EXPERIMENTING ON THE JERSEY Jersey cows have easily held the first place in the dairy breed...

be relied upon is the manurial value of feeding it. This is shown by the nitrogen in the protein and the phosphoric acid and potash in the ash.

A HONDURAS BULL-FIGHT. It was a somewhat primitive and informal bull-fight, and it began with the raising of the muzzles of the horns and dragged him head-first against the barricade.

RED, WHITE AND ROANS. There seems to be something of a revival of the interest in short-horn cattle that is not a bad indication of a return to favor of a most meritorious breed of cattle which has been neglected for a number of years.

TRANSFERS OF JERSEY CATTLE. The following is a complete list of the transfers of Jersey cattle sold since registration for the week ending September 17, 1895, as reported by the American Jersey Cattle Club.

The feeding of farm animals, like the use of fertilizers for crops, rests upon well-defined principles. Our knowledge of these principles has been derived from the studies of the chemist and the animal physiologist on the comparative and functions of food and the way it is utilized after it is eaten.

In selecting feeding stuff for his stock the farmer will naturally be governed by the conditions of the market. The cost of feed-stuffs is the most important factor that enters into the selection of food materials which they contain.

helpers fell to more reasonable prices and then below, until during the past few years nearly all cattle growers have been working on the theory that it was cheaper to buy than to breed.

LAMINITIS, OR FOUNDER. Laminitis, or founder, as it is commonly called, is an inflammation of the sensitive laminae or soft structure between the hoof and bones of the foot.

Symptoms.—Founder may occur in the fore or hind feet, or in both; but generally the fore feet are those affected. A stiffening of the fetlock joint to move are perhaps the first symptoms noticed.

QUEER CATTLE. A breed of cattle that has attracted a little attention is an ox known to the zoological world as the scared running ox. Of all the family they are considered the most timid.

The Journal believes that the feeders who buy their cattle judiciously and feed properly will be able to put on this winter—possibly last year, but a good fair profit. It is, however, sure that those who put on their winter stock of steers or stock cattle and who have plenty of grass and water will be strictly in it next year, and the Journal is generally correct in its predictions on these lines.

Australia's hope in cattle as well as sheep, is that there may be short supply in the United States, so as to put the price of the animal up to the level of the great markets that it has as yet been able to offer very little competition to our live stock.

CURE FOR HORN FLIES. Melt a pint of lard and then mix with it one tablespoonful of pine tar and as much carbolic acid and a teaspoonful of coal tar. Take a rag or brush and apply the mixture lightly once a day. You cannot get the horn flies off your cattle without the amount of the refined.

Texas steers are weighing out better than usual this year. This may be accounted for by the excellent condition of the range. Lots of good fresh grass makes fat cattle.

THE SOUTHERN GARDEN. Of all countries the South should take the lead in the production of choice vegetables, fruits, etc. If not for marketing purposes, there should be a great increase in the consumption.

Every garden should be well manured on our richest Texas soils. The manure may be scattered and plowed in now. Well rotted pulverized manure should be put on in the fall.

WHY THUS?

Born in precisely the same way, reared as all boys are reared almost tells the story of the early life of the farmer, and following their existence down the pathway of life until all is ended, all faults hidden by the tomb, we fall to find a single analogical feature that distinguishes him from his fellow-man, and yet he is different from any of his race.

A life of toil, commenced almost before he casts his swaddling clothes, and ended when the human frame is no longer capable of locomotion, when the motive power is dormant and the will a slave enchain'd by bodily ills, and then it ends.

All that has its reward, but not always to the hardest worker is the greatest reward given, and especially is this true of the man who tills the soil from the rising to the setting of the sun.

Years fade into new years, and each succeeding year finds him toiling on in the same way his father, yea, his great grandfathers, toiled before him, and at last his work is ended, and a general thing he looks back over the roadway, filled with his numerous hindrances, and finds himself in almost the same condition he came into the world.

There must be a potent reason for all this thankless toil, a diagnosis to the long standing disease. What is it, and what is the remedy?

Before an answer is offered, or a remedy suggested, let it be understood that exceptional cases are not being considered, but the whole farming country summed up and an average taken, and furthermore, it is not intended to unravel the puzzle which has befuddled the brain of the thinking world so long.

Each year as the revelations of science come to light, an increase of perfection in all things is noticed. On keeping with all other callings, stock raising and farming receive their share of the benefits to be derived from the success of various scientific researches.

To those who laugh to scorn the idea of educated farmers, it is admitted that a man may be a farmer without scientific learning and even without any learning, but to be successful it requires the experience of a life time, and then there is that awful dread that they may be wrong. While a man familiar with the experiments along all the lines has every advantage in the situation of things.

A great many ways of farming and stock raising can be talked of, but the best way to carry on these vocations is by the use of good sense. Sensible farming and stock raising is the crying need of the hour.

As a general rule the pastures are overstocked. The lands are almost murdered by overstocking. How many pastures are there with a surface as bare and slick as a skating rink?

It is now in order for the people who have not been murdered by Holmes to get together, enumerate noses and form a mutual protective association.

A thrifty class of people often come to Texas to gain a livelihood and are successful. Soon they are followed by their less thrifty, but more aspiring kinsmen, who, falling to find earth's treasures already dug, sacked and loaded for them, in answer to their expectations, return to their homes in the much talked of disgruntled condition. Texas has a living for every man who is willing to earn it. Each stroke of the pick will give back a golden answer, each furrow of the plow a rich harvest, but in no sense of the word is Texas a lazy man's country.

The first business of every young man should be to secure a home, a bright spot upon which he can stand and proclaim to the world that these acres, more or less broad, are his and place where he can truly say "I am monarch." Jean Paul has truly said "no man can be proudly or die righteously without a good wife. We are told by the great Jewish historian that when man was created Infinite Wisdom said it was not good for him to be alone, and so created for him a help meet. Men need helpmeets more now than at that time. A helpmeet, a creature of action and life. Woe to the young man who finds out that his wife's idea of respectability consists in fine jewelry and complexion and idleness and furniture, for he may as well set to work to find a way to get rid of her.

Richard should be remembered: "I never saw an off-removed tree, nor yet an off-removed family. That thrives as well as those that settled here."

A farmer that pitches about from abode to abode, with no more affection than a crow in its flight, must find his labor cheerless, and the keenest enjoyment of life at home is to him a stranger. In Texas the homestead is sacred, neither the grasp of extortion, the rule brush of misfortune, nor fell disease nor sudden calamity can deprive a family of a home once honestly earned.

This familiar sight about the streets of a city is a man, clad in soiled garments, and a weather-beaten straw hat, long ago vision left him, and with his violin under his arms he is an applicant for the city's charity.

Everybody should make it convenient to attend the Dallas Fair. One never forgets the occasion and as an educator they best schools.

Success on the farm is the surplus over expenses. Without a surplus a farmer is liable to be a desperate toiler all his life.

The Journal would like to have the ideas of its readers upon all subjects pertaining to agriculture and stock raising.

Don't ever tell people that you think there is not an honest man alive; you are telling an opinion of yourself.

Who has the right to complain? Owing to the efforts of a set of unscrupulous land agents the settlers from other states who come to Texas are often placed on farming lands that would not, if filled to its utmost capacity, raise enough to feed a goose the year round. It is a well known fact that there is an abundance of good land in the state and some poor land. The idea is to look well before purchasing.

The false idea that Kentucky and the blue grass region are the only places where race horses can be raised is fast becoming a reality, as each year the great Jewish historian that when man was created Infinite Wisdom said it was not good for him to be alone, and so created for him a help meet.

More Edens are destroyed by mosquitoes than by serpents. HIGH SPEED RAILWAY RECORDS. During the closing days of the last month the closing days of the last month that ran from London to the north of Scotland, known respectively as the Great Northern and the Great Western, commenced an acceleration of service on their through trains.

It is a "significant" can dare hope to throw any new light on the subject, and the only new thing is the "sun," you know. However, as my bumps of combativeness will show, I always expect a say in any interesting controversy.

On Thursday, September 22, the New York Central railroad made up a special train that was counter-part of the Empire State Express. It was the latest and most powerful engine, and set out with the express purpose of "breaking the record" of their transatlantic brethren.

The farmer who attempts to raise pigs without pasture is neglecting a source of profit and a natural aid in preserving his stock. Good pasture is not only an inexpensive feed, but it is also a growing and health giving food.

What this country needs is more advertising. The people of Texas must set off the old fog ideas about there being nothing in printer's ink. A trip to almost any of the old states will convince a person that if the rich lands of Texas were only known, they would bring a load of money from the worn-out lands of the East.

full descriptions of every kind of carriage and wagon I ever heard of. And the price of each was plainly put down. Now, they claim, you notice, to sell to us farmers at factory prices, that is, as cheap as they would to dealers. I do not doubt the truth in the case of course, only as I took their word for it. But I happen to have proof of it which may be serving a friend of ours who deals in carriages and wagon I ever heard of.

No doubt many people who come to Texas from the East and Northwest return to their homes in a disgruntled condition, but the worst of the matter is that they were disgruntled when they came to Texas, and have been in that self-same condition ever since.

THE WOMEN'S WORLD.

To escape from the work, the play, To escape from all I have done, To escape that remains to you, To escape, yes, even to do, My only love, and be Alone and free.

Between gray moor and gray sky, Where the winds and the plovers cry, And no man is to be seen, And feel the free wind blow, On my rain-wet face, and know I am free—not yours—but my own. Free—and alone.

For the soft fire-light, And the scent of your hair, my dear, And hurt—being always here. I want to stand up—upright, And to cool my eyes in the air, And to see how black can bear Burdens—to try, to know, To learn, to grow!

I am only you! I am yours—part of you—your wife! And I have no other life. I cannot think, cannot see, I cannot breathe, cannot see; There is "us," but there is not "me"— And worst at your kiss, I grow Contented so.

COMFORTABLE WIVES.

At last we have another letter from Cheerfulness. We had begun to think this warm weather had caused her to change her name and she could not write because some of these husbands are going to get puffed up with pride if they take time to read our Household and find they are the possessor of certain good, fond wives. Don't let them read it. They might put on airs of superiority and unconsciously make you suffer for your confession. I am satisfied Cheerfulness is what Robert Louis Stevenson calls a "comfortable wife" to live with. It is the most desirable wife possible is "the comfortable wife"—the wife with whom it is comfortable to live; one who does not know too much, not too little; not too strong, neither too weak, just comfortable. He says a man would rather have a wife who would laugh with him when he laughs, and weep when he weeps, than one who could give the most enlightened views on all important events of the past or present. A husband has a right to expect comfort, recreation, entertainment around his hearth. It is not the woman who can discuss modern philosophy from Kant to Spencer, who meets these requirements of the husband, and the not she who holds him closest to his heart and her heart. But it is she who is most gifted in that light and agreeable talk, that graceful touching upon many subjects, but none too deeply, so well done by tasteful woman, she who amuses, drives care away by clever bits of innocent gossip and playful badinage. This is not encouraging to the "smart" woman, neither to the new woman. But it is a fact.

Now, these crumbling gods of many a wise woman's fancy, would you be entertained before their own fire by cleverly repeated gossip than the wisest discourse on franchise and the ballot? They will admit it is most agreeable to meet occasionally she who keeps pace with modern thought, and she who knows the latest opinions on franchise and the ballot, but to look across the hearth at such an one three hundred and sixty-five evenings every year would do one so much more good, if they were "talked over." Then I have a recommendation for a "comfortable wife."—An "Automator of the Breakfast Table" to read, and those with the current reading, will keep me some time. These are the kind of books I like, and maybe the book I most enjoyed reading was "Uarda," by Ebers. Have any of you read it? It is not read so much as many books, but it is so full of beautiful thoughts. And then it is a story of people long ago, a subject I never weary of. And I fancy those most comfortable wife. It is said she was all in all to him and waded the last years of his life comfortable and pleasant. She is an intellectual woman, too. She proved it by loving him so devotedly, for those who knew him say he was all intellect, pure, refined intellect, from which all coarseness and grossness had fallen away. If it was ever there. His intellect must have been like a brilliant light, in a pure and delicate vessel, too frail and too soon broken.

As most of our letters show an interest in books and authors, I am going to repeat a story told me this summer by a man who had the pleasure of knowing Stevenson personally. He said when Stevenson was in Adirondack mountains, with the hope of regaining his health. As soon as he was known he was Robert Louis Stevenson of course every kindness and courtesy possible was shown him. Invitations showered upon him thick and fast. He accepted so many he decided he must do something in return. So he sent out invitations to a tea at his selection cottage. The invitations were sent a week in advance. He was very absent-minded and forgetful. When the day named in his invitation, the guests began to call. He had been so busy writing he had not even made a respectable list. He was overwhelmed at so many callers in one day, and attributed it to American kindness and curiosity, until his doctor arriving late in the evening, reminded him of the day for his tea. He had forgotten it entirely, and the poor guests who had expected so much had not even a cup of tea, and but a puzzled welcome.

The household will be delighted to read a most interesting letter from Emma George this week. Her loneliness has been caused by absence. We will hope for another letter soon. We are especially anxious to read her one of "Busy Bee" from St. Louis, from Riverside. Also from "A Reader," "She" and "Isabelle" are our old maids. Yes, we will call "Isabelle" one although she protests.

The most delightful book I have read for a long time is "The Love Affairs of an Old Maid." I will get it for "Isabelle" and "A Reader" if they say so. I have been asked to recommend some good reading. But nothing of magazines, I would recommend the best magazines always. They contain most excellent reading. If you take the Century reader in the September number "A Cup of Trembling," by Mary Hollock but is strong and powerful in her stories. It works out a sin and its consequences simplest matter among them. I consider it one of the most powerful short stories read lately, for it gives the awful consequences of a single mistake; the impossibility of happiness; hopelessness of peace here or hereafter.

A LETTER THAT IS ALWAYS GOOD. Riverside Cottage, Sept. 16. Dear Mrs. B.—I have just finished reading the Household page, and am proud to have my name in it. Dear Busy Bee No. 4. You write such good letters; I enjoy reading them so much and am sure your husband and boys find in you a true home-maker. I see no reason whatever for changing your name to Bumble Bee, a busy bee has a sting and contains more than one Busy Bee. Like you, I have more than one hobby, but my greatest is a handsome country home with beautiful surroundings—a green sloping lawn dotted with a few shrubs and shade trees, gravelled walks, beds of flowers, and a sparkling fountain beneath a tree near the door. I have planned and built many of my imaginings, only to have them tumble down like all other air castles. But if I ever realize my anticipations, I will not feel greatly disappointed, but will strive to be content with my lot for love and happiness can reign as supremely in a lonely cottage as in the costliest mansion.

Another of my great desires is to be a well-read woman. As a busy farmer's wife has little spare time for reading, as many can testify; but I manage to get a few minutes every day to devote to my present and am engaged upon Ancient History, and find it very interesting and instructive. Most of my reading in this has been done while churning. Last winter my husband and I would rise an hour earlier than time to begin work and read a chapter or two before going to bed; then our minds were fresh and bright, and we enjoyed it much better than to have the same thing at bed-time. I enjoy historical series greatly and think we should make them the most prominent subjects in reading. I have read a number of the most important. Romances and stories are very fascinating, but if indulged in too frequently they lead to a disquieting, more solid reading matter. True, historical romances are valuable in fixing points of history in one's mind; that might be forgotten.

Have any of the Household tried the Chautauqua Circle? If so, please report. It seems to me that would be a good method to pursue. I, too, am reading the Bible through, and I think that is one book we should not overlook in making our selections, for certainly no other can furnish the sweet comfort and solace found within its precious pages. Yet how many have this valuable book, and do not read it. I have not made an attempt to read it. I have a lady friend who has each day read a chapter of the Bible through every year. I think her rule is to read two chapters every day in the week, and one on Sundays.

Like Irene, I often think what would our mothers do if it were not for religion. How any woman can be so comfortable to live; one who does not know too much, not too little; not too strong, neither too weak, just comfortable. He says a man would rather have a wife who would laugh with him when he laughs, and weep when he weeps, than one who could give the most enlightened views on all important events of the past or present. I see no reason whatever for changing your name to Bumble Bee, a busy bee has a sting and contains more than one Busy Bee. Like you, I have day in shops and offices or sewing. Of course they can't afford to keep horses and carriages. A good bicycle will be a source of health and pleasure to them for years. I imagine that any sensible woman would prefer to have his wife or daughter take a bicycle than to have her give it to him. It gives them health and happy spirits, than to find them cooped up lamenting over the frailties of woman-kind or growling in their hearts. Men as well as women are becoming more sensible. They want companions instead of chronic apothecary shops.

My mother-in-law is in the old home for the children to come back to. She is almost 75, hale and cheerful, planning her home work with as much interest as a young woman. Her only care is to have on the wedding garment when the Master calls. Old age brings no looking backward, no wishing she were young again. Her eternal youth is just before her. It does us good to know we will never grow old in spirit. You know the Christian science people teach us that it is about all there is anyway. We all know our spirits make our faces. On a crowded train up near St. Louis we saw a woman with a very kind of a smile on her face. I wondered if she would have teeth that much pains with a shivering, barefoot child. She carried it very tenderly on her lap, its nose being in such close proximity to her face that it almost reminded me of Josiah Allen's prayer for Mrs. Flamen's little child. I did not blame the poor old dog, he looked as if he had intelligence enough to feel ashamed of the situation.

If any of you want to find beef higher than you can jump over the moon, step into a cow jumping over a car and try a stinky little slice. I have been reading "What Can She Do?" by E. J. M. It pictures the terrible consequences of raising, or rather letting girls grow up, without learning some domestic science. It makes an honorable living if they are thrown out to rustle for themselves. Let I weary you, adieu. EMMA GEORGE. Joynto, Sept. 7, 1895.

Dear Mrs. B.—The constant influx of girls from the country into large cities brings with it the temptation to evil. Dreaming of an easy time, good wages, a better wardrobe and more congenial conditions of life, they leave their village or farm, or the village and flock to the metropolis. Here they find a different world from that which they imagined. They find that the actual experience of city life. The wages they get are meager; their lodgings far from comfortable; they have no home, no friends, no relatives, and their life becomes one of hardship and trouble. In the store, factory, shop, or office they are surrounded with danger and annoyance, while all about them are pitfalls spread for unfortunates. Some of them, with unusual aptitudes, find their way to writing and kindred occupations, or with fine executive gifts, make their way to the top and secure first-class positions; but a greater multitude struggle and almost starve on five or six dollars a week. This latter class are the unfortunates of the city. A week's illness brings them in debt, and a month without employment renders them objects of charity.

How much better it would be for most of them were they to stay at home, help in the household, or accept such work as might be available on the farm or in the village. Our villages now contain thousands of girls in a sorry plight, either without employment, struggling for bread—girls who might have remained in comfort at home, or who could have found work of some sort in a country town to support themselves. The loss of strength, nerve power and vital force—so saying nothing of the dangers which now beset them in the city. What a kindness it would be to talk to them, and help them plan to push cityward to find something to do, and a better stay at home. SYBIL.

NONNE WERE CHEERFUL. Seymour, Baylor county, Tex., Sept. 15, 1895. From The Rancher. Dear Mrs. B.: This beautiful evening, and I mustn't talk to my friends, has tempted me to tell you what we are doing. We are rounding up, shipping, and branding. I have been preserving, cooking, sewing, doing all kinds of housework, and my mother have an idle moment, but aside from my work I have time to read a good book, paint a picture, or best of all, have a chat with one of the best husbands in the world. I am never too busy to stop and give him the faintest idea of my work. I can prepare, I am so glad someone else thinks the cowboys are good for something else besides running cattle. Mine helps with all the work that is necessary, and is kindness itself. So I am happy as a sunflower, and intend to make him so just as long as I live.

Busy Bee No. 2 asks me what I thought of "The Heavenly Twins." I must confess I only have a faint remembrance of having read them once before. Please tell me where I can get it and I will read it. Have any of the sisters ever read "Night Scenes in Italy," by Ebers? I have just finished it, and I think it is perfectly grand. Mrs. M. E. J., I thank you very much for your kindness in giving me a farm, but I do not know everything pertaining to the farm, and if I should want to know anything about the farm will gladly come to you for it. My idea of nearest mama's heart, they should be nearest her in everything else. Therefore I think the family room should be the ideal of the home, give them their toys and let them sit near her and play. Mothers know best how to right all their troubles, and can do it best when she has them by her, and knows who to blame. Some will say oh, they keep the floor in such a mess and aren't so noisy. Well, dear mother, isn't it better to have a littered floor and a merry laugh or stream, than to have them in the streets, or roving around with boys or girls, smoking, chewing and sweating, leaving next time a greasy, and nothing elevating? By all means have the family room the prettiest one on the place. The next prettiest, the boys and girls bedrooms. Have them next mama's. If very small ones, put their little beds in mother's room. Place in the room you can. Do we not in infancy take their little hands in ours and guide their little feet. How much more important is it to guide them through their little minds. Therefore, now, you have my hobby, it is husband, three bright jewels, home and flowers. Oh how I love my hobby. Please, Mrs. B., forgive me and I will try not to forget that I am writing instead of talking next time I come. The Journals true friend. CHEERFULNESS.

SOME JOURNAL RECEIPTS. For Francis, M. K. and others. Tomato Butter—Seven pounds of tomatoes, four pounds brown sugar, one-half cup vinegar, one teaspoonful cinnamon, one teaspoonful ginger, one-half teaspoonful cloves. Four boiling water on the tomatoes to remove the skin and peel them. Place in a preserving kettle and cook very slowly for at least one hour, stirring often. At the end of this time add the sugar, vinegar and spices and cook the whole until it is like very thick apple sauce. Put away same as jelly. Spiced Tomatoes—Two peaches and two pounds of tomatoes, one tablespoonful cloves, two pounds sugar, one tablespoonful allspice, two pounds vinegar, the tablespoonful cinnamon, one-half cup of the spoonful mace. Skin the tomatoes, cut in pieces, weigh and allow sugar as directed. Place tomatoes and sugar on the stove in a preserving kettle and simmer slowly for two hours. Then add the other ingredients and simmer one hour longer, stirring often and put away in bottles tightly sealed. BUSY BEE.

PEACHES—HOW TO SERVE THEM. Peaches, by many esteemed the most delicious fruit that grows, are now in the market, and while some consider that to cook them in any way is to "spoil the lily," others are glad to have the new recipes for serving them. A very dainty dessert is peach cream, which is prepared as follows: Whip one pint of cream to a stiff froth, laying it on a sieve. Pare a dozen and a half of the best peaches, and cut them in half. Put them in a box which has been soaked an hour in half a cupful of water in a warm place near the stove, and add a tumblerful of cream of tartar. Mix, and add half a pint of milk to make a soft dough. Or sour milk can be used, omitting the cream of tartar. Roll them out lightly in a mill or well-beaten then put into a mould, and set on the ice or in some cool place. A pretty garnish is to range halves or quarters of fresh peaches around it. Peach Shortcake—To a quart of flour add two tablespoonfuls of butter, one teaspoonful of salt, one of soda, and a little of cream of tartar. Mix, and add half a pint of milk to make a soft dough. Or sour milk can be used, omitting the cream of tartar. Roll them out lightly in a mill or well-beaten then put into a mould, and set on the ice or in some cool place. A pretty garnish is to range halves or quarters of fresh peaches around it.

Geo. Gray, a cattleman from Midland, was in the city Saturday. W. K. Bell, a Palo Pinto county ranchman, was in the city Tuesday. W. E. Cobb, the well-known Wichita Falls cattleman, was in the city Monday. Sid Moore, a well-known cattleman of Comanche county, was in Fort Worth Monday. Thos. A. Caulfield of Waco was in the city a few days ago en route to his ranch in Borden county. D. D. Swearingen of Quannah was among the visiting stockmen in Fort Worth on Monday. J. M. Lynch, formerly of Fort Worth but now a citizen of Oklahoma, was in Fort Worth Monday. Brooks Davis, the well known Panhandle cattleman, spent most of the week in the city center. Berry Gatewood of Ennis, who feeds several thousand cattle every winter, was in Fort Worth Monday looking for feeders. Tom Montgomery, whose ranch is in Crosby county, is enjoying a few weeks' lay-off among his many friends in Fort Worth. W. N. McCarty, who owns a ranch near Straw and is also pasturing several thousand cattle in the Indian Territory, was here Tuesday. G. W. Morris of Mount Calm, Hill county, with ranch near Mobeetie, was in Fort Worth Friday and called at the Journal office. W. J. Carson of Weatherford, Tex., who has some cattle in Northwestern New Mexico, passed through the city Monday en route to Clayton, N. M. D. B. Gardner, manager of the Pitchfork Cattle company of King county, came in from his ranch Saturday. He reports plenty of grass, and cattle fat. The Journal acknowledges the receipt of the beautifully illustrated autumn catalogue of the reliable seed house of Peter Henderson & Co. of New York. J. W. Lackey of Sulphur Springs, Tex., one of the best judges of cattle and most successful feeders in the state, was in the city Monday. D. O. Lively, the editor of this paper, has gone on a business trip to Kansas City, Chicago and St. Louis. This will explain the many improvements in the matter, make-up, appearance, etc., of this issue. Rolla C. Burnes, range manager of the "I. O. A." ranch, was in the city Monday. Mr. Burnes reports grass in Lubbock and adjoining counties good, while the cattle are in exceptionally fine condition. W. L. Campbell, a well-to-do ranchman of Poard county, passed through the city Monday en route to Tom Green county, where he went to inspect a herd of stock cattle that he is thinking of buying. D. P. Gandy, manager of the Live Oak Cattle company, whose ranch is in the western edge of the west half of Tom Green county, was in Fort Worth Saturday, en route from his pasture in the Indian Territory to his home at Ballinger. The Journal has received the premium list of the Second Semi-Annual Fair and Flower show to be at Sherman. Quite an attractive list of premiums are offered. J. I. Kerr is president and Miss Helen Kerr secretary of the association. The Monarch Incubator, which is advertised in the breeders' column this week, is constructed by Jas. Rankin, of South Easton, Mass., a man who is not unknown to the poultry raisers of this state as a dealer in articles that have always fulfilled all he claims for it. J. M. (Doc) Day of Austin was in Fort Worth Saturday en route to Kansas City. The Journal predicts that Doc will be soon again established in the cattle business. He has always been a very successful operator, and will be gladly welcomed to the fold by the cattlemen generally of this state. Messrs. W. A. Colston and B. F. Davis, two prosperous farmers and cattle feeders from the Mansfield neighborhood, were pleasant callers at the Journal office Tuesday. These gentlemen each want a few cars of cattle to eat the surplus feed raised on their farms. Mr. H. C. Dillahunty of Riley, O. T., a prominent dealer of that section, called at the Journal office on his return from a western trip over the Texas and Pacific. He reports cattle in fine condition, and who are largely left for home over the Rock Island Saturday. Mr. W. J. McIntyre of Alpine, Texas, visited the Journal office this week. Mr. McIntyre has for sale a choice lot of high-grade Durham three-year-olds, they are free from quarantine lines. We commend the gentleman to those desiring anything in his line. See his ad in "For Sale" column. Frank Moody, the well known live stock commission dealer of this city, land, cattle, etc., on commission. Those of our readers who wish to keep posted in such matters, could not do better than correspond with Messrs. Crawford & Co. J. M. Daugherty, the Abilene cattleman, came down from his ranch in the Indian Territory Tuesday, and spent Wednesday in Fort Worth. He reports that he owns one of the largest and best pastures in the Indian Territory, where he has always prepared to furnish an abundance of grass and water to those wishing to fatten cattle in the Territory. N. S. Ikard, the well known fine stock breeder of Henrietta, offers his Berkshire boar, "Signal Service" No. 2315, for sale. "Signal Service" is a fine breeder, perhaps one of the best boars in the state. Mr. Ikard's reasons for offering him for sale is to enable him to introduce new blood into his herd. Anyone wanting an exceptionally fine animal should correspond with Mr. Ikard. D. C. Hill, a prominent cattle feeder of McKinney, was in the Fort Monday. Mr. Hill has already bought about 2000 feeders and will require another thousand a few months later. The most of his purchases have been at 3 cents per pound, cattle to be weighed at the time of purchase. In this connection it may, however, be proper to state that Mr. Hill purchases all his first-class, well-bred, heavy cattle. C. C. French, for several years one of the traveling representatives in Texas of the Evans-Snyder-Buel Co., has resigned his position with that company and accepted a position as assistant live stock agent on the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad. Mr. French is not only well acquainted with the cattleman and cattle business generally of Texas, but is also an energetic, faithful worker, who will no doubt prove a valuable acquisition to the Denver road. Messrs. T. B. Harms & Co., 18 East Twenty-second street, New York city, have the thanks of the Journal for a bundle of choice music. This firm is one of the best known and most reliable of music publishers, operatic music being their specialties. The Journal vocalists are now singing the songs from "Wang", and advise all who want the very latest songs from Wang or other popular operas to correspond with Messrs. Harms & Co. at the above address. J. L. Johnson, cattleman and banker of Pecos City was in the city yesterday. Mr. Johnson reports not only fine grass and fat cattle, but says the crops in the Pecos valley are the best he has ever seen. He says the farmers have an abundance of corn, alfalfa, milo maize, etc., and that in consequence of this bountiful supply the Pecos valley is sure to enjoy a healthy growth and an era of unprecedented prosperity. S. B. Burnett returned home from his ranch in the Comanche reservation Sunday evening. Mr. Burnett last week delivered 1120 of the 3000 cattle recently sold by him to E. B. & M. Harrold. The cattle delivered were of good quality; yield low. Ohio—Many cattlemen report quality inferior; average probably quite low. On the Pacific Coast—Oregon, improvement since August 1; Washington, damage by hot winds in western part, offset, however, by good crop conditions in the east; berry hard and well filled; the California crop, which was largely shelled out by January, estimated to be the smallest since farming became general in that state; considerable late grain out for hay. Caution—Buy only Dr. Isaac Thompson's eye water. Carefully examine the outside wrapper. None other genuine. POLYTECHNIC COLLEGE NOTES. Our representative was out at the Polytechnic College a day or two ago, and was quite surprised at the many signs of growth and improvement about the college and in the community. Dr. Lloyd has had a very large building erected, which is to be devoted exclusively to teaching purposes. In addition to the regular recitation rooms, it contains a study chapel for the girls, a study hall for the local students, a room for the primary department, a laboratory for the classes in physics and chemistry and hall for the business department. It was all ready by September 1. Dr. Lloyd has also had the College building proper renovated and refurbished from top to bottom. It will hereafter be used exclusively for a boarding department for girls and young ladies. The school opened with a large number of girls. Many have been drawn by the unusually fine music department which the college has for the coming season. Several new houses are now going up near the college, and others are under contract. Families are coming from all directions. Captain Jeans, a banker from Duncan, I. T., will locate his family there. Mr. Chandler of Farmersville, Tex., is having a house built. Mr. H. J. Wilson of this county is also building. Mrs. Little of Comanche, Tex., and Mrs. J. Fred Cox of this city have recently moved to the college. Others are expected soon. Of course the attraction at this suburb is the college. People are rapidly finding out that the curriculum of the college is unusually high, and the institution very thorough. The public is not slow to recognize merit. Catalogues can be obtained by addressing the president. CATTLE WANTED. We have buyers for all kinds and classes of cattle, and are in position to render efficient, valuable and prompt assistance to those who may wish to sell. We have buyers for steer yearlings and twos, for dry cows, heifers and cows and calves—in fact, for all kinds and classes of cattle. The demand for feeders was never better. We also have buyers for a few large herds of mixed stock cattle. We do not handle stock cattle or young steers in lots less than 400, or feeders in lots of less than 200 head. We invite correspondence from both buyers and sellers. GEO. B. LOVING & CO., Com. Dealers in Cattle, Fort Worth, Texas. strengthened a uniform reduction in acreage in cotton made next year there is no doubt but that cotton will bring at least 10 cents and probably 12 cents a pound, and we will all have as much corn and feed as present and the material and financial benefits that will accrue to the South and Texas are too numerous to mention. There is but one way to accomplish these desirable results, and that is by organization, and to do so I request any one willing to serve in the good cause to write to me at Calvert, Robertson county, Tex., and I will without delay forward plans of organization. Do not delay, but organize at once, and when the spinners find that the farmers are determined to maintain the present acreage, or to reduce the same if necessary to maintain the prices, they will come to the market and buy out-present crop at prices above what they are paying now. In 1899, when cotton was low, the farmers' cotton planters' convention was held at Macon, Ga., which led to annual conventions at other places, some of which were remarkable for improving and controlling the price of cotton. Surely we can do as well as our forefathers. CROP REPORT FOR SEPTEMBER, 1899. Corn—The September report of the statistician of the department of agriculture shows a decline in the condition of corn to 96.4 from 102.5 in the month of August, being a falling off of 6.1 points. The prospects of the crop have suffered from drought during the month of August in the surplus-producing states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and in a portion of Nebraska. Reports from Indiana, Iowa and Ohio indicate that though there have been rains during the latter part of the month they have been generally too late to be of great benefit. Drought has also injured the crop in the Eastern states. New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland. Much more encouraging reports come from the South, which indicate that in that section the crop will be larger than ever before produced. Too much rain is noted in certain sections of South Carolina, Alabama and Mississippi and drought seems to have unfavorably affected certain localities in Texas. Reports, however, from that section are generally favorable. The averages in the principal states are: Kentucky, 108; Ohio, 83; Michigan, 85; Indiana, 86; Illinois, 97; Iowa, 96; Missouri, 111; Kansas, 86; Nebraska, 56. Wheat—General conditions, considering both winter and spring varieties, when harvested, was 76.4 against 82.7 last year and 74 in 1898. The reported conditions for the principal wheat states are as follows: Ohio, 64; Michigan, 70; Indiana, 53; Illinois, 59; Wisconsin, 85; Minnesota, 107; Iowa, 107; Missouri, 75; Kansas, 40; Nebraska, 74; North Dakota, 105; South Dakota, 74; California, 75; Oregon, 93; Washington, 73. Minnesota—Lower yield than anticipated; considerable smut. Smut also prevalent in North Dakota, where threshing has not yet begun. Slightly improved condition in South Dakota. Indiana and Michigan—Damage from drought; crop injured by insects. Illinois—Grain said to be of poor quality; yield low. Ohio—Many cattlemen report quality inferior; average probably quite low. On the Pacific Coast—Oregon, improvement since August 1; Washington, damage by hot winds in western part, offset, however, by good crop conditions in the east; berry hard and well filled; the California crop, which was largely shelled out by January, estimated to be the smallest since farming became general in that state; considerable late grain out for hay. MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Sept. 24.—Texas cattle have begun to come with more freedom. Last week's rivals footed up to 9070 head in the quarantined division, which were sold outside of the quarantine division. We account for this increase in the receipts more on the fact that the demand for feeding cattle has dropped off some in Texas than because of anything in the demand at market to justify it.

We are informed that most of the big feeders have secured about all the cattle they can handle, and so there has been a decided falling off in the competition that has prevailed for so long. The market on Texas cattle has not been very good lately, and since a week ago we are obliged to record a decline of 15c to 20c. Although this week starts with a little better demand, the market has been flooded with Western rangers, but as soon as these diminish we may expect better markets and better prices for all kinds of Texas cattle. The outlook looks more promising on this account, although it will be a little time before the Westerns get through coming.

Sales this week included: 29 bulls, 634 pounds, at $2.00; 63 cows, 685 pounds, at 2.50; 322 steers, 806 pounds, at 3.25; 130 steers, 945 pounds, at 3.30; 322 steers, 1014 pounds, at 3.30; 105 steers, 1064 pounds, at 3.75; 99 steers, 868 pounds, at 2.95; 401 steers, 890 pounds, at 2.95; 324 steers, 890 pounds, at 2.95; 174 steers, 933 pounds, at 3.05; 322 heifers, 829 pounds, at 3.05; 447 steers, 817 pounds, at 3.05; 130 steers, 932 pounds, at 3.40; 45 bulls, 889 pounds, at 2.90; 233 steers, 961 pounds, at 2.90; 324 steers, 1003 pounds, at 2.90; 128 steers, 908 pounds, at 2.90; 363 steers, 817 pounds, at 2.90; 196 steers, 957 pounds, at 3.50; 100 steers, 889 pounds, at 3.70. The sheep market has been in a pretty good shape, considering the heavy supplies. Last week's receipts were the heaviest of the year, and consisted largely of Western sheep and lambs. Lambs have been entirely too abundant, and declined 40c to 50c. Exporters are buying a few of the best sheep, and feeders are taking a good many of the lower grades. No Texas sheep have arrived since GODAIR, HARDING & CO. respectfully.

DALLAS LIVE STOCK. Market quotations by Carter's stock yards: Choice fat steers $2.75@3.00; Common to fair steers 2.50@2.75; Choice fat cows 2.50@2.75; Common to fair cows 2.00; Choice veal calves 2.50@3.00; Common to fair veal calves 1.50@2.00; Bulls 1.50@2.00; Stags 1.50@2.00; Yearlings 1.50@2.00; Milch cows 3.00@4.00; Choice fat light hogs 3.75@3.85; Good stock hogs 3.75@4.00; Choice fat hogs 3.75@4.00. All classes of good fat stock scarce and find ready sale. Market good.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK. Chicago, Sept. 25.—There was a very slow demand for dressed beef, shipping and export native cattle, and prices ruled fully 10c lower, with sales on a basis of $2.50@2.75 for common to choice, and fancy steers about nominal at $5.00@5.75; heavy cattle continued to be discriminated. Stockers and feeders were in very good demand, but prices were about 5c lower than last week, common lots selling as low as $2.00@2.25. Butchers and canners stuff sold quite well at steady prices, cows and heifers going largely at $2.25, while butchering calves and veal calves advanced until under continued light offerings, choice to extra lot brought $6.00@6.25. Texas cattle slow and 50c lower; steers selling mostly at $3.25@3.50; Western rangers were 40c lower, and sales were slower than they have been. The bulk are going at $3.00, with an occasional sale as high as $4.00@4.75. Hogs—About 2500 head arrived today, and those left over from Tuesday swelled the offerings to 28,000 head, 10 higher. No 2 hard, 50¢@50.1-2c; No. 1 by Chicago packers and a fair demand for shipment, and the supply was mostly closed out, the best lots fetching $4.25. Sales were chiefly at $2.75@3.30 for packers, and at $4.40 for shippers. Common to choice heavy sold at $3.60@4.15, butchers weights of superior quality bringing $4.20. Mixed lots sold at $3.60@4.15; light weights at $3.70@4.25 for ordinary to choice selected, and pigs at $2.75@4.10.

In the neighborhood of 22,000 sheep and lambs arrived today, and as there were more than needed, prices except for a few fancy sheep and lambs were 10¢ to 15¢ lower. Trade was fairly good on the basis of $1.50@1.75 for packers, to fancy native sheep. Native sheep, $2.65@3.50 for Western sheep, and $3.00@4.70 for lambs. A few extra heavy lots fetching $5. Native sheep sold chiefly at $2.60@3.10, and lambs went largely at $3.50@4.50. Receipts—Cattle, 18,000; calves, 550; hogs, 25,000; sheep, 22,000.

St. Louis Livestock. St. Louis, Sept. 25.—Cattle—Receipts, 1200; shipments, 550. Best grades steady; others weak, 50¢ to 1 cent lower. Texas steers, $2.50@3.15; Texas cows, $2.20@2.80; beef steers, $3.50@5.15; native cows, $1.50@2.25; stockers and feeders, $2.00@4.15; bulls, $2.00@2.50; bulk of sales, $2.35@3.00; Texas and Indian steers, $2.50@3.65; bulk of sales, $2.75@3.25; cows and heifers, $2.00@3.00. Hogs—Receipts, 6000; shipments, 100. Market, 10¢ to 15¢ lower. Heavy, $3.80@4.10; med. $3.75; light, $3.75@4.00. Sheep—Receipts, 3200; shipments, 100. Market about steady. Native mutton, $2.75@2.90; stockers, $2.00@2.50; lambs, $3.25@4.50; southwestern sheep, $2.25@3.25.

Kansas City Livestock. Kansas City, Sept. 25.—Cattle—Receipts, 1100; shipments, 550. Best grades steady; others weak, 50¢ to 1 cent lower. Texas steers, $2.50@3.15; Texas cows, $2.20@2.80; beef steers, $3.50@5.15; native cows, $1.50@2.25; stockers and feeders, $2.00@4.15; bulls, $2.00@2.50; bulk of sales, $2.35@3.00; Texas and Indian steers, $2.50@3.65; bulk of sales, $2.75@3.25; cows and heifers, $2.00@3.00. Hogs—Receipts, 6000; shipments, 100. Market, 10¢ to 15¢ lower. Heavy, $3.80@4.10; med. $3.75; light, $3.75@4.00. Sheep—Receipts, 3200; shipments, 100. Market about steady. Native mutton, $2.75@2.90; stockers, $2.00@2.50; lambs, $3.25@4.50; southwestern sheep, $2.25@3.25.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS. Chicago Grain. Chicago, Sept. 25.—Wheat went up with a whirl and down with a thud today, closing 1-2c lower for December. Shorts were scared by last night's breeze on the curb, but the advance prompted longs, whose realizing resulted in the closing break. The London started on the fact that the breeze saving that Russia was not offering very little wheat, the current shipments being wheat sold some time ago for September and October shipments. A good deal of the strength was left over and the market at the opening was strong and there were a good many orders from the outside brought in by the news of advance, which went out last night. The fact that the northwest deliveries were weak yesterday and less than they were a year ago also tended to strengthen the situation, as did the stronger Liverpool cables. Later there were cables from Liverpool saying that the world's wheat shipments last week were over 3,000,000 bushels, instead of a little over 2,000,000, as announced yesterday, caused the market to weaken. Lucky longs began to realize profits and there was free shorts selling, under which the price went off 1-1/4 from the high point. Corn was very dull, and when relieved from the influence of the early bullishness in wheat it was weak. It opened firm and a shade higher, but demand for feeding cattle has dropped off some in Texas than because of anything in the demand at market to justify it.

Provisions after a narrow fluctuation closed a fraction lower. Pork is 21-2c lower; lard unchanged for October and 21-2c lower for January, and ribs 21-2c higher for October and 21-2c lower for January. Estimates for Thursday—Wheat, 90 cent; corn, 61 cent; oats, 36 cent; hogs, 25,000 head.

Liverpool Grain. Liverpool, Sept. 25.—Wheat—Spot firm; demand poor. No. 2 red winter 4s 10-14; No. 2 red spring, 4s 11-12; No. 1 hard Manitoba, 4s 11-12; No. 1 soft, 4s 11-12. Futures steady, 1-4d lower to 1-4d higher. September, 4s 11d; October, 4s 10-14; November, 4s 11-14; December, 4s 10-14. Corn—Spot firm. American mixed 6d 1-1/2; No. 2, 6d 1-1/2. Futures unchanged to 1-2d higher. September, 3s 6d; October, 3s 3-4d; November, 3s 5d; December, 3s 3-4d; January, 3s 3d; February, 3s 4-1/4d. Flour—Steady. Demand fair, freely supplied. St. Louis fancy winter, 6s 6d.

COTTON. New York, Sept. 25.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 10 to 17 points and closed steady at a net advance of 11 and 13 points. Total sales 352,000 bales. Spot quiet at an advance of 3-1/2c. The early advance was due to unexpectedly strong cables which finally showed an advance of 3-1/2c points on futures, with spot sales of 25,000 bales. Private cables stated that the English advance was largely due to Nell's crop estimate of 7,500,000 bales. Large blocks of long cotton were accumulated on the rise and shorts were forced to cover margin expirations. Liverpool and continental buying orders were executed here on a large scale, and New Orleans and other Southern points also sent heavy buying orders. In the afternoon the market pursued a zig zag course. At one time it became weak under realizing, following the announcement of Houston and Memphis receipts. Later the market strengthened on the report that Nell's report pointed to possibly not more than 7,000,000 bale crop. Intense excitement prevailed throughout the session. Crop accounts continued to have a bullish average, with some of them sensational.

NOT A HUMBAG. An American Watch Sent Post paid, for $1.50 and Guaranteed to Keep Perfect Time.

THREE-FOURTHS ACTUAL SIZE.

Among the events which have marked an era in the perfection of mechanical art, the making of a stem winding watch, warranted to keep as good time as anybody's watch at the price of $1.50, is most prominent. About a year ago the Scientific American devoted a page to a description of the Premium Watch, which it was claimed was a perfect time-piece. At that time it was believed that that almost infallible Journal had been "taken in." The sale and use of 100,000 of these watches during the past year has demonstrated the fact that any claim then made, was founded in fact.

The watch is American make. It has open case so fitted as to exclude dust and moisture. The case is nickel silver and is fitted with chain and charm. It is regular size and short wind. There is nothing fakey or "jakey" about the watch. We will send you one postpaid for $1.50, or watch and Journal 12 months for $2.00; or watch free for three subscribers to the Journal for 12 months. STOCK JOURNAL PUBLISHING CO., Fort Worth, Texas.

$500.00 REWARD. Will be paid for any case of Syphilis, Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture or Blood poisoning which my remedies will cure.
