Published Every Day Except Sunday... The Ballinger Printing Company... Office of Publication, 711 Hutchings Avenue, Ballinger, Texas...

One week from tomorrow will be city election day in Ballinger at which time the citizens will vote to select two commissioners to fill the unexpired term.

Vacation time is approaching and plans for spending it are already in the making with many people. Just about one month and students will begin on their vacations for three months and business men and housewives have already started the 'spring argument' as to where they will go.

Dan Moody has announced he would not sling any mud in his campaign for governor. At any rate he was 'slung' mud when he passed thru Ballinger with his bride in his car Wednesday, following a three-inch rain in this section.

Ballinger citizens are already beginning to plan for the annual trade trip this summer and some good suggestions have been heard expressed by different individuals. One proposal that should be heartily endorsed was that the boosters should start weekly visits to neighboring communities, making day and night each night. Pivotal nights could be set for these visits and the band and other entertainment carried along with the entire city living up for the trip. In this way every town in the county could be visited. Going at night the communities visited could turn out en masse and the trippers could be at each point long enough to meet and talk with everyone. We believe that more good could be accomplished, more people would take part in both town and country, and a much better program would be presented at the gatherings.

WE MUST HAVE GOOD ROADS

Good roads branch a problem that is worrying all of business county. Business men and farmers are constantly reminded that something will have to be done in the early future to better the road system of this county. Other West Texas counties have realized the importance of roads and have voted bond issues and commenced the work of building highways that will last for all time to come, and as these neighboring counties build roads it makes it all the more important that we as a county do not lag behind or in the rear.

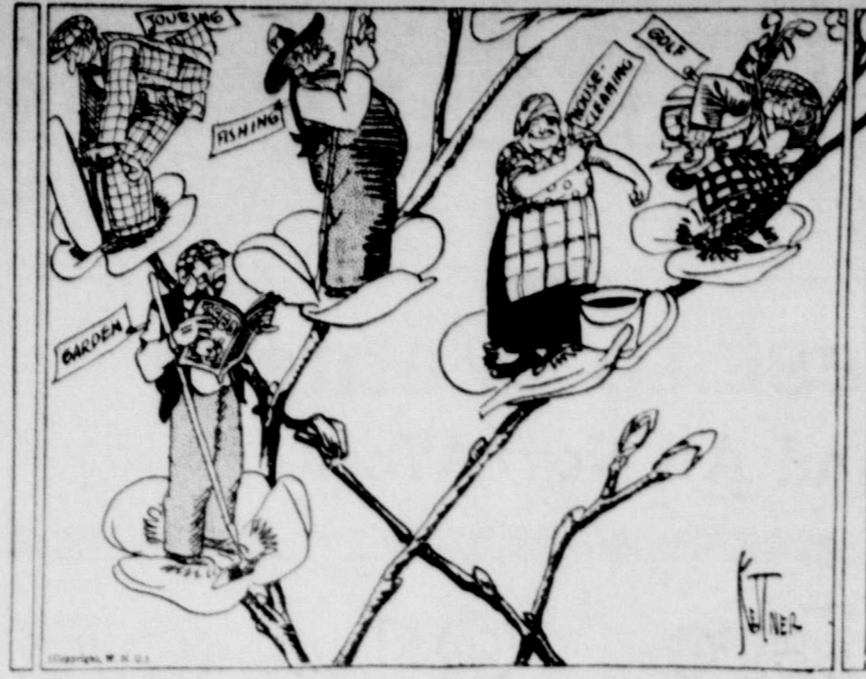

Everyone knows that road cost money and that the people pay for the roads. When national and state aid are secured, it is only a part of our own money coming back home, still this aid is really a gift for if we do not make the effort and get this aid it will be spent upon other places to construct roads that will put us further behind.

Two highways cross this county. One is from Coleman county to Tom Green county, and another from Taylor county to Concho county, and there is now prospect of a national highway coming in from Sweetwater thru to Concho county on the South. If these highways were built of permanent materials, concrete or brick, with the assistance of state and federal aid, Rannels county would have a road system that would equal anything in Texas.

URGES DRYS AND WETS TO MAKE CONCESSIONS

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 23.—Declaring that the prohibition controversy had produced a desperate situation, Mayor Dever of Chicago, today asked the Senate prohibition committee to ponder seriously as to whether or not some effective remedy cannot be devised.

The dry law, he said, has benefited some homes and injured others, and he counseled both the drys and the wets to make concessions in the interest of the public. So serious has the prohibition controversy become in the great cities of America, the mayor told the committee, that public officials are no longer chosen on a basis of their ability, but according to their stand on the liquor question, and after they take office they are forced to give most of their time to dry enforcement problems to the detriment of other public business.

Only by guess work, he continued, could the number of stills operating in Chicago be estimated and a guess of 10,000 would be as good as a guess of 1,000. After the mayor left the stand, Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, dry enforcement chief, was recalled, this time by the drys.

PUTTING BARS IN CONCHO RIVERS

The first shipment of the material of which bars, about 60,000 of them, were ordered by citizens of the country from the mid-night Santa Fe Wednesday. These fish, now in the shipping stage, will weigh about a pound each after a water, according to the caretaker who accompanied them on the trip. The carp, sent to the river with ease in which to construct them to their destination. The material was made from an iron and steel bar, and will be followed by others later this year, it is thought.

These receiving parts of the district was Dew Chapman, Lester Foster, Sterling, the Shannan ranch on the Krumpholtz, Joe Tweedy on Dan Cook, Marcus Flueck on Spring Creek, Joe Stock on Spring Creek and the San Angelo Public Club, which got the largest number of any of the group.

Great care is exercised in keeping these fish alive on the journey. When the train is not in motion, the caretaker fills the water from the cans and pumps it through the air every fifteen minutes.

The recipients here immediately changed the water in which the fish were contained and made arrangements to care for them until the river gets clearing, when they will place them in the streams. The North and Middle Conchos, Spring and Dove Creek are the destinations of the minnows. The caretaker, who arrived with the shipments on the baggage car Wednesday night, took the two cans destined to the Sterling City consignee there Thursday morning.

BAPTISTS GIVE SENIORS FEED

Members of the Missionary Society of the Ballinger Baptist Church were hostesses Thursday night to the Senior Class and faculty of the local high school with a banquet and program in the dining room of the church.

The guests found their places at the table by combination place cards and programs which announced the menu and radio program from station KNOW. The banquet room was very tastefully decorated in Senior colors, green and white, and the menu also featured the colors as far as was possible.

Ernest Moody and orchestra furnished music before and during the spread, which was greatly enjoyed by the class and visitors. Sixty-six plates were served with the following menu:

Grapefruit cocktail, baked chicken, dressing, giblet gravy, cream peas in patties, deviled eggs, potato chips, dill pickles, mince, coffee, brick ice cream and angel food cake. Young ladies of the church served the menu, and were dressed in green and white, carrying out the color scheme.

Following the serving of the banquet the radio program commenced with Robt. M. Payne acting as announcer. Dr. E. Godbold, president of Howard Payne College of Brownwood, tuned in, and offered the invocation. The loud speaker was then attached and Miss Dorothy Chaney gave her funniest experience as a student, which was greatly enjoyed by members of the class until static became so bad that she was forced to give way to Crews Alexander who told of the most humiliating moment he had spent as a student. After the static was overcome, Theophilus Fitz favored the banqueters with a musical program until interference was occasioned by Miss Helen Williams telling of diffi-

Atwood, of Simmons University, Abilene, spoke to the class along the lines of Christian education, each presenting the side of the Christian schools to the Seniors and urging them to make their choice and attend a school where their Christian life was made a part of their education. Dr. Swindell signed off following the addresses by the two visitors. Numerous telegrams were received during the programs and read by the announcer.

This banquet is only a part of the program of the Missionary Society of this church in regard to Christian education and it was declared a success in every particular by all those present. Winking God Leads Trail of Re- morse in Serial at Maeroy

From the time the first white man came into contact with the Aztec Indians up almost to the present there have been vain searchings for the "lost Aztec gold lode." Death and misery have been the lot of the searchers. Out of the legend has come "The Winking Idol," a thrilling 10-episode serial picture in which Universal is releasing William Desmond and which comes to the Maeroy Theatre commencing this afternoon. Desmond is support- ed by a great cast.

The story was written by Chas. E. VanLoan and is a dramatic re- ital of the efforts of men to hold the idol which has the clue to the location of the lost mines. "The Winking Idol" will be shown at the Maeroy every Fri- day and Saturday for ten weeks.

Richard Dix Popular With Texas Cowboys

That Richard Dix is as good a fellow in real life as he is upon the screen is the firm conviction of thirty-two Texas cowboys, who were recently honored with the star's presence when he turned down an invitation to eat in the ranch house so as to dine with them on the rough board tables of the cow-hand's chuck-room.

On a location thirty miles out of Houston, where the Dix com- pany was filming scenes for Arthur Stringer's "Womanhandled" two separate tables were laid for each meal. At one table, in the ranch-house, was room for the director the players and members of the staff. At the other, loat- ed in the ranch chuck-hall, were accommodations for the cowboys.

Every noon, despite the fact that the motion picture company's table was covered with a linen table-cloth and silver cutlery was used, Dix insisted upon going out to the chuck-house and "help- in' hisself" to the ranch-hands' simple food.

"There certainly ain't nuthin' snobbish about him," said one raw-boned cowboy. "I allus had the impression that these movin'-pitcher actors was high-brow and didn't pay no 'tention to us simple folk. I see I was all wrong."

Esther Ralston heads the cast appearing in support of the star in "Womanhandled," the answer to "Manhandled" by the same author, which is being shown to- day and tomorrow at the Queen Theatre. Margaret Morris, Cora Williams, Olive Tell, Eli Nadel, Edmund Breese, Ivan Simpson and Edgar Nelson complete the line-up. Luther Reed wrote the screen play.

REDSKINS IN 2ND DIVISION

(By Associated Press)
SAN ANTONIO, Apr. 22.—Lo, the well known "poor Indian," is rather a prominent component of the Second Division of Uncle Sam's army.

Forty-six men of Indian blood are now on the division's roster, Col. J. C. McArthur, chief of staff, has learned after checking all the records. These soldiers all were listed by him as Indians.

While 46 men, compared with more than 5,000 in the division, do not seem a large number, nevertheless the Indian contingent is considered of appreciable size in view of information from the moving picture screen and novels that the original American is vanishing.

Perhaps no other division in the whole army has as many Red Men and the descendants of Red Men as has the Second.

These 46 men chiefly represent tribes of the South and Southwest, but one is enlisted as Nez Perce (Pacific Northwest), one as Yukon, one as Seneca, and one as Delaware. The Cherokees are most numerous, there being 27 of them.

Other tribes represented are the Chickamauga, Choctaw, Comanche, Chippewa, Mission, Caddo, Creek, Wichita and Chickasha.

The 21st Infantry has 10 Indians; the 9th Infantry five; the 20th Infantry five; the 23rd Infantry nine; the 13th Field Artillery one; the 15th Field Artillery nine; the Second Engineers six; and the Second Medical Regiment one.

Four Indians are World War veterans and credited with combat service. They are Charlie Bailey and James W. Peters of the 21st Infantry; Joseph Wisheep of the 20th Infantry and Harvey Marshall of the 23rd Infantry.

One of the Indians, Sgt. Grover Doshenko of the 23rd Infantry has made a name for himself as an aggressive football player, holding down tackle on the Second Division team.

A glance over the roster of the Red Men shows that few still retain picturesque Indian names. There are, Jim Squirrel, William Swallow, Boyd Eagle, Joseph Bird, William Shakingbush, and George Walkingstick; but on the other hand are some names to conjure with. For instance, Jack Casey, Alex England, Tom Campbell, Frank Washington, Jack Handy, Elbert Scott and Sandy Mareels.

Three Things to Be Sure of in Building a Home

1. The Plan. Better safe than sorry. Be sure your plan is perfect in every detail before you build. Inconvenient and unsatisfactory arrangements, too little closet space, too few built-ins, etc., can prove a constant source of regret. They can be remedied only at considerable expense. We may be able to help you in planning your home.

2. Materials. Trying to save on first cost by using cheap, inferior materials, always proves costly in the end. It is the most unwise of all courses to take. Buy materials that will last.

3. Construction. A good contractor and skilled workmen offer the best insurance against being a victim of "the high cost of cheap construction." Improper construction is apt to result in constant expense, worry and dissatisfaction. We can put you in touch with reliable workmen.

When you build, build to last. Be sure of these three things. Bring your building problems to us. Let us tell you about our roof that lasts for fifty years.

Jeanes' Poultry Farm is Making Rapid Progress

The E. A. Jeanes Poultry Farm, located just Northwest of the city, rapidly is developing into one of the most thriving institutions in Ballinger. Built along scientific lines, easily operated, and sanitary throughout, the buildings are taking shape and already about 4,000 baby chicks as well as some 300 hens and pullets are making home at the farm.

Mr. Jeanes purchased about 50 acres along the brow of a hill overlooking the Colorado River, and will enclose the plot with a high wire fence. All the buildings will be built of cement, on the side of the hill, and the rest of the land will be used as range except about 20 acres put in green feed under irrigation.

A well has been drilled on the twenty acres of sandy land, and sufficient water found to operate a three-inch centrifugal pump. An electric line is being extended to the well and water will be pumped by electricity. Later Mr. Jeanes plans to install another pump to raise water to a reservoir which will be located on the highest knoll of the hill and from which the entire tract can be irrigated by gravity flow.

The brooding house is completed and in operation. The building is of cement and the hill has been excavated so that all the North side of the building is below the ground. A central heating plant furnishes heat for the brooder, and the building which is over 100 feet long, is cut into small compartments in which are kept small chickens of different ages. The fowls are kept in this house for about eight weeks when they are taken out and put in the roost house and laying racks. This building is now under construction and will hold about 4,000 hens. It is also built of cement and divided into compartments about 24 feet square, each compartment taking care of from 100 to 150 hens.

At one end of the brooder house is the incubator room on the first floor, above which is an office upstairs in which a keeper sleeps at night to keep prowlers and varmints away from the chickens.

All the buildings are lighted with electricity and can be controlled by a switch near the bed of the man on watch.

The incubator in operation at present is a small one, only having a 1,400-egg capacity, but the company plans to install one of 15,000-egg capacity for the coming season. The incubator is kept full all the time and Ledger reporters were shown a setting of 15 eggs in the machine Thursday which came from Washington and cost $50. These eggs are due to hatch next week and will represent some of the finest stock in the United States. Two cockerels have been received at the farm recently that cost $78.80 each. These cockerels have been put with forty selected pullets that are from a string of chickens which took blue ribbons at every state show.

Mr. Jeanes plans to erect a residence at a selected site overlooking the farm and river at an early date. The farm is only beginning to take shape and a great deal of work is yet to be done, but when completed will be a place that all West Texas can be proud of and should do much to encourage the poultry industry of this territory.

Paul Jeanes is associated with his father in the new enterprise and with the poultry producing experience both these men have had the business will soon become an industry that will attract many visitors and one to which Ballinger citizens can point to with pride.

WINTERS OFFERS A GOOD SHOW

The three-act comedy drama entitled "Star Bright," presented by Winters local talent at the Ballinger high school auditorium Thursday evening proved to be a real winner from a standpoint of presentation and was thoroughly appreciated by those who were present to enjoy the evening's entertainment.

The show, which was given under the auspices of the local chapter of DeMolay, was brought to Ballinger by Winters talent and presented as an expression of their appreciation of the Ballinger talent which was presented at Winters some weeks past.

Those who were present Thursday evening were high in praise of the entire show, declaring that each member of the cast stood out as a star by putting their parts over in an exceptionally pleasing and entertaining manner. It was very much regretted by the Ballinger audience that so few people were present to enjoy the really high class entertainment that was given by the Winters talent.

SEVEN NEGROES TRAPPED IN FIRE

(By Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—Seven negroes; four children, two women and one man, were burned to death when flames swept a tenement in Southeast Philadelphia early today.

Fire marshals investigated the reports that the fire was of incendiary origin after large quantities of papers were found stacked in an unoccupied store on the first floor.

The city commission of Denton, Texas voted at a recent meeting to install signal lights and bells to regulate traffic on downtown streets. The lights will be installed on the street intersections where motor traffic is the heaviest.

CHORAL CLUB PLANS CONCERT

At the Tuesday night meeting of the Ladies Choral Club of Ballinger it was voted by the members to present a public concert about the latter part of May. The club will begin at once on intensive rehearsals of concert music, and will be ready with a program that will please everyone within the next month.

The concert will be given free as far as any admission price is concerned, however it was decided by the ladies to place money boxes at the doors and let the people who attend drop in any amount they care to either before or after the performance.

Concert numbers by the club, solos, duets, quartets, readings and instrumental numbers will make up the program, and with the increased membership of the organization a real treat to Ballinger music lovers is assured. The club membership has reached the 50 mark where it will possibly remain for some time, and a real business like organization has been formed. At the last meeting a constitution and by-laws were adopted, one clause of which makes attendance at rehearsals compulsory or a fine of twenty-five cents will be imposed against the absentee.

The following officers were elected for the first year: Mrs. A. B. Stobaugh, president; Mrs. Ira L. Sims, vice-president; Mrs. L. R. Tigner, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Stobaugh, Mrs. Sims and Mrs. R. L. Harwell also were appointed to pass on all applications for membership.

WILL LECTURE ON LIFE OF CHRIST

Scott W. Hickey, of Simmons University, will give a stereopticon lecture on the life of Christ tonight at the Spring Hill school house. Anyone who would like to hear the address will be welcome to come. The lecture will begin about 8:00 o'clock.

Brady is also after Sul Ross State Teachers College in case the location of that institution is changed from Alpine. Luncheon clubs and the chamber of commerce of that place are active in making their plans to bid for the institution in case it is moved.

BALLINGER STUDENTS ATTENDING MEET

Miss Gladys Stephens escorted the Junior boy and girl declaimers, Miss Joe Stephens and Dalton McWilliams, to San Angelo Friday morning, where they will compete in the district inter-scholastic meet at that place which is being held today and Saturday. These two won first places in the county meet and will enter the competition at San Angelo to select the winners from this district to go to the state meet at Austin.

Beginning at 10:30 Saturday morning in the San Angelo fair ground, the field and track events were scheduled and were to continue on through the afternoon. Six men from Ballinger were eligible for the events, having won first and second places in the county meet held here two weeks ago. These men will leave for San Angelo early Saturday morning accompanied by Coach Ivan P. Oliver, and will take part in the events in which they were winners. The boys who will take part from Ballinger are Clarence McCarver, Russell Thomson, Pete McKenzie, Pete Marecek and J. G. Tuckey. Flay Brevard, who was also a winner, has withdrawn from school and will not be with the team.

MAIL PLANES MAY BE SEEN IN BALLINGER

Ballinger will have its first opportunity to see the pigeon type of airplane which will be used for carrying mail on the Dallas-Chicago postal route, when the pigeon plane and an escort of about ten other machines fly over here the afternoon of April 28.

The air pioneers will comprise the Southwestern Retailer's first good will tour, carrying a message of progress in business from the trade journal's offices thru-out Texas and Louisiana.

Leaving Dallas on the morning of April 27, the flyers will make night stops in San Antonio and San Angelo, completing the three-day circuit after visiting College Station, Houston, Austin, Waco, Brownwood, Abilene, and Mineral Wells. No stop will be made in Ballinger or in other towns, but the planes will fly over them in squad formation, presenting an imposing spectacle in the heavens. The first good will tour ever conducted entirely by airplane will celebrate the inauguration of daily mail deliveries by aerial route between Dallas and Chicago, scheduled to begin May 6. The government's representative on the trip will be joined by business executives and chamber of commerce officials.

After trying a flat rate on water for two years Abilene is installing meters for all water consumers. Over 3,000 meters were received for installation this week.

The Cowboy Band from Simmons College and Confederate veterans of this section will run a special train from Abilene to Birmingham, Alabama on May 15, to attend the reunion of the old soldiers.

Pecan Bayou near Brownwood is going down after a 27 foot rise, which is one of the highest in history. Three more feet would have put the stream over the last bank and covered all the open spaces around it.
