Health Clinic Meeting Held

A health clinic and county teachers meeting was held in Goldthwaite last Saturday and was attended by fifty or more teachers, P. T. A. members and patrons of schools in the county.

The meeting was planned by the county health committee, the primary purpose being to have the teachers meet Miss Celia Moore, health nurse, and hear her lecture on health measures and immunization of children from various diseases, at the same time rendering them more efficient in their school work.

The meeting was called to order in the commissioners court room in the court house, at which time Mrs. Roy Rowntree was selected chairman of the health board and W. M. Johnston was made secretary.

Miss Moore, the health nurse, was present at the opening meeting and gave the health committee and teachers assembled some interesting facts concerning the importance of the health work among children, especially those in the schools and the importance of having them made immune, as far as possible, from diseases of every kind.

After the assembling of teachers from various parts of the county and others interested in school work an adjournment was taken to the district court room, where Miss Moore lectured on hygiene and its importance in school work. She displayed charts on phases of health preservation and gave information that will prove of great benefit to the schools and the homes, where the rules and advice are put into practice.

There was a good audience throughout the proceedings and all appeared to be intensely interested. All but one of the Parent-Teachers organizations of the county were represented and a majority of the county school teachers were present.

At noon the convention adjourned to the Royal Cafe, where the health committee, under the direction of Mrs. Rowntree, had arranged to have lunch served to the visiting teachers, and Parent-Teacher members. Mr. Erim and his assistants served a most delightful lunch that was enjoyed and appreciated by all present.

Arrangements were made at this time to hold a health clinic and immunization meeting of patrons and pupils in some of the schools. The first of these meetings will be held at Priddy next Monday, October 30, and this will be followed by similar meetings at Mullin, Star, Goldthwaite, November 3, and in other schools.

The health committee has outlined this immunization campaign and has secured a health nurse to assist in the work throughout the county. It has assurance that Miss Moore, one of the most efficient health nurses connected with the state health department, will be assigned to the work in this county during the major part of November. All schools desiring to hold immunization clinics during that time are urged to communicate with Mrs. Rowntree as soon as possible, in order that they may be sure of securing the services of Miss Moore for the clinic. The committee will also arrange for the presence and assistance of local physicians at these clinics wherever possible.

The good work begun in this immunization campaign should be followed up until all school children in the county are made immune from smallpox, diphtheria, scarlet fever and other diseases that are so often prevalent among children and interfere with the school work, as well as impair their health.

COME TO SCALLORN

On Saturday night, October 28, Bro. A. L. Shaw will preach his farewell sermon to the Scallorn Baptist church. Come and be with us. F. R. HINES

Methodist Notes

Our people responded beautifully to my suggestion of last week, or else upon their own initiative, and attended the services at our church last Sunday in goodly number. All greatly enjoyed the services.

It is generally understood that Bro. Hammond will seek other fields of labor at the conference which is in session in San Antonio this week. The membership of the church, as well as the citizenship of the town will wish Bro. Hammond and his family well, wherever their lot may be cast. In the short time they have been with us they have made themselves a warm place in the affections of those who have known them.

Yielding to a strong impulse, this scribe expects to attend for a few days, the session of the West Texas Conference. He was a member of this conference for several years. To meet old friends, after a lapse of sixteen years, will be an unmixed pleasure.

I have been attending Sunday school for a great many years. I do not now remember when I ever enjoyed the work more than now. It is my privilege to teach a class of mature men. They do some thinking for themselves, and at no time do they swallow just anything that is presented. If something is advanced by the teacher or by some member of the class which seems out of harmony with the teaching of the Word of God the person proposing it, no matter who he may be, would better be prepared to give a mighty good reason for his opinion. If he should not trace the Book to exactness, he is very apt to be put on the right road before he gets through with it. This is as it should be. Disagreement, in brotherly love, may be a great incentive to the seeking of truth, and may develop a better opinion of the intelligence of those who oppose us. As a matter of fact I have thought that it would help much to a better understanding of matters if members of a congregation might be allowed to stop the preacher while he is preaching, and ask for interpretation, so as to make clear what he is saying. In this we have a very good example in the preaching of Philip to the eunuch. So effective was the example of the treatment accorded by Philip that the eunuch was converted, and went on his way rejoicing. It ought to be stated just here, however, that the eunuch possibly acted with a degree of common sense that might not be hoped for in some who are to be found in the average congregation. J. S. A JOYOUS BIRTHDAY PARTY
Little Miss Depha Rese Blackburn entertained a host of her young friends last Tuesday afternoon with a birthday party. Her white cake was adorned with pink and green floral decorations with two small candles. Cakes and ice cream were served at the park for the following guests, who all remembered their young hostess with presents: Mary Alice Smith, Helen Hammond, Norma Sue Ross, Benoise Karnes, Norma Ruth Featherston, Mary Lee Harris, Mary Carline Featherston, Greta McKinzie, Bettie June Blackburn, Pauline Blackburn, Jim Bob Steen, Bennie Bob Long, Jean Long, Dorothy Eunice Morris and Alline Ross.

A very enjoyable time was reported by every one present who hope Depha Rese many more happy birthdays. A FRIEND

MERRY WIVES CLUB

The Merry Wives club met on Tuesday afternoon, October 24, with Mrs. C. M. Burch as hostess. Mrs. W. W. Stephens scored high for guests and Mrs. Marvin Hodges as club member.

A dainty salad course carrying out the Halloween motif was served to club members, Mrs. Stephens and Mrs. L. E. Miller. The club will meet next with Mrs. D. Albert Trent as hostess. REPORTER

High Jump Here Saturday

The American Legion, joined by a number of business men of the town, has arranged for an airplane exposition and parachute jump here Saturday afternoon. The daring feat of jumping from the plane while high in the air will take place immediately over the business part of town. The young man performing the feat is the same one who performed a like act here several months ago. It is thrilling and well worth seeing. Thanks are due the Legion and business men for financing this entertainment for the public.

CARNIVAL PLANS COMPLETED
The plans of the Parent-Teacher association for the Halloween carnival at the court house Saturday afternoon and night are now complete in every detail and they are expecting a large crowd to take part in the merriment. There will be a fortune teller of remarkable insight, a believe it or not booth, a cave of the winds, a baby show and many other entertaining features, the most interesting of which will be the selection and crowning of the queen, which will be the last event of the evening. Everybody will be greatly interested in this part of the program, so it is important that everybody be there on time. The parade takes place at 3:30 in the afternoon and after that there will be no dull moments. Those who attend need have no care about getting home for supper—just eat supper with the ladies at the court house, vote for the queen and have a general good time.

Teachers, patrons and pupils of rural schools are especially invited to attend this carnival.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE NOTES

The church of the Nazarene reports a good service Sunday. Rev. Herschel Murphy of Dublin brought us a splendid message Sunday morning and evening. We also had splendid singing, and I am sure all who were present enjoyed it.

We wish to remind you that next Sunday will be the silver anniversary of the church and we are trying to double our regular attendance, so be sure and each one bring some one else and we can do it. We extend a special invitation to all who would like to visit us and also give an invitation to those who are not attending Sunday school other places. REPORTER

Loans On Cotton
County Agent W. P. Weaver is prepared to assist farmers who desire to secure government loans on cotton. The Stallings Warehouse, Goldthwaite, is available for storage. Take warehouse receipts to county agent's office, sign note and application for the loan.

A loan of 10¢ per pound can be had on low and middling 7-8 inch staple or above and on all grades below, 8¢ a pound will be loaned.

FAMILY REUNION

The members of the C. L. Stephens family held a reunion in the parental home in this city the latter part of last week. The first part of last week. Those present were the parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stephens; Mrs. Tom Meador of Mexia, Mrs. Fred Martin and daughters of this city, Maurice Stephens and son, Bobbie, of Wichita Falls, Marion Stephens and daughter of Amarillo, Mrs. Horace Caldwell and baby of Corpus Christi.

While the members of the family make frequent visits home, this was the first time they had all been together for several months and the time was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

This Column Highway Work Is Progressing

The contractors have a large force of men at work on highway No. 7, above Mullin and rapid progress is being made on the bridge across Pompey Creek. Most of the highway is over a new right of way and very little of the old road will be used in building the new one.

About 90 men are at work on the road and bridge and there are two shifts, one crew working three days and then the other crew working three days. Almost all of the workers are Mills county men and a number of ex-soldiers are in both crews.

A report was circulated that negroes were being used on the work and many people believe it, but the Eagle is assured that there is not a negro on the works. No other contracts have yet been offered, although the county's part of the work and financial outlay has been completed a long time.

AN URGENT CALL

The Eagle sincerely hopes all will set their dates ahead before the time for going on a paid-advance basis arrives. The Eagle tried to be liberal in this matter during the depression and used the old slipshod, catch-as-catch-can method, but the time has arrived to get on a business basis. A liberal offer is made on combinations or on renewals, where there are arrearages, but the management feels that no further concessions can be made.

Several years a dollar rate was made for a short time, but this has not proved satisfactory. However, under one of the plans published under the heading of "Special Offer" there is a plan whereby a dollar pays the bill, but a dollar rate will not be made otherwise. The date to which a subscription is paid appears on the paper or the wrapper and the management sincerely hopes no names will have to be dropped from the list. Where a name is dropped it will not be restored until all arrearages are paid.

A DEMONSTRATION OF EXCELLENCE
Tax Assessor W. L. Burks and his deputy, Jo H. Frizzell, were informed this week that the Mills county tax roll for 1933, prepared by them, had been placed on display by the comptroller in his office at Austin, as one of the two model rolls in Texas. This is indeed complimentary to the gentlemen and reflects credit on the county as well.

Checks Arrive
County Agent Weaver has received another batch of plow up cotton checks, which nearly completes the list. Only a few more checks are to come and they have been delayed because of some correction in the details having to be made. It will be only a few days now until all farmers who plowed up cotton will have been paid and the money has been helpful in dispelling the depression and restoring confidence, as well as benefitting business generally.

COTTON RECEIPTS SLOWING DOWN

There has been very little cotton brought to market this week and most of the gins, if not all of them, are now running on a part time schedule. There is yet some cotton in the fields and some in the hands of the farmers, but by far the greater part of the crop has been marketed. This condition is reported to be the case of the western part of the state, as well as locally, and the cotton pickers who went west early in the season have nearly all returned to their homes in both Texas and elsewhere.

Teachers' Institute

Saturday, November 4, it will be the privilege of the teachers of the local school to act as host to the teachers from all other schools in the county, assembled for a one day institute. We expect to have some out of town speakers and an enjoyable as well as instructive program.

High School Exams

Examinations for the first six week period have just been completed in high school. Report cards will be issued high school students next Monday. Also next week you may look out for some matters of interest gathered from the examinations and grades.

Report Cards and Grades

Last week we called your attention to the report cards being issued in the primary and elementary grades. We hope your child's card was satisfactory to you. If it was not, now is a good time to look to improvement for next month.

A review of the reports issued in the elementary grades reveals the following: In a study of all grades except music grades, we find a total of nine hundred and sixty-eight grades issued. Of this number 210 were A, 369 were B, 315 were C and 71 were D, and 3 were E. This shows approximately 92 per cent passing and 3 per cent failing. When this report is compared with similar reports from other schools this will be found to be a good average.

Brady Defeats Goldthwaite

The Goldthwaite Eagles were defeated last Saturday by the Brady Bulldogs, by a score of 13-6. This is the first conference game that has been played in district 13 this year.

Kirby carried the ball on the kick-off from the 35 yard line to the 55 yard line. Then he threw a long pass to Swindle, bringing the ball close to the goal line. Kirby called a running play and brought the ball to the ten yard line, and with each play brought the ball nearer the goal. Kirby carried the ball the last four yards for a touchdown, but failed to make the extra point.

Goldthwaite had the ball on their own 25 yard line. On the fourth down, the ball was fumbled, but was covered by Todd on the 18 yard line. The Brady Bulldogs carried the ball to the five yard line and Steffens carried it across the goal, Brady failed on the extra point, and the score was a 6-6 tie at the end of the first half.

The third quarter both teams seemed to be on equal terms, but Brady sent in seven fresh players in the fourth quarter and started an advance that the Eagles were unable to stop.

Baptist Reminder First Prize For Apples

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock I will discuss "Paul's Chiefest Ambition." Sunday night at 7:15 my subject will be "Is the Golden Rule Practicable for a Baptist Church?"

Our crowds are steadily increasing at all of our services. The choir is growing in spirit and numbers. Mr. Gus Obenhaus our new choir director, is greatly encouraged with the spirit of the choir.

We are having one of the best starts in our B. T. S. I have ever observed in a new organization. We have had an average of 75 present the past three Sunday nights. Bro. J. W. Evans and all of his workers are learning the work in a fine way.

We often become greatly interested in our friends' salvation, and that is fine. I would remind you that the same Christ that saves us said, "Learn of Me." One of your great needs is efficiency in our religious endeavor. This can come only by way of training. I urge you to come and be in our training service. We have a place for every age. We meet each Sunday evening at 6:15.

BAPTIST CIRCLE NO. THREE

Monday, October 23, Circle No. 3 met with Mrs. Marvin Rudd, with nine of the members present. After the group song, "Sweet Hour of Prayer," Mrs. O. E. Priddy read the devotional. A short business meeting followed. Then Mrs. Marvin Rudd discussed the entire book of Ezekiel very interestingly. Virginia Ruth Rudd favored the group with a reading, after which little Dorothy Nell Rudd sang "Oh How I Love Jesus."

Delicious home made candy was served after the program. The next meeting will be with Mrs. C. L. Stephens.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The Woman's Auxillary met Monday afternoon for the study of the mission book, Christianity and Industry in America, led by Mrs. Kate Marshall, with Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Collier and Mrs. Hammond taking parts. The book is very interesting and great good can be gotten from the study of it if the women will take interest in and attend the six sessions regularly.

Next Monday the Auxillary will meet with Mrs. Harry Allen, where quilting will be combined with study. There will be two quilts up and all the ladies interested are cordially invited to attend.

We are also preparing for our pantomime play, directed by Mrs. J. S. Bowles, which will be given on Friday night, November 3, at the high school auditorium. The school will receive 25 per cent of the proceeds.

SHOTWELL-KNOWLES

Miss Estelle Shotwell and Mr. Connie Knowles, popular young people of the Big Valley community, were happily married Saturday, October 21, at the home of Rev. W. T. Sparkman, who performed the ceremony.

The bride is the lovely niece of Mr. and Mrs. Harve Hale. She is a graduate of Goldthwaite high school and also a former student of John Tarleton college. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Knowles and is a progressive young farmer. They have the good wishes of their many friends. A FRIEND

TURKEY GRADING SCHOOL

Paul A. Cumpus, extension poultry specialist, will hold a turkey grading school at Goldthwaite Friday, November 15, all day. Discussions by specialists covering selection of breeding stock, care and feeding growing turkeys, fattening for market and grading for market will be heard at both forenoon and afternoon sessions. Further announcements next week.

J. J. Cockrell & Sons of Big Valley have received notice they were awarded first prize on their apples displayed in the Dallas Fair. This is the second time these gentlemen have secured first prize on apples at the state fair and they have received many ribbons and first prizes from displays at county fairs and other exhibits. Last year they sent a display of apples to the state fair and it was mis-carried by some means, else they would have received first prize three years in succession.

Mills county soil is ideal for fruit growing and Mr. Cockrell states there are hundreds of acres in the county that would produce apples equal to those produced in his orchard.

AN OLD TIME QUILTING
The Quilting Club of Ratler met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Raymond Stewart and had an all-day quilting, and a nice dinner. Two quilts were completed and everyone reported a real enjoyable day.

The following were present: Mmes. John Smith of Cat Claw, Charlie Griffith, Mrs. Anderson and daughter, Minnie, Mrs. O.B. Belle, Mrs. Ashley Weathers and daughter, Johnnie, of Evans community, Mrs. B. F. Renfro, Mrs. Ellis Wallace, Mrs. William Wilcox, Mrs. Tas Renfro of Mullin, Mrs. George Brooks, Mrs. Buddie Channey, Mrs. Raymond Stewart, Mrs. O. P. Curtis, and Misses Eva Odell, Ellen Woods, Mary Loraine Ligon of Goldthwaite.

We also had a few of the opposite sex to help with the dinner hour—Ellis Wallace, Tas Renfro, Raymond Stewart, and William Wilcox. came later in the day to accompany his wife home.

The club will meet next Thursday at the home of Mrs. George Brooks. Every one invited to be present and bring a thimble, needle and one dish of something good to eat.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stewart are leaving our community next Monday, moving to Big Valley. They will live with Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Reid the coming year. We regret very much having them leave our midst. They will be greatly missed by all and everyone is wishing them a prosperous 1934 in Big Valley.

A GUEST.

MEAT FOR DISTRIBUTION

The relief association has received, as a quota due this county, about 600 pounds of salt pork to be distributed to those who need it. The meat is in storage at Joe Palmer's grocery store in this city, but applicants for it must secure an order from the relief committee or R. F. C., at the court house. The association has an office in the district court room where Chairman J.A. Allen and possibly other members of the committee will issue the orders for the meat, which is supplied by the federal government, as an aftermath of butchering a large number of hogs throughout the country to reduce the supply and raise the price of hogs.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TALKS

Those who heard President Roosevelt's talk Sunday night as well as those who read the text of his speech in the daily papers, were doubtless impressed with his seriousness and his optimism. While he confessed that progress had been slow and in some respects disappointing, he was optimistic and still believes his plans will bring the country out of the depression but said plainly the result could not be attained in a few weeks. At the outset of his administration he stated he expected to make some mistakes and his critics are free to say he has made them, but he has had a gigantic undertaking in restoring the business conditions to normal and at the same time preventing wide-spread suffering. The federal government has literally poured out relief money and there can be no doubt that some of this has been wasted or mismanaged. It would have been humanly impossible to have handled such huge appropriations judiciously and at the same time kept it all clear of graft. Most people of normal thinking believe they could have handled the administration in a more excellent way, but the truth is that few could really have done as well. About the most severe criticism of Mr. Roosevelt that can be justly made is that he has given ear to and reposed confidence in some who have used their position of vantage to further their own selfish interests and advance the causes they advocated. After all, every right thinking and patriotic citizen sincerely hopes for the success of any plan promulgated that will prevent suffering and restore prosperity to the nation. If this condition results from the efforts being put forth by the present administration there will be few to regret the inauguration of the plans. Mr. Roosevelt said, among other things: "I have been amazed by the extraordinary degree of co-operation given to the government by the cotton farmers in the South, the wheat farmers of the West, the tobacco farmers of the Southeast, and I am confident that the corn-hog farmers of the Middle West will come through in the same magnificent fashion."

In reference to the NRA he said: "Even in the field of business and industry, NRA does not apply to the rural communities or to towns of under 2500 population, except insofar as those towns contain factories or chain stores, which come under a specific made."

A JUST PROVISION

The complaint that the law requiring the payment of poll tax in conjunction with property tax is, in fact, not justified. The poll tax is not alone a prerequisite to voting, but is due as a matter of citizenship. The person who lives under the protection of the government and is allowed all privileges of citizenship certainly should expect to help in some way to defray the expense of the government. If they have no property on which a tax is levied then surely the small amount levied as a poll tax should be cheerfully contributed toward the support of the government, especially when the greater part of the poll tax money goes for the support of the schools. The assessment is neither against youth or age, but against those who can be characterized as being in the prime of life—from 11 to 60 years of age. If a person has no property on which an assessment can be made, then the only possible means the state has of enforcing collection is to make the payment a prerequisite to the privilege of voting. This provision is neither burdensome or unfair, for certainly one who fails or refuses to contribute that small amount toward the support of the government and the school system should not have the privilege of helping select the officials and deciding the issues for the taxpayers to support. Ever since the adoption of the poll tax amendment there has been complaint and criticism from those who want the benefits and privilege of government and public education without making any contribution whatever toward the expense of either. The requirement is fair and just and the pity is there is no better way of enforcing it.

COURT REFORMS

We are all agreed that there are some reforms needed in our judicial system in Texas, in the courts, both high and low, but the way to secure these reforms or just what they should be cannot be so easily determined. It is very clear that the federal mode of procedure, especially in the trial of criminal cases, is superior to our state system. This was very clearly demonstrated in the trial of the kidnapers in federal court in Oklahoma. The machinery of state courts is cumbersome and the jury system is not and never has been entirely satisfactory. Not that one accused of crime should not be tried by a jury of his fellow citizens, but there are difficulties in that way of securing justice for both the accused and society. Many suggestions have been offered, but it seems there have been very few reforms accepted. The Waxahachie Light, in discussing this subject, offers several pertinent suggestions when it says:

"The cause of justice would be served in Texas by instituting several reforms, a few of which we suggest: The trial judge should control and guide the selection of the jury. The duty of the jury in criminal cases should be confined to passing upon the guilt or innocence of the defendant. The trial judge should be charged with the duty of determining the severity of sentence within the limits prescribed by law. No appeal should be had on any technicality which does not materially affect the rights of the accused. Postponement of a trial in felony cases should not be granted unless the defendant presents such evidence to the court as will convince him that such delay is necessary to preserve the rights of the accused."

TRAGEDIES OF THE HIGHWAY

In every daily paper one sees accounts of death and injuries on the highways, mainly inflicted by automobiles, which on the surface seems to indicate an unusual degree of carelessness by drivers of cars and recklessness of individuals. Certainly something should be done to curb the tendencies to the sacrifices of life in this manner, but just what should be the remedy is quite another question. The drivers of cars can not be entirely absolved from blame, neither should all of the responsibility for these accidents be placed upon them. At the same time, more automobile operators lose their lives in the highway traffic than any others. They appear to become careless or to not realize the danger to which they are exposed on the highway or in the traffic. One needs only to make a short trip over the highways to be convinced that the constant association with the dangers of motor driven vehicles causes people to become careless of the danger. One will stop in the middle of the road to make repairs or investigate the condition of his motor, seemingly not realizing the fact that he is exposing himself to great danger or even death. When the law makers provide a severe penalty for one stopping a motor vehicle in the beaten path of a highway, regardless of the reason for the stopping, a big decrease in highway accidents will result.

Health Hint

TESTS FOR RABIES

The State Hygienic Laboratory of the state department of health received over two thousand animal heads during the past year for examination to determine whether or not the animal had rabies. Luckily, only about one-fourth of the heads received were positive for rabies. Three hundred and twenty-seven persons were given treatment at the state laboratory; other were treated in their home towns.

Rabies is transmitted to many through the bite or having a cut exposed to the saliva of a rabid animal. Bites through clothing are not as dangerous as bites on exposed surfaces, because the saliva is wiped off as the tooth passes through the cloth.

If a person is bitten, the offending animal should be penned, if possible, for a period of ten days. If the animal is normal at the end of that time, the case can be dismissed. If it is necessary to kill the animal, this must be done in such a manner that the brain is not destroyed. If it is, an examination to determine whether or not the animal had rabies will be impossible. If the head is sent to the Pasteur Institute, care should be used in properly incising it to prevent decomposition.

Rabies is commonly supposed to be a disease of warm weather, but the warmth of weather has no influence on the disease. On the contrary, rabies is more prevalent during the winter months because exposure to the cold lowers the resistance of the animal. It is true that more dogs are killed during the summer months, but the percentage of rabies is low.

THE REALM OF SCIENCE

If your dog's barking disturbs you, you may have the bark eliminated by a simple operation which has no ill effects on the canine. The operation was discovered about a quarter of a century ago, according to the head of the Iowa state college school of veterinary medicine, but he never heard of an owner availing himself of it. The operation is performed principally on dogs kept in laboratories where barking of one canine might start a chorus of yipping.

A new disease, which will baffie science and will rival the horrors of the war time influenza plague, will soon become prevalent in America as a direct result of the depression, Dr. J. R. Drain, president of the Texas chiropractic college at San Antonio believes. The disease, Drain says, will have both mental and intestinal symptoms and will be an outgrowth of undernourishment and worry during the depression period. The inability of people to adapt themselves to new conditions arising after the political and financial blowup that we have experienced, has brought about a condition of health that will positively be reflected in the generation of children to be born during the next few years, he predicted.

The claims of an Italian mineral engineer to have discovered a method for transforming steel and iron into gold, silver or platinum are getting the attention of Italy's foremost scientists. He has already taken out patents in a number of European countries and has experimented for several years with the effect of regrouing electrons within the atomic structure of various substances. In the tests which he claims have given him the long-sought alchemist's secret of transmutting baser metals into gold, scrapped railroad rails were used because of the high percentage of carbon and the intense stress which they had sustained. The steel was subjected to electro-magnetic force for a prolonged period of time, then given acid "baths." In the final operation, fine sand was introduced into vats and the result was the precipitation of a metal in which there was a high percentage of gold.

KEEPING UP WITH TEXAS

MORE TREE SOLDIERS

Hq. Texas District, C. C. C., Fort Sam Houston, Texas, Capt. M. Y. Stokes, jr., MI-Res., Public Relations Officer.

This week the first of the 5492 replacements that the state of Texas is supplying for the president's army of 300,000 conservationists started on their way to the civilian conservation corps camps to which they have been assigned. Tree soldiers, road builders, park workers and erosion fighters, all C. C. C. men have the common mission of fighting against waste of natural resources and of conserving for future generations the natural wealth that still remains in the nation.

Of the 5492 Texans who have been certified by the county welfare boards or by the veterans bureau as being eligible for enrollment in the C. C. C., 4598 are junior enrollees between the ages of 18 and 25; 40 are cooks for whom the usual requirements as to age, marital status and allotments are being waived, 530 are veterans of the world war assigned to veterans' camps, and the remaining 224 are local experienced men who will be selected at camp sites because of their familiarity with local conditions.

Unlike the first C.C.C. enrollees last spring, who were concentrated and equipped in conditioning camps at Camp Bullis, Fort Sill and other army camps, the men who are accepted this week will be sent direct to the work camps if they are to go to camps in the state, or if they are to go out of the state, they will be assembled at army recruiting stations for physical examinations and enrollment and then sent in groups of about 20 men to the camps.

In order to reduce the expense to the government, the amount of travel is being kept to a minimum. Vacancies in the Texas camps will be filled by men living in the same or nearby counties. But not quite one-half of the 5492 vacancies that are open to Texans in the C. C. C. are in the work camps in Texas. The other vacancies are in camps in Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona, and to supply these camps men will be assembled at the recruiting stations nearest their homes before being sent to the camps.

Physical examinations will be given at the camps to the men who go there direct. All men will be vaccinated, inoculated and issued their clothing and toilet articles after they reach camp. Conditioning, when necessary, will be done at the work camps instead of at the concentration camps as previously so that men able to work, as practically all of them are, can be started off on their jobs without delay. The period for enrollments extends from October 17 to November 2.

The lower Rio Grande valley, where beach developments were washed away by hurricane the past summer, will have two resorts on the coast next spring, according to present plans.

The American Red Cross has expended $84,120 in relief in the lower valley storm area, it was announced. There have been 8,785 requests for relief filed with the headquarters and all except 3063 have been acted upon.

Men in the civilian conservation corps camp are learning their academic courses in night school. Classes are held four nights a week. Teachers in the Conroe public schools have donated their services to instruct the tree campers.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Views of the Nation's Press on Topics of Interest and Importance

THE DOLE FOR CANADA

Irrespective of the relative merits of direct and indirect employment relief in so far as the individual himself is concerned, public sentiment in Canada seems to be definitely in favor of the former method because the immediate outlay is so much less. Since the Dominion and most of the provincial governments have been confronted with budget deficits that higher levels of taxation fail to eliminate the exigencies of their financial positions have naturally inclined them in favor of a plan that will entail lower expenditures. Accordingly, more and more reliance has been placed upon direct assistance in Canada; although a certain amount of indirect relief is still being provided.

Last year the federal authorities in Canada co-operated with the provincial bodies in providing direct relief to those out of work. Aid to the unemployed was furnished in the form of vouchers which the recipients could use for the payment of rent or exchange for necessities at local stores. The system worked fairly well in many regards, but experience revealed its basic weakness.

Misuse of the vouchers was brought to the attention of the authorities first in the province of Quebec. It was found that the vouchers had been used for payment of old debts and purchases of commodities that could not be termed as necessities. In some cases it was revealed that storekeepers had faked accounts and advanced cash in return for the vouchers. Apparently, in recognition of the impossibility of administering such relief strictly the unemployment commission in Quebec has advocated abolition of "bons" and recommended substitution of weekly checks for aided families and monthly checks for landlords of residences in which the unemployed are housed.

This measure constitutes another step toward the adoption of an assumption of state responsibility to assure employment to all citizens. Such relief is very little removed from the unemployment benefits paid in various European countries, and if carried to its logical conclusion, almost necessarily will entail state support of an unemployment insurance scheme in Canada.—New York Journal of Commerce.

LIGHT IN CUBA

If there is, as news indicate, opposition to an investigation of the floating of a $225,000,000 loan by a New York bank to the Cuban government, lately headed by Pres. Machado, it should speedily be swept aside. The Cuban people and the American people have a right to know every detail of the transaction.

Naturally there will be danger that the most innocent of actions and purposes will be misrepresented by hotheads and ignorant persons. Nevertheless this danger must be endured. We must know the facts of American business dealings in Cuba. Wherever and whenever they are blamed for Cuban ills there must be an accounting.

The American people have not been inclined to believe the sensational charges that American capital has robbed and exploited and enslaved the Cubans. These seem to be all of a piece with the usual charges against American capital whenever it goes into some backward country, and lead one to believe that they are a piece with the general charge against all capital activities, probably made by some one who at heart is a hater of the entire capitalist system. The people have rather suspected that American capital has provided jobs and developed native wealth in the Latin American countries and incidentally given the people a better life than they could otherwise have had.

However, they do not wish to rest in blind faith. If the fact can be proved that Cuba has been exploited by American financial interests then the American people wish to know it. It will have an important bearing on what they believe the attitude of our nation toward Cuba should be. Our government must not help perpetrate wrong on Cuba; it must not insist on the fulfillment of one un-

A PREVENTION OF WAR

The Texas Weekly, edited by Peter Molyneux, a profound thinker and one well informed on matters of public interest, in discussing the withdrawal of Germany from the Geneva conference and the League of Nations, says in part:

"The interest of Texas in all this is not different from that of the United States as a whole, but it is more direct and obvious. The United States as a whole is interested in the re-establishment of a stable and better-ordered world. Gentlemen who were proposing with such nonchalant confidence six months ago to have the United States lift itself by its own bootstraps are not so nonchalant or so confident today as they were at the outset, and some of them are beginning to suspect that something else is needed. For our own part, we have been convinced all along that no policy of narrow economic nationalism could succeed, though we have been willing to support fully every move calculated to improve our domestic situation. It is beginning to appear that a full measure of recovery is going to require world co-operative effort and in consequence what has been happening in Europe recently is of vital interest to us. But it is of particular interest to Texas for the reason that an early recovery for this state involves a recovery of our foreign trade. A European war would be quite as disastrous to us, both immediately and in the long run, as to any nation that might participate in it. This would have such a result is at least problematical. In any event, such an increase would be only temporary and the ultimate disorganizing effect of such a conflict would mean a great setback for us. It would postpone the bringing about of the re-establishment of the 'community of mutual understanding and confidence' to which Hitler refers. It would undo what has been attained during the past 15 years toward healing the wounds of the world war.

If the policy being pursued by Hitler, therefore, were really a saber-rattling policy, calculated to precipitate another European war, whether in the immediate future or within a few years, Texas would have every reason to view that policy as disastrous to its hopes. It is not necessary to approve the Hitler policy in order to see it is different from what some European statesmen represent it to be. Hitler insists that his policy does not contemplate another European war. That, on the contrary, such a war would be quite as disastrous to Germany as to any other nation. He insists that the central objective of that policy is full reconciliation with France. And the arguments which he puts forward to support the view that another European war would not be to Germany's interest and that reconciliation with France would be decidedly to Germany's interest are so convincing as to lend strong support to the probability of his sincerity. On the other hand, we are very much of the opinion that no kind of an arms reduction agreement that would be likely to be adopted and put into effect could be regarded as in any degree a guarantee against another European war. The concluding sentence of an article by W. Armin Linn in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post is very much to the point here. 'When we stop wasting our time trying to make people harmless,' he writes, 'and exert more serious efforts to make people friendly, it is possible that we may enjoy peace—a peace which is not just a breathing spell between rounds.' Armament agreements are devices, calculated to render nations harmless, or at least less dangerous. If they are calculated also to make nations less friendly they may become breeders of war rather than safeguards of peace."

Following is a letter addressed to Hon. E. Claud Babcock, president of Federation of Government Employees and Secretaries United States Civil Service, Washington, D. C., by Hon. T. L. Blanton, representative of the district, which is self explanatory:

"Replying to your telegram just received stating that Senator Harrison assures you that cuts will be rescinded and reductions in salaries of government employees will be restored in the coming session of congress, and asking for similar assurance from me, I regret that I can not help you. It is my belief that government salaries have been entirely too high, and out of all proportion to salaries received for like work in private positions. American citizens tired of being taxed to pay so government employees the four, five, six, seven, eight, and ten thousand dollars a year, some of whom until recently were granted thirty day sick leave on full pay, no work on Sundays, numerous holidays including half of Saturdays, working under comfortable surroundings. Disabled veterans all wars have been cut materially and government employees must take their cuts, the same congressmen and other citizens with smiling faces, and thankful to God that they have positions with Uncle Sam, who pays them regularly, while his people are starving.—Thomas Blanton, Congressman."

THE JAPANESE TRADE BOGIE

Confronted by the problem of a heavily increased military budget and by setbacks to her trade in China and the British possessions, Japan evidently plans an aggressive commercial drive in other parts of the globe. Her efforts in this direction are favored for the time being by a per cent drop in the value of the yen. Recent indications are that Japan contemplates a more active campaign for trade advantages in Latin America, where she seems to have aroused considerable concern among some of her older competitors in the field.

The Japanese bugaboo scarcely seems to justify the anxiety which it has occasioned among her trade rivals. It is true the trade aside from her temporary exchange advantage, her manufacturers count on low costs of production and shipping to give them. Also her mills are ready to cater to the whims of foreign customers. However, the weakness in her commercial position in Latin America lies in her inability to reciprocate by the purchase of the staple products of those countries. The Japanese secure most of their sugar from Taiwan or Formosa and coffee and wheat play a relative small part in their diet. We and nitrates are the only important commodities which she can take in any quantity, and the buying habits of her people are revolutionized.

The Mexican ministry of national economy, in commenting on this year's increase in imports from Japan, remarks that the showing on the opposite side of the balance sheet is "ridiculously negligible." In 1931 Japan's exports to all Latin America totaled only 14,000,000 yen, an insignificant 1 per cent of her own export business for the year. Against this she bought from the Southern republics more than 8,000,000 yen of goods. Such figures are hardly a reason for worry among her competitors. —New York Herald-Tribune.

SALARY HIKE OPPOSED

THE BIBLE AND NUDISM

The Rev. Irlsey Boone, so-called, seems to have expelled from the Dutch Reformed church, according to Universal Service, cause he is a nudist.

"There is nothing in Christian religion contradictory to the theories of nudism," said the Rev. Mr. Boone. He may be right about that. It is, however, not the theories but the practice of nudism that must deal with. God, we are told, clotheth not the outward appearance. But man, poor sinner, does. If the Almighty started world on a nudist plan and to abandon it, the Rev. Boone might well take that under advisement, as it was Dallas Journal.

Surprising as it may seem, kidnapping is rated as a more serious crime by the inmates of the state prison at Joliet than by Illinois school teachers.

Lawrence Westbrook, Texas relief director, said Saturday eight counties had been added to the list of those in the dry area which have been granted several types of federal relief.

Women scratched, kicked and screamed Saturday as pickets of the striking women's garment makers union, non-strikers and police tangled in street fighting in the down town industrial area of Los Angeles.

The former chief of the English naval staff thinks it is a matter of interest and grave concern that the personnel of the United States navy now totals 107,000, a 60 per cent increase over 1914, and that Japan had 88,000 in 1931 and has probably a greater number today.

A nationwide search for a young Mexican prisoner, who boldly escaped from federal officers in Kansas City October 6, was ended Saturday with the receipt of a letter addressed to the trial judge, in which the youth promised to return to serve his sentence—after he had completed his legal education in 1937.

In San Francisco, California, beer mash, congealing on a pavement, did not attract alert prohibition agents, but it caused several cars to skid, with five accidents resulting. And the charge placed against the driver of the truck from whence came the mash was one of public nuisance. Police said they didn't even bother to notify prohibition agents because they were convinced the mash was for 3.2 beer.

Farmers who have already sold their 1933 cotton would benefit also under the 15c a pound loan plan of the American cotton cooperative association, according to the vice president and secretary at New Orleans. ## W. GROMATZKY

Wednesday, October 11, 1933, marked the passing away of one of the most influential and highly esteemed citizens of Mills county, W. Gromatzky. To the people of his community his death means the departure of a vital force, which has long been felt and relied upon by the people of Priddy. Most of Mr. Gromatzky's life was spent among these people and they valued him as he deserved to be valued.

W. Gromatzky was born in Germany in 1851. He came to America in 1870 and after spending a number of years in Washington and Hamilton counties, he located in 1884 in Priddy, in Mills county, and there spent the remainder of his life. In 1877 he was married to Miss Schrank of Washington county and to them were born ten children, seven of whom are now living—Chas. Gromatzky, Priddy; Mrs. F. W. Limmer, Priddy; Alfred Gromatzky, Eden; Willie Gromatzky, Eden; Mrs. Richard Hertz, Priddy; Mrs. F. W. Hein, Priddy; Mrs. Kucklies, Indian Gap. He is also survived by one brother, three sisters, thirty-five grandchildren and twenty-one great grandchildren.

The death of Mr. Gromatzky marked the passing of the last of the original founders of the Zion Lutheran church at Priddy. His funeral rites were held in this church with fitting ceremony by Rev. Mansur, and his remains were laid to rest by the side of his wife in the Lutheran cemetery, at West Priddy. His funeral brought together one of the largest crowds that has ever been assembled in Priddy, showing the high esteem he was held in by his fellowmen. The pallbearers were his grandsons, Alfred and Willie Limmer, Ernest and Arthur Gromatzky, George Hiller, Walter Kucklies, Herbert Schoen and Carl Hein.

Fairman Company of Goldthwaite had charge of the funeral. A FRIEND.

2000-YEAR-OLD AXE FOUND

A new chapter in American history, first evidence that human beings lived on the Atlantic coast as far back as the time of Christ, has been written by a 2000-year-old axe dug up in Albemarle county, Virginia. The primitive axe is unique in that it was chipped out of black diabase rock by some savage American 20 centuries ago and then was found and resharpened by a later owner 1300 years later. Besides setting a probable long-time usefulness record for an axe, it shows, says the Smithsonian Institution, that former ideas of when the first human beings reached the Eastern United States were mistaken.

Air Pockets As Costly For Automobiles As For Planes

The new Curtiss Hawk Army pursuit plane, above, is streamlined even to the "pinto" which hides the wheels away from rushing air currents. Streamlining of airplanes has not only increased their speed enormously, but has done much to increase riding comfort and safety by overcoming dangerous air-pockets.

Traditional automobile design results in an air-pocket or vacuum behind the car as it moves, this vacuum serving to suck the car backward and to waste a large percentage of power.

The new streamlined auto is the air flow smoothly off the rear of the automobile — no vacuum results.

Air pockets met by airplanes have in the past cost many lives. Those experienced by motorists just cost money. Air resistance is not merely a force of rushing air but by the front of a moving car. It may also be a vacuum which pulls at the rear. Such combined resistance may be responsible for a power wastage as high as 80 per cent. The loss in gasoline costs is enormous. Engineers are using streamlining to overcome such a pocket or vacuum. Cars broad and blunt-nosed at the front, tapering to the rear in rear-drop form, are the only design for the future, according to the laboratory workers. With the higher prices current for gasoline, many motorists will want to try out this theory for themselves. Meanwhile engineers also promise them more riding comfort. The new weight reduction distribution made possible by streamlining is expected to result in cars of far more restful riding qualities.

RED CROSS APPEAL FOR MEMBERS

THE 1933 poster of the American Red Cross, distributed nationwide, is an appeal for an enlarged membership. Resources were never more vitally needed than in this fourth year of economic distress. Memberships, which cost one dollar or more, are used to support the unemployment relief work of chapters and national organization; nationwide disaster relief work; health work in hundreds of communities, with special reference to preserving the health of mothers and children; safety work through teaching first aid and life saving; welfare work through six million school children who are members of the Junior Red Cross; and one of the most important tasks ever to face the Red Cross—keeping up the morale of veterans of our wars, and handling their problems of compensation payments, arising from changes in governmental regulations. One hundred twenty disasters engaged the financial and personnel forces of the Red Cross during the past year. More than a million dollars was spent in relief of families who lost their all in hurricanes, storms, fires, earthquake and other frightful calamities. President Roosevelt has said: "I can be counted on to foster and aid in every way in my power the great work your organization (The Red Cross) must carry on." Can any citizen of the nation fail to do likewise? Join as a member of your local chapter during the roll call.

WHEAT PRODUCTION AND ACREAGE STATEMENTS OF MEMBERS OF THE WHEAT PRODUCTION CONTROL ASSOCIATION OF MILLS COUNTY, STATE OF TEXAS

The following is a statement of the production and planted acreages of wheat in the years 1930, 1931, 1932, and planted acreage for 1933 of producers (of) Mills County, who have submitted applications for farm allotments. This publication is made in compliance with the regulations of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. It is made so that a check may be made on all statement claims, and so that reports may be made to the county Wheat Production Control Association on any inaccuracies which may appear in the statements.

The allotment for this county has been definitely calculated from official records of the United States Department of Agriculture, and is 4333 bushels. This is the total allotment for the county. Therefore, if any farmer receives a greater allotment than his past production warrants, he is thus depriving other farmers in this county of their just share.

Total production figures of those who apply for contracts, together with those who do not, must be consistent with the official county production as shown by the records of the United States Department of Agriculture. If the county totals are greater than the official totals, it will be necessary to make a downward adjustment

Any person may make a confidential report if he finds any statement here which he believes to be inaccurate. Such reports should be made to the community or county allotment committee, either in writing or verbally. The reports will be strictly confidential. A farmer whose statements are said to be inaccurate will need to prove his production figures.

Farmers have been asked to furnish evidence of production and evidence of sale, such as thresherman's certificates, elevator certificates, or other records and receipts. Satisfactory evidence will be required of any farmer whose statement is questioned.

The following statements have been condensed to save space. "A" represents acres planted and "bu." represents bushels harvested. The "3-year average" represents the 3-year average acreage and production of 1930-32. LIVING TO OURSELVES

Our United States has the most favored position of all the nations. We can produce all our necessities and we require only a few imported luxuries. But unless we sell our domestic surplus where it is needed and buy from the surpluses of other grand divisions we and they must accept a lower standard of living. No people can live to themselves alone. The Indians couldn't, when they had this mighty continent to themselves. Tribe was forever at war with tribe, and the bottom cause of such warfare was trade—not as the world now understands trade, but trade in the sense that one tribe needed something another tribe had. The world went nationalis-

Farmers of the middle west, desperate because of failure of farm produce prices to respond to the national recovery program, struck Saturday in an effort to force federal relief. Farm organizations claiming a membership of 2,000,000 farmers in 27 states called on their members to halt move of live stock and food to market and to boycott merchants until farm prices reach cost of production.

Each dependency sought to subsidize mainly on what it had within its own borders. This was impossible or impractical for England. She had to buy and sell abroad. And British are pulling out of the mire a little in advance of the rest of the world. —State Press in Dallas News.

STYLES IN NEW YORK

Velvets Important In Women's Exposition Fashion Show

Velvets with a rich new sumptuousness befitting the current elegance mode were highlighted in the Fashion Show—a daily feature of the recent Exposition of Women's Arts and Industries held in New York—the showing including both daytime and evening ensembles from New York's smartest shops, and the majority American designed.

Important among evening ensembles was a black Aida velvet gown with train over which was worn an ermine-collared long coat with train. There was a transparent velvet gown in a new stained-glass wine shade, particularly effective with a silver fox Lanvin model cape, and lovely black transparent velvet ensemble worn with a little palette hat.

In the daytime group, a simple black Kaskade waterproof velvet jacket suit, designed by Armour, simply walked away with smartness. It was worn with a bright red dayon crepe blouse tied high at the neck. A frock carried out on straight slim lines and from new deep ribbed fabric known as Shangola, in the popular blackberry shade accented with white, was a feature of the day time group, as was also a tailored frock in London smoke shade in another ribbed fabric called rib-o-faille. Very chic, too, was a bright green frock of point device—a deep rib moss knit fabric—accented with brown buttons and matching brown accessories.

New Lines and Fabrics in Bridal Ensembles.

While the American bride has always preferred purest white satin fashioned along simple classic lines for her bridal gown, other fabrics and other influences are seen in some of the bridal ensembles this season. Drop shoulder lines, high necklines and tunics vary the picture for brides and bridesmaids, carried out in soft clinging velvets, lames and moires, as well as in the favored satin. There are new ways with bridal veils, such as one in white tulle which falls over the face in dramatic nun-like simplicity, complimenting a very simple long-trained white satin gown designed by Simpson, which stands out effectively in a display of bridal costumes of all nations through the last two centuries now being exhibited in a New York shop. This modern bridal gown and one in white velvet by Lelong interestingly contrast the mellowed old American models, the elaborate Eighteenth Century English and French gowns and the colorful wedding costumes of the Balkan countries, also on display.

Decidedly modern is a wedding gown display in another New York shop, which features a bridal gown of shimmering white slipper satin and lame topped off with a swirl cap, which has a definite Russian influence. This ensemble, which is credited to Schiaparelli, introduces a new flower idea. The bride carries a white satin bag, on the front of which are clipped two beautiful white orchids. The bridesmaids' dresses are copies of the bride's, but in steel blue satin and with shorter train.

The long tunic styling which characterizes some of the new bridal gowns is usually carried out in a dipping movement at the back, which makes a pleasing effect under the long veil. A rosy pink satin is another favorite for bridesmaids' dresses.

Beret Most Important in Millinery Mode

Millinery—still the most dramatic phase of fashion, whether for formal or informal wear—is being interpreted this season in a wealth of new materials that lend themselves admirably to the new little toques, turbans, brims and the favored beret. The beret is particularly favored since it fits both the day time and evening mode. In velvets, velours, suedes and sheer woollens, it is featured from the soft full versions that fall flatteringly over the right eye to the visor types and those with the smooth front sophisticated effects. The hat movement for the most part is decidedly forward, although there are some off the face models for young, fresh faces. There are new tricks with brims and crowns—often accented by metal or composition ornament or perhaps a lacquered quill, as in some of the new models with Tyrolean inspiration. The Oriental influence is seen in some of the new velvet and velveteen beret sets with matching scarves featuring bright composition rings in Chinese colors. Dinner hats, which this season are a definite part of evening fashion, are often very shallow—fairly molded to the head—tricornes, turbans and berets being the favored types, and these usually of velvet, metal cloth, brocades or feathers. Hairy woollens, felts, tweeds and knitted fabrics with unusual texture interest fashion many of the smartest sports models.

New Toiletware in Pyralin and Metal.

In keeping with the vogue for pyroxilin plastics combined with metal is some of the smartest new toilet ware now seen in New York shops. Strikingly effective in its simplicity is a new three-piece set, which features colors in rose, maize or jade combined with chrome metal. The handle of the brush and mirror in the metal, which is extended around the oval head of each in a simple outline which matches the back of the comb. Another pattern known as the Claridge—in maize, jade and black—features the chrome handle on the brush and mirror—the metal extending halfway around the head of each.

The vogue for initials has had its influence on toiletware. It is noted in a distinctive new set known as Deauville, a plain ivory composition with narrow black binding, the space on the back of the mirror and brush making an effective background for initials, if desired. This set also features the long graceful chromium handle. It is particularly smart with black lettering in Old English styling.

Gayer Colors for Winter Kitchens

With winter coming on and appetites increasing, the kitchen takes on a new interest—with new colors and color combinations decidedly important this season. This one learns from the various kitchen set-ups now on display in New York shops. Kitchens, we note, are going to do their part in the home-building program—and more. They are supplying the proper background for Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving and Christmas festivities, to say nothing of their daily contribution of cheer for the quick little breakfast, the homey family supper and those informal little get togethers for candy pulls, corn poppings and such, in these days with the increasing popularity of simple home pleasures. Lacquered fabric table cloths in a variety of gay new patterns are doing a lot for the kitchens. In polka dots, checks, stripes and peasant designs in new damask and linen like surfaces, which can be cleaned by no more than the wiping off with a damp cloth. They can be selected in colors to fit any kitchen. They are displayed, too, with matching chair pads, cupboard shelf covers and short window drapes that are very effective.

Style Flashes—

It's back to school with bangs and a bow—the assignment for the smart little school girl. The simple, uncured, shingled bob in the back, neat, little short bangs and a big bright ribbon side bow—varied now and then by a colorful composition bandeaux—are correct coiffure points for the juvenile mode.

Velvets in Roman striped effects are important for new blouses and neckwear. And just now fabrics with gold threads are seen in some of the smartest ensembles in the dresser mode.

A frock with decided Oriental charm features tunic styling, a standing coolie collar, mandarin sleeves and frog fastenings at the throat. Carried out in a heavy black faille, with belt and sleeve facings in lacquer red satin, the effect is stunning.

Net and lace are growing more and more important in the evening mode. A charming black net gown designed by Howard Greer—is worn with long velvet gloves.

Composition and metal buttons—large, bold and defiant—accent some of the smartest of the season's frocks. They are noted particularly on many of the tweedy, knitted-looking models so smart with British influence.

A welfare officer and department adjutant of the American Legion in Michigan and a New York merchant, were convicted Saturday by a federal court jury on a charge of conspiring to defraud the government through a plan of reselling surplus army goods. Judge John Knight of Buffalo presiding, sentenced each of the men to a year and a day in the northeastern federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., and to pay a fine of $2000 each. The jury, which had been out about five hours, recommended leniency. The men were accused of obtaining surplus army goods at less than cost for free distribution among the poor and reselling part of them at a profit.

Nagging Pains

are WARNING SIGNALS

TEMPORARY pain relief remedies may save you much suffering at the moment, but putting a mask over a warning signal does not clear up the condition it was telling you to avoid.

When periodic pains, due to a weak, run-down condition, distress you, treatment for the cause of the trouble should be started without delay.

Take Cardul to build up against the nagging symptoms of ordinary womanly ailments. It has been in use for over 50 years. So many women praise CARDUL, it must be good to have the widespread use that it has today. Sold at drug stores.

Witch Table For Hallowe'en Feast

A bravely ruffled centerpiece, cheerful candlesticks and a black and orange table cover give the Hallowe'en party its proper zest, and are inexpensive and easy for any hostess to make. Cellophane, three full widths, a center one of tango and side strips of black, overlapped 1/4 inch at the seams, fastened at seams and ends with gummed tape, makes a lovely table cover.

Ruffles for candlestick bases, out dishes and center place are made by folding strips of the material lengthwise, stitching them over a knitting needle, which is then removed, and inserting a piece of spool wire at the fold. The wire holds the gathers in place and ties the ruffle onto the candlestick or other table ornament. Cellophane strips for the candlestick ruffles should be 10 inches wide and 40 inches long; for the nut cups, 8 inches wide and 20 long.

The centerpiece consists of two witch cut-outs mounted on a dis-

IN MEMORY

In memory of mother. A loving, kind mother has gone. She has answered the call of her Lord, who has been her constant guide through the long years of her journey on earth.

The Lord spake, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord."

She passed away as she lived, a devoted Christian. She united with the Lutheran church at the age of 14. In later years, coming to Goldthwaite, she united with the Methodist church. In her declining years she lived only for her Lord with songs of praise and prayer on her dear lips.

She passed from this life October 11, 1933, at 12:06 p. m. She loved her friends and children. Her last thirteen birthdays were happy ones, as her children from far and near with friends gathered about her to celebrate the occasion.

Oh, mother, how we loved you and miss you, but you will not be forgotten. Your memory will dwell with us, until we too, are gathered home.

Grandmother Schweining, as she was lovingly called, was born April 10, 1845, in Bredenbek, Germany. She was married to Fritz Schweining March 11, 1859. To this union were born six sons and seven daughters. Her husband preceded her in death by 25 years. Surviving are 10 children, 37 grandchildren and 29 great grandchildren.

She was tenderly laid to rest by the side of her husband, our father, to await the coming of the resurrection morn.

Peace be thy silent slumber. I cannot say, and I will not say That mother is dead, she is just away!

With a cheery smile and a wave of her hand. She has wandered into an unknown land. And left us dreaming how very fair

It needs must be, since mother lingers there, And you—oh you, who the wildest yearn

For the old time steps and the glad return. Think of her fairing on, As dear in the love of there As the love of here;

Think of her still as the same, and say Mother is not dead—she is just away! HER CHILDREN short time later the Brady eleven gained the ball on the Goldthwaite 43 yard line. Steffens carried the ball four times, making 31 yards. He carried the ball from the 8 yard line across the goal for another touchdown.

Outstanding players for the Brady eleven were Ogdan, Ward, Carrithers and Steffens. Outstanding players for Goldthwaite were Swindle, Kirby and McDermott.

Senior Class Meeting
Tuesday morning the senior class met for the purpose of electing officers for a press club. Miss Brim, the sponsor, made an enthusiastic speech to the class, and then she asked Mr. Smith to say something. Mr. Smith told the seniors that as they were sponsoring the two columns in the paper, they should feel the responsibility for the articles and news each week.

After another encouraging talk from Miss Brim, the class began to nominate students for editor-in-chief. After the votes had been counted, Miss Brim announced that Beulah Thompson was to be editor-in-chief, and Merle Faulkner associate editor. After the applause had died down each officer made a peppy talk. The whole class is enthusiastic concerning the paper project, and they wish to do their part in making it a success.

The Revelers
On Thursday, October 19, the boys of Goldthwaite high school organized a Glee Club with Mrs. Sam Sullivan as their sponsor. We chose "The Revelers" as our name and the following officers were elected: President, Woody Sayol; secretary and treasurer, Clark Huddlestone; reporter, Wallace Johnson.

We set aside Monday and Thursday as the recreational period at our meeting days.

As this club is the first of its kind in high school, we have decided to make it the best. We have already filled one appointment at junior high school. We sang two songs: "Mountain Music" and "Louisiana Lullaby."

We feel that with Mrs. Sullivan as our leader we will accomplish much in the coming year.

Football Boys Go Irish
We haven't been able to determine who originated the idea, but someone surely did, because our football team is now decidedly red-headed.

The boys thought red hair would make a more convincing impression on their opponents, so they asked some unnamed members of the pep squad to assist them in dyeing it.

First, red rit was given a trial, but since it is only supposed to dye white or grey hair, it proved ineffective. Then henna pack was applied to several heads and allowed to remain for quite awhile. The results were—red. As there was not enough henna to dye everyone's hair, it was decided to finish the job another day. Again the result was—red.

We are not certain that the red hair was the cause of the "dog's life" the Eagles led the Brady Bulldogs Saturday, but we imagine it was rather disconcerting to have eleven flaming heads make a charge at the same time.

The Hallow'en Carnival
The P. T. A. is sponsoring a Hallow'en Carnival Saturday of this week in the court house. A parade begins at 3:30 o'clock in front of the Baptist church. Two prizes will be offered: One to the largest group in the parade, and one to the most original and amusing group. All those interested in advertising will have a representative in the parade. The carnival is to be the big hit of the season, because of the sponsors and guests. The whole town has been invited and the school is planning to turn out 100 per cent.

Some of the special features are a vaudeville, a booth of "Believe It or Not," and a real Gypsy fortune teller. So if you have something important in mind, ask the mysterious Gypsy how it will end. The big feature is the election of Miss Goldthwaite. Each vote costs a penny, so let's all vote for the prettiest and most popular girl in town. Another interesting feature is the baby show. Come and see your favorite baby laugh and gurgle and win the prize! For the men, a special booth has been prepared named "Men Only." For you crank fishermen, a fishing pond has been erected with your favorite fish waiting to be caught. If it's catfish you like, we have them; if it's bass, the pond is full of them; if it's suckers, they are even on the bank all around the pond.

And folk! The best of all is the eats! Mexican dishes, popcorn, candy, cold drinks, sandwiches, eskimo pies (straight from the North Pole), cakes and pies. Let's all eat at the carnival! Just think—all booths are just five cents each. Depression prices are the rage! Well, I'll be seeing you there Saturday night. If you are not with the crowd the gobblins will get you!

Pep Squad
At the weekly meeting of the pep squad last Monday morning, the club elected a new leader—Roy Hunt. Roy has been a star football player and we are sure that he will make a good yell leader. He knows the players of the team and all of the plays. He also knows the kind of yells that a club of fighting boys would appreciate while on the field. Roy, we welcome you.

Another popular, unanimous vote and applause was given by the club at the acceptance given by Mrs. Cloniger to be one of the club sponsors. Mrs. Cloniger is enthusiastic for the pep squad girls and football boys, so we all welcome Mrs. Cloniger to our hearts and club.

The other two sponsors, Miss Euna V. Brim and Miss Vivian Campbell, made a startling, but necessary announcement. It was that all students belonging to the pep squad must pass in all of their courses in order to be eligible for a pep squad member. The club accepted this with mingled regret and pleasure, but all agreed that it was only fair and would urge them on to higher grades in school work. So now, the pep squad is an "exclusive club" for only passing and loyal students.

Pep Meeting
High school assembled in the auditorium last Friday morning at ten o'clock. Mr. Cloniger had charger of the assembly. After he talked to the pupils about football, he called on Ted Kirby to make a talk. Ted was so surprised that he could not say anything, therefore, he passed. Next Mr. Cloniger called on Bill Todd another star football player, and he made a pep talk. Harmon Frazier, ex-player, and Roy Hunt also an ex-player, told us about how hard it was for them to see the other boys playing ball when they could not play. Ralph Swindle, a star player from Ino Gap, made a very interesting talk. This is his first year play football. He is just realizing what he has been missing. We are proud of Ralph and wish that he could play another year for us.

Another boy, who is playing for his last year is Alvin Fes better known as "Fogie." He is learning how and is putting a fine at every practice.

Others who talked on the of football, sportsmanship, manners were Clark Huddlestone, Robert Boland, J. N. Bay, Daphane Evans, Miss Euna Brim, Miss Vivian Campbell. After Mr. Cloniger spoke again, turned the rest of the program over to the pep squad. They gave some yells and songs which we intended to urge our boys on to victory.

This program was enjoyed, the entire school. More talks of those bring us closer together, and make us feel that it is a ball team and that it takes a whole high school behind team to make it win.

Grammar School Chapel
Wednesday morning at a regular chapel period we were entertained by the little children in Miss Ruby Lee Dickson's Pre Instrumental Music class and by the high school boys' Glee Club. We were glad to have the primary grades and quite a few parents and friends with us that morning. The program was quite a success and greatly enjoyed by
