AN ALL-COUNTY SCHOOL EXHIBIT DURING MEET

There will be an all-county School Exhibit during the Interscholastic League Meet, March 26 and 27.

Among the items which will be considered for exhibit are Domestic Science, including Sewing and Cooking, Manual Training and Literary events.

The making of a doll dress will be the article in sewing for the junior divisions, an apron or school dress the article for the senior division.

The items which may be cooked are candy, cake and biscuit.

We hope that much interest will be manifested in this exhibit. A prize will be offered for the best exhibit in sewing and for the best in cooking, also for manual training. These prizes will be given by Goldthwaite merchants.

Everybody is set for a great meet; let's every school enter for at least one event. Let's every school enter, should be our slogan.

Yours sincerely,
D. A. NEWTON.

WANTED.

Bids wanted for keeping the cemetery by the year. All bids to be sent to Mrs. Dr. J. M. Campbell by the first of April.—Mrs. J. M. Campbell, President.

POSTMASTER GETS A RURAL ROUTE

Postmaster A. J. Harrison received word from Thomas L. Blanton recently that rural route No. 5 had been allowed and would be started May 1. This route goes out the Bulls Creek road almost to the river and around to the Forehand crossing road back to Goldthwaite on the highway. It will take care of a large section of the country which heretofore was forced to use Goldthwaite as its postoffice. Of the five rural routes leading from Goldthwaite, Mr. Harrison has been instrumental in procuring four. While the new route 5 has been approved for several years, no action could be gotten on the matter until Mr. Harrison took it up with Representative Thos. L. Blanton the result getting.

Blake Hudson left the first of this week for an extended visit in the Rio Grande Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Morgan of Abilene came down Sunday. Mr. Morgan returned home that night while Mrs. Morgan remained for a longer visit with her mother, Mrs. McQuery.

FARM BUREAU MEET

At the regular meeting of the Mills Co. Farm Bureau Directors the question of production was discussed and after hearing a report of the field secretary, R. F. McDermott, it was voted to table this matter and if it was found necessary, or sufficient farmers required financial assistance the question would be discussed and arrangements made to take care of them.

One of the outstanding questions discussed by those present was the advantages of adapting a uniform planting date for cotton throughout the county. After reports were received from six or seven farmers as to this question, it was shown that cotton planted about May 1st. to tenth would develop fruit earlier than cotton that was planted in April. It was shown to be easier worked and especially the boll weevil can be controlled better if every farmer would plant about the same. Therefore be it resolved the meeting in convention assembled to recommend and urge every farmer to plant cotton on the dates from May 1st. to May 10th. We others interested in the welfare of the agricultural interests in this county, to use their influence in furthering this progressive move to defeat the boll weevil of the cotton generally destroyed by this pest. To each and every farmer we extend this invitation to cooperate in this important move. Remember the date, May 1st. to May 10th.—Mills Co. Farm Bureau. By R. F. McDermott, Sec.

W. P. WEAVER GOES TO TEMPLE

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Weaver left Wednesday morning for Temple where Mr. Weaver undergo a minor operation withing the next day or two. Mr. Weaver expects to be gone a couple of weeks.

This week considerable rain has fallen over Mills county, as well as this entire section of the state. The rain has fallen very slowly and practically all has been absorbed by the ground. Following the big snow and rains heretofore, this rain places us in first class shape for moisture. It seems that there is little possibility that the grain crop this year will be more than enough to make up for the failure last year. Considerable acreage has been planted and all of it looks fine.

FIRE INSURANCE INSPECTOR VISITS SCHOOLS

Tuesday of last week Miss Jardine of Austin, state Fire Insurance Inspector, was in our city. While here she inspected the school buildings and asked to address the members of the Parent Teachers Association.

Miss Jardine told the association that the grammar school was a bad fire trap. The doors should all swing out not in and the stairway closets are very dangerous and should be boarded up so that they can not be used for any purpose.

She told the association that new school houses were built without these fire traps under the stairs. She urged us to consider the dangers our children were subject to each day they attended school in such a building and asked that we do away with these fire hazards as soon as possible.

Let us wake up to the fact that we are cowardly to send our children to a building that is dangerously heated, badly lighted and the worst kind of a fire-trap and put them up stairs where they can not get away and keep them in this danger throughout the winter months.

Surely if even one life should be lost from our careless neglect it would be worth far more than the cost of a new building.

Are not these citizens of the future worthy of the best we can give them? They are and we can. Let's do it!

WALTER WEATHERBY VISITS DETROIT

Walter Weatherby returned last Wednesday from a ten days visit to the Ford Dealers Convention at Detroit, Michigan. Mr. Weatherby states that a special train carried about 400 Texas dealers to Detroit. There a trip was made through the Ford factory and places of interest in and near Detroit were visited. Each night a banquet was given to the dealers and an officer of the Ford Motor Company lectured immediately afterwards.

WHY I VOTED FOR THE WORLD

By Hon. Earle B. Mayfield, U. S.
Senator from Texas

If one-tenth of the propaganda published broadcast throughout the country against the World Court were true, no Senator could justify his vote for the Resolution providing for the entrance of the United States into the Permanent Court of International Justice. Fortunately, that is not the case. More untrue statements have been made about the World Court than about any proposition I have ever heard or read of in my entire life. The lack of space will not permit me to answer all of these untrue statements,
but I will undertake to make reply
to one or two of them.

For instance, it has been charged that the entrance of the United States entered the World Court our domestic questions,—such as immigration,—would be determined by the Court. There is not one scintilla of truth in that charge, because the Resolution governing our adherence to the protocol, as amended by Reservation No. 5, stipulates that no question can ever be submitted to the Court by the United States except in the form of a general or special treaty, which means that a two-thirds vote of the Senate must be obtained before a question can even be presented to the Court.

Monroe Doctrine Not Endangered

It also be en charged that the entrance of the United States into the World Court would destroy the Monroe Doctrine. That is not true because Reservation No. 5 distinctly preserves the principle involved in the Monroe Doctrine by declaring the adherence to the protocol and statute shall never be construed "to imply a relinquishment by the United States of its traditional attitude towards purely American questions."

Again it has been charged that a vote for the Resolution was a vote to turn our country over to foreigners. This charge was made time and again by some of the Senators who were leading the fight against the Resolution. I know of one who could turn the United States over to foreigners even if he desired to do such a thing. The surest and quickest way I know of to turn America
over to foreigners is to break down our immigration laws and to allow millions of undesirable immigrants to swarm in upon us.
In the Sixty-eight Congress I stood on the same line with other Senators who vigorously supported the entrance of the United States into the World Court, and resisted every effort of those who would destroy our immigration laws. We passed a strong immigration in the Sixty-eight Congress that keeps out of America
all undesirables. When that measure was before the Senate, some of the Senators who led the fight
so bitterly against the adoption of the World Court Resolution in this Congress, did everything they possibly could in the Sixty-eight

Congress to break down the bars, fling the doors wide open, and permit the seum of Europe to over-run America as locusts covered the land of Egypt. I submit that the question might be well asked—Who, then, was trying to turn America over to foreigners?

Hibernians oppose Entry into Court

I have had letters from some of my friends in Texas charging that the World Court had its origin in Rome. Permit me to say that I cannot say whether the statement is true or not, but I submit that I received hundreds of petitions and letters from Protestant ministers and Protestant people of Texas urging me to support the Resolution providing for the entrance of the United States into the World Court, and that as I write these lines, the strongest resolutions that I received against the World Court lie on my table, and they were sent to me by the Ancient Order of Hibernians of the State of Massachusetts, signed by Rev. Phillip J. O'Donnell, Dennis Slattery, John J. O'Connor, Patrick O'Leary, Timothy F. McCarty, Owen Callahan, Peter Quinn,
Jeremiah Crowley, and many others of similar accent.

Attention is especially directed to the fact that the World Court can adjudicate no case involving our country that our country does not specifically join in submitting to the processes of the Court.
It can have no possible jurisdiction over the case to which our country is a party unless that jurisdiction is given to it by the United States. And then, after the Court has rendered its decision at our request, we will not be under any obligation to accept the decision other than as our moral responsibility dictates to us.

Involves No Relationship to League of Nations

There were five reservations
adopted to the original Resolution:
Reservation No. 1 provides that the adherence to the protocol establishing the World Court shall in no wise, involve any legal relationship on the part of the United States to the League of Nations, or the assumption of any obligation by the United States under the Treaty of Versailles.

Reservation No. 2 provides that the United States shall be permitted to participate upon an equality with other states in the election of judges or deputy judges of the Court or the filling of vacancies.
Reservation No. 3 provides that the United States shall pay only its fair share of the expenses of maintaining the Court.

Reservation No. 4 provides that the United States may withdraw from the World Court at any time that desires to do so, and that the statute for the World Court adjoined to the protocol shall not be amended without the consent of the United States.

Our Reservations Must First
Be Accepted

Reservation No. 5 provides that the Court shall not entertain any request for an advisory opinion touching any dispute or question in which the United States has or claims an interest without the consent of the United States, and also provides that the signature of the United States shall not be affixed to the protocol until the nations already members of the World Court shall accept our reservations and understandings as a part and a condition of our adherence to the protocol. It further provides, as stated above,

with reference to domestic questions, such as immigration, that no question can ever be submitted by the United States to the Court unless in the form of a general or special treaty which requires two-thirds vote of the Senate. It also provides that the entrance of the United States into the World Court shall not be so construed
as to require our country to depart from its traditional policy of not intruding upon, interfering with,
or entangling itself in the internal administration of any foreign state. Finally, it provides that the adherence on the part of the United States to the protocol and statute shall never be construed to "imply a relinquishment by the United States of its traditional attitude toward purely American questions."

With the adoption of these reservations, it is absolutely beyond my understanding how any person can say a vote for the Resolution for the United States to adhere to the protocol establishing the Court of International Justice means turning our government over to foreigners. I reached my decision with respect to the merits of the World Court after long and thoughtful consideration.
When I saw the gold star in my neighbor's service flag, and after receiving hundreds and hundreds of appeals from wounded and maimed ex-service men imploring me to help them secure relief from the Veteran's Bureau, and after receiving thousands of petitions from Texas mothers in whose home there is a vacant chair today, I resolved in my heart to dedicate my everlasting efforts towards preventing another war.
The World Court may not prevent war, but I earnestly believe it is a forward step in the direction of world-wide peace, and is worthy of a thorough trial.

Why Every American Should Favor the Court

I am in favor of the United States becoming a member of the World Court under the Reservations outlined above because (1)
I believe that international misunderstandings should be determined by a court of Justice rather than war; (2) because I believe it is a reflection upon our civilization not to be able to work out some means by which war can be banished from the earth forever;
(3) because the World Court is the best tribunal offered for the settlement of international misunderstandings; (4) because adoption of the reservations outlined above will prevent the submission of domestic questions,—like immigration, the tariff, the Monroe Doctrine, or other questions
purely American in their nature,
to the jurisdiction of the Court;
(5) because the World Court can have no jurisdiction over any question of sovereignty of the United States without the consent of our Government; (6) because the plan of settling international questions by war has brought such untold sorrow, destruction, and disaster to civilization that I believe the time has arrived when the nations of the earth can well afford to try the peace plan of adjudicating their disputes and their misunderstandings; (7) because the World War in which we lost nearly one hundred thousand American boys and in which were mained and wounded many thousand more, and which cost the United States forty billion dollars, proved conclusively that the United States cannot isolate itself altogether from European affairs;
(8) because we told the people of our country that the World War was being fought for the primary purpose of making the entire world free from all future wars;

(9) because in case war shall again desolate the world and the members of America are compelled to give their sons up to bloody carnage, I want all who fight and all who sorrow to remember that I, as a Senator from Texas, did everything within my power to deliver them from its terrible horrors.

Since my last report we have had another fine rain.

Oats are looking fine, people have planted quite a bit of corn.

Grass is growing, cows have quit lowing, March winds are blowing, the bees are humming, spring is coming, so we farmers are happy.

A good oat, corn, fruit and berry crop and wind up with a good cotton yield will make the merchant, speculator and news editor smile all over their faces.

Our visiting friends this week are as follows: N. K. Truman and family, H. O. Rodes and family of Brady, visiting in the home of Mr. Buchanan.

Mrs. J. J. Cockrell, Mrs. Archie, Mr. Foster Brim and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Downy visited T. P. Reed Sunday.

TRIP TO CHICAGO OFFERED 4-H CLUB BOYS

Some boy in Mills county, Texas may win a free trip to the Fifth National Boys and Girls' Club Congress in Chicago next December. The Santa Fe Railway has just offered sixty-two trips with all expenses paid to club winners in nine western states. Texas is offered nineteen of these awards. The other states to benefit are Arizona, Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas.

The trip will be awarded to the boy or girl making the best record in crop of livestock projects in each of the winning counties traversed by the Santa Fe and having the services of a full time Agricultural Extension Agent who operates under the direction of the Agricultural College.

Because of the wonderful results which club work is bringing in benefits to the farm boys and girls and for agricultural progress along their lines is the reason why the executives of the Santa Fe are not only continuing their support, but are increasing it for the coming year.

This is the fourth year that the Santa Fe has offered champion club members educational trips to the National Club Congress held during the International Livestock Exposition in December, when 1200 farm boys and girls and leaders from all over our country and Canada are royally entertained, instructed, and justly praised as the hope of American Agriculture.

Our farm boys and girls realize that now is the time to decide to win one of these trips to Chicago and hundreds of them are enrolling with their local extension agents in 4-H club work in order to be able to carry their work to completion by autumn. Let's have a Mills county boy bring down the Santa Fe trophy and be one of Texas' representatives at Chicago this fall.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our dear friends that rendered us assistance when our precious boy was called from us, we especially taking charge of the funeral arrangements and for the noble service they gave by his dear body.

We thank everyone that gave the beautiful flowers. May God's richest blessings rest upon each and everyone of you.

His father.—James L. Walker, Carter Walker, Elizabeth Siler.

HAD YOU NOTICED THIS?

That the "More Cotton on Fewer Acres" contest conducted by the Dallas Morning News and The Semi-Weekly Farm News has demonstrated that it is possible by intensive cultivation to add to the production and profitableness of each acre.

That it increases the value of crops because of the improved quality as well as increased quantity per acre?

That the amount of labor saved by largely increased production on smaller acreage will mean many millions of dollars each year to the farmers of the State! *

 *These are some of the things the "More Cotton on Fewer Acres" contest has shown are possible. There are a number of others which will be called to your attention from time to time.—The Semi-Weekly Farm News.

OVERLAND

THE OLD MAN GOES TO TOWN

Well, wife, I've been to Frisco, 'an I called to see the boys. I'm tired, and mor'n half deafened with the travel and the noise;

So I'll sit down by the chimney, and rest my weary bones. And tell how I was treated by our 'ristocratic sons. As soon as I reached the city, I hunted up our Dan—Ye know he's now a celebrated wholesale business man. I walked down from the depo'. Dan keeps a country seat—An' I thought to go home with him, and rest my weary feet. All the way I kep' a thinkin' how famous it 'ud be To go round the town together—my grown-up boy and me—An' remember the old times when my little "curly head" Used to cry out, "Good night, papa!" from his little trundle bed

I never thought a minute that he wouldn't want to see His gray and worn old father, or would be ashamed of me. So when I seen his office, with a sign writ out in gold, I walked in without knockin', but the old man was too bold. Dan was settin' by a table an' a writin' in a book, He knew me in a second; but he give me such a look! He never said a word o' you, but axed about the grain, An' ef I thought the valley didn't need a little rain. did'n't stay a great while, but inquired after Rob, Dan said he lived upon a hill—I think they called it Nob; An' when I left, Dan, in a tone that almost broke me down, Said, "Call an' see me, won't ye, whenever you're in town?" It was rather late that evenin' when I found our Robert's house;

There was music, lights, and dancin', and a mighty big carouse;

At the door a nigger met me, an' he grinned from ear to ear, Sayin' "Keerds ob invitation, or you never git in here."

I said I was Rob's father; an', with another grin, The nigger left me stan'in and disappeared within.

Rob came out on the porch—he did'n't order me away; But said he hoped to see me at his office the next day.

Then I started for the tavern, fur I knowed there, anyway. They wouldn't throw me out so log's I had money for to pay. An' Rob and Dan had left me about the streets to roam, An' neither of 'em asked me if I'd money togit home.

It may be the way o' rich folks—I don't say 'at it is not. But we remember some things Rob an' Dan have quite forgot.

We didn't quite expect this, when, twenty years ago, We mortgaged the old homestead to give Rob an' Dan a show.

I didn't look for Charley, but I happened just to meet Him with a lot o' friends o' his'n, a comin' down the street.

I thought I'd pass on by him, for fear our youngest son Would show he was ashamed o' me, as Rob an' Dan had done. But as soon as Charley seen me, right afore 'em all, Said, "God bless me, there's my father!" as loud as he could bawl.

Then he introduced me to his frien's, and sent 'em all away, Tellin' 'em he 'se' 'em later, but was busy for that day.

Then he took me out to dinner, an' he axed me about the house, About you and Sally's baby, an' the chickens, pigs, an' cows; He axed about his brothers, addin' that 'twas mighty queer, But he hadn't seen one uv 'em fur mighty nigh a year.

Then he took me to his lodgin', in an attic four stirs high. He said he liked it better 'cause 'twas nearer to the sky.

An' he said: "I've only one room, but my bed is pretty wide," An' so we slep' together, me an' Charley, side by side.

Next day we went together to the great Mechanics' Fair, An' some o' Charley's pictures was on exhibition there.

He said if he could sell 'em, which he hoped too mighty soon, He'd make us all a visit, "an be richer than Muldoon."

An' so two days an' nights we passed, an' when I come away. Poor Charley said the time was short, an' begged me fur to stay, Then he took me in a buggy an' druv' me to the train, An' said in just a little while he'd see us all again. You know we thought our Charley would never come to much; He was always readin novels an' poetry an' such.

There was nothing on the farm he ever seemed to want to do, An' when he tooked to paintin' he disgusted me clear through!

So we gave to Rob and Dan all we had to call our own, An' left poor Charley penniless to make his way alone; He's only a poor painter; Rob and Dan are rich as sin;

But Charley's worth the pair of 'em, with all their gold thrown in.

Those two grand men, dear wife, were once our prattling babies—an' yet It seems as if a mighty gulf 'twixt them an' us has set; An' they'll never know the old folks till life's troubled journey's past,

An' rich an' poor are equal underneath the sod at last.

An' maybe when we all meet on the resurrection morn, With our earthly glories fallen, like the husks from the ripe corn,

When the righteous Son of Man the awful sentence shall have said, The brightest crown that's shinin' there may be on Charley's head.

And Oliver, who knew the lessons from beginning to end? Oliver and Sam Henry made fine Doctors, you know Some say that Mary Leigh married a millionaire But I've heard that it ain't so. Where is Leila, with her temper you could not arouse, And Estelle, who had to know all the "whys" and "hows"? Estelle received two degrees, one in expression and art But on account of her temper, Leila has not proven so smart. Where is Welton, who could draw so well, And Ben Williams, all the girls attention he held: Welton made a sheriff, that position he now holds Ben Williams, a rich banker owns silver and gold. Where is Herbert who always sat standing in the back, And Earl, so small he could fall through a crack? Herbert is a mail clerk that works on the train; While Earl, a bachelor movie actor, intends to remain.

Where is Lorraine with her smile so innocent and sweet, And our baby Charles who cast his flowers at her feet? Lorraine entered the Lyceum and is still on the stage; Charles own a tailor shop and receives lots of trade.

Where is Eugene who could always be found by his silly laugh And Eunice, who was the brightest of the Junior Class? Likes the trade, Eugene is a carpenter, and really While Eunice a school teacher says "I'll be an old maid."

Where is Velma with her talent of art and skill, And Mina so frisky, she couldn't be still? Velma is a great artist in one of our large towns, And Mina is not settled, but still runs around.

Where is J. J., so witty and smart, And Dena Mae, who always took a silent part? J. J. is a ranchman and lives way out West, While Dena Mae is not married, but doing her best.

Where is Miss Whatley and Bill, who were known as "the chums," But fell out in English, over English puns? Miss Whatley is married to a professor of art, And Bill is gradually dying of a broken heart.

"You say that Miss Agely is desperate for a man?" "Yes; she had twin beds put in her room, so she'd have twice as many to look under."

"How's that new assistant of yours making out?" "Oh, all right, I suppose," answered the doctor. "She's got things so tangled up in my office already that I can't get along without her."

Boarder: "What is there for breakfast? Hope not ham and eggs again."

Maid: "No, sir; not ham and eggs this morning."

Boarder: "Thank the stars! What is it?"

Maid: "Only ham."

"Good morning," accosted a salesman. "Are you the lady of the house?"

"Nope," snapped the woman at the door. "My daughter's out playing tennis."

Observation Of Oldest Inhabitant: "I kin remember when, if the women wore cotton stockings, it didn't mean that their husbands were only half a lap ahead of the poorhouse."

"Dr. Roberson pays cash for everything, I understand."

"What a monotonous life he must lead."

"What position did you hold in your last place?" asked the dental dealer.

"I wa a doer, sir"

"A doer! What's that?"

"Well, sir, you see, when my employer wanted anything done he would tell the cashier, the cashier would tell the bookkeeper, the bookkeeper would tell the clerk, and the clerk would tell me."

"And what would happen then?"

"Well, sir, as I hadn't anyone to tell it to I'd do it."

Finman: "Those aren't regular golf stockings that Miss Presto is wearing, are they?"

Haddie: "They assuredly are. Haven't you noticed the hole in one?"

"Father," said the four-year-old when the old man returned from the office, "I wish you'd speak to your wife. We've had a terrible scene."

"No, dearie, Tom isn't much of a driver," conceded Irene to her chum, "but he certainly does know how to park a car."

"Here you," snorted Cleopatra to the thwarted assassin, "don't be an asp."

Bill: "Mary wears less clothes than any girl I know."

William: "I'd say she was a girl without much honor."

GAIN IN STATISTICS IN 1925

Statistics compiled by the bureau of vital statistics of the state board of health show 90,975 births and 45,702 deaths reported in 1925, this being a ratio of almost two births to each death occurring in the state. Statistics also show that a considerable increase was made in both birth and death reports during 1925, there being 23,426 of both births and deaths reported than in 1923.

It is estimated that approximately 75 per cent of births were reported in 1925, this being a gain of 10 per cent over the previous year. Texas will be kept out of the registration area of the United States until at least 90 per cent of all births and deaths are registered.

Cooperative marketing methods were lauded by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine as the true path toward placing farming on a sound and profitable basis, according to an address made by him while a guest of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association in Dallas last week, and according to word received here by R. F. McDermott, district representative of the Cotton Association.

Mr. Jardine spent last Thursday in Dallas with officials of the Cotton Association and addressed a large gathering of farm leaders and business men in the Association's directors room during the day. He was highly complimentary of the accomplishments of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, and pledged his personal assistance and support, as well as the United States Department of Agriculture, in the furtherance of its efforts.

That a 16,000,000 bale cotton crop the coming season would stifle and break the market to the disaster of the cotton producer was also emphasized by Secretary Jardine.

OBITUARY OF AUDIE LEE WALKER

"James Audie Lee Walker" was born in Mills County, Texas, September 18, 1898 and died at Ranger, Texas, March 5, 1926, at 2:30 P. M.; being 27 years, 5 months and 13 days of age.

Funeral services were conducted at Goldthwaite, Sunday, March 7, 1926.

The Masons of Goldthwaite, Ranger and Mullin, of which order the deceased was a member, had charge of the services at the grave.

The circumstances surrounding the tragic passing of this splendid young man were sad indeed, he having been fatally injured in an auto wreck a few days previously.

Audie Walker was a devoted son to his father and mother, the latter having preceded him into the great beyond just a short time ago. During the later years of her life his every effort was to secure her happiness and comfort, but the blow was harder to the father, who had leaned on him for support since the passing of the mother.

It is strange that one so young and in the flower of manhood should thus be called into Eternity, but one far freater and wiser than ourselves has full control of that great question, it is our duty to bow submissively to the will of God.

Deceased leaves his father, James L. Walker of Ranger, a brother, Carter Walker of Dallas, and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Siler, of Paint Rock, who have the sympathy of many relatives and friends in their sad bereavement.

"THE PHANTOM OF THE OPERA"

"The Phantom of the Opera" will be shown at the Dixie Theatre Thursday and Friday, March 25 and 26.

Chaney gives another great characterization. Those who will remember his work in "The Hunchback" will need little encouragement to go back to see what he does in this. And he does it. His make-up is weirdly horrible. The most fiendish of horror-sticken faces. He is the Phantom. He lives it.

But the real triumph is little Mary Philbin whose work places her still further along the line as one of the great assets of the screen. She is magnificent. Entire cast fine and the production is stupendous.

The stage and proscenium arch look real. Probably the largest interior set ever built and it is a riot of beauty. They have used color in a number of reels, including the opening and later a gay masque ball in the Opera House. These colored sequences are a delight to the eye. And there is a shot of one of the great roof statues done in color which is one of the finest artistic bits ever shot for the screen.

The weirdness, mystery and thrill of this great drama hold from beginning to end.

BETTER COTTON SEED FOR TEXAS FARMERS

There is a state-wide campaign for good cotton seed for next season's planting in Texas at this time. Nearly every issue of the daily press gives an account of some meeting of farmers, bankers, business men, cotton buyers and agricultural workers for the purpose of launching a campaign for good seed.

A rare opportunity for getting improved planting seed has come to the farmers of Central Texas in the destruction of practically the entire cotton crop by the south. A large percentage of the cotton growers will need to buy planting seed for next season, and these are being urged to purchase only the best seed.

A Dangerous Situation
Other sections of the State, where the half-and-half variety was becoming more and more predominant, are awakening to the realization of how worthless this cotton is in a year when there is a normal production of good staple cotton. In the short crop years of the past the growers of this cotton found a ready sale for this short staple variety. The cotton consuming public had to have the cotton and naturally took what it could get. This year the cotton production of the country is showing a great increase and consequently the short staple grower is not enjoying the monopoly he had in the past.

Smith, Cherokee, Rusk, Gregg and many other counties in East Texas have seen the handwriting on the wall and are conducting vigorous campaigns against the short staple cotton. Anderson County saw to handwriting last year in a big crop of short staple they produced and the progressive Business League in Palestine the county seat, distributed hundreds of bushels of high grade seed among Anderson County farmers. Those farmers who have kept their pure seed will have an opportunity to sell this seed back to the farmers in Central Texas for planting purposes if they wish.

MIXING COTTON LOWERS PRICES

Every year about the time the cotton crop begins to move you can hear some fellow in East Texas berating the Tyler market, the Troup market, the Lindale market, the Henderson market, or whatever market he usually sells in. You can hear some fellow declaiming till he is black in the face against the injury that is being perpetrated against the farmers who sell their cotton in this market, or that market, as against Grand Saline, or Wills Point or Terrell, or some other market. There isn't anything to this howl except a thing that the farmers are responsible for, a thing that only the farmers can remedy by concerted action.

Too Much Mongrel Cotton
Here are the cold facts: Practically all of East Texas is a land of mongrel cotton, of mixed breeds and mixed seeds, which produce deteriorated staples. Cotton buyers everywhere know East Texas as a land of short staple and inferior grades. That's not always the case, but East Texas towns are penalized in the rating of buyers because farmers haven't paid attention to quality of staple they produce. A given farmer may produce a really desirable staple cotton; but when he offers even that on a market set down as in and of the mongrel breed varieties, he can not get as much for it as he might obtain were he to offer the same cotton in a market known to deal in the better quality staple. Recently two buyers were in Tyler, Texas looking for a place to buy cotton of the better quality. When told that this section produces half-and-half to the extent of about 80 per cent of its total yield, these gentlemen forthwith left the city, regarding it as not the place they were looking for. Other communities in Texas are specializing in the production of standard types of cotton, and pledging their public ginners to gin only a given type. Taft does this, Robstown does it, many places near Corpus Christi do it. Buyers flock to the markets where these cottons are offered. They flock there and buy on spirited bids, because they know that the staples offered are true to type, of a standard and dependable length—and not mixed with mongrel breeds derived from the planting of indiscriminate gin run seed.—The Banner, Troup, Texas.

THE EDGE-DILL RADIO DEBATE ON PROHIBITION
Rev. A. E. Hunter

Senator Edge, of New Jersey, who is taking the lead in advocacy of the nullification of prohibition, recently debated with Senator Dill, of Washington, over radio. Senator Edge unfortunately stated that prohibition had increased drunkenness and death from alcohol in the United States. Senator Dill had been trapped into his error by taking at face value wet propaganda comparing various years of prohibition, instead of comparison of dry years with wet years.

"Any man or woman need only walk up and down the streets of the great cities of America today, among sober and well dressed people, and then recall the conditions of a few years ago, when women and children avoided those parts of cities where saloons were located because of drunken men who staggered about and often insulted them," said Senator Dill.

He continued: "As to the deaths from alcohol, the records of the Census Bureau for the five years preceding prohibition show that the average death rate from alcoholic cause was 3.9 per 100,000, while during the five years since prohibition it is only 2.4 per 100,000."

Senator Dill said that the reason that the wets object to the one-half of one per cent standard is because they want beer which will have a kick in it. "The trouble is if it is high enough to have a kick in it, it is intoxicating. The brewers and distillers themselves fixed the one-half of one per cent standard in order to protect themselves against illicit liquor dealers."

"The anti-prohibitionists maintain that there is a great public demand for the legalizing of a higher alcoholic content of beer and wine, but it appears that the people have voted on that question also in various parts of the country."

"Arizona, in 1916, voted 12,000, no. Oregon, in 1916 voting on beer and wine, voted 54,000, No. Colorado, in 1916, voting on beer and wine, voted 85,000, No. Washington, in 1916, voted 146,000."

"But it may be argued that those were votes taken before National prohibition had been adopted. Let us look at the votes that have been had since national prohibition:

The conveniences for which these young people long, which in their judgement their families can afford, can in many instances be secured at nominal cost. The greatest cry is for running water in the kitchen and the conveniences of a bathroom. Better lights rank second in the list of conveniences which these young people would have added to their homes. Washing machines, sleeping porches, radios, side walks, typewriters, are also found on the "want lists" of these young people.

"Paint on the house, a radio in it, good lights, water, bath, flowers and shrubs in the yard, make a country home more beautiful and satisfying," is the way one girl puts it, and she voices the sentiment of multitudes.

Paint the old house, get a wind mill, or a gasoline engine, and a water tank, and provide running and bath for the house, put some rugs on the floor and pictures on the wall, install some labor saving devices in the home in keeping with the ones installed on the farm, get a mantle burner kerosene or gasoline lamp, install a radio, subscribe for the daily paper and some good magazines, drive the chickens, hogs and goats out of the yard and get some grass, flowers and shrubs started, and you will convert a camp ground into a home which the young people will be reluctant to leave.

All these things cannot be done at once but you can begin with the most needed and add them one by one. And the young people can help a lot. I painted my father's home, a two-story house, when I was twelve years old. He furnished the paint. I furnished the elbow grease. You can get some flower seeds and bulbs, some roots and cuttings, here and there for practically nothing, and with a little care transform your home surroundings in a season.

Many of the prettiest and most conveniently arranged homes I have known through the years have been country homes. I would have no one live beyond his means. I am unalterably opposed to the making of debts unless there is good probability of paying them. But I do believe in pretty, practical, convenient homes. I feel that every household head should see to it that his wife and children have a home in keeping with the family means. Beautiful homes, with modern conveniences, equipped and furnished with labor saving devices, and a touch of the aesthetic here and there, will help to solve "the country problem."

Beautiful homes, however, will never prove a panacea for all the family ills. Some of the greatest characters I have ever known, some of the happiest people I have ever met, have been reared and lived all their lives in homes where none of the conveniences we have had in mind were enjoyed. And many a mansion is inhabited by strangers to peace and happiness. And many an unpainted cottage has to me seemed to be the very vestibule of heaven. But these facts do not disprove the general contention I have made. Furthermore, with few exceptions, our boys and girls are not really expecting more than the family purse can afford, and there are many among them who realize that true happiness and contentment are not altogether dependent upon one's physical environment. One student who lives in a modest home, a member of a large family, whose father cannot afford to do for his children all that he and they would like for him to be able to do writes: "I prefer a beautifully painted home, but since 'home is what you make it', I think I could live happily in an unpainted hut if circumstances make it necessary." And this student represents a large class. (Continued next week)

BACKACHE IS A WARNING!

Goldthwaite Folks are Learning How to Heed It.

Are you miserable with an aching back? Do you get up lame and stiff; drag through the day feeling tired, weak and depressed? Then you should help your kidneys. Backache is often the first sign of failing kidneys. Urinary troubles quickly follow. Neglected, there's danger of gravel, dropsy or fatal Bright's disease. Don't wait for serious kidney sickness! Use Doan's Pills, before it is too late. This Goldthwaite resident tells an experience:

Mrs. L. O. Stephens, says: "I highly recommend Doan's Pills, as they have brought me a great deal of relief when my back has been sore and lame and my kidneys have been sluggish."

Costs More to Build—Is Worth More—Yet Sells for Less

If any other manufacturer endeavored to produce a car similar to the Ford according to the high standards of the Ford Motor Company, it would be impossible to offer it at anything like the present low Ford prices.

If the Ford Motor Company would substitute ordinary design for the basic Ford features, Ford cars could be produced and sold for less than the present Ford prices. Yet by so doing, Ford simplicity, durability and reliability would fall below the standard insisted upon by the Ford Motor Company.

Just think! 13,000,000 model T Ford cars have been produced since 1908—almost as many automobiles as were built by all other manufacturers combined. In 1925, almost 2,000,000 Ford cars and trucks were built and sold—and plans for 1926 call for the production of even more than 2,000,000.

It was the superiority of Ford design in 1908 that established Ford leadership. It is this same Ford design, improved but basically unchanged, that is continuing to make the Ford car the outstanding leader among all automobiles.

Features that Contribute to Ford Simplicity—Durability—Reliability

- Simple, Dependable Lubrication
- Thermo-Syphon Cooling System
- Planetary Transmission
- Dual Ignition System

I will be glad to have you store your Wool with me until it can be accumulated in car lots, as I think we can find a buyer for Wool in car lots better than in small parcels; and having storage, I will be glad to take care of it for the growers on this plan: I will take the Wool and store it, pay the insurance, mark and weigh it, then use the best efforts I can to find a buyer for it, or will deliver it to the owners any time they call for it. My charges will be 1/2 cent per pound for the first month and 10c per 100 pounds for each succeeding month, charges to be paid when wool is taken out of storage.

I have partial arrangements made where money can be borrowed on the receipts I will give the owner on the Wool left with me, pending the sale of same, and should you need temporary funds until it is sold I can get the money for you.

"What You Want When You Want It"

IN MEMORY OF W. P. NEAL

Sunday afternoon just as the sun was hiding its glorious face Mr. W. P. Neal, of Hamilton passed out of this life to the home beyond. He was born in Cook County, March 22, 1855 and died March 14, 1926. He moved to Hamilton County when a young man and lived there practically the remaining part of his life. He professed religion and united with the Christian Church over thirty years ago. He leaves behind to mourn his last a wife, three daughters and five sons, all living in and near Hamilton with exception of one son at Vernon and one at Goldthwaite who is the pastor of the Methodist church. We can't begin to write an obituary of this good man, him being a stranger to us, but only to say in memory of his son who is our pastor not only a pastor but a friend in time of need. As he is the only one of the children that we have learned to know, but while attending the funeral of this good man we could hear his neighbors telling of their great loss to their community. He was laid to rest at the Live Oak Cemetery in Hamilton County. The funeral services were conducted by Bro. Means, of Hamilton and assisted by H. E. Moreland of Goldthwaite.

 "There is no death, the stars go down,
 To rise upon a fairer shore and bright in heaven's jeweled crown.
 So shine forever more.
 "They are not dead, they have

but passed beyond,
 The mist that blinds us here.
 Into the new and longer life of that great beyond."—Mrs. Moreland.
MRS. ANN REBECCA FOREHAND
 Mrs. Ann Rebecca Langford who departed this life in this city Feb. 25, was probably the oldest person in the county. She was born in Tennessee March 14, 1834, and her maiden name was Miles. Before reaching adult age her parents lived in Mississippi, Arkansas and Texas. On the twelfth of Dec. 1857 in Cherokee county she was married to John M. Forehand who died in Goldthwaite in 1891. After the Civil War the family lived at times in Fayette and Bastrop counties, and later in Kansas and at Denison. At the last named place her husband was chosen City

Marshall and was seriously wounded in discharge of his duties. In 1875 the family came to Lampasas now Mills county, and ten years later made their home in this city.
 The Forehand home was one of the first completed and occupied. It stands at the corner of Fourth and Hutchings streets and is now the home of B. F. Guslin.
 The Forehand family was of the pioneer type and where-ever the was it was known as a place of hospitality and good cheer. Mrs. Forehand was a charter member of the Mills County Pioneer Club.
 For a number of years she was feeble, but retained her faculties almost to the last. Her memory will long be cherished by those who knew best.
 Three daughter, Mrs. Alex Miller, Mrs. J. D. Urquhart and Mrs. W. D. Marshall, and one son H. G. Forehand all of this place survive her.—A Friend.
