Christmas Thoughts

The last few weeks have been some of the saddest that Friona has had to endure in a while. In addition, it seems even harder because of the upcoming holidays and all the memories that come with them.

However, I have a challenge for those of you out there that have lost your twinkle and found your humbug.

Think back to when you were a little kid when Christmas still held mystery and excitement. Think back to the year Santa brought you what you wished for when you sat on his lap.

Ok, now that you have that thought, think about how you felt when you woke up on Christmas morning before everyone else and crept into the Christmas tree. Do you remember how it felt to be the first to discover that Santa had stopped at your house and left gifts for you and your family?

Hold on to that feeling.

Now think about sitting there looking at this bounty of treasure YOU discovered before the rest of the family gets up. The gifts seem to glow. It is like a Hallmark movie with the perfect lighting, and all you can think about is getting to open that special gift just for you, or how much you want to ride that new bicycle parked under the tree.

Think about the smells that are wafting around you. The fresh cut Christmas tree smell. The delectable scent of the turkey your mom is cooking for dinner. The aroma of homemade cookies and dinner rolls that you helped prepare the night before. The citrusy smell coming from the oranges in your Christmas stocking along with ribbon candy and assorted nuts. One of my favorites was my mom's perfume that emanated from every gift she wrapped.

Then think about running in and waking everyone up with the shouts of "Santa came!"

I never understood why my parents were so sleepy and semi-grouchy until I had children of my own. (They had been up half the night putting the bicycles together and making sure all the gifts were wrapped in Santa paper.)

Then came the squeals of delight as wrapping paper was shredded and boxes opened. We always had pajamas as gifts, but those were quickly discarded for the really important gifts...Barbie, GI Joe, dollhouses, Tonka trucks, etc. When you are a kid your priorities are pretty straight forward...toys first, clothes last.

After all the gifts are opened there is a lull and that means that mom and dad are going to insist everyone go back to bed for a while. I do not know about you, but who could sleep after getting gifts from Santa and knowing Santa also went to Grandma and Grandpa's house as well.

Most of the time we would play quietly until mom and dad were rested. Mom always got up and made a big breakfast with pancakes, eggs, bacon, sausage, biscuits and gravy.

Then it was off to Grandma's to repeat everything again. Grandma's tree and gifts were even bigger and glowed even brighter.

It was as if the entire world was perfect, well at least for a while.

So, if the humbugs have you down and you are feeling a little grinchy, think back to a time when life was simpler and easier. Revel in being a child because it went by too fast. Find your joy!

I hope your 2018 is all you want it to be. Merry Christmas & Happy New Year!!

"Christmas is the spirit of giving without a thought of getting. It is happiness because we see joy in people. It is forgetting self and finding time for others. It is discarding the meaningless and stressing the true values."
 ~Thomas S. Monson

A Personal Reflection for the Season

By Walter V. Wendler, President of West Texas A&M University

This reflection, first published on December 15, 2008, may be worth a second look.

Christmas memories are personal, deep and important.

My family's New York Christmases had the strong, first-generation influence of Western Europe. Cajun Christmases with their peculiarities of place and culture, half French and half Canadian and only in Louisiana, are unique and forever in my consciousness. West coast Christmases in California were an amalgam of eastern and western tradition, with everything always new. And, Texas Christmases had cowpokes instead of elves. Each of these held a unique detail and distinctiveness, and all are lost in the translation of which single Christmas memory is important for me.

Having lived in many places, it is difficult to piece together a particular event that holds special importance. The tradition, and thereby the memory, is not in events or places but in the beliefs and relationships I hold.

For me, what is powerful about Christmas has one recurring theme and His name is Jesus Christ.

At Christmas, I celebrate the anniversary of the virgin birth of Him, as one member of the triune God - God made man - who came to the earth to be a substitute for me in the death and separation brought about by my sin. This is a belief, my personal belief. Through His perfection, He makes my way straight to the creator of the universe. Through the power of His shed blood, I am forgiven of my inequity. All of this, not by my work or effort, wisdom or intelligence, but by His grace.

Grace is difficult for me to grasp.

All things of value are worked for, I am told. That of which I speak--grace--has ultimate and eternal value, and it is a gift that cannot be bought or earned. By His virgin birth, I have affirmation of His place at the throne of God; by His crucifixion, I am shown the awfulness of my own behavior; and by comparison to Him as a man, I see my own lack of righteousness.

Filthy rags.

His resurrection is evidence of my eternal bridge, though Christ, to my heavenly Father. This is a relationship, a personal relationship. This is Christmas for me.

Please don't be misled. I remember my Erector sets, Texaco trucks, bicycles and hockey skates - they brought happiness then and, in memory, they still do now. Likewise, Mary and our sons remember and cherish these events, too. I like turkey and ham, cakes and pies, family and all the other things that happen around the celebrations in our house.

I enjoy the festivity of the season. I like gifts--both to give and receive. I am pleased for the retailers and the way that Christmas sales help balance their books, creating jobs and economic growth. I enjoy the cold weather, the trees and the lights.

However, all of this is dull in comparison to the one shining memory that guides me every day of my life, and that is simply this: I serve a risen Savior, born of a virgin to redeem me in my weakness and cleanse me of my sin. It is so very sharp and clear to me, and so crystalline.

If I allow myself to be childlike, every day is Christmas. Childlike for The Child.

The prophet Isaiah predicted it in Chapter 7, Verse 14: Therefore, the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel.

None of this loses its luster with time.

Merry Christmas & Happy New Year from the Friona Star!

Losing one of our own

Dr. Pamela Nelson-Ray, Superintendent Friona ISD

Friona ISD is sad to acknowledge the loss of one our staff in a tragic off-campus incident on Tuesday, December 12, 2017. Jenny Riethmayer was an amazing teacher, who touched so many lives. Her family, students - past and present, and friends love her so much. She dedicated her professional career to the children of Friona. As Katie Gilley, one of her co-workers and friends, put it, "She taught like her hair was on fire." If you are an educator, you know this is the highest compliment you can receive. Her students loved her so deeply that one mother reported her child actually cried out for Mrs. Riethmayer one night when he was distressed. Over the years, her classroom has filled with gifts and notes of admiration.

Jenny not only dedicated her professional career to Friona ISD, but she was born and raised in Friona and married another Friona graduate. The Riethmayers have three precious children that she loved deeply and filled her with pride. She delighted in following them to all their events and often became the team mom.

Also, Jenny was very open about her love for her Lord. She could be counted on to serve the youth in her church just as she did at school. Just as the pride that Jenny had in Friona ran deep, our pride and joy in her cannot be measured. There are not words to describe the void her loss leaves in our hearts.

Because classrooms and faculties become like family, supporting our staff and students is imperative when there is a loss. To help students and staff grieve this loss and begin to move forward, Friona ISD invited the Crisis Intervention Team from the Region 16 Education Service Center from Amarillo. These teams were on our campuses on Wednesday and Thursday. On Wednesday, several ministers and youth ministers from our local churches also came to support staff and students. We are eternally grateful for these kind acts and the love that has poured out toward our school. Further, we have had numerous people volunteer to help the Primary staff with offers of reading to students or providing teachers a chance for a moment to themselves. Thank you for these gracious offers of support.

Parents, we wish that you know we will continue to support your children through this difficult time just as we strive to support them at any time of need. If you have concerns or just need to share your thoughts, please reach out to your student's teacher, counselor, or campus administrator. We welcome you at any time and hope that you know our door is always open to you.

Staff, I pray that each of you knows the value and weight of your presence with your students. There is not one of you we can do without. Truly, "It Takes a Tribe" for us to serve our students. You are loved and appreciated. Thank you for pulling together and sacrificing during this difficult time.

Finally, we ask that you keep Mrs. Riethmayer's family, students, co-workers, and friends in your thoughts and prayers as we move forward.

I had a blast from the past walk into the office on Tuesday. Larry Treider has moved back to Laz-buddie to be close to family. He has lived in Las Vegas for the last 27 years. He has a new album coming out and I will run his interview in the January 4 edition of the Friona Star. It was really nice to talk to Larry and remember when we were younger. I remember his music from when I was a teenager.

If you are looking for a last minute appetizer idea how about sausage balls? I have a friend that has a quick and easy recipe that will add a little zip to your sausage balls. Just blend together 2 cups of Bisquick, 2 lbs. of sausage (hot or mild or one pound of each), 1-2 cups of shredded longhorn cheese, 2 small cans of green chilies or 1 small can of diced green jalapenos. Roll into bite size balls and bake at 350 degrees until golden brown.

*****

This week's bale count for Friona Farmers Coop Gin is 23,022 with 103 modules on the yard and 1,271 in the field.

Christmas is the proof that this world can become a better place if we have lots of people like you who fills it with happiness and hope.

Library Corner

By Darla Bracken

A Proud Tradition

A library is a gift a community gives itself. Make sure you and yours enjoy the benefits of that gift. Always remember to treat the library with the respect it has earned by using it responsibly.

The Friona Public Library has personally blessed me since 1963. My family and I lived just around the corner from the library when it was in the Women's Clubhouse built in 1941, the library's first home. No library cards, no fancy machines, no electronic services—not even a copier, just books! No fancy decorations other than handmade shelving, posters, but BLESSED nonetheless. The books were not new—but donated from many different families sharing their home libraries with others. All the work done by volunteers.

In 1968, the library moved into the west side of the Old Syndicate Hotel built 1926 (across the street from the city park) which was owned by the American Legion who had moved it from its original location just south of Friona and east of Hub in the early 40s. We had a desk, some tables and chairs, a children's table and a card catalog (many of the items we still have...now serving us in different ways). The library eventually expanded into the lobby and the west side and we used the upstairs for Story Hour and summer reading. Enter the City of Friona and tax money to operate plus a book budget! Our precious, dedicated volunteers became the Friends of the Friona Public Library established a 501(3)c in 1968 now 50 years ago in 2018. "A little library growing each year is an honorable part of man's history" Henry Ward Beecher. Note: some individuals donated as much money as the City allowed for our first budgets...AMAZING!

The Friends bought furnishings to augment the shelving and office furniture the City had purchased. In 1972, we became an accredited library with the State of Texas and a member of the Texas Panhandle Library System, which required a library to have 10,000 volumes and to be open at least 20 hours per week. TPLS was one of ten such systems in the state. FANTASTIC!!

In 1982, our Friends conducted a building drive, which resulted in our home at 109 W 7th. D. L. Harguess served as chair and Lewellen Construction built the structure most of you know as our home. And the library grew... More shelving and furnishings, gifts and donations. Grants from J. Frank Dobie Trust, Texas Book Festival and the Tocker Family Foundation allowed for extras like more books, a laminator, puppets and more.

1987 ushered in a new era of automation. Our library became a participant in the newly created Harrington Library Consortium. 1990 brought an automated catalog and online circulation. By 2000 it was time for a renovation and expansion into the old Post Office building, 1955-1975 and we almost doubled in size—more furnishings, shelving and another Friends Drive supplemented by the Amarillo Area Foundation. The renovation cost more than our original building in 1982.

2006 brought the blessing of the establishment of the Centennial Endowment. Twenty three dedicated volunteers donated their time and their money to establish the endowment, now at over $248,000 managed by the Harrington Foundation. AWE-SOME!! More computers, furnishings, and books...a proud tradition? Yes! Don't miss out on the gift that has kept on giving for over half a century...

Written in honor and loving memory of my precious son, Cody Rex Bracken 1971-2017, my super library volunteer who was always willing to help me, and our library, grow. May you rest in peace.

My heartfelt thanks to all of you who attended the FRIENDS retirement reception for me on December 17 at the library, my second home. It was BEAUTIFUL!! Thanks, Friends...

God's Messengers

BRETT HOYLE, Pastor, First Baptist Church

Angelic announcements are a big part of the Christmas story found in Matthew 1-2 and Luke 1-2. An angel speaks to Zechariah, Mary, Joseph and the shepherds. When God sent Jesus to be born He sent his ferocious, zealous and powerful messengers to relay His plan and message to these individuals. When individuals met these supernatural beings they did not balk at the gravity of God's message, because angels are not the obese, girly figurines that may line your shelves, but they are the warriors and worshippers of God bent on serving Him. When the angels sang, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among those with whom He is pleased," in Luke 2:14, imagine fierce supernatural beings, proclaiming this glorious truth to trembling shepherds. God is serious about His Son, and we must be as well. (If you still don't believe me regarding the nature of angelic might read 2 Chronicles 32:9-23, focusing on verse 21). Being serious about the significance of Jesus Christ calls fictitious, foolish and deceptive human traditions (i.e. Santa & elves...) to be put away, allowing Jesus Christ to take center stage in your heart and home.

God still sends His messengers. He still uses angels, but He really wants to use you, because the message of Christ is just as amazing as it was 2,000 years ago, and worthy of sharing with people from every tribe, tongue and nation. The question though, is whose message will you be sharing, the culture's or Christ's.

Wise Worshippers

BRETT HOYLE, Pastor, First Baptist Church

Do you like the story of the Wise Men in Matthew 2? It is one of the most powerful examples of what worship is, and challenges you regarding what worship should look like. First, worship is intentional. The Magi were wise, not simply because they saw the star, but because they acted upon it. How many people see the truth God lays out in the gospel, yet ignore Him. Next, notice that worship involves action. The wise men didn't sit around and just sing the first and last verse of silent night, but they were moved to action. Worship is not a spectator sport, yet sadly that is the default for many in the church. Worship is intentional, which calls for action, whether it is getting up and going somewhere, doing something, singing, giving or listening intently to the Word of God.

Further, and most noticeably, worship is costly. The cost of the Wise Men's worship included their treasures, but in reality there was much more than that. Their time, the long journey, various risks, and much more contributed to the cost of worship. It your worship costs you nothing, you aren't worshipping God. You may be worshipping self, or some other idol, but cheap worship to God isn't worship, it's just a waste of time, that seeks only to calm the conscience of the one offering it. As you set your sights on 2018, may it be a year of worshipping Christ daily in the Word, gathering weekly with the church, and following in the footsteps of the Magi.

Merry Christmas

By TEENA HUGHES

Many know I have been trying to finish a piece of counted cross-stitch for a lady in Kansas, a piece I should have finished 19 years ago. Since mid-September, I have spent nearly every spare moment trying to finish it. I hoped to have it finished by December 14th, the day we left to go watch Will rope in Las Vegas. I didn't get it finished; in fact, I still have at least a week's work left on it.

I came home with a king-sized sinus infection and bronchitis, and I have nothing completely done for Christmas--decorations aren't completely out; not all presents are bought; nothing is wrapped; Christmas newsletters aren't in the mail; and, no groceries have been bought for Christmas weekend.

So, what is the worst thing that will happen if some of these things aren't done exactly like I want? We do have decorations out, just not what I usually have. I will get the rest of the shopping done, and by the time we open gifts, they will be wrapped or in gift bags. The Christmas newsletter may be a little late this year, but it will go out. My family and I love to eat, so I will make sure we have all of our traditional favorites prepared.

The bottom line is this: we do the best we can. I am the one who places expectations on myself, no one else does. Whether everything is done like I want or not, it really does not affect much, and it certainly doesn't affect where I will spend eternity. Yes, we may be disappointed everything isn't "perfect", but in the grand scheme of things, is it worth upsetting yourself or others?

Before getting upset over Christmas "things", ask yourself if it is something that affects your eternity. Asking that question always puts things in perspective for me and calms me down when I think it through. Also, it reminds me of what is important at Christmas and where my focus should be--celebrating the birth of Jesus

So, with all that said, I hope you do get everything done, but if you don't, it is ok. Have fun and merry Christmas!!!

Jenny Riethmayer

Jenny Riethmayer, 39, of Friona, passed away December 12, 2017. Celebration of Life services were held Saturday, December 16, 2017 at the Friona United Methodist Church in Friona with Rev. Skip Hodges, pastor, officiating. Burial followed in the Friona Cemetery by Blackwell-Mullins Funeral Home of Friona.

Jenny was born August 8, 1978 in Hereford to Raymond and Pamela Lewellen Hamilton. She graduated from Friona High School in 1996 and married Corbin Riethmayer June 5 of 1999 in Friona. Soon after, she graduated from West Texas A&M University in 2000.

Jenny was a servant in every sense of the word. She loved her job as a primary kindergarten teacher with the Friona Independent School District. The children she taught were cherished. The same could be said of the children and youth that she worked with in Boy Scouts, and at the Friona United Methodist Church. She smiled and hugged her way through class after class of children and youth during Vacation Bible School, Wednesday night youth, sports, Lone Star Ballet and more. She adored helping and loving others. Her heart, though, was for her three children and their lives, and activities. Her love for her children could not be weighed or measured by anything Earthly.

Jenny loved snow skiing, fishing and golf, and according to Corbin, was better than him in many of them. She was full of life and loved to show it by planting beautiful fresh flowers each Spring.

She is preceded in death by a grandfather, Glyn Hamilton, and an uncle, Charles Hamilton. These loves of her life are left to mourn her passing: husband Corbin Riethmayer, two sons William Colton and Matthew Jacob, and one daughter Kamryn Paige, all of the Riethmayer home, her parents Raymond and Pamela Hamilton of Friona, two brothers Davy Ray Hamilton, wife Kelly and children Josh and Katie, and Jeff Evert Hamilton, wife Kamie and children Jacie, and Slade of Canyon, grandparents Delton and Betty Lewellen and Martha Hamilton of Friona, Corbin's parents Mike and Becky Riethmayer of Friona and brother-in-law Brenton Riethmayer, wife Nicole, and children Dawson and Shelby of Caldwell.

Memorials can be made to: the Friona United Methodist Church Youth Ministry, 301 East 8th Street, Friona, Texas 79035 or the Friona Independent School District, 909 East 11th Street, Friona, Texas 79035.

Christmas Light Fight!

By JEFF PROCTER, Minister, 6th Street Church of Christ

I thought I had a good bit of Christmas spirit. I sing the carols and Christmas songs most of them anyway. I am good for one glass of eggnog. We have our tree up, but didn't put it up in October. I have a sweater that probably shouldn't be worn at Christmas, but hey, I am trying to be festive. Some years we even set out three little lighted candy canes in the front yard. So, I consider myself Christmassy. Then I saw a show about folks who add extra breaker boxes to their houses, put up their own wind turbine and pull enough electricity that New York City would be impressed. If that is the new Christmassy then I am a bit behind.

I will say I am very impressed, the lights dance with music, there is every possible critter, Santa Claus and nativity blasting out watts in every direction. I sure would hate to get the January electric bill for one of those set ups. This is all fun and reindeer games, but what is the point? Glad you asked. Some two millennia ago in a world that darkness seemed to be enveloping, a single light entered our world. He came as flesh, but was from a divine origin. A single light. John says it this way in his gospel. John 1:4-5, "[4] In him was life, and the life was the light of men. [5] The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it." (ESV) In all the darkness of the world, it could not and has not over come it. By contrast in our world today, where we have a million lights and fantastic displays, it is still the single light of Christ that dispels darkness. It will always be the light that will endure.

So be as Christmassy as you like, enjoy the carols and the light shows, but never forget that when Jesus came to earth the world would forever have a source of hope. When He died, some thought that light was extinguished, then He rose never to die again. May you have a blessed Christmas and Happy New Year. May God grant you peace and strength for 2018.

Therefore the Lord himself will give you a sign: The virgin will conceive and give birth to a son, and will call him Immanuel.
Isaiah 7:14 NIV

Give poinsettias a healthy home for the holidays and beyond

The bright, crimson red holiday ornamental plant staple -- the poinsettia -- has a few needs to help it thrive throughout the holidays, according to Dr. Brent Pemberton, Texas A&M Agrilife Research ornamental horticulturist, Overton.

"Poinsettia care for the holidays is pretty straightforward," he said. "When people pick them up, they're ready for display, but there are a few things you want to keep in mind to make sure you get the most out of the plant for your holiday displays."

Pemberton said poinsettias shouldn't be overwatered.

"Water when the soil surface is dry to the touch, and don't let them stand in water," he said. "Soil should be moist and well drained."

Poinsettias prefer to be out of direct sunlight, but rather prefer bright, filtered light, Pemberton said. They won't last as long if conditions are dark.

He said they also prefer cooler temperatures, 65-70 degrees, but if temperatures dip below 60 degrees, plants can sustain chill damage.

Pemberton said no fertilizer is necessary after the plants bloom.

"They are flowering, so just enjoy them through the season," he said.

Poinsettias are tropical perennial plants, but most people discard them each year. However, he said, if plants are kept, there are steps to take to ensure they flower next holiday season. And plants should be transplanted into a size larger pot.

Pemberton said plants should be cut back after the holidays. The plant's stem should be trimmed just below the flowering portions, including the decorative red bracts, which are modified leaves.

"Cut them back and they will begin to grow," he said.

Plants should be watered and fertilized as necessary to support regrowth, he said.

"Using liquid fertilizer at recommended rates on the package will be fine," he said.

Plants can be placed outside through the summer but should be placed in a shady area, Pemberton said.

Poinsettias are tropical plants, Pemberton said. In the fall, plants should be brought inside before temperatures dip below 60 degrees. Around Oct. 1, plants should be in total darkness between sundown and sunrise.

"Any artificial light will cause them to grow vegetatively and not flower," he said. "It's hard to get them to flower again because any light from a parking lot or indoor lighting can disrupt flowering. But they are perennials and can be enjoyed for many holidays if properly maintained and proper steps are taken to promote flowering."
