ORMER MILLS COUNTY BOY HERO OF STORY

In the last issue of the American Magazine appeared a lengthy review of the life of "Shorty" Caraway, famous Arizona cowboy with a full age picture of Caraway on his favorite horse. The article, written by Ross Santee, disclosed many thrilling incidents in the life of "Shorty" Caraway, tracing his career as a cowboy from the time he left his home in Texas until he became foreman of the Cross outfit in Arizona.

The writer quotes "Shorty" as saying: "I don't suppose there's been a Christmas yet since I left home but I've planned to go back. A dozen times I've saved up money to go home, but when I hit town, somehow the money slips away. At I did send some pictures and my sister who I've never seen wrote how interesting they were."

The sister of "Shorty" Caraway, whom he has never seen, lives here in Brownwood. She Mrs. Lois Manning, who resides with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mayo, 421 Milton Avenue, formerly Nellie Caraway, is also a sister, however, she has seen her brother several times since he left home. Mrs. Manning states that "Shorty" ran away from home with a bunch of "cowboys" when he was a boy and since that time has never returned. The home at that time was in Mills county near Aradan.

The writer of the American Magazine article says: "Of all the cowpunchers I have ever known Shorty is to me the most interesting." — Brownwood Bulletin.

The young man is a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Caraway McGinnis.

County Superintendent Election Ordered

MASS MEETING LAST SATURDAY

A mass meeting called to consider the matter of securing a county superintendent of schools convened in the court house at 2:30 last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Weaver, county farm demonstration agent, called the meeting to order and acted as chairman throughout the session. A number of speeches were made by citizens but the principal address was delivered by Dean Davis of John Tarleton college of Stephenville, who heartily endorsed the proposal. Miss Annie Laurie Petsiek of Mullin and others spoke in advocacy of the movement, as did a number of citizens from various school districts throughout the county. Every speaker was complimentary to Judge L. E. Patterson, the ex-officio superintendent, and gave him full credit for his faithfulness and ability, but they favored a superintendent who could give full time to the school work, with no other business or official duties.

Petitions that had been in circulation in various parts of the county were presented to those in the meeting and were liberally signed, asking the commissioners, court to order an election to determine whether or not the office of county school superintendent should be created. These petitions were presented to the commissioners, then in session, and the election was ordered to be held on Saturday, April 20, which election order appears in another portion of this paper.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL BUILDING CONTRACTED

The Goldthwaite School Board awarded the contract Monday to A. W. Fowlkes of Temple for the erection of the new Grammar School Building, to be erected on the campus north of the high school building, the contract price being $34,577.00. This contract does not include plumbing and heating, which will be provided for in another contract and will make the total cost of the new building reach approximately $40,000.

Work is to begin on the new building by May 15 and is to be completed by Sept. 15, the contractor paying a forfeit for each day after that date until the completion of the structure.

The building is one story and has two wings, containing in all nine class rooms, a study hall, auditorium, library, office, book room and reception room adjoining the office. It covers approximately 14,000 square feet of floor space, is of reinforced concrete and brick.

There was a large number of bidders for the contract and all agree that the School Board made an excellent deal in securing the building for the price to be paid.

AN APPRECIATED PRESENT

On March 19 Frank McCasland and wife of near Clovis, New Mexico, presented his mother, Mrs. S. L. McCasland, with a $20.00 bill and other gifts in honor of her 70th birthday. Frank is a big hearted fellow and it is not so bad to grow old with such a heritage as he, with seven other boys and girls, like him.

REVIVAL AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

A revival at the Goldthwaite Methodist church will begin Sunday, March 24, and will continue to and including Easter Sunday. There will be special features at all or nearly all of the services, but these, it is hoped, will not interfere with congregational singing at each service and a practical gospel sermon will be attempted at each service that will apply as well to any and all as to the group specifically mentioned. To get the full worth come each night. Services will be at night only and will begin promptly at 7:45. We do not expect an altar service, nor the reception of any member during this meeting. The purpose of this meeting is to develop the higher life and bring us into closer fellowship with Christ and Christian service.

Sunday morning, usual order of worship and at night the Quarterly Meeting with Bro. W. L. Barr in charge.

Monday night the Women's Chorus is expected to sing.

Tuesday night the high school group of the young people's choir.

Wednesday night the Men's Chorus will sing. Retail Merchant and Working Men's night.

Thursday night the Wesley Workers will sing and feature the order.

Friday night Good Fellowship Night. Out of town group will be noted.

No service Saturday night.

Sunday morning Old Folks' service. Transportation to and from this service will be arranged for any aged or otherwise shut in person if notice is given to the pastor or the ushers not later than Friday night. For convenience use the phone. Call on us. We specialize in helpfulness. A few cars are expected to volunteer for this good work.

Sunday night the Junior Choir will sing. There are enrolled in this group about sixty juniors. I am told that we may expect something great without fear of disappointment.

Come and worship with us and may this be a season of refreshing to us all! Methodist churches are expected to be loyal. Other churches have expressed intention of co-operation in this meeting for which we are grateful. We are expecting a great day each day. A cordial invitation is extended to all without regard to church or non-church membership.

Yours in His service,
S. D. LAMBERT.

TEXT BOOK HIGH PRICES

A correspondent from Austin says that in practically every instance publishers have failed to furnish Texas with contracts as low in price as given other states on school books, it was stated in a majority report of the Senate State Free Textbook Law investigating Committee, signed and filed with the Senate by Senators Wirtz and Martin. The committee as a whole went on record as not favoring adoption of new books in the face of recommendations of superintendents over the state that old books are satisfactory.

Senator C. C. Small, third member of the committee filed a minority report, in which he differed slightly from the majority concerning contracts let by the commission last October. Mr. Small's report declared that he is of the opinion that Texas is securing certain books for which contracts were made in October at prices as low is given other States.

Further recommendation was made in the majority report that the Attorney General make a detailed investigation in respect to all books adopted at both the October (1928) and February (1928) meetings of the Textbook Commission except for books which are not adopted or sold to other States. The report also recommended that "where it appears the statute has been violated, no contract be entered into, or if contracts already have been entered into in violation of the statute that they be held void and no books be purchased or other action be taken in respect to such contracts."

AN OLD CASE

An echo from the past was heard at the court house this week when a party was brought here from Ballinger and charged with having wrongfully secured a railroad ticket at the Mullin depot last April. The detective followed him to several places and finally had him arrested in Runnels county and brought here, where he pleaded guilty and paid the fine and costs amounting to something more than $40, when the price of the ticket was about $5.

FOR ENRICHING OLD AGE

Dr. W. K. Harrison, who at the age of 80 is still active in the capacity of medical examiner for a fraternal organization, said in a speech the other day to the National Fraternal Conference that "a man should be at his best at 60—intellectually, morally and spiritually—even though he can not be physically," and that the four decades between the ages of 60 and 100 ought to constitute the richest part of his life.

In a way, Dr. Harrison's remarks are colored by an assumption that is not justified, for in order to cook your life you must catch it first and in order to make the 60-to-100 the richest part of life you must first get hold of it, and that has not been done. Life has been lengthened, but not at the latter end; the lengthening is in the average of all our lives, and the average is raised chiefly by the prevention of death in the early years. If means are finally evolved for materially lengthening the period of life which we now call old age, it is likely that men will prolong into their old age much of the activity which at their middle years have passed. present they tend to drop when with this extension of activity, their old age would be proportionately enriched.

But the extension of activity into old age need not wait upon the discovery of means for making us a race of centenarians. In the present stage of civilization, when the world's work is less dependent than ever upon physical strength, it is manifest that the last decades of the lives of millions of people are largely wasted because of our failure to produce a proper adjustment between our economic methods and the capabilities of old age. The consequence is not only the impoverishment of multitudes of aged persons, and the retarding of our collective producing capacity, but also an enormous emptiness in the last part of life.

To some degree, it is true, this emptiness can be guarded against by individual efforts; the man or woman who has cultivated a variety of interests may succeed in keeping life full to the very end, provided the mental faculties are not seriously impaired. But it is difficult in old age to cultivate interests which have been neglected in the middle years; and as the dominating interest in the middle years is necessarily economic, the sudden cessation of economic activities often leaves a gap in life that can not be filled. The prevention of that gap will be one of the main tasks in future society, if progress continues.

Meanwhile the wise man will see to it, so far as he may, that old age does not catch him unfortified; that in health, in the aptitude for physical recreation, in finances, and in the diversity of mental and spiritual interests, he is prepared to make his old age a full, rich rounding out of his earlier years.—Star Telegram.

The Eagle sincere thanks those good friends who have helped to make the paper interesting by sending in local items and community letters. All of this help is appreciated and these good folks are recognized as friends indeed.

Our good and much esteemed friend Joe Spinks was in from Center Point community Saturday and made it convenient to call at the Eagle office. He is interested in education and other matters that should attract the minds of all good citizens.

There is no friend the Eagle appreciates more than the one who reports local items. It is the desire of the Eagle workers to issue a paper that is interesting to the readers and creditable to the county and these local items and reports make it possible for the desired results to be attained.

Representative Homer C. DeWolfe and family returned the latter part of last week from Austin, where they spent several months, he being the representative of this and Comanche county in the legislature. He made a fine record in the law making body and was unusually active for a new member. He expects to return to Austin some time next month, as Governor Moody is expected to call a special session of the legislature.

Hon. Phil H. Clements returned last week from Austin, where he has been during the session of the legislature, serving as doorkeeper of the House, which position he filled at the former session as well as the one just closed. He expects the governor to call a special session in April, when he will return to the Capital City to again discharge his duties.

Dr. Penn Greer of Globe, Arizona, has been in the city this week visiting Dr. J. M. Campbell and W. E. Rahl.

Z. D. Kemp and wife came in from Post the first of the week for a visit to relatives and friends. Mrs. Kemp remained here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McNutt, while Mr. Kemp made a trip to Fort Worth to look after business matters. They are former Mills county folks and have lots of friends in every part of the county. He made the Eagle an appreciated call and reported Dr. Lowrie and daughter, Miss Kate, District Attorney T. L. Price, Marian Coekrum and other former Mills county citizens now living at Post doing well.

A HELPFUL ENTERPRISE

The Cheese and Butter factory is one of the most helpful enterprises in Goldthwaite and one that is assisting in making prosperity for the people of this section. Many farmers and others have a steady income from the sale of cream and milk and the checks they receive each pay day at the Cheese Factory keep them supplied with ready money for all their expenses. A large number of people have already realized the benefits of this enterprise and are giving it hearty co-operation, while others have not given thought and attention to the subject, hence have not yet received direct benefits from the location of the factory at this place. The possibilities in this business are almost unlimited and a report from the cheese factory at Round Rock gives an idea of the volume of business that may be done. The report says, in part:

Since January 1, 1929, we are paying farmers in this section $5,200 every two weeks for whole milk brought to our plant. Farmers are getting on a cash basis, raising more feed than before and reducing the cotton acreage accordingly.

About 300 cows have been purchased by farmers since the opening of the plant and the farmers are well pleased with returns they are receiving from this plant. Many farmers who have been making butter and selling it in Austin, have quit and are now selling all their milk to our cheese plant, and it makes less work for their wives. They state they are making one-third to one-half more money by selling their milk to this plant than they received for their butter.

EARLY PLOWERS HAVE ADVANTAGE

The cold wet spring of the Southwest has demonstrated to thousands of farmers the value of early fall and winter plowing. At this writing many thousands of acres are unprepared for the new crop. There is a rush of work on, and not a few are going to be late in putting in their seed.

There are other advantages of fall and winter plowing. If the soil is turned early the farmer can put back the cotton and corn stalks to add to the fertility of the soil and increase its moisture-holding capacity. If he waits until spring he must rake up these stalks and burn them, because there is not time for them to rot; and, if not destroyed, they will interfere with planting and cultivating. By early plowing we destroy many insects and it is easier to keep the fields free from grasses and weeds.

All the stubble land should be terraced and plowed immediately after the grain is harvested. We hope to see farmers throughout this territory take advantage of the dry weather which usually prevails at that time, and turn their stubble land good and deep.

Failure to take advantage of the fine fall and early winter weather, to do the plowing has cost the farmers of the Southwest hundreds of thousands of dollars.—Farm and Ranch.

Why suffer with that pain in the back which is the after effects of the flu. Maybe pneumonia. Chiropractic removes the cause.

TRUTH AND SCIENCE

In the column of State Press in the Dallas News of last Saturday appears a comment on a subject that is both interesting and important. The writer says:

"Not to have hope of a hereafter must be to have the liabilities of this life without compensating assets. Most of his brother scientists regard Sir Oliver Lodge as self-deceived in his firm belief that his wife has communicated with him from beyond the grave, and that his son, lost in the war, has done the same. Perhaps he is self-deceived, but he is gainer from such deception. No doubt much that Sir Oliver and his contemporary scientists hold as demonstrated fact today was accounted self-deception on the part of scientists who obtained the first inklings of it. Television, for example, is a scientific reality, but no scientist of half a century ago would have had patience with an experimenter who should have claimed to have accomplished it. Some physicists assert that no sound which has been loosed upon the air is ever completely lost, and that the voice of Caesar might be brought back to our ears were we equipped with radio apparatus of sufficient selectivity to separate the wheat from the chaff in antiquity's atmospheric archives. Of course the denial would be based upon the assertion that radio, like television, is a physical instrument, not a psychic one. That the dead have no voice, therefore no medium of expression. That physical dissolution is total dissolution. But we do not know that to be true. But radio and television argued on the basis of ear and eye would have been ruled out of the high court of reason only a few years ago. We do not know the natural law, however smart we think we are."

PARENT TEACHERS ASSOCIATION MEETS

The Parent-Teachers Association met in regular session on March 12. There was a good attendance, but we are very much interested in obtaining the membership of all parents who are interested in the school. Especially do we want the parents of the rural communities who have children in Goldthwaite schools to line up with the P.T. A. The dues are only fifty cents a year.

Arrangements were made for the senior reception to be given at an early date. It was also decided that the Association will give a Silver Tea, the date of which is to be announced later. —REPORTER.

THE COMPLICATIONS AND AFTER EFFECTS OF THE INFLUENZA

The most common complications of Influenza are pneumonia, empyema and pleurisy. The most common after effects of Influenza and its complications are bronchitis, neuritis and gall bladder trouble. A persistent bronchial cough hanging on for weeks or months following influenza should be given attention. Persistent pains in the shoulders and thorax are of equal importance. Digestive derangements should also be given careful attention.

In all of those conditions, Chiropractic is most effective. The record of results obtained through Chiropractic adjustments in cases of influenza has not been equalled by any other school of healing, and if one suffers from these after effects, they should seek the Chiropractor as the logical means of obtaining permanent relief.

There'll be no regrets.

Keep Them Up in Condition

IT'S ONE THING to start the season with mules in good condition. But it's another thing to keep them that way.

It takes good feed—a feed that will hold them till they toughen up.

Purina Omolene will do it. Omolene is more nutritious than corn or oats. It is highly digestible. And it is balanced.

You can't work 'em down if they're Omolene fed. Ask the Checkerboard feed dealer about it.

Worried Night after Night as health declined

"I SUFFERED frequently from nervous headaches, and I could not sleep well," says Mrs. Cora Dover, R. F. D. 2, Hickory Grove, S. C. "I was thin and pale. I was so weak I could scarcely walk."

"I tried several remedies but nothing seemed to help me. Night after night I worried because I could see I was going downhill. I had my children to look after, and I was afraid of what would become of them if anything happened to me."

"I began to take Cardui. It wasn't long until I was beginning to pick up. My strength gradually began to return. I rested better at night and was less nervous. I took several bottles of Cardui, and when I had finished taking it I was in fine health."

BAPTIST CHURCH

Several classes were 100 per cent last Sunday. Approximately 90 per cent of our enrollment was present, and to make it still better most of them stayed for the morning service. Our Superintendent has had his watch overhauled and he had the correct time. This all made our service work like a charm, beginning and ending on time. Let's all remember that spring is here and let's go to our Sunday School work at 10 o'clock sharp, leaving our class rooms immediately after the sounding of the bell for the morning service. Let's make our services short, "peppy" and above all spiritual. To do so means our house will be filled at most every service. The pastor had rather talk 30 minutes to a well filled house than 60 minutes to a half filled house. So every one at his task and our services will go over in grand style, and all for the glory of God.

Remember that the sunbeams will meet at 11 o'clock. Every father and mother who has children in the sunbeam band will be given an opportunity to attend the morning service. Just let Miss Vann have your children during our preaching hour. She knows exactly how to take care of them, and will take a delight in doing so. The pastor and Miss Vann will see that the services are concluded at the same time.

A number of our ladies motored over to Mullin last Monday afternoon and met with the ladies of the Mullin Baptist church. Our ladies report that they had a splendid meeting.

The meeting of the ladies at the Baptist church Monday was well attended, and after adjournment a number came over to the parsonage. This preacher thought we were going to have an old fashioned yard cleaning and he was overjoyed, but after a general discussion in which no one participated, but the ladies, it was decided that the pastor would clean off the yard and make several flower beds, getting everything in shape for the planting of flowers. Dr. Campbell will be called upon to give the writer an examination and if he says that he is physically able to do this work that has been planned, the work will be started the first of January 1930.

The Methodist begin their spring revival next Sunday, and there will be no services at the Baptist church next Sunday night. Every Baptist is urged by the pastor to be on hand Sunday night at the Methodist church and do anything that the pastor asks you to do, except join the Methodist church. Let's all get into these services and a great blessing will be in store for us.

Everybody go to church next Sunday.

G. C. IVINS, Pastor.

FIELD NOTES BY THE MISSIONARY

The Missionary-Evangelistic Conference in session at Seminary Hill February 25-28, appointed a committee to bring recommendations to our Executive Board at its first regular session, concerning State-wide Evangelistic campaign. The Committee would recommend the following:

1. That our board adopt the idea of a State-wide Evangelistic campaign with an evangelistic object of 50,000 for baptism in the year 1929.

2. That each Associational Missionary be designated as an Evangelistic Director for his Association, to assist in planning meetings for every church and community within his Association. And in Associations where there are no Missionaries, that this committee appoint some leading man who will look after the evangelistic efforts for the churches and workers of that Association.

I endorse this campaign and will bring the matter before the Workers' Conference at Center City on April the 8th.

Things seem getting better all over the county. Center City had 63 present at Sunday school 200 present at preaching services, a Sunday school collection of $3.10, and an incidental collection of $1.40.

W. A. THORNTON,
Missionary.

COMING TO THE FRONT

As you walk down the street observe the merchants' show windows. In his window you will find his choice merchandise attractively displayed. What is the reason for this? Simply that you see what he has. This quickens your desire, and you will go in and break your pocketbook.

This Fidelis Sunday School class has learned that a little advertising pays big dividends! We have had the addition to our class of a new and valued member. One whose Sunday School experience will help to broaden our views.

Not long ago we heard a man say he was a "trunk Baptist." We asked him what was the meaning of this. He explained that a "trunk Baptist" was one who kept his letter in a trunk! This may be a safe place but our idea is that the church is a great deal safer.

How many Baptists in Goldthwaite have their letters in trunks? If any have, let it be we are unable to give you full details at this time.

If you are planning something new for spring and don't know what you want, come to the Fidelis class and let us help you solve your problem. We have the best to be obtained in Sunday School training and spiritual instruction.

We saw our teacher at the cooking school last week. We hope she doesn't suffer from overeating.

The class has plans for a weiner roast or country picnic, or what have you? These plans are not fully materialized. So presenting yourselves for membership.

FARM RELIEF

(By W. P. Weaver)

Summer Pastures

"Sudan grass is the chief of summer pasture crops. When planted early in the spring, it can be brought into use by the time winter feeds have disappeared. Sudan should be sowed in 18 inch to 24 inch rows using from 15 pounds to 20 pounds per acre. This will give much better yield, especially during the dry season, as cultivation will cause growth to continue, and cultivation is impossible when sowed broadcast. Cattle will follow the rows and do not impure the crop by tramping as in the case of broadcast seeding. Suddan pastures should be cut into different plots so stock can be changed and the different pastures allowed to renew. The best plan is to sow more than needed and if weather conditions are favorable, cut also a crop or two of hay.

A better summer pasture than Sudan is sweet clover, but until sweet clover is thoroughly established, it is well to sow the full requirement of Sudan.
Where sweet clover is not to be had, small plots of cowpeas
are highly desirable to supplement the Sudan pasture."

Sudan seed can be secured now from local dealers. Get seed now and plant summer pasture and save the native
pasture for winter grazing.

Those "Doubting Thomases"
who are waiting to get some good cows cheap when the cheese factory "goes busted"
will be disappointed to know that as spring pastures advance
the volume of milk is increasing daily. Good cows are at a premium and advancing all the time.

JAS. W. McALEXANDER PASSED AWAY

Mr. Jas. W. McAlexander
died at his home in this city Monday night and his remains were laid to rest in the Cemetery at this place Tuesday afternoon, a large congregation of the friends of the deceased and of his family attending the service.

Jimmie McAlexander, as he was affectionately known to his friends throughout the county and in every walk of life, was one of whom all men spoke well. While he was deprived of the faculties of speech and hearing, he was well educated in the sign language and many of his friends learned it from him, because they liked him and wanted to converse with him. He had a remarkable memory for names and faces and in his younger days was quite active in public affairs,
and he was a familiar figure about town and was acquainted with most of the people here until the last few years,
when failing health and the burden of years prevented his commingling with his friends as of yore.

Several years ago he suffered a slight stroke of apoplexy and never fully recovered from its effects, altho he was able to be up and about most of the time. Recently he was confined to his bed with the flu, but had apparently recovered from it and on Monday he was up and about the house. He ate a hearty supper Monday night and retired at his accustomed time. During the night his wife discovered he was in a very serious condition and when neighbors and a physician arrived it was found that he had passed away. While his recent illness may have hastened his death, it is very probable that a second stroke of apoplexy
was the immediate cause.

Jimmie McAlexander would have been 80 years of age in August. He was born in Mount Pleasant, Miss., August 5, 1849, and came to Texas in 1886, the family locating first in Coryell county and about two years later moving to this county and most of his life since that time was spent in Goldthwaite.

He was married to Mrs. L. A.
Johnson at Van Alstyne Oct.
20, 1912, and she survives him.
He was united with the Methodist church at the age of 16
and remained true to the faith
through life.

PREVENT RATHER THAN CURE

Most of the troubles which are encountered on the farm are avoidable. The majority of questions which come up to The Weekly Star ask how to overcome some difficulty rather than how to prevent it.

Smut in wheat, oats or sor-ghums can easily be prevented by treating the seed before planting. The toll taken by this preventable disease frequently reduces production or depresses the price to such an extent that profits are impossible. The purchase of seed of known varieties, free from weeds and insured to grow may mean the difference between a good stand of grass or legumes and a complete failure.

Blackleg in calves is one of the infectious diseases that can be almost totally eliminated by the use of aggression or filtrates. Stomach worms in lamb can be avoided by arranging pastures so that the flock does not remain on the same ground more than two weeks throughout the grazing season.

Roundworms and neeri, two parasites to which pigs are especially susceptible, are avoided by the most progressive producers by using sanitary precautions at farrowing time and clean ground for fattening purposes.

Bacillary white diarrhea is not found in chicks which come from tested flocks. It is one of the rare diseases which is directly transmitted from parent to offspring. Wormy apples result when spraying is neglected.

March is the month in which precautionary methods should be taken with spring seeded crops, orchards, gardens, livestock and poultry if the majority of preventable diseases
is to be avoided.—Kansas City Star.

MULLIN BAPTIST CHURCH

The Lord gave Mullin Baptist church a most wonderful victory Sunday, March 17th. The pastor was greeted by a large and very attentive congregation. After the morning message the church with great interest and enthusiasm voted to adopt the Unified Budget system of financing the Lord's work. We rejoice greatly in this victory. The pastor keeps busy on the field and is fast becoming familiar with local conditions and needs of his church territory. We now predict that with the continued backing and co-operation of this splendid band of church workers, that greater victories

will be announced as we march onward and upward.

We most earnestly urge an example of deeper consecration, humility, efficiency and faithfulness upon the part of all local leaders be manifest at all times, and may the church have a part in all our great Baptist program.

BRIDGE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Lockhart entertained the members of the T. L. P. Club in their apartment, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Greathouse, Tuesday evening. After the guests had all gathered and a delightful chat and laugh was enjoyed, tables were arranged and five interesting games of bridge were played. High score was made by Mr. Barnett. Low score was made by Mrs. Bonstead.

THE NATIONAL FLOWER

Probably it is important that our country have a national flower. Every outstanding country on the globe except the United States has its national flower. Many of these nations have great pride in their adopted flower as an emblem of national life or as a symbol of some historic interest of the people. And not a few of them have songs of more or less national interest referring to their national flower.

In the United States the goldenrod has held a prominent place if not first place thus far, and it has been adopted in some instances by states, or suggested by states as an appropriate national flower. The goldenrod grows in many sections of the country, it is a very hardy plant, it matures in autumn, and in point of beauty will stand a comparison with any other known flower. Possibly its color, yellow, is against its final adoption. Also the fact that it has but one color, whereas a flower having shades or tints suggestive of the colors of the American flag would appeal more to the average voter on the question. Among the flowers suggested by different organizations and persons in different sections of the country are the goldenrod, the wild rose, the blue bonnet, the violet, the wild aster, and others. Dallas Camp Fire Girls favor phlox for several outstanding reasons: First, it grows in all sections of the country. Hence its universality of interest as a nation-wide indigenous plant. Second, it is a very hardy plant, suggesting the stability of our government and the hardihood of American character. Third, it has the colors—red, white and blue—symbolic of our national flag. These three arguments almost make out a case for the phlox, and it may be that in due time these reasons will be confirmed in public thought and approved by the American people in the adoption of the flower. In addition to these commendable qualities, most of the species are perennial plants which

COTTON THEFT A FELONY

There are bank robbers in Texas, poultry robbers in Texas, cattle robbers in Texas, auto thieves in Texas and cotton thieves in Texas. Doubtless there are thieves of all descriptions in Texas. Like the poor of the Lord they are ever with us.

Governor Moody has signed a cotton theft penalty measure. It makes the first offense of stealing cotton under $50 punishable by jail sentence and subsequent offenses a felony. It becomes effective 90 days after adjournment of the regular session of the legislature.

Cattle theft is a felony; poultry theft is a felony; auto theft is a felony; manufacturing whiskey is a felony and now cotton theft is a felony. Prisons are full to overflowing. There are more than 4500 convicts doing time.

In the near future it will be necessary to enlarge the prison plant under the skies of Texas to provide adequate quarters for the ever increasing stream of humanity flowing through the gates of the penal institutions.

Chief Justice William Howard Taft has said that the big criminals go unwhipped of justice and the small fry criminals are shown no mercy. Is this in accordance with the eternal law? Or is it true? — Austin American.

How much power is in your garden?

NATURE can do only so much with any seed. The seed itself must contain the promise and the power. You would feel convinced of the power of Ferry's purebred Seeds if you could see the great Ferry stock seed farm and trial gardens. Here are acres and acres of specimen plants. Every plant that is mature is big, vigorous, beautiful, and bountiful. Only the best plants are allowed to mature—all else are weeded out. Any plant that doesn't produce true to type gets weeded out. And only seeds from the plants that measure up to the Ferry standards in size, color, flavor, productivity—are the Ferry's Seeds you can buy.

In these seeds is the power to produce flowers of superb beauty, and vegetables of superior flavor and size.

Surely all the work you put into your garden deserves just these seeds. Ferry's Seeds have to be all you expect when you buy them. In addition, they are fresh. No packet of Ferry's Seeds is ever carried over by the dealer for sale the second season. Ferry's Seeds may be had at "the store around the corner." Write at once for the Ferry's Seed Annual—with its good garden advice. Address D. M. Ferry & Co., Dept. H, Detroit, Mich.

Your garden will have its best possible start with Ferry's purebred Seeds.

It is significant that at almost every favored resort there has developed an overwhelming preference for Texaco Motor Oil.

But this tendency, however marked, is not surprising. TAKING THE IRK OUT OF WORK

The genius of the inventor is fast lightening the work of the farmer. In the not far distant past a "weak mind and a strong back" were the best assets of a farm laborer, for in those days man power meant physical ability. It took a strong pair of arms and a stronger back to swing the scythe during the long, hot days of the harvest. But just as the hard work of the harvest time has been eliminated by the combine which cuts and thrashes at one operation, so the other, hard tasks of the farmers can now be done with machines built for that special purpose.

From seed time to harvest, no matter what the field crop, machines can do the work. Frequently they do it better and at a saving in regard to cost, over hand labor. The stationary engine and the electric motor are better sources of power, save time, strength, and health, and in the long run are cheaper.

The farmer's wife is also the beneficiary, for there are labor-saving devices for her, too. Cooking, churning, washing, and house cleaning, those scourges of the oldtime farm which robbed her of her strength and health and made her beauty fade almost before she was grown, can now be done by machinery, thus giving her time for rest and leisure for reading, recreation, and social activities.

The National Congress will never be able to pass a "farm relief" bill that will bring about as much relief to the farmer and his wife as the various machines, implements, and labor-saving devices have done. With the aid of these the farmer of the future will do his work with far less manual labor. He will have time to do other things than run his farm. Perhaps he will have time to smile occasionally. Certainly he will feel more like it than the overworked farmer of the past. Both he and his wife will have the chance to do more what they wish, which means greater opportunities.

They owe much to the chemist in his laboratory and the "visionary dreamers," the inventors, whose creations have made it possible to feed and clothe the teeming millions of the population of the world today, with far less expenditure of human muscles.—Farm and Ranch.

COMPENSATION IN RENDERING SERVICE

It takes a courageous, unselfish man to submerge his individualism in order to render the best service to the people. It takes a man with high ideals and unstinted patriotism to forego the advantages of personal aggrandizement that he may do more effective work for the public or for the institution which he may represent. There are such men, and when one is fortunate enough to secure their confidence and get close enough to read their innermost thoughts, we learn that their compensation for their apparent sacrifice comes to them in the form of peace of mind and an almost immeasurable joy of being able to serve humanity unselfishly and without hope of publicity and other reward. It takes a big man to gracefully yield a position or an opinion for the good of the service. It takes a strong man to work co-operatively with another in rendering a service to the people when there is every reason to believe that little credit, if any, will be given him. This applies to institutions as well as individuals.

It is natural and not always censurable for an individual to seek publicity and to claim credit for good work as a means of promoting his own welfare, for oftentimes it places him in a position to render a greater service. It is quite natural, but not so commendable, for a tax-supported institution to refuse to work co-operatively with another of like character.

In Texas we have numerous institutions and agencies working for the development of the agricultural interests of the State. An effort is being made to harmonize this work in order that there will be less lost motion and less interference with each other and with recognized agricultural agencies supported by the tax payers. We also have several tax-supported institutions and departments each with its staff of specialists and other workers whose lines cross one another occasionally. Thus far the friction generated has been largely between individuals, and that has been negligible in quantity. We are to congratulate ourselves as tax-paying citizens that in so large a State with such a diversity of resources and problems that this inharmoniousness has been kept at a minimum. At the same time there exists a form of competition between institutions and departments that may be easily developed to the danger point. It is the duty of every man employed either in high or low position by the taxpayers of this State to give first consideration to what is best for the people without regard to his own prestige or that of the institution or department represented by him. If he is a big man he will have no difficulty in doing this. His compensation, in part, will come from the knowledge of service unselfishly rendered. He may set assured, however, that the public will not be long in giving him proper recognition. If he is not that kind of a man, he is overpaid at any price and should seek other fields—Farm and Ranch.

R. D. Winder of the Pearson Construction Co. of Austin was a Goldthwaite visitor last week-end and looked over the paving situation here, with a view to submitting a proposition to the City Council and Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Winder was enthusiastic over the conditions he found in regard to the foundation for paving and the drainage. In discussing the conditions with an Eagle reporter he stated that a rock asphalt topping could be put on the public square, business, and main residence streets for approximately one-half the cost in most towns, because of the hard surface, the well built and well drained streets. He said his company had been in the paving and hard surfacing business, for many years and he had never seen conditions more favorable than in Goldthwaite. After studying the situation here, Mr. Winder returned to Austin, but is to come back to Goldthwaite in the near future to go over the matter with the city authorities and other leading citizens.

FELT BAD AFTER EATING

"FOUR YEARS AGO, I suffered with the burn and bilious indigestion. Whatever I ate disagreed with me. Gas on my stomach made me very uncomfortable. My tongue was coated and my bowels needed medicine, and so my mother-in-law gave me some Black-Draught and told me to take it. I found it helped me very much, so I bought it for myself. Seems it was the very thing I needed. It is a fine family remedy, and I use it when I need something for constipation. I also give Black-Draught to my children whenever they need something for colds or upset stomachs. Our whole family takes Black-Draught."

OLD AGE PENSIONS

True, a system of old-age pensions will be necessary at no far distant day, if in fact it is not already necessary. The subject is treated exhaustively in the United States Daily, published at Washington and some rather interesting facts are brought out. At the outset it is stated that pensions for the aged are already authorized by six states of the union and by Alaska and there are in these states about 1,000 persons receiving pensions averaging $17.37. The Daily goes further into the subject and says in part:

There appears to be a growing tendency of commissions appointed to study the subject of old-age dependency to recommend some form of public pension, to be regarded not as charity but rather as recognition of service, to be paid under careful supervision, but to be sufficient to enable the recipient to remain with his family or friends instead of obliging him to become a resident of some institution.

There are at present six States (and Alaska) which have adopted some form of pension legislation designed to provide for aged dependents, and measures on the subject are pending or being studied in many other States and in the Congress of the United States. It may be of interest, therefore, to review briefly the progress in such legislation.

Little attention was paid to this question in the United States until the present century. The first active step in connection therewith seems to have been the appointment of a commission by Massachusetts in 1907 to investigate and report on the subject. No action resulted from that report. In the report of the investigation of the subject eight years later by another Massachusetts commission occurs in this statement:

"No general system of old-age insurance or pensions has been established by the United States Government or by any individual States, although there are in operation special systems covering certain classes of public employees such as veterans, retired Army and Navy officers, State employees (Massachusetts), and certain other municipal employees. No very considerable portion of the population of this country, or of any of the States, is yet covered by any system of old-age insurance or pensions."
