Only a little more than two weeks until the general election.

J. F. Dennis was one of the good men who renewed for the Eagle this week.

J. C. Nichols of Caradan was here the first of the week and had his subscription date set forward.

The tax collector's books have been open since October 1, but that department reports very light collections.

Rev. C. M. Head was here from the Caradan country Tuesday and left a sample of his Rowden coat at the Eagle office. There are as fine and large bolls of cotton as we have ever seen and Mr. Head states his crop will yield a half bale or better this season, which is exceptionally good. He also dropped a dollar in the old Bird's claw while in the city.

The plan of the Saint Louis bankers to assist the cotton farmers of the South is a further indication of the nation-wide interest which is being manifested in the problems of the men who follow the plow. The movement is not intended as a plan for purchasing cotton, but is designed rather to make available a fund of $150,000,000 to loan on cotton that not to exceed six cents per pound for the purpose of making cotton a liquid asset, stabilizing its price and bringing about normal conditions again. It has been said that it takes great calamities to develop our friends and the present crisis is proof positive that the farmer has friends in every line of industry who are willing to share his misfortunes and lighten his burdens. Strong men are strong only as they cooperate with other men, and the spirit of friendliness on the part of business men towards the farmer augurs well for the future of the agricultural interests of the nation.—Commercial Secretaries.

DIVERSIFIED FARMING

A Way Out For The Farmer Who Will Raise Hogs

Mr. C. C. French, secretary of the Southwestern Boys' and Girls' Hog Clubs, and a member of the advisory board of the Texas Industrial Congress, is earnestly urging the farmers who intend to reduce their cotton acreage next year to cultivate forage crops with which to fatten hogs for the market. In a letter to the Congress, Mr. French says:

"I have read with much interest of the efforts that are being made to reduce the cotton acreage, but so far nothing has been done to show the farmer what he can substitute profitably for cotton, or how to procure livestock for feeding purposes. The situation reminds me of a story I once read: 'Once upon a time,' the story goes, 'the King of France decided to declare war on Italy, and called upon his generals and engineers for plans to get the army into Italy. When the plans were completed, the King said 'Now we will declare war.' Then the King's fool said 'Your Majesty, your plans for getting your army into Italy are all right, but where are your plans for getting your army out of Italy?' Then the King threw a chair at the fool, but war was not declared."

So the cotton farmer must have plans for a "way out," if he goes into the scheme of reducing the cotton acreage, and planting other crops. If a cotton growing community wants to secure milk cows, let it form an organization and adopt the Moser Dairy plan as outlined by the Texas Industrial Congress; if it wants brood sows, let them follow the example of San Angelo and Pecos. These two communities called a meeting of their Chambers of Commerce and business men, and a finance committee was formed; then every farmer who wanted one or more sows was invited to sign up for the number he wanted. The finance committee passed on each man's ability to handle the number of sows he ordered, and his ability to meet his obligations. Then a car of sows was bought and paid for by the finance committee; the hogs were dipped and inoculated to prevent them from taking cholera. They were sold at the market price for meat hogs, with cost of dipping, vaccinating and freight and charges.

"I am glad to say that the Fort Worth Stock Yards and its allied interests have made arrangements by which communities that get together like Fort Stockton, Pecos, San Angelo and other points and act in conjunction with their Chambers of Commerce and banks can be supplied with high grade or registered hogs, which will be sent out properly immunized against cholera, under supervision of the State Sanitary Board.

BUSINESS CHANGE

A. D. Baker, late of Big Valley, has purchased the interest of J. S. Sealy in the grocery business of Allen & Sealy and the business will hereafter be conducted by Mr. Baker and J. H. Allen, Jr., under the firm name of Allen & Baker. The change in the firm will cause no change in the policy of the business and it will continue as heretofore at the same stand. Mr. Sealy will devote his time to his farming interests for the present, although he has made no announcement of his plans for the future.

Mr. Baker is not a stranger to the people of Goldthwaite and Mills county. He was a citizen of this town a good many years ago and later moved to Big Valley, where he was engaged in the mercantile business. He is a conservative and trained business man and he and his business partner, Mr. Allen, will make a strong firm and will be sure to receive a liberal share of the public patronage.

COTTON MILL PROPOSED

A Meeting Called to Discuss the Cotton Situation

The farmers of Mount Olive district called a meeting to be held Oct. 9, 1914, to discuss the present cotton conditions and to see about diversifying their crops for another year, after which they decided to adopt the following resolutions and to call upon every community to call the farmers together Friday night, Oct. 23, 1914, and pass upon the resolutions and also send delegates to meet in Goldthwaite Oct. 29, 1914, at 1 o'clock.

Resolutions

(a) We, the citizens of Mt. Olive district in Mills county, pledge ourselves not to plant more than 20 acres of cotton the year 1915.

(b) We further pledge ourselves to take stock to the amount of one bale of cotton valued at 10 cents per pound on middling basis for establishing a cotton mill in Mills county. We believe that the time has come when the farmers must take this question into consideration, and we ask the co-operation of every community and individual to use his influence in this work. We have some few cotton mills in Texas. Why not have one in Mills county? Signed,

J. H. ALLDREDGE, President.
D. W. HUCKABEE, Secretary.

MAKING GOOD

The Eagle is informed that L. E. Booker, our popular district clerk expects to go to some point in Louisiana as soon as his term of office expires to take the presidency of a business college. He is a business man of experience, has a knowledge of commercial law and practice as well as official duties and this general information will be of benefit to him in his new line of work. He will not move his family from here until he gets his business affairs fully arranged.

J. C. Mason was one of the prosperous young farmers of Center City community who had business in the metropolis Saturday. He called and had his name entered as a regular reader of the Eagle.

P. W. Bolton was here from Mullin and informed us he was arranging to move to Kerrville, where he has bought property. He is a good, valuable citizen and Mill's county regrets to lose him.

D. S. Smith was a visitor to the Waco country last Saturday and reports conditions there about the same as here, or perhaps not so good and the farmers are discussing the reduction of cotton acreage for next year.

B. P. and Mason Goode, two of the prosperous young farmers of Star community were transacting business in this city Saturday and made the Eagle a pleasant call. These young men lived in Goldthwaite for some time and have a great many friends at this place.

L. A. Ford and family, formerly of this county and later of Cupertino, Cal., spent some days with relatives in the Caradan community and left Wednesday for their new home at Big Springs. Mr. Ford was a pleasant caller Tuesday and renewed his own subscription and that of his brother, W. K. Ford, of Cupertino.

The many good men who have renewed for the Eagle this season give us the assurance that our work is appreciated and make us know that the people of this section will meet their obligations whenever possible and it is generally possible with Mills county people. We are determined to use our utmost endeavor to make the paper valuable to the people of every community, for we want them to know of our hearty appreciation of their loyalty and patronage.

The buy-a-bale plan has not given complete relief in the cotton situation, but it has been of vast benefit in holding the price up.

When the farmers have fully determined to reduce their cotton acreage and diversify their crops next year it will be necessary for them to find some other more profitable crop to be grown. Every commercial organization and individual business man should give all the assistance possible in this matter, for all are vitally interested in the success of the farmers, whether it be in the growing of cotton, corn, small grain or any other crops.

A decision was rendered by the court of civil appeals this week dismissing the appeal of W. P. Lane in his contest of the nomination of Jeff McLemore for congressman-at-large. The higher court stated that it had no jurisdiction in the case and hence could not pass on the questions involved. This will have to close the case, for the election tickets will be printed in the next few days and Mr. McLemore's name will appear as the party nominee for the position.

We hear of some farmers who are building cotton houses on the farm and will store the cotton in the seed and hold it for better prices. This is a good move. Cotton held in a dry place in the seed improves in sample and turnout, and adds something to its value as well as to keep definitely. There is no danger of cotton in the seed rotting as long as it is kept dry.—Mikeola Monitor.

The Black forest of Germany is the traditional home of nearly all the toys that delight children. The most humble surroundings giving their lives to the pleasures of childhood. Whole families are engaged in toy making. Even the children help. It is the traditional occupation of the people of this old German district. The art has been handed down from father to son for generations. No Nation can compete with the Germans and the Austrians in the manufacture of jointed and bisque dolls. Toy soldiers, too, are made in Germany and Austria—their makers have gone a soldiering in earnest now and the toy factories are idle.—Tyler Courier.

The announcement has been made that the San Angelo weekly Sun will appear Sunday morning and its first issue is looked forward to with interest. The new paper is to be published by Messrs. D. K. Doyle and J. W. Williams. The Eagle knows Mr. Doyle, hence has a friendly interest in the Sun and hopes for it a prosperous business. Mr. Doyle was engaged in the newspaper work at Belton for some time and later was special staff writer for the Temple Telegram and in that capacity recently made a tour of western Texas, writing up the towns. He is a good writer, a trained newspaper man and "mixer" with the people, all of which will be beneficial to him in his business and help to make the Sun a shining success.

A number of farmers appeared before the legislative committee this week and asked that a law be passed forcing a reduction of the cotton acreage in this state. The present price of the staple will have the effect of forcing a reduction of the crop next year, no matter what the state legislature and federal congress do about it. Every pound of cotton grown by the farmers this year represents a loss and they will not likely continue to grow a crop that not only gives them no return for their labor, but actually causes a financial loss. As to the advisability or constitutionality of a law forcing the reduction of the cotton crop there is a diversity of opinion, but it would undoubtedly be unjust to forbid farmers raising cotton and it is safe to say that no such law will ever be enforced.

RULES FOR BLUES

In years gone by I lived where there were many colored folks. They were black people. Just now I am among quite a number of blue people. If one should entertain all the grunts and complaints which he hears he would become too blue for any use. Business progress is much retarded. Financial conditions have become almost alarmingly close. All of us realize that something is wrong. Really the world has been wrong ever since Adam and Eve behaved so badly. Each of us is a part of the world and may help or hurt conditions as we choose.

I am giving here some rules which if followed up will be of great value. There is no charge for these rules and if they are not followed out it will be out of pure old meanness.

The thing which makes the times so dissatisfying is the indebtedness or financial obligations of the people. Everybody either owes somebody else, or somebody else owes him. I hardly know which is the worst condition in these times, to owe some other fellow or have the other fellow owe you. When both conditions meet in one person it is quite a complex problem.

First, none of us will do right in our relation to our courses of reasoning, until we consider ourselves in the other fellow's place. Put yourself over where he is and look there awhile. Some can easily do this but most of us have not yet learned the art.

Then the next great help is to never treat your obligations with indifference. Never shun the man you owe. There is no viable way whatever to settle with a creditor at the agreed time never get grouchy and seem to avoid conversing about the matter. Don't wait until time is up for settlement to talk it over with your creditor if there is any probability of failing to settle promptly.

I have never known anything hurt by one person of great honor and integrity owing another person of honor and integrity. I have known a few cases where such character have been drawn closer together by earnestly talking together over their cases and plans. The pulsation of fellow-feeling were much warmer ever after.

I know a man who a few days ago went to see a private individual to whom he owed a sum of money. The visiting man said I have come to see when my note is due. I know it is some time yet but have forgotten the date. I want to see how much I owe and who comes first. The business file was examined and announcement made about the amount and maturity of the note. The visitor stated that he didn't know yet just how he could meet the note but said he meant to do all he could. The creditor looked up and said if you prefer I will carry it another year. It is not certain if the visitor had waited until the last moment and gone unprepared he would have received this kind of offer. Disappointment unlooked for hurts confidence. This world is needing friendship and fellow-sympathy far more than it needs money.

I have in mind a little man who has been kept poor for all these years. He has had many misfortunes of sickness in his family. He is really poor and homeless but he can get all the help from his neighbors that he asks for. He hasn't been able to pay all his debts for years but he manifests interest in all he owes. He has no time to take in all the picnics and I think that he has never been to a picture show. Each Sunday though with tired joints from the week's toil he goes to church and Sunday school.

Some can get favors on the ground of their financial ability, while others get them on the ground of personal character. The latter is the best collateral. Any one can possess honor and treat his fellow-man right.

When you go to see the man you owe, if it is possible pay him something. It will help you and him too. "Help somebody to-day" is the slogan of a happy life.

If these rules are followed out by all it will wonderfully help the appetite of Mr. Blue.

And there is occasionally a Mr. Blue. Something like this treatment will help her also. So note it be. SAM SAY.

When a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box. They gave me so much relief that I got a second box. This completed the cure, and I have not been troubled since. I always praise Doan's Kidney Pills when I have an opportunity, and you may continue to publish my endorsement."

TREAT ME RIGHT.

Those who are indebted to me should pay me at least a part of what they owe, for I need the money and need it badly. Some who are indebted to me individually and to Dr. Townsend and myself jointly have sold oats and now have the money with which they should pay at least a part of the accounts. I have had sickness and other expense which makes it absolutely necessary that I secure some of the money due me right away. Don't overlook or forget this—I served you when you needed such service and now I am entitled to payment. Think right and act promptly.

NO ALUM in Dr. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

Mrs. L. B. Walter visited in Mulina a part of this week.

Revs. Pierce, Foster, Meyers and Smith will leave the first of next week for Austin to attend the Methodist annual conference, submit their report, and receive appointment for their next year's work.

The European war seems no nearer a conclusion now than it was the first day of hostilities. The nations involved are planning for a war to continue for many months and already announcements are being made of plans for next summer's campaign.

Various rumors have been started regarding President Wilson's continued efforts to bring to a close the hostilities in Europe, but he announces that he has made no peace representations to the nations involved in war since his first note offering his services in negotiating terms of peace.

Andrew Hendricks, a young man who was employed to pick cotton on Mrs. J. R. Rives' farm north of town, died of peritonitis Thursday morning, after an illness of a few days. The young man was 16 years of age and came here with a companion a few days ago from Refugio county in search of cotton picking. His parents lived in Refugio county, but moved to some point in Arkansas this week. His remains were shipped to Treskwood in Arkansas Thursday night, by order of his parents.

The worries don't get themselves anything, except more worries. However much we may lament the war in Europe, we can't stop it. Therefore let us save all our cotton, all our corn, all our hay, all our chips and whetstones. Some time, and before a great while, all our crops will be in demand at fair prices. Until that day our office is to wait and be of good cheer. We have the finest weather in the world. Our health is good. We are not on the brink of starvation. There is work in the cotton fields for all idle men. Instead of being in a bad way we are in a good way. Instead of groaning we should rejoice audibly. Meanwhile, let us provide ourselves with winter wood and prepare cheerfully to stand the siege—if that is what we want to call it.—Dallas News.

The peace treaties this country has entered into bind 980,000,000 people to peace, so far as the United States is concerned. This number includes most of the world's civilized population. So that should a dispute arise between this nation and any other, the matter will be referred to a tribunal made up of delegates from other nations, and that tribunal shall have a year in which to examine and report. During that year the excitement is expected to cool and a solution be reached. As a general thing arguments do not decide an issue. That is attended to by events, and during a year many of these happen that reflect upon the issue. It is hoped that the rest of those 980,000,000 people will go into agreements of this kind. It will establish the world's peace. In the present European tumult the treaty, so far as this country is concerned will act like a charm. Should a question arise, we would wait a year before the slaughter began. In that time we could get cool, and become impressed by the horrors of war. So we can go on with our business and other earthly affairs feeling sure that no bloody war will intervene to obstruct or disperse our purpose.—Ohio State Journal.

STAR.

Editor Eagle:—

The cool, bracing northern that has been blowing the last few days, has livened up the Star people considerably, and, although the low price of cotton is rather discouraging, our people are looking forward to better times and LESS COTTON, MORE HOME GROWN FOOD. When we learn to grow for our own need, rather than the foreign people and abolish credit to a great extent, then and then only can we expect to be prosperous and contented as we desire to be. Where there is a will there is a way.

The young people enjoyed singing at the hospitable home of Mrs. T. J. Hamilton, last Sunday night.

The Woodmen met in regular session last Saturday night and had a great time. A good supper had been prepared and the Sovereigns enjoyed it to the limit. Some good music was rendered by Messrs. Will Gent, D. Slaughter, Orville Moore and Webb Wright.

Messrs. Henry Morris and son, Howard, accompanied by his father, Dave Morris, and Cyrus Field, made a trip to Goldthwaite in his touring car last Saturday.

A. E. Garrett had business in Goldthwaite last week.

Sam Morris is having his new residence painted and it is a dandy. It is being painted white.

Frank Mills made a trip to Goldthwaite last week.

H. C. Springer, has lately added very much to the appearance of his place by painting his yard fence.

Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Hamilton and family visited in Center City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Hawkins visited relatives at McGirk Sunday.

Prof. W. A. Jeter, our good and genial high school principal, has purchased half interest in the drug business here, he having bought Mr. Phave's share. The firm name is now Hawkins & Jeter. We wish the new firm the same success and prosperity the store has been accorded in times past.

Mr. G. D. Burney and other relatives in Star received the news of the death of his niece Miss Carlisle Bryan formerly of Goldthwaite and at the time of her death at Sweetwater. Her grief-stricken relatives have the sincere sympathy of their friends.

Mr. Editor, there is lots of news here, but I haven't time to locate it. Will try to get more for next time.

COTTON RECEIPTS

There has been an increase in the receipt of cotton at this place during the past week, but the price has continued low.

At the public yard the season's receipts, up to yesterday afternoon, were 3554, and on the same date last year the receipts were 1979. At the Farmers Union yard the receipts were 2375 against 2467 up to the same date last year.

DISTRICT COURT

Several Judgments Rendered—Two Cases Tried By Jury

District court has been in session all week, but very little business of general interest has been transacted. Several judgments were entered by the court in tax suits and similar cases where no jury was required. Only two jury cases have been tried. The first was that of Dr. L. L. vs. Mills county and he was given a judgment for $796.25. The other case was the Joint write National Bank v. Harper & Egger, which was submitted to the jury Thursday afternoon and was still being considered at the time the Eagle was put to press.

All of the jurors for the term were dismissed Tuesday afternoon except those engaged on the last named case. The court will be in session next week but there are no important cases to be tried.

OUR MOTHER

To the memory of Mrs. B. R. Brown, who died Aug. 30th, 1914. How vain to say: "The sun is bright." Or yet to say: "The lily's white." Only, the saying tells our joy To others, that without alloy, God made these things that we may know Some heavenly beauties here below.

So God made mothers, such as she, That we may know what angels be. Mothers to dwell a while below. That we through joy and grief may know The powers of love, and life, and death When we of mothers are bereft.

Our mother knew them all full well, But never did we hear her tell Of all her griefs, she kept them hid For ears of only Him who did On Calvary's cross, wash all away The tears that we may shed to-day.

Trustingly, humbly walked she forth To daily tasks, We judge her worth By naught that shines forth, as the sun. Only her duty nobly done! Which made her as that little child Whom Jesus loved. Both meek and mild.

As lived she, so she died, with trust That God would keep his promise—must.

To such as she in yonder world Are diadems all set with pearls. One for each tear shed here below For our, or others' sin or woe.

To meet again her loved ones there Where never sorrow, never care Can come; but to her dearest joys. The while she waits, the girls and boys She left below, 'Twill not be long When we must hush our laugh and song.

So be it! We should all be glad (Tho' empty seems the home and sad)

That she should suffer never more But rest on yonder peaceful shore. Her work is done, but sons of men Need mothers, such as ours; has been.

BERTA DUNN BROWN, Houston, Texas.

The Art Embroidery club met for the first session of the year with Mr. J. M. Arnold on Wednesday, Oct. 7th. The club received 3 new members at this meeting. They were, Medames Wallace, Geeslin and Porter.

After the business session the hostess, assisted by Mrs. L. R. Conroy, passed delicious ice cream and cake. Madames Harris and Ebers and Miss Lawrence Thompson were guests.

The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Floyd Mullan Wednesday, Oct. 21.

WANTS SETTLEMENT

I desire to pay to my friends and patrons, that I have a heavy obligation to meet within the next few days, and that I very much desire to spend a few weeks this winter doing Post Graduate and special work on Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, and to be successful in these undertakings, I am compelled to ask that you make some sacrifice and extra effort, if necessary to assist me by calling promptly and taking up accounts.

Thanking you for the above and past favors, I am respectfully yours,
L. P. McCrary, M. D.

HELP THE FARMER

Buy a Bale of 10c Cotton and Hold It. This will Help Keep the Price Up. Feed Cotton Seed Meal and Hulls to your Stock. Use Cotton Seed Oil Instead of Lard. Wear Cotton Goods.

There will be no trouble for the farmers to exchange their cotton seed for meal and hulls at the nearest oil mill. All the feed value that there is in cotton seed is the meal and hulls. If the oil mills will give the farmers all the meal out of a ton of cotton seed, which is 750 pounds, and all the hulls, which is 850 pounds, it would represent all the feed value, and could be better proportioned than feeding cotton seed, but most oil mills are offering to give 800 pounds of meal and 2,000 pounds of hulls. There is practically twice as much feeding value in this 800 pounds of meal and 2,000 pounds of hulls as there is in a ton of cotton seed. If the hulls are not wanted, 1,100 or 1,200 pounds of meal should be obtainable for a ton of cotton seed. By making these exchanges, it will enable the oil mills to dispose of their products, for which there is practically no demand at present, and enable them to pay the farmers more for the cotton seed.

Refined Edible Cotton Seed Oil will go as far and serve every purpose, and is much cheaper than lard. If your merchants do not handle cotton seed oil, take up with the oil mill nearest you, who will no doubt take pleasure in securing it for you, as they are as much interested as the farmers in furnishing a market for this product of cotton seed, and will help to enable them to pay top prices for seed.

If the farmers of the South do not help themselves by using the products of cotton and cotton seed, can they reasonably expect others to do so?

You Have to Have Feed for Your Stock . . .
---USE YOUR OWN PRODUCTS
You Have to Wear Clothes . . .
---USE YOUR OWN PRODUCTS
You Have to Eat . . .
---USE YOUR OWN PRODUCTS

Any Gin Man would be glad to lay in a Stock of Cotton Seed Products and be prepared to make exchanges for seed, and the farmers should encourage them in doing so. Cotton Seed, if held, will deteriorate, while Meal and Hulls will not.

THE UNITED STATES CREAM SEPARATOR

Almost Impossible to Wear One Out

Its gears and bearings are made of high-grade phosphor bronze, steel and iron—the kind that lasts for years.

All the gears are of medium size. Even the pinion gears are fully two inches in diameter. Consequently they make less than half as many revolutions and are subject to about one-third the wear of the one inch pinion gears in other separators.

Its gears and bearings are entirely enclosed. Dirt, dust and grit cannot get at them to grind them out.

Enclosed parts are more thoroughly oiled. U. S. Separator gears and bearings run continuously in a spray of fresh oil, automatically supplied. (Note spray in picture.)

The bowl parts are of tough rustless Nickel Silver. They wear longer and the bowl does not get out of balance as with light tinned steel devices.

We have these U. S. Separators on our floor where you can examine them and see for yourself.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere. At times, I would have severe pain on my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its helping me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

The incessant talk about the low price of cotton and the indebtedness of the people would give one the idea that the country is in a desperate condition, when in reality such is not the case. True there would be much more money in the country if cotton brought a better price, but even now there are mighty few people in Mills county who can not meet their obligations. The feed crop was good and there will be no necessity for buying feed during the coming winter and many farmers have sufficient feed for their teams for another year. Cotton is not the entire dependence in this county anyway. We have the stock interests, the poultry, pecans and other things to bring money, therefore, there is no reason for believing the country has gone to 'he bad simply because the price of cotton is lower than it was last year.

MULLIN
Editor Eagle:
As you are good at getting around, smiling and keeping things going peaceably, I will ask you if my random thoughts need any apologies you make them and let the writer be relieved of the trouble that he may swing clear to gather his thoughts as though the field was clear and no apologies needed.

As wars and rumors of wars are in full blaze, world wide, with no prospect in sight for anything else but fight, our minds naturally drift that way, but as so much I being said of the buy-a-bale plan and other methods of relieving the present financial situation I will endeavor to unload my little mind by expressing or giving preference to thoughts that more directly interest the majority of your readers. When we pull ourselves together to devise plans by which we can become beneficiaries to our fellow man, it involves self denial, sacrifice of time and means, and sometimes great risk as we undertake to reach across the chasm to take the drowning man by the hand to help him to shore.

After studying the buy-a-bale plan one is ready to believe it comes nearer covering the ground than any other we have heard proposed; hence it is to this plan we want to tip our hat and extend our endorsement in recognition of the fact that it is bringing the masses together in the accomplishment of one great end "Do unto others as you would have them do to you." We are aware of the fact that we are largely creatures of imitation, and as the boy said "Love to be in the swim" yet we believe that thousands of dollars are going into the buy-a-bale plan with a real sense of honor and willingness to prove to the world that we believe in the brotherhood of man and that our hearts are touched with sympathy for those whom we can help. While we may take some risk, make some sacrifice, yet we know from past experience and observation that acts of this kind going out in love and best wishes for the welfare of mankind will pay large dividend on the amounts invested and we are drawn closer together in the walks of life. Then we will say "all hail" to the man or woman who can spare $50.00 for 12 months who cheerfully put it into a bale of cotton and followed it up with best wishes for those whom it will benefit. Thousands of noble men and women, promising boys and girls are bending their backs to the burning rays of a southern sun, filling cotton sacks and with no assurance of getting anything like cost of production except as they get it through the generosity of those who are not buying only bales but hundreds and thousands of bales, when they cannot get within 2 1/2 to 4 cent per pound of what they are paying and no assurance of any better price twelve months hence. If all the enterprises in the South and west that made money when cotton brought better prices would come down to hog and hominy living for twelve months with the hard fisted yeomanry of the country, lessening interest and profit, wherever it can be done and extending a word of cheer and good will to those who are struggling for a more comfortable existence, all lives would be made better and we would be drawn closer together, closer to our country's needs and closer to God.

While the farmers are facing the yet unsolved problems, the new paper men undertake to get a front seat with flaming headlines of how they should be solved and yet we have failed to see where a single one has proposed to discount the price of his paper 1 cent. The doctors charge their usual fee of $1.00 per mile and $2.00 a visit, the druggists close their eyes as they reluctantly put on the usual high price cotton profits, the gin man buys wood, hires labor at the same old price, has forgotten to lessen the price of ginning, the bankers have had their conventions and other expensive gatherings, to devise means by which the problem might be solved, yet the rate of interest charged run from 10 per cent up, their surplus fund and undivided profit growing, while nowhere do we find them proposing to charge a less rate of interest than they have been charging, which has enabled them to increase their capital stocks build fine places in which to do business, and whose success has put the rest of the world under their thumbs so much, that a money panic can be brought on at the drop of their hat. The money lenders outside of banks are in the same class eating their conscience with the excuse that custom furnishes excuse for demanding usury and while in Rome we must do as Rome does, so they pull their neighbors for the highest rate of interest the same as if cotton was on a boom and the cotton raisers children well booked, well clothed, well fed and in good schools. The County, State and National officers fees are the same with a constant clamor along the line for a raise and the taxes being raised to accommodate their demands, so we see there is not that universal desire and determination to right things as there should be.

We have not referred to such matters to array one faction against another, but to build a concrete foundation on which to place our largest gun which we will turn upon the farmer (one of whom I am) and let fly with the same end in view we have had in speaking of others; for we are no less guilty. Instead of being in the lead setting pace for others to follow, proving ourselves superior beings instead of inferior and living on the fat of the land, we have built our own traps and deadfalls and have no right to be crying "Go there!" but like men should acknowledge our ignorance, unthoughtfulness, and in many instances don't care ativeness, faultfinding and start out to show to the world that we fully realize that the great need of the times are more organized, more determined to succeed, diversifying, reading, get up and do farmers who need to grow and find fault of others less, quit depending on others to think for us, keeping our heads out of halters to be lead instead of leading, quit crying graft and then putting ourselves in the hands of the grafters, quit being suspicious of each other, afraid to cooperate. In plain English lets be men from a true sense of all that manhood means and not expect to get there by being little and toadying to little undermining things, but make a clean breast with a vim and determination that will bring things to pass, put us on our feet, that will shake this old universe with our mighty tread toward honesty, elimination of unfairness along all lines, be men among men, loyal to God and country, with the very highest visions of real manhood and aspirations to mount the band wagon and prove to the world we are equal to the occasion. With these as our motto, lived up to, will put us where we belong, settle disturbances, dissatisfaction, throttle war bring peace and happiness to all and amply repay all the good people who are buying a bale or bales of cotton to help us take the right place on the stage of action. So mote it be.

HOG RAISERS ASSISTED

To the Farmers of Mills County:—
The office at College Station desires to secure a statement covering the number of hogs in Mills county, and also information relative to amount of hog cholera, if any, which prevailed during the past season.

The Bureau of Animal Industry, of the National Government has recently sent Dr. W. H. P. Lampe, an expert in the treatment of hog cholera, to Texas to work in cooperation with the Extension Department of the A. & M. College; and his services will be available in connection with the Veterinary Department of the College and local agents.

Dr. Lampe desires to have the above information for his use in planning for some systematic work the coming season.

He expects to organize with assistance from the local agent, a Swine Breeders' Co-operative & Protective Association, where a sufficient number of progressive swine breeders live.

I shall be glad to communicate with any one who feels an interest in this matter. Yours very truly,

O. H. ROBBINS, Special Agent.
