MEADOW SCHOOL NOTES

"Never mind the weather so the wind don't blow"; but it sure deos b'ow. Last Friday evening, Mr. Henry George, of Gomez, spent the time from the noon hour till recess in the afternoon visiting the Meadow School. While with us, Mr. George made a very pleasant and profitable talk to the little people about the importance of improving their time. Come again, Mr. George, we like interesting visitors and to be admonished to higher ideals.

As they were returning from school last Friday evening, Robley and Verd Way's horse fell with with them, catching both of them and hurting them some, and frightening them fearfully. They had been driving the horse to a single buggy, but he got to running away with them and they decided to both ride him; but now their parents are afraid to trust them on the horse, hence they will be out of school until Mr. Way can get something that he can be sure that they will be safe with. We are sorry to lose these bright little fellows for even a day, not to say for an indefinite length of time.

Thanks, Hookley County News for your kindly expressions. It is absolutely impossible for the Hottentot to express his love for real praise, and even cheap flattery is sweeter to him than honey and the honeycomb. I am, indeed, sorry that I had to miss the pleasure of attending you literary but if my memory serves me alright, the weather was most too inclement for an invalid to be out. But accept my congratulations for the work already done by the Society and my most hearty wishes for its future success.

The Hottentot twisted the heads of about one hundred and twenty-five yearlings for Mr. Long to dehorn last Saturday. It was real sport, but Hottentot is so sure that even now he feels like dem bones wouldn't rise again.

Hottentot was so glad to see so many of the Chatters back in last week's issue. He sometimes thinks that it would be the part of courtesy for him to miss a week, now and then, just to be like the rest of the contributors.

In the northeast part of Terry County and the northwest part of Lynn County, is to be found the most congenial, bright, and sparkling set of young people anywhere in the rural west. There is never a week passes that some of them don't furnish an occasion that is just bubbling over with merriment. Last Saturday night all these youngsters met in the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Robinson and enjoyed themselves until a late hour. The Hottentot spent most of his time in the forty-two games in which he always displays unparalleled skill and dead hard luck. There were amusements to the taste of every one, and pleasure were unconfined.

PRIDE DOTS.

Looking for Halley's Comet.

L. F. Fouts, an astronomer of considerable reputation, gives the following information concerning Halley's comet:

"Now that Halley's comet has changed over from the east side of the sun to the west side and will on April 4th become visible to the naked eye for the first time, we should know at just what point in the sky to look for it. I shall give its position for a few dates.

April 4 Halley's comet will rise fifty minutes ahead of the sun and four degrees and thirty minutes north of the sunrise point, being on this date at the upper edge of the twilight line in the early morning and rising earlier each morning until May 10, when it will rise two hours and twenty minutes ahead of the sun. It will then return toward the sun again, rising later each morning. On May 10 it will set nearly with the sun again, and on May 20 the comet will set one hour after the sun set and one degree south of the sunset point, and on May 30 the comet will set three hours and thirty minutes after the sun sets and eighteen degrees and twenty minutes south of the sunset point. The comet will be visible to the naked eye from April 4 until June, except when too close to the sun at inferior conjunction, May 16 to 20, and will be very bright April 30 to May 30 and will continue visible to the naked eye in the evenings until June 30, 1910. It will grow less bright each evening until it entirely fades away. With our telescopes we shall continue to see it two months later than will the naked eye.

The Llano Estacado or Great American Desert.

When I was a school boy studying geography I have gazed long and with a feeling of awe at the map of Texas showing a vast strip of territory in west Texas and eastern New Mexico called the Llano Estacado or Great American Desert, some times called Great Table Land or Staked Plains.

For many years the public believed that such a desert really existed, but it never did.

In this supposed desert lays a strip of country larger than the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island with New Jersey and Delaware thrown in for good measure.

Of late years this "Great Desert" bugaboo has disappeared from the maps of the geographers and lost where it originated, in the minds of map makers and authors who have never been within a thousand miles of this misrepresented part of the Lone Star State.

But you find instead of the above conditions a vast strip of country over 300 miles wide and 400 miles long that is as fertile and productive as any part of the Union; a strip of country that is being settled up as fast as prospectors can get to it.

New counties are being organized, new towns being built while you wait. Many of the counties, in fact the most of them in this section of the state, now have several thriving towns in them, with more population than the entire county had in the census of 1900. And I believe in a very short time some of the best cities in the state will be on the land once known as the Llano Estacado or Great American Desert.

In addition to being fertile, the water, climate and health conditions are ideal, and the writer of this article predicts that some day not far distant, and I believe I will live to see it, great and prosperous cities will be built on these plains. The population and commerce will demand it. The railroads have realized this and now nearly every great trunk line east of us in this state is either building or making surveys for branches through the plains country, and I am sure that the time is not far distant when this great country will be a perfect net work of railroads.

A Citizen.

The above article was contributed by one of our citizens and is very interesting. The Sentinel would gladly welcome at all times articles in regard to this country. Such as the above coming from the pen of citizens of the county will make an impression on the outside readers. Take up the boosting habit and help bring people to this country. This invitation is to you, and if Gaines county don't receive the proper boosting from the columns of The Sentinel you are as much to blame as anyone, because you have a standing invitation to help in this work.—Seminole Sentinel.

Milo Maize and Hogs.

Milo maize is the surest grain crop that can be raised on the plains of Texas or in semi-arid section of any country, and ten pounds of milo maize are equal to nine pounds of Indian corn in fattening and growing hogs. This is the claim made by Prof.

H. M. Cotfrell of the Colorado Agricultural College. He said "A bushel of milo maize will produce from 10 to 11 pounds of pork, and experienced dry land farmers report that in an average year they can raise 25 to 40 bushels of milo per acre.

"Milo in the head can be fed to hogs when first put on feed. For the final finish. When fattening hogs, the milo should be threshed, the grain placed dry in troughs at the time of feeding, and enough water poured over it so that a small quantity will be left in the trough after the grain is eaten. It is doubtful if it pays to grind milo for hogs.

"Milo has an excess of starch and much larger grains can be made by feeding with it a small quantity of skim milk or green cured, leafy alfalfa hay. From seven to eight pounds of alfalfa hay should be fed with each bushel of milo, or thirty to thirty-five pounds of skim milk.

"Stock men will yield from ten to twenty tons per acre on the plains and stored above ground covered with straw and dirt can be kept through the winter. They will add materially to the grains made when milo is fed."—Anson Enterprise.

One of the largest bunches of cattle to leave this part of the country are being shipped out this week. The bunch represents 3,000 and of this number 3,500 will go forward today. The cattle were sold by Clayton and Johnson and come from their several ranches in this part of the country. Fred Boren and associates of Kansas are the purchasers. They began loading out the first arrivals Sunday and the balance are being loaded today. The cattle will be transported to the ranges of Kansas and later will be corn fed before being placed on the market. It is understood that the sale price of this bunch of cattle reached $225,000.—Lubbock Enterprise.

Saturday, May, 1st.
That is Traders Day in Brownfield.

Don't forget the day. Business is going to pick up in Brownfield that day. Our merchants are going to show the public that this is the place to trade.

Did you ever hear a successful man knock another man? No? It is always the man who is down and out that knocks the other man's business.

Almost every time we leave Terry county, we return better satisfied than ever, when we see the immense quantities of feed shipped into other towns, and our farmers shipping it out. Why man, outside folks acknowledge that Terry is a lucky one-as they put it.

Big Cattle Deal

The largest cattle deal that has been made in this part of the country for some time was recently closed. Mr. Luther Steel of Grooms, Gray county, bought 3000, four year old steers from Clarence Schaubaug & Co. of the "Five Wells" ranch, in Gaines county, at $39. round, making a total of $117,000. Mr. Schaubaug passed by Brownfield Tuesday with 1750 of the cattle, and will deliver them in Spade pasture. He will deliver 1250 about the 23rd of this month.

A Trades Day At Last

The business men met in the District Court room Thursday afternoon for the purpose of discussing a trade day for Brownfield. A. J. Stricklin was elected temporary chairman, and Will Alf Bell Sec'y. The organization was later made permanent. Interesting and profitable talks were made, as to the value of such a day, after which ways and means for such an occasion was discussed by several. After agreeing on the first Saturday in each month as the best day, the chair appointed a program committee consisting of Geo. DeShazo, Dook Powell and J. F. Winston, a committee, we believe, will give you a program worth coming miles to see. The program will be published next week. Let all pull hard for the success of this enterprise, as we will all be benefited by it, socially and commercially.

A Pitiful Specimen.

Byers Herald: Not long ago we heard a man say: "I hate children; they worry the life out of me. I wish I could go to a country where there was not a living squalling brat within one thousand miles." Keep up the idea, old man, and you will finally reach a country where there will be no little pattering feet, no maddlesome little hands, no outbursts of baby laughter to annoy you. It's called hell on the map, and it's the very place where you are going to land.

The most successful merchants are the most liberal users of printers ink. Take Jno. Wannamaker of Philadelphia; Stuart, the Merchant Prince, of New York. Siegel, Copper of Chicago; Sanger, A. Harris and Titche Goettinger, of Dallas, Washer, Strippling and Burton Peel, of Fort Worth, and a little closer home if you please, and you will observe the most liberal advertisers occupying the largest floor space and doing the largest business. Did you ever think of that?—Runnels Co. Ledger.

Mrs. W. N. Copeland was hostess to M. & M. Club last Saturday afternoon, March, 26th. Roll call was answered with quotations from some of the very early poems of Longfellow. Business was dispatched by the president, Mrs. W. R. Spencer, after which the study of Longfellow's "Rain in Summer" was taken up with Mrs. W. A. Bell as leader. Many beautiful points were brought out by the teacher who was thoroughly at home with the subject. Mrs. Bell gave a highly entertaining talk on Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Misses Cooper and Harris each gave beautiful readings.

The hostess, assisted by her charming daughter, Miss Irene, served appetizing refreshments, and altogether this was a most helpful and enjoyable meeting. The Club will meet on Saturday afternoon April 7th, with Mrs. Claude Criswell.

You might console yourself some Hottentot by dropping out once in awhile, but you would greatly inconvenience the editor as you have been so regular heretofore that we have begun to regard your communication a fixture—an essential part of the Herald—and plan our paper accordingly. So please don't shy.

Thank you, Jay Bird, for your kindly invitation to visit you again. You kindly spoilt me last Sunday with attention and grub, and Needmore people need not be surprised if I bother them considerably in the future.

Old Timer you almost tempt me to quit running a paper and join the wolf hunter. If there is anything I enjoy better than hunting, it is more hunting.

While I claim no relation with "geni badger!" Sand Laper, our taste for chicken is almost identical, save that "ye ed" like them cooked. So you see I am more a Methodist preacher. But don't tell the preachers because of the double fact that I don't want them to know I that claim kin with them and also I want to keep them in ignorance about them chickens.

How to Live Cheaper.

If the people of Texas would raise more wheat, more hogs, more turkeys, more chickens, more cattle, more sweet potatoes, more Irish potatoes, more vegetables, more fruit, more oats, cane and alfalfa, they would have more money and not such a kick coming. That the meat trust is exacting fearful toll for acting as your butcher is an established fact, but what if there were in each county in the state a small packing house, just large enough to take care of the local trade? As it is the railroads haul livestock to the packing houses and then haul the finished product back again. Suppose this freight money did not have to be paid. Small packing houses are operated in some parts of the state and they are said to be paying propositions. If the freight charges alone could be taken from the cost of meat, the price would be materially reduced. #### No Water on Mars.

"The astronomers who thought they discovered large quantity of water vapor on Mars were wrong. What they saw was not water vapor in the atmosphere of the planet, but water vapor over the point in the earth's atmosphere from which they made their observations.

The existence of solar caps seems to be evidence of water on the planet, but the polar caps behave as would crystals of carbon dioxide. Carbon dioxide is the last remnant of an ancient atmosphere. It is the heaviest component part of an atmosphere, and would persist the longest. Perhaps the other ingredient escaped into outer space.

The fact clouds are perhaps never seen at the melting edge of the polar caps militates against holding that they consist of ice and snow as we know them.

The so-called canals and other markings I do not consider as evidence of man's work. No doubt the changes in the details of the markings on the planet's surface, from time to time, appear in connection with the changes of the seasons perhaps is due to the ordinary changes in vegetation. An observer outside the Earth looking down would see the great seasonal changes—the springing of the grass the leafing out of the trees in the forest, the ripening of the grain, the falling of the leaves in the autumn—quite as well before the advent of man as after."—Interview with Director Campbell, of the Lick Observatory by Floyd McKinney in April Pacific Monthly.

The court of Criminal Appeals has just handed down a decision in the case of the three negroes convicted in Jones county district court on the charge of murdering a Mexican in that county about a year ago. Two of the negroes were given practically a life sentence while a third, Bill Milo, was given the death penalty and will be legally hanged in a few weeks at most. The two negroes who got life sentences are: Wiley Bass and Anthony Bass. This will likely be the first legal hanging in Jones county since its organization.—Abilene News.

Some boys do not earn $20 a year, yet they can afford to smoke cigarets and to use tobacco in other forms. Little boys should think it over seriously before commencing to use tobacco. Boys who do not use the weed or loaf continuously on the streets are much better models to follow. No boy should wish to pattern after a profane, foulmouthed, street loafer.—Ex.

A Chicago woman sat up till 1 o'clock the other night waiting for her husband to come home from the lodge. At last, weary and worn out with vigil, she went upstairs to retire, only to find her husband in bed fast asleep. Instead of going down, he had stolen up stairs and crawled into bed, which made his wife so mad she didn't speak to him for a week.—X.

When a newspaper man argues till he's black in the face about the evils of saloons and fires hot prohibition argument through his columns at frequent intervals it's about time for him to discontinue acting as agent for the saloons by carrying whiskey ads in his columns. Especially so if the territory in which the paper is published has adopted prohibition. Every intelligent newspaper man knows that a saloon ad in his paper will help to sell whiskey, and thus by carrying it he allows his paper to become a solicitor in dry territory.—Stan-ton Reporter
