

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

VOLUME FORTY

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 6, 1934.

NUMBER FORTY-FIVE

National Bank In Liquidation

The business and assets of the First National bank of Goldthwaite were taken over by the Trent State bank Monday and the National bank's business is being liquidated. This is the third bank of the county whose business has been handled in closing by the Trent State bank, which is now the only bank in the county and is known and recognized throughout the land as one of the strongest banks in Texas, or anywhere else.

The First National bank succeeded the Goldthwaite National bank, which was established about thirty-seven years ago. The First National was the outgrowth of the reorganization of the last named bank, which occurred about twelve years ago.

Goldthwaite and Mills county have a very remarkable banking record, which fact has been stated in former issues of this paper, but will bear reiteration. There has never been a bank failure or a run on a bank in Goldthwaite and the only limit ever put on the withdrawal of deposits was that placed by the federal government when the well remembered bank holiday was declared a year or more ago. Never has a customer of a bank in Mills county lost a penny by the failure of such bank. There have been two small bank failures in the county, but the depositors were paid promptly and in full.

The Trent State bank was organized here about thirty years ago through the purchase of the D. H. Trent bank, which had been in operation many years. W. C. Dew was the organizer of the Trent State bank and is still at the head of the institution. This bank has a very remarkable and unusual record, in that none of its officers or directors were ever indebted to it a dime, even to the extent of an overdraft. This fact has often been commented upon by the bank examiners and has been the subject of many congratulatory letters from the banking commissioner. It is famous for its solidity and the large amount of its deposits, both as to the number of its depositors and the amount of their balances.

Mills county is proud of its wonderful banking record and the citizens feel that to Mr. Dew, more than any other individual, belongs the credit for this most satisfactory condition.

NEW POSTMASTER FOR MULLIN

R. H. Patterson has been appointed postmaster at Mullin, succeeding Sid Eaton, who held the office twelve years.

Mr. Patterson is one of the best known and most experienced business men of the county. He organized the Star State bank a good many years ago and managed that business several years. He was for a time cashier of a bank at Comanche and after severing his connection with that bank he was elected cashier of the First State bank of Mullin and served in that capacity several years. He is editor of the Mullin Enterprise and also owns an insurance agency in that city. He has already taken charge of the postoffice at Mullin and has as his assistant Miss Birdie Burkett, a most efficient and deservedly popular young lady of that city. She served as assistant cashier and chief bookkeeper of the First State bank and her business training and extensive acquaintance throughout that section will be of benefit in conducting the business of the postoffice and giving the best service to the public.

The Eagle congratulates the people of Mullin on securing Mr. Patterson and Miss Burkett to have charge of the postal affairs of the town, which carries with it the supervision of the rural routes in that section.

Methodist Notes

We had a fine day at the Methodist church Sunday, in spite of the excessive heat. Just as the service was about to begin, in looking over the audience, I felt that the congregation was smaller than usual, but some others dropped in, and then I remembered that there were so many away, some at school, that we were lucky to have as others on vacations. I thought many as were at the services. The Sunday school was a little above last Sunday.

Bro. Lovett preached a most excellent sermon at night, after which he held the third quarterly conference. The sermon was good and well received by the audience.

I do not know what the reaction of other Sunday school people is to the lessons for the present quarter. I felt when I noticed that the lessons had changed from the New to the Old Testament a sense of disappointment, but since looking into the matter, I have changed my attitude. As a matter of fact, there was doubtless a strong incentive on the part of those who are entrusted with the planning of the lessons to make this change. I really believe this will be apparent to all. Human nature has been about the same in all ages of the past. The sins, the weakness and the result of sin has never changed, so it follows that the sins that destroyed the kingdom of Israel is the same as that which has destroyed every nation that has fallen since time began. The nations of the earth are to be warned through the fall of the empires of the past. If any nation is to continue, it is to be through a strict adherence to the straight and narrow path of righteousness. With this thought before me, I am glad that we are to spend the next three months, refreshing our minds with the ruin that sin has wrought among defunct nations, make application to our own lives and take warning for our future guidance. With this thought in view, I sincerely wish that every person who has at heart the best interest of his country, could be brought into the Sunday schools of our land and make a careful study of the subjects which are to be presented during the next three months.

Bro. Lovett announced Sunday evening that he hoped to have Bishop Boaz with us some time this summer or fall. I am sure this would be pleasing to our church. Not only would it be pleasing to our church, but to the people of the town. We can have a great audience to hear him at any time, whether on Sunday or at some week day, or night. Aside from the fact that Bishop Boaz has official charge of our conference, he is a native Texas. Moreover, he is a man of fine ability and is highly regarded by the church throughout its bounds. I feel that we should bring extra pressure to bear upon our presiding elder, and upon Bishop Boaz himself to give us a visit.

In this connection I am reminded of an experience I once had with Bishop Mouzon. He came to visit my church, located in a place where Protestantism was not very strong. I did what I could to advertise the service. I invited people, as I came in (Continued on page 8)

PREPARING BALLOTS

Chairman John W. Roberts of the Democratic Executive committee has called a meeting of a special committee to prepare supplies for the forthcoming primary election to meet in Goldthwaite Monday morning, July 9, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of arranging the supplies, approving the tickets and sending the supplies to the various voting boxes in the county. He invites all members of the executive committee to join the special committee in arranging these supplies and otherwise preparing for the election.

COMMISSIONERS MEET MONDAY

A regular session of the commissioners court will be held Monday, at which time a proposition will be considered to ask for drouth relief for the farmers of the county. Many counties have already made application for this relief and Judge Patterson has interviewed several of the county judges as to the plan. There is no reason for delay, as the government has appropriated the money and Mills county should get a share of it. Those interested in the plan should talk with Judge Patterson or other members of the commissioners court, giving them such information as they are able to impart. It would also be a good plan for these citizens to join the court in the application for the funds.

Cotton Checks Being Delivered

The first installment of the rental cotton land checks for tenants and landlords, received last week, amounted in the aggregate to about $9,560. Many of the checks have been delivered, but there are yet about forty of them still at the county agent's office awaiting delivery. The owners have all been notified by mail, but they are evidently not in serious need of the money, which is a fine showing for Mills county farmers. All of the checks due on this first payment have not yet reached the county agent's office, there being ninety-four checks yet to come and they are expected every mail.

There will be another payment of approximately the same amount in August and September. Then, in December, there will be a parity payment of 40 per cent of the growers five year average crop. This will represent not less than 1 cent per pound for the cotton.

Campaign Grows In Interest

All the candidates and their supporters have gotten down to business in earnest and it is likely they will make every moment count for working time until the close of the polls Saturday night, July 23.

Some of the district candidates have joined the ranks of the campaigners in Mills county this week. Hon. Pat Murphy of San Angelo, candidate for congress, delivered an address on the square here Monday night to a fair sized audience and his speech was well and favorably received. Mr. Murphy is a good talker and a good mixer with the people. Already he has a number of staunch supporters among the Mills county people and he is growing in popularity in this county.

Most of the county candidates attended some of the public gatherings Wednesday and announced their policies. Mills county has a mighty fine list of candidates in this campaign and the county is sure to have efficient officers, no matter who is elected.

BARBECUE AND SOCIAL

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fairman entertained a large number of their friends with a barbecue dinner at the Lake Merritt club grounds last Friday evening. Long tables were arranged with seats on either side and the guests were supplied with many good things to eat besides barbecue in abundance. Score cards in duplicate were passed to the ladies and gentlemen prior to the call for dinner and they formed in couples at the tables and after dinner marched to the club house, where tables had been arranged for 42. The games had an extra incentive to success. In that the prize went to the most successful bidder of 84. The unique plan caused much merriment as well as interest and the entire company was in high spirits throughout the evening.

Like all entertainments by Mr. and Mrs. Fairman, the barbecue and social proved an outstanding success and sustained well the reputation of the host and hostess as most popular and hospitable entertainers.

MOORE-HODGES

Last Saturday evening Rhedell Moore and Miss Lottie Hodges motored down to the Hays home with some friends and were happily made husband and wife. Mr. Moore is a citizen of McCulloch county. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodges and was reared in the Duren community. Their many friends in these parts are wishing for them a happy sojourn in their new relations and home in McCulloch county. It is some refreshing to note their joy and gladness.

CONTRACTS REDUCED

There is a well founded rumor that the county's hog-corn contracts must be reduced before payment is made on them, because of the total running beyond the county's record. Just what the reduction will be and course to be pursued could not be learned, as Mr. Weaver, the county agent, is away attending a district meeting at Abilene. When he returns he will send out the necessary information, but this will explain the delay in hearing from the contracts.

SHORTAGE OF LETTERS

On account of the rural mail carriers taking vacation Wednesday, a number of community letters did not arrive in time for this issue. The community letters are the most interesting features of the paper and a shortage is always regretted. The writers who failed to get their letters in this week will be fully represented in the next issue, we all hope.

MEETING CLOSED

The meeting conducted at the Church of Christ during last week, came to a close Sunday night. A number of conversions were announced and several were baptized. Elder Clem W. Hoover, pastor of the church, delivered the sermons and the meeting was interesting throughout and beneficial.

LIGHT RAIN

A light rain fell here and in other parts of the county last Sunday, but there was not sufficient precipitation to be of lasting benefit. Reports from every part of the county say a real good rain would be greatly appreciated.

SONG SERVICE

A choir from Boles orphans' home of Greenville gave a musical program at the Church of Christ last night. Those who attended were delighted with the program.

MEETING AT CARADAN

Rev. Franklin E. Swanner is conducting a meeting at Caradan and reports say the services are quite interesting and the people of the community are co-operating nicely in the meeting.

Glorious Fourth Was Celebrated

The "Glorious Fourth" was celebrated throughout the nation Wednesday and the flow of oratory in many places added to the interest of the day's program.

Many accidents marred the pleasures of the day in many localities, but Mills county has cause for rejoicing that there were no fatal or serious accidents in this county. Press reports from over the nation tell of at least 54 persons killed. Traffic fatalities led with 29. Thirteen persons were drowned. Three were fatally shot. One boy was fatally injured by fireworks. Five persons were killed in an airplane crash. One person died of over-exertion and heat prostration; two were killed when a bleacher collapsed and one was killed by lightning.

Interesting Items Chronicled

The branding of cattle, George Bernard Shaw, British playwright, wrote in a letter to a citizen of Plainview, "is a horrible and hellish practice."

Three of four persons were killed Tuesday night when a tire blowout caused a fast motor bus bound from San Antonio to Dallas to strike a bridge abutment and burst into flames near Lancaster, 12 miles south of Dallas.

The planning committee of the Texas Centennial commission has begun a series of executive meetings to draft plans for an exposition in 1936 in commemoration of 100 years of Texas independence.

At the initial session Monday of the state planning commission, appointed by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, it was decided that the first thing to be done will be study of the work being done on state and federal setups. The subjects discussed briefly were land uses, water conservation, housing, soil preservation and reforestation.

Texas will receive five of the 173 new CCC camps that are to be established in the nation during the next few months, and 2758 recruits of the 160,000 enrollment which includes new men for the civilian conservation corps. Of the 100,000 men, 110,000 will be replacements with 50,000 additions to the drouth area in every state. The replacements make up for some 70,000 men discharged from the corps Saturday in compliance with the regulation limiting membership for one complete year, and another 40,000 dropped from ranks during the last three months to accept outside employment. Of the 50,000 that are to be assigned to the drouth area 45,000 will be men 18 to 25 years of age and the remainder will be recruited from war veterans.

Representative W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi said Monday after a conference with Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson that a special session of the legislature would be convened soon after the second primary August 25. Pope presented requests of Nueces county farmers for a session to provide relief from delinquent tax penalties and interest which accrued July 1. He said the governor promised that tax relief would be one of three topics submitted. The other two, he said, would be issuance of $9,500,000 relief bonds remaining of a $20,000,000 issue and the matter of creating a new state agency to conserve oil and gas resources. The governor abandoned a plan to convene the legislators in extraordinary session during July because many of them were engaged in campaigns, he said.

Baptist Reminder Jail Delivery

Our meeting at Caradan is increasing in interest with each service. Wednesday night we had four for baptism, also a man was converted who did not unite with the church. I feel that many more will come before the meeting closes.

I will be here Sunday morning and teach my class and also preach before going back to Caradan. In the evening the B. T. S. has arranged a special program at 7:15. You will enjoy listening to this program. At 8:15 Bro. W. P. Weaver will supply for the pastor. No one knows what he will say. You come and find out for yourself.

GINNING COTTON

Because of fears expressed by ginners of governmental red tape in the operation of the Bankhead cotton act, a statement was issued Tuesday by the agricultural adjustment administration that this governmental contact would be small. According to interpretations by the bureau of internal revenue the application of the law is simple.

The act levies a tax of 50 per cent of the average central market price per pound of lint cotton, which has been determined at 11.34c on all cotton ginned more than the 10,460,251 bales of 473 pounds net weight fixed as the maximum to be ginned tax free. Under the law the average central market price may be determined again should the secretary of agriculture deem it desirable. In no case, however, may the tax be less than 5c a pound.

Bale tags are to be issued to ginners who will attach them to all cotton ginned this season when the producer surrenders tax exemption certificates covering the amount of the cotton ginned or when he pays the tax.

The act requires an affidavit from producers who wish to take their ginned cotton home, store it and postpone payment of the tax. This affidavit may be sworn to before any county agent or community commission. These agents and committeemen were empowered by a joint congressional resolution to administer oaths in connection with applications for tax exemption certificates and they also can administer oaths to producers desiring to store cotton. These services are to be free to farmers who wish to postpone payment of the tax.

Representatives of the bureau of internal revenue will visit gins monthly and administer oaths free of charge in case of gin returns.

Gin operators also are required to give bond for the performance of their responsibilities under the act, but the bureau of internal revenue has advised the administration that two individual sureties will be acceptable on any such bonds. This means that any property owner with sufficient unincumbered property may go on a ginner's bond.

Cully A. Cobb, chief of the cotton production section of the AAA said he felt ginners would realize the simplicity of the act and its administration when its actual provisions and the program for carrying it out are better understood and when the ginners begin operations.

A GOOD STATEMENT

Attention is directed to the statement of the Trent State bank in this issue, which reflects credit on the county. While the country has passed through one of the most severe depressions of all time and crops of all kinds have been light, with low prices, the people of Mills county have practically a half million dollars in their bank accounts subject to check, which is certainly a mighty fine record.

The fact that this excellent showing can be made should not deter our commissioners court and the relief authorities from asking for such government relief as is accorded other counties.

Jail Delivery Three Escape

Wednesday morning about 10 o'clock prisoners in the county jail called for medicine for one claiming to be sick. Mrs. W. H. Lee, wife of the jailer who occupies the jailer's residence in the lower story of the jail, responded to their call and when she passed the medicine in to them one of the men who had escaped from the cell and was on top of it, jumped on her, knocking her to the floor and bruising her painfully. He struck her in the mouth, knocking out several teeth. He then released the other two and placed Mrs. Lee in the cell. They seized the jailer's revolver and ran out, going down Fifth street to Front, where they took charge of J. T. Morris' Ford coupe, which had been left standing by the side of the street, and made a hurried getaway, going through the western part of town and out by the high school building, thence west on the Rock Springs road.

Those who escaped were Gordon Langford, John Dingus and Oran Conway, all being held for trial on felony charges.

Still At Large

Up to the time the Eagle was put to press the escaped prisoners were still at large. A report was received Wednesday afternoon that a car answering the description of that stolen by the fugitives had been seen passing through the Ebony community and also in the Elkins community, in Brown county. Cards descriptive of the stolen car have been sent out by Sheriff Bledsoe. The car was not insured and if it is not recovered it will be a total loss to its owner, J. T. Morris, who carried insurance on it up to a short time ago.

NEW RULING ON TEACHER QUALIFICATION

The teachers of the state are interested in the recent new ruling pertaining to their qualifications. Many teachers appeared before the committee on accredited and affiliated high schools at Austin and protested the demands at this time for degree teachers; as their salaries have been reduced and many of the vouchers can not be cashed, hence the requirement seemed heavy. The committee modified the requirement in several ways.

First, all teachers who have taught 15 years by September 1, 1934, are exempt from the former degree requirement.

Second, teachers now in service with less than 15 years of experience must complete twelve semester hours toward a degree in four years. The ruling was formerly 18 semester hours in three years.

DROUTH RELIEF

A good many counties have applied for and are receiving drouth relief from the government and the plan is a good one. The federal government is making large appropriations for the relief of the people in the arid areas and those who need it should apply through their commissioners court and secure such aid as they need. It is not a good spirit to call on the government for help when it is not needed, but where people have lost their crops and stock because of the drouth it is legitimate and right to secure such help in the form of loans or other ways in which the government distributes the money to help those who need it to get over to a more seasonable and prosperous time.

PLAY AT CENTER CITY

The Happy Four Club of Lake Merritt is to present a play, "The Red-Headed Steppchild," at Center City school auditorium Friday night, (tonight), at 8:30 p. m. General admission, 10c. All proceeds go for religious purpose.

CARADAN

We are very thankful for the nice rain we had in our community last Sunday. Farmers say that it helped wonderfully.

Our revival meeting started last Friday night. Bro. Swanner of the First Baptist church of Goldthwaite is doing the preaching for us. His sermons are great and every one is invited to come and be with us. Come early for our prayer meetings. We have had quite a few visitors from other communities. We are happy to have them and be sure to come every time you can and tell your neighbors. We are praying for a great revival at Caradan.

Mrs. Jess Stewart has been on the sick list, but is very much improved. Quite a few of this community reported a very enjoyable time at little Alvin Jackson's birthday party Saturday evening. We all wish her many more happy birthdays.

Those who visited in Walter Reynolds' home Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Stame Harwell of Live Oak, Bro. and Sister Hays, Henry Simpson of Live Oak, Meredith Stewart and Odell Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Coley Stephens, and babies, Mr. and Mrs. Ruth Harwell visited in Eloyd Reynolds' home Sunday.

Bro. and Sister Hays and Bro. Swanner visited in Jess Petsick's home Monday and Deward Reynolds' home Monday evening.

Quite a few from this community went fishing last week.

ODD ACCIDENTS

Little Harry Merideth of Deleware, aged 10, was fatally injured by a window sash, which fell upon his neck as he was climbing through the kitchen window.

A mule, being led by Raleigh Hedrick, Virginia farmer, was killed by a stroke of lightning. Hedrick was merely knocked unconscious.

Watch those waves at the beach this summer. Benjamin F. Hendrix swam boldly out to meet an incoming wave at a Virginia beach and had his neck broken when they met.

Expansion of rails because of heat rays from the sun was given as the cause of an Oregon train wreck. There were two persons killed and nine more seriously hurt as a result.

A. F. Laws of Utah, who examined all sticks a little closer in the future. His collie, "Bones" picked a stick up in his mouth and carried it to his master who threw it several yards away. There was an explosion which threw both man and dog to the ground. It was dynamite stick.

Dynamite is about as safe as an unloaded gun. Samuel P. O'Brien, of Washington, accidentally shot his wife while examining a family heirloom, a civil war pistol. Police Inspector W. G. Stott, also of the District of Columbia, shot himself while showing a friend a "fool proof" hair trigger revolver. Neither victim was fatally hurt.

Sometimes things are not what they seem. While visiting the grave of a relative in a Washington cemetery, Mrs. Susie M. Ball stepped on an innocent looking piece of canvas—and fell into an open grave covered by the fabric. A jury awarded her substantial damages for injuries.

Little Jean Johnson stood on the curb in a Maryland city waiting to cross the street. A door on a passing truck flew open, struck him on the head and fractured his skull.

It is considered good marksmanship to bring down your prey with one shot, but a Washington colored citizen brought down three men with a single bullet during a street fight.

An impulse to be sociable resulted fatally for William Abel, 18 year old Tennessee lad. Riding on a truck, he released his hold to wave to some girls—and the truck struck a bump, throwing him through the windshield of a passing car.

Most any flyer can crash a plane when the motor stalls but one has to be good to fall right in the front yard of a relative, as did Jack Stuart, a young Virginia pilot. — Pathfinder.

CHARGE FOR PUBLICATION

The Eagle and all other newspapers, as far as we are informed, charge for the publication of cards of thanks, obituaries, resolutions of respect and articles of a similar character.

KEEP THE ROLL CLEAR

The local relief office is in receipt of the following resolution: To All County Administrators: The following resolution was passed at the meeting of the Texas Relief Commission June 27, 1934:

Whereas, there has been and is a great complaint from the citizens of Texas that the services of farm laborers and household servants are most difficult to secure, and it is believed that persons on relief rolls have been offered and refused such employment, but have continued on relief rolls, and

Whereas, the relief commission has heretofore instructed the director to notify all county administrators to give proper publicity to the fact that persons physically able to work who are offered employment at the prevailing wage scale in the locality wherein the work is to be performed and who refuse to accept same without good cause, shall not be furnished relief; but there is no indication that any publicity has been given to this matter;

The director shall have prepared a form of advertisement advising the public in this matter and requesting persons who offered employment to others to advise their local county boards when the employment offered is refused; such advice to include the name, address, employment offered and wages offered and to be furnished the local relief board in writing. The director shall require the local relief board in each county receiving relief to insert such advertisement in every newspaper published in the county where it can be done without cost to the Texas relief commission and such publication must be made without delay. The director shall require each county administrator to secure all further publicity possible of the substance of this resolution.

When any person has been offered employment and has refused it under the conditions stated above, the county relief boards of the several counties are prohibited from giving him either direct or work relief.

You are directed and instructed to carry out the provisions of the resolution immediately.

Please send to this office, attention T. H. McKee, the clipping from the paper indicating your success in obtaining the advertisement.

Yours very truly,
C. B. BRAUN, Ass't. Dir.

The above letter has just been received by the local relief office, and notice is hereby given that the above instructions have been carried out in the past and will be continued to be carried out. From time to time through the columns of this paper notices have been published to this effect, and the local relief office asks now again that the citizens of Mills county co-operate with the local board and with the state commission in this regard. If employment is offered to any person on the relief rolls and same is rejected and refused please advise the local relief office in writing, including in your statement the name, type of employment and the wages offered and be sure that the statement is signed, as no attention will be given to unsigned communications.

The local relief office is grateful to the citizens of Mills county, the commissioners court and the city council and all other public bodies for their co-operation and invite their further co-operation along the line indicated above.

Texas Lady Tells How Black-Draught Laxative Helps All Her Family

Here's how Black-Draught fills the needs of a family laxative in the home of Mrs. J. S. Stoker, Fort Worth, Texas: "The grown-ups in my family," she writes, "have always taken powdered Theodor's Black-Draught for biliousness, headaches and other ailments (due to constipation) and found it a reliable remedy. I was very pleased when I saw Syrup of Black-Draught advertised. I bought it and gave it to my little daughter, ages 6 and 4. They needed something to cleanse their systems and Syrup of Black-Draught acted well. Your druggist sells this reliable laxative in both forms. "Children like the Syrup."

HOUSING BILL

President Roosevelt has signed into law the housing bill intended to aid in reviving industry by increasing home construction and repair.

The legislation is calculated to make available several hundred million dollars for new homes and modernization through government insurance of private loans for this purpose.

A 10 per cent reduction in the price of lumber and building material was ordered by the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association to aid the administration's housing program.

The president prepared to set up immediately the machinery to put the program into operation. He is counting upon this step to aid employment as well as to improve living conditions.

WORKS OF SCIENCE

A magazine article telling of a recent storm on the planet Jupiter gives some wonderful facts when it says:

Spanning a distance of 370,000,000 miles by means of their many large telescopes, scientists all over the world recently watched with interest the storm in progress on Jupiter. It was estimated that the storm covered an area 2000 miles wide and 20,000 miles long. The unexplained atmospheric disturbance was first noticed in this country by Prof. J. J. Nassua, director of the Warner and Swasey observatory in Cleveland.

Jupiter, having a diameter 10 times that of the earth and 370,000,000 miles away when closest to the earth, is one of the most interesting planets to study. Next to Mars it is the most observed planet in the sky. The great red spot which can be seen on its surface and which has never been explained, has attracted the interest of astronomers ever since it was first observed in 1657. This spot varies in size, but is usually about 8000 miles wide and about 30,000 miles long. At times it has become completely invisible and its position could be marked only by the depression it made in the surface of the planet. Its color changes from a brick-red to gray and it is continuously changing its position on the planet.

Jupiter is exceptionally well placed at present for observation as it is on the "near" side of the sun at this point in its orbit and is the most conspicuous star in the evening sky now. When it is on the "far" side it goes as far away as 600,000,000 miles and of course, then it is much fainter. There is little doubt that the present "storm" on Jupiter is just another effect tied up with sunspot activity, which is now on the increase. Last year a similar outbreak was observed on the planet Saturn—so they've all got the same disease. Whether it is the sun that stirs up the planets or the planets that stir up the sun is something which remains to be proved—but scientists are now close on the trail of this vital discovery. The useful part of it will come when they will be able to some extent, to "pot" the action of the sun and planets for some years ahead and thus learn more about when to expect periods of drought, cold and other climatic extremes, so that people can prepare for them.

For Attorney General

WILLIAM McCRAW
William McCraw, prominent Dallas attorney, has launched his campaign for the office of Attorney General of Texas.

McCraw served three consecutive terms as District Attorney in his home county, holding the distinction of being the only prosecutor who has ever been so honored. His record as a public official and as private law practice has won him state-wide recognition.

McCraw studied law while working in his father's printing office; saw active service in France and made a notable record for law enforcement as district attorney. He has been active in the State's Democratic party affairs, being regarded as a liberal in politics.

EXPEDITION INTO DESERT COUNTRY

Though most Americans are inclined to think of the United States as a land thoroughly explored, there are vast areas in the southwest, in Utah and Arizona, which are practically virgin country to white men.

These last frontiers will yield this summer to a party of scientists and explorers from Western universities and technical groups directed by Ansel F. Hall, chief of the field division of education, National Park Service.

The party will penetrate and map an area of some 3000 square miles of mesa and desert country in Southern Utah and Northern Arizona, which heretofore has been explored only in the region of the Rainbow Natural Bridge and Monument Valley.

Hall hopes to uncover traces of a vast civilization which vanished thousands of years ago, only meagre hints of which have been found in the southwest.

The scientists will also gather valuable rainfall and geological data, with a view to possible reclamation of the vast area in future years.

"While the purpose of the explorers is purely scientific," Hall said, "their willingness to undergo the hardships of real pioneering provides an element of drama of the task.

"Hundreds of miles of unknown country must be explored. Heat, sandstorms and physical labor that might be expected to daunt a hardened desert dweller must be endured."

In an expedition last year that penetrated a small corner of the territory, an airplane was employed to facilitate the work of mapping.

"The exploring scientists found it necessary to construct their own airport in the desert," Hall said. "The nearest landing field was 175 miles away.

"The very inaccessibility and remoteness of the country increases its potential value as a storeroom of highly informative material."

Kept Taking Cardui Until She Got Rid of the Severe Pains

When Mrs. Ida Hege, of Edinburg, Ind., was in a painful, run-down condition, she took Cardui, with the results she describes below: "I had just been what one might say dragging around, feeling miserable and all out of sorts. I remembered how Cardui helped my aunt. I sent for six bottles of Cardui and when I had taken them, I was much better and stronger. I did not suffer so much pain. I continued taking Cardui until I had taken nine bottles. I do not have the severe pains. . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."

THE NORTH AND THE COTTON PROBLEM

If the south is deprived of her foreign market for cotton the economic readjustment resulting therefrom will not be confined to the South alone. As a matter of fact, while we must not minimize the cost and pain of such a readjustment, affecting, as it would, the productive enterprises of millions of them, the possibilities of readjustment are not entirely lacking. For instance, the Manufacturers Record states that the south annually buys a billion dollars worth of food and feed from other sections of the country. It is to be feared that a great deal of this is composed of processed commodities that originally came from the south, nevertheless a very large part of it must be goods produced in the non-southern states. Now the total sale price of our export cotton at the present time will not go much above $500,000,000. Obviously if we can produce at home — as the Manufacturers Record says we can — goods which we now buy from other states to the sum of $1,000,000, or anything like it, then we can, with proper planning, go a long way toward offsetting our losses in the foreign cotton market.

But—and here is where our northern states now sell their wheat and oats and hay and swine, and orchard products. We can produce these things, and, willy nilly, we will produce them if our income from the exportation of cotton is drastically cut. What, then, will the northern producer do for his market? Where will he find customers? Echo answers, where?

Perhaps if we give more time to making this picture very clear to the non cotton growers of the country they will engender more interest in our advocacy of the re-establishment of sound foreign trade conditions.—Houston Chronicle.

THREE GENERATIONS AND ALL LIVING

On the dry Frio river some 25 miles north of Uvalde lives William M. Welch and wife and family having perhaps a record unequalled in the state, for though the father and mother have six sons and six daughters, 79 grandchildren and 25 great grandchildren. There has not been a death in the families of their children or their grandchildren or great grandchildren.

William Welch was born at Kerrville some 69 years ago. He was married to Miss Fannie Lee Wofford at Junction, Kimble county, August 21, 1881. They have twelve children, six boys and six girls. The couple has lived in Val Verde, Edwards and Real counties nearly all of their lives and all of their children were born in these counties.

While the family has never had a reunion of all the members at one time 116 members of the family were together.

The father and mother are still active workers looking after their place among the hills of the dry Frio and attending to their stock and interests, and they believe this section of Texas is a good, healthful place to rear a family.—Uvalde News.

CHEVROLET When Chevrolet announced price reductions several weeks ago, something important happened . . . something of vital concern to every buyer of a low-priced car: Chevrolet stepped into the most favorable price position it has enjoyed in a long time!

Reductions amounting to as much as $50—the most substantial price cuts announced in the low-price field this year—dropped Chevrolet's base price to a new low figure of $465. Just compare this price—compare any Chevrolet price—with those of other cars. Then compare what you get for what you pay! There'll be no question in your mind which car to buy, once you do.

ROCK SPRINGS

Some of the faithful few went to Sunday school Sunday morning.

Sunday morning at 11, Bro. Collier from Ratler is to preach. Go and take some one with you.

The ice cream eaters enjoyed cream in Collier Ballard's home last Tuesday night. There were 30 present and six gallons of ice cream was eaten. On account of the picnic the fourth they did not have cream this Tuesday night. They will feast in Marvin Spink's home the night of the tenth at Rabbit Ridge.

This community extends their sympathy to Oscar Burns in the loss of his mother.

You would have laughed, too, if you could have seen J. Frank Davis and wife going visiting in their son's, Joe, model T Ford. Mr. Davis sure did try to keep it in the road and not run in the fence.

Had you noticed we have two new scribes from Center Point. You are welcome. We only ask that you do as well as our two last ones. Do you realize that you are in danger of matrimony. It seems all of our scribes from there happen to good luck and get married. I feel sure you have already had a chance. Don't let too many chances pass. Keep the news coming. I will miss our last writer. She always had a good letter.

Landy Ellis and wife dined Sunday with Mrs. Eula Nickols. In the afternoon Austin Cooke joined them and they visited J. C. Stark. Mrs. Stark and some of her children were at Willis' mill on the river camping.

Bro. Davis took his son, Ben, and his grandson, Clark, to theresher Sunday afternoon across the bayou.

Some were lucky Thursday, when the fish came down the bayou and river. It takes lots of fish to fill some people. If they got as many pounds as they said they did, surely they went want any more fish soon.

J. R. Davis and wife and grand son, Landy Ellis and wife and Mrs. Eula Nickols attended the church services at Center Point Sunday morning. Bro. Davis and wife dined in Ray Stark's home.

Mrs. Joe Roberts and children from town and Mrs. John Roberts dined in the McClary home Sunday.

Frank McDermott's pasture was set afire Sunday morning by his Mexicans. It caused some excitement. The men had to fight fast to save Jess Cockrum's pasture.

J. C. Stark and wife enjoyed having all their children home once again last week and some of them this week.

It was so nice that all of Will Stark's children except two girls could be home for their parents' fiftieth wedding anniversary. A host of their friends enjoyed the afternoon with the family on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Eula Nickols had all of her children at home last week. Her daughters-in-law and her sons-in-law and all of her grandchildren were present.

Saturday night and Sunday the 42 players had a good time in the Webb home. I didn't learn whether Mrs. Webb served ice cream to the players or not.

I saw the boss of the McDermott thrasher in town Saturday afternoon. He seemed to be out of sorts about some of his hands.

Marion Robertson and wife making ice cream when they threshed for Turner and Robertson and not asking him to partake of the cream. Well, it seems like they did act rather selfish. You can always know Fred McClary and James Nickols will be at the ice cream feast. They should have divided with their boss.

Wednesday night, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Holley of Gonzales, some of their relatives and friends spread supper on the river at Landy Ellis'. Everybody ate a very hearty supper. After supper some enjoyed a pleasant swim.

Fred McClary and Mr. and Mrs. August Kaubs were called to Krum Saturday afternoon on business.

Herbert Cooke visited some of his friends at Mount Olive Sunday.

Some from here enjoyed the ball game at Goldthwaite Sunday afternoon.

Eula Belle Dewbre visited Ira Dewbre and wife in the Daniel home Sunday.

PLOW AND PLAN NOW FOR FALL GARDENS

With gardens cut short in a wide-spread drouth it is of unusual importance this summer to plow up garden plots and keep them in good tith in anticipation of rains which will make fall gardens possible, garden demonstrators throughout the state are being told. If weeds are kept down and the garden land kept in good condition to catch and hold moisture, it should be fairly easy to get good early fall garden stuff.

Granting rains come, fall gardens may be planted in early August in South Texas, and in late August in all the rest of Texas. The most dependable early fall garden plantings are onion sets, Swiss chard, Irish potatoes, pinto beans and radishes.

A method of saving much of the tomato fertilizer applied the past spring is offered. About 500 to 600 pounds of fertilizer was applied per acre on the average, and 30 per cent to 40 per cent of this remains available in the ground. If the land is not planted, fall and winter rains will leach out the fertilizer and it will all be lost. Plow up and destroy the dried tomato vines to clear the land and prevent disease and insect infestation, and when rains come plant in early fall to adapted crops. The surest truck crops are Irish potatoes, beans and fall roasting ears. If rains come very early, sweet potatoes will make a good crop.

TEXAS DOES HER PART

This story is told. A heavy wheat producing county near Amarillo, after two years of partial crop failure, was on the brink of ruin. Farms had been lost, farmers were grim and sullen, indifferent toward their debts; business houses were failing. A mental and spiritual numbness had set in as hope for the future dwindled. Schools closed, no tax money to pay the teachers. A country preacher sadly locked the church door and left to live with relatives in Kansas, unable to subsist longer without pay.

Into this county in December, 1933, poured a quarter of a million dollars of wheat benefit checks. Farmers began buying, paying notes, began inquiring what the interest on the mortgage was. Business boomed, taxes were paid, schools re-opened, and parishioners grateful to God commenced paying the preacher.

—Extension Service.

Miss Johnnie Belle Circle went to Brownwood shopping Thursday.

Claud Laird is a good fisherman. He treated some of his neighbors to fish last week and they were not sick ones either.

Landy Ellis and wife and Mrs. Eula Nickols called the J. R. Davis home Sunday afternoon.

Claud Holley and wife and Mrs. Eula Nickols spent Friday in Homer Doggett's home in Goldthwaite.

Marvin Powledge from Lampasas spent Saturday night and Sunday with the Webb family.

Mrs. Eula Nickols and Philip canned corn for themselves and helped Richard Sowders and wife can some Monday.

Raymond Williams and Mr. Gerald from Star were lecturing in this community last week. I failed to learn just what Raymond was running for. Perhaps we will know July 28.

Mimes, Long and son and Greathouse and daughter spent Tuesday in the Ellis home.

Harvey Dunkle, Jack Robertson and Glenn Nickols left Monday afternoon for Olney to finish the well. Cotton Forehand from town also went with them.

Richard Sowders and Philip Nickols helped Landy Ellis haul wood Monday afternoon.

Sam Frizzell and wife from town visited in the Daniel home late Monday evening.

M. R. Circle didn't go back to the Renfro thrasher this week.

Woody Traylor and family visited in the Robertson and Dunkle homes Sunday afternoon.

W. A. Daniel went to Fort Worth late Sunday evening.

Dial Rainey and family visited in J. C. Stark's home last week.

The shower that fell Sunday that we heard about didn't amount to very much. We hope it tries it again before many more days.

NEWS BRIEFS

The war department will advertise for bids on approximately 7500 motor trucks and cars during next month to complete motorization of the army.

Mme. Marie Curie, the little woman whose work with her husband in a makeshift laboratory gave humanity the priceless gift of radium, died at her home in France Wednesday.

Texas was one of the few states where motor vehicle registrations did not decline in 1933, figures given out by the bureau of public roads reveals. The Texas increase, however, was only four-tenths of one per cent. The total number of motor vehicles registered in Texas in 1933 was 1,201,762.

State Senator Gus Russek of Schulenberg, sentenced last week on charges of conspiracy to violate the national banking laws, left Houston for the New Orleans workhouse Tuesday morning in the company of a deputy United States marshal and five other prisoners. Russek was given four months in jail in addition to a four year sentence, suspended conditional upon his payment of $5000 fine. He pleaded guilty to the charges. The senator is chairman of the state senate banking committee.

Tarrant County Baptist Ministers Association will not pray for rain. The members decided against it after a heated debate at the conference of the association Tuesday. "I doubt that we deserve rain," said one pastor and leader in the debate against prayers. "If we are suffering we must remember that the government plowed up a lot of food last year." "This is retribution for the greatest gambling mania in history. Furthermore, two-thirds of the population never even darkens a church door."

Texas has fared generously during the last year in the new deal expenditures by the Roosevelt administration. Probably $500,000,000 of federal money has come into the state or been allotted for expenditure here. Of the public works funds of $3,300,000,000 provided a year ago and the new $500,000,000 recently appropriated by congress, Texas received more than $170,000,000, which should have found its way into general circulation thru purchase of materials and furnishing employment.

President Roosevelt, now on board a cruiser named after the largest city in Texas, intends to bone up on Texas history en route to Hawaii. In the library of the Houston, just before it sailed, was placed at the president's request a history of Texas, written by the late Col. Louis Wortham. President Roosevelt has expressed a desire to visit Vice President Garner at his home in the summer of 1935 and to visit other Texas cities. He wants to know more of the only state which in 1932 gave him a larger majority than his own home state of New York.

A meeting of the state board of education will be held at Bryan July 30 to determine, among other things, the per capita scholastic apportionment for the 1934-35 school year. It is anticipated the apportionment would be $16 per child, based on an enumeration of 1,575,652 children. Since last September 1 the state has paid $16 per scholar which included a deficit of $5 per child, accumulated during the preceding two years. Officials said they expected to pay another $3 on the current $16 apportionment before September 1 and would start the new school year with a deficit of $2 per child.

Angered when aroused from his Pullman berth to be served with papers Monday night naming him as a defendant in a test case of the agricultural adjustment act, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace hurled the papers back into the face of the United States deputy marshal, Secretary Wallace had been named among the defendants in the suit instituted in the United States district court by the Royal Farms Dairy of Baltimore questioning the constitutionality of the act. The plaintiff also asked an injunction to restrain the AAA from examining his books.

EBONY

Monday began our new mail service at Ebony. We now have two mail routes, one from Mullin and one from Brownwood. The mail from Brownwood is carried by Mrs. Eula B. Faulkner. It comes by Indian creek and returns the Ridge route. The Mullin mail comes by Ridge to Ebony, then back by Regency and Ratler. The carrier is Haskell B. Holmes.

Bro. E. L. Green of Brownwood, who preaches for us once a month, will change his appointment from the third Sunday to the fourth Sunday. Everybody remember the date and come to church.

Mrs. J. F. Bateman and her two small sons, Joe and John Robert, and Miss Helen Beard of Fort Worth arrived at the Wilmeth ranch Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Bateman expects to visit here several weeks. Miss Beard will only be here a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Tippen, who spent several days of their honeymoon with relatives here, returned to Galveston Wednesday. A farewell party was given them Tuesday night at the home of his mother, Mrs. Lydia Tippen.

Miss Evelyn Reeves spent the week end with Miss Vivian Day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Crowder, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Dwyer, Billie Buri and John Franklin Crowder, Misses Grace Briley, Bernice Wilmeth, and Montie Ray Crowder spent Thursday night fishing on the river. They caught enough fish to have plenty for breakfast.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie McNurlen and Billie Ray, and Mrs. McNurlen's little brother, Moses Nance, fished on the river Saturday night. It is reported that they had "fisherman's luck", catching only one fish three inches long.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Wade and small son, Lowell, Jr., of Snyder, together with L. C. Wade of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and family of Snyder spent from Friday to Monday fishing on the river. They didn't get a fish, but they said they enjoyed the camping immensely.

The young people enjoyed a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lovelace Saturday night.

A horse fell on Walter Minica a few days ago and broke his leg. He is reported to be doing nicely.

Lillard Wilmeth, who is attending school at Denton, came in Saturday night to spend the holidays at home. He caught a ride with Miss Mattie Ella Cravens, a teacher in Teachers' College at Denton, who was coming to Brownwood. His cousin, Old Jones, brought him out from Brownwood. He returned to Denton Tuesday.

Verma Rae Lovelace of Brownwood spent the week with her cousin, Joyce Lovelace.

Mr. and Mrs. Oil Dwyer visited Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Crowder Sunday after church.

Holt played Ebony here Saturday afternoon. The score stood 10 to 5 in favor of Ebony.

Several from here attended the picnic at Oakland the fourth.

Jack Williams of Oakland drilled a well for J. R. Briley last week. He was assisted by Dave Love and Chas. Whittenburg. They began to drill Thursday afternoon and practically had the well done Saturday morning. They drilled about 135 feet, most of the drilling through solid rock, before striking water. They drilled to a depth of 150 feet and Mr. Williams said the water stood about 100 feet deep in the hole.

Mrs. W. H. Reeves attended the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. I. T. Guthrie, at Mullin last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Tippen and children, Norma Sue, Forest Wade and Willie, Jr., spent the week end with Mr. Tippen's mother and sister, Mrs. Lydia Tippen and Mrs. Effie Eger.

Misses Vivian and Erlene Day and Miss Evelyn Reeves visited at the Wilmeth's Sunday afternoon.

HOUSING CAMPAIGN

The new housing bill is calculated to stimulate business in a big way and it should be very helpful in this section, where the building crafts have been partly idle for some time.

The new law authorizes the government to make good houses cheaper and more numerous.

It provides long term loans at low interest, cutting out the short term loan and the second mortgage worries. It eliminates the horror of being foreclosed, the high priced interest, and in connection with this campaign the construction industries are

WE PAY GOOD PRICES For Quality Eggs!

Regardless of the price of eggs, producers realize little from them if they are half bad when sold. On the other hand, if all the eggs are good, the price does not have to be so high to realize a bit of money from them.

Gather and Sell Regularly

Our advice is to gather the eggs once or twice a day and then market them two to three times a week, keeping them in a cool place all the time till sold.

Also it is best to keep the roosters away from the hens at this season of the year. Infertile eggs are nearly all good eggs if cared for.

News Notes Clipped From the Mullin Enterprise

Miss Ruth Florence Mullin of Goldthwaite visited friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Williams and family spent Saturday and Sunday in the home of J. T. Sanders.

Mrs. J. N. Crockett, Mrs. I. McCurry and Mrs. B. McCurry visited Mrs. W. L. Clark in Brownwood this week.

Mrs. Billy Carlisle of Pompey visited her brother, G. W. Absher, and her son, John Carlisle, here the first of the week.

James Kirkpatrick and Walter Davis Chapman of Abilene made a brief visit in the Mrs. M. C. Kirkpatrick home Sunday.

Miss Loraine Lockett and Seaborn Collins of Brownwood accompanied Miss Tootsie Hancock home Sunday from a week's visit in Brownwood.

Reports from W. W. Mosier are fine. He expects to come home from a Temple hospital the latter part of the week and is doing as well as could be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Barker and daughter, Miss Verna Lee, visited relatives in San Saba Monday and Miss Bernice Horton returned home with them for a visit.

Miss Mary Hancock, who is attending business college in Brownwood came home Friday to honor the Glorious Fourth. She will resume her studies Thursday.

Wilbur, Clinton and Laverne Stark of Palmdale, Cal., left Saturday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Stark, for their home, after a visit here with their grandparents.

Miss Emma Harvey was knocked down by a cow Monday and her back was painfully injured. She was milking a cow, when another cow hooked at her and knocked Miss Harvey backward.

James Fisher returned to his home in Brownwood Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fisher. James had made an extended visit here with his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Herrington.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Herrington made a trip to Temple Sunday and Mrs. Herrington had treatment at the hospital. She seems to be improving nicely and making excellent progress toward a full recovery.

Mrs. Jimmie Pulliam of Austin visited in the editor's home Saturday. She accompanied J.H. Randolph here and while he attended business she visited. Mrs. Pulliam is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph and was formerly Miss Jessie Smith.

W. C. Weston and family, H. R. McDougall and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hays and Donald Clendenin report a big fishing trip on the Colorado river Friday and Saturday. They caught over fifty pounds of fish and had a delightful outing.

Mrs. Arthur Hubbard and son, Billie Jack, and Mrs. Jack Copeland and daughter, Edwina, of Dallas, Mrs. E. F. Noe of Clovis, N. M., have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Smith. They left Friday for a visit with Ed Stephenson and family in Brownwood.

Supt. Tolbert Patterson spent the week end here and left for Comanche, where he has been appointed assistant adjustment officer for Comanche county in the cotton acreage and production determination. G. R. Gosby of Comanche has been appointed to the same office in Mills county.

Men are at work repairing the Bigou bridge. It sank about 22 inches Friday from the center of the bridge to the far edge and water was running over at the lowest point. E. A. and W. S. Kemp were indeed fortunate, as they passed over it with a truck loaded with grain a short time before the collapse, and are to be congratulated on the smile they had from Dame Luck.

Miss Mabel Smith, daughter of O. E. Smith of Mullin, is listed among those students at Texas State College for Women (CIA), who are doing practice teaching in the Denton public schools.

Miss Smith, a senior at the college majoring in primary education, is a member of the Dramatic Club and for the past year has acted as secretary and reporter for that organization.

EDITOR APPOINTED ACTING POSTMASTER AT MULLIN

R. H. Patterson, editor of the Mullin Enterprise, received an appointment the first of the week from Washington to be acting postmaster and to take charge of the official duties immediately.

S. J. Eaton, who has been an efficient and capable postmaster for the past twelve years, is graciously assisting the acting postmaster to familiarize himself with the new duties, and it is his intention to discharge the official duties, along the same efficient lines that they have previously been conducted.

Miss Birdie Burkett, who has had experience, both with Mr. Eaton and J. R. Clark in the post office, is assisting.

DUREN MAN RECEIVES A SERIOUS FALL

Luther Green fell off a windmill platform Monday and was fortunate to get by with a crushed finger that had to be amputated and a crushed heel. He was badly bruised and shaken. Mr. Green climbed up on the platform; it gave way and he and the platform fell together. It is estimated he fell 18 feet.

Mr. Green was carried to a Brownwood hospital for X-ray and treatment, and at last report was progressing nicely.

CAMPAIGN ADDRESS HERE MONDAY

E. E. (Pat) Murphy of San Angelo spoke on the streets here at 3 p. m. Monday. He was introduced by A. L. Shelton of Center Point.

This was Mr. Murphy's 49th campaign speech and he stressed the fact that the plain common people need a congressman and if they will vote for Pat Murphy he will always endeavor to treat them all alike and be just and fair to all parts of the district.

He says it is time to cut out some of politic's red tape in relief and get help to the needy.

He gave an interesting outline of his platform. He spoke at Zephyr Monday morning at ten and at Goldthwaite at 8 p. m.

MOORE—HODGES

Miss Lottie Hodges and Rhea Dell Moore of Pear Valley were married Saturday night at the home of Rev. L. L. Hays. Rev. Hays read the nuptial vows and the pretty ring ceremony was held. The bride was attired in a lovely white lace dress and all accessories to harmonize.

Miss Emma Farmer, Mrs. K. B. Henry and son attended the wedding.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodges of Duren. The groom is a promising young ranchman and farmer of Pear Valley and the happy young couple are located on his farm at Pear Valley.

1884—1934

J. L. Stark, Miss Grace Perkins, Mrs. W. H. McFarland, Misses Nell and Corinne McFarland attended the recent fiftieth wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Will Stark of Roe's Springs. There were 112 guests present to enjoy the golden wedding festival.

Hugh Stark of Palmdale, Cal., son of the honorées and Mrs. May Allen, also of Palmdale, Cal., were married at the celebration of his parents' wedding and gave the guests a pleasant surprise to be remembered for years.

FAMILY REUNION

The children and grandchildren of Parolle Hill are to have a reunion near Prairie school house on the Will Jenkins farm, July 10.

We are going to have a basket dinner. All friends are invited to come.

MRS. NOLLIE GODWIN

MEETING BEGINS

The Church of Christ meeting starts Friday night at the Baptist tabernacle. Elder Moore Eubanks will do the preaching. Services at 10:30 a. m.; 8:15 p. m., and will continue for ten days. Everybody invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mosier of Pompey visited Mrs. Ma Mosier Sunday.

R. L. Burks of Blanket is visiting relatives and friends here this week.

Miss Elsie Shanks of Bailey-bard and Miss Jewel Hancock visited in Brownwood July 3.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Smith and son, Jimmie, spent the fourth in San Angelo visiting friends.

Geo. R. Willis and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Willis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hamilton.

E. R. Shanks, J. C. Shanks and Mack Hancock visited Mr. and Mrs. Abe Dunsworth Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McCormick and two younger children of Stephenville visited Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Kemp Sunday.

C. D. Duren and family and Luther Green and family were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Green in the Duren community.

Mr. Holmes of Quanah has located here. He and his family are occupying the residence of the late Mrs. I. T. Guthrie. He will carry the mail out on route three.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ratliff received the news Friday of the death of their month old granddaughter at Tankersley, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ratliff.

Walter Campbell, a good farmer and ranchman out on route one, was in town Saturday and seems almost well again, after a battle through the spring months.

R. R. Shanks and daughter, Miss Elsie, and grandson, Clarence Alvin, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Wells and J. C. Shanks of Bailey-bard, Texas, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Mack Hancock.

The stores all closed in our city on the fourth and the business men had opportunity to go to the picnic. All the county candidates and many of the state candidates spoke at the Mullin creek picnic. A large crowd attended and dinner was served no the grounds.

The quarterly conference will be held at the Methodist church Saturday. The presiding elder, Rev. S. E. Sory, will preach at the 11 o'clock hour. Dinner will be served on the grounds and the conference held in the afternoon. Come and bring a basket and hear the presiding elder.

CRIME PROBLEM ANALYZED

In the Tax Journal Dale Miller of Dallas has an article analyzing the crime problem and lambasting the technicalities which work to the advantage of the criminal and against the welfare of society. Miller writes on economics and crime, has gone beyond being a subject for newspaper headlines, but strikes at the economic structure, government itself, according to many writers and authorities. Miller says this:

"So complicated have the processes of law and order become that it is untenable merely to demand reform in so many words without endeavoring to select and analyze the real grievances. What can be salvaged rationally from all this is the tangible fact that there would not be nearly so many Barrows and Hamiltons, Baileys or Kelleys or Bateses, if the confusing technicalities of law did not assure them a comfortable chance to escape justice. What is needed in this country is to renovate the and make it twentieth-century whole range of jurisprudence modern.

"We long since have passed the day when we could afford to be benevolent toward criminals. Modern progress has given swift mobility to organized crime. All these things rise up to demand a crime fighting force, from the policeman on his beat to the executive in whose hands the power of clemency lies." — Tax Journal.

DEMOCRACY

Since 1931, Great Britain, the United States and France have weathered serious crises. In not one of the three cases was the constitution infringed, or violence invoked, or liberty impaired. There were no arbitrary arrests or imprisonments without trial. That there should be excitement and vehement controversy was natural enough, but the necessary changes were made and the essential results achieved without injustice or oppression. In each case the electorate and the legislature recognized that a strong executive was the principal need in the special conditions, and that to meet those conditions special powers must be conferred. That was done accordingly. In these three countries, at least, democracy was vindicated; whatever ineffectiveness may have discredited it elsewhere, here it was proved, in all men's sight, that a free constitution was able to act with readiness and to meet dangers with success.—Sir Herbert Samuel, in Current History.

HERE AND THERE

New York leads all the states in the amount borrowed by banks and other eligible firms from the reconstruction finance corporation, with Ohio second and California a close third.

"My husband gets only $10 a week," wrote a Northern Ohio woman to NRA authorities "and we have had to take cemetery lots for the balance. We already have 10 lots and we surely don't need that many for our family use."

The Denton county sheriff, wounded Monday night in a shooting during a beer raid on a cafe at Justin, Denton county, died in a hospital that night. Jimmie Glascock, co-operator of the cafe, whom officers accused of wounding the sheriff, was killed in the shooting.

Their bodies twisted by a mysterious malady that already has claimed seven male members of their families since 1868, two brothers wait for death in their home in the hills near Belmont, Ohio. A clinic of 50 specialists once examined members of the family, but the experts were unable to diagnose the disease other than to say it is a form of paralysis. The malady, apparently a strange hereditary disease, which afflicts only the masculine members of the family, always appears when its victims are five years old. The seven previous victims died when they were 18.

Spending of the United States government in the 1934 fiscal year ended June 30, reached a peace time record high of $7,105,050,085, of which more than half was for relief and recovery, the treasury reported. The expenditures exceeded income for the period by $3,989,496,035, the fourth successive fiscal year the government has been unable to "live within its income." All the nearly $4,000,000,000 spent in excess of income was borrowed directly from American investors and bankers.

NEW FLUID STOPS BLEEDING

After two years of work, a chemist of Sudbury, Ontario, Canada, has developed a fluid, which he claims will stop the flow of blood from a wound whether it be large or small. He demonstrated the effects of his discovery to other doctors by severing the jugular vein of a rabbit and then stopping the flow of blood by application of the fluid. As proof of its practical value he cited a case where it had been used to stop the bleeding after a man had both legs amputated. When serious hemorrhages followed operations it has been used with success by several doctors.—Selected.

Poison, Luxury, Necessity—the Tomato Evolves In Its Century of Edible Existence

Governor Ferguson of Texas, with Tomato Salad

HOW the tomato has evolved! Not so long ago it was regarded as poison, and, judging by its original name, "love apple", apparently a most insidious one. Then it became a luxury. Now the tomato enters into more dishes served on the American table than does any other fruit or vegetable.

No longer a luxury, it has come by way of being an institution. So much so, indeed, that a national festival is being held this year to honor the tomato, on the one hundredth anniversary of the discovery that tomatoes are good to eat. In Texas, where much of the crop is grown, Governor Miriam Ferguson this month proclaimed a state-wide celebration and made public some of her favorite recipes calling for the use of tomatoes.

A great mineral source, providing phosphorus, calcium and iron, tomatoes are also exceptionally high in vitamin content. They contain vitamins A, B and C, the last named in abundance.

Old Age Pension

There is much discussion during the present campaign of the merits and advantages of an age old pension, either by the state or federal government, but it is not likely the plan will ever be put into execution. Many of the helpful plans of government the past few years have unavoidably had a paternalistic tendency, but no one has gone so far as the old age pension plan, which would remove the last vestige of self-dependence or the impetus to individual effort and economy. Such a plan would go further toward a socialistic government than any that has ever been advanced or suggested. To be sure, a number of the states of the Union have such a plan in operation, but the statistics available do not indicate that such a plan has been helpful for the general public.

The Texas Weekly, in discussing this question at length and quoting statistics from several sources, says in part: "In Denmark which has the oldest pension law in the world, the number of persons receiving such pensions nearly tripled in the thirty years between 1892 and 1923, the burden becoming so intolerable that the law was amended in 1924. In New Zealand the number of persons receiving old age pensions increased from 1.47 per cent of the population in 1921 to 2.12 per cent in 1932. And not only the number of pensioners tends to increase, but likewise the amount of money received by each. In this country, for example, the average monthly sum paid to old-age pensioners increased from $17.10 in 1928 to $26.11 in 1932."

So far, the people of Texas have not taken the proposal seriously, but the bill of the system should be carefully considered before an effort is made to inaugurate the plan in this state and have this wonderful country imbued with the thought of paternalism. It has long been recognized as a correct principle that the people should support the government, not the government support the people.

Voting a Privilege

Every citizen who is entitled to cast a ballot in the selection of officials to manage the affairs of government should appreciate the casting of such ballot as a privilege to be prized above all other civic actions. The ballot in the hands of free people should never be lightly esteemed, but should be regarded as a sacred right. Too many people think too lightly or do not think at all of the wonderful privilege of being a part of a free government, whose citizens have equal rights and privilege. Neither wealth, education or social standing have an influence on the right of citizenship and the only requirement for the continuity of the privilege is upright living and the observance of the rights of others. The privilege of the ballot should indeed be regarded as a heritage that is to be held sacred. Too few people vote for or against a candidate because of his affiliations or alignments. In other terms, much of our voting is destructive rather than constructive. We want to defeat some man, regardless of his qualifications or elect some one irrespective of his fitness for the office. If the motive of all voting was to secure the best men and measures there would be a marked improvement in the results.

Helping the Farmer

The federal government has adopted several plans looking to helping the farmers of the country, which in effect would help everybody, for a great portion of the country, if not the whole of it, is dependent on the producer of food stuff and products of the farm and ranches. All of this effort has been, no doubt, with the best of motives, but the idea that the farmer, or any other independent citizen of this country wants gratuitous help is a mistake, while any who do want such help are undeserving. The help the farmers and all other citizens need and appreciate is an opportunity to help themselves. Not a gratuity. It is a fact that government farm relief measures have made their most conspicuous successes when they have sought to help the farmer to help himself and have come nearest to failure when they have tried to change a condition through legislation or executive fiat. All the farmers or any other self-dependent class of citizens want is a stabilized market and better prices for what they have to sell. Nobody objects to paying a good price for what they buy, if they receive a good price for what they have to sell. This is exactly the status of the farmers of this country. Give them a good price for their products and they will be able and willing to pay good prices.

Results of Carelessness

It is obvious that the law governing responsibility for automobile accidents is failing somewhere, for a great percentage of the accidents are traceable to carelessness. Study of the statistics reveals that a majority of the 756,500 automobile accidents in the United States in 1933 occurred on straight, dry roads, in clear weather, and involved cars in good condition driven by persons with a year or more of experience. Over 75 per cent of these drivers were persons of mature age—from 25 to 64. The majority of the 30,000 deaths and 850,000 injuries must be attributed to carelessness. Not all of the carelessness is chargeable to the drivers of the cars involved, but many of them could have been averted by a little care and the curbing of a desire for more speed. The mounting number of accidents already recorded for this year certainly indicates that there will be very little reduction for 1934 from those of the previous high record years.

Change in Tax System

Now that the time for saving interest and penalties by the payment of delinquent taxes has passed, it is well to look into the real condition and face the situation honestly. It is true beyond dispute that many property owners whose taxes are delinquent have been unable to pay and for them some system of relief should be evolved, be it by legislative enactment further extending the time of payment, reducing the amount due or some other plan yet to be evolved. The fact is, if the government can operate with the per cent of taxes collected the past several years, it certainly could be maintained on a much lower tax rate if all paid. Then, it would seem but fair to the regular taxpayer to reduce the rate and enforce the collections.

Health Hint

PURE WATER

The three Fs are generally responsible for the spread of typhoid fever, diarrhea, dysentery and enteritis. Drinking water is considered a food and, as it is used by all ages, great care should be exercised to assure one that their supply is pure. If uncertain the water should be boiled before used for drinking purposes. Surface water and shallow wells are always to be suspected unless proven otherwise. Your city or county health officer will be glad to advise you on the proper method to use in chlorinating your water supply.

It is during hot weather when the most complaints are received on account of diarrhea and dysentery, and parents should do their utmost to prevent it. The chief causes include impure milk, water, contaminated foods or wrong diet. If diarrhea develops the feeding should be stopped or greatly diminished and a physician called. Cathartics should not be given unless the doctor prescribes them.

The three Fs are the three sources of danger to the baby. Flies carry disease to the baby and its food. Fingers and hands that are not thoroughly washed before preparing the baby's food are likely to be germ carriers also. All milk and water intended for the baby should be boiled for five minutes and then kept in a cool place until used.

WORLD SUPPLY OF WOOL SHORT

The farm administration's agricultural economic bureau has announced that available world supplies of raw wool are smaller than at this time last year. Reductions are largest in southern hemisphere countries.

The bureau said the 1934 clip in the United States would about equal the 1933 clip, and that slight reductions in this year's clip in Great Britain, France and Germany were in prospect.

Supplies available for export from southern hemisphere countries were put at nearly 25 per cent less May 1 this year than last year. The bureau said the Australian clip might be larger this year than last, but that drouth in South Africa up to last November probably reduced production there.

It added no material change in the number of sheep in principal wool production countries, except a possible reduction in South Africa.

The bureau said political and economic uncertainties, especially the current German embargo on imports, had weakened the European demand and that it was not yet clear what direction demand would take in the United States during the season which began April 1, "although wool manufacturing activity was lower in the early months of 1934 than a year earlier."

BOLIVIAN LOGIC

Again Bolivia protests officially against the United States' ban on exportation of war material to the Chaco combatants. She insists on the moral obligation of this country to permit the shipping of all that was ordered before the proclamation of the embargo last month. She says her war plans will be seriously disarranged if she is deprived of the arms and munitions on which she has been relying for the future conduct of the war.

The protest affords ample reason why the embargo should be enforced literally. It is the purpose of the embargo to stop the war. If European nations were to follow the United States' lead the war would of necessity be stopped. For Bolivia to plead that she must have American war material in order to carry out her plans for the future is a poor way to win American sympathy.

It is undoubtedly true that Bolivia suffers more than Paraguay from the American embargo. This is merely fortuitous, and is not an indication of American partisanship. Yet it is, truth to tell, rather fortunate than otherwise. Everyone versed in the causes and the course of the controversy knows that the war was forced by Bolivia, that it was an arrogant attempt at territorial aggrandizement at the expense of a smaller and weaker nation, and that while it would be unwise for the United States to regret that Bolivia rather than Paraguay is the greater sufferer from the enforcement of the American policy. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TEXAS FARMERS RECEIVE $50,000,000 IN CROP REDUCTION PROGRAM

The federal government had paid Texas cotton and wheat growers nearly $50,000,000 up to June 1, for their participation in the agricultural adjustment administration's acreage reduction program. It was revealed this week in a comprehensive analysis of rental and benefit payments since the beginning of the new deal crop control program.

This means farmers in Texas have received approximately one quarter of the total amount paid farmers in all 48 states. Texans have been paid $49,040,075. Total payments for the entire country amount to $200,680,399. Of the Texas payments, $45,296,099 was for cotton acreage reduction, while $3,743,975 was for cuts in wheat acreage.

Cotton checks sent to Texas totaled almost five times as much as cotton payments to the Lone Star State's two nearest competitors, Oklahoma and Arkansas, where growers received $11,704,232 and $11,621,938, respectively. Growers in each of Texas' big ten cotton producing counties received checks totaling more than half a million dollars, and in three of these, aggregate checks passed the million dollar mark. Leading cotton county was Lamb, where growers received $1,379,514. Second was Ellis, with $1,251,064 and third was McLennan with $1,020,493.

Only one other county received total payments of more than a million dollars. Lubbock got $1,011,347, of which $998,005 was for cotton cuts. Cotton payments in the remainder of the "Big Ten" counties gave Navarro $901,731; Nueces, $939,593; Jones, $688,094; Hill, $715,377; Collins, $37,040; San Patricio, $574,919; Williamson, $959,992.

Other cotton counties in which growers received more than half a million dollars were Bell, Crossby, Falls, Fannin, Hockley, Hunt, Limestone, Lynn, Milam, Runnels.

Leading wheat county was Ochiltree, with checks totaling $313,170; next was Carson with $270,176; while third was Swisher with $261,365.

Smallest cotton payment was to Jeff Davis county where the grand total of checks was $40.

Cost for the payments is secured from the processing taxes. Processing tax collections to June 1 by commodities were as follows: Wheat, $106,602,252; cotton, $134,635,293; tobacco, $16,066,606; field corn, $3,915,388; hogs, $59,475,788; making a total of $63,391,174 for corn and hogs.

In addition, processing taxes amounting to $7,684,181 were collected on paper and jute and this money likewise will be used for rental and benefit payments.

Processing tax collections on all commodities amounted to $43,292,450 for May alone. The total of all processing taxes collected to June 1 is 89.9 per cent of the total amount which the finance division estimated will have been collected by June 30. The June 30 figure is estimated at $373,800,000.

CAN'T HAPPEN

The greatest drouth in American history, and a drouth in Europe!

How often have we said that a five or six year famine couldn't happen in modern times because of transportation facilities. It probably won't happen, but we shouldn't say it couldn't.

It makes us think of Bible times and Joseph interpreting the dreams. It makes us wonder if we ought not to store up the bounty for lean years.

We are doing the best we know. We could readily see we were interperate about raising twice as much cotton as the world could consume. It would be hardly fair to say the cotton plow up is not the proper thing temporarily.

But, let us not think that providence is not at work and that things are purposeless. We can practically be sure that we can not predict the future in any way and also that it will work out for the best.—Temple News.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEWS OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

FURTHER THREATS TO WORLD TRADE

During the last few days intimations of additional contemplated barriers to international trade have been received. An unofficial announcement has been made to the effect that Japan is likely to play upon conflicting British empire trade interests over a month ago. Spokesmen for Germany on the same day stated that Germany would adopt measures to salvage her foreign trade if it were threatened by Holland and Great Britain.

Following the breakdown of the negotiations between British and Japanese cotton interest over a division of empire markets for cotton textiles last March, it will be recalled that Great Britain announced that restrictions against importation of Japanese goods into her colonies would be enforced. It was predicted at the time that this policy of discrimination naturally would tend to bring about retaliatory action on the part of Japan and react to the detriment of both nations. It now appears that Japan is about to strike back.

The Japanese trade envoy visiting the British West Indies announced last week that Japan was prepared to enter into negotiations with Canada and Australia for trade treaties that would result in reducing British exports to these two dominions. Inasmuch as both nations, and particularly Australia, have favorable trade balances with Japan, she is in a position to bring considerable pressure to bear to obtain her concessions. However, in the event that the dominions should refuse to accede to Japanese demands, the trade envoy is reported to have stated that Japan would boycott Canadian and Australian raw materials now imported in large quantities.

While British trade is thus threatened by Japan, Germany also is ready to take reprisals against Britain, as well as Holland, if these nations adopt clearing measures to collect funds to reimburse their nationals for nonpayment of German bond interest. Germany buys more from the two empires than she sells them, and hence is in position to inflict damage upon the export trade of the colonies and dominions.

World trade already has been reduced drastically by depressed buying power and hampered by exchange restrictions, tariffs, embargoes and quotas. These threatened restrictive measures are discouraging in that they forecast further strengthening of the "walling-in" movement that is such a heavy burden to recovery forces. — New York Journal of Commerce.

WHILE MAN QUARRELS NATURE TAKES TOLL

News of the drouth and heat wave hampering the corn belt is a sharp reminder that the farmer's primary enemies are neither over-production nor high freight rates, but ancient inanimate forces that can neither be defeated nor wholly understood.

The first cave man who scratched the soil with a stick and dropped a few wild seeds into the scratch was at the mercy of the elements; and ultra-modern farmer, who uses expensive machinery and gets advice from his state agricultural college, is, in the last analysis, in the same boat.

Whether he will get a crop depends on things over which he has not the slightest control — rain, wind and sun. If they are kind, his ground will yield bountifully; if they are not, it won't and there is nothing he can do about it.

The old risks of agriculture — the oldest business risks in all the world — are the same now as they were before the pyramids had been built.

The corn belt's sufferings this spring remind one of those eerie predictions some geologists have made — that the greater part of the interior of America is destined, some day, to become semi-arid and barren, a nearly waterless region, where things will not grow and men will not be able to live except as scattered nomads.

To be sure, not all geologists make this prediction, and those who make it put the time of this change far in the future — which to a geologist, means anywhere from 50,000 years up, so that no one need worry for fear that the hot dry weather which is blighting crops today is the forerunner of the desert's arrival in Iowa.

Nevertheless, these stories of parching drouth and devastating heat make one think about it. And they lead one to wonder how long it will be before men get sense enough to settle their differences with one another and present a united front toward their real enemies — the implacable and irresistible forces of nature.

For these troubles of the present day — over-production, marketing difficulties, tariff restrictions, falling prices and the like — are, after all, secondary. Settle them all, and there still remains the task of forcing the earth to yield enough to feed the teeming millions.

That is the oldest of all society's problems, and it will be the last to be solved. — Corpus Christi Caller.

A RELIEF LAW VOID

An Arkansas law declaring a moratorium on the enforcement of liens on the proceeds of life insurance policies was condemned by the unanimous vote of the United States Supreme Court as a violation of the constitutional provision against impairment of contracts. Chief Justice Hughes wrote an opinion distinguishing the Arkansas statute from the Minnesota mortgage moratorium law, which was sustained a few weeks ago by a vote of five to four. In the Minnesota case, he said, the relief granted was reasonable from the standpoint of mortgagor and mortgagee and "limited to the exigency to which the legislation was addressed." In the Arkansas law the relief was neither temporary nor conditional. The four dissenters in the Minnesota decision concurred in the finding, but in a separate opinion, written by Justice Sutherland, declared that the question before the court was identical with the Minnesota case. They rejected as unsound and dangerous doctrine the notion that violation of provisions of the constitution may be measured by the length of time they are to continue or the extent of the infraction. Said Justice Sutherland: "We do not possess the benevolent power to compare and contrast infringements of the constitution and condemn them when they are long-lived or great or unqualified, and condone them when they are temporary or small or conditioned."

It is by a narrow margin that the court sustains the theory that the "reserved powers" of the state may be employed for a fixed time under the stress of emergency to suspend the strict application of the constitutional restraints on the states. — New York Sun.

MAN POWER

If power were ever given to the majority of us who have none, it might go to our heads. The sense of authority does change those who come into it suddenly. Riches do the same thing, for riches are power in their way. The millionaire comes to believe he should have an advantage in everything because he is a man of money. The political boss believes he should be a boss because he likes bossing.

There is in each and all of us an ego which is constantly striving for expression. It will assert itself at the smallest chance. The Socialist, the Communist, the Democrat, the Republican, the prohibitionist may sincerely wish the greater number when he is lined up obscurely in the latter rank. But give him authoritative office, give him power, and his ego breaks its least. He wishes thereafter to exert his power to retain his power, not first and foremost to raise the commonality. Indeed, he resents anyone rising from the ranks to dispute his own chieftainship. Dictators are concerned first for perpetuating their dictatorship. Mussolini may honestly wish to improve the condition of his people, but he most zealously wishes to retain his personal power. It is the same with Hitler, same with Stalin, same with Jake Jones, in a post of authority. How the powerful man should use his power may be a matter of dispute. There is no written rule. But the sense of power never conduces to humbleness. If state Press should ever have rulership over a corporal's guard in number, he would probably be like a corporal — give orders, look stern and enforce discipline. He would aspire to be a sergeant and look stern, give more orders and be a stricter disciplinarian. The inward urge to rule is what makes vain man try to boss his wife. — State Press in Dallas News.

AN OFFICIAL OBSERVER

Ever since he was elected vice president, Mr. Garner has had to stand for considerable kidding about his job. It now appears that this has not bothered him in the least. In an article in the American magazine he reveals what he thinks of the vice presidency. It is an obscure office, he writes, far from being, as "toast masters and caption writers say," the second most important post in the Republic. "Delightful it is," says the ruddy and genial former Representative from Texas, "but almost entirely unimportant." "I wouldn't have chosen the job," he confesses, saying that he could not refuse it as acceptance was an obligation to a party "that has supported me for thirty years." But now that he has it he likes it.

Mr. Garner's article is delightful and refreshing. It is far from being what he calls a public utterance of a statesman, but is the confession of a man whose only work is to preside over the senate and, in this administration, anyway, to attend cabinet meetings. There is, however, a touch of pathos running thru it. Jack Garner misses the house and the excitement that he knew for so many years. But an un-falling sense of humor allows him gently to kid himself for occupying an unimportant post, where there is less work, less power and less responsibility than he has ever had before.

All Mr. Garner has to do now is to take life easy, go fishing and "dress up fancy" now and then. Of course, he has a good precedent to be a "show horse," (his phrase) if he wants to, but he doesn't. Even when, sitting over the senate, his trained political mind sees things that are wrong, it doesn't do him any good to fuss, because, as he says, he "hasn't even the power to initiate reform." He would like to see fewer senate committees with fewer members; thinks that would forward efficiency. But he can't do anything about it: "The vice president can only observe." — Washington Post.

JAPAN GETTING NERVOUS

Japan's unwillingness to show its hand at the London naval conference has made a bad impression on Great Britain and the United States. These understand from Japan's failure to state its desires that it expects to go alone and develop its fleet at its own pleasure. In consequence, the two other nations have taken the hint and now are planning for a vigorous enlargement, not diminution of naval strength. This is not what Japan wishes. It desires them to reduce while it enlarges. It has decided, therefore, to send to London two admirals with definite instructions.

This action is probably too late. The British First Lord of the Admiralty has announced that in his opinion, "international disarmament has become a dream." — No one now seriously expects the renewal of naval agreements in 1935-36. Great Britain has determined to maintain, if possible, its world trade and to defend its trade routes with a superior navy. The United States has decided to base its fleet definitely on the Pacific, and has no intention of permitting that ocean to become a Japanese lake.

The Pacific is now the center of diplomatic policies, and Japan will henceforth not so easily win its aims in expansion of trade and territory. — Dallas News.

50,000 TO GET TREE NURSE JOBS

Fifty thousand men will be added to the civilian conservation corps next month as part of the government's $525,000,000 drouth relief program.

Recruiting will take place in 22 states in the drouth areas.

President Roosevelt has authorized use of $2,500,000 for the increase to the corps.

Robert H. Fehner, director of emergency conservation work, at Washington, estimated the amount would keep the 50,000 new men in camp for three months. He said he had an understanding that the President would ultimately turn over a total of $50,000,000 for the CCC phase of the drouth relief program.

The states in which a total of 150 to 200 new camps will be established include Oklahoma and Texas.

Each of the new camps will have a strength of 250 men and all existing camps in the drouth regions will be increased from 100 to 250.

The national park and forestry services now are selecting locations for the new camps.

ask that San Saba county be included in the drouth relief area in West Texas.

The equipment for the two canneries at San Saba and at Highland Springs, is arriving daily and will be immediately installed and set to operation. Two car loads of cans are in transit and soon this enterprise will be one of the busy scenes of the county relief program.

FISHING LAW

The game warden for this district requests the publication of the information that it is unlawful to fish with a trot line in San Saba county or to fish with a line with more than one hook in the waters of that county. This does not apply to Mills county, but citizens of this county who go fishing in any of the streams of San Saba county should remember the law.

CARD OF THANKS

The members of the Burns and Kirby families desire to express their heartfelt thanks to their friends in Goldthwaite and elsewhere for the kindness and sympathy extended to them at the time of the death and funeral of Mrs. R. L. Burns. The ladies of the Church of Christ, joined by other ladies of the town, prepared dinner for the family on the day of the funeral, while friends supplied beautiful flowers for the homes in Coleman and Goldthwaite and for the funeral. So much kindness was shown them that all can not be enumerated, but it is all appreciated and held in grateful remembrance.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Spending twenty years trying to get into the United States from his native Austria, and accomplishing it only on the third attempt was the experience recounted by Maximilian Koller, one of several newly naturalized citizens honored by the Dallas Patriotic Association Wednesday.

A vast program entailing the strengthening of the levee system of the United States side of the Rio Grande, providing a system of relief channels or floodways, clearing the channels of brush and timber, and building control structures to prevent dangerous back cutting of the levees, is proceeding rapidly.

Six lynchings was the record for the first six months of 1934, according to information compiled at Tuskegee Institute in the department of records and research. This compares with eight lynchings in the first six months of 1933 and five in the first six months of 1932. All of the persons lynched were negroes. The states in which lynchings occurred and the number in each state are as follows: Florida, 1; Kentucky, 1; Mississippi, 2; Tennessee, 1; and Texas, 1.

NEWS FLASHES

The first bale of 1934 cotton from Nueces county was sold at auction in Corpus Christi Monday, bringing $150 to the grower.

The Japanese cabinet has resigned and high naval and army circles pressed their campaign for a more militaristic government.

Three unmasked bandits escaped Monday, after stealing $1500 from the Morris County National bank at Naples. The bandits forced bank employees to put the money in a sack, then locked them in the vault.

Formal opening today of its $5,000,000 distillery, the largest in the world, was announced by officials of a distilling company in Peoria, Ill., this week. The new plant will turn out 100,000 gallons of whiskey a day and its daily grain consumption will be 20,000 bushels.

A federal roundup of a powerful counterfeiting ring operating in middle western states is revealed with the arrest of the alleged leader of the gang. Federal agents said five women and fifteen men had been taken into custody. The gang is alleged to have passed approximately $75,000 in spurious $10 bills.

The new federal housing act, passed when congress adjourned last week, was termed "the most important mortgage legislation ever enacted by congress," by Hugh Potter of Houston, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, in addressing the twenty-seventh annual convention in Houston. "This act is expected to produce far-reaching results in re-organization of a mortgage structure of the country along the lines of longer-term loans and lower interest rates," Mr. Potter said.

From the underworld hideouts of Chicago to the lone country of Northern Indiana federal, state and local authorities are seeking to pick up the trail of mankilling John Dillinger and his bandit companions. Authorities express the belief that the desperadoes separated following the raid on the bank at South Bend, Ind., Saturday, in which a policeman was shot to death and Dillinger and his henchmen escaped with $30,000 loot.

The department of agriculture's bureau estimates the new United States wheat crop will be about 100,000,000 bushels short of domestic requirements. The bureau estimated world wheat production, exclusive of Russia and China, in the 1934-35 season would be 77 per cent less than the preceding year, and that the world supply would be 8 per cent less than in 1933-34. It added the world supply for 1934-35 probably would be about 300,000,000 bushels less than that of the previous season, saying world prices which have risen "are likely to be maintained at a level somewhat above that of the past season."

Thomas Jefferson said: "Farmers, whose interests are entirely agricultural, are the true representatives of the great American interests, and are along to be relied on for expressing the proper American sentiments. Cultivators of the earth are the most valuable citizens. They are the most vigorous, the most independent, the most virtuous, and they are tied to their country and welded to its liberty and interests by the most lasting bonds. The proportion which the aggregate of the other class of citizens bears in any state to that of its husbandmen, is, generally speaking, the proportion of its unreason to its healthy parts, and is a good enough barometer whereby a measure in degree of corruption."

MRS. BURNS PASSED AWAY

The people of Goldthwaite and throughout this section were grieved last Sunday morning when the announcement came from Coleman that Mrs. Burns had died at her family home here, after several weeks illness. It was known here that her condition had been serious, but cheering reports had come from the sick room to bring hope of the recovery of the lady, who was loved and held in high esteem by everybody, wherever she was known and they were indeed shocked when the message came announcing her passing away.

Mrs. Burns, nee Kirby, lived in Goldthwaite many years, having moved from here to Coleman after the death of her husband, the late Mr. R. L. Burns, about eight years ago, after which time she made her home with her son and only child, Oscar Burns, and his family, while still owning her home and other property here.

Mrs. Burns was widely known for her kindness and generosity. She was ever ready—in the heat and in the cold, in the night time and in the day, to minister to the sick and needy, rendering every assistance within her power for the living and every service for the dead.

Mrs. Burns had as many friends as anybody who ever lived here and the expressions of grief were universal when the news of her passing came.

Funeral services were held in the home in Coleman Monday, after which the remains were brought to the home of Jake Kirby, a brother of Mrs. Burns, to await funeral services in the Church of Christ Tuesday afternoon and burial in the cemetery at this place, by the side of the grave of her husband.

A large congregation of former neighbors and other friends and many relatives attended the solemn service and the last sad rites.

Active pall bearers were nephews of Mrs. Burns. They were: Jake Sexton, Dallas; J. T. and M. C. Morris, Goldthwaite; Tommie, Earl, Ernest, Claud and Gaylon Kirby and Kirby Hooten Lometa.

Honorary pall bearers were nieces of Mrs. Burns and they stood at attention with wreaths of flowers as the bier passed by and as it was lowered into the grave. They were: Mrs. I. L. Allard, Dallas; Mrs. Felix Gribble, Lampasa; Miss Lois Kirby, Cisco; Mrs. Bill Baker, Mrs. Lawson Parmer, Mrs. Wooster Everett, Mrs. John Smallwood, Miss Mattie Kirby, Lometa.

Mrs. Burns leaves three sisters, Mrs. Dora Morris of this city, Mrs. Tom Hooten of Lometa and Mrs. Mollie Sexton, Dallas. She also leaves four brothers: John, Tom and Frank Kirby of Lometa; Jake Kirby of Goldthwaite, and two grandchildren.

She also leaves other relatives here, Lometa and elsewhere to mourn her going.

contact with them, to attend the service. I was not very proud of the results so far as attendance was concerned. But the bishop was at his best and preached a great sermon. Among those present was the rector of the Episcopal church of the city. He listened interestedly, and enjoyed the sermon. The following day he said to me: "I have heard Joseph Parker and many others of the great preachers of Europe and America. I say unreservedly that Bishop Mouzon does not suffer in comparison with any that I have ever heard." Then he added: "I am sorry that the entire city could not have heard him." This is all said by way of calling attention to the fact that many times we miss great and good things by an inexcusable spirit of indifference. J. S. BOWLES

Why Sell Your Grain at the Low Price?

It is a well known fact that grain is always sold at a sacrifice when sold at threshing time.

Those who built GRANARIES last year paid for their granaries and made a profit on their grain over and above the price they would have received at threshing time.

Times are on the mend, so why not take this opportunity to Make a Profit.

When you build a granary you should build it rat-proof and modern. We have plans furnished us by A. & M. College.
