FAULKNER AT POINT OF DEATH; NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE; SON GIVES BOND

Tom Faulkner, for many years a resident of the Rock Springs community, but who now lives in the western portion of this city, at the point of death, it is reported, to a crushed skull. Doctors who have examined him state that there is very little if any chance for his recovery. The wound was inflicted at about 10 o'clock Thursday night at the home of Mrs. M. E. Faulkner. Father Faulkner, his son, gave a bond of $1,000 Friday afternoon to appear at the examining trial on March 7th in connection with the case. He has retained the law firm of Bowman & Preece as his attorneys. A family dispute of some importance is reported to have culminated in the above result.

SATURDAY—Doctors Williamson and Campbell performed an operation on Tom Faulkner at 10 o'clock Friday night in an effort to save his life and some reaction was noted, but Mr. Faulkner died this morning between 6 and 8 o'clock from Thursday night until the time of the operation.

THE GOLDTHWAITE-MULLIN ROAD TO BE WORKED SOON

County Road Supervisor Hamilton was in Goldthwaite Wednesday attending the session of the commissioners' court.

Mr. Hamilton, with a crew of ten men, two graders and eight mules, is now working on the Comanche-Mullin road, having started from the Comanche county line and worked toward Mullin. The road is expected to be finished this week.

Next week, if present plans are carried out, he will start from Mullin and work the Goldthwaite-Mullin road. After that, the Center City-Goldthwaite road will probably be worked. Mr. Hamilton is putting the roads he works in first-class condition as he goes.

Mr. Hamilton says he mostly uses mules for the plow, using the two power graders, one of which he keeps busy all the time, for grading purposes. He says the mules are always ready to start in the morning, and never develop carburetor trouble.

G-reat "spirit father" of our land

O-help us keep to freedom's way,
R-ight-not Might-rule us to-day!
G-rant that menace, the Bolshevik
E-ven now is growing weak.

W-hen Pilgrims sought our barren shore,
A-fter persecutions sore:
S-oon Roundhead, too, and Cavalier

N-o more wrongs to be righted!
G-reat Father of our Country, you

O-f Freedom, have we lost the way?

GEORGE WASHINGTON, BOY.

When Washington wuz a boy like me
His Daddy planted a cherry tree,
And bought George a hatchet,
nice an' new,
Jus' so he cut that tree in two!
George, he dun it—an' 'n tole the truth,
(Must uv been sumpin' new in the youth,
'Cause I tell the truth most ev'ry day
An' nobody makes a fuss, I'll say.)
Dad sez that he never tole a lie,
An' he's not President! Wonder why?
I guess it's cause his Dad never grew
Him a cherry tree to cut right through!

I wish I could be like Washington.
His Dad was so thoughtful of his son!
I'll make Dad plant me a cherry tree
An' buy me a hatchet—then you'll see!

W. O. W. NOTICE.

Goldthwaite camp delegates to the Fort Worth "insurgent" convention have returned and have a message for all Woodmen opposed to the 1919 sovereign camp convention proceedings.

All Woodmen who have the interest of Woodcraft at heart, and are desirous of perpetuating that great order, should take heed and line up in one strong front to fight the battle to come off at Houston March 8, the time of the head camp convention. All camps and groves are requested to meet at once and elect delegates and alternates to the head camp convention, if not already done. Also instruct them to line up with the anti-administration forces for the battle of right, life and liberty of our order. Clerks are requested to issue credentials in duplicate to both delegates and alternates. This is important; be sure and have the consul commander and clerk sign and also attach the camp seal to same.

If any camp in Mills county is not sure they are right and have complied with the law in the matter of electing delegates and instructing them, apply to Dr. Em. Wilson, Goldthwaite, Texas, county chairman Woodmen delegates. Woodmen Circles should follow the same advice.

POULTRY SHOW SUCCESS; EXCEEDED EXPECTATIONS

The poultry show held in the Martin building in this city last Saturday far exceeded the expectations of its most ardent boosters. Some of the best poultry of the county was shown, and the grade of stock being raised here was an agreeable surprise to many of the people. A very large crowd, considering the fact that this was the first show and the small amount of publicity accorded it, was present and great interest was taken in the judging. About 40 new members were enrolled in the Mills County Poultry Association on that day.

To County Agent W. P. Weaver and Frank McDermott is due much of the credit for the success of the show, on account of their untiring efforts in its behalf.

The entries consisted of thirty-nine tris of high class chickens and some excellent Mammoth Bronze turkeys. Awards were made by Prof. J. W. Patton of the poultry department of A. & M. College, who placed the pens after painstaking examination and careful checking up of the scores. An unusually large number witnessed the judging demonstration and after Mr. Patton had placed the birds were greatly interested in the explanation of his decision. In the afternoon at the court house, Mr. Patton delivered a lecture on poultry breeding and management. A large crowd attended and great appreciation was manifested. His judging demonstration and lecture constituted practically a day's poultry school and the committee is to be complimented for securing a man of such distinguished ability for this particular service.

A splendid pen of White Minorcas, one of Light Brama, one of Silver Spangled Hamburg, as well as the pen of Silver Laced Wyandottes attracted much attention. Rhode Island Reds, Barred Plymouth Rocks, Brown Leghorns, Black Minorcas, and White Leghorns were the most popular, each having a number of entries.

Ribbons were awarded for first, second, third and fourth prizes. Also a cash prize of $2.00 was given for first and $1.00 for second prize.

The following premiums were awarded:

Black Minorca—Mrs. H. H. Stebbins, first; Mrs. J. E. Jones, second; D. D. Kemper, third.

CORPUS CHRISTI.

Editor Eagle:

Good morning. If you were here you would certainly realize the real meaning of a good morning. There is not a cloud to be seen and the wind that is usually blowing seems to be afraid to stir for fear it might in some way disturb the quietness of this wonderful February spring morning. Now when I say spring morning I do not mean that there is no chill in the air, for in the very early morning fire felt very inviting. When I tell you that corn and cotton in some fields are up and I heard one man say he saw corn large enough to plow as he came to town. Your scribe was very much tempted this a. m. as well as disappointed that his physical condition would not let him yield to the temptation. On yesterday he was invited to join a party of eight or nine this morning and go out on a fishing trip some distance up the Nueces river to catch or try to catch some fresh water fish. They took their camping outfit and will stay out all night. I know some who read this will have an idea of my disappointment. The oldest man in the crowd is from Missouri, and has passed his 88th birthday. The rain interfered with the tourists through the country to Kingsville and we are now aiming to pull off that stunt next Tuesday, Feb. 15. Over 200 have registered for the trip. After we were rained out, Kingsville citizens heard of it and asked to be notified when we would try it again and the number expecting to come and they would have a big barbecue dinner awaiting us out at the gas well 6 miles from town. Meats barbecued by natural gas with all the other trimmings necessary to make it a feast of fat things free to all. After the dinner we will go back to Kingsville where we will doubtless be treated to hot air and another kind of gas so commonly used on such occasions,

Give Your Children a Chance

Of course you want your children to have a better chance than you had—every good father does. You want your daughters to marry well and you want your sons to have enough capital and sufficient education to begin their farming careers almost at the point you have reached after years of toil.

Many a farmer has found in pure-breds the solution for the two outstanding problems—how to keep the children contented with farm life, and how to start them out so that they are bound to achieve success.

One Ohio farmer's plan is typical. When his eldest son was 12 years old he went to the bank and borrowed $350 to buy a registered bull and two registered heifers. In eight years this investment has grown into a pure-bred herd which has provided schooling for three children, a comfortable home for the family and a permanent, prosperous business for himself and the boys. "I didn't have to beg the youngsters to stay on the farm," the father says, "they got to liking the cattle." Pure-breds do keep the children on the farm; they do make farming a profession worth following.

Doubtless you started with scrubs—maybe you haven't even yet overcome this handicap to success. Let your children start with pure-breds—they deserve it. And let them start, too, with that great service weekly which has contributed so much to the cattle-raising industry—THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN. Just $1.00 buys 52 helpful issues. all of which we are already planning to do our dead level best to digest along with the barbecue and without further involving our physical condition. Our next move will be to the King ranch, where all the distinguished people who visit these parts generally go. It hasn't been long since President Harding (elect) and his company took in the same sights, except the barbecue which enables our distinguished crowd to pull one over the president. After taking in the sights about the ranch, we will proceed homeward by the way of Robstown, a fast growing little city surrounded by miles of the finest belt of farming lands in Texas. No special promise has come to us direct from this city, but we have heard it hinted that something will be done there if nothing else than to unload some more of the gas of which the earth and its inhabitants about here seem to be full to overflowing.

Some may be sorry to know that for two weeks the writer has been down on the bottom limbs of physical decline and will have to improve rapidly to be at himself for this trip. While we have not yet been confined to our bed, it has taken much determined will to keep from giving up. When the men about the rooming house began in the early morning preparing for their fishing trip the old man experienced again some of his boyhood days when he wanted to go so bad but couldn't. HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT
 WRITES EDITORIAL ON
 "OUR NEW GOVERNOR"

As a special assignment for last week each boy in the Senior English class of the Goldthwaite High School was assigned to write an editorial on some vital topic of the day. The following article on "Our Governor" is a fair representation of what this class has been doing in written work:

Our New Governor.
 By Eric Williamson
 Governor Neff seems to be imbued with the spirit expressed in the words of our illustrious and revered President:

"Let us dare to do our duty."
 This is very forcibly exemplified by the following acts that Governor Neff has performed since his inauguration. First among these is his abolishing of the Board of Pardons, and his stating that no application for pardon should be considered except by recommendation of the trial judge. A thorough personal investigation by himself. This, in our opinion, will be very far-reaching in the suppression of crime in our state, and should meet the approval of all the people.

His second act is his recommendation abolishing unnecessary boards and departments, consolidating them and reducing the number of employees, thereby saving to the people of the state more than $100,000 annually. The wisdom of this is so apparent that comment is unnecessary. His third act recommends that the functions of state departments be made by competent, honest and courageous citizens not in office. This to our mind is one of the most judicious of his recommendations. The force of this will be more fully felt after the results of former investigations, many results of which have cost the expenditure of vast sums of people's money, without accomplishing a single good result.

All this time officials have been investigating, and these investigations, true or not, it has been that these investigations, for real reasons, were a farce. And the fact that the result has been demonstrated these investigations to the truth of these. The action of Governor Neff in such investigations, the possibility of such and his further recommendation that the report of such be made to him, that the very best set as the facts would justify us in believing, if any exist, will be a further recommendation that no official shall have the money only as the State may direct. The State commission was allowed to spend the money that came into their hands as they pleased, and within two years they had paid to themselves and their employees more than $800,000. Therefore, we feel warranted in the endorsement of the Governor's position, and feel sure that the same will meet with the approbation of the people.

Thus we see that the Governor has already gone far in redeeming pledges to the people made during his campaign. Then it may be appropriately said of the Governor that he is following that maxim of old:

"Be just and fear not,
 And let all the ends thou aim'st at
 Be thy country's,
 Thy God's and truth's."

The Governor thus far has done well. He has yet to wrestle with the greatest problem of his administration, that of taxation, and it is here that the true measure of his courage will be taken. If he follows—as we believe he will—the course indicated by his acts above outlined, he will bring down upon himself such a storm of criticism and political censure as few men in his position have ever experienced. The corporations in this state, centralizing as they do, the principal wealth of the state, have escaped their proportional part of the burdens of taxation, by rendering but a small pittance of their actual wealth for taxation and if Governor Neff is as courageous as we believe him to be, he will take such action as will force these corporations to pay their part of the taxes, and thereby he will reach the source of all the inequalities of the economic system of our state, and place the government once more in the hands of the people and approximate the ideal of that great statesman and patriot who said this government should be "a government of the people, for the people and by the people."

Have you examined the surface of your dwelling? If not, you should do so at once, as it is false economy to let it go unpainted.

Why not hire a surface specialist?

I am a doctor of surfaces, such as wood, tin, iron, etc., and know the proper paints or each surface and how to apply the proper treatment. Besides, proper painting enhances the value of your property.

Spring will soon be here—now is the time to examine your buildings.

I also hang paper, paint signs, scenery, and do interior decorating.

Your Income Tax.

Frequent inquiries are received by collectors of internal revenue from storekeepers and other business men as to whether the taxpayer in business for himself may deduct from his gross earnings an amount of salary paid to himself. Wages or salary drawn by a taxpayer from his own business are more in the nature of a charge out of profits than a charge against profits. If deductible they would merely be added to his income and the effect would be to take money out of one

Constipation causes a stoppage of the sewerage system of the body. The poisonous refuse matter that should be carried away is retained in the system and often poisons the blood and causes numerous disorders. No one can afford to neglect his bowels. ...pocket and put it in another. Therefore claims of such deductions are not allowable.

Salaries paid to minor children employed in the conduct of a taxpayer's business are not allowable deductions. If, however, a son or daughter has attained majority, or is allowed free use of his earnings without restriction, a reasonable amount paid as compensation for their services may be claimed.

A farmer who employs a man to assist in the operation of his farm may deduct from gross income the amount paid for such services. Likewise, if he employs a woman whose entire time is occupied in taking care of the milk, cream, butter and churns, or if her services are devoted entirely to the preparation and serving of meals furnished farm laborers and in caring for their rooms, the compensation paid her is an allowable deduction. If, however, she is employed solely in caring for the farmer's own household, no deduction can be made.

In arriving at net income upon which tax is assessed, deductions may be made for ordinary and necessary business expenses. The revenue act specifically prohibits the deduction of personal, family, or living expenses. Such expenses include rent for a home, wages of servants, cost of food and clothing for the family, education of children and all items connected with the maintenance, well-being, and pleasure of the taxpayer and his family."

STATE BONUS.
 Eagle:
 I notice quite a good deal of press referring to the bonus for ex-service men who were in service during the world war. I notice in the paper of last week that a constitutional amendment which will give a bonus to veterans of the world war by the state will be passed under the provisions of a resolution prepared by Wallace of Fort Worth. The amendment empowers the legislature to grant a bonus to soldiers and sailors who enlisted or were drafted into service between April 7, 1917, and Nov. 11, 1918, raising the bonus by the issuance of bonds, no ex-man to receive over $300, and nothing but high regard for the ex-service man be he volunteer or drafted and so far as the state and nation owe a debt to every ex-service man who in any manner maimed, disabled or broken in health incident to the period of service. To such a man does not owe a bonus, but a support until such disabilities incident to the service, permanently cured or if incurable, during the natural life of the man.

stout, able-bodied young men returning from the front unimpaired in either body or mind should have a bonus I deny.

all gave the boys credit for patriotism. Bonus by the state or nation to the healthy, able-bodied returned soldier is incompatible with the patriotism ascribed to him as patriot. It implies a willingness to make good for one's country.

Ways pay these soldiers for all they have done in dollars and cents we deny them the right to claim credit for the patriotism which has been ascribed to them.

The nation owes to them individually and collectively a debt of gratitude. Shall we attempt to settle this debt in dollars and cents in the form of granting bonuses? If we do we are setting a bad national precedent.

The states and the nation are more heavily in debt than ever before and in spite of all efforts to economize, these burdens continue to grow and will continue to grow for some years to come however economical we may manage.

If we save the state from the ambition of foreigners, and then, ourselves, wreck it on the shoals of national bankruptcy we have done little better than the cow which gave a large pail of milk and then kicked it over.

The fear of national bankruptcy is not a thing to be treated lightly nor is the state bonus a means of evading the aggregate debt of the nation as the nation is composed of states and whether the debt created by granting the bonus is a state or a national debt makes little difference as in either event it takes the same number of dollars and cents to liquidate it.

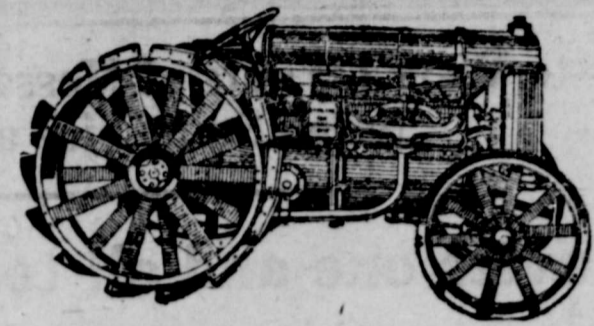

As a bad precedent, I would point out that we have no assurance that the millennium is upon us. Until that happy day comes we are assured "that there will be wars and rumors of wars." If we set the precedent of bonuses to soldiers of this war, we will be asked to extend the principle to the soldiers of the next war. Let us not flatter ourselves that the next war will not come in this generation or until the burdens of this one are lifted from the shoulders of the tax payer.

Wars have the habit of coming like a thief in the night and sometimes find peace loving nations entirely unprepared for them as it did us when the world war broke out. Our freedom from burdens of indebtedness, at that time, gave us the gigantic strength to make a quick and unusually expensive preparation. With our natural resources of the states and nation now mortgaged in the aggregate of possibly fifty or sixty billion dollars, it would seem that the real American would begin to think that it is folly to save our grand old country from foreign dangers and then through our own indiscretion wreck it on the rocks of national bankruptcy.

Another great war means another great debt. If it should suddenly come upon us we would find ourselves greatly handicapped by the debts we have already incurred. From my viewpoint it appears to me that we are fast approaching the time when it will be as necessary to combat the increase of state and national indebtedness as it was in 1917 and 1918 to combat the German ambition to dominate the world.

America first! America, proud, just and solvent, always meeting her obligations! "America, the land of the free and the home of the brave!"

The bonus idea don't appeal to true Americanism. No one ever heard of it before this war. The service man who was injured or had his health wrecked in the service of his country is the legitimate charge of his country and should be well taken care of, but the man who returned whole, hale and hearty has no more right to claim a bonus off his country for his pecuniary losses than the farmer of the country has to ask the government to reimburse him through the bonus machinery of the country for the seven or eight billion dollars he has lost this year through the slump in farm products.

The soldier's loss was the direct consequence of the war, so was the farmers' loss, and my way of looking at the question one is just as much entitled to bonuses as the other. The farmer, however, is asking none, neither do I believe that the larger percentage of ex-service men are half as much interested in the bonus question as a few of our politicians are.
