

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

THIRTY-SEVEN.

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1931.

NUMBER FORTY

TRADES DAY

The purpose of the Goldthwaite Trades Day each year is to give the business community a day in the month. If interest and justice there will probably be the next month at this time. The day will be designated as Trades Day, Nov. 7. In this event an announcement and an invitation to all the business men of the town for the people to join and participate in other business men had they been attached to the opportunity, hence the Trades Day was a success and it is hoped the next year will be even more successful. It is hoped the people who have livestock property will likely find it at a fair price and exchange stock and they do not need to do so.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gartman were host and hostess to the Schubert club and their husbands and a few friends at their home on North Parker. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilkins, newly-weds in the club, were honor guests. Mrs. Robt. Littlepage in a very gracious manner presented them with a gift from the club, a compete set. Messrs. Roy Wilkins and Walter Fairman tied on high score in forty-two. A very beautiful hand painted picture was given Mr. Wilkins. The Schubert club sang two numbers by Geoffrey O'Hara, "I Love A Little Cottage," and "The Close of Another Day." An original, yet very amusing and interesting talk on "Life" was given by Mrs. S. P. Sullivan. Mrs. Fred Martin sang two numbers. A salad course was served by Mrs. Gartman assisted by Misses Evelyn Fay and Louise Martin to Messrs. and Mmes. Roy Wilkins, Walter Fairman, Earl Summy, J. FIRST PRIZE APPLES

Mills county is known as an excellent county along many lines, but few people know that some of the soil here is especially adapted to growing apples and fewer still know that this county was awarded first prize for apples at the State Fair just closed at Dallas. Mr. J. J. Cockrell, the fruit grower of Big Valley, was given the award on his Golden Delicious apples and those who saw the display agree fully with the awarding committee that no other display equalled that made by Mr. Cockrell.

Of course, we are all proud of Mr. Cockrell's success, but we are equally proud of the distinction Mills county has of making the finest showing of any county in Texas in apples, and we know that a similar result would have followed many other displays that could have been made. It is sincerely hoped a large and varied exhibit of Mills county products will be made at the State Fair next year.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS

One of the largest crowds ever assembled on the local fair grounds to witness our Eagles defeat the Lampasas Badgers for the first time in history.

Our boys let Lampasas have their way the first half and it ended with the Badgers leading 13-0. In the second half, the Eagles found themselves and let the Badgers down with a final score of 14-13. The Eagles should be commended for their last half of the game.

November 11, the Lometa Hornets come over to try to sting the Eagles. Do not forget the date and trade at home instead of a neighboring town.

Remember that if Lampasas wins over San Saba, we have another chance for the district title.

Another interesting date will be Friday, Nov. 6. This date will see what makes us "Moon Shy."

HALLOWEEN PARTY

On last Friday evening at eight o'clock the members of the Tuesday Study Club, accompanied by their escorts, assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Mayfield, where they were entertained in a very "spooky" way.

The group of hostesses for this most enjoyable affair were Mrs. Earl Summy, Mrs. Jim Helm, Mrs. J. A. Palmer and Mrs. Mayfield. This charming group of club members was assisted by their husbands, who proved themselves to be "good spooks."

Halloween lanterns, black cats and witches were used in profusion to provide just the right theme in decoration.

When the call to games was given, each man present passed by a table and selected a tiny black cat and each lady selected a yellow cat. These novel score cards were the handiwork of this clever quartette of hostesses. Forty-two was the chosen game, which was entered into with high spirit, but soon became an unusual game by the entrance of a real, live "spook," who appeared suddenly at intervals and plunged the crowd of players into inky darkness and uttered harsh commands regarding the game. Excitement ran high, as everyone tried to play out a game before the "spook" would return. Many laughable incidents occurred as a result.

At the close of the games all couples were requested to add their scores together. Miss Vivian Campbell and Raymond Little were fortunate in having high score, so were awarded a pair of large, embroidered cats, one yellow and one black, made just like the miniature ones used for score cards, the large ones to be used for floor pillows and the small ones for pin cushions.

Misses Myrna Miller and Bess Crews held low score, so were awarded a decorated "spook bell."

A delicious refreshment course was served and here again the Halloween idea was carried out. A large tray of assorted horns, whistles, rattles and noise makers, appropriate to the occasion was then passed and each guest selected just the favor of his choice. Then the noise really began. Some endurance contests on horn blowing were engaged in and songs to the accompaniment of rattles and whistles.

Everybody had a jolly good time and echoes of this party will be heard for many days to come.

CAR BURNED

Jack Long had the misfortune to lose his Reo coupe by fire Monday night. The accident occurred about six miles from San Saba, on the China creek road. Jack had driven to San Saba and loaned his car to a friend to make a short trip into the country and it was while the car was running that the fire occurred. There was some insurance on the car, but not enough to cover the loss.

BAPTIST CHURCH

We have been very busy this week in the interest of the every member canvass that Southern Baptists have asked to be put on between Nov. 29 and Dec. 6. We urge every member of the Baptist churches in our association to give this a serious consideration and do what the Lord would have you to do. Remember that our state convention meets in Waco Nov. 11, and let's as many as can go. Make your plans now. This will be worth your time and you will certainly get out of it a blessing.

We had the pleasure of taking dinner in the John Jackson home a few days ago; also Mr. and Mrs. Otto Simpson were present and since that time we all have been improving in weight. Anyone that happens to the good fortune of taking a meal in this home can very easily understand why "Goliath" continues to grow. Someone wanted to know where this young gentleman got his name. Haynes Harrison is responsible for it. Those of you who have taught school know that is necessary sometimes to have students to change their places in the school room. The pastor has decided that Goliath or Haynes ought to make a change at the church.

The pastor asked that the ushers look after the ventilation of the church during the winter months, taking that work off the janitor. Several have already asked that we require these gentlemen to continue wearing their summer clothes. We think it not necessary to make that request as most of us will continue to do that very thing.

The Methodist pastor informed us that he had dismissed his services Sunday night that his people might have a chance to worship with the other churches. This was very kind in this preacher, and we have asked L. E. Booker and Dan Yates to sing at our church. Owen Priddy says we ought to charge admission. However, there will be no charges, and all have a cordial invitation to worship with us.

Mr. Baptist, let's all bring our offering Sunday. Let's make it a hundred per cent. We must have wood, etc. Let's have a good day. Be on time. PASTOR.

TRIGGER MOUNTAIN

We have quite a cool spell this Tuesday evening. It makes us think of hog killing. Lynn Nix and John Dellis are helping J. Y. Tullos and R. E. Davis gather pecans.

A letter was received from Rev. Brian at Brownwood stating he would accept the pastorate of this church and would be with us the first Saturday and Sunday in each month.

J. J. Kennedy thrashed maize for John Kennedy Tuesday. J. D. Nix's relatives, who were visiting him, returned home Sunday afternoon.

Arthur Bryant and family of Goldthwaite visited W. S. Cunningham Sunday.

J. B. Lewis, who is attending Daniel Baker, spent the week end at home.

Misses Ola Mae Dellis, Florence and Marguerite Oden, Gladys Long and Loraine Calloway attended a house party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hays at Big Valley this week end. Mrs. Hays gave a shower for Mrs. J. C. Sanderson, a recent bride, who also attended the party.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McNutt took Grandfather and Grandmother McNutt to church in town Sunday. They enjoyed the service very much. The day being pleasant.

Most everyone is plowing or finishing up their cotton.

The W. M. U. and Y. W. A. met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. E. W. McNutt. A new president, Miss Denia Mae Calloway, was elected to take our former one's place, as she has moved to Moline. Miss Gladys Long was elected vice president. Our president led the devotional reading from Matthew. She also asked questions on the book, "A Wandering Jew in Brazil." We worked on the quilt for the orphan's home. The next meeting will be with Mrs. H. T. Vaughan. Our hostess served delicious pecan pie and punch to the following members: Mesdames R. C. Petty, W. O. Oden, Griffin, and Misses Inez, Denia and Loraine Calloway, Gladys Long, Billie Oden and Geraldine Petty and Mrs. R. E. Davis. It was decided we take up the Bible for study. The first eleven chapters of Genesis will be our lesson.

FORMER PASTOR TO PREACH

Announcement is made that Rev. J. S. Bowles will fill the pulpit in the Methodist church Sunday morning, the pastor being absent attending annual conference in Austin. Brother Bowles is a former pastor of the church and the congregation is always glad to have him preach for them.

ANOTHER PUSH

I am letting my pen get too far behind again. I was happy to meet Prof. Newton a few minutes while he was on his short visit to our county. I have never felt good about his leaving us. Oh, of course, the Goldthwaite school goes on well, maintaining the high standard of morals and education, but we are always in need of those who stand for the highest moral ideals. The more we have of those kind the better.

We have thought monetary values, talked monetary values and written on monetary values until we have forgotten some of the greater values. Worthy, high ideals are not found by absorption from custom and trend of our times nor from the majority in any of the past, so far as this writer knows. It would seem strange to some of our friends to say that the thing most needed at this time is a moral reform. Some tell us "the world is getting better." No, not the world. Maybe you are getting better, and that helps to hide a multitude of sins. Our divorce courts and our Sunday conduct show that the world is going downward. The home and the Sabbath are the vital elements in our civilization. These are the places where reform need begin.

LOW COST AND SKIDPROOF ROADS

The Asphalt Institute of New York, in a new construction manual just issued after several years of research and experimental co-operation with the United States bureau of public roads and various state road-building departments, describes two new types of skidproof road pavements which, it is said will revolutionize the construction of asphalt highways.

In one type the aggregate consists of graded gravel or crusher-run stone ranging from about one inch in diameter down to and including dust. In the other the aggregate is a one size crushed stone, slag or gravel from one to one-quarter inch in diameter and free from dust. Each type lends itself to road mixing or plant mixing with the new asphalts which are laid cold. The riding surface thus afforded, being of a rather coarse texture enables the tires of motor cars and trucks to obtain a firm grip on the surface, rendering skidding almost impossible and insuring safety at all times, not only on straight-away stretches, but on grades and curves. As the pavement is slightly resilient the wear on tires has proved to be negligible.

These new types, according to J. E. Pennybacker of the Asphalt Institute, have been tried out with satisfaction by the highway departments of thirteen states. Costs for either type range from $2500 to $6000 per mile and maintenance averages only about $300 per mile per year thereafter. This marks a great forward step in the science of low-cost road construction.

POTENTIAL MURDERERS

It is a common argument of crime reformers that the sole purpose of the pistol is to kill, and that the possessor of such a gun is a potential murderer.

It has been estimated that some ten or fifteen million Americans possess pistols, and a good share of these undoubtedly use them frequently for game or target shooting. To say that all these people are potential murderers is equivalent to saying that murder is a universal urge. The point that reformers miss is that the will to murder is not a matter of physical equipment, but a mental condition. The person who wants to kill may do so with a pistol—and he may likewise do so with poison, an axe, a knife, a rope or some similar agency.

As a means of killing, a sawed off shotgun is far more dangerous than a pistol and requires less skill on the part of the user. Almost anyone of a mechanical turn of mind could manufacture a gun good enough to kill at short range.

A LIBERAL OFFER

The Eagle has again secured the concession from the Dallas Semi-Weekly News which enables us to offer that paper one year, together with a year's subscription to the Eagle for $1.50. OUR BROTHER'S KEEPER

This period through which the world is struggling is more than an economic crisis. It involves more than a study of strategic plans to amass the dollars which fled.

Humanity itself is on trial. The civilization which we have evolved is undergoing the supreme test.

If there is such a thing as brotherhood among men, now is the time to show it.

Drunk with wealth, we have strayed a long way from the fundamental and eternal truth. We have been living in a house stuck upon golden stilts. And it has crashed.

In our agony and suffering we have discovered that Jesus Christ meant what He said. The golden rule was not a pleasant homily intended for reward-of-merit cards with silk fringe on the edges and diamond dust shining on the snow scenes. It was a simple statement of the eternal law—the same law that keeps the stars in the skies and the world turning on its axis.

We speak of breaking the law and commandments. You can't break them; but they break you. "Love one another" was more than an admonition to light the path of virtue. It was the statement of an eternal principle upon which all law, all philosophy, all business, all ethics, all civilization rests. Like all the doctrines left by the Christ, this was the sublimity of common sense—the finality of practicality—the only sure foundation upon which civilization can rest.

During these money-glutted years we have tried each to go our own way alone. Years of greed and money lust have ended with this terrible lesson: That wealth evaporates and leaves men stark and with naked hearts.

It is for us to see that this terrible rebuke has not been in vain. For us to see that we rebuild the fallen structure on the rock of brotherhood.

This winter will be a period that calls for all men to have fortitude, strength and sympathy. It is, for once, clear to the dullest mind that we can only help ourselves by helping others.

Out of this period of readjustment we can regain our souls. It can be a better world because of this period of hunger and sorrow; a stronger America and a sounder civilization if it brings to us a realization we are given the privilege of being our brother's keeper.

The remedy for our financial crisis lies not in laws, Federal commissions, in panaceas or financial theories.

The sound and practical answer was told two thousand years ago in a sermon spoken on a mountain in Palestine. —Los Angeles Times.

Doctors Disagree

When children are irritable and weevish, grind their teeth and sleep restlessly, have digestive pains and disturbances, lack of appetite, and ave itching eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms. Many mothers, too, will not believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will, in a great majority of cases, be a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the sure expellant of round and pin worms. If your child has any of these symptoms, try this harmless, old-fashioned medicine which can be got at 85c per bottle from

LESSONS IN FOOTBALL GAMES

Go to a football game for the good of your soul, advises Alonzo Stagg, coach of the University of Chicago. Youth, he thinks, can get as sound moral guidance from watching football as from going to Sunday school.

He once suggested that a code of ethics could be built up on a basis of football sportsmanship, that would be suitable for anyone, old or young, to use as their guidebook in the conduct of life. Now he has formulated such a code, arranged in ten commandments, which he has given to the American magazine. It reads as follows:

1. Keep your mind and body alert. Practice self-control at all times.

2. Be true, square and honest. Don't lie. Don't cheat. Keep your word. Don't be a tattletale.

3. Perform your own job just a little bit better than is absolutely necessary. Look ahead. Don't stagnate. Use your imagination. Don't become an automaton.

4. Help the other fellow. Work for the good of the team.

5. Don't complain, whine, knock or quit. If you are given a job, do it cheerfully. Never shirk responsibility. Always do your level best.

6. Don't be a grandstander. Throttle your conceit. A swelled head will cut your career as short as though you had no head at all.

7. Don't be discouraged by failure. The man of average intelligence who has the courage to keep on trying will get farther than the genius who puts only half his heart into his work.

8. Always be a sportsman and a gentleman.

9. Develop courage, determination, perseverance, continuous interest, prolonged enthusiasm and unending ambition.

10. And say a prayer each evening.

The supreme court this week held constitutional the North Carolina anti-chain store tax, under which every firm operating two or more stores under one management must pay a $50 annual privilege tax for each store.

Arkansas officials take the view that if Texas is not already large enough, it can have the small hunting and fishing area on the Red River near Texas, on which rangers and game wardens camped to uphold Texas' sovereignty.

Paul Loven, who recently again announced his candidacy for governor of Texas, has been judged insane by a jury in county court in San Antonio. Loven had been under observation for some time in the San Antonio State hospital. His wife, fled the lunacy complaint.

Premier Mussolini told the Italian people Sunday that the world must disarm, nations must be "just" and "the tragic book-keeping" of debts and reparations must end if the world is to recover from its economic plight. He spoke directly to half a million persons.

Arp, 18 miles southeast of Tyler, booming in the heart of the east Texas oil fields, was visited by fire Sunday, with damage estimated as high as $100,000 although impossible to determine accurately the extent. A film explosion in a crowded theatre started the blaze, which swept an entire block of the Arp business district.

Fifty years after her graduation from Northwestern University, Mrs. Emma P. James, a grandmother, has been an initiate into Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society. Her selection for membership was awarded for the high honors with which she graduated in 1881, when Northwestern did not have a Phi Beta Kappa chapter.

A negro woman who died at her home near Nacogdoches, is reported to have been 125 years old. There are no residents in that vicinity who are inclined to question the claims. The negro woman was born in Tennessee. She moved to Texas at a time when few white residents had chosen to call Texas home. She told many interesting stories of the south and frontier days. The youngest of her four children is 78.

To encourage cotton storage for price improvement, the agriculture department will accept cotton as collateral for government seed loans at an average of 8 cents a pound. This announcement was made Friday by Acting Secretary Dunlap. He said planters who have received loans may store their cotton to provide collateral at 3 cents per pound middling 7-8 inch, rather than on quantity required at current prices. Besides encouraging the holding of cotton, the department made this offer to release part of the crop mortgaged to the government for the purchase of necessities, payment of taxes and interest charges and other debts. Cotton shorter than 7-8 inch in length will have a valuation of 7 1/2 cents a pound on middling 13-16 inch.

NO NATION LIVES ALONE

No nation lives to itself alone no more than an individual family. It has constant relations with other countries and those of a business nature are pre-eminently important. Exchange of goods between countries has become a matter of vast proportions in the development of our civilization. A normal interchange of commodities has always been considered a basis for world prosperity. But strange impediments appeared, such as the compulsory use of some products in Germany and France, two nations whose flour millers were required to use a large percentage of their own grain in order to reduce imports to a minimum. Then came control boards who handled the exports of such countries as Australia, South Africa and other countries of the Scandinavian peninsula and when this government passed the Hawley-Smoot tariff law, other nations were incited to build tariff walls around their own interests, resulting in the dislocating of trade, which naturally will delay a return to normal trade between nations.

These conditions have forced us to wonder to just what extent will foreign nations supply their own needs. We know that European countries have installed industrial equipment and that farmers are using modern machinery on their farm lands. They are modernizing their farm operations in order to produce as cheaply as possible. This means strong competition for the American farmer. He must recognize that the European farmer is looking for new customers as well as he, and that men of industry in foreign lands are also looking for new trade centers and new customers. Every move points to the fact that we will be compelled to fight hard for foreign business. If this cannot be secured, then we are face to face with the problem of increasing home consumption of our own products through the increased purchasing power of the individual. Still this would mean only temporary relief. The question arises then: "Shall we approach the boundaries of free trade and open our country as a market for foreign industry and agriculture?" Are we in a position to compete with the industries and farmers of foreign countries on a free trade basis? We must have an interchange of commodities at least on a normal basis with foreign countries. Just how this is to be accomplished remains a problem, unsolved.—Farm and Ranch.

GOOD FENCING PRIME NECESSITY. Here are some facts that every farmer and landowner should give serious consideration. There will be a sharp reduction in cotton acreage in 1932. The less cotton we have the more feedstuffs there will be. The only profitable market for feedstuffs is through livestock. Livestock can't be kept profitably without good fences and a good water supply conveniently located. The first thing to be considered in changing the farm program to meet conditions now imposed upon us, is to provide both fences and water supply. In but few instances can all the required fencing be constructed in one year. Therefore, we suggest the complete fencing of at least one field or two in order that stock may be used to clean up the waste after harvest. Farms that have been devoted to a single crop, and on which the only livestock consisted of a few work animals, will of necessity have to be provided with permanent pastures. Temporary pastures may come first, but permanent pastures, when once established, are less expensive and therefore more profitable. If the southwest is to have a balanced farm system which will lead to a permanent and a more prosperous form of agriculture, we must begin by building fences and providing an abundance of good water. A big job is ahead of us. It is better to build slowly and permanently than it is to cover a lot of territory in a cheap and haphazard manner.—Farm and Ranch.

MAMMOTH BONES

Crumbling bones uncovered by workmen on the site of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company's Woodlawn exchange at San Antonio were identified definitely by A. K. Boyles, taxidermist, as those of a prehistoric mammoth.

His interest aroused by the portion of a tusk, a tooth and part of a leg bone, which excavators on the site found early in the week, Mr. Boyles spent the greater part of Friday there and was rewarded by the uncovering of a portion of the animal's lower jaw. This bone was three feet long and was dug up from a depth of seven feet.

The portion of tusk found by the workmen was about three and one-half feet long and six and one-half inches in diameter at the large end. All of the bones were in such a state of disintegration that doubt is expressed as to whether they can be preserved. If it is found impossible to keep them, they will be photographed and measured and records of them kept.

Mr. Boyles said that the fact the bones were found in a natural matrix of clay indicated the animal had died there and that other parts of the skeleton are in the vicinity. In the past small portions of bones of extinct animals have been found in San Antonio and vicinity, but always they were in gravel beds, indication that they had drifted here from possibly long distances throughout the centuries.

THE INCREASING BURDEN

The most graphic presentation of tax-slavery in Texas recently was that of Oscar B. Colquitt, ex-governor, before the Taxpayers' association. Said Mr. Colquitt:

"The per capita cost of state government has grown from $2.08 in 1912 to $16.61 in 1929 or an increase of 800 per cent in 17 years.

"In 1921 the bonded debt of the state of Texas and its subdivisions was $85,000,000, in round numbers; in 1931 it is $600,000,000... an increase of more than 700 per cent in a decade. Nearly $25,000,000 of tax money per annum is required to pay the interest.

"The state now supports 15 institutions of higher learning, which cost in salaries alone $136,000 more than was required to run the entire state government, including the prison system, in 1912.—The Houston Gargoyle.

SAVING TAX DOLLARS

Now comes the report that Georgia, with the enterprise and foresight we expect from the south's empire state, has placed herself alongside of Tennessee and Virginia in the active movement to simplify governmental machinery. This action on the part of Georgia has consisted of the reduction of 102 state departments, commissions, etc., to eighteen, with a resultant annual saving of $1,000,000, which will enable Georgia to balance her budget for the first time in years.

For many years, this trend toward the pruning down and strengthening of state and county governmental set-ups has been gaining headway in the south. Arkansas has had her state government audited, with the discovery that she can reduce her state departments from a hundred or so to eleven. North Carolina's governor, Max Gardner, says that the Tarheel state's government from 68 to 8 departments, only Virginia and now Georgia have found a way—or is it the courage?—to put through so drastic, needed, and sane a measure.

Sooner or later, the people must awake to the tremendous, wasteful and unconscionable price they are paying for an archaic and inefficient governmental structure. And not alone in their state governments. Tennessee, again the leader, twelve years ago showed clearly to the south the vast savings to be effected by merging our myriad small counties into larger, more modern units, with the consequent abolition of countless, useless governmental machineries. Georgia followed her in the spring of this year by merging two of her counties; and believes she can reduce her 161 counties to twenty with great profit. North Carolina and Virginia, with 100 counties each, believe they can cut these to ten each.

These are, we repeat, sensible and economical steps that must come into existence everywhere as soon as the people become aware of the vast savings resulting from them. Already we are keenly conscious of the waste of our present top-heavy methods, under which every tenth family in the nation is supported by tax moneys; under which, in Texas, a county was recently created, with not enough inhabitants in it to fill all the county offices.

Simply, our present system is outmoded. Gone are the conditions under which our multitudinous counties were necessary. No longer do we require a day's time for a journey of twenty-five or thirty miles. Now we travel more than that in an hour, and count it slow going. We no longer need to be nearer to a seat of government than seventy-five or a hundred miles.

And the savings to be effected through the elimination of eight or nine county governments out of every ten are the most eloquent testimony we know to the need for and justification of such a simplification of our government.—Holland's Magazine.

UP TO THE MOTORIST

Between 1920 and 1930 motor vehicle taxes increased 513 per gas tax, which alone produces more than $500,000,000 a year. This tax is constantly being increased, and in some states has actually been diverted to such purposes as fish hatcheries, oyster conservation, state buildings, property tax reduction, water supply systems, schools and so on.

The gasoline tax is becoming legislation of the most obnoxious kind.

The motorists of the country must show that the old idea that "one cent more won't make any difference" is no longer true.

Just Like An Ostrich. A medical authority says that a person who tries to cover up his blushing and pinches with talcum cream and powder is just as foolish as an ostrich that buries its head in the sand to avoid danger. Skin eruptions are nature's warning that excretion is throwing poisons into your blood stream and warning you to take corrective measures. Remove the congested condition and you will strengthen your system, avoid disease and cure your distressed skin. The best way to do this is with a course of... vegetable medicine that acts as a daily purgative. HUDSON BROS. DRUGGISTS

NOT GETTING A SQUARE DEAL

It is easy to make yourself believe that you have not had a square deal.

You see others enjoying things you have longed for and have never had.

And the future does not seem to promise anything better for you.

You become sore and sour over what you consider the uneven distribution of the good things of life.

You give little thought to the fact that someone had to start in a position as low as yours in order that their descendants might have more than they earned.

Your forefathers may not have been as frugal and industrious as those of the persons whom you now envy.

Consequently you could not get the start in life that they have had.

Coming down to the present and a personal consideration of the matter, what are you building for your own descendants?

What are you going to hand down to them?

Will they be financially able to build structures of larger proportions than those which you have established?

Has it not been necessary for your own children to start at the bottom because you did not do all that you might have done to make good?

Think how you are handicapping your own children before you complain of your father and forefathers.—Houston Chronicle.

LAND HUNGER

Peace in the Orient probably will be preserved for the present by Japan's reluctance to proceed with a war which would bring opposition from all the humanitarians and most of the Western Nations. But Japan is not all satisfied with the condition which crowds her little islands to overflowing and leaves wide spaces untenanted in Manchuria, near by. Japan may not crave territorial accretion in Manchuria, but she does crave a commercial hegemony.

In one way or another she will obtain it, eventually. The Chinese government is weak, the Japanese strong. Japan is in need of room and in need of markets. If her nationals can find peaceful homes in Manchuria, and her goods find welcome there, she may be satisfied for a long time. But there is no doubt that the Japanese ruling power has its eyes on Korea. It finally took Korea, by dispossessing the natives of their power and authority. The change has not been bad for the Koreans. It might not be bad for the Manchurians. An enlightened and strong government is better for any industrious population than a weak and unenlightened one. Japan is strong and enlightened.—State Press in Dallas News.

Restless, could not sleep

"THERE were days when I felt like I could not get my work done. I would get so nervous and 'trembly' I would have to lie down. I was very restless, and could not sleep at night.

My mother advised me to take Cardui, and I certainly am glad she did. It is the first thing that seemed to give me any strength. I felt better after the first bottle. I kept it up and am now feeling fine."—Mrs. T. E. Gibson, Fort Payne, Ala.

GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS

One of the inevitable results of hard times is renewed demands for further extension of the activities of the Federal government.

Unemployment insurance, government subsidy of this business of government ownership of that, gigantic "relief" bond issues—hardly a day passes without a new, suggested panacea.

The Federal government might do more to bring back prosperity, so far as that is within the power of any one nation, by restricting its activities.

There is only one cure for unemployment—industrial development that will put men to work. There is only one cure for depression—a new influx of active capital into business.

High taxes and governmental interference are a barrier in the way of both these cures. No individual would, for example, build a new home if he believed it would soon be taxed beyond his ability to pay. And no group of investors would build a new factory if there was danger of taxation growing so great as to make profits impossible.

Government should do everything it can to encourage industry, investments, employment. But it certainly should

HOW TO GET A SQUARE DEAL

People who stand still in a depression, according to Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, are just when things happen with increased speed.

"Every business ever had has been for new inventions," the American magazine for new methods of business, even new industries, even new men who were what those new meant in terms of jobs, who sensed the chance of those new men who got ahead.

The way to get a hard times, advises is to keep one's eyes open to every new thing by toying the market jump—certainly not being flatfooted, waiting for times and a faster world," he concludes.

He concludes the sales map of the world, he concludes the marketing, inaugurating ideas in merchandising up all sorts of magic ties."
