Editor Tells of Highways Through Runnels County

"Ballinger, with a population of 5,000, is the largest city between Brownwood and San Angelo," according to Bryan Snyder, Jr. Automobile Editor of the Dallas News, who in a third article of a series giving the Dallas News readers something of what they will get in taking the West Texas tour through this part of the state.

Mr. Snyder was through Ballinger a short time ago, making his regular weekly tour of much travelled highways and giving the readers of The News information about the roads over which they travel, facts that the ordinary traveler would not see. Two weeks ago, Mr. Snyder told the readers of The Dallas to Glen Rose highway and of the various towns which the highway passed through. Last week he told them of the highway from Glen Rose to Brownwood and last Sunday, he told them of the highway from Brownwood to San Angelo.

Mr. Snyder in writing these articles for The News also prepares miniature maps which shows the highways through the various counties and cities which he writes of. Several pictures are also given in connection with this article, showing views of the highway. In Ballinger Mr. Snyder took a picture of the Colorado River bridge of the river. Following is Mr. Snyder's comment on the highway through Runnels county:

At Coleman the San Angelo bound motor traveler changes to State Highway No. 23 and finds a good gravel road leading towards Ballinger. The towns of Valera and Talpa are passed before reaching the Coleman-Runnels County line. At the county line the well graveled road ends, but the graded dirt road which is graveled in some sections affords fast and comfortable going to Ballinger.

Located in almost the exact geographical center of Runnels County Ballinger is the center for highways which radiate in every direction from the city and enjoys a heavy tourist trade. Several tourist parks and good hotels provide accommodations for motor travelers. With a population of 5,000, Ballinger is the largest city between Brownwood and San Angelo and serves large territory where diversified agriculture and stock raising are practiced in a large scale. A huge electric sign of 'Welcome' swung across the principal business street is representative of the spirit of the citizens who accord visitors the true hospitality of West Texas. Many tourists linger at Ballinger to enjoy fishing in the Colorado, which passes through the city. Going westward the traveler crosses the Colorado and finds a good graveled road running west and south toward San Angelo. The town of Miles is passed before reaching the Runnels-Tom Green County line. In Tom Green County the highway is a fast gravel roadway which merges into a paved highway as the city of San Angelo is reached.

200,000 ATTEND CATHOLIC RITES

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, June 21.—Undaunted by threatening skies and a stiff off shore breeze, more than 200,000 people assembled at the Soldiers' Field in the great memorial stadium on shores of Lake Michigan to witness the first public session of the Twenty-Eighth International Eucharistic Congress.

The day began with the solemn Pontifical mass at the stadium altar, celebrated by Cardinal Bonzano, Papal legate before the greatest throng of worshippers ever assembled for rites.

WORK STARTS ON NEW C. I. A. LIBRARY

DENTON, June 21.—Concrete has been poured for the first story of the new library of the College of Industrial Arts, and fair weather has contributed materially to the advancement of the project. An effort is being made to finish the building in time for the opening of the 1926-27 session on Sept. 20th.

The added building is calculated to relieve considerable congestion in C. I. A. classrooms. Several instructional rooms will be provided in the new structure.

He also reaffirmed the American Legion's advocacy of American adherence to permanent court of International Justice.

WANTS LAW TO VALIDATE BONDS

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, June 21.—Texas road district bonds, can be validated only by the vote of the people in the districts involved, James Ferguson declared here today.

"What I want and what the Governor wants is to pass a law referring to the question of validating these bonds back to the people and if they then vote to validate these bonds, then the objection raised by the supreme court of the United States has been met and the credit of the state has been restored," he said.

Validity of $100,000,000 worth of bonds was jeopardized by a decision of the court in the Archer county case.

"Never better" is about the way most of the farmers reply when asked about crop conditions.

With more than a month of political bombardment yet to come, Dan and Jim are in a good way to get personal in their remarks.

Sunday was a good day for motoring. Several hundred were out yesterday. And also for tourists, several tourists' cars were seen to stop in the city for cold drinks and then pass on.

A West Texas ranchman's pasture was recently turned into an oil field and now he is confronted with the problem of how to handle forty million dollars. Some people can spend a lifetime battling with the big problems of life and then let a mere trifle outwit them. *****

The three leading speakers in the governors race rested over Sunday and this week will probably have some new 'wise cracks' to pull on each other from their rostrums in the cities where they are to speak. *****

Sunday as perusal when god rains fall on the Plains west of Ballinger many millions of gallons of water passed by here in the Colorado going to the sea to be "salted" down. The Colorado was on a good rise Sunday morning. *****

The West Texas Utilities Company has offered Coleman $135,000 for her light and power properties and a petition has been filed with the city commission of that city asking for an election on the question of sale. The offer made was for a franchise also. The utilities company at present has no franchise to do business in Coleman. *****

We don't know what the attraction is over here, but every Sunday, citizens, from San Angelo, Winters, Abilene, Coleman, Paint Rock, Brady, Eden and other West Texas towns are seen in Ballinger just motoring around over the city. They must like our streets, the scenery or something about the city. *****

There are probably 50,000 people gathered in Amarillo today for the Eighth Annual Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and Ballinger is represented there with the many hundreds of other cities in the state with J. D. Motley secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and Earl Morley local manager of the West Texas Utilities Co. whooping it up in the Plains metropolis. *****

We thank Mr. Bryan Snyder Jr. automobile editor of The Dallas News for the splendid article of the Runnels county highways and Ballinger in the Sunday issue of The News. Every road and highway passing through Ballinger are just about in the same condition as the one he passed over and we are glad that he instead of stopping on the old rickety Elm creek bridge to take a picture of the bridge and stream went on across the city and stopped on the Colorado River bridge one of the best structures in West Texas. *****

The city officials of Houston have taken a step to aid their county and city prisoners which every county and city in the state should do and that is to raise the allowance on a fine of a day spent in jail or on the county farm. In Houston instead of allowing prisoners in the city and county jails only 50 cents or $1 on their fines as they are lying them out $3 is being paid which is at it should be. The prisoner should not work for the county any cheaper than those who are regular farm hands. *****

Constance Talmadge
"Her Sister from Paris"

Constance Talmadge at Queen in New Comedy Hit

An intimate picture of life behind the scenes in romantic old Vienna is given in "Her Sister from Paris," Constance Talmadge's new starring picture, produced by Joseph M. Schenck for First National.

Constance plays two distinctly different roles in this picture at the Queen Theatre today and tomorrow, one a lovely but timid young housewife and the other a brazen, boisterous Parisian dancer. The two characters are twin sisters.

The story is laid in romantic Vienna, and has to do with a wife who thinks her husband doesn't love her because he consistently fails to demonstrate his affection. So she leaves him and assumes the character of her stage-dancer sister.

In this disguise she charms him so completely that he even elopes with her, but awakens from his fascination in time to realize that he loves, after all, none but his own wife.

As the story unfolds, entrancing glimpses are shown of life in the homes of Vienna, and behind the scenes of the theatres. The concluding sequence takes place in a lonely old tavern in the forest, relic of the ancient days of old Viennese gaiety.

Constance is supported by a noteworthy cast headed by Ronald Colman, George K. Arthur and Gertrude Claire. Sidney Franklin, who has directed some of her greatest successes, directed this new starring vehicle.

The story is an original by Hans Kraly.

Medical Association Offers Rules for Public Bathing

(By Associated Press)
HOUSTON, June 19.—Texas physicians are distributing eleven rules for bathers to operators of swimming pools and beaches with the request that they be enforced, it was announced here.

The rules, sponsored by a special committee of the American Medical Association, are preceded by a warning that persons with colds, head infections, running nose or ears, or catarrh, should not swim or dive since these practices tend to force the infection into the sinuses or ear and to result in serious, if not fatal complications.

The rules are:
All bathers shall use shower baths, including soap if necessary, before entering the plunge. (The plunge is not intended as a bath tub.)

Bathers who have been outside the bath house or plunge enclosure shall not re-enter without passing through a foot bath and using a shower.

Bathers shall be forbidden to wear private bathing suits that are not properly laundered. Light colored or undyed wool is suggested.

Women shall wear caps while in the plunge.

Persons not dressed for bathing shall not be allowed on the walks surrounding the plunge, and bathers shall not be allowed in the places allowed for spectators.

No person suffering from a cold, fever, cough, or inflamed eyes shall be allowed the use of the plunge. These disorders may be transmitted to others.

No person with sores or other evidence of skin disease or who is wearing a bandage of any kind, shall be allowed the use of the plunge.

Spitting in or in any other way contaminating the plunge, and spitting on floors, runways, aisles or dressing rooms is prohibited.

Public combs and brushes shall not be furnished and such articles left by bathers must be removed.

Eating within the plunging enclosure shall be prohibited.

Bringing or throwing into the plunge any objects that may in any way carry contamination, shall be prohibited.

SUGGESTS MORE MONEY BE PUT IN THE BRAINS OF AMERICAN COLLEGES

(By Associated Press)
ITHACA, N. Y., June 17.—American colleges put too much money into buildings and not enough into brains, in the opinion of Dr. Ernst Cohen, eminent Dutch chemist, who is lecturing at Cornell prior to visiting other American universities.

Dr. Cohen, who is professor of physical chemistry at the University of Utrecht and president of the International Congress of Pure and Applied Chemistry, believes that although higher education in America is rapidly approaching European standards, the importance of physical equipment is over-emphasized here.

"If a private individual gives to one of your universities," he said, "a large proportion of the gift goes into buildings. In fact, it would seem that there is too much competition in this respect, with the result that your young people are tempted to choose their colleges on the basis of physical rather than scholastic advantages.

"Of course your educational plants offer extraordinary facilities, particularly for professional training, and I think it will not be long before you can match Europe in scholarship. But the development of your universities depends upon the maintenance of the facilities on the highest standards. You should pay your professors more—at least as much, surely, as you pay your artisans and mechanics. The average university salary in Europe, I believe, is well above the average honorarium received by the professors in this country."

'PLUSH COVERED NAIL' IS NEW REQUISITION

(By Associated Press)
HOUSTON, June 16.—"Plush Covered Nail, common 99; preferred 100" soon may appear in the stock market quotations if a requisition on the road's supply department by Superintendent Percy Hewitt of the Southern Pacific Company is allowed. Like so many great industries, "Plush Covered Nail" is the result of an accident—this time the hanging of a section foreman's spare pants on the wrong hook.

It all came about thru the interruption of a train dispatching circuit on the Southern Pacific. Mr. Hewitt, after hours of labor with his "trouble-finding" instruments, located the trouble in a section house near Terry, Texas. The foreman's breeches were found hanging on the generator hook of the telephone there, causing a break in the circuit.

A recommendation followed that "plush covered nails" be furnished section foremen.

OLNEY—Boyce House, well-known West Texas newspaperman formerly staff correspondent for the Ft. Worth Record, is the new editor of the Olney Enterprise. House will also serve as general publicity man for the town working in cooperation with the Olney Chamber of Commerce.

CROSS PLAINS—Fifteen thousand dollars has been appropriated state highway commission for the purpose of improving the corner of State Highway 23 through this county. This gap is the only weak link in the chain from San Angelo to Fort Worth via the Bankhead Highway.

Two of World's Foremost Inventors Meet and See Perfected Talking Movie

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Two of the foremost inventors of the age clasped hands at the National Electric Light Association Convention here recently. They were Thomas A. Edison, inventor of the electric light, motion picture, talking machine and a host of other devices, and Dr. Lee S. De Forest, the man who invented the talking motion-picture, and the audion tube which makes modern radio possible. Edison saw and heard the new De Forest talking motion picture being used for the first time as an instructive unit, to show the operation of the Servel electric household refrigerator. The voice and the picture are heard and seen in perfect synchronization. Professional actors were engaged to take the parts of husband and wife and a salesman, the latter demonstrating the refrigerator and answering questions. The exhibit was said to mark the first commercial use of the talking motion picture. Says State Schools Must Limit Their Curriculums

(By Associated Press)
SAN MARCOS, Tex., June 19.—Unless state-supported institutions of higher education serving the same territory reach an agreement among themselves to limit their curriculum in an avoidance of duplicated effort, outside agencies will soon do it for them and in a manner not to their liking, C. E. Evans, president of the Southwest Texas State Teachers' College of San Marcos, said.

President Evans questions, without, however, giving his personal opinion, the desirability of the state maintaining five or six state colleges with full fledged graduate departments. He indicated a doubt whether there is any real demand in Texas for all state colleges to major in biological science, physics, chemistry, agriculture, industrial arts, home economics and the modern languages.

Too numerous courses in state colleges necessarily mean, according to President Evans, a large number of small classes with consequent smaller benefit to the state as a whole from the money expended in teachers salaries. He cites figures showing that out of a total of 2,395 classes in state teachers colleges, 908 had ten or fewer students and 538 classes had five or fewer students. The College of Industrial Arts was particularly noticeable in this regard, for out of 1,189 classes, 417 had ten or fewer students and 190 five or fewer—a total of 607 classes, or more than 50 per cent with ten or fewer students to the class.

"The dry goods store does not keep a full stock of goods for which there only a few calls," Dr. Evans said, referring to the present system of higher education in Texas with its all-inclusive curriculum catering to the needs of few students. "A college, sooner or later, must make a choice between taking off the lid in its offering of courses, or limitation of that number of courses offered with consequent increase of efficiency and service."

EXPECTS 10,000 BAPTISTS AT MEET

(By Associated Press)
PALACIOS, Tex., June 21.—Ten thousand Baptists are expected here again this summer for the 25th annual encampment and 36th annual convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of Texas, which begins next Friday, to continue until July 4.

Prominent ministers and laymen of the denomination will be speakers during the 13-day meeting. Among them will be Dr. George W. Truett, of Dallas; Dr. M. E. Dodd, of Shreveport; Dr. John L. Hill and Dr. Homer L. Grice, of Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. M. M. Wolf, of Houston; John Caylor, of Dallas, secretary of the Bible Students' Union and Dr. F. S. Groner, of Dallas.

Song services, under the direction of Robert H. Coleman, of Dallas, will be integral parts of all meetings. There will be classes in these subjects: Sunday school, B. Y. P. U. Missions, Gospel Music, Christian Doctrines, Evangelism, Bible Studies and Daily Vacation Bible school.

The days will be long and full of activity for all those attending who adhere to the daily schedule. Starting with swimming at 5:30 a. m., except Sundays, the program includes breakfast from 6:30 to 7:30, recitations from 7:30 to 10:30, a special address from 10:40 to 11:30, and a sermon from 11:35 to 12:30. After the noon meal, recreation in the form of swimming, boating and land athletics will be the order until evening. The night program includes vesper services at 7:30, song service at 8:15 and sermon at 8:45.

Many of the Baptists will stay here for several weeks after the encampment ends, while others will return home after a two weeks' stay.

The encampment property here, on the shore of Tres Palacios Bay, valued at $150,000, is owned by the state B. Y. P. U. convention. In past years, at least 10,000 persons have attended the encampment each year, and fully that number are expected to come this month. The B. Y. P. U. membership in Texas is approximately 113,000.

During the encampments Sunday recreation is forbidden.

ASKS ABOLISHMENT OF INDIAN RESERVATIONS

(By Associated Press)
SIOUX FALLS, S. D., June 16.—The white man known simply as "bishop" to the Sioux Indians believes that the sooner the reservation is abolished and the red and white races amalgamated, the better it will be for the Indian.

The Rt. Rev. Hugh Latimer Burleson, missionary bishop of South Dakota of the Episcopal church, speaks from a background of thirty years residence and work among the Indians. "I do not mean amalgamation through inter-marriage but the absorption of the Indian population in cities, towns and country of the white man's world," the bishop explained. In predicting that thirty years would bring about the absorption of the Indian by civilization, Bishop Burleson said he spoke only for the Sioux Indians. Different conditions, he said, may exist among the Indians of other states.

Few Indians today live according to native customs, he added. Bishop Burleson does not believe that they should have a college education for they do not need it.

"Vocational schools serve the purpose well," the missionary said, explaining that most of the Indians turn to farming or stock raising.

Concerning recent criticism of the governmental conduct of Indian affairs, Bishop Burleson asserted that "if the government would take a little more counsel from people who know the Indian and less from politicians, we would come out better."
