GOVERNOR STERLING'S LAWYERS GET AN INJUNCTION

Emergency Relief Chairman Is Appointed

F. T. Moreland Dies After Receiving Blow In Fight Near Mullin

E. T. Mayes Allowed $2500 Bond After Making Statement Regarding Affair.

In an altercation last Sunday morning F. T. Moreland of the Democrat community, a few miles above Mullin, was struck on the head with a beer bottle and knocked unconscious. He soon revived and was apparently little worse from the injury. He and the man who struck him made friends and shook hands, afterward returning to their homes. Monday Moreland and his wife, together with a friend, carried his daughter to Brownwood, where she was receiving treatment at the hospital. On Tuesday his head commenced to cause him pain and a physician was summoned from Mullin and another from Zephyr, but before their arrival his suffering became so intense he was placed in a car and carried to meet the physician and died on the way, without meeting the doctor. The justice of the peace of Mullin, Mr. O. E. Rice, held an inquest, but there were not enough developments to justify a verdict at that time, the cause of the death being somewhat mysterious, because of the report that the injuries had been caused by a car wreck.

Wednesday morning E. T. Mayes of the Democrat community, accompanied by a number of friends, including his brother came to Goldthwaite and announced he wished to make a statement, which he did to County Attorney Pribble, Judge Jas. Rahl and Judge Rice of Mullin, in which he said he struck Moreland with a bottle in self-defense. He was allowed bond in the sum of $2500 to await the action of the grand jury that is to reconvene Monday. He was placed in jail to await the filing of the bond, and it was made yesterday.

Republican Senator for Roosevelt

Senator Norris of Nebraska Says Nation Needs Another Roosevelt.

From a platform in his home town, McCook, Neb., United States Senator George W. Norris, insurgent Republican, Wednesday introduced Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt to thousands of his constituents in an address in which he said "patriotism demands that we put our country's interests above our party interests."

It was the first public appearance of Senator Norris in behalf of Roosevelt since he announced he would support the Democratic nominee for president. He said the country "needs another Roosevelt in the White House." "We had a Roosevelt once in the White House," the senator said, "and now we have been wishing during the Hoover administration especially, for another one. We all remember that Roosevelt and how he stood for the rights of the people against human greed and injustice. He called himself a Republican. Would he have been any better, would he have been any different, if he had called himself a Democrat?"

"And now we can see, in the very shadow of our National Capitol, another Roosevelt approaching the White House. He calls himself a Democrat. Would he be any better, if he called himself some other political name?"

District Court To Reconvene Here Monday

Grand Jury Impaneled This Week. Four Divorces Granted By Court.

District court convened in Goldthwaite Monday, Sept. 26, and the following grand jury was impaneled with J. A. Holland foreman.

W. F. Brim J. R. Wimuth
C. H. Horton J. Attoway
L. L. Wilson C. C. Smith
J. H. Bowden W. H. Freeman
G. Y. Tomlinson E. McCasland
J. A. Holland C. L. Kight
Door Bailiff—E. A. Obenhaus.
Walking Bailiff—W. J. Jones.
Riding Bailiffs—J. C. Starnes, R. F. Chaney, W. C. Hancock, C. E. Bayley.

Cases Heard

The following cases were disposed of during the week:
O. L. McFarland vs. Mrs. Era McFarland. Divorce granted.
T. F. Elliott vs. Mrs. Allie T. G. Elliott, divorce granted and a division of personal property.

Mrs. Nona Cox vs. J. C. Cox, divorce granted plaintiff and custody of child.

Mrs. Mira D. Palmer vs. Filmore Palmer, divorce granted plaintiff and custody of child.

Court adjourned Tuesday and meets again Monday to take up the criminal docket.

The grand jury adjourned Tuesday afternoon to meet again next Monday. They returned three felony bills.

FINE APPLES

Mr. J. J. Cockrell, the well known fruit grower of Big Valley, presented the Eagle office with some of his beautiful apples a few days ago and they were indeed delicious. These are the apples on which Mr. Cockrell received first prize at the Dallas Fair last year. He will probably make an exhibit at the Fair this year and if he does, the Eagle predicts he will again secure the premium.

Eagles - Lometa Play Here Today At Fair Grounds

Lometa Hornets Out to Rout the Eagles on Their Home Field. Hot Game Expected.

Practically a brand new football team will wear the uniform of the Goldthwaite Eagles this afternoon in the first game of the season against the Lometa Hornets. The local youngsters have been steadily improving in practice, and the game today will give them a chance to show what they can do against the veteran players of the opposing team.

The game will be called at 4 p. m. at the Fair Grounds, and a big turnout of local fans is expected to be on hand to root for the home team. The showing that the new Eagle players make today will determine to a large extent the line-up that will face Brady on October 15th.

American Legion To Meet In Mullin

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion will be held in Mullin, Tuesday, Oct. 4. A meeting of the Legion Auxiliary will be held at the same time and an invitation to attend is extended to all ladies who are interested in the Auxiliary.

Last Friday morning the local post was represented at the Goldthwaite school by M. Y. Stokes, Jr., and L. B. Porter, who made brief talks explaining the Legion's Americanization program. Similar talks will be given Monday morning at the South Bennett school and Monday night at Ridge. Interesting war souvenirs will be displayed and explained at these programs.

BAPTIST AUXILIARY

Circle No. 1 of the Baptist Auxiliary met with Mrs. G. C. Ivins on Monday, Sept. 26. The devotional, 1 Cor. 13 chapter, was read by Mrs. J. D. Lindsey, Mrs. E. B. Anderson led the prayer. Our leader, Mrs. Ivins, appointed the following committees: Personal service chairman—Mrs. T. F. Sansom. Educational chairman—Mrs. J. D. Lindsey. Young people's leader—Mrs. J. D. Priddy.

Benevolence—Mrs. Chas. Rudd. Mission study—Mrs. C. D. Bledsoe. Missions—Mrs. Grover Dalton. Periodicals—Mrs. John Jackson. Stewardship—Mrs. J. D. Urquhart.

Flower committee—Mrs. Marvin Rudd and Mrs. John Jackson. Telephone committee—Mrs. Chas. Rudd and Mrs. John Jackson.

Teacher Bible study—Mrs. Marvin Rudd. Mrs. Grover Dalton was elected treasurer, Mrs. R. L. Armstrong, secretary and press reporter. After the business session refreshments were served.

Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Chas. Rudd on October 7, at which time we will prepare the box for Buckner Orphan's Home.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

County Clerk Porter reports the issuance of marriage license to Terrell Boyd of Nashville, Tenn., and Miss Kathleen Keese of Goldthwaite.

W. C. Dew Named To Represent The Governor

Applications for Government Aid To Be Handled Through W. T. C. C.

W. C. Dew has been designated by Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, to serve as Governor Sterling's representative in the preparation and submission of Goldthwaite's application for funds out of the $300,000,000 provided by the Federal Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has been charged by the governor with the responsibility of naming the chairmen in each town and county in its territory and assembling the applications from the towns. The directors of the affiliated towns have been named as chairmen. In unaffiliated towns, the Chamber has named others as chairmen.

Already application blanks and instructions have gone out to the two hundred towns, cities and one hundred and thirty counties in West Texas from the office of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Stamford.

Applications for the relief must be made through the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and must be filed by October 13 in order to give the organization time to transmit them to the Governor before October 15. The Governor will make application for the State of Texas on October 15.

The funds to be applied for now are for the months of October, November and December. The amount will be based upon the amounts that have been spent for relief and relief work by the respective applicant cities during the past twenty-one months, or since January 1, 1931.

Mr. Dew stated that in accepting the duties involved in representing Mills county, he does not anticipate any considerable demand for relief from citizens of this county. He desires, however, that any genuinely needy cases who deserve the aid offered by the government be reported to him.

TATTLER ISSUED

The first issue of the Mullin school paper, The Tattler, for this school year, appeared Tuesday and it certainly reflects credit on the town, the school faculty and student body. The paper was filled with interesting school news and literary articles well written, while the advertising patronage was excellent and showed the appreciation of the business men of Mullin and Goldthwaite. The Tattler is the best school paper in Texas—bar none—and the Eagle takes especial pride in it, since the mechanical work is done in this office. Mr. Scott, sponsor for the paper, is entitled to congratulations for her splendid selection of the staff and management of the Tattler and the good judgment displayed in selecting the articles for publication.

COTTON REPORT

W. H. Oglesby reports for the department of commerce that there were 246 bales of cotton ginned in Mills county prior to Sept. 16, as compared with 452 bales to the same date last year.

Two-Cent Stamps Are Coming Back

Those old-fashioned, red-faced postage stamps are going back on the job if the post office department has its way. The subcommittee of the House Postoffice committee has voted unanimously to restore two cent letter postage as soon as possible.

The government is receiving less revenue from the new three-cent rate than it did from the two-cent rate.

News In Brief

Events of the Week In This Country and Abroad.

Over 200 dead and 1000 injured and property damage heavier than in 1928 resulted from the tropical hurricane that devastated Porto Rico early this week.

Judge Thayer of Worcester, Mass., sentenced two Italian radicals to the electric chair in 1927 for a murder they had committed seven years before. Tuesday his home was blown up and his wife injured.

To put it slangily, it's nertz for Schertz. The bank there has been robbed for the second time this year. An army flyer who nabbed $600 from the bank in February drew a court martial sentence of 10 years. The second robber, who is also suspected of being a soldier with a criminal record, got $300 and fled in a taxi.

Appointment of Walter Walker, Colorado newspaper man, to the U. S. Senate by the governor of Colorado gives the Democrats 48 to the Republicans 47 and Farm Labor one. Walker takes the seat of Senator Waterman, Republican, who died recently. The House of Representatives already has a Democratic majority.

Two American balloons led the field in the balloon race that started from Basel, Switzerland Sunday. The navy balloon traveled over 900 miles and the Good-year balloon piloted by W. T. Van Orman went nearly as far before it had to land, after being 30 hours in the air. The victory will give America permanent possession of the Gordon Bennett cup.

A wave of assassinations swept Havana, Cuba, this week and four men were killed and several wounded. Clemente Bello, president of the senate and expected successor to President Machado, was killed by a gang of gunmen with a machine gun. Three leaders of the political party opposing him were then killed in retaliation.

You've got to vote right in Louisiana to get the gravy. Huey Long's brother, Earl, failed to support Huey's choice for governor. Now a regular has Earl's job as attorney to the state inheritance tax collector. Meanwhile the colorful Huey has announced that he will lead the parade in Houston Saturday at the Rice-L. S. U. football game.

Lake Minnows Are Replaced

A large number of minnows were swept out of Lake Merritt into Brown's Creek when flood gates were opened during the heavy rains recently.

This week Dow Hudson, chairman of the fish committee of the Mills County Hunting and Fishing Club, has been supervising minnow seining in Brown's Creek. Six hundred minnows were caught and replaced Wednesday.

Try to Keep Mrs. Ferguson's Name Off Ticket

Sterling Suit Alleging Illegal Voting to Be Heard Next Monday

At 12:30 a. m. yesterday, attorneys for Governor Ross S. Sterling secured a temporary injunction restraining the Secretary of State and county officials from placing the name of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee for governor, on the ballot for the November 8 election.

Judge W. F. Robertson of the 120th district court issued the injunction which names Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, and the county judges and county clerks of every county in Texas.

The injunction was sought pending a hearing on Monday of Governor Sterling's suit which alleges that Mrs. Ferguson's nomination was secured through illegal votes.

Counsel for Mrs. Ferguson said a motion will be filed for dismissal of the case on the grounds that it was filed too late and that the jurisdiction of the court will also be questioned. It is contended that the suit should have been filed within five days after Mrs. Ferguson was nominated by the State Democratic convention at Lubbock on Sept. 13. The suit was not filed until Sept. 22, replacing another suit, which had been filed on Sept. 13.

Attorney McCorkle, of counsel for Governor Sterling, discounted the possibility that there would be no Democratic nominee on the ballot in the general election on Nov. 8. There was no disposition on the part of the Sterling forces to delay the trial, he said, and he added "there certainly would be no disposition on the part of the Fergusons to delay."

Mrs. McCallum, under the law, must prepare the ballot for the county judges by Oct. 8. The suit brought by Gov. Sterling contesting the nomination of Mrs. Ferguson is scheduled to go to trial on Oct. 3, and it is regarded as probable in the event the trial starts on that date, it will continue several weeks.

Meanwhile the attorney general's department Wednesday night gave an opinion to Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, which held that she should certify nominees for state and district offices before Oct. 1, "or at least within sufficient time to permit county clerks to perform their statutory duties," in preparing the ballot.

WILL ROGERS

Famous as a writer, actor, cowboy and political observer, when Will Rogers makes a serious statement, he is always worth listening to. Here is what he has to say about small town weekly newspapers:

"They are not concealed enough to think they mold public opinion. They just go along and service their community with the most indispensable article that it has. And yet their real power is greater than all your metropolitan dailies combined. Any person that don't read at least one well-written country newspaper is not truly informed."

COMMUNITY LETTERS

NAMES NOT GIVEN.

In the last issue of this paper a request was made for correspondents to say whether or not their names should be printed above their letters. Only two have announced favorable to the plan, hence the names will not appear. It is a mere matter of convenience for the writers and it is a matter entirely with them. The Eagle has a splendid list of writers and is proud of them. No other paper anywhere can show a larger or more interesting list of writers and the Eagle is anxious for them to be pleased with the manner in which their letters are handled.

Just sign your names on your letters for the information of the editor, but the names will not be published. However, any writer can have his or her name printed by making special request.

LIVE OAK

On account of the weather we did not have Sunday school Sunday.

Some of the young people of the community enjoyed a 42 party at Mrs. Jennie Simpson's last Saturday night. Mrs. Virginia McGirk of Goldthwaite is visiting in the C. G. Featherston home and helping in the cotton fields.

Miss Ruth Featherston of this community went to Big Valley Saturday, where she will start teaching in the Big Valley school Monday. We hope her a successful year.

Some young people here attended the play at Midway last Friday night. They all reported that it was fine.

Misses Izetta and Ila Fay Featherston enjoyed Sunday evening with Morine and Mordine Brown.

Miss Ethel Parker visited Mrs. Roy Harwell last Saturday evening. IF

MOUNT OLIVE

Draw a ring around the 21st of October and bring a box to the box supper at Mount Olive school house. The proceeds from this supper will be used to buy new song books for the Mount Olive singing class. There will be singing next Sunday and all community folks are requested to be present. We want to pay our pledges for the piano. Singing will begin at 3 p. m.

If the weather permits there will be communion at the Primitive Baptist church Sunday. Every member is urged to be present and bring well filled lunch baskets as communion services will be in the afternoon. Everybody is cordially invited. We have had quite a bit of rain out here, but most of the fall feed has been saved.

Houston Ballentine attended the program at Midway Friday night. The death angel visited our community last Monday morning in the home of Almer Neal. His youngest daughter, Gracie, succumbed, to a severe case of diphtheria, at four-thirty a. m. Miss Neal was only sixteen years old and had hosts of friends in the younger set, wherever known. Her remains were interred at the Mount Olive cemetery Monday afternoon, with Rev. Jas. Chambers officiating. Miss Gracie is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Neal, four sisters and two brothers. We all extend our deepest sympathy to the grief-stricken family and pray that they will be reconciled by God's holy will. ABE.

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

Mrs. W. J. Ford of Seallorn was shopping in the city Monday.

W. H. Thompson came over from Brownwood the first of the week for a visit to relatives.

If you haven't secured your Fall Suit yet, better get Burch to make the order at once.

J. T. Morris and family have moved to Winters, where they expect to be located for several months.

Judge J. C. Darroch of Brownwood attended district court here this week, while Mrs. Darroch visited relatives.

Tom Clark Graves, who taught school in this county last school year, writes to have the Eagle sent to him in Dallas.

If your Dallas News subscription has expired, let the Eagle renew it for you, $1.00. Both the News and the Eagle one year $1.75.

Mrs. C. T. Wilson of San Angelo visited relatives here Monday and was a pleasant and appreciated caller at the Eagle office.

The Eagle is making another special subscription rate for the month of October. All who desire this special rate should act promptly.

Joe Roberts and wife took their son, John Earl, to Dallas Tuesday for an examination. Mrs. Jno. W. Roberts accompanied them.

Rev. I. M. Mansur, pastor of the Lutheran churches at Priddy, was looking after business and meeting his friends in this city Saturday.

When you have visitors or know any other local items of interest to your friends, phone, write or tell the Eagle.

L. R. Conroy and wife and Miss Lucille went to Fort Worth Saturday, where they visited relatives and he attended a Masonic banquet that night.

Mrs. DeWeese, who was called here last week because of the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Bert Galloway, returned to her home at Santo Saturday, accompanied by Mrs. Galloway, who will spend some time there recuperating from her illness.

Mrs. J. T. Helm, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in the sanitarium in Temple some weeks ago and is now in the home of her parents at Weatherford, is so far recovered that she will be able to return home Sunday and will likely resume her duties in the school in a few days.

Tell the merchants about having read their advertisements in the Eagle. It will help you as well as the paper and the dealers will be pleased.

The commissioners court held a special session Monday to inspect and approve the 1932 tax rolls. The work was completed in one day, which speaks well for our Tax Assessor W. L. Burks and Deputy Jo H. Frizzell, who prepared the rolls, as well as for the industry of the court in completing the duty in one day.

E. E. Wilson, who was editor of the Eagle for a good many years, was looking after business matters and meeting his friends in the city Monday. We all regretted that Mrs. Wilson was in the hospital in San Angelo, having undergone a serious operation. All of her friends hope she will soon be fully recovered.

One man who carried a for sale ad in the Eagle last week reported being unable to find his ad, nevertheless, one of the readers saw it and bought what he had to sell. Another carried a for rent ad and reports prompt results. On and on they go. If you have anything to sell, be it a stock of merchandise or one article, better advertise in the Eagle. It Pays.

Herbert and Horace Cooke will soon have a bale of cotton ready for the market.

This is a beautiful day for the women to wash and scrub, as well as the men getting lots of work done. BUSY BEE

STERLING SUIT SET

Trial of Gov. R. S. Sterling's suit contesting the Democratic nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for governor of Texas, has been set for Monday, Oct. 3 in the district court of Judge W. F. Robertson at Austin.

Papers to be served on Mrs. Ferguson were made out by the district clerk's office last week.

Gov. Sterling filed the suit alleging that 55,000 persons had been permitted to cast illegal votes in the runoff primary of Aug. 27, between him and Mrs. Ferguson. Mrs. Ferguson had been declared the party nominee by the state Democratic convention at Lubbock on Sept. 13. The official canvass showed she received about 4000 more votes than Gov. Sterling.

Governor Sterling asked the court to certify him as the Democratic nominee in the general election, after a hearing had been had on the allegations.

He proposed that the ballot boxes in certain counties, where irregularities were alleged, be brought into court and opened to substantiate charges made by him.

Governor Sterling asked the court to go into the allegations, order the ballot boxes opened to determine the genuineness of his charges of illegal votes having been counted for Mrs. Ferguson and declare him the lawful nominee of the party for governor. In the event Governor Sterling should be sustained, the court would direct the secretary of state to certify his name as the nominee.

"If the Eighteenth Amendment is to be removed from the constitution, it can be accomplished only through the measure proposed by the Republican party."—Ernest Lee Jahneke, assistant secretary of the navy.

"In general the principal obstacle to critical frankness is when the reviewer lives in and writes for a small community. . . . It is difficult enough anywhere in the inhabited world to defy neighborhood opinion."—Olin Downes.

"If our audiences separated themselves as do the legitimate audiences, our problem would be simple. . . . Motion pictures draw their audiences from the general public, and until they can be educated or until specialized productions are financially possible, it is necessary to make pictures offending as few as possible."—Will Hays.

DEEP SEA DIVER TALKS OVER RADIO

At Hamilton, Bermuda, last week a new deep sea diving mark of nearly a half mile was added to the world's records.

Dr. William Beebe, New York scientist, and Otis Barton, inventor of the "bathysphere," a newly devised diving apparatus, descended 2200 feet below the surface of the Atlantic there and broadcast their impressions over the radio from the depths.

The 2200 feet was several hundred feet farther down than Doctor Beebe, noted as a deep sea explorer, had ever been. The "bathysphere" protected them from a pressure of 4800 tons, enough to have flattened both of them if the apparatus had failed.

The experiment was made seven miles off Nonsuch Island, Bermuda, from the tug Freedom, which rode in glorious sunshine atop a heavy ocean swell. The "bathysphere" was lowered over the side and Gloria Hollister, a colleague of Dr. Beebe, took the microphone until he himself could be cut in.

Dr. Beebe hoped to reach 3000 feet, but was prevented from doing so by leakage of the sea water in a stuffing box through which the electric light cables entered the diving apparatus.

It was a graphic story that Doctor Beebe related as he watched the black as night depths around him. Often he exclaimed at some of the undersea life, all of which carried its own apparatus to light a pathway. Responding sometimes to the questions of Miss Hollister, he commented:

"I can't see a thing. It is absolutely black. Now there are fish about two or three feet away. . . . I can make out their forms from their own light. There are a great many of them. They are double. I think the double ones are fish coming head on. Those double lights. It is the most amazing thing now, the amount of light down here.

"It varies from pale blue to pale green, but on the very pale side. No deep tone. It must be the normal luminescence of the creatures."

When the sphere had almost reached its maximum depth, Doctor Beebe reported it was "rolling like the dickens." The device is an airtight metal ball having steel sides an inch and a half thick. Before the descent, doors were battened down with sledge hammers.

Hidden Gold

How would you like to dig up a bushel basket full of shiny gold nuggets? And if you did, would you keep them or bury them again? If you possess a divining rod that will really work, there is a man in Mills county who would like to take you to the vicinity of this cache and then divide the spoils with you after your rod has located the treasure.

This is his story, just as he told it to me one afternoon in the Eagle office:

"My pa was a blacksmith in the hills of Arkansas when he was a young man before the civil war. In those days they had to make their own horseshoe nails, and he was an expert nail maker. One day he made a horseshoe nail out of pure gold, but that is getting ahead of my story.

"Another man and pa decided to build some tan vats. So that the spring water could run into them, they dug holes for the vats and sunk them flush with the ground. They had put in two and were digging the hole for the third when they struck some queer rock. They were about the size of big marbles, and mighty heavy. Pa and the man dug them all up and looked at them. There was a pile big enough to fill a bushel basket. 'Tell you what let's do,' the man said to pa. 'Let's bury them all back right here where we found them, and dig the next hole further down.' And that's what they did, but each of them kept out a few of the nuggets for samples.

"They showed them around, and everybody agreed that they were pure gold—as good as any that ever came out of California. Pa took part of a lump and made a horseshoe nail out of it. He carried it around in his pocket awhile, and then one day he drove it in the floor.

"They kept pretty busy with the tannery and the blacksmithing, and then the war broke out between the states. There was a lot of fighting in that section, and pa decided it would be safer in Texas. The other man got killed in a row. So the gold stayed buried.

"When pa was on his death bed, he told me this story and made me draw a diagram that showed just where the nuggets were buried. I aimed to go back and look for it, but you know how that is. It never was convenient, and I kept putting it off from year to year. One year I did go back. The old tannery was gone, there wasn't a trace of it. The blacksmith shop was not there either. I asked questions—couldn't afford to talk too much, because I didn't want to make folks suspicious—and finally I located the spring that fed the tan vats. I stepped off the distance and started digging. After awhile I struck a piece of rotten wood. It was curved like a barrel stave, and I knew it was a part of one of the tan vats.

"That was close to the treasure, but not close enough. It was pretty hard digging, and I decided to get a divining rod and locate the spot exactly. I read in the Eagle about that Spanish treasure chest somebody dug up out of the dry pond, and I figured maybe they had a good divining rod that located it for them.

"I'd like to get hold of these nuggets. I know they are there, and I can take a fellow mighty close to them. If you know of one who has got a good rod, you tell him we'll divide the treasure between us."

Regrettably I had to tell him that I didn't know anybody who owned such a rod. Do you? —S.

SOUL RATIONS

One of the agencies of benevolence in New York has found a vocation in ministering to starved souls rather than to the basic needs of the unfortunate. It solicits discarded trinkets, ornaments, pictures, jewelry, fur tippets, books, music, toys and the like to dispose or sell at nominal sums to those whose love of the beautiful and inspiring in their surroundings or about their persons is hopelessly thwarted by lack of means. They pine for a bright picture on their forlorn walls, or a good book on the table. Sometimes, in a reckless mood, they do as the poor scrubwoman did who had a windfall of two dollars and spent every penny of it on a bunch of English violets. She, when reproached by a charity organization from which she had been receiving doles, explained that she could not resist the temptation for once to indulge in an extravagance, possess herself a luxury after years of cruel poverty.

This group of women in New York is surely doing good. Most of us can draw up our belts another hole and cut our lunch allowance in two for a spell of weeks, but there comes a time when, if we are blest with a spark of imagination, we crack under the strain of monotonous existence. A brain-storm sweeps away all our good resolutions, the self-denying ordinance is overborne, we are almost ready to play ducks and drakes with our insurance premiums and payments to the cooperative bank, and like Pippa, give ourselves a holiday. It is worth all it costs, sometimes, to waste the price of a plain nourishing meal on a red necktie or the price of a much-needed pair of shoes on a broiled lobster with all the fixings. Those who fear their fate too much to throw their caps over the mill in this fashion will find some balm for their bruised hearts in this New York project to provide them with the nosebags and sweets of life, which contribute their share to a true balanced ration and enable soul and body to sustain one another and face dark days with fortitude.—Boston Transcript.

A JAPANESE MENACE

A year before the United States entered the great war there was received at Riverton, a small New Jersey town on the Delaware river not many miles from Camden, a shipment of flower bulbs from Japan. These were stored away in a small warehouse pending ultimate disposal. One day the watchman noticed 'some bugs' flying around inside the warehouse and, opening a window, allowed them to escape, says the Pathfinder.

And that's how the destructive Japanese beetle got its start in the United States. It was some time before this country recognized the invader as an enemy. Then it was too late. In the old days the pest would not have gotten such a good start. But the auto spread him far and wide in little time. At first the government stopped and examined motor vehicles near Philadelphia, gradually the infected area spread along the Eastern coast until it now takes in parts of Connecticut and Virginia. Washington and other places are dotted with glass-jar traps, baited with scent.

And so the beetles multiply! As many as 1800 in a single clump of golf green sod. They attack sweet smelling flowers and fruits, especially roses and peaches. Strangely enough, pears are practically immune.

Government experts are still trying to find a natural enemy to aid in controlling the menace. It is a case of So, naturalists observe, a flea Has small fleas that on him prey; And these have smaller still to bite 'em, And so proceed ad infinitum. The chief danger is that the destructive agent may in turn become a pest, as in the case of the sparrow, imported from England in 1852 to fight the army worm.

Governor Stuyvesant made 23 murderers, burglars and other criminals happy Monday when he issued general paroles to them.

Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska Republican, will tour the country speaking for the Democratic candidate for president, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Two groups of miners staged a riot in Springfield, Ill., Monday just three blocks from the governor's mansion. An officer was killed and many miners injured.

The federal home loan board has announced that 48.6 per cent of U. S. families own their own homes. It didn't say who owned the mortgages on the homes, however.

A special Wild West rodeo was held for Governor Roosevelt in Williams, Ariz. He is on his way back to New York, after making a speech-making tour of the West.

Two men were arrested for shooting marbles in the lobby of a big hotel in Dallas Sunday night. Officers claimed they were betting on a marble game played on a marble board.

Seven hundred Germans invaded Paris, France, this week, waving German flags and singing German songs. They were German school children on their way to a French camp for a vacation.

Max Schmeling, the German boxer, who looks like Jack Dempsey, won a fight with Mickey Walker in New York Monday night, when Mickey quit after the eighth round of a scheduled 15-round bout.

At Little Rock, Ark., a thousand migrating swallows took shelter in a tall smokestack. When the gas fire was started next morning the gas fumes killed the birds—983 were found dead at the base of the chimney.

The farm board will sell China 15,000,000 bushels of wheat for $9,000,000 in gold to be paid in 1937 to 1939. Maybe by that time Japan will own China and assume the bill. At any rate it will take that much wheat out of this country.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, who failed to reach the North Pole by submarine last year, will try again in 1934. This time he plans to build a kind of submarine tank that will travel under the ice to the pole, something like a fly crawling on the ceiling.

Mrs. Florence Hunter of New York thought more of her eight dogs than of her $50,000 fortune. So when she died she left the dogs to her husband and the money to the missionary society, Red Cross, and humane society. He is contesting the will. Four of the dogs were dead when he got them, he says.

Drastic price cuts for crude oil are being planned by the major oil companies, independent oil men complain. It isn't fair, they say, after they had their production limited to a few barrels a day to suffer a price cut too. Nothing has been said about reducing the price of gasoline.

The Mexican government has announced that it will stop all other road work in that country until it has completed the highway from Mexico City to Laredo. The road has already been completed from Monterrey to past Victoria. From there on, much of the right of way has been blasted out of solid rock along the mountain sides. A STATEMENT FROM IRK BLACK

It is being reported that I made application and received a sack of the Red Cross flour.

This is maliciously false and the application I signed for a needy neighbor is on file and could have been verified by those circulating this unjust report.

I made application to W. M. Johnston for a neighbor who is in need and delivered the flour to him as an act of charity for a family in need.

Naturally, I resent this report and ask space in your paper to set myself right.

Thanking you, I am,

HIGHWAY ALLOTMENTS FOR NEAR-BY COUNTIES

The Highway Commission at Austin last week announced the following allotments for highway construction: Burnet county—$38,225 for highway 66, Lampasas county—$158,017 for grading and drainage structures on highway 66. San Saba county also received an allotment for improving highways 74 and 81.

The commissioners court didn't want stock dipped. Some of the ranchmen did. Rangers were sent in to enforce the law. A dozen vats were dynamited. Then somebody discovered the judge and commissioners were being paid out of the building fund. They were enjoined. That cut off all revenue, and there is no money left for feeding the prisoners. But the cattle are still being dipped.

PRICES ARE BLAMED FOR FARM TOOL DROP

How business disappears when prices remain too far above the general price level is graphically illustrated in the cases of agricultural equipment and steel by the current Business Conditions Weekly of the Alexander Hamilton Institute.

While prices of agricultural products have dropped 55.5 per cent since 1929, prices of farm equipment have dropped only 13.6 per cent and prices of steel only 15 per cent. Meanwhile output and distribution of agricultural equipment have dropped from $606,622,000 in 1929 to an expected less than $115,000,000 for 1932, the latter figure being less than exports alone in 1929. Says the Institute:

"The industry's failure to reduce prices to a sufficiently low level is an important reason for its distressful state of affairs. The farmer is now receiving such low prices for the products he sells that he can afford to buy very little farm equipment at the current price level. While this situation promises to be partly remedied eventually by some recovery in the prices of agricultural products, the farm equipment industry must reduce its prices considerably before the current problem is completely solved. This necessarily involves a further downward readjustment of costs."

Previous bulletins have dwelt upon the principle that prices are governed by supply and demand and not by costs; that costs are and must be adjusted to prices. The very maintainance of prices, while tending so to restrict volume as to have capital (or overhead) costs abnormally high in proportion to output, tends to wipe out weak companies, to wipe out their assets and thus to reduce capital costs catastrophically. The alternative is to raise dollar volume in proportion to costs by reducing prices and, at the same time, to cut the costs of capital, labor and material. Having previously shown that overhead cost figures are generally fictitious—high, owing to failure to write down the values of depreciated assets, and having emphasized the need of a general scaling down of capital structures, the Institute, while mentioning the possible need of further cuts in wage rates, confirms itself in this bulletin to the following comment of material costs:

"The agricultural equipment industry must reduce its wage rates, and it must impress upon the steel industry the absolute need for lower steel prices. The agricultural equipment industry is one of the important smaller consumers of steel and the steel industry as well as the farm equipment industry will benefit from lower steel prices through the increase in the sales of equipment and the consequent gain in the consumption of steel."

What Is the Texas C-E-N-T-E-N-N-I-A-L?

On March 6, 1836, at 9 A. M. Santa Anna with 4,000 Mexican regulars stormed the Alamo. They were twice repulsed with heavy losses. Of 830 Mexicans, only 130 remained. They finally scaled the walls and the heroic last stand which the defenders made is well known in every Texas.

- Q. What does the word Centennial mean?
A. Webster's Dictionary defines the word Centennial as: "A 100th anniversary or its celebration."
- Q. Why the movement to celebrate it in 1936?
A. 1936 marks the 100th anniversary of the actual gaining of Texas Independence and the formation of an Independent Republic. In other words, 1936 will be the 100th birthday of Texas.
- Q. What will it mean to Texas?
A. The celebration of the Texas Centennial offers the greatest opportunity that Texas has ever known. It is certainly patriotically mandatory upon us to make this public recognition. From an economic standpoint, twenty-five years' growth can be brought to the State within five years.
- Q. What State in the Union has a more brilliant history than Texas?
A. Though a few states closely rival the colorful history of Texas, there is certainly no state which has a more brilliant or inspiring history than our own dear State.
- Q. How can the Texas Centennial in 1936 become a reality?
A. An exposition of this magnitude and character must have the official sanction of the entire State, hence the matter of whether or not Texas shall celebrate its 100th birthday is to be submitted directly to the people. On November 8th a Texas Centennial Constitutional Amendment will be voted upon.
- Q. How much actual wealth will be brought to the State by the Centennial in 1936?
A. It is conservatively estimated that the visitors who come to the Centennial Exposition in automobiles alone will return to the State Treasury in gasoline tax alone an amount of approximately $25,000,000.00. This State gasoline tax goes directly into the Highway and School funds and thus will show permanent development to the State. Wealth in untold millions and from many different angles will pour into the State as the immediate result of this celebration. And thus while celebrating the patriotic Centennial revering the memory of Texas' forefathers, present-day Texans will benefit in an economic way by a dissemination of information concerning present-day opportunities in Texas.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday school attendance as well as attendance at the preaching services were much improved over the previous Sunday in spite of weather conditions. Especially do we have good crowds at the evening service. However, this is due to the fact that a number of our young people have been coming to the night services.

The hope for the future is wrapped up in the possibilities of our young people. These possibilities will be achieved in accordance to the way these young folk are trained and developed. The church is the greatest bulwark that people have against unrighteousness. It is the greatest soul saving and character-building institution this world has ever seen. We do not mean to say that it is perfect. When it was first organized it had its Judas in it and all through the ages we find within its membership just such folk, but we do mean to tell you that it is the only institution today that stands for the saving and insist upon the culture of the soul. With such an institution men everywhere should give it their most serious, earnest thought, giving it their best support.

There is not a business in this town but what would have to close its doors should the Christian people withdraw their support, and it is a fine thing when the business men recognize the fact that they can not get along without the help of men and women who believe in the church and its mission. Then if the church has made men better, and our town a worthy place to live in, should not everyone attend its services and support its work? Selah.

Getting back to our young people. It is not an easy matter for a person to wield an influence upon all young people. There is the proper kind. There are many obstacles in the way. Sometimes the parents themselves are in the way. Not all parents will conduct themselves in such a way that they will have the right influence over their children. It is a hard task for a man to step in between parents and their child and advise them to do right when he knows that the parents are worse than the child. On the other hand, it is an easy task for a man to walk up and speak to a young man or woman about living right when he knows the parents have set the right example. Then there are those outside influences that young people come in contact with that have a tendency to create in their minds to do that which is wrong. These outside influences are generally from people who are older and well versed in those things that are detrimental to the welfare of any young man or woman. In approaching these young folk one must do it tactfully and prayerfully.

When young people attend the services of the church there is an avenue that has been opened whereby something might be said that will have a far-reaching influence upon their lives. And young man, when you read these lines just remember the person that is most interested in your welfare is the person that finds time occasionally to go to the house of God to worship. And remember another thing, that the boy and girl who are constant Sunday school and church goers hardly ever find their way to the court house. We urge that you worship with us every service. We promise you that our evening services will be brief and assure you that your presence is an inspiration as well as a help to our entire church. So come, bring your friend and worship with us.

Mrs. Ora Black and daughter, Mrs. Earl Blake, were in Lampasas one day visiting her daughter and sister, Mrs. Raford Davis.

Mrs. Elmer Horton, who for some time has been sick, was taken to Temple one day last week for an examination and the doctors sent her home to have her teeth pulled at once. We hope she will get them all out soon.

Miss Gladys Cuthbertson of Comanche spent last Monday with Misses Freda and Greta Hines. Freda accompanied Miss Cuthbertson home and stayed until Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Cora Ford and son, Tommie, spent Monday night with her son, Sherwood.

Fields Hines and Marvin Laughlin spent the day Sunday with Tom and White Ford and they played fortytwo most of the day.

Mrs. Loraine Evans spent Monday at Lometa with her mother. Her sister accompanied her home for a few days.

Mrs. Winter Stevenson's niece and nephew, Mr. and Miss Joyce, and their friend from Oklahoma City are here visiting her this week.

Chester and J. D. Ford went to Temple Saturday on business and returned Sunday.

Freda and Greta Hines have been visiting Mary Alice Weathers last week and Mary Alice spent Saturday and Sunday with the Hines family.

Dutch Smith made a business trip to Llano this week.

Next Sunday being our church day we are going to have church and dinner, so let's everybody come and enjoy the day, as we have had to miss having church several Sundays on account of not having any preacher since we had to give our good pastor, Bro. Mayfield, up. But Brother Aaron Shave will conduct our services, so come.

Alva Ford is gathering corn and doing some carpenter work for Mr. Kuykendall this week.

Another birthday surprise on Monday, Sept. 26, being Mrs. Ora Black's birthday. A great host of her friends gave her a great surprise, arriving at her home at about 11 o'clock, each one with lots of good things to eat. The children were: Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blake of Scallorn, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Black and daughter of Goldthwaite, Mrs. Chas. Wright and two children of Brownwood,

H. O. T. UNION MEETING

One of the best meetings that the Heart O' Texas Young Peoples Union has ever had was held at Center City the third Sunday of this month. There were a number of young people from Mullin, Goldthwaite, Star and Center City at the meeting. Bro. Ramsey had charge of the morning services, and at noon a delicious lunch was served to all the visitors.

While holding a business meeting, we elected Miss Clemmie Mae Hancock of Mullin for our president. She is taking the place of Miss Ollie Mae Featherston, who is in school at Wichita Falls. An invitation was given and accepted that the next Union meeting be held at Goldthwaite December 11.

The visitors are grateful to the people of Center City for the hearty welcome given us, and we are hoping to have a larger crowd at Goldthwaite on Dec. 11. Don't forget. REPORTER

Cotton Market Loses Ground

Cotton dropped nearly $2.50 a bale yesterday and the street price in Goldthwaite for middling cotton was 6 1-2c, a full cent off from the quotations on Thursday of last week. The cotton market has been weak for several days in spite of unfavorable weather reports.

her little son, Billy, and father, Mr. Bradley. Her friends were: Mrs. Frank Hines and two daughters, Freda and Greta, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Laughlin and son, Hulon, Mrs. Ida Stevenson, Mrs. Frank Eckert, Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Laughlin, Mrs. Cora Ford and son, White, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Morgan, Mrs. Lora Mound, Mrs. Stella Jones, Mrs. Dutch Smith and three children, Mrs. Edgar Wright of Brownwood, Mrs. J. D. Ford and two children, Miss Joyce of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Chester Ford. After each one had a good talk Mrs. Black said: "Well folks, I better get started on dinner. I don't have a thing cooked. After teasing her about getting dinner, each one brought their baskets of dinner and dinner was spread. Everyone ate hearty and there was lots of dinner left. After dinner everybody enjoyed some music given by Mrs. Chester Ford and Mrs. Black and sang lots of good songs. At about four o'clock everyone was getting ready to go home, Mrs. Chas. Wright served punch and cake, then they all bade Mrs. Black a goodbye, hoping for her another happy birthday. She received a great host of presents, which were appreciated by her very much. XX

DOUBLE WEDDING

A double wedding was solemnized at the residence of Rev. B. F. Renfro in this city Saturday afternoon, when Bernard Perry and Miss Vida Montgomery and Miss Bernice Perry and Jack Montgomery were united in holy wedlock. The Enterprise extends good wishes to each of these couples.

TOBACCO RAISED HERE

Our old friend, W. M. Smith, while we were out of town Tuesday, brought in a large, well developed tobacco plant, that he had grown on his farm in the Prairie community. The stalk must have been about 3-feet high with well developed leaves. We have quite a number of citizens that use the tobacco, but Mr. Smith is the first to produce it in this locality. Mr. Smith is one of our most progressive farmers and is always ready to try for any advancement that might be made for the advantage of the farmers of his community.

M. Y. P. S.

The Methodist young people had for their subject Sunday night "The Bible Around the World." After the song service the leader, Johnnie Williams, took charge of the program.

The first number as a duet—"My Mother's Bible"—sung by Tootsie Hancock and Alta Scrivner. A dramatic skit was then presented. The characters were Rosa Meek Fletecher, Carrie Kirkpatrick, Alta Scrivner and Hoyt Williams. This presentation gave some helpful information about the American Bible Society and emphasized the fact that the young people in the church today were influenced by its work. This program served a most profitable one and caused each one present to have a deeper appreciation of the Bible. REPORTER.

Alvin Hays has accepted a position with the Gulf filling station in Goldthwaite.

R. H. Young is reported on the sick list this week.

Mrs. M. L. Green of Duren is reported as improving from her recent illness.

Oscar Holland this week purchased a bunch of steers from R. J. Edmondson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Eaton have moved to the Hoffman farm in the Duren community. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Masters are the proud parents of a 10-pound son that arrived in their home Sept. 25.

Walker Wigley and Roy Crockett have purchased a new feed mill and are trying it out this week.

Mrs. Leland Lockridge and new son, who are visiting at her mothers, Mrs. Jim Fisher's, home are expected soon.

My, and Mrs. Barney McCurdy and W. H. Wasserman and family were guests in the home of J. N. Crockett Sunday.

Rosecoe Holland has moved to Mullin and was in town Monday meeting with some of his old friends and acquaintances.

R. J. Edmondson handed the editor $1 this week and asked that the Enterprise continue to come to his address for another year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Keeler of Zephyr announce the arrival of a new girl in their home Sept. 21. The young lady weighed 8 pounds.

Mrs. F. M. Tillman has several workmen busy this week adding a new sleeping porch to her home in the western part of town.

Thomas Smith of Prairie has entered college at Stephenville. He is a worthy young man and has taught successful schools in this county.

Bob and Arnold Reynolds, two of Trigger Mountain's genial farmers, were in town Monday meeting friends and looking after business.

Mrs. F. M. Wortman and son, Joe Frank, of Tuttle, Okla., arrived in Mullin Monday for a visit with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Herrington.

Miss Lois Blackwell of Center City spent several days recently with her former schoolmate, Miss Rosa Meek Fletecher. The young ladies were jolly friends at John Tarleton college.

WRECK THAT FAILED

Last Sunday two old cars were driven for a head on collision. The drivers made their jump, but the cars missed each other and failed in their collision. One car broke through the boundary and three people were injured. The cost of a thrill.

Mmes. S. E. W. Hudson and Joekel and Mr. Tom Hudson of San Saba visited Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wilson Friday. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are improving in health.

Miss Katherine Kemp is spending the week visiting her brother, W. O. Kemp, in Brownwood and attending the revival meeting being conducted by Dr. Dodd of Shreveport, La.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jones of Mexia have been visiting Mrs. Jones' parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Herrington, and Mr. Jones' uncle, Dr. R. H. Jones, during the past week.

Our friend, A. L. Carroll of Ridge was in town one day during the past week exhibiting a peach measuring 8 1-2 inches in circumference and of a very delicious flavor. Mr. Carroll says he can't see why every farmer in the county doesn't have an orchard, when trees will grow as this one does.

The farmers are preparing to harvest one of the largest fall feed crops that has been made in this section in many years. Maize, cane and such feed that was cut during the summer has made a second crop that in many cases is better than the first crop. And our farmers are not failing to take advantage of saving it. Realizing as they do that some years feed comes mighty dear when dry weather hits this section.

Osteen Patterson and Ralph Cohen visited friends here Sunday.

T. J. Clendennen, Donald Clendennen and Will Sandevs were Brownwood visitors Monday.

Boland Tyson and S. H. Davis were among the crowd who went to Goldthwaite Wednesday.

Mrs. S. J. Casey left Tuesday for a visit to the Temple sanitarium. She is expected home today.

Misses Rosa Meek Fletecher and Hazel Hancock visited Mrs. Floyd Fox in Goldthwaite Wednesday.

Mrs. E. L. Obenhaus of Goldthwaite visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Davis, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tip Hart have received a letter from their son, John Hart, of California that he expects to leave that state about the 15th of October on his return to Mills county to make his home.

Wilba Kemp spent Friday in Belton at meeting of the executive board of the Texas High School Press Association. It will be remembered that he was elected a member of the board.

Word has been received that M. E. Casey has finished his new gin near Lubbock and his manager has accepted it and also complimented Mr. Casey highly for the manner in which the work had been done. The gin is said to be one of the most complete in that section of the state, equipped with all the modern gin improvements. Mr. Casey's friends here wish for him a successful run for the season.

Since last week about 5 inches of rain have fallen in this part of the county and the streams have all been filled and the farm have been washed quite a bit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Carmichael and son of Ben Arnold spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Weston and with his sister, Mrs. H. R. McDonald.

J. D. Cobb was in town Monday from his farm south of Mullin. He reports plenty of rain and expresses a desire to see some dry weather for a few weeks.

BEAUTY in the HOME

Old Lace Design Used For Dresser Set

THE beauty of one of the oldest of the applied arts is combined with modern American utility in this old lace dresser set which harmonizes well with the mellow tones of the French painted furniture with which it is used. Lucite in jade color gives the set a pleasantly soft and restrained tone, the particular pattern used as a motif, known as "point d'Angleterre", being a copy from a piece of old Brussels lace. The delicate tracery of the thread lines in the weave have a distinctly feminine appeal. Below is an enlargement of the tray, one of the set, which has, in all, nine pieces.

Gandhi Breaks Fast

MAHATMA GANDHI

With a few sips of orange juice, Mahatma Gandhi broke his "fast unto death" Monday, after being informed that the English government had agreed to a compromise on the voting of India's untouchables.

How much longer will Gandhi live now and how much longer can bloodshed and violence be averted in his country?

Those are questions of tremendous importance to millions of his fellow-countrymen in teeming India. It is a subject fraught with danger for the handful of Englishmen who now rule that oriental empire with its conglomeration of races, religions and castes.

This little brown man—he only weighed 84 pounds when he started his fast last week—is a peculiar combination of ward politician and saint. His career has been a checkered one for many years. Educated in an English University, wounded in the Boer War in South Africa, a wealthy and influential lawyer in South Africa, and now a withered little old man, almost toothless, bald and clad only in a loin cloth.

In January, 1930, he proclaimed India's independence from England. He was arrested for evading the salt tax and spent most of the year in jail. Last year he traveled to England and attended the Indian conference in London. The king received him—still in shawl and loin cloth. He spoke over the radio to America. He returned to India and soon was in prison again as were thousands upon thousands of his Hindu followers.

Last week he announced that he would start a fast that would end only with his death or with the agreement of the English to allow the so-called untouchables of India to vote with the upper classes instead of separately. Immediately the English announced that he was free. But he elected to remain in jail—and to starve. His fast lasted six days.

Now he is still in jail and eating again—if taking orange juice, goat milk and barley water can be called eating—and the evil day of fit and rebellion in India has been postponed once more.

Worth Listening To

It may be seriously debated whether the invention of radio has contributed enough of value to the world to offset the almost constant stream of drivel that proceeds from the loud speakers. For every program of good music, adequately played, there are thousands of so-called popular programs in which the blah-blah of the announcers, the ineptitudes of the new plague of radio comedians, the nasal complaints of the crooners, the insistent advertising, and the execrable music compete with each other to reach the acme of vulgarity.

Consequently it is particularly gratifying whenever the two radio trusts allow some serious programs time on the air.

Three instructive programs are now appearing each week without any commercial sponsorship. They are presented by the National Advisory Council on Radio in Education and consist of a series on AMERICAN LABOR AND THE NATION at noon every Sunday, a series on YOU AND YOUR GOVERNMENT at 7 p. m., each Tuesday, and one on ECONOMIC PROBLEMS OF TODAY, which will be given at 7 p. m. each Saturday beginning November 12.

Although presented by acknowledged authorities, these lectures and round table discussions are not difficult to understand, and any person capable of reading a newspaper editorial will find them interesting and informative. It is also possible to buy them in printed form, and many people will prefer to read the lectures rather than try to listen to them. On the other hand, in many communities study groups have been formed to listen to the radio programs together and follow up the lecture with a discussion of the subject.

Three half-hour periods a week devoted to educational, non-commercial subjects are not much, especially when compared with the numbers of similar programs offered each week in England, but they are a step in the right direction. We welcome them to the air.

Everything But Money

Last week the Eagle published a tabulation of renditions for taxes supplied from the office of the tax assessor. In dollars and cents, the renditions for the current year show a decline of nearly one million dollars, about 20 per cent. The first impression one gains is that this reflects a serious situation. But does it?

How are the property owners of this county worse off this year than they were the year before? More than three-fourths of the county's taxable property consists of lands and lots. There is still just as much land in the county as there was last year. Although the rendition has declined some half million dollars, the productive capacity of the land has not been affected. When prices move back up, the crops that are raised on it, the live stock that pastures on it, and the houses that are built upon it will automatically increase in value. This year there are more cattle, sheep, goats and hogs than there were a year ago and only a few less horses and vehicles. Although their prices in dollars and cents are less, their fundamental value is unaffected. And the money that this property can be sold for now will buy fully 20 per cent more merchandise than it would a year ago, so the exchange value of the property has not suffered.

But when the average citizen goes to pay his taxes, he will have less to pay than last year, because his renditions are smaller. His cash outlay will accordingly be smaller.

In everything but cash the position of the county is really stronger than it was a year ago. And since the commissioners court has foreseen this large decline in taxes for next year and has reduced the county budget accordingly, there is nothing left to be apprehensive about.

The value of our property is not impaired. Slowly but surely an adjustment is being worked out that, regardless of whether the price level goes higher or remains low, depression conditions will be eliminated.

WHEN GOLD IS NOT SO GOOD

Which is better money, a United States ten dollar bank note or a ten dollar gold piece? They are worth just the same in this country. But suppose you would exchange ten dollars for Canadian money across the border. With a ten dollar gold piece you could get ten dollars in Canadian currency. With ten dollars in American currency, you could get eleven Canadian dollars. But you couldn't get any Canadian gold, because Canada like England is off the gold standard and so doesn't redeem her paper and silver money in gold.

Suppose you should have a thousand dollars in American silver dollars. You could have your bank send them to a federal reserve bank and, no matter how worn and slick they were, exchange them for $1000 in currency or even gold. But if you should send a thousand dollars in American gold pieces to a federal reserve bank, you would be lucky to get $1000 in other money for it. The bank would weigh your gold, not count it, and unless it weighed 25,800 grains, you would be penalized at the rate of 3.88 cents per grain. If the gold has been in circulation, it is pretty certain that several grains would have been lost from as much as $1000. As it takes 437 1-2 grains to make an avoirdupois ounce, you wouldn't have to lose much of it to have it count up.

Finally, that gold piece is not all gold. Ten per cent of it is only a cheap alloy. So if you, like the vast majority of people, do not possess any gold, perhaps you are not so bad off after all.

Keeping Up With Texas

CHEESEMAKING IN TEXAS

A Texas publication says that thirty million pounds of cheese are being imported into Texas every year, and that thirty million pounds of cheese is the equivalent of ten million pounds of butterfat, and ten million pounds of butterfat is about the yield of fifty thousand average milk cows for one year. Therefore, if Texas made all the cheese which it consumes, fifty thousand milk cows would be taken out of production as far as the regular market for milk and butter is concerned.

While these figures are somewhat startling, at the same time it must be said that Texas is waking up on cheesemaking, and indications now are that a few years hence there will be no overproduction of milk in Texas, even though the number of milk cows in the state be largely increased.

It has been shown that cheese of the very best quality can be made in Texas, and that it can be made at a lower cost than in the Northern states.

One of the largest cheese plants is located at Denison, Texas. There is also one at Round Rock as well as here at Goldthwaite.

THE REALM OF SCIENCE

One of the rarest of human accidents, the sudden death of an individual from a light blow on the side of the neck, which happens to touch and overstimulate the vagus nerve, occurred recently near London, England. Two cadies at a golf course got into an argument and one struck the other a light blow on the side of his neck just below the ear. The young man who was struck fell down, but got up at once and began to protest. Suddenly he collapsed, fell over again and died. Medical examination proved his death to stoppage of the heart and of breathing although the blow on the neck did no visible damage. The explanation was that even this light blow happened to touch what is probably the most sensitive and dangerous spot on the side of the neck, where the vagus or pneumogastric nerve lies only a short distance under the skin, on its way from the brain to the organs of the chest and abdomen. This nerve is one of two nerve paths through which the brain controls the heart beat. The other one, called the sympathetic nerve, acts to make the heart beat faster. The vagus nerve, on the other hand, acts to make that organ beat more slowly. If this vagus nerve is stimulated too greatly, as it may be by being pinched or as it evidently was in this instance by the caddy's blow, the beating of the heart may be stopped altogether. Breathing and digestion may be affected also, as this same vagus nerve also has branch nerve fibers the messages of which have powerful effects on the breathing muscles and on the stomach and other digestive organs. One procedure in the Japanese art of jiu-jitsu is supposed to be a sharp touch on the vagus nerve at about the same spot where the unfortunate British caddy was struck accidentally.

Remarkable Remarks

"Comedy is man's temporary triumph over his impending fate."—Brooks Atkinson.

"We can not take a long view without finding life sad, and all things tragic."—George Santayana.

"It has long been notorious that Washington is the one place in the United States which disinterested public opinion does not reach."—Nicholas Murray Butler.

"It (labor) believed then (prior to 1929), as it is convinced now, that labor did not share equitably in the earnings of industry. During the long-continued period of unemployment wages have been reduced by many corporations, while at the same time they continued to pay dividends out of surplus earnings created by labor."—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

HEALTH HINT

The mention of Bright's disease to the average individual is enough to cause him to consider any sort of remedial agency that promises health. Yet while individuals will readily take any sort of "cure" for Bright's disease, few are willing to do anything to prevent its occurrence. Chronic Bright's disease is usually found only when its terrible symptoms appear causing individuals to seek medical aid. When we remember that so much of the kidney structure is destroyed before symptoms are manifested in Bright's disease and early death is indicated, it is sensible and just that we take an inventory of the kidney long before it is so destroyed. The old adage "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" should be changed in regard to this disease and would read "Kidney disease can only be cured by its prevention."

Now just what should we do to keep these priceless assets, a normal kidney function and a kidney free from disease? Scientific, modern tests can be applied by the physician which will give warning of initial kidney disease. This would be safeguarded in a semi-annual health check-up of well individuals. Individuals may do a number of things to prevent kidney upsets of chronic nature. The first thing is watch your diet. By all means do not overeat. Much has been said in current publications and many faddish notions have been given to the public not to eat this, and that the other. Great authorities on kidney disease agree that the eating of large quantities of food above all other habits, is the most pernicious. It is important that we have our daily requirement of food. It is furthermore important that an individual regulate the amount of his food according to the physical exercise that he takes.—Dr. N. D. Buie in Texas Outlook.

What Other Editors Have to Say

STANDARDS OF PROSPERITY

One of the best achievements of American people has been in the enlargements of the list of what are considered human necessities. And it is a surprising fact that while the range of necessities has been vastly enlarged, the level of costs for the individual item tends to decrease.

Franklin Hobbs, economist, told a Chicago convention of architects recently that the average general price level now is about 25 per cent below that of a century ago. But that does not mean that it is cheaper to live now. In fact, Mr. Hobbs estimated that it costs the average individual about 10 times as much to live now as it cost the average individual to live 100 years ago.

"It costs each of you," said Mr. Hobbs, "three times as much to live now as it cost you in 1900, even though you live no more extravagantly now than you lived then. The difference in the cost is the amount required to buy the things that were not in existence in former times but now have come to be regarded as necessities."

There is vital significance in these observations. There is a reason why each revival from a period of depression promises a wave of prosperity greater than ever before enjoyed. The scope of activities supplying what humanity regards as its needs continually broadens. Once it was sufficient to provide shelter, food and clothing for the great mass of the population and general well-being was thought attended to. History records that a king set as his ideal of prosperity for his people that every peasant should have a fowl in the pot on Sunday.

But right now the American ideal of normal good times is that every American family should have a car and a good many should have two or three, that every house should have a radio, a telephone, electric lights and energy for operating labor-saving devices, besides an abundance of clothing, foods and other elemental comforts taken for granted.—Paris Morning News.

TWO MONTHS' WORK FOR NOTHING

How would the average citizen like to work 61 days without any pay whatever?

The answer is that he would not like it at all. But that, in effect, is what he is doing. Sixty-one days' work out of each year is required to pay the cost of government. In 1924 it was 46 days and in 1913 about 25 days.

The ratio is constantly rising. Carried to the inevitable conclusion, it means that in the not-too distant future, the taxpayers will be working for the tax eaters all the time, and for themselves not at all. Every time a new bureau is created, every time a new department comes into existence, a little more of the money we earn finds its way into the treasury.

As President Hoover has said, to continue on the tax road we are traveling is to impoverish the nation. In the last 16 years the cost of government has increased nearly 150 per cent. The results are found in hoarding of capital, industrial retrenchment, unemployment. The tax issue, in all its phases, is one of the most important problems the American people have ever faced.—Industrial News Review.

THE WASTERS

We still lade out $25,000,000 a year to a neat little bureau named the Indian Bureau. Practically all the Indians are against the paternal interference with their lives—and for good reason.

More than half the money spent by the bureau goes, not to the Indians, but to white bureaucrats. There are nearly 10,000 employees on the rolls, mainly in Washington, D. C.

One "commissioner" of the bureau gets $9500 a year for making treaties with the Indians.

SCOPE OF THE HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION AMENDMENT

Frank Putnam of Houston, occasional candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, is entitled to his day in court when one of his earliest and most earnestly recommended planks is offensively before the people in the form of a constitutional amendment. Mr. Putnam is the father of the homestead exemption proposition which will be voted on in November. At Lubbock, where he attended the Democratic state convention, Mr. Putnam was jubilantly predicting adoption of the amendment.

Mr. Putnam advances an interesting, and in some respects, disturbing theory. He claims that if the amendment is adopted it will exempt $3000 of the assessed value of homesteads not only from state taxation, but from all taxation by counties, municipalities and school districts as well. The theory, says Mr. Putnam, "is that no political subdivision can impose taxes upon property which the state itself can not tax." Mr. Putnam says he has the opinion of "competent legal authority" that the exemption will be automatically extended to all taxation.

Such a result would play havoc with the taxing structure of counties, cities and school districts, since these authorities would have no such resources for developing tax support from other fields as is enjoyed by the state. In fact, if it were shown that the proposed amendment would have this effect there would be reason for citizens of all classes to start campaigning for its defeat in November.

However, the case does not appear so threatening, despite Mr. Putnam's "competent legal authority." Whether or not a subdivision may exercise powers of taxation over property which the state itself can not tax does not seem to be the question. By the amendment, the state will not have put homesteads outside the field of taxation, but will merely have elected to abstain from taxing a certain part of the assessed value of homesteads. This is something entirely different in a technical sense; it is voluntary relinquishment of certain forms of exercise of power, not denial of that power in toto.

There are some considerations which may be quoted in favor of adoption of the homestead amendment. But the point raised by Mr. Putnam does not appear to be available for citation on either side, at any rate, not until there has been an interpretation by the courts.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

BOOZE AND AUTOS

If drunken auto drivers have killed 15,000 persons and injured 500,000 others in the years this country has had prohibition, what will be their toll when, and if, liquor legally comes back? Before the country went dry we had less than 3,000,000 potential engines of death; today we have nearly 10 times that number.

This is one of the questions which the National Safety Council might consider at its 21st annual convention to be held at Washington, Oct. 4 to 7. As a preliminary to this session, half a hundred large cities are co-operating with the council in observing National Traffic Law Enforcement month in September. What with one auto to every four people in the United States despite the depression, the council is staving every effort to improve traffic regulation. A prime objective is standardization of signals, etc. A serious drawback has been the obstinacy of some states and municipalities in adhering to pet regulations, despite the uniform program recommended by Mr. Hoover when secretary of commerce.—Pathfinder.

ans. Why it is still necessary to make treaties years after the Indian wars have closed, no one knows. But it provides good soft jobs at public expense.—Dallas Dispatch.

IDLENESS THE CAUSE

It isn't likely there are many girl roamers dressed like boys. Girls may be restless at home, but their roaming spirit is held under the restrictions of an inheritance as old as the human race. Occasionally girls do run away from home and take to the road, sometimes because of ill treatment and sometimes because of dumbness. But they are few, and they do not roam long or far. Under modern urban conditions, boys and girls have little to do. Under past dispensations the half-grown youth could always find some sort of a little job to interest and reward him. And the half-grown girl had certain domestic chores which kept her busy during some part of the day. As things now are, the boys have difficulty in finding employment suitable to their years and the girls have little or nothing to do at home. Those whose parents can afford cars and gasoline, cater to their restlessness by driving and visiting and playing. Those without cars sometimes go hitch-hiking in town or country, looking not so much for adventure as for release from idleness. Much of the younger generation arises from purposeless comings and goings of the idle young, who have little to do but to come and go. Hobbles-de-hoy energy must find some expression, and sometimes it expresses itself more or less perniciously. Machines and towns have changed the world's habits, and the new habits have reflected new viewpoints, if not a new indifference.—State Press in Dallas News.

POLITICS AND BUSINESS

Bernard Baruch reassuringly tells the business world that it has nothing to fear from Roosevelt's election. Calvin Coolidge tells us that Hoover is the best bet for the business outlook. Our impression is that at the worst a Democratic victory could do no more than give capital a momentary scare and that a Republican victory can at the best do not more than give a little impetus to business revival. Nothing that either party will do in the next four years will prevent a return of good times if they are on the way, or rescue us from a continuation of hard times if they are economically decreed. Either party will certainly use all the powers of government to promote prosperity. Their methods may be different, but when government gets into economics no man can say with certainty which will be better or, as it might be put cynically, which is the worst. The thoughtful patriotic citizen should vote his convictions as to the long-time effects. He should give major consideration to the probable policies of the next administration in regard to such fundamental questions as the tariff, international economical relations, the future of the railways, the regulation of speculation, banking reorganization, monetary and credit policies. He should, in a word, consider whether it would be better in the long run to vote for a party that promises what considers ameliorative changes in laws and administration or to vote for a party that finds the best assurance of the future in the continuation of the National government along the road laid down by the past.—Magazine of Wall Street.

SCHOOL BELL'S CALL TO WORK

The school bell called 1,037,605 teachers, 26,953 superintendents and business officers, 37,764 public school supervisors and principals, 238,306 janitors, about 50,000 bus drivers and approximately 125,000 engineers, carpenters, electricians, health officers, etc., back to work. Though this year's school enrollment is not expected to outnumber 1930's record breaker of one fourth the nation's total population, public elementary and high school registration is booked to approximate 25,000,000 and colleges and universities more than a million full-time students and about one-quarter million part-time students.—Exchange.

Lampasas

A. R. Havvey, sheriff of Lampasas county, was elected president of the Texas Sheriffs Association, which closed its meeting Thursday, Sept. 15, in Corpus Christi.

R. B. Bagley will work about 100 hands this year in gathering pecan crops in the San Saba valley and selling them from his San Saba house.

The state highway department has sent in another tractor and grader to be used in the building of highway No. 66 through Lampasas county. There are now two graders and tractors here and more machinery is en route. The county has started the fencing along the right-of-way and when some of that is completed the grading can be carried right on.

F. W. Mitchell is quite sick here at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. F. Dickason. He fell Thursday night, Sept. 15, when he went out of the back door of his home on west Third street and was unable to get up and stayed out there until early Friday morning, when he called to C. I. LaBounty, who was passing along the street, and he helped him up and into the house. He was later moved to the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Dickason.

The fire department was called Wednesday night to the J. C. Wimberly place in East Lampasas. The fire started in a smoke house near the place, where some seed cotton was stored. The cotton belonged to Chester Smith and he had about two bales stored there and was to have taken it to the gin when he finished picking. The small house was only about ten feet from the residence, but the fire was controlled by the firemen and did not damage the home. No insurance was carried on the cotton burned.—Leader.

Hamilton

The date for the flower show was set at the last regular meeting of the Hamilton Garden Club for the last Saturday in October, or Oct. 29.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Hamilton County Teachers' Institute held in the office of County Superintendent O. R. Williams on last Saturday afternoon the date for holding the 1932 County Teachers' Institute was set for Wednesday, Nov. 23, the day preceding Thanksgiving.

Jim Meyers, rural mail carrier from Gatesville to Pearl in Coyall county, burned to death on Thursday afternoon, September 15, when his car, a coupe, went into a ditch and overturned at a curve in the road twelve miles southeast of Hamilton opposite the John Austin old place on the Jonesboro road.

R. L. Webb, representing Hamilton county as a singing convention official and a song leader, had a most interesting experience last Sunday. He went to Fort Worth to attend the Texas Singers association meeting, and had the pleasure of hearing S. N. Lincoln, reputed to be the oldest singer in the world, in a solo. Mr. Lincoln is 92 years of age. He is a composer of note as well as a singer, and stood and sang one of his own compositions.—Record-Herald.

Lometa

Miss Jonnie Mae Head, who is teaching in the San Angelo city schools, has gone to that city to take up her work.

According to the board of trustees of the Bend school, their new term will begin Monday morning, Oct. 3. The enrollment will be approximately 90.

There has been ginned in Lometa to Wednesday noon, a total of 133 bales of cotton. Cotton is coming in right along now, and if the sunshine continues, the gins will be running with full force soon.

Mr. Weaver, who lives on the Mrs. Hassie Morris place, four miles on the Lometa road from Bend, found and killed what is believed to have been the biggest rattlesnake ever seen in this country Sunday. The reptile had 20 rattles and was in size proportioned to the num-

San Saba

Mrs. H. H. Taylor has returned from a visit to friends in Goldthwaite.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Crain returned Monday from a trip and visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Crain in Eldorado.

Melvin, the six year old boy of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Jones of the Chapel community, was bitten by a huge rattlesnake Sunday afternoon about dusk. The child was brought to San Saba for medical aid and today is believed to be out of danger.

District court will convene in San Saba on Monday, Oct. 17. The grand jury is being summoned by Sheriff Graves to appear the morning of the opening of court. The petit jury for the first week is summoned to appear Thursday morning of the first week, and the second jury to appear Monday morning of the second week.

M. R. Weatherby of San Saba last week received and Saturday delivered a large Ford school bus to the Richland Springs consolidated school district. It is the largest and most commodious school bus in operation in the county and will accommodate some 50 children. The bus will operate from Richland Springs through the Hall community delivering children to the Hall and Richland schools.

W. T. Little of San Saba has, possibly, the world's record pecan tree growing in his yard on Storey street. The tree is some 18 years of age and this is the first time it has ever borne a pecan. There are eight fine pecans on the tree. These nuts are apparently a uniform size and measure 8 inches around the long way and 6 inches the other way around. This is a beautiful shade tree. It was set by the late Dr. W. S. Sanderson. The big question is as to whether or not these are pure pecans, or are they a cross breed. E. E. Risien, noted pecan culturist, is of opinion it is a cross between the pecan and hickory tree.—News.

Box of "bells" carried, according to the report, Roland Windell shot and killed a rattlesnake with 10 rattles and a button on the road to Bend near old Senterfitt Sunday after Cullen Biggs had run over the reptile in the car. And that was no small snake.

A state grading machine is being used on highway No. 66 this week, some very pretty work having been done on the McGuire farm. Other machinery will be received in a few days, it is understood, which will include a rock crusher and a concrete mixer. When this machinery arrives, additional men will be needed and our people will be employed, just as has been promised all along. Also, the county has employed several men to dig holes for fence posts and as soon as the wire is here others will be employed to put it up. There possibly are as many as fifteen or twenty men used for this work.—Reporter.

Comanche

A Rodent Club, to work for the extermination of rats and mice in the school district was organized last week at the grammar school.

Comanche County Sunday School Convention will meet with the Downing Baptist church Sunday afternoon, October 2, 1932.

Dr. E. E. Yarbrough, for 17 years a practicing physician at Indian Gap, before he moved to Stephenville in 1918, died at the Baylor hospital at Dallas Friday, September 16.

One hundred and forty bales of cotton had been weighed at the Comanche cotton yard on Thursday, as compared to 373 on the corresponding date a year ago.

Prices for most of the farm products are higher, the cost of production was lower, and with plenty of feed in the field and canned food in the cellars, money for farm products, will go further than usual this fall.

B. W. Killian of Arlington, brother of Dan Killian and Mrs. Nannie Burt of Comanche, died in the Methodist hospital at Fort Worth Monday morning at three o'clock from injuries sustained in an auto accident Friday.

The fall term of district court will convene at Comanche Monday, Oct. 17, according to Frank Howington, district clerk, who said that a busy term was expected as an unusually large number had been bound over to await the action of the grand jury.

Will Turner, 44, of the Downing community died at a Gorman hospital Wednesday morning at 5 o'clock from blood poisoning, a week after he injured his foot when he stepped on a nail September 14, while he was helping tear down the Methodist church building at Downing. The nail is said to have penetrated his foot about an inch.—Chief.

A large covered shell on one of the Galapagos Islands in the old whaling days served as a postoffice for ships and sailors. Passing vessels put into this uninhabited mail transfer spot to leave packets of letters for other ships, and took away mail matter for regions to which they were headed.

John Smith of Wampsville, N. Y., who couldn't fight for his country in 1861 because his health was poor, was the guest recently of fifty-seven relatives gathered to help celebrate his 100th birthday. Smith tried three times to enlist in the Union army during the war of the states and each time was told that his health wasn't good enough.

TIME STOOD STILL FOR HOUR SUNDAY

Time, which under normal circumstances flies, stood still for an hour at 2 a. m. Sunday, waving goodbye to another period of what the English call "summer time" and what in America is daylight saving.

In the lighted lane Broadway, which has no bedtime, it meant 60 additional minutes of gayety—for 2 a. m. is the crescendo hour in the glitter places. But in most of America, where daylight saving has been observed, it meant only time's refund of the hour borrowed from sleep in the spring.

When the clocks leaped ahead an hour last April many employees were an hour late, blaming it on the clocks. There was some fear that the same employees might come to work an hour early Monday, but none were reported as doing so.

How Cardui Helps Women

"Mal-nutrition" means that your body is not getting enough to keep it up, so that what it has to do is not done well. You may not be eating enough to keep up the work of the body, or there may be something wrong that keeps you from getting full value from the food you eat.

Because of mal-nutrition, some women have aches and pains every month. Such pains should not be neglected.

Take Cardui to give you a better appetite, to give you more strength from the food you eat—to build up and increase your feeling of well-being. Aches and pains go away as you build up with the help of Cardui.

"The Best Place to Trade After All"

Do You Believe in Signs?

You know the price of cotton is much higher than the low price in June when we placed orders for our fall and winter staples. You know silk is much higher and so are leather and wool and linen. Wholesale prices of finished goods are rising every day. All signs point to higher retail prices too.

We've Got Your Number

Men's Suits, Men's Shoes, Men's Hats and Furnishings—we have them in the best assortment of styles and sizes that we have ever had. You men who are hard to with, whether 17 or 70, are due for a pleasant surprise. But let us urge you to come early while our stocks are most complete.

WORK CLOTHES and WORK SHOES

Our prices on work clothes and work shoes will always be the lowest in town, but right now they are scraping bottom. Take advantage of these extra good buys and you won't regret it.
