Immunization Of Children

Representatives of the county health committee went to Priddy Monday and held an immunization clinic, in which 80 children were made immune from contagious diseases. A physician and health nurse administered the serum and there was a general co-operation with the work by the community.

Other clinics are to be held in the county and communities or school authorities who desire these immunization clinics should communicate with the county health committee, of which Mrs. Roy Rowntree is chairman. The Goldthwaite clinic is to be held today and one has been arranged jointly by Prairie, Pompey Mountain and Pompey Creek schools, which will likely be held at Prairie, also the date and other details are not yet known.

The Mullin date has not yet been set, although it is known there will be an immunization clinic held there soon and this is also true of several other communities and schools.

ART AND CIVIC CLUB

As hostess to the Art and Civic Club Mrs. Carl Keese added an interesting affair to the calendar last Thursday, 19, by entertaining the club in the lovely home of Mrs. Floyd Ligon.

Mrs. Roy Rowntree, as leader, gave a very beneficial word drill and talk on citizenship. An excellent paper on constant constructive citizenship was read by Mrs. Fred Martin. Mrs. McCullough had an interesting quiz on citizenship. The poem, Fellowship, by Riley, read by Mrs. Brim, added the last touch to a perfect program.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ligon, served delicious refreshment to the club members and following guests: Mmes. E. B. Anderson, Earl Summy, Weyman Harvey, DeAlbert Trent, John Hester, John Keese, Clarence Cave and W. W. Stephens.

CLASS MEETING

The Philathea Sunday school class held their monthly business meeting in the home of the president, Mrs. Dan Yates, on Monday night.

There was a good attendance and many of the members came in Halloween "Spooky" costumes. There was lots of fun caused by these disguises, and no one could guess who they were, until time for refreshments, then they were eager to remove false faces to be able to partake of the delicious pumpkin pie, topped with whipped cream and iced grape punch, was served by Mmes. Yates, Moreland and Featherston.

A business meeting was held and the regular routine gone through. Much business was attended to and dues paid.

A jolly good time was had by all.

Methodist Notes

Since writing my last effusion I have been hobnobbing with the great and near great. I went to San Antonio and attended the meeting of the West Texas Conference. It is going to be rather hard on me to get back to normalcy after such associations. I must confess that I am feeling well after the trip, except that my neck is sore from the effort in looking at skyscrapers, my feet are somewhat out of sorts by the exercise of dodging traffic and my head swollen to a greater or less degree from association with the aristocrats. It was a great pleasure, however, to meet so many old friends. Some of those whom I knew in the years past have passed on, some linger in the active ranks and some, like myself, show the weatherbeaten signs which go with the calendar.

I find that the influence of the Goldthwaite Methodist church is rather extensive in its work for good. I met a lady, a stranger, who told me that she was reared in Goldthwaite. Her father was once superintendent of the Sunday school here. She is one of the leaders in our church at Nixon. When she told me that her father was laid to rest in our cemetery, that his name was C. P. Beatty, I remembered that he was buried from the church here while I was pastor, and that the Rev. George W. Templin preached his funeral, and that I was present at the service. So, our membership scatters, but they carry on at some other place, and thus the local church becomes a blessing to people who do not come under its direct influence.

Our pastor, Rev. S. O. Hammond, leaves us for Sterling City, where he takes up the responsibility of the pastorate there. The best wishes of our people go with him.

The itinerant system of the Methodist church works many hardships. An experience of many years taught me that. There are always heartbreaking experiences in severing the strong friendships formed in even a short pastorate. But there is a rich compensation in the fact that no Methodist preacher in the effective ministry, is ever left without employment. He may not get what he would really desire, and in many instances his appointment is a distinct disappointment to him and his family, but he always has a place to serve. His salary may not be what he would desire, many times really inadequate, but he has a place to preach, a people to love and who love him. Then there is joy in the fact that he has a support of some kind, and while it may not be what he desires, it is much better than to sit down and wait for a call that may be long delayed. We were told in the daily papers a few days since that there were thousands of preachers, many of them men of ability, now in the breadline of some of our great cities. It is a joy to be able to say that these are not Methodist preachers.

The Rev. Mr. Highsmith has been appointed pastor of our church here. I met him at conference, after it was known that he was to come here. He comes to us from Junction. What does he look like? I have been asked. Well, it will be more satisfactory to your curiosity to come to church Sunday and hear him and see him. Let us give him a brotherly welcome the first service, and then see to it that we do not then go on an eleven months vacation.

Bishop Hughes tells a story that might be appropos. A man of rather irregular antecedents and still poorer practices, went up to St. Peter's gate and sought admission. His claim to admittance was not the most plausible and Peter told him he could not be admitted. At this announcement the man flopped his arms and crowed like a rooster. "Ah, well, now," said Peter. "Come on in; let by gones be by gones."

The application is the last part of this sentence. J. S. BOWLES

Fifth Sunday Meeting Held

The fifth Sunday meeting was fine in spirit. It was pretty well attended. There was something like a third of those on the program present. It seems that we could improve on this. Dr. Hornberg of Brownwood brought a fine sermon Saturday. The ladies at Caradan entertained in a great way. The meeting was well attended Sunday. The ladies had a fine program Sunday afternoon. The next meeting will be held at North Bennett. The preachers are especially urged to be present. If a fifth Sunday meeting is worth having it is certainly worth the consideration of the pastors. If it isn't worth having, the pastors should certainly take the lead in doing away with it. REPORTER

Minister's Tea Postponed

The Minister's Tea that was to have been presented at the school auditorium tonight has been postponed until next Friday night, November 10.

SELF CULTURE CLUB

The regular meeting of the club was held in the club room on Thursday afternoon, October 26. Thirteen members and one associate member answered to roll call with various subjects chosen for the year's roll calls.

Mrs. Marvin Rudd was leader for the afternoon and the subject was "The English Lake Region." Mrs. W. K. Marshall gave a most interesting description of the country around Cumberland and Westmoreland. The "Lake Poets" by Mrs. J. C. Evans was enjoyed by all and gave us a better understanding of Wordsworth, Southey and Coleridge.

Mrs. J. A. Hester gave readings from "Wordsworth's Pastoral Poems."

The club room was beautiful with fall roses and potted plants and the meeting was inspirational to all.

It is with regret that we learn that Mrs. S. O. Hammond is moving away from us. We shall miss her in our club.

We adjourned to meet again November 9. REPORTER

High School Honor Roll
With the close of the first six weeks work in high school the following pupils have a place on the honor roll, meaning that they made not less than B in any subject:

Freshmen: Vivian Cortis, Agnes Johnson, Mary Horton, Lottie Belle Hester, Louise Gartman, Jimmie Frizzell, Forest Hill, Clara York.

Sophomores: Aileen Martin, Clara Bowman, Sarah Fairman.

Juniors: Lawrence Biedsoe. Seniors: Charline Brim, Geneva Greathouse, Alvin Caraway, Geneva Sparkman, Geraldine Hester.

In addition to appearing on the honor roll above the following pupils made straight A cards: Aileen Martin, Clara Bowman and Sarah Fairman.

Summary of High School Grades
Report cards were issued to all high school pupils last Monday. A summary of the grades reveals the following: A total of 623 cards were issued. Of this number 31 were A, 206 were B, 284 were C, 97 were D, and 10 were E. A further analysis shows that 87 per cent were passing grades and 17 per cent were failing grades.

The number of passing and failing grades is a matter that merits the attention of everybody. Parents are interested in the progress their children are making. Everyone is interested in the efficiency of the school organization. It costs about $5 per month to teach high school pupils. When 17 per cent of them are making failing grades you can see there is a waste. In the interest of efficiency and economy, you as parents, can help a lot by insisting on your boys and girls doing better work. Your teachers are doing all they can to get good work done. "Come over into Macedonia and help us."

Press Club
The following named pupils are acting in the various capacities named as news gatherers for this column. It is due to their ambition and perseverance that you read of the happenings of the school each week.

The above named group will form the nucleus of a Press club. Others will be added to the list as occasion demands.

Second Grade Wins Prize
The P. T. A. offered a prize to the room having the largest percentage of enrollment in the Halloween parade. The second grade was fortunate in having 25 present out of 35 pupils enrolled in the room.

The children who attended the parade had a dandy time, and of course, glad that we received the prize.

The Boys' Club
The Boys' club meets twice a week. In the first meeting we got Aubrey Smith elected for our president and Fred Marshall as our vice president and Pat Obenhaus as the secretary.

We have no colors or flower set, but we have some one to get them.

We first took Byrd to talk about and then Pasteur.

We think we will have a good year and be happy with each other.

Sponsors for Football Queen
The high school classes met Tuesday at 10 o'clock to nominate a candidate to be in the run-off for football queen. The football queen will kick off to Lampasas Friday, October 3, at 4 o'clock, to inaugurate the first conference game played by the Eagles on their home field.

CENTER CITY SCHOOL NEWS

If you were not at Mullin on Tuesday night you missed some very interesting and exciting basket ball games. Mullin beat Prairie first. Center City beat Pompey and then came the final game between Mullin and Center City! At the half the scores were in favor of Mullin, but the Rangers went back in with a determination to win and the final score was 33 to 18, giving the victory to Center City.

The pupils of the third, fourth and fifth grades of our school have been making such low grades Miss Keese conceived a plan to encourage them to study more and she found the plan to be a success. Each day she writes the names and grades of the pupils on a card and puts it on the bulletin board, which is where everyone will be sure to see it. Mr. Neighbors is thinking of trying this plan on some of his high school pupils.

The girls and also the boys are to play the teams at Indian Gap next Friday. Come out and help support your team. This will be the first game for the girls this season.

Mr. Kirby's room had charge of chapel last Monday morning. An interesting program was rendered and we were sorry so few parents attended. Mr. Neighbors' room will entertain next Monday morning. Come and let the big folk show you how well they can entertain.

Miss Keese has already started work on the one act play for the contest. Two groups are working on the same play. An elimination contest is to be held soon to see which group will represent us at the contest.

Mr. Kirby has promised a big red apple to each ball player on our team if they win at Indian Gap Friday. We feel sure that the boys will do their very best with this reward awaiting them.

GLEE CLUB ENTERTAINMENT

Last Saturday night the Glee Club girls of Star sponsored a party at the school house, which everyone present enjoyed. The Center City band furnished plenty of good music.

A room was fixed as the scene of a murder and was real interesting. Games were played, popcorn and candy were sold in order to raise money for expenses.

The Glee Club appreciates the interest that everyone showed in order to help them. REPORTER

Big Increase In Cotton

The census department reports a compilation of ginners figures for this county shows 6116 bales of cotton were ginned up to October 13, as compared to 3661 bales up to the same date last year.

The reports for Texas show the crop far ahead of last year and approximately the same as 1931. These figures show the benefits of the plow up campaign.

REV. HAMMOND MOVES

Rev. S. O. Hammond and family expect to leave today for their new home at Sterling City, where he has been assigned to the pastorate of the Methodist church for this conference year. They leave many friends here who wish them the best of fortune in their new home and are pleased that he has been given such a nice work. Sterling City church pays the pastor more salary than the Goldthwaite church pays. They have a brick church building estimated to be worth $30,000, and they also have a pipe organ. The town is the county seat of Sterling county and is the largest town in that county, while the Methodist church membership is large. CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION

There is widespread complaint over the cost of government and various remedies are offered, but none seem to reach the vital spot. The seat of the trouble lies in the growing delinquent tax lists in the state and many of its subdivisions. Government authorities can not calculate with any degree of certainty on the amount of funds that will be available, for they have no way of knowing the amount of assessments that will be delinquent. To be sure, they have statistics, but those statistics are not dependable to the extent that appropriations can be made with certainty. Hence, the plan that is almost universally adopted is to place the rate high enough to allow for an overwhelming delinquency in tax payments and yet provide sufficient funds to pay expenses. By this method an unfair burden must be placed on the backs of those who pay their taxes. In one school district, in a nearby county, it is said that there is enough money due the district on the delinquent tax list to run the school a full term without assessing another penny, but this amount will not be paid, or rather a good portion of it will not be paid, therefore, the rate must be increased on those who do pay. There is in reality no reason for the burden of taxes being so heavy if some method could be found whereby collections could be made. The regular payers have a right to protest the increasing inclination to pass the delinquencies on to those who pay their taxes, thereby forcing them to pay double the amount that would be required of them if all who are due taxes were forced to pay. Again, it can not be claimed that the unpaid taxes are due by the poorer people or the smaller tax payers, for statistics prove that the reverse is true. Every county and every community should have an organization of taxpayers pledged to pay their own taxes and assist in collecting from others in their districts. In that way they can secure a reduction in their taxes, but not otherwise, for the government must of necessity be supported and if only a few citizens will pay their taxes, then a sufficient amount must be collected from them to pay the governmental and school expenses.

A SERIOUS PROBLEM

The federal government's effort to reduce the cotton crop for the next year, by retiring 40 per cent of the acreage heretofore devoted to cotton, has developed a very serious situation in regard to the tenant farmers. It is easy enough to arrange with the landowner for the retirement of his land from cultivation, giving him either rental or a guarantee of prices for some other crop, but the tenant farmer is in a very different situation and his condition is quite serious and alarming. Especially is this true in the states where cotton growing has been given almost the entire attention of the farmers and many families have known no other crop than cotton and no other labor than that of cultivating and gathering cotton. This is one crop, and possibly the only one, in the territories heretofore devoted to cotton, where the children of the family can do a lot of the work and help in the family support, as well as provide necessities and comforts for themselves. To have this opportunity to provide for themselves and assist in the support of the family taken from them by one edict is indeed serious. On the other hand, a reduction of the cotton crop seems absolutely necessary in order that the cost of production may be covered, hence a gigantic undertaking is before the government in equalizing the differences between tenant, landlord and the markets. The tenant has no organization to look out for him and if the government does not provide for his protection then his condition becomes most pitiable. The average tenant farmer does not want charity or a government dole, but he does want an opportunity to work and provide for his family and the only line of labor many of them know is the cultivation of cotton. No question has arisen in the effort to bring the country back to normalcy that requires more concern or offers a bigger problem for the administration.

CODES AND POLICIES

The matter of codes and policies for all lines of business throughout the country has held the public attention for a long time, yet it is doubtful if anybody understands the requirements of these codes, even those affected, and sure it is that they are not generally understood. There are exceptions for some lines and some conditions and it now appears that the time for which the plan of business control was intended will have passed before the system is in thorough working order. The statement by President Roosevelt that the requirements do not apply to communities of less than 2500 population does not relieve the situation to any considerable extent, as far as the public understanding is concerned, especially when there are specific codes either in force or proposed for almost every line of business in those communities. William Randolph Hearst, one of the best known editors, as well as the owner of the largest string of newspapers in the world, said in a signed editorial in his papers last Sunday, that the plan of business control was an undue interference with the public and he urged newspapers everywhere to protest its application, but there will be few to accept his advice, since few if any of them know just what conditions are to be faced. The greatest service that could be rendered to the public and the business interests, as well, would be to make clear through the press and by other means just what the requirements are and what rights those affected have in opposing or obeying them.

SELF INTEREST PROTECTED

It is to every citizen's interest to build his home community by patronizing his home dealers in the lines of merchandise he has to buy. It is not alone a matter of giving patronage to his local business men because they are his neighbors and friends, but it is protection of his own interests. If one can go or send away for articles of merchandise he needs, surely his neighbor has the same right, then if all should pursue that policy soon the smaller towns would be closed and all business would have to go to the larger cities. This would mean great inconvenience as well as the closing of local markets for produce and property values would be reduced in the same proportion. It is not so much a matter of patriotism or good will to the local merchant, but a more important matter of self interest to give patronage to local dealers, where it is possible to do so.

SERVICE CLUBS NEEDED

In many quarters the idea prevails that service clubs are formed for a good time for their members and to provide for frivolities, but nothing could be further from the real condition. Service or civic clubs are in the same class with schools and churches and have as their basic objects the betterment of conditions in their home communities and the improvement of the citizenship. Any town where a number of these organizations exist is sure to be a better town than one where there are no such clubs to foster the civic interests and look to the welfare of the community generally.

KEEPING UP WITH TEXAS

CONDITIONS IN TEXAS

The Santa Fe railroad bulletin upon conditions in Texas, says:

Weather conditions in Texas during the past month were generally favorable to growing crops.

Despite the fact that a severe infestation of insects was reported throughout the state, cotton is making better than a normal yield, unit production being higher than at any time in 20 years. Weevils are puncturing late bolls as soon as they appear, hence there will be no top crop this season. More than three-fourths of the crop has been ginned, the bulk of production being sold as soon as ginned. Although one-fourth of the acreage was destroyed in the government acreage control program, the state will produce in excess of 4,000,000 bales, compared with 4,500,000 bales in 1932.

Rice harvesting is rapidly drawing to a close, with unit production higher than any in recent years. Production will amount to 7,500,000 bushels.

Sweet potato production is considerable above normal, although 10 per cent below that of last year.

The condition of wheat in the northwest area is spotted and not very encouraging. Probably a third of the seed sown has not yet sprouted, due to dry weather.

Turkeys are making satisfactory gains, and are expected to continue to show improvement. The number of birds will approximate that of last season, although a scarcity of feed and water during the summer caused delayed gainings. With abundance of feed and water available at the present time in connection with cool evenings, birds are rapidly putting on additional weight.

Pastures and ranges are showing daily improvement, and unless killing frosts occur soon sufficient grass will be made for winter needs. Cattle have held up well despite poor range conditions in late summer. A scarcity of feed is reported over a large part of the state, and there will be less feeding this winter than heretofore. Apparently there will be an abundance of rough feed in the northwest.

THE VALUE OF SPARE MOMENTS

(By J. J. Montgomery)

Many people, assign as a reason for not accomplishing more in the world that they are tied down by routine toil, to such an extent that they have no time for self culture or doing anything for the uplift of humanity. If we look closely into it, we will find that all of those people have spare moments which are absolutely wasted. If each moment was utilized to a good purpose, there could be more accomplished in the course of a year than we can imagine.

We often hear the expression, "We are just passing away the time." They have neither recreation, rest or amusement, but just get rid of time. When life is so short, we do not know how best to utilize its precious hours, it is a crime to simply murder them. When we have had long mental work, it is then a rest to do some physical work, and those whose principal occupation is physical labor, should find it restful to exercise the mind.

One who is really in earnest about self-improvement, will not fail to find that there are many odd moments of the day which may be used to advantage, and if not neglected, will give one a chance of stepping up and out into a broader field.

Two young people start out in life with apparently equal equipment, and their chances of success seem so nicely balanced that one can hardly predict which will outstrip the other. Watch them as the years slip by. You will discover that one remains stationary; he makes no progress; younger men pass him in the eager race of life; he grows rusty and behind the times. The other gains, little by little, each foothold being kept as it is gained, each advance making sure of another in due time. His motto might be, "Without haste and without waste," for he never seems hurried or worried or preoccupied, but no point once won is ever lost, for he is bent on making every talent

Health Hint

OVERHEATING

"With the cold months almost here, it is again in order to advise regarding inside temperature. Undoubtedly thousands of homes are constantly overheated during the winter. In fact, there are many families who tolerate an indoor temperature in the cold months to which they would do strenuously object in summer. Such persons not only are uneconomical with the coal pile, but are endangering their health as well," states Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer.

"People enjoying an overheated temperature become soft and with bodily pores behaving, however, imperceptibly as they do in summer time, the system is at a decided disadvantage in defending itself against the sudden change from a tropical or sub-tropical heat to the penetrating cold.

"Consequently colds, bronchial troubles and pneumonia, taking advantage of the situation, step in and do much unnecessary, and not infrequently, fatal damage. You will agree that this is entirely too high a price to pay for a few extra degrees of unneeded heat.

"For example, a certain family typical of many hundreds, has again started on its annual program of colds and sore throats. However, this does not alter its affection for super heat. Sixty-eight to 70 degrees is the health temperature. A thermometer kept within that range, plus proper humidity, is a great health safeguard. More than are doing so need to erect it. What does your thermometer read?"

THE REALM OF SCIENCE

LARGER TREES IN MAKING

With the aid of X-rays and hyperdermic needles scientists in California are breeding new trees, said to be better for man's use than anything Nature ever produced, looking to the time when forests may grow twice as fast as now and be of superior quality.

Breeding trees like race horses and prize pumpkins, by crossing specially selected breeds, they are seeking to produce timber that will grow to saw-log size of 80 feet in length and 16 inches in thickness in 25 years, half the time it now takes.

The new trees, different from any ever seen on earth before, are being developed at the Institute of Forest Genetics at Placerville. Results of the research are for use of all timber growers. Lloyd Austin is director of the institute, and Professor Walter Mulford of the University of California, is president of its board of trustees.

Professor Mulford estimates it will cost only about one-third as much to grow a crop of trees maturing in 25 years as it does to raise a 50 year crop, initial costs being equal. Development of fast growing trees, it is believed, will encourage individual landowners to reforest their lands. — The Earth.

serve him, and he goes on conquering by patient, well doing. He does not lose off moments. He is on hand when he is wanted. His pluck, diligence and fidelity stand him in good stead.

It behooves all of us to use the spare moments of our lives for useful purposes. Far be it from me to urge on any young man or woman that breathless and rushing sort of effort that takes no note of the need of recreation or leaves no space for meditation or mirth. Odd moments are not wasted that are given to resting when one is tired or quietly thinking over the things we have read. Idleness or inertia are very different from leisure or introspection. The latter have their beautiful uses, the former are dead weights on progress. Neither do I object to harmless fun as that is one of the things that keeps our minds clear and prolongs our lives. "All work and no play," is bad for old as well as young. Then let us be up and doing, no matter what our labor may be during the day, seize every idle moment for culture or doing some act that will make the world better.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEWES OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

APPROACHING THE COURT TEST

It was inevitable that the validity of the national recovery act should be determined by the courts.

The blanket code accepted by most firms purely as a matter of voluntary co-operation with President Roosevelt was never meant as anything but a temporary expedient to fill the gap until the permanent codes for the various industries, as provided by the national recovery act, could be elaborated and put in effect.

If the test is made in action against Henry Ford, that probably will be desirable since in that case the fundamental issues will be clear. They will not be clouded by accusations that Mr. Ford is trying to chisel down wages or chisel up profits, that he insists on working his employees overtime, or that he imposes on the consuming public. As a matter of fact the consuming public, not to mention the entire automobile industry of the world, owe him so much that government action against him on any grounds must appear, in some degree, regrettable.

However, the fundamental issue of the government's right to compel an industry to recognize employee organizations, its right to require furnishing of business information to a central association of the competitors in an industry, even where one leader, such as Mr. Ford, considers most of his competitors definitely in alliance against him, will be brought clearly to the test.

In the end the right of government to control private business in this fashion is the foundation of the NRA. The right must exist else we can have nothing more than a general public opinion support of the president's codes.

It is conceivable that the courts will hold the government has the needed authority in time of great emergency, but not at other times. Thus far most constitutional questions raised concerning the recovery legislation have centered about the question of rights during an emergency. A decision on this will, in itself, have great significance for the future of America, but still more significant will be the decision that some day doubtless must be rendered as to whether the control of business now undertaken can be continued after the emergency passes.

The outcome will be awaited with deepest interest by every student of American affairs. The sooner it can be reached the sooner will the battle lines begin to form over the nature of the future America. — Houston Chronicle.

TO MAKE LIFE WORTHWHILE

"The sum of it all," declares Newton D. Baker, "is that the government is now committed to the task of making life possible. We private individuals must unite to make life worthwhile!"

That is an accurate and illuminating statement of the facts before us. The government will feed and clothe the needy. It proposes to do the essential material things necessary to carrying the population through this time of economic disorder. But it leaves, and definitely announces that it leaves, the further succor of the needy to private individuals.

In a hundred ways our social agencies must serve the unfortunate and underprivileged, the afflicted, the aged, the dependent. We have it in the past. It has been to the credit of our civilization that we have been able to do more and more of it. We must continue to do it. The duty now is more important than ever, there are more social and human values to conserve, more individuals to save from demoralization and despair and possible criminality.

Truly, while the government will see that no man or woman starves, while it will see that life is made possible for them, it is up to us as private individuals to see that life is made worthwhile for them. There must be some pride in them, there must be some character, there must be some hope of the future, some chance for happiness.

In a way our task is more important than that of the government. — Houston Chronicle.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

Probably Senator Schall of Minnesota is unnecessarily pessimistic when he says that the beginning of next year will end the freedom of the press in the United States and inaugurate a program of government censorship which will mean "the destruction of all newspapers that attempt to criticize the gods controlling our national political administration." These are times of change and upheaval, but it is unbelievable that the American public will tolerate the muzzling of free discussion of its affairs.

But Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the Columbia University school of journalism recognizes a real danger in the use which may be made of new ways and means of arousing public opinion and emotion. The voice of radio and the visual arguments of the motion picture screen, he says, can be easily brought under government control.

Freedom of the press includes not only the newspapers' right to print the news and discuss it, but also the public's right to reflect upon what is printed. The printed word permits a kind of consideration which can not be given to the unanswerable voice of the motion picture screen. The appeal of these is emotional rather than reasonable, and is so regarded by those who make most effective use of them. Dean Ackerman goes so far as to say that General Johnson has used them already to "sway the masses by fear," as they have certainly served to arouse an emotional enthusiasm for the NRA and its works.

It may be added that the newspapers offer the only remaining form of free public discussion. Any American can write to his newspaper and speak his mind in print. These rights and privileges may not be so seriously threatened as Senator Schall believes. But the best defense for them is the general recognition and reaffirmation of their purpose. Not even in a time of national emergency can they be safely sacrificed to expediency or subordinated to political authority. — Philadelphia Public Ledger.

PREVENTION IS BETTER

It is nothing new for doctors to prevent disease. The Chinese inaugurated the prevention system centuries ago, by paying the doctor to keep them well rather than to cure them when they got sick. It may be that the ancient maxim, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," originated with some heathen Chinese. Those people have been good at thinking up bright things to say. Read Confucius, who was a smart man, although we doubt if he was any part of a god. But it is not so much the duty of the doctor as it is the duty of the individual to prevent himself from getting sick. If he overeats, over drinks, over smokes or over works, disease may fall him. The easiest risk to avoid is overwork. Many Americans, perhaps fewer Chinese, die from overeating, while hardly any keel over from over exhaustion brought upon them by unremitting labor. Food temperance, drink temperance, work temperance all tend to promote good health. Prevention of disease is largely a matter of self government. — State Press in Dallas News.

COLLUSION IS CHARGED

If Washington had a speck of humor it would be chuckling at the drop in the bucket as compared to that lost to the genteel fountain pen bandits. Mr. Eastman is getting really hard, you know, with the steel companies because when he opened their competitive bids on new steel rails—which Uncle Sam is to finance for the railroads of America—he found every single bid at $37.75 a ton.

Mr. Eastman fairly shrieked at that. The reporters came running at the uproar and got a fine front page story about the collusion between the steel companies. They bore "unmistakable evidence," said Mr. Eastman, speaking of the bids, "of prior consultation and collusion." The joke about that is that here Uncle Sam is about to excommunicate poor old Henry Ford because he won't consult and collude! — Dallas Journal.

THE FARM STRIKE

A dual misconception, it seems to us, is at the bottom of such mass actions as the farm strike which is now in progress in certain wheat and hog states. The are based on the assumption that some other part of the population is responsible for the plight of the farmer and, therefore, can be forced by such methods to relieve that plight, and on the further assumption that the government has it in its power to bring about sudden improvement of the farmer's condition and that it can be coerced into doing this.

It need hardly be said that the methods employed can not possibly accomplish anything for the farmers generally. We do not think that either President Roosevelt or Secretary Wallace need to be coerced into doing a in their power to relieve the plight of the farmers. They may adopt mistaken policies, to be sure, and they may fail to adopt measures better calculated to remedy conditions. But there can be no question about their sincere desire to provide relief. The need no coercion on that score. And coercion in a matter of judgment is not to be tolerated. Of course, coercion of the government in any circumstance should not be countenanced. But the only difference that can exist between the strikers and the president is over the question of the proper measures to be employed and not over the object to be attained.

As to the proper measures to be employed, it is worthy to remark that the farm strike is most widespread in the very region in which the ideas embodied in the administration's agricultural program originated. The subsidizing of acreage curtailment by means of a domestic allotment financed by processing taxes was demanded by the very farmers who are now on strike. Their leaders told them that would bring parity prices and perform other economic miracle. The administration gave them what they demanded. But the miracles have not materialized. Now they blame the administration. They demand the miracle they were promised. Meantime the idea of doing everything possible to remove trade barriers, and open the markets of the world remains neglected by both the farmers and the administration. Secretary Wallace himself has told the farmers frankly that it has been their attitude toward such questions as tariff war debts and international cooperation generally that has brought about their present plight and has prevented any effective action to relieve it. As long as the farmers and other Americans show no interest in attempting to revive the commerce of the world and to restore the foreign markets for American products, Secretary Wallace has said in effect, such restrictive programs as that of the administration will be necessary. And farm strikes will no change that situation. — Texas Weekly.

CONTRACTS AND ROBBERS

Keep in mind that the man who shoves a fountain pen in your hand and says "sign here please" may be robbing you more effectively than if he stuck a gun under your nose and said "Stick 'em up." Indeed the money lost to recognized banditry is only a drop in the bucket as compared to that lost to the genteel fountain pen bandits.

True the pen is mightier than the sword and more dangerous if misused. On the other hand loss through fraudulent contracts is small as compared to the amount of business transacted satisfactorily by contracts. Indeed it is this very thing that makes people careless in signing contracts.

No person should sign a contract without reading it, even the fine print, and understanding it thoroughly. Don't ever trust the verbal promise of a stranger. Make him write it in the contract. If it is anything you don't understand ask some good advice and do not sign until you do. Keep always in mind that you are bound by your signature. — Nebraska Farmer.

Hamilton

The first all-county teachers meeting will be held in Hamilton on Saturday, November 4, at 10 o'clock at the high school auditorium. Every teacher in the county is expected to be present and a profitable session of the educators is promised by the leaders.

Hon. Tom L. Blanton, representative from Texas in the United States congress from the new district 17, came to Hamilton Saturday to make the acquaintance of the people of this section. He spoke in the district court room at one o'clock and was given audience by a large assemblage of people of the county, all of whom gave to him a cordial reception and a respectful and appreciative hearing.

A deplorable accident occurred near the Cotton Belt station early Saturday morning, Oct. 21, when "Col." J. J. Kelly, 37 years of age, sustained critical injuries. He was struck down by a delivery car, driven by "Cooney" Young of this city. The delivery boy for the Tom Davis meat market, backed out from the rear of the Fred Fetty cafe. Col. Kelly was crossing the station grounds, and being a little hard of hearing, did not notice the truck in time to escape.

James Kunkel, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kunkel of the Shive country, was brought to the Hamilton sanitarium Saturday suffering from the poison of a rattlesnake bite on the left hand. He was given treatment and began improving immediately though he remained in the hospital for several days, and is now fully recovered.

The little boy was playing on a small rock pile in the yard at his home in the late hours of the day, when bitten by the reptile.

A tragedy of untold horror occurred last Monday afternoon between one and two o'clock when Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Walker, who live on the Pedro Jones farm one mile south of Lanham, noticed their car, which was occupied by their two small children, Mary Lou, age 3, and Jerry Ben, age 1, to be on fire. The flames had gained such headway by the time Mr. Walker reached the car that the babies were burned to death, the bodies being almost completely destroyed. The father's hands were badly burned in his effort to rescue the little bodies. The Ford touring car, which it is supposed had a short circuit in the ignition, was burned completely to the ground.—Record-Herald.

LOW MORTALITY RATE IN C.C.C. CAMPS

Hq. Texas District, C.C.C., Fort Sam Houston, Texas, Capt. M. Y. Stokes, jr., MI-Res., Public Relations Officer.

For Sam Houston, Texas, Oct. 29.—With only two deaths in the Texas district C. C. C., during the first enrollment period, district and camp officials are beginning the second period with plans to reduce still further this exceptionally low mortality rate during the present period, which commenced October 1. Approximately 4800 men were enrolled in the 24 work camps in the Texas district, but there were only two deaths, one accidental (due to an enrollee diving into shallow water) and the other from pneumonia. Although one camp in the district had a near epidemic of typhoid fever with 29 cases placed in the station hospital at Fort Sam Houston, there were no fatalities. There were two deaths in the first period due to accidents in line of duty.

Col. L. Brechemin, jr., M. C. commander of the 2nd medical regiment, and Major J. D. Minog, M. C., are the district's medical officer and assistant medical officer, respectively. The medical officer for sub-district No. 1, with headquarters at Lufkin, Texas, is Major Wm. M. White, M. C. Major E. G. Reinartz, M. C., is medical officer for sub-district No. 2, with headquarters at Cleburne, Texas. Camp surgeons include regular army medical officers, reserve medical officers and full and part time contract surgeons.

Four ambulances are employed in transporting serious cases of sickness or accident from the camps to the station hospital at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, or in emergencies, to the Marine hospital at Galveston, Texas, the hospital at Barksdale Field, Shreveport, or to nearby civilian hospitals.

A high degree of co-operation in hygiene and sanitation has been secured from the C.C.C. enrollees by camp commanders and surgeons. Talks and demonstrations on first aid and personal hygiene are given frequently in each camp with gratifying results. Particular attention is paid to health conditions when reconnaissances are made of new camp sites, and no site is approved if any doubt exists as to its healthfulness. With disapproval and camp officials working towards a common end, the second enrollment period of the C. C. C. in the Texas district is expected to set another gratifying record of good health and low mortality.

HERE AND THERE

World consumption of American cotton decreased somewhat in September, due entirely to a drop in domestic use, but was larger than a year ago and much greater than either two or three years ago.

A "blind spot" which prevented plane pilots of an air circus from seeing each other was credited with having been the cause of a crash over Amarillo Sunday, which killed three men and injured a fourth so seriously he died next day.

Seven hundred young couples from Rome and 1800 from the central provinces were married simultaneously Sunday morning in Italy, in celebration of a new Fascist rite, "the consecration of nuptiality," created by Premier Mussolini to encourage larger population.

Massed forces of police Monday in Detroit overtook rioters numbered by officials at 2500 and arrested six men after the mob had raided seven shops where a tool and die makers' strike is in progress, smashing windows, overturning automobiles and burning blueprints and drawings. The arrests came after the police, armed with tear gas bombs and night sticks, had pursued the rioters through the manufacturing section as they swung from one factory to another in several hundred automobiles.

A Cheerful Homemade Game Room

THE game room, shown above, is an excellent example of what is being done with basements, upstairs "over the garage," and other previously unused places. In this case the room was made out of what once was a hay loft. Lacquered fabric was used to lower the ceiling, making the temperature better in summer and winter and giving a resemblance to a marquee.

Floor cushions, ottomans, pillows on the divan, and cushions on the wicker pieces and day beds are Fabrikoid covered as is a three-paneled screen used to conceal the coat room and main entrance. The ceiling is light green, walls buff, and the wood trim all red. All furniture is black and all upholstery red. Tinted shades with a stenciled toy design are used and the curtains of light rayon let in plenty of sunshine.

A unique feature of the room is the decoration of the walls, consisting of colorful pictures from the covers of current magazines, making an amusing and interesting background. The room serves as a game room for both the youngsters and the older folks.

BETTER LIGHT / BETTER SIGHT

Check Your Children's Eyesight by the 14-Inch Rule

WATCH your children while they read or study in the evening. If they hold their books closer than fourteen inches from their eyes, it is a danger sign, a warning that vision is hampered.

The reason is obvious. Ordinary type is designed to be read at a distance of fourteen inches, the normal reading distance. When light is inadequate, however, it becomes more difficult to see clearly at this distance. The tendency of the reader, therefore, is to compensate for the deficiency by bringing the book closer to his eyes. A bad habit results. Nearsightedness may develop... or the eyes may otherwise be permanently injured.

The remedy is better lighting... an increase in illumination that will enable children to read at normal distance without strain. Such an improvement costs but a few pennies per month... and may save many dollars in optician's bills. Let us help you with your lighting problems.

"That is my brother," answered Mr. Hale.

Miss Piper was very embarrassed and Mr. Hale enjoyed her discomfort, when she suddenly said, "Of course! How silly of me not to see the resemblance!"

Ogle: It's a hen.

Edna: Oh, I think you are lots better looking than your daddy.

Lacy: I ought to be, I'm a later model.

Eagles vs. Lampasas
Today at 4 o'clock the Eagles will have a chance to gain back some of their lost hopes. This game is their last chance to stay in the running for this end of the district.

San Saba beat Brady last Friday, which gives them one victory and no defeats. Brady has one victory and one defeat. Goldthwaite has one defeat and no victory. The Eagles must, therefore, beat Lampasas and San Saba for a three-way tie in this end of the district.

The Eagles received a hard defeat at the hands of the Santa Anna team last Friday. The first half of the game was good football with the score 6-0 in the Eagles' favor, but the last half the Eagles let the Santa Anna team start a race track, and the score ended 31-6 in favor of Santa Anna.

Choral Club
The Choral Club met Monday afternoon for a very sad cause. Our president read a message from our director, Mrs. Fred Martin, saying that she could not be with us any longer, because of ill health.

Mrs. Martin has had charge of the high school glee club for four years and especially those who are seniors know that we have lost a dear teacher. She was always kind and always had a smile for everyone.

The glee club and her friends all sincerely hope, that after a few months rest she will be able to be back with us again.

Senior Class Meets
Tuesday, October 30, the senior class met for the purpose of selecting a name for the school column. As the school column is sponsored by the senior class, it was the class' privilege to select a name. It was decided that each student should hand the editor-in-chief, Beulah Thompson, their selection of a title. Three judges were chosen by Miss Brim and Mr. Smith to select the best name, and as the judges decision has not yet been made, the name will not appear at the head of the columns until the next issue.

Junior Class Meets
Thursday, October 2, 1933, the junior class met in the so-called home room and discussed the object of this meeting. For the last few years the juniors have not ordered class pins and we wanted to renew this old idea again this year. Most all the members of the class thought it was a clever idea and wanted pins. However, we adjourned from that meeting without a complete decision.

Tuesday, October 31, 1933, the class met again and about fifteen members intend to get junior pins. We are all proud of the fact that we are juniors and want to emphasize it by wearing pins.

The junior class is behind Gertrude Johnson—who was elected to represent us for the sponsorship of the Goldthwaite Eagles, 100 per cent. Everyone vote for Gertrude.

After much discussion in each class the following representatives were selected: Connie Trent, freshman; Juanita Rudd, sophomore; Daphane Evans, junior and Gerry Hester, senior.

The votes cost a penny each and the members of each class did all they could to get their representative elected. The contest closed Saturday night at 8 o'clock and when the votes were counted it was found that Juanita Rudd, sophomore representative, had been elected.

At the close of the carnival, Juanita took her place on the throne and was crowned queen of Halloween from the realm of High school. Mr. Smith presided

On Wednesday, October 25, the Spanish club met for the purpose of selecting a name, colors and a motto. The name selected for the club was Los Despertadores, which means the Alarm Clocks. We hope to live up to our name and let the high school know we have a club. Our colors of red, white and green are colors of the Mexican flag, and they are in perfect harmony with our name. Our motto is "That which is well learned is not forgotten."

After choosing our name, colors and motto, we selected Monday for our regular meeting day. We will meet twice every six weeks. Under the leadership of Miss Brim, we are sure to succeed in all we undertake.

The last booth in this corridor was the vaudeville booth. Miss Mary Bowles and Mrs. Carlos Patterson presided here. The first two numbers were songs by a cowboy and cowgirl. Next came a dancing number and then two readings. Next were the two negro lovebirds and a chorus, and last, the grand finale.

Sport News

The Priddy indoor baseball boys are preparing for the game that they are planning to have Friday, November 3, at 2:30 in the afternoon, when Newburg is returning the game that was played there October 13.

The grammar school indoor baseball team and the high school team played a game Oct. 26. Both of the pep squads were present and did much cheering, but despite the efforts of the high school squad to help the high school boys win the game, the grammar school boys defeated them by a score of 6 to 2. Immediately afterward the high school and grammar school girls played a game, during which the boys yelled for the girls. The grammar school had a much larger squad than the high school but this did not discourage the high school boys, for David (Toad) Ivy took his harmonica and played while the boys sang. This helped the high school girls to defeat the grammar school girls by a score of 7 to 2.

There are about 18 girls and 20 boys, who are working hard in basketball.

Those who have a harp, violins and guitars be sure and bring them, so every one can have a good foot patting.

Several from here surprised Jesse Lowe Saturday night with a birthday party. Everybody had a good time.

While I write some of my letter I am "playing like" I can hear those good singers at South Bennett sing this afternoon. I only wish I was there, especially at the noon hour. Those people don't know there is a depression.

How many of you read about the man and his wife at Ebony last week who wanted to go visiting on Sunday. I would enjoy company like that. It showed they really wanted to see you, by going in a carriage like that. Hunt up your paper and read it. There is lots of ways to go besides going in a car. Walking is not all taken up with me. I am glad I am able to walk.

The following is a statement of the production and planted acreages of wheat in the years 1930, 1931, 1932, and planted acreage for 1933 of producers (of) Mills county, who have submitted applications for farm allotments. This publication is made in compliance with the regulations of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. It is made so that a check may be made on all statement claims, and so that reports may be made to the county Wheat Production Control Association on any inaccuracies which may appear in the statements.

The allotment for this county has been definitely calculated from official records of the United States Department of Agriculture, and is 4333 bushels. This is the total allotment for the county. Therefore, if any farmer receives a greater allotment than his past production warrants, he is thus depriving other farmers in this county of their just share.

Total production figures of those who apply for contracts, together with those who do not, must be consistent with the official county production as shown by the records of the United States Department of Agriculture. If the county totals are greater than the official totals, it will be necessary to make a downward adjustment.

Any person may make a confidential report if he finds any statement here which he believes to be inaccurate. Such reports should be made to the community or county allotment committee, either in writing or verbally. The reports will be strictly confidential. A farmer whose statements are said to be inaccurate will need to prove his production figures.

Farmers have been asked to furnish evidence of production and evidence of sale, such as thresherman's certificates, elevator certificates, or other records and receipts. Satisfactory evidence will be required of any farmer whose statement is questioned.

The following statements have been condensed to save space. "A" represents acres planted and "bu." represents bushels harvested. The "3-year average" represents the 3-year average acreage and production of 1930-32. Farmers should refer any questions regarding this publication to their community committee or the county allotment committee.

LATE REPORTS

Two excellent reports, one of a social and the other a marriage, had to go to the waste basket this week because of reaching the office so long after the events that they had become history. The Eagle is always glad to publish these reports when they are received in time for the current issue of the paper, but after two or three issues of the paper has passed such articles are stale and have no interest for anybody, hence we can not use them.

STYLES IN NEW YORK

Important Football Fashions.

Football clothes have scored a lion's share in the displays in New York, where they are shown in an array of gorgeous colors and materials including a wealth of tweedy-looking new tweedy fabrics and knitted weaves, often finished with suedes and lacquered fabrics in accessories. Hats hold first place among them, including tones from black to chocolate. There are also yellow, gay reds, bright blues and rust tones, too, in these new fabrics in one, two and three piece outfits—all colorful, comfortable and smart. The Scotch influence is strong in the tweed, with plaid and checked jackets and blouses—the blouses are worn with plain skirt and sport jacket with matching lining. One smart shop displays a sporty two-tone brown tweed suit in large checks worn with knitted fabric jacket blouse in green, buttoned down the front with large brown composition buttons. The jacket blouse of another suit features other buttons in the shape of a football. Teaming up smartly with the new football clothes are the new velveteen beret and scarf sets, often in vivid colors contrasting the suit, for example, a bright green beret and scarf with a brown outfit. Some ensembles feature narrow brim hats matching the suit. Top hats are always swagging in cut, and many feature raccoon collars. Low shoes are the rule, these usually carrying out color of shoes and handbag.

Very new among color combinations noted in football clothes displays are American Beauty

d with violet, brown set off by light green, and bright red with amber relief of brown. ramatic Fabrics capture the Mode One can hardly say too much about the style importance of fabrics this season, for they are so rich and glamorous. This applies to fabrics for day as well as to evening wear. New York shops are showing new versions in velvets, failles, satins, laces and crepes for evening, to say nothing of all sorts of new novelty fabrics including the metal brocades. Very new and smart just now are the new silk and rayon satins and crepes shot with gold threads, in smooth as well as rough crinkled textures. These fabrics and the new velvets, including waterproof transparent versions, lend themselves delightfully to the smart slim evening sheath silhouette and the long-sleeved dinner gown—so rich, smart and simple that it fairly spells sophistication.

Some of the new soft woolen fabrics are characterized now by flecks and pin-like stripes of gold threads, which are most effective in black. Among these glamorous fabrics, there are the deep ribbed rayons, much in favor this season, including new failles, rough crepes and weaves in deep moss knit effects.

While black continues the classic color for dinner and the evening mode, colors are growing more important, particularly rust brown and odd shades of green. One smart shop, which is now showing a dramatic group of evening fashions in pebbled satins and crinkled velvets, features them in rust shade and deep and light caterpillar greens, accented with gold metal trims. There's one green velvet with a lovely gold belt. Another exclusive Fifth Avenue shop goes into a brown study for evening, displaying a gown in brown and gold striped tissue and crepe brown lace gown. This display also includes a brown heavy sheer crepe dinner dress with bands of chartreuse at the neckline. Deep wine shades in panne velvet are featured for evening in still another shop. Drop shoulder lines, draped décolletage and sheath silhouette are style points in all.

Trend Toward Dark Colors for Cruise Wear Right dark colors promise to set the fashion pace for Palm Beach and cruise wear this season, including many of the more autumnal colors—browns, wine and greens. There are also very vivid reds, blues and greens being put out as Chinese colors, which promise to be high lighted in these sports cloths in the new tweedy-looking cottons, silks, rayons and woolen fabrics. Pinks that are vivid and clear are important and range from bright pink to rose shades. There are clear yellows ranging from canary to bright gold, and greens ranging from chartreuse to emerald greens. These and the reds, from vivid to dark, also the rosy reds, all have a smart fashion significance in the new materials for cruise and Southern resort wear.

Pearls Important in Jewelry Mode.

Pearls are decidedly important in the jewelry mode, particularly with the new high neck black velvet frocks and gowns. Very effective is the two-strand collar worn with the collarless round neckline, which gives the effect of a rich beading finish at the neck. For the velvet dinner dress, a rope of medium sized pearls in the 18-inch length is favored. There is a new "bubble" bracelet of pearls with matching ring, and all sorts of new ways with very wide bracelets—some in bracelet cuff style, made of rows of pearls strung on fine wire.

For sports and daytime occasions, costume jewelry stresses massive effects. Bracelets of composition, wood, chrome and gold and silver metal are decidedly barbaric. There are also large clips and buckles in these materials.

Belts and Handbags in Smart Alliance.

Highlighted in the mode are the new belts and handbag sets—often in suede finish fabrics with metal or composition trims. Some feature initials. Buckles for the belts, which match bag clasp or ornament, feature clever shapes—sometimes geometric. It is none too early to be making out Christmas lists. And a set of these would please most any girl.

Style Flashes.

Tunics are worn for day and evening—for any and all occasions. For dressy wear, they are noted in velvets, satins, the new striped laces, failles, rayon crepes and soft wooleens shot with metal. They are important in long as well as hip-length styling.

Whether hats are high or low, with brims or without, they are nothing this season unless set on a smart coiffure, which particularly for the evening mode, is usually set off with a smart clip, comb or bandeaux. Hair ornaments are important also in the daytime mode.

Gloves are certainly taking a hand in smart fashion this season. For sports, there are new corduroys with flared cuffs; for afternoon, velvet slippers shirred at the wrist, and, for evening, there are velvets and satins. The latter, in a twelve-button ribbed version, is the dernier cri for evening just now.

There's nothing smarter this season for the cocktail hour or any afternoon dressy occasion than the black velvet suit with short jacket. It is very chic with a white satin blouse.

Gold is prominent in many of the smartest new fabrics, including the black lacquered looking fabrics with gold threads running through. These gold threads are seen also in some of the new velvets, mossy crepes, blistered weaves and in crinkled patterns.

Among the new color combinations noted now are tobacco brown with pansy purple, bright blue with beetroot and eel gray combined with coral red, moss green and bright orange.

Buttons, bows and belts are doing lots for dresses this season.

NOTICE IN PROBATE

The State of Texas, County of Mills:

In the Probate Court, Mills County, Texas:

Grover Dalton, administrator of the estate of Robert Urbach, deceased, has filed his final account in the Probate Court of Mills County, Texas, which will be acted upon at the next regular term of this court, commencing on the first Monday in December, 1933, the same being the fourth day of December, at which term all persons interested in the said estate may appear and make objections thereto.

Hollywood Approves New Streamline Designs

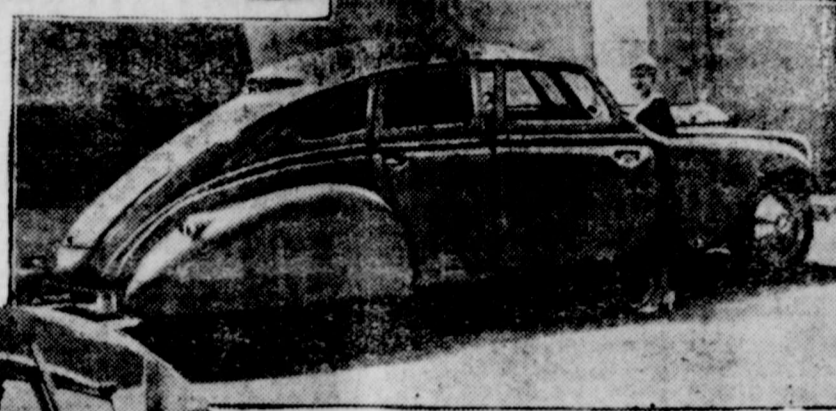

Model automobile tested by the U. S. Bureau of Standards, which proved to have much less air and wind resistance than models of the cars currently produced. Notice elimination of fenders, the sinking of wheels in the body. (U. S. Bureau of Standards.)

The blunt nose of a new automobile with sloping accommodations, designed for California highways. (Herbert)

(Below) View snapped in Hollywood of one of the new streamlined cars which engineers say will soon make all the square-nosed obsolete. Notice particularly the comparative shortness of the nose, when measured with the total length of the tonneau. Long noses will soon cease to be a sign of speed or power. And Hollywood approves the smartness, as who wouldn't? (R.K.O.)

People who know, including alike the scientists, the designers, and the world of smart fashion, are all predicting the near approach of streamlining in automobiles.

Streamlining has been used in airplanes for several years: the present top speeds of the trans-continental transports—and also the low fares—have only been made possible by 100 per cent streamlining which reduced wind resistance, hence cut power consumption, increased speed and riding comfort. The railroads are now seizing on this new science, and several lines promise stream-lined trains to travel 100 miles an hour.

Automobiles have joined the procession. New cars will soon be seen with blunt noses, sloping tonneaus, wheels buried in the body. Long noses will soon be only a sign of the old-fashioned wind-fighters, which labored to push the air as a meek does the earth.

Outbreak of a new sheep disease that on one ranch west of San Angelo has killed hundreds of ewes since spring, was the subject of discussions of the federal government's animal husbandry department with members of the state livestock sanitary commission in Fort Worth this week. The disease kills quickly, eats up the blood and is believed to come from an external parasite not yet definitely isolated.

More than 14,000,000 persons in the United States are dependent on charity today, Federal Relief Director H. L. Hopkins told welfare workers from six states in asking state and local co-operation with the government to care for relief needs this winter. Making a plea for state and local money to match federal funds, Hopkins said that most of the unemployed were "fine, hard working, upstanding citizens, who have gone overboard."

More than 1,000,000 retail stores of the nation, with a total of 4,000,000 employees, are operating under a separate N R A code which forbids sale of goods at less than cost. The code applies to all retail establishments except grocery, tobacco, jewelry and a few other classifications either under separate codes or due to be shortly. In towns of less than 2500 population stores employing five or fewer persons and not of the chain type were operating exempt from the code provisions under presidential orders.

WHEN BRIGHTER

Next summer when the mercury starts climbing towards 90 or 100, just think of the stars and be glad, for their temperature is registered in the thousands of degrees. Yes, it is now possible to measure the heat of a star by means of a little gadget called the thermo-couple, a very small and extremely sensitive device. Astronomers have wondered for a long time why it was that certain stars varied in brightness over a period of time. Now, thanks to the thermo-couple, they have found the reason.

As a part of the National Recovery Drive the President urges the people all over the Nation to buy NOW, the things they need, for prices will be higher. While present stocks remain prices are lower and there's a distinct and marked saving. It will keep the factories running, keep people employed, increase the demand and price for raw materials with benefit to the farmer and ranchman.

IN THE LONG RUN WE WILL ALL BENEFIT!

During this drive, which begins Friday, November 3, at 9 a. m., the O. H. YARBOROUGH STORE will offer many special inducements to people of Goldthwaite and surrounding territory to supply their needs now and save money in all lines. Watch for our 4-page Circular, which is now being circulated.

CARD OF THANKS

We appreciate the support given to the P. T. A. by the entire citizenship during the recent undertaking. Our Hallowe'en Carnival was a success because of the fine spirit and splendid co-operation of teachers, pupils, patrons, friends, officers and business people, and because of the untiring efforts of all committees. Especially do we wish to express our appreciation to our editor, Mr. Thompson.

When the call was made for carnival workers the response was so generous that supply soon exceeded demand, therefore, many valuable and willing workers were not used. We appreciate your willingness.

Thanks to one and all. Remember our next P. T. A. meeting on November 14.
