eggs were hatching. Before leaving he secured 21 chicks and they were brought to town and viewed by several truthful men and women. Still later a negro passed and picked up some twenty-five. It looked like they were bursting out of the ground. In all more than fifty baby chicks were secured from the discarded eggs and Mr. Watson and the negro left when they collected as many as they could conveniently carry. The next morning the earth was painted white with frost.—Coleman Democrat-Voice.

His many friends will regret to know that G. W. Dunlap is confined to his bed at his home on Hutchings Avenue, and is not able to be out, except for an occasional visit to the doctor for treatment. Mr. Dunlap is a candidate for tax collector, and hopes to be able to circulate among the voters before the campaign warms up.

Three Things to Be Sure of in Building a Home

1. The Plan. Better safe than sorry. Be sure your plan is perfect in every detail before you build. Inconvenient and unsatisfactory arrangements, too little closet space, too few built-ins, etc., can prove a constant source of regret. They can be remedied only at considerable expense. We may be able to help you in planning your home.

2. Materials. Trying to save on first cost by using cheap, inferior materials, always proves costly in the end. It is the most unwise of all courses to take. Buy materials that will last.

3. Construction. A good contractor and skilled workmen offer the best insurance against being a victim of "the high cost of cheap construction." Improper construction is apt to result in constant expense, worry and dissatisfaction. We can put you in touch with reliable workmen.

When you build, build to last. Be sure of these three things. Bring your building problems to us. Let us tell you about our roof that lasts for fifty years.

upon the death of his father the colonel moved into the latter's home, the present Coolidge home. Mrs. Coolidge died when Calvin was 12 years old. The colonel's second wife was Carrie A. Brown, who died in 1920.

Although thousands of automobiles visited his home after his son became president, Col. Coolidge never had a desire for this modern means of conveyance. Making the trips which his varied business interests demanded he stuck to his bug and old horse, which he remarked in 1924 was "about played out." He took kindly, however, to the radio and in his later years abandoned his lifetime practice of retiring early in order to listen in, especially when an address by his son was being broadcast. He was greatly touched when President Coolidge at the close of an address near the end of the 1924 campaign said a public good night to his father.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The Senate met and adjourned immediately this morning on motion of Senator Dale, republican of Vermont, out of respect to Colonel John Coolidge, father of the president.

AUSTIN, March 19.—Governor Ferguson today extended her sympathy to President Coolidge in the death of his father, Col. John Coolidge. Her message read, "I want to offer to you my deep and sincere sympathy in your sorrow. I deeply regret the passing away of your noble father."

Dan Moser came home from Maryneal Thursday to look after business, and returned to the bedside of his mother, Mrs. D. P. Moser, at Maryneal, after spending a couple of hours here. Mr. Moser reported that his mother was gradually growing weaker, and that she was expected to pass away at any time. Mrs. Moser is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Price Maddox at Maryneal.

R. L. Stokes, of Winters, was here Friday. Mr. Stokes reported that plans were being made to build the new $100,000 high school building at Winters, near where the present building stands.

M. C. Atkins, manager of the local telephone exchange, returned home from Fort Worth Friday, where he had been attending the independent telephone operators' convention. Mr. Atkins reports the most enthusiastic and successful meeting of the phone people ever held. More than 300 delegates registered.

Miss Willie Campbell, chief operator of the local telephone exchange, attended the telephone convention in Fort Worth this week, and returned home Friday. There were about 150 chief operators at the meeting.

Miss Lola Belle Holloway returned to her work with the Western Union at Shreveport, La., Friday, after a two weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holloway. Miss Lola Belle was with the Ballinger Western Union office before going to Shreveport.

Edgar Jayroe, of the Crews section, was in the city Friday and reported the world turning green in the North part of the county.

of Governor Stiekney of Vermont—always lived in Plymouth, where he was born March 31, 1845. The fact that his son became president did not change his mode of living with the exception that he was obliged to spend considerable time greeting tourists who passed to get a glimpse of the place where Calvin Coolidge was born and spent his boyhood. After his son became the occupant of the White House Col. Coolidge made occasional trips to Washington, but always appeared glad to get back to his farm and the life to which he had so long been accustomed.

Col. Coolidge, although primarily a merchant during most of the years of his active life, was a man of many interests. After his schooling at Black River Academy at Ludlow, which his son later attended, he worked for the village wheelwright cutting timber until he was 22 years of age. Then he rented the general store at Plymouth and conducted it until 1918, when he sold the business to devote his time to insurance interests and his duties as an officer of the Ludlow Savings Bank and Trust Company. He was one of the organizers of the latter and a charter member of the board of directors.

At the age of 27 Col. Coolidge was elected to the Vermont legislature and was the youngest representative in the session. He served six terms as representative and one as state senator. In his home town he was tax collector for 38 years, a deputy sheriff for more than 40 years and school director for a long period. He also served as moderator for the town meeting and was assistant postmaster for 49 years.

Col. Coolidge in 1868 married Victoria Josephine Moor. They lived in a tenement in the rear of the store, where President Coolidge was born, until 1878, when
