Lampasas

A burglar entered the Millikan store Tuesday night, broke the knob off the safe in an attempt to open it, and got away with less than a dollar in pennies taken from a cash drawer.

The fire department was called Tuesday morning to Gillen's gin, where some cotton in the process of ginning had become ignited. The blaze was easily extinguished and there was no damage at all.

Captain Brannan entertained all members of the C. C. C. with a barbecue Friday evening in the Lampasas state park. He also had as his guests the engineers, foremen and all others connected with the building of the state park and a few invited guests from Lampasas.

Omar O'Hair, who was stricken with a sudden illness Friday afternoon, was reported to be resting very well Saturday afternoon. He became ill suddenly while working downtown and was taken home. A doctor administered two hyperdermics to ease him, but they failed and he was forced to use chloroform.

"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty of murder with malice aforethought, as charged in the first count in the indictment in this case, and assess his punishment at twenty years in the state penitentiary." Such was the verdict of the jury which tried A. L. Lindsey for the murder of Ollie Wells, last March 13. Lindsey seemed to be very happy over the verdict. He shook hands with all the jurors and thanked the judge on the back in a very friendly manner. He was laughing and talking when he was taken back to jail to await Judge Brewster's formal pronouncement of sentence.

The members of the Lampasas county board of welfare and employment wired their resignation Thursday morning to Col. Lawrence Westbrook, director of the relief commission in Texas, the same to take effect immediately. The Lampasas board is composed of Mayor J. C. Abney, chairman; C. A. Northington, Fred Wolf, Charles Wachendorfer and Frank Baker. Mayor Abney states that there is so much "red tape" connected with the work at the present time that it would necessitate the spending of about 50 per cent of the money received for relief in the handling of the clerical work here. In order to get the necessary office help the money would have to be spent with those who are not really in need of assistance and those who really need help to provide the actual necessities of life would be deprived of help.—Leader.

Lometa

Miss Maudie Bell Kirby of Goldthwaite is visiting Mrs. T. F. Scott.

The Chadwick school opened Monday with Miss Nella Allen and Raymond Howard as teachers.

Tuesday evening, Sept. 14, in the vacant house of Lawson Farmer, in the Kirby addition, a group of friends gathered to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. John Shelton.

Last Saturday night at the home of Rev. Nance, Miss Clara Cheek and Chester Harrigal were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Only a few friends were present to witness the happy occasion.

Last Friday night, a mock trial was staged on the flat rocks in the J. L. Buttrill pasture. A sumptuous picnic supper was enjoyed before trial was begun, so with the jurors well-filled, the verdict was not as strenuous, as some seemed to desire, however, as the lawyer said it was sure proof that the defendant was insane by the mere fact that he had taught school in the same place five years.

Mmes. J. L. Buttrill, Will Whitteburg and Miss DeRose Buttrill attended a shower in Lampasas Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Joe Allen, which was of interest to many Lometa citizens; being given for Miss Louise Patterson, a one time resident of this place. She will be the bride of Mr. Mallie Blakely, of Turnersville October 5, 1933, and will reside at that place.—Reporter

Comanche

Miss Johnnie Cunningham has returned to Stephenville and resumed her work as a teacher in the public schools.

One hundred and three bales of cotton were received at the Comanche cotton yard Wednesday and the total receipts up to Thursday at 3:30 p. m. 895 bales had been received as compared to less than a hundred bales on the same date last year.

The residence of Aaron Davis on the Harris farm, two miles west of Proctor, was destroyed by fire Saturday at noon. The dwelling was an almost complete loss and only a few articles of household goods were saved. The fire is believed to have originated from sparks from the cook stove.

Working on the county roads evidently is not proving popular with the county misdeemeanor prisoners, according to Sheriff Brightman, who said the jail was empty of that class of prisoners for the first time Saturday since he took office in January, 1931.

A Ford coach belonging to Lon Burt was stolen Saturday night from in front of his grocery on the west side of Comanche's square. The car was found "stripped" in the Whitville neighborhood late Saturday night by two young men of that community as they were returning home from a party.

Nearly 1000 pounds of mohair was taken from the Cotton Belt warehouse Wednesday night in one of the most daring robberies pulled here recently. A four-wheel trailer was taken from the Mrs. J. B. Chilton home also during the same night, and authorities believe the trailer was used in hauling the mohair away from the warehouse.

The grand jury and petit jury for the October term of district court was drawn Monday. Court will convene in Comanche Monday, October 16, and will be the first regular meeting of the court since Judge Bates Cross of Gatesville was appointed District Judge to succeed the late Joe H. Eldson. Twenty-five have been bound over to await the action of the grand jury in felony cases and a number of cases which were carried over from the last term or were given new trials may also come.—Chief.

Brownwood

Oran Balze, 38, pumper for the Texas company on the Lowe lease in the Fry field, Brown county, was almost instantly killed when an air tank exploded shortly after 8:00 o'clock Thursday morning.

The first meeting of a series of wheat organization meetings was held Tuesday night at Byrds when growers coming into the government's wheat allotment program perfected their organization. The meeting was well attended, according to County Agent Lehmburg, and those present showed enthusiasm for the plan.

All rural schools in Brown county that seek rural aid from the state department of education should make out applications at once and file them with F. L. Pierce, county superintendent, according to an announcement from the office of O. L. Davis, assistant state superintendent of rural aid work in this district.

C. L. South, district attorney was placed in jail for a short time on Thursday of last week at Coleman by District Judge E. J. Miller for contempt of court. The district attorney spent a short time in jail, and several hours in the custody of the Coleman sheriff. Judge Miller ordered the district attorney jailed when he failed to heed the judge's order to be seated during the trial of a murder case. The case proceeded the next day when Mr. South agreed to abide by the rulings of the court.—Banner-Bulletin.

Hamilton

On Sunday, Sept. 17, passing through Waco, Hamilton friends of Col. John L. Spurlin were just in time to congratulate him on his eightieth birthday anniversary.

W. T. Little, a former business man and citizen of prominence of Hamilton, was here Thursday from his home in San Saba. He was on a business mission, and meeting long time friends.

The federal postoffice department has notified J. E. Kirk and Mrs. Maggie Scoggin that their bid for the location of the postoffice has been accepted and for another five years the Hamilton postoffice will remain in the present location.

A thrilling rattlesnake story comes this week from the Ohio community. Thursday night of last week at an early hour, A. H. Sumerford and family heard a noise for some time before they went out to investigate and discovered a rattlesnake in their back yard. They supposed the cats had found the snake and were following it, causing it to "sing" so constantly. Taking a flashlight and a gun the man of the household and his good soldiers went on the warpath with his snake whip and killed the largest rattler they had ever seen. It measured ten inches around the body and was at least five feet long. The snake had eight rattlers and several had been broken off.—Record-Herald.

HOG LOGY

By E. G. Kingsbury—Star
And now I have come to tell about the prodigal hog! The most despised and the most detested of man's domesticated slaves. In doing this I find myself handicapped by an almost failure of pappu and mamma swine to appear in either art or literature, they being almost entirely omitted from the songs and stories and soiled out of the pictures. Others of our servants are all over the artistic and literary lot. The poet said, "Mary had a little lamb, etc." but who ever heard of Mary having a little pig, or "The squealing herd winding slowly up the lea." The pictures tell us how the people ride the horses, donkeys and cattle, and show them milking cows, goats and such like, but who ever heard of riding, driving or milking a hog or using them for lap pets, and yet hogs most enjoy to have their backs scratched and are the only animal having a Heaven. No one has ever heard of a horse, cow or sheep Heaven, but everyone has heard of Hog Heaven, but we are yet some what in doubt as to where it is. Some years past they thought it was at Star, just west of me, but that seems to have fallen thru, so that now the best I can gather, the Hog Heaven of this section is at Hamilton town, and is likely to stay there until after the election.

Coming down to brass tacks, I find hogs very short in Texas, the nation and the world at large, and yet they are the most able to repopulate. I should think of all the animal kingdom. Suppose you were to leave for some years, directing your tenant to save half the descendants of an old sow with six pigs until ten generations had come, how many hogs do you think you would have to your share? In case mamma hog and her progeny increased the swine family by six pigs in the litter half of which were sows, then after ten generations had come and you undertook to count your hog stock at the rate of ten a minute in a ten hour day, it would take you at least five hundred days to count your swine herd. If you had kept them all you would be the more or less happy owner of 6,000,000 hogs. Salted down half your pasture with sideboards on the fences would hardly hold them.

Hogs properly pastured and ranged on the fields will pay according to the way you manage or mismanage them. They can be killed and canned and salted down and in many ways are our best animal asset for recovery. Hogs have been man's meat staff to carry industry to the far flung ends of the earth, open air industry having always moved on bacon and beans, ham and eggs, lard and hamburgers, and Texans today are slipping outside of many times as much pork as all other meat products.

As soon as corn is sure then I advise every farmer to muchly increase his number of hogs and eat them, sell them, peddle them, so that every one in the county can have bacon for breakfast. The whole black land district to the south and east is given over to cotton and grain, so why not let Hamilton and Mills chip in and furnish them their hog and hominy.

The United States has almost half the world's hogs and ships many more than any other country, and with the balance of the western hemisphere almost blank, and the countries of Europe hogged to capacity it is a safe guess that if he will use a little hog sense we will sooner or later reach at least Hog Heaven.

Texas is selling over the border her cattle, sheep and goat products as they raise more than they consume, but not so with hogs as they ship in a lot of long tons of lard and hog side boards. And it seems to me we should at least hold our own and with the world around us shy, our market seems safe and sane.

The poor old hog does not even have any pet or standard name. The horses are Prince or Mollie, the cattle, Tom and Bossie; the sheep and goats are Billie, Nannie and such like; but swine get only their sex name and are not even called Sam or Sallie. Since we landed in Texas we have had a whole string of hogs, but never a name for them. The cows were Huldy, Viney, Libbey and names of this character, and the horses all the way from Old Nick to Arkansas, and Steamboat, but the poor old hogs had to go from the pig lot to the meat box without a general or special tax, so let's call them Sam and Sallie and wish there were more of them.

The shortest and best route to the consumer is the hog route. Other animals are shipped in to be slaughtered second grade or reshipped to lots and pastures, but hogs can be sold here at home or close by and knock the 20-cent cured hams and other meats that include both bone and wrapping, off the shelves. With all of these rains and an acorn crop sure, why not feed a lot of it out instead of shipping the cattle and corn to John Henry Jack and let him score a rake off in feeding out to our own stock and then peddling them to our next door neighbors?

A TONIC Laxative
CONSTIPATION, with the annoying symptoms that usually come with it, cuts down organic forces and disturbs normal health and well-being. A thorough cleansing of the digestive tract is of great assistance in the removal of sickening constipation symptoms.

When excessive accumulated waste matter disturbs and strains the muscles of the large intestines, rendering them temporarily unable to perform their wave-like evacuating movements, Theodor's Black-Draught is useful in stimulating them to activity, which, again started, should continue regularly until some future disturbance interferes. In this way, Theodor's Black-Draught is one of the TONIC laxatives, tending, as it does, to establish a regular habit of evacuation.

BEAUTY in the HOME

Modern Home Decoration Service
Fine White Enamel Makes The Home Cheerful

NO hallway design ever seems to improve on the Colonial, with its glamour of white, its formal but graceful stairs and its floods of light and cheer. The picture above seems to be particularly timely at this season when everyone is renovating, re-enameling and brightening things up for the winter.

Light is a great asset to any home and, particularly in the halls, brightness and comfort are usually aided by the use of white finish on the woodwork. In refinishing, it is well to take care to use an enamel, either plain or eggshell, that is perfectly white, that dries quickly, brushes easily, has good coverage and hiding power, maintains a rich high gloss, dries smooth and hard without tendency to chip or crack, and resists the yellowing that often comes from improper mixture of oils.

The beautiful Colonial interior of Independence Hall in Philadelphia has recently been refinished in such porcelain-like enamel. Dulux white, which was used, can of course be tinted in any shade where the decorative note demands color.

KELLY CAPTURED

the money that mesquite tree would have been the obvious place," Blake said.

"Kelly couldn't have found the money himself if he had buried it anywhere else. There wasn't any other landmark in that cotton field."

M. Kelly and her mother, Mrs. Shannon, at one time conducted a boarding house in Coleman and are well known there. The trial of twelve members of the kidnaping gang is still in progress in Oklahoma City.

John M. Keith, a special agent of the department of justice, announced that a Memphis attorney and former brother-in-law of George Kelly, confessed that Kelly sent him to Coleman to get part of the ransom money.

"Kelly got $75,000 of the $200,000 Urschel ransom money and Harvey Bailey got another $75,000," Keith said. Bailey is among those now on trial at Oklahoma City.

The other money was divided among lesser participants," Keith said.

"Kelly was broke when he got to Memphis. Every effort he made to get the buried money near Coleman was thwarted. He attempted time and again to get it."

HIGHWAY WORK

The highway commission has allotted $825,932 for highway construction, much of it for emergency work to relieve unemployment. A special appropriation of $115,000 was made for relief work in the Panhandle area.

CENTER CITY

Sunday was a rather quiet day here, as most of the people went to the singing at Star. Few attended Sunday school at both churches. There was no preaching and as usual, when there is no service, attendance at Sunday school is small.

Our school began Saturday evening. Prof. Neighbors gave an interesting talk on the new school laws and mentioned some of the problems of our school. We feel that he is deeply interested in the upbuilding of our school and with the help of Prof. Kerby, Misses Keese and Luckie, as leaders, much good will be accomplished.

Bertram Geeslin, a student of Howard Payne college in Brownwood, spent last week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Geeslin. We hope to be able to give good reports of his work from time to time.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Head attended the football game at Brownwood Friday, when their son, Talmage, with the Daniel Baker team, played T. C. U. Talmage is becoming popular, as he is one of the best players. Chester Head and William Lee attended the football game in Brownwood Friday, too.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Geeslin expect to meet their son, Lyle, and wife at Austin the latter part of this week and visit their daughter, Miss Varnell. Mrs. Geeslin relates Varnell doing nicely and hopes soon to be restored to her good health, which is good news to her friends.

We might say the singing convention was at Star Sunday, as a large number attended and a real feast spread at the noon hour. Mr. Huggins closed his school and they really did sing. Star is probably the best meeting place in the county, as they have the large tabernacle. A number of visiting singers were present also. Center City was well represented and we enjoyed the day very much.

Prof. Hollis Blackwell, Auba Hudson and Otha Geeslin attended the football game at Brownwood Friday.

Thousands of Women Have Taken Cardul on Their Mothers' Advice

It is an impressive fact that many women have said they learned of the value of Cardul from their mothers. What stronger evidence of her confidence in a medicine could a mother have than that she advises her daughter to take it! Cardul is given the credit for relieving so many cases of womanly suffering that it is widely and favorably known. Drugists, everywhere, sell it. If you are weak, run-down, suffering monthly, take Cardul. Take it for a reasonable length of time and try it thoroughly. As your health improves, you will share the enthusiasm of thousands of women who have written to say: "Cardul helped me."

Dallas police are investigating reports that Katherine Kelly, the titian-haired wife of George (Machine Gun) Kelly, visited Dallas Saturday and had her hair dyed in a downtown beauty salon.

A fellow from Virden, Illinois, chugged along Michigan Boulevard in Chicago Sunday in a coal burning automobile he built recently. He said that he had it up to 58 miles an hour on one occasion and got 35 miles on a bushel of coal. It was on this same street four decades ago that the driver of Elwood Hayes' first "gas buggy" was arrested for bothering traffic.

Students who participate in hazing at Baylor University will face not only permanent expulsion from the institution, but prosecution as well, former Governor Pat M. Neff, president of the University, declared in an address in the chapel Monday, attended by 1400 students. An anti-hazing law, provides for prosecution of such offenses, was passed during Neff's administration as governor.

Excitement has been created at the excavations of Herculaneum, the buried city under Vesuvius, by the discovery that a small statue of Hercules, after whom the city was called, had been stolen from the little museum where objects found while digging were placed on exhibition. Though the statue is only about 12 inches high, it is worth more than its weight in gold on account of the beauty of its workmanship and the fact it is of the best Greek period.

Some astounding figures and estimates on relief were given the senate Monday by Lawrence Westbrook, director of relief and Byron Mitchell state director of the national re-employment service. The maze of figures left the senators rather confused. Westbrook said the relief commission estimates that there are now 850,000 persons on the relief rolls in Texas. He added that it is estimated there are an additional 1,500,000 persons unemployed but not on relief rolls. He also estimated that from 300,000 to 400,000 persons now engaged in handling the cotton crop are potential relief roll people.

A real "Rattlesnake Hollow"—that would leave the one of wild-western fame far behind in number of reptiles—was found near Gonzales recently. This one contained at least 32 large rattlesnakes—and an uncounted number of little ones, ranging from several inches to a foot in length. The snake hollow was found by a squirrel hunter in a large pecan tree in a river bottom several miles north of Gonzales. In order to kill the rattlers Will Rutledge, owner of the tree, set fire to the pecan tree valued at several hundred dollars. The number of snakes counted as they left the blazing hollow numbered more than 30, while probably as many more were unable to escape and burned to death.

PENALTY OF EXCESS FAT

Although she has lost but 7 lbs. of her overweight, this woman finds that 7 lbs. has made a remarkable difference to her. Her letter reads: "I am 53 years old and my height is 5 ft. Last year I weighed 154 lbs. I have been taking a half-teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts, making no change in my diet. Now I am less round the hips, and only weigh 147 lbs. dressed. But I feel lighter and can now run upstairs, which before used to make me gasp for breath. Everyone says how well and fit I look." (Miss) J. H.

When it comes to miles per gallon, there's nothing in all the Gobi desert—or Sahara—or anywhere else—that can beat him. No argument about Chevrolet, either. It's the most economical form of full-size transportation on wheels. You can travel a long, long way in a Chevrolet Six without a single stop for gas or oil. In fact, you can get more miles out of a gallon of gas in a Chevrolet, than you can get in any other full-size car. The best proof of this is the way Chevrolet is being preferred by leading national business firms. These firms know their mileage figures. NEWS FLASHES

A special committee from the cotton belt states has urged President Roosevelt to order government purchase of half of the present cotton crop at 15 cents a pound as a means of raising prices and controlling production.

Texas commissioner of agriculture said Monday that funds for placing about 500 unemployed families on a 10,000-acre tract near Houston would be sought from the interior department's $25,000,000 back to the land appropriation. The families would be placed on 20-acre plots given over largely to vegetable cultivation.

President Roosevelt has ordered the purchase of surplus food stuffs and staples by the government to be turned over for relief work. The program called for federal purchase of surplus beef, dairy and poultry products, cotton and cotton seed, among other things. A rough estimate places the amount of purchases at about $75,000,000.

Estimates ranged as high as $500,000 was the total amount of checks, securities, coupons and cash obtained by bandits in a murderous mail holdup near the postoffice in Chicago Friday night. Much of the loot was non-negotiable. It was taken from a federal reserve truck. The bandits killed a policeman and used a smoke screen to escape. Two nationally notorious gangsters — George (Machine Gun) Kelly and Verne Miller, are suspected, police disclosed.

The United States government the largest employer in the country, has slashed its payroll for ordinary functions to the lowest level in more than ten years official figures show. Much of this economy has been offset by addition of thousands of emergency employes, but it was estimated that since the start of the depression more than 25,000 government jobs have been eliminated. In addition to reducing personnel, the government has reduced salaries.

OBITUARY

"Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head and honor the face of the old."

Mrs. H. M. McNutt was born in the state of Kentucky February 2, 1845. She moved to Texas in her childhood with her parents, whose name was Harris. Early in life she professed faith in Christ and lived a worthy and devoted member of the Methodist church until the Lord called her home September 5, 1933, at the age of eighty-seven years.

It is a serious privation to any community to lose her type of womanhood and motherhood.

These great old southern mothers are God's gift and he only has the right to take them from their toil and afflictions and patient waiting. Let us all be indeed thankful for such priceless gifts and strive to emulate the faithful service, well rendered.

Grandma McNutt leaves, besides a number of grandchildren, three sons and one daughter — J. H. Burrows, Tipton, Okla.; W. E. McNutt, Goldthwaite; Hugh McNutt, Dallas; and Mrs. Z. D. Kemp, Post.

BEES HAVE THEIR OWN LANGUAGE

Bees have a language all their own, according to Mrs. L. Illingsworth of Hertfordshire, England. She told the beekeepers' convention at Cheltenham that the buzzers employed a kind of deaf and dumb alphabet. A bee that found an abundant source of honey returned to the hive, and by dancing to his brothers and sisters informed the rest of the colony of his discovery. If they failed to follow him, he opened a scent gland on his back and wafted the perfume so that they might follow him.

STYLES IN NEW YORK

As to hats, Miss Howard stressed the importance of the new velvet berets—"bigger and floppier than ever" and jutting down over the right eye—also toques and turbans—all depending more upon cut and construction than on trimming for their smartness—as, of course, does all dress generally. When trimming is seen, it is usually confined to just a touch—perhaps for color—a quill, lacquered feather, a composition or metal clip or ornament. The off-the-forehead hat, she pointed out, finds favor only on young, fresh faces, the mode generally favoring hats with forward—over-the-eye movement tipped up in the back and revealing smart coiffures. And, right here, this famous authority on fashions, cited the importance of smart coiffures, which she defined as being extremely individual but always with a very carved and tailored look, with this effect of tone increased by a comb, bandeau or clips. There is a vogue, she said, for the colored bandeaux—often matching the frock and for small clips worn just above the ears at the temples.

Revival of Interest in Pearls

The importance of velvet has brought about a revival of interest in pearls, says Miss Howard. Big Brooches were mentioned as important, and in the field of costume jewelry, very wide composition bracelets — also belts and necklaces made of colored cellophane woven in interesting designs. There are masses and masses of buttons, she said, these usually large and either matching or contrasting the frock.

Accessories Follow Elegance Mode

Shoes, stressing the type between a low oxford and a high pump in black and rich brown suedes and fabrics, handbags, large and roomy calfskin types for day and shirred pouch versions for evening, often matching the gown, and gloves of suede, velvet and other fabrics often matching the gown, as Chanel does them, and scarves—usually Ascot—all came in for their share of the discussion. It's a very generous mode we learn, according to Miss Howard. "After all," she says, "you can wear anything you wish this season, if you know how to wear it."

Blouses Very Important in the Mode

The suit is definitely the backbone of the smart fall wardrobe. This means, of course, that the blouse is very important in the mode. Very new is the velvet blouse in both the short versions and in the longer close-fitting tunic types. Dressy and smart are the new lame blouses worn with velvet suits. Satin blouses are also important—these usually in darker shade than the suit for daytime wear and in white, ivory or creamy tones for the dressier afternoon suit. In all blouses, neck treatment is decidedly important. There are new models with the Augustabernard loops placed high, close to the throat, others with the Lanvin high softly rolled collar with metal cloth trim, matching metal applique on sleeves. Still others have the Vionnet handkerchief neckline, high in front and tied in a knot at the back. Then, there is the new tunic with Chinese stand-up collar.

Handkerchiefs

Linen handkerchiefs — the rule for school — are smart and practical when given that personal touch, the monogram, which is so easily applied now by heat and pressure.

Rayon faille with a flash of satin is smart and new in the mode. There are frocks with quaint quilting patterns featured on satin sleeves, often with matching Ascot scarf.

Faille makes a grand comeback this season. The fabric is rich and the new colors are regal. There are such new color combinations as tomato red and turquoise.

The bias half square of silk or rayon is a blessing when it comes to filling in a low cut neckline of a last season frock and bringing it up to date by giving it a close round the neck appearance.

smart new checked design — which is very youthful. This same shop is showing also the vestee blouse with scarf collar in hammered satin, raspberry, eel grey and black.

School Girl Frocks Smart in Details

Chic little epauiets, caps, wings, tucks and puffs characterize some of the smartest little school girl frocks now seen in the shops. Many of these little frocks are of novelty woollens trimmed with touches of white pique. There are smart little two-piece models with wool crepe blouses. One that is very school girlish features a navy wool crepe blouse and a red wool plaid skirt. The blouse is set off with a gay rayon tie fastened in that close to the throat manner of the older sisters.

Gadgets for the Campus Bound

Among the new gadgets noted for the back to school wardrobe, which are much to the fore now, are the new matched sets of colored costume jewelry including necklaces, bracelets, cigarette cases and compacts carried out in composition with conservative metal trim—often a monogram. There are new matched sets of hand luggage in lacquered fabrics, including hatboxes, wardrobe cases and suitcases. Decidedly smart are the new sets of white rayon crepe underwear with a tailored look in their contrasting or matching pipings and individual enough to suit the most fastidious in their embroidered monograms. The accessory tie-up in velveteen is also a new school girl favorite. These sets include short jacket, beret, gloves, handbag and belt.

Chinese Mandarin Collars

Schiaparelli's latest caprice—Chinese mandarin collars — are featured in New York shops. They are very smart in white crepe or satin, and can dress up most any costume. There's also the new Augustabernard satin bow of generous cut, to be worn close to the throat under the chin, that is very dressy.

The higher neckline is very definitely a high-style point of the mode. It has been adopted for evening as well as for daytime. The evening versions of this new feature are often interpreted in cowl effects high in front. Vionnet models often carry out this effect in front and back, the back being draped quite low. It is favored also for daytime frocks, the back drape being higher, of course, than that for evening.

EAT AND KEEP YOUNG

Again science makes the front page with a secret if not of eternal at least of continued youth. The lesser claim seems more promising.

And apparently it is perfectly simple. No magic potion and no monkey glands.

Instead of drinking or grafting their way back to youth and vigor, the aged will go on a "protective diet" consisting largely of milk, fruits, eggs and vegetables.

Full details of the latest discoveries have not yet been translated into popular menus, but it is claimed that:

PASSING OF A. H. BRADLEY

(By Mrs. H. B. Bradley)

A. H. Bradley, aged 75 years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. M. Black, in Brownwood Sunday night and his remains were interred in the Lampasas cemetery Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, by the side of his wife, who preceded him in death twenty years ago.

Mr. Bradley was born in Lampasas county in 1858, married Miss Mary Elizabeth Standalin, May 1, 1879. To this union four children were born—Mrs. Ora Black, Scallorn; Mrs. S. M. Black, Brownwood; H. B. Bradley, Goldthwaite, and Cecil A. Bradley, deceased. Fifteen grandchildren, seven great grandchildren, survive him, together with two brothers, Wm. L. Bradley and Geo. H. Bradley, Lampasas. Three sisters: Mrs. Ed Brown, Temple; Mrs. Jake Thomas, Galveston; Mrs. Amanda Marsh, Dallas.

Mr. Bradley was a resident of Mills county many years. He had an extensive circle of friends, all of whom were grieved when the announcement of his death was made.

While his passing was not a surprise to those who knew his condition, for he had been in ill health for quite a time.

Mr. Bradley helped organize the Baptist church at Scallorn and was the first member to unite with that church. He was Sunday school superintendent for ten or fifteen years and an active member until his health failed.

Funeral services were held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ora Black, at Scallorn conducted by his former pastor, Rev. J. R. Davis, assisted by a life-long friend, Mr. Jim Howard of Lampasas. With a large crowd attending from Brownwood, Goldthwaite and surrounding places. The floral offerings were beautiful. His six grandsons served as pall bearers.

AN AGED CITIZEN DEAD
Mr. Charles Caraway died at the home of his brother, S. L. Caraway, in the western part of this city, at an early hour Wednesday morning and his remains were interred at 4:30 that afternoon.

Mr. Caraway was 73 years of age and lived many years in this county. He leaves two brothers and other relatives here, besides a number of relatives elsewhere. He is spoken of as a good man and good citizen.

PRESIDENT RELIES ON EXPANSION OF CREDIT

Exercise of the power to order an inflation of the national currency which was accorded President Roosevelt in the broad grant of authority from Congress remains one of those if, as and when matters of which the president has spoken. The strong pressure for immediate action which the inflationists have brought to bear of late has failed to budge the president from what has long seemed to be his purpose to test all other means short of actual inflation to put money that business needs into circulation.

From the latest conferences of the president and his closest advisors on the recurrent question has come the word that the government will concentrate on an intensive program for credit expansion, offering reinforcements which will spur the banks to put idle money into circulation and to release funds that have been tied up in closed banking institutions.

The psychology developed by the possibility of inflation and by the support that has been given the NRA program has operated as a stimulant of prices and business, but its effectiveness will wane unless the essential credit is extended to make it possible for many conforming businesses to carry on. A general expansion of credit undoubtedly would obviate any need for currency inflation. If that can be brought about through the banks that are the servants of business, so much the better.

There must be assurance of this soon, if the employment of less desirable means is to be avoided. The inflationists will make themselves heard in the next session of congress, unless progress toward recovery is unmistakable by that time, and may be able to force the president to act.—Dallas Journal.

classes in our public schools. Promotion day in the Sunday school ought to be hailed with delight and made a great occasion.

Only four weeks until the meeting of our conference when the year's work is to be finished. These are to be busy times. Do not frown when approached and asked to contribute your part to the work of the church. As a matter of fact, you should feel insulted not to be asked to give your part to the work. If you are not solicited to help, you have a right to feel aggrieved. So if you are not approached in this closing campaign, hunt up one of the stewards or the pastor and give him, or all of them a blessing-out for their neglect.
