MOODY DEFENDS ADMINISTRATION BEFORE CROWD

Basing his claims to a second term as governor of Texas upon the record of his administration, Dan Moody addressed an audience of 1,200 people, several times as large as any crowd assembled here during the current political year for any speaking engagement, Tuesday afternoon on the court house lawn. Thrusts at Ferguson throughout his speech were received by prolonged applause.

"Two years ago the state was confronted with a most deplorable condition," Gov. Moody declared. "Confidence in high public office had been destroyed by political debauchery. Faith in the Texas gubernatorial office has been restored during the past eighteen months, and will, I trust, be merited henceforth."

Recalling the conditions of the campaign two years ago, the governor stated that he was elected in a campaign that "has been without parallel, and it is my sincere hope that it will continue to be without parallel, because I hope that conditions effecting such a victory will not arise again in Texas."

Reviewing his administration, Moody said in part: "In this administration special attention has been given to the things that greatly affect the welfare and prosperity of the citizens. The government most seriously affects the citizen; the schools give him an opportunity to educate his children; the highways furnish him a means of transportation; and taxes affecting his prosperity are taken from him to support the government."

EDITH WILMANS CHARGES MOODY "INCOMPETENT"

Severely scoring Governor Dan Moody, Mrs. Edith Wilmans, Dallas attorney for the past 11 years and prominent civic worker, addressed a group of men on the corner of Hutchings Avenue and Eighth Street Tuesday morning in behalf of her gubernatorial campaign. Mrs. Wilmans delivered an address similar to those she has made elsewhere, exposing alleged corruption of the present administration, and offering her remedies for the so-called existing evils.

In an interview for the press, Mrs. Wilmans expressed herself as confident that she would be in the run-off. Anti-Moody sentiment is prevalent throughout the state, she said, and disapproval of the governor is everywhere being stimulated with revelations of his "gross incompetency." The woman candidate, in analyzing the election situation, stated that Moody and Wardlaw were running close, with herself easily in the lead.

"It will prove to my advantage for Moody to be in the second primary," she declared. "It would be an easy matter to defeat the governor, because of pronounced opposition to him. On the other hand, if Judge Wardlaw were my opponent, he could gain many Moody votes, whereas the latter would secure no Wardlaw support."

Mrs. Wilmans has campaigned in some 170 Texas counties, and everywhere resentment to the governor is heatedly expressed, she said. She is managing her own campaign, arranging her speaking dates, and driving her own car. She has gained strength by the act of a few counties in barring her name, she declared, basing her opinion upon the belief that Smith's unpopularity in Texas will react in her favor.

"ALICE" MANUSCRIPT NOW ON EXHIBITION AT PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.—The original manuscript of "Alice's Adventure Under Ground," (afterwards developed into "Alice's Adventure in Wonderland"), the most celebrated children's book in the world, has been placed on exhibition in the main entrance hall of the $3,000,000 new Free Library of Philadelphia.

The exhibit attracts a number of visitors daily, numbering both grown-ups and children amongst the interested spectators.

This unusual and valuable manuscript was purchased by Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, Philadelphia and New York collector on April 3 at Sotheby's in London for $77,000.

The manuscript was written and illustrated in 1862 by Lewis Carroll, (the Rev. Charles L. Dodgson) for Alice Pleasance Liddell now Mrs. Reginald Hargreaves. It contains 92 pages and also the 37 original drawings by Carroll.

Mrs. Hargreaves who was only a girl of about 8 or 9 years of age when presented with the manuscript by Carroll, was present at the London sale. She was overwhelmed with emotion when forced to part with it, according to Dr. Rosenbach.

Harrisburg, N. C.—Mr. M. F. Fink, of this place, says: "It must have been fully twenty-five years ago that I began taking Black-Draught regularly. It wasn't so long after I married.

"I was in town one day, and while talking to a friend I stooped over to pick up something. When I straightened up, I felt dizzy. I spoke to him about this and how I had not felt like eating.

"My friend told me to take some Black-Draught. I knew my mother had used it, and so I bought a package. When I got home, I took a good, big dose, and the next night, another. In a few days I felt much better. I was hungry and the dizziness was gone.

"A good many times I have had this dizziness and a bad taste in my mouth, or headaches, and then I take Black-Draught and get better. I do not have to take it very often. We buy from five to seven packages a year."

Theford's Black-Draught has been found to relieve sick headaches in thousands of cases that were due to constipation. Containing no mineral drugs, it acts gently, yet promptly. Try it. NC-152

CAPT. DOBBS COMMENTS ON GUARD CAMP

The local National Guard arrived home early Sunday morning after attending the annual two-week encampment at Palacios. Capt. Charles H. Dobbs, company commander, has the following to say concerning the activities of the unit:

"The annual encampment of the Texas National Guard closed Saturday night by all units arriving at their home stations. From the point of Company C, 142nd Inf., Ballinger's company, the encampment was very satisfactory. Over half of the men in the unit having had less than six months in the Guard service, and during the last two days of the drill period, our company was very noticeably among the best.

"Due to previous difficulties there were no competitions held, but a member of the division staff complimented our company very highly on its showing at the division review for the corps area commander held July 19th, the company marching in review was just exactly as was supposed to be with each man exactly in time. It is very gratifying to know that that company should be so highly complimented out of the 150 companies present.

"Most of our non-commissioned officers were newly appointed in their grades, but carried on only as those whose desires were to do what is right, could have done.

"It is sincerely hoped that all those attending the encampment will continue to put forth the same spirit of cooperation and helpfulness as was exhibited at Palacios. Our company is undoubtedly of the best personnel of any other company with which we came in contact, and has consistently borne this reputation for several years.

"All members of the unit are especially grateful to those employers who so kindly permitted their employees to go with full pay for the time spent in preparing for the protection of those at home. On the other hand it is hoped that no firm will discriminate against members of the National Guard as one particular firm is reported to have done.

"With a little more cooperation we can bring not just small amounts of money into the county, but large amounts, practically all of which is spent here among ourselves.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Erwin and son, Ralph, left Tuesday for San Antonio and other places on a two-week vacation trip.

tion took charge, there were $6,250,000 of outstanding obligations, the governor declared. The department had on January 1, 1927, just before the present commission went in, only $597,628.18, with approximately $6,500,000 available in federal aid, he said. To meet these needs a gasoline tax was fixed at three cents, which will revert to two cents September 1, he stated.

"During this administration the highway department has actually placed under construction 396 miles of concrete road; 219 miles of bituminous hard surface roads; 758 miles of drainage and grading structures; 64 miles of graveled highway; and 1,056.7 miles of asphalt highway," the speaker cited. "Construction work involving $19,930,145.34 has been inaugurated," he added.

Declaring that more had been done in the past eighteen months for education in Texas than in any like period of its history, the governor reminded his hearers that the children received last year, and will receive next year, a $15 per capita apportionment. The institutions of higher learning have been better supported than before, he averred, and by an amendment to the textbook law passed by the last legislature, the school fund will be saved approximately $200,000 annually.

"The enforcement of the law has been substantially improved," said Mr. Moody. "In the state banking system only three banks have failed, because a better and more comprehensive system of examination has been inaugurated. In the expenditure of public money the public has received a dollar's value for the dollar spent, and there has not been any question raised by informed men concerning the integrity of a single expenditure."

Governor Moody was introduced by Judge Overton L. Parish, who stated that what had been accomplished in the past administration warranted a return of the administration. The governor has been faithful to the trust bestowed upon him by the voters of Texas, Judge Parish declared.

Preceding the speaking, the Ballinger Concert Band gave a short concert. The governor was met in Abilene by Ballinger citizens and brought here for his address. A delegation from San Angelo was here to accompany him to that city, where he speaks tonight.

Texas shipped 35,000 cars of fruit and produce this spring, valued at $15,000,000.

Marathon Dancers Upset All Theories of Doctors on Endurance

By Burl A. Ely
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, July 24.—Of what stuff is the younger generation of today made? Medical scientists are today turning this question over and over in their minds as they sit on the side lines of dance marathons and watch the marathoners gaily defy fatigue.

Already medical scientists admit that their fatigue theories have gone to dust as the result of the dance marathons which are nothing more or less in the long run than endurance contests.

Two, three, four, and now into the five hundreds of hours, the dancers have kept their feet moving to the tune of jazz supplied by orchestras who find it necessary to work in shifts to keep up with the dancers.

Wreck Old Theories

Besides going so far as to wreck the old theories of fatigue and put long-winded textbooks and theses on the subject out of date, the dancers have brought about further revelations that are making students of medical science sit up and take notice.

The age old question which has been battled for centuries between men and women as to which is the strongest, man or woman, has evidently found its answer in the marathon dancers according to tests which have been made by Dr. D. E. Sable, chief surgeon of the department of public safety.

Dr. Sable has been in constant attendance upon the marathoners at Duquesne Gardens here, seven of whom shattered all endurance records as well as all academic speculations on the "who, what, when and where of fatigue, by tripping the light fantastic toe for 533 hours.

Men, according to Dr. Sable's observations, have proved themselves to be the weaker of the two sexes as far as endurance is concerned. Women, he finds, withstand the grind and leave the dance floor in much better condition than the men.

To add more to the worries of the medical scientists, Dr. Sable has gone so far as to say that his examinations of the dancers have shown in many instances that the contestants have actually gained in weight in spite of their harrowing grind.

Dr. Sable specified one instance at the Duquesne Gardens marathon where one of the dancers gained seven pounds.

The explanation for all of these upsets in the realm of medical science, Dr. Sable believes, can be found in the one word "regularity."

Relax Every Hour

The dancers completely relax during the 15 minute rest period allotted them every hour. Their meals are served to them regularly and they consist of nourishing foods that are intended to give the dancers strength.

At the close of the Duquesne Gardens affair here when the marathoners were ordered to stop dancing at their 533rd hour, Dr. Sable stated that his examinations of the dancers showed that each of the marathoners was in excellent physical condition.

It was the fear of the future physical conditions of the contestants that the marathon was stopped.

Dr. Sable, still puzzled about the broken fatigue theories, says he plans to conduct a series of tests showing that the dancers have adapted themselves to this system of routine living and science and evidently the dancers themselves do not know how long they can last.

Beery-Hatton at Palace in New Aeronaut Comedy

Aviation, now the greatest popular fancy, has its comedy possibilities exploited for the first time in a motion picture by Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton in "Now We're in the Air," the Paramount film which is showing for the last time tonight at the Palace Theatre.

Against their will, Beery and Hatton have been soldiers, sailors and firemen, and now they are aviators, through no doing of their own. They land in the air service when their employer enlists and they wander into a propeller testing room and have their Scotch highlander costumes blown off.

Someone tosses them a pair of flying uniforms and before they know it they have been mistaken for aviators and are in the air. Mistaken identity dominates the plot. Louise Brooks plays a dual role. She is both of twin sisters, one of whom is of French fealty and the other German. Beery falls in love with the German twin and Hatton with the French, but they are unable to tell the girls apart, so all sorts of scrambled complications ensue.

Then Beery and Hatton are mistaken for German heroes, and are acclaimed of the same status by the French. This is too good to last, however, and they are about to be finished off by a firing squad when the war ends, and each wins the twin of his choice.

The picture is replete in thrilling aviation situations, but most of the comedy takes place on the ground. Clever gags punctuate the entire production, and the picture may be safely said to be the funniest and best Hatton and Beery have done yet.

Frank Strayer directed "Now We're in the Air," and the cast includes Malcolm Waite, Emile Chautard, Duke Martin and Russell Simpson.

DOES THE SHOE PINCH?

The shoe bill pinches all but the favored few—so does the new shoe.

Why not give your feet a real treat and buy new soles from our shop, instead of new shoes?

They will look as good as new—and feel better. There is as much difference in the quality of Resoles and the skill in applying them, as between good and cheap new shoes—more perhaps.

Skilled workmen in our shop, rebuild shoes with the most modern shoe factory machinery.

Hard, flinty, heavy weighing, acid-swelled, thick soles are dear at any price. In our shop, we resole with the same weight of leather that your shoe was originally built to carry. We do not "cobble"—we rebuild.

If you look in your closet tonight you will probably find several pairs of shoes needing new soles or new heels.

Bring them in to us and save the price of a new pair of shoes.

SCOUT TROOP BEING FORMED

With fourteen boys designating their desires to become Scouts, and with indications pointing to several additional applicants within the next few days, the Boy Scout organization move inaugurated here several days ago culminated in the tentative organization of a troop at the Eighth Street Presbyterian Church Monday night.

The meeting, although small, was most enthusiastic, and was declared most promising for a thorough scouting program in the city. Rev. Alvin O. Rue, pastor of the church, presided, and explained the objects of the move. An informal questionnaire was conducted for the purpose of familiarizing boys and their parents with the aims of scouting.

As scouting is a character building program and training in craft, the most successful troop starts on a small scale, it was pointed out. A full troop of recruits is too large, a smaller troop in the beginning proving more desirable, as the initial Scouts will be able to coach new members, thereby relieving the Scout leaders of a great deal of detail work.

Registration has been thrown open to the boys, and will be completed at a meeting at the church Friday night. Boys affiliated with any church in the city are eligible for membership in the troop being sponsored jointly by the Eighth Street Presbyterian and First Christian churches, but in general a policy will be followed to have boys in the troops sponsored by their respective churches. Scouts joining the troop now organized will likely be transferred to troops sponsored by their individual churches as soon as they are organized.

Members of the present troop who so desire to attend the encampment at Lueders, beginning July 30 and continuing two weeks, will be accepted. Scout Executive Ed Shumway of Abilene has announced. Scouts will be permitted to qualify for Tenderfoot badges at the camp and thereby earn the privilege of wearing the official uniform and Scout insignia.

A troop committee and leaders will be definitely selected at the meeting Friday night. In the meantime, Scouts will have an opportunity of registering either with Rev. Rue or F. M. Cole. An invitation is extended to all interested in the move to attend the meeting Friday night.

Boys who applied for membership Monday night were: Sam Malone, Lloyd Ischer, Billie Ratliff, Bobbie Ratliff, Dan Whitehead, Harold McDonald, Marion Connelly, Bill Leckert, Corkill Motley, Coy Drennan, Walter Atwell, Henry Fowler, David Baker, and Ellwood McWilliams.

TO MY FRIENDS

Several citizens advise that some of my friends in Ballinger and elsewhere in Runnels county are arranging to urge all of my many loyal friends in Runnels county not to trade with Ballinger merchants displaying pictures of East Texas opponents in their windows and stores. Please do not do it. All merchants have the privilege of supporting whom they will. And they have the right to display any pictures they prefer in their windows. If they prefer a candidate from East Texas to one in their own part of the state, such is their right. It may bring them East Texas business. I hope that none of my friends will resort to retaliation. I am the only candidate from West Texas. No Senator has ever been selected from West Texas. Saturday will be an opportunity for West Texas to have a Senator if it wants one.

I have many loyal friends in Ballinger. They always carry Ballinger for me. But there are a few high-bidders in Ballinger who always vote against me, and show me every possible discourtesy when I come to Ballinger, but this is forgotten when the rest of the business men and farmers scattered over Runnels county vote me great majorities in every precinct. I shall be deeply grateful to all of my many Runnels county friends for taking care of me next Saturday.

SHEEP RAISERS IN CONVENTION

The thirteenth annual convention of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association of Texas officially opened at San Angelo at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, with delegates from distant cities continuing to swell the attendance and indications that a bumper crowd would be present. The initial session convened at the Ritz Theatre, with T. A. Kincaid, president of the association, in the chair.

The eleventh annual sale, a feature of the convention, opened at 1 o'clock, with D. T. Jones, of San Angelo, as secretary-treasurer. A second sale was scheduled for the same time Wednesday.

The president's message and the report of the secretary, N. W. Graham, of Ozona, were features of the first session. After committees were appointed by the president, the delegates were addressed by Congressman Claude H. D. Speth, of El Paso, who is making his first visit to San Angelo during a period of three years in order to address the ranchmen.

Mayor W. D. Holcomb, of San Angelo, welcomed the delegates in the initial meeting, and Capt. H. W. Rieck, of Roosevelt; Roger Gillis, of Del Rio; and Jim Callan, of Menard, responded to the welcome address.
