Lions Club Prepares Zone Meeting Program

Large Number Going From Goldthwaite

The Goldthwaite Lions club expects to send a large delegation to the group meeting of Lions clubs at Mason next Wednesday, June 11. The Goldthwaite club is joint host with the Mason club for this meeting and the secretary of the local organization has been advised by the Mason secretary that this club will be expected to provide the program. Arrangements have been made for several of our local artists, most of them from Lions club families to go to Mason with the delegation and put on a program that will be creditable to the town as well as the Lions club. Goldthwaite has ample talent for an occasion like this one and it is a pleasure to call for it when response is made so readily and with such a degree of enthusiasm. The Lions club appreciates the ready response of the young people who were drafted for this program and the entire citizenship should take pride in young people who are ever ready to assist in carrying out any plan that will reflect credit on the town and county.

It is expected that the Goldthwaite delegation will start at an early hour next Wednesday, in order to reach Mason in time for the opening of the convention at 10 o'clock. Assurance is given that an adjournment will be had early enough in the afternoon to allow the delegation to reach home before night.

All Lions club members are urged to attend this meeting and to notify Secretary W. C. Barnett of their intentions as soon as possible.

MAYFIELD SPEAKS

Hon. Earle B. Mayfield, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, spoke in the district court room here Wednesday afternoon to a large audience, in the interest of his candidacy.

Mr. Mayfield is one of the most able speakers in the campaign and his speech here was one of his best and caused many of his hearers to decide to support him in the campaign. He has served the public in many official capacities, among them state senator, railroad commissioner and United States senator. He has a wide acquaintance and his friends are legion. While there are fifteen names on file with the state committee for a place on the primary ballot and fully a dozen of those names will appear on the ballot in July, several will be in the "also ran" class, but Senator Mayfield will be among the leaders. He has some strong personal and political friends in this city and county who will use their best endeavors to secure a strong support for him in this county.

Community Exhibits Very Helpful

Arrangements are being perfected for the county Fair. Every citizen should be interested in the enterprise. A county Fair is of vast benefit in advertising the resources of the county, while the matter of drawing the people together for mutual pleasure and to renew acquaintances is no inconsiderable benefit.

Mills county can make a fine showing of products and resources and it is hoped all citizens will co-operate with the Fair officials in making this the best Fair ever held in this county.

Community exhibits and stock displays are among the important matters to be given attention and while the premiums of necessity must be small, county pride can repay in a large measure for the effort, and outlay. The Eagle sincerely hopes that every community in the county will be represented in the 1930 Fair on July 16, 17, 18.

HORTON—FEATHERSTON

Mr. Nolan Horton, of Wichita Falls, and Miss Laura Featherston were united in marriage at the home of her parents northeast of Goldthwaite at 7:30 a. m. on June 1. Rev. S. D. Lambert, pastor of the Methodist church of Goldthwaite, officiating.

Mrs. Horton is a beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Featherston. She attended school at Southwestern University of Georgetown and has been teaching a number of years in Coleman county.

Mr. Horton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Horton of Pleasant Grove. He has taken his degree from the University of Texas and he now holds a responsible position in the chemistry department of the Continental Oil Company at Wichita Falls, where he and Mrs. Horton will make their home.

The bride wore a beautiful shell pink chiffon crepe with accessories to match. The groom wore a dark blue suit.

After the ceremony, breakfast was served to the immediate families and a few friends, who were present. Then the bride adorned herself in a lovely shantung going away dress and they left for Wichita Falls.

Both of these fine young people were reared in Mills county and have a host of friends who wish them much success and happiness during their married life.

NAZARENE MEETING

Revival services were commenced in the Nazarene church last Sunday morning, to continue a week or longer. Rev. Hamric, an evangelist from Hamlin is doing the preaching and holds the attention of his audiences. He is enthusiastic in his delivery and in his efforts to be helpful to his hearers. Rev. Braswell, pastor of the church, leads the song service, which is one of the pleasing and attractive features of the meeting. While the congregations have not been large, it is hoped and believed that interest in the services will grow.

LAST DAY FOR FILING

Next Friday, June 14, will be the last day for local candidates to file applications with the county chairman for a place on the primary ballot. The chairman has no authority to waive this requirement and to do so would be illegal, hence the candidates who fail to file an application before midnight next Friday will be left off the ticket. It is not often that candidates overlook this important matter and it is hoped none will overlook it this time.

SPIRIT OF OUR PEOPLE

Every town, village and hamlet, as well as every person, longs to achieve.

Some communities are blessed with attainments in art, music, the drama, and with great institutions of learning. Others point with pride to a highly developed industrial and commercial system. Many stress the beauties and wonders of natural resources or majestic scenery. Climate and living conditions have been featured in community advertising.

But there is one thing all possess in common. It is the possibility that any community may distinguish itself. That possibility is the spirit of the people, or what is called community spirit.

The "kingdom" is within us. Now is the time for a greater sense of responsibility and more reason for co-operation in the general welfare. There is little need to wish for more industries, more trade and more population unless all of us work together in common purposes to gain commonly desired objectives.

The hope for too quick a result is not practical. But the most reassuring fact is that in whatever degree our people cooperate in the public interest the community will proportionately move forward; and in whatever degree the spirit of our people fails, ground will be lost.

PLAYGROUND FOR LEAGUERS

The Wesley Workers class of the Methodist Sunday school, under the leadership of Mrs. S. P. Sullivan, has secured the privilege of the city lots adjoining the waterworks in the northern portion of the city, at the site of the old oil mill, and has already prepared for a tennis court, croquet grounds and other forms of entertainment and amusement for the young people composing the class.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

We have been having extra large crowds here of late. The number has been increasing in Bible study on Sunday mornings for some time. The number attending prayer meeting has been very encouraging all along, but we set a new record this week with 149 at prayer meeting. This is some 15 more than we have members in the congregation. This is very encouraging, especially when we take into consideration the fact that prayer meeting is the hardest service usually to get people to attend. From the view point of Bible study, Bible instruction our prayer meeting is one of our most important services. It is delightful the way most of our members co-operate in the mid-week service. Some of our friends who are not members with us have helped much with their presence every Wednesday evening and their splendid help in the lesson. It is indeed fine when neighbors, friends and brethren come together in pleasant Bible study. You know Jesus said, "You shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

The Young People's class work is also very fine. We have an extra large class each Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m. We plan to have an extra good program for the third Sunday evening. We are urging all our young people to be on time so we can have a very profitable time.

Remember our Bible study will begin at 9:50 a. m. next Sunday, preaching at 11 a. m. Communion at 11:40 a. m. Subject next Sunday morning, "The Day of Pentecost." The great events which had their beginning on this day will be under consideration. Be sure to be with us.

Don't fail to be with us in the young folks class at 7:30 p. m. next Sunday.

Preaching Sunday evening. Subject will be announced later.

Remember everyone who can possibly do so is urged to be present in Bible study next Sunday. We want to make another high mark in attendance. Fathers, mothers, young men, young ladies, boys and girls time is carrying us swiftly toward a never-ending eternity. Are you prepared? Are you ready? "Watchman what of the night?" Come. E. S. FITZGERALD

CHAPPEL HILL

As I have not seen anything from Chappel Hill lately, I'll endeavor to write some of the happenings of this community.

Don't put your winter clothes away dirty. Have them cleaned by Burch and the material will be preserved.

If you are interested in having a local item of any kind appear in the Eagle, it would be a good plan to report it; otherwise, it may not reach this office.

Willford Gray and family were called to Waco Saturday in response to a message announcing the serious illness of Mrs. Gray's brother. They returned home Sunday.

Elmo Smith and wife of Luling spent last week end with relatives in this county and left Sunday on their return trip home. He is employed in the oil business and is doing well.

Eventually Cotton White Flour.—Archer Grocery Co.

A large number of Epworth Leaguers of Goldthwaite attended a district meeting at Richland Springs Sunday and participated in the program. They report a most delightful day.

Editor Charlie Hall of the McGregor Mirror, accompanied by his wife and little daughter, passed thru the city Friday en route to the Colorado to spend a few days fishing and preparing camp for a longer outing later in the summer. It was indeed a pleasure to have them call at the Eagle office and renew acquaintance and friendship.

Mrs. Etta Keel of Austin, accompanied by her son, Lloyd, who has been teaching in the public schools of eastern Texas for several years, arrived in the city Sunday for a visit to her mother, Mrs. D. T. Bush, and other relatives. They left Monday for Blair, to visit her son, Guthrie, who is station agent at that place for the Santa Fe. They expect to spend the latter part of the week here with relatives and friends.

Eventually Cotton White Flour.—Archer Grocery Co.

Wilbur Perkins, a graduate of Mullin High school and business manager for the Tattler the past school year, was a visitor to Goldthwaite Saturday, winding up some business affairs, preparatory to going to Fort Worth, where he has employment for the summer. He has made a remarkable record as manager of the Tattler and one that can scarcely be equalled by the manager of a school paper in a town the size of Mullin. He will be missed from the school and from the town, but his friends extend their good wishes to him wherever he goes.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Splendid congregations at all services Sunday, although several of our regular attendants were absent both morning and night. We noticed some new faces in our congregation Sunday morning and night. We extend to them an invitation to come back.

Congratulations to our Sunday school for being prompt, also for the promptness of the people who worship with us on Sunday night. We have always believed in naming the time to begin and beginning promptly at that time. When we do this we will always get out on time. Those of you who come to Sunday school and think that you do not have time to stay for church are mistaken. Our services are so closely related that you will not have to stay but just a little while longer to be in both morning services. Now listen, let's be on time as we were last Sunday, coming to the auditorium when the bell rings, and if we will do this, unless something out of the ordinary happens we will be through by 11:30 a. m. Those of you who do not come to Sunday school and come to church remember to get to church by 10:45. That is when we begin our preaching service. We are going to continue to begin our services on Sunday night at 8 p. m. Now, when you folk start for your last drive on Sunday eve just drive by the Baptist church at 8 o'clock and stay for about 45 minutes and we will let you continue your drive.

The Worker's Conference at Midway last Monday was one of our best. A beautiful spirit was manifested throughout the day, and the good ladies of that community seem to have everything that a man would want to eat except cornbread and they will have that next year, from the looks of the fields. The ladies deserve special commendation for their program. It was what you would call "An Every Woman's Program." Many talks were made and every one was worthwhile. Our next meeting will be with the Big Valley church.

A gentleman who comes to the Baptist church most every Sunday said to this pastor the other day, "When you get you a new suit come around and I will give you a new tie." Here is a little information that might be of interest to many of our people. The pastor and superintendent both are expected to be dressed up Sunday morning. Now with this information we ought to have three hundred in Sunday school next Sunday. G. C. IVINS, Pastor.

SWINDLE SPEAKS AT MILLS MEETING

J. Oscar Swindle made a trip to Mills county Saturday night and spoke before a group of school patrons at Midway school, ten miles east of Goldthwaite. Mr. Swindle spoke on the advantages of rural high schools and consolidation. He reported today that there was a large number present and that much interest was being manifested in the proposed consolidation.

STAR FOLKS WED

Mr. Reuben Emby and Miss Clara Wall, both of Star, were united in marriage Friday afternoon at the residence of Rev. W. A. Thornton in this city. Rev. Thornton officiating. The young people were reared in the Star community and have a host of friends there and elsewhere. Mr. Emby is a farmer and stands high with those who know him, as man of industry and integrity. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wall and has a large number of admiring friends who join in extending congratulations and good wishes to her and to her husband.

WORTH REMEMBERING

Elections are at times much like South American revolutions; not so very dangerous nor inconvenient to the leaders but mighty fatal to bystanders.

Wasn't it Thomas Jefferson who said: "To gain leisure wealth must first be secured. But once leisure is gained, more people use it in pursuit of pleasure than in gaining knowledge."

Some folks are so set in their habits and opinions and so opposed to temperance that when attempting to recite Hiawatha they call it "Firewater."

Only too often it happens that some one comes along with a vision and wants a new publicly supported institution. Usually it turns out that he had only a scheme.

By the way,—Texas doesn't need the sort of Governor who has as his motto,—"Read and Tremble" nor one who wants folks to leap in the air a yard or two every time he may roar.

When disposed to soar aloft in the airy realms of conjecture, leaving facts behind, the human mind is apt to be led astray.

To be a real statesman one must be against twice as many things as he is in favor of.

Has anyone ever commented upon the fact that the sun does a lot of work and keeps at it day after day without putting up a lot of noise about it?

Contentment is the philosopher's stone which turns all it touches into gold. The poor man is rich with it and the rich man is poor without it.

James Montgomery in his "World Before the Flood" originated the now oft used expression—"hope against hope."

When a "little down in the mouth" over affairs that appear unpromising it would be well to read a line or two in Scott's "Rob Roy";—especially the one which tells us, "There is a good time coming."

And yet old man Hez Peck tells us that "Etiquette, more particularly table etiquette, was invented for no other purpose than to keep a man from 'gitten' a square meal."—Facts and Fiction.

SOME MEDICINE

If the earliest doctor book is still read by our doctors, we hope they won't follow any of that volume's recipes when they prescribe for us. Aulus Cornelius Celsus wrote at a time when powdered viper and liquefied lizard were popular remedies. In addition to that sort of materia medica, the physicians of Dr. Celsus' time were great on conjure. They believed in voodoo. They held incantations and did funny things with bizarre charms in order to exorcise the evil spirits inhabiting the sick. We know now, we scientists, that the sick of those times were inviolated by germs, which all the ancients injected prodigiously. We know that conjuring methods had no effect, and that snake skins gave no embarrassment to the devil when shaken in his face. We know these truths to be self-evident to us, but we don't know why the sick got well, how the well avoided death, how centenarians got that way. Certainly deleterious food habits were common to the ancients and medievalists. Certainly germs swarmed all over them. Yet aged and venerable men were not uncommon even when nobody took the trouble to sweat a fly. Old history is full of old men, but very little is chronicled concerning old women. Can it be possible that the women died young? More likely it is that the ancient historians ignored the women. The old-timers arrogated to their own sex most of the consequential matters of life. But modern historians are very different. Women are in the newspapers every day, and history in the future will be written mostly from newspaper files. The women are coming into their own. They are even taking more than belongs to them in the way of pictures and press notices, especially in the bathing review season.—State Press in Dallas News.

CAUSING CRIME

The National Crime Commission has suggested that a local crime commission be formed in every community, for the purpose of enforcing laws with reference to local conditions. This is a sound suggestion. The law cannot change the public attitude or remodel public habits. Those reformers who advocate such "cures" as, for instance, a Federal revolver law, which would seek to impose exactly the same restrictions on communities thousands of miles apart, with entirely different problems to cope with, have too much zeal and too little logic. The best thing State and Federal government could do toward preventing crime would be to pass more laws, but to weed out the unenforceable, unnecessary and burdensome laws that now infest the land. Apparently their sole result, aside from "creating" criminals, has been to so burden the process of law with technicalities that intelligent and swift dispensation of justice to criminals is impossible. Single American cities have more major crime than many of the great European countries. Part of this is due to political-criminal alliances, part to the activities of misguided sisters, part to incompetent police systems. But it is probable that a leading cause has been our mania for passing impractical or unenforceable laws.

CONCERNING FIREARMS

The pistol, as the Baumes Crime Commission pointed out in one of its valuable reports, is primarily a criminal's weapon, and to be of value to any person relying on it for protection, expert ability in drawing, firing and marksmanship is necessary. Since most persons are not particularly adept with firearms, a pistol is often an added risk in case of holdup or robbery instead of an added protection. The proper handling of an automobile, requires technical training, and at the very minimum firearms should be permitted only upon license. It is obvious that the Federal control of firearms will meet with a certain understandable objection from the underworld, but already most police officials are convinced that such control would facilitate both the prevention and detection of crime. The unrestricted sale of firearms to unqualified persons is a menace to the innocent as well as an advantage to the criminal.—Christian Science Monitor.

A NEW ELDER

The Llano district of the Methodist conference now has a new presiding elder in the person of Rev. W. M. Rader, one of the strong men of the church and one who has been a leader in its activities for a good many years. He was located at Kingsville, down in the Rio Grande valley, until the general conference of his church, when there was a lot of changing about. Some of the big preachers were elevated or reduced to the position of bishop and their places in the pastorates had to be filled, so that's how Rev. Rader was made presiding elder of the district in which the Methodist churches of Mills county are enlisted. Rev. W. L. Barr, who served the district as presiding elder three and a half years, was made pastor at Temple, in order that Rev. Neal could be transferred to Cisco as presiding elder, so that Rev. Culver could go to Fort Worth to relieve Cullom Booth, in order that he might go to Travis Park church in San Antonio to relieve Rev. Kern, who was made a bishop. A lot of people in this district know and like Rev. Rader and are glad to welcome him to his new work.

EQUALIZATION BOARD

The Commissioners court was in special session Saturday, sitting as a board of equalization to hear the statements of those whose renditions had been raised or lowered in equalizing the renditions for the county assessment. Very few taxpayers appeared, as very few renditions had been changed. The court gave careful attention to every one appearing and the renditions will doubtless be placed on an equal basis.

CONVENTION POSTPONED

Owing to the smallpox epidemic in the Prairie community we think it best to postpone the district singing convention, scheduled for that place June 8th, until the next regular session, which is the 2nd Sunday in September. Trusting this to be agreeable to all concerned. NIEL DAVIS, President. J. L. VAN ZANDT, Vice-President.

OVERDRAFT

When haphazard, political or grafting methods prevail in a city, expenses outrun income and the result is a deficit. Chicago recently gave the country a brilliant example of what a city government ought not to do, and it took the combined efforts of thousands of patriotic citizens to extricate the city from the embarrassing situation of being unable to pay its employees—even its policemen.

Dallas now shows up with $300,000 on the wrong side of the ledger, according to the Dallas News. Officials refer to it as an overdraft, while the Dallas News insists that this euphemism should be discarded for plainer and blunter term, debt.

Counties frequently find themselves in the same case, and to tide themselves over to another tax harvest, resort to borrowing from Peter to pay Paul, and even states have been guilty of the same practice. Loose methods and divided responsibility have cost taxpayers millions.

But the municipality always has resources from which to recoup its wastes and losses. The lands, goods and occupations of its people stand back of its debts. Taxes foot the bills eventually, except in those rare cases when some small city becomes bankrupt, through trying to ape big city ways with inadequate resources. This has happened in the Southwest and will happen again.

Overdrafts or debts, as you prefer to call them, when used for current expenses, seldom wreck municipalities, for the reasons mentioned. But they are bad business just the same. How much more so when they become the habitual practice of the individual, who has no escape by passing the costs to others—Farm and Ranch.

KONJOLA PUT ME BACK ON ROAD TO GOOD HEALTH

Dallas Lady Eagerly Endorses New Medicine—Found Relief After Other Medicines Failed

MRS. F. L. BETHEL

"For four years my system was in a rundown condition and for the past eight months, stomach and kidney disorders have caused me much suffering," said Mrs. F. L. Bethel, 406 Avondale street, Liberty Heights, Dallas. "Gas formed after each meal and I had a burning sensation from my throat to the pit of my stomach. My kidneys were sore and did not function properly. I had pains across my back, and I was steadily losing weight and strength."

"I finally decided to try Konjola and this medicine has put me back on the road to health. I am no longer troubled with the stomach condition. My vitality and general health have improved immensely, and I am free from those terrible pains in my back. I sleep soundly at night and my whole system has taken on new life."

When taken from six to eight weeks, Konjola, the new and different medicine, will work wonders that will astonish those who suffer from the stubborn ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Goldthwaite, Texas, at Hudson

Middle Life Suffering

"Three years ago, I was in bad health," says Mrs. J. B. Bean, of Kirbyville, Texas. "I was going through a critical time, and I suffered a lot. My back hurt almost all the time, and my legs and ankles ached. My head hurt me until sometimes I would be almost past going. As I had used Cardui before, and knew how much I had improved after taking it, I got a bottle and started taking it. I continued to use it for several months. After a while I regained my health, and I feel that I could never have gotten through that awful time without Cardui."

Youthful Singer Advises Modernistic Educational Training

MARION BRINN

All my dreams I dream about you, what is my dream with-out you? I love you so I love you so

Marion Brinn, of Radio Fame, Discusses Child Prodigies

New York City.—Children with talent for entertaining should have the same chance for development of their talent as the child interested in the more common-place business of every-day life. So says Marion Brinn, famous radio artist, aged seventeen, who for the past ten years has been a child prodigy. "Why should not the singer get the same school training that the bookkeeper or stenographer does?" she asks. "I think every child has a latent desire to do something, and this should be developed right along with what is known as 'reading,' 'riting,' 'rithmetic.' I was very lucky, for in my case, my mother did just that, and my musical vocation got as much attention as my school work. "It seems to me such an un-terable waste of time to hammer figures and Greek verbs into a child who is only interested in painting, or to insist on having a literary course if a child's ambition is to be a civil engineer. Some day our mob education will have to be adjusted.

"To me every new song is like a lesson. It's an adventure, and I live through every note and every word of the lyric, and am able to because of my early training. The song for which I get so many requests over the air, 'I Love You So,' was studied and worked over just as I had worked over my academic courses. It tells a simple old tale in waltz tempo. I think this is the only way one can get the best there is out of music or any other profession for that matter, and the sooner we learn to become students of music, the better music we are going to have, and the more understandingly it is going to be interpreted."

UNORDERED MERCHANDISE

There is a bill before congress which would prohibit the mailing of merchandise to prospective customers who have not ordered it. For many years it has been the practice of various concerns to mail out hosiery, neckties, perfumes, greeting cards and the like to lists of persons likely to accept and pay for the stuff rather than go to the trouble of returning it.

This practice is the source of great annoyance to persons whose names happen to get on the mailing lists of the firms employing it. Even though there is no legal obligation to pay for or return the goods sent them "on approval" most persons will do one or the other through fear of appearing to be dishonest.

SENSE AND OTHERWISE

By Sam Blow

Men who hang around waiting for something to turn should begin with their own sleeves.

It is said that there are over 200 men in this country engaged in the junking of automobiles, not including the fool drivers.

If you cannot make light of your troubles, keep them dark, yes, very dark, at that.

The best kind of a wife is usually chosen by men's ears rather than by their eyes.

It isn't the shame of being poor that hurts and hurts. It's the devilish monotony of it.

The hand that used to rock the cradle now steers the car or shuffles the deck.

A free country is one in which you can do as you please if you don't offend reformers and if you pay gang leaders for protection.

The young hardware salesman says every time he sends his girl a telegram he puts it down in his expense book as "chicken wire."

If a fellow is lazy you can curse him, if he is dishonest you can watch him, if he is impudent you can kick him; but if he is untruthful you had better leave him entirely alone.

THE JAIL FAD

"The master of this channel of wisdom could probably get prominent quicker by being put in jail, but the old unostentatious way is preferred. Jail

"grub" does not appeal to the average appetite—and our is average—and old grey walls are not as pleasing to gaze upon as display in art galleries. But it looks like we are approaching an age when it will be a signal honor to be a "jail bird."

An alleged authority predicts that the present crime wave will pale into insignificance when compared with the one that will envelope the nation when boys and girls of today mature. We do not agree with the pessimistic sage. It cannot be unless people persist in eulogizing criminals—great criminals and small criminals. There are many men today, and there will be many men tomorrow, who will go to almost any extreme to get their pictures in newspapers and magazines. They will tomorrow as they do today, like to see their names in print. If they can't reach the goal one way they will another. If it comes to the point where it is not dishonorable to go to jail they will choose the route. People of refinement and culture should magnify the shame and remorse that follow jail terms and impress upon young boys and girls the fact that he who has been in jail is not on an equal footing with the man or woman whose career has not been blackened by contact with bastiles and convicts. Uprightness of constituted authority should be taught wherever children assemble. There are more agencies working today to improve the moral fiber of boys and girls than there ever has been before in the history of the world. Unless there are agencies, equally as efficient, directing young people the wrong way, the prediction cannot come true."—Coleman Democrat-Voice.

A GOOD CITIZEN GONE

Mr. M. W. Hodges died in the sanitarium in Brownwood last Thursday night, after a short illness and his remains were brought back to Pleasant Grove, his home community, where the burial took place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, a large number of his neighbors and other friends being in attendance.

Mr. Hodges became ill on Sunday of last week and after a few days his condition became so serious it was thought best to take him to the sanitarium, but the best of skill and care could not avail and he passed away a few hours after reaching the sanitarium. He was one of the valued and dependable citizens of Mills county and his going is a matter of sincere regret for all who knew him. He had lived in Pleasant Grove community about fourteen years and was universally esteemed.

He leaves a wife, two sons, J. D. and Hoover Hodges, and one daughter, Mrs. W. I. Horton of Collingsworth county. His parents, three brothers and one sister survive him and are all residents of Lampasas county.

MR. SUMMY PASSED AWAY

Mr. W. P. Summy died at his residence at Mullin yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, after a long illness. His condition was serious for some time and he was carried to the sanitarium in Brownwood, where he spent some time and seemed so much improved that he returned to him home, but never fully recovered. He had been a citizen of the county a long time and stood high in the estimation of all who knew him. He was a familiar figure about Mullin and was a favorite with a host of friends. For several years he served as city recorder and had occupied other positions of honor and trust. Mr. Summy is survived by his wife and a number of other relatives, among them his son, Mr. W. B. Summy, and family of this city.

The sympathy of the community here and also of Mullin goes out to the bereaved family.

The funeral will take place in Mullin today, but the time had not been announced when the Eagle was put to press.

VACATION TIME

This month the vacation season will begin in earnest, and many thousands of persons will visit various interesting places for the first time, some in our own country and others abroad. While recreation will be the principal aim of many, a majority will expect to learn something of permanent value during their travels.

In order that one may derive the most benefit from his travel experiences, it would be well to find out as much as possible about the places so to be visited ahead of time. Then, when he actually sees the places and objects of which he has studied, he will gain a more lasting impression of their significance.

All information gained from guides and handbooks during one's travels is valuable of course, but it is generally superficial, and lacking in the historical background which is necessary for a full understanding and appreciation of the famous places where history has been made.

The educational value of travel depends largely upon knowing beforehand what one wants to see, and why.

FARMER.

IN MEMORY OF LITTLE ROY DALE HAMILTON

On April 15, 1930, our heavenly Father saw fit to call little Roy Dale Hamilton from his sufferings to dwell with Him and His angels.

Roy Dale's life on earth was very short—just four months and four days, he having been born December 11, 1929 just long enough for his parents sisters and brothers to become attached to him. He was such a sweet and lovable child, and bore his sufferings so bravely. He would look at his mother so sweet, and pleadingly. He was sick four weeks and suffered so awful. Everything that loving hands could do was done for him, but it was God's will for him to go. He was a little flower budded on earth to bloom in Heaven. I love to think of little Roy as being one of the sweetest and brightest flowers in God's bouquet. It is true, dear loved ones, you can never see those beautiful eyes or sweet smiles again on earth, but it is such a consolation to know that you can meet him in that sweet beyond, where there will be no more tears shed and no more goodbyes.

Roy Dale is survived by his parents, five sisters, two brothers, one dear granny and one granddad and many others to mourn his going.

May God bless each one of you and help you bear your grief. ONE WHO LOVED HIM

C. L. Bodkin left the first of the week for Tennessee and Kentucky to visit relatives and friends.

J. C. Evans was quite sick the first of the week, but is improved now and able to look after his business.

A number of teachers and graduates have gone to summer school, but the Eagle failed to get the names of most of them.

Mrs. Louis McElroy and little son and Mrs. Conway Evans of Dallas are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Evans.

Miss Ella Pearl Harrell, teacher of Latin in the High school, enjoyed a visit last week end from her father, sister and cousin, all of Smithville.

Mrs. R. L. Armstrong and children and Miss Hazel Fulton left Wednesday morning for Corpus Christi for a visit to Dr. Em. Wilson and family.

County Clerk Porter had only received one application for marriage license up to the time the Eagle was put to press, that being Noble N. Henry and Miss Ethel Cole, both of Star.

Invitations were sent out by the Swastika Club of this city, composed of a number of young men, for a "Barn Dance" to take place last night. The arrangements were complete and the club expected a large attendance and a pleasant affair.

TOWN BOOMS

A community revival is not necessarily dependent upon the wholesale selling of lots.

A town can boom when there is shown a more co-operative spirit to boost all things and hold fast that which is good.

A town can boom when its forces of education, cultural and morality bear fruit in well-doing.

A town can boom when business is placed on a fair level of competition, when greater service is rendered and a more thorough method is used to establish growing patronage.

A town can boom when there are more get-together meetings, more neighborliness and more genuine friendship backed up by deeds as well as words.

A town can boom when it takes on a cleaner aspect; when paint, soap, broom and mop are applied to its physical properties and a cleansing of the hearts of its people takes place as well.

A town can boom when orderly society is recognized and when greater opportunities are given to its people in the enjoyment of their material and spiritual blessings; when its institutions are supported by its own people who are consciously active to prove their loyalty.

Why does the omelet-recipe say SERVE AT ONCE?

The minute an omelet is hot from the pan, it is puffed up, tender... at its best... And the minute vegetables are fresh from the garden, all their flavor, all their juice are at their high point.

The way to have white wax beans while they are tender; and carrots when so crisp they cook creamy before they are creamed... the way to have all vegetables at their climatic time of freshness, is to pick them from a garden of your own. And the way to grow vegetables approaching perfection is to plant Ferry's purebred Seeds.

These seeds are perfected the way breeders perfect cattle. A Ferry-bred tomato is no more like an ordinary tomato than Ferry's sweet corn is like horse corn. Find Ferry's purebred Seeds at the "store around the corner." And write for Ferry's Seed Annual. This gives you 73 years' experience in gardens before you start—news of mulch paper—and even of better ways to cook vegetables. D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Michigan.

Apparently overcome by smoke before they could escape, three men lost their lives in a rooming house fire in Abilene. Eleven other persons had narrow escapes.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, held last week in Abilene, will go to Lubbock for its 1931 convention. Lubbock entertained the convention several years ago and it is not often that a town wants a second visit.

An eagle was captured near Alpine some days ago and placed in a cage. He managed to make his escape Saturday and after making a circuit of the town and adjacent territory he returned to his cage and made loud calls for his daily food.

Human life is not getting any longer, according to the men who make a business of studying vital statistics. The average life is longer because a larger portion of babies live to grow up. Fewer people die in childhood and early life than formerly, but the man who reaches fifty-four, which is the average expectation of life, has no better chance of living to seventy than his grandfather did—not so good, according to some.—Estelline News.

Bank robbers evidently do not confine their operations to the small towns, but include the large cities in their itinerary. Last Saturday morning three men who had secreted themselves in a Dallas bank, overpowered the employees as they arrived in the building and awaited the opening of the time lock on the vault, when they secured $10,900 and departed. Not a shot was fired and no excitement was occasioned by the robbers.

STORY OF A LITTLE BOUQUET

It was a great hospital in one of our large cities. Many patients were there under the scientific care of good doctors and nurses. At intervals the unfortunate who had been crippled by an automobile accident or injured from the cruel cogs in a piece of machinery. And now and then there was a delivery of fragrant blooms from some of the floral shops.

I saw a Cadillac stop outside and a negro emerge from it. He bore a massive bouquet of gorgeous carnations, which was carried to the room of a rich patient. The owner of the car remained outside and smoked a cigar but he wanted the sick friend to know he was thinking of him.

Then I saw two little girls not over ten and twelve get out of a ramshackle Ford. They ran up to the first floor with a little bouquet of wild blooms, which I was told they had gathered from a vacant lot in the edge of the city. These were delivered into a room where a poor mother lay in a critical condition.

It was a much smaller bunch of blooms than the bouquet carried by the negro driver. But it was for a mother, and with it was the love of two sweet little children who had missed her, as the wild rose needs the kiss of the dew.

It is not always that the apparently big thing is done in any better spirit or with any more love than the little thing. Those poor flowers carried by the two sweet children, as full of devotion and eloquence as the message conveyed by the most elaborate and expensive bouquet that was ever sent to a hospital.—Exchange.

UPSETTING NATURE'S BALANCE

A group of eminent naturalists have voiced a protest against the predatory animal work of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which co-operates with farmers and ranchmen in destroying coyotes, wolves and other animals which prey on livestock and poultry.

The protest is based upon the theory that predatory animals have an economic value to the farmer and ranchman in keeping down rodents, from mice and rats to ground squirrels and jackrabbits. Without denying that the predatory tribes do live partly on vermin, it remains to be shown whether any particular species does more good than harm.

Certainly there is more danger in upsetting Nature's balance, but those who grow crops and raise fowls or animals for a living will have to be shown before they agree to let Nature take its course in the case of wolves, foxes, crows, eagles, hawks, and all the category of "varmints" that rob them of the results of their toil.

Just the other day a West Texas ranchman, whose lambs were being destroyed at the rate of several per week by eagles, brought an airplane to his assistance and ran down a dozen of the depredators, which could not be reached any other way. The eagle is a noble bird—on our coat of arms. But in life he is a robber just the same. If there were no lambs in the country, he would catch rabbits, and no man is going to stand by and see his property slaughtered even by the National bird, if he can help it.

Doubtless we have foolishly and needlessly killed off some animals that were of more benefit than harm, but the farmer and ranchman are the ones who must stand their deprecations, and when a coyote catches a hen, they will not stop to count the jackrabbits and ground squirrels that the coyote might have caught had the hen not been handy.—Farm and Ranch.

MACHINES AND SOBRIETY

Discussing prohibition in the Christian Science Monitor, T. N. Carver, professor of economics at Harvard, views the effect of machine development on the use of liquor. Little proof is required to show that there is greater efficiency and a maximum of safety in handling machinery when sober than when dealing with it in a state of even of partial intoxication. This is true whether the mechanism involved is that of the high-powered motor car or of manufacturing industry. Whatever the future may hold for statutory prohibition, the industrial world will continue to demand sobriety, and that of a standard higher than the law has been able to command.

Professor Carver makes the point, however, that in an age of increasing motor ownership, amounting almost to automobile congestion, it is no longer a possibility to consider the moderate drinker in the light of a harmless sinner. There is no moderate drinking where machinery is concerned. It is not difficult to link up the Carver thesis with the 31,000 automobile deaths in the United States in 1929, and with the increase that figure represents of 10.8 per cent over the preceding year.

The automobile age has brought with it careless drivers, un instructed chauffeurs and reckless speeders. But, boiled down to bottom facts, the 31,000 deaths of 1929 represent a high percentage due to the use of alcohol. The thought of what open saloons or liquor licenses would mean in needless sacrificed lives is a sobering one.

After all, the argument is not wet versus dry, individual liberty against repression. It is the machine age versus inebriety. And what is the answer?

SMALL TOWNS

Few Texas towns are satisfied with their population figures recently revealed, as in many cases, in fact most instances, the population has fallen short of the previous estimates although a substantial gain over the 1920 census might be enjoyed.

Editorial comment on the small town and its future contradicts the pessimistic view point that has been almost universally sounded to the effect that small towns are doomed. It is evident that the small town will continue to grow and develop along mature lines, if its citizenship continues to function as a prosperity unit.

As we see it, the small town will grow, its population will increase, new industries will be continuously added and prosperity will be realized more than ever before . . . only just so long as its citizenship believes in the home town and its future and cooperates in an effort to safeguard the town's present and future.

Every dollar spent out of town that should be spent at home lessens the prosperity of the future ten times that amount. There are other things which, likewise, prove vital or detrimental, according to the response of the citizenship as a unit.—Winters Enterprise.

WHY HOG COSTS VARY

In an Iowa hog production study, 15 farmers produced pork at a cost for three years of $6.16 a hundredweight. In the same county it cost 15 other farmers $14.02 per hundredweight. General conditions of climate and available feeds were the same. Quality and size of sows, feeding methods, sanitation and ventilation, diseases and death loss were large factors in these men's costs, however, and here the difference lay.

Seven of the high-cost or low-profit producers had poor

A PROGRESSIVE POLICY

Press reports indicate that the California Railroad Commission is against any new crossings. Then with education not absolutely necessary for public convenience. The Commission is earnestly undertaking to eliminate the cause of grade crossing accidents, and realizes that the first essential is to stop creating new grade crossings. Then with education of the public in safe driving, changing the more densely traveled crossings and requiring installation of approved warning devices, the primary causes of accidents will be brought under control. This appears to be a wise course, for if, as has been the case, three new crossings are created for one changed condition are being made worse rather than better. Grade changes are costly and should only be made when all other remedies fail. Unsafe driving causes many more accidents on the streets and highways than at grade crossings and if educated to drive safely over railroad crossings, drivers are more likely to acquire or follow this practice of driving safely elsewhere. There should be no compromise with careless driving. It is wrong to tax the people for grade changes because of a few thoughtless or careless drivers. The attention of a traffic officer and a jail sentence will cost less and be more effective.

ventilation in their hog houses as compared to any one of the low-cost feeders. Twice as many of the low-cost men followed sanitary conditions as of the others. Poor sanitation was shown to result in diseases, parasites, and more deaths among pigs farrowed. Sanitary watering facilities, plenty of water and use of available cleaning or spraying equipment to clean and disinfect, bring their own rewards.—Farm and Ranch.

Prohibition Has Raised Popular Musical Taste.

Charles F. Strickland

Orchestra Leader Says Sober Patrons Are Critical

New York City.—Here's a good word for prohibition. According to Charles F. Strickland, orchestra leader, it has vastly raised the musical standards of the United States.

"Even the enemies of popular music are admitting these days that it is much better than it was a few years ago," argues Mr. Strickland. "Real musicians say so, too, and they all have different reasons to give for the change. I have been playing at hotels, supper clubs and cafes for several years and I have kept a pretty good watch on the public.

"The coming in of prohibition marked the real beginning of improved popular music. The reason is not far to seek. People who are half-drunk don't care much what kind of music they have to listen to, just so long as it is loud and makes plenty of noise. Sober people, on the other hand, retain all their critical faculties. If a band gets too noisy, it grates on their nerves. If it plays in a careless, hit-or-miss fashion, they decide not to go to that place again.

"When enough people make a decision like this, the proprietor begins to sit up and take notice. He decides that he had better have a new orchestra—and he hunts up one that has studied the art of softening and harmonizing syncopated music. Thus, prohibition scores another victory for good music."

Mr. Strickland was born in a co-educational college where his mother and father were teaching. He was educated at Brown University and his parents hoped that he would be a teacher, too.

"I thought I would be one," he declares, "until jazz got into my blood. I can't hear music such as the captivating 'Hi Diddle Diddle' without wanting to play it. So I dropped teaching for orchestra leading." Mr. Strickland plays now at Palisades Park, New Jersey.

IMPORTANT DATES

Monday of this week was the last day on which candidates for state offices could file their applications and get their names on the official ballots.

Ninth day of June the State Executive Committee has its meeting.

Fourteenth day of June is the last day for county and precinct candidates to file requests to have their names placed on ballot.

Sixteenth day of June, county executive committee meets to determine order of names on ballot and assess candidates.

Twenty-third day of June is the last day for candidates to pay assessments.

June 26 to July 1, candidates must file their first report of campaign expenses not more than 30 nor less than 25 days prior to the date of primary.

Seventh day of July primary committee meets to prepare ballots.

July 6 to July 16, time for voters who are absent from county to appear before notary public and request a ballot.

Second day prior to day of primary, day upon which county clerk shall send absentee votes to the presiding judges of the respective voting precincts.

Twenty-sixth day of July is primary election day.

Fifth day of August is last day for candidates to file final report of expenses.

Twenty-third day of August is the date of second primary.

Fourth day of November is the last day to file report of expenses incurred in general election with the county judge.

the ones making fewer claims than they are entitled to, it is the opinion of the department.

Alvin Moody, Houston leader of Hoovercrats, will be Tom Love's campaign manager in the forthcoming primaries. This combination will find that it is not going to be so easy to get the voters to cast ballots for Tom Love as it was to get them to vote against Al Smith two years ago, it is the prediction of this department. Love isn't a Hoover, even though there may be a half dozen or more others in the race that the average voter will regard with less esteem than Al Smith. It takes a combination of antagonism to the other candidate and a strong individual personality to be able to pull the votes in Texas that were given to Hoover two years ago. Love and Alvin Moody do not have this combination to work on.

DEAD LETTERS

Uncle Same doesn't intend to waste any time with joke addresses. The jocular element should practice their devices on themselves rather than on the postal clerks. Therefore when writing a letter with the expectation of its early delivery, address it intelligently and legibly. This will be required by the new ruling, and although it may tend to decrease correspondence, and such decrease be reflected on stamp sales, it is nevertheless a good rule. An illiterate once addressed a letter to a county seat town the name of which was unguessable from the script. But in addition to the town's name the writer added serawilly "where the gal is at." The postal clerks wondered if there were any towns where no gal was at. It was their experience that gals were everywhere. But one expert, more discerning than the rest, suggested that the addressor was trying to spell jail and he finally deciphered the name spelled it g-a-i-l. With that clue, and destination, and the postmaster finally delivered the missive to the addressee. That was good work, but nobody would contend that the value of the letter was equal to that of the time lost on it. In brief, our postal department does not regard itself as an unriddler of riddles. It maintains a morgue for deceased mail, and those humorists who insist upon combining comedy with mystery in the superscription of their letters will spend the stamps for nothing. The mail clerks will not even laugh as they start the funny letters on the funeral trip to the dead-letter office. —State Press in Dallas News.

Joe A. Curtis, who owns a ranch in the Hanna Valley country, reports a remarkable record for his sheep. Seven months ago he owned 65 ewes and he still has them on the ranch, together with 105 lambs, the oldest of which have been sheared recently, yielding 3 1/2 pounds per head. That is about as good a record as can be produced in the county for the length of time, the Eagle believes.

FOR WOMEN'S INTERESTS

The Texas law requiring a three-day notice of intention to marry was written in the interest of women and their children to be. It has come in for some criticism on the part of a few people interested only in the fees, but we believe it is endorsed by every high-minded man and woman in the state.

Senator Julian Hyer of Fort Worth, in a recent address before First District Club women at Stephenville, asked the Federation of Women's Clubs to back up the law and to use their influence to spread the same or a similar law on the statute books of neighboring states.

Such measures, for the ultimate benefit of the race, are peculiarly of interest to organized women, and we may confidently expect that their voices will be heard wherever need is recognized and opportunity may be made to serve—

LOOK TO THE FUTURE

We live in an age of many issues. Practically every major problem has bred a multitude of disputes and disagreements. Therefore, the fact that the American press is overwhelmingly in favor of strict oil conservation is interesting in fact that practical action to effect this is vital to our progress and to the well-being of future generations. In the words of the Lowell, Massachusetts, Courier Citizen, "It would be a public benefaction if the sinking of oil wells were restricted to the point which our needs dictate, and the earth be continued as the storage reservoir or that which we do not immediately need." Conservation, of course, would benefit the oil industry. But that is of secondary importance. The main thing is that petroleum is twentieth-century gold. The country which possesses it automatically becomes an industrial world-leader. We have been singularly blessed in the magnitude of our petroleum resources. But that is no excuse for wasting them. Over production is an economic crime and a menace to progress. Not for the industry's sake, or the sake of the present generation, but for the sake of the America of tomorrow oil conservation which eliminates waste, must be achieved.

Organ Fast Becoming Our Favorite National Instrument

FRANK GALLAGHER

Frank Gallagher, Famous Organist, Launches It On Career

Cleveland. — That organ music has improved more in the last twenty years than in all the previous two thousand is due entirely to Frank Gallagher, world famous organist here, authorities agree.

"When I was a pianist at the old Fourteenth Street theatre in New York City in 1908," explains Mr. Gallagher, "the house played vaudeville and pictures with illustrated songs.

"As admission was only ten cents, the management could not be prevailed upon to hire an orchestra. The continual strum and tingle of the piano got on my nerves and I was at my wits' end that I could not induce the owner to put in additional instrumentation. Finally, one night I suggested the organ, never for one moment thinking that the owner would put a pipe organ in the theatre. The novelty of it appealed to him immediately, and in a few months the instrument which had only been associated with churches was well on its way in becoming an integral part of the theatre.

"Since then, thousands of organs have been installed in houses all over the country, and because of the commercial demand, tremendous development has been made in the console. Probably no other instrument in the world's history has ever undergone such a revolutionary change in such a short time, both as to use and evolution.

"Today the organ is used to play popular music as well as classic, hot music as well as sweet, though personally I like the sweet melodic ballads best of all. 'Alone With My Dreams,' for which I get so many requests now, is really the ideal type of organ tune. It is a foxtrot song but it has a melodic quality which I think an organ can bring out better than on orchestra.

"Just how far the organ will go in becoming the national instrument of America one cannot tell, but I feel great pride in my experience of 1908."
