A Bad Accident
Thursday morning J. H. Saylor was struck by a car on the street and he was knocked unconscious, while his truck was badly damaged. The driver of the car was not hurt, but his truck was damaged considerably. Saylor soon regained consciousness and was rushed to the hospital's office, where his injuries received attention. An accident occurred in front of Saylor's residence. J. H. Saylor had driven up the street and had turned the truck into his brother's yard, when the car coming from the street struck the fore part of the truck. Mr. Saylor was thrown out of the truck and struck on his head. It is worth remarkable that he was not more seriously hurt. The driver of the car is said to be a traveling salesman from Greenwood.

Self Culture Club
The Self Culture Club held its regular meeting in the club room on Tuesday evening, Feb. 24. This being the day for the election of officers, the following were elected: Mrs. J. S. C. and Mrs. E. C. Adams, assistants; Mrs. R. M. Thompson, parliamentarian.

The travel program took us through the South Atlantic states and was very interesting. Mrs. Smith of Temple was the host for the afternoon.

Cemetery Care
The cemetery association will meet at the court house on Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

The time for the election of officers is at hand and also collection of dues for the year. It is urged to take more interest in keeping the resting place of our loved ones in condition where we will be proud of all of those who have laid to rest some of their family on the hillside, would be co-operating with the four or five faithwomen who have held the cemetery association together. It struggled so hard to get enough funds, to at least, keep weeds and Johnson grass from obscuring the grave stones, would have a place showing to our friends and loved ones "gone, but not forgotten."

Methodist Notes
Those who attended the services at the Methodist church last Sunday, I feel sure, enjoyed them all. The pastor preached the best sermon, according to my opinion, that he has preached since he came here. This is in no sense strange, as he had an audience that would inspire any preacher to his best. The house was comfortably filled, notwithstanding the rather disagreeable day. I wish our people would learn that it is a mighty fine thing to attend the evening services. The preacher needs a large audience at the night service as much as at the morning hour. You need the service just as much, also.

The pastor and his wife are visiting their son in Goose Creek this week, having left for that place Monday morning. They will return the last of the week, so let us all be on hand next Sunday, at all the services.

The people of Goldthwaite had a real treat last Monday evening in the part of the Mullin orchestra had in the entertainment at the grammar school auditorium. This orchestra would be a credit to many much larger towns. I am sure the people were delighted and will always welcome them on a return visit.

The writer of these notes was graciously remembered in a handsome way by a former parishioner last week. Mrs. Charles Roy of Brownsville, Texas, where the writer spent four years as pastor of the Methodist church some years ago, remembered that about this time of the year the writer had one of his many birthdays. To aid in the celebration Mrs. Roy sent a basket of grapefruit, grown in her own yard. Well, now, did we enjoy it! You should have seen the antics of the entire household. Mrs. Bowles and Mary thought that since they were not involved in any way with the calendar in this birthday and that since this fine grapefruit was a family asset, that two birthdays a year would not be a bad thing. Well, at any rate, we all are enjoying some of the finest grapefruit that the magic valley can grow and its value is greatly enhanced through the generosity of a friend who has not forgotten us through the lapse of several years.
J.S. BOWLES

Delightful Program
The recital in the grammar school auditorium Monday night by Miss Mary Bowles' expression class was attended by a large audience and was heartily enjoyed, and the enthusiastic applause and hearty encores could be taken as an indication of the approval of those present. There were two playlets, several readings and songs, together with a number of specials. The little folk as well as the larger ones did their parts well and reflected credit upon themselves and their teacher.

The Mullin orchestra, under direction of Prof. Elliot, was one of the enjoyable features of the entertainment and the presence of a number of Mullin people was highly appreciated by Miss Bowles as well as the other members of the audience.

COMMITTEE

Delegation Visits Austin
A delegation composed of Mrs. John G. Berry, Mrs. W. E. Fairman, Mrs. W. E. Miller and Mrs. R. M. Thompson, representing the Goldthwaite Garden club, attended an executive board meeting of the Texas Federation of Garden clubs at the Driskill hotel in Austin on Tuesday of this week.

An interesting program and business session was held from 11 until 1 o'clock, after which luncheon was served in a beautifully decorated dining room, to approximately 150 ladies from different sections of the state.

Immediately following the luncheon Mr. Joe C. Gubbels, state highway official, spoke to the convention on beautification of highways and homes on or near the highways to make our state attractive to centennial visitors and to others.

At the close of the session an invitation was extended by Mrs. Alred to the ladies to visit the governor's mansion, where they were most hospitably received and shown over the house and grounds.

A drive and visit to the University of Texas and from there to the Elizabeth Ney museum with its wonderful statuary and paintings, was a treat to all.

From 4 to 5 o'clock tea was served at the Austin Woman's club by the members of that group.

A pilgrimage to Longhorn cavern was planned for those who remained Wednesday, for the second day's session. The state general meeting will be held in Houston in April. XX

L. W. W. Club
Center Point Welcome Workers club met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Florence Conner with ten charter members present, six new members and three visitors. Five charter members were unable to attend. This brings our membership up to twenty-one in number. Soon after the arrival of the guests, everyone found themselves busily engaged in quilting a quilt for the hostess. Busy were fingers and tongues for about two hours, and refreshments of hot chocolate and cake were announced. After refreshments were served a business meeting was held.

The visitors present were Mesdames Joe Spinks and Chester Williams and Mrs. Eula Nickols of Rock Springs. We are always glad to have visitors with us.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Ray Davis on the afternoon of February 14. All members are urged to be present.

Deacons Ordained
The Eagle is requested to make the announcement that two deacons are to be ordained by the Rock Springs Baptist church on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 10, at 2 o'clock. The public has a cordial invitation to attend the service, and all Baptist ministers and deacons are especially invited.

Cotton Association Is Reorganized
The Mills county cotton reduction association completed reorganization at a county-wide meeting held at Goldthwaite last Saturday. The district composed commissioners' precincts 1 and 4 elected J. D. Fallon, J. W. Featherston and Scott Thompson committeemen and L. H. Soules, alternate. Precinct 3 named Vestus Horton, Jim Soules and J. M. Geeslin, committeemen and Willis Hill alternate. Precinct 3 named A. A. Downey, J. H. Priddy and C. F. Noack committeemen and A. A. Moore alternate.

At a meeting of the above named community committees the following county committee was elected: J. D. Fallon, M. H. Fletcher and E. A. Obenhaus.

L. H. Soules, alternate for precincts 1 and 4 automatically became community committeemen, when Mr. Fallon was elected to the county committee.

Triple A Activities
The 1935 corn-hog sign-up is in progress, under direction of J. E. Peck, T. B. Graves, Willis Hill and M. L. Jernigan.

Producers who fail to sign in their own communities may meet them any day next week at Goldthwaite. Sign-up closes February 9.

All sheep and goat checks have been delivered and all cattle checks have come in except two. No corn-hog checks or parity cotton checks have come to the county agent's office.

The cotton reduction contract will be offered for new members as soon as blocks are furnished. So far, our information is that the cotton contract provides for a 25 per cent reduction or more, at the same rental paid last year. The parity payment will be 1 1/4 times that of this 1935.

Farm record books furnished by the department of agriculture are being mailed to all farmers. On these a complete record of all farm operations may be kept. At the end of the year the record may be filed for future reference. It will furnish data on which future commodity contracts and census reports may be based.

Now is the time to plant a few trees for the home orchard and to cut and store pecan buds and grape cuttings for spring propagation.

Shall we have another pecan school?
COUNTY AGENT

Merry Wives Club

Teachers To Meeting
The Goldthwaite public school is having holiday today, because of the teachers being in attendance upon a district teachers meeting in Brownwood. The district covers a number of counties in this section.

Poll Tax Payment Increased
The time for issuance of poll tax receipts that entitle the holder to vote closed last night at midnight. Hereafter, the tax must be paid when the property tax is paid, but the receipt will not entitle the holder to vote.

Up to yesterday afternoon 1340 receipts had been issued by the collector's office and it is believed the total reached possibly 1500 by the time the office closed.

On Feb. 1, all taxes become delinquent and will bear 1 per cent the first month, 2 per cent the second month and so on.

Automobile license plates will not be changed until April 1, at which time all motor vehicles must bear the 1935 highway license plates. These plates have been made in the Texas penitentiary for the first time and will result in a big saving to the state.

Tourney At Priddy
By an almost unanimous vote of all the coaches in the county, it was agreed to hold the Mills county basketball tourney at Priddy Saturday, Feb. 9.

The drawing will begin promptly at 8 o'clock on the day of the tourney and the first game will begin at 9 o'clock. There will be a game each hour of the day and each game will be under the control of an efficient and "square" referee.

The Priddy P. T. A. has taken care of the finance end of the tournament. Dinner will be served on the campus at 20c (all you can eat) with a reduced rate of 10c each to players and coaches.

The Priddy P. T. A. invites the entire populace of the county and trusts that the constituency of each team will follow its team to Priddy on Feb. 9.
JOEL I. GRIMLAND,
Ath. Dir., Mills County.

Nazarene Remarks
We had considerable increase in our services last Sunday; yet we feel that we are running far below par. We were somewhat disappointed in not having the quartette from the Pearl church with us, as had been previously announced, but as they were unable to get over, we are hoping to arrange for them to be with us at some future date.

Our Sunday school has made some increase lately, of which we are very proud. We shall expect a continued increase next Sunday.

Our regular services for next week are as follows: Sunday school, 9:45 a. m.; preaching, 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.; prayer meeting Wednesday 7 p. m.

Strangers are always welcome at our services.
CHARLIE HARRISON, Pastor.

Beautifying Grounds
The ladies of the Garden club are outlining flower beds and places for planting shrubbery about the city and when the plants grow and the flowers bloom the work of these ladies will be fully appreciated by citizens and visitors.

The court house lawn is also being prepared for planting flowers and shrubs and it is proposed to stop the making of trails across the lawn. Cement walks circle the lawn and lead to each entrance to the building and a request has been issued to use these walks instead of making trails across the grass.

Paving Planned
The city council has ordered a carload of Uvalde rock asphalt for paving on some of the streets. If it proves satisfactory and economical several of the streets will likely be paved, although no definite plans have been announced. The makers of the paving material will ship one carload as a sample of their products and if it is not satisfactory, it will be without cost to the city, other than the freight.

Baptist Reminder
Sunday school 10 a. m. Sunday morning.
Preaching 11 a. m. Sunday morning.
B. T. S. 6:00 p. m. Sunday evening.
Preaching 7:00 p. m. Sunday evening.

The meeting is going well at San Saba. I am enjoying the fellowship of this fine church. The pastor, Bro. Sam Taylor, and family are appreciated and doing a fine work.

Bro. Taylor will supply for me again Sunday morning. I hope that all teachers will work on their absentees for Sunday. Show your loyalty to your Sunday school during these next few Sundays that we have to do without our educational building.

At Sunday evening preaching hour we shall have as our guests a trio from the First Baptist church of Brownwood. The service will be entirely devoted to worship through music. May we have a good attendance at both B. T. S. and at the musical program.

Monday Bible Study
Circle No. 1 gathered at the pretty country home of Mrs. Otis Carothers for our weekly Bible lesson.

As we were met at the door by our hostess, we were assured of our being welcome in this truly Christian home.

Mrs. Tom Irwin led the opening prayer and Mrs. Ross had charge of the business.

After all business was transacted, Mrs. Chas. Rudd brought to us a very inspiring lesson on I Timothy.

We are still studying Paul's letters to the different churches and as he realizes his life is nearing the end, he pleads with them that they might carry on the work as God would have them do.

In conclusion of his letters he tells them to give their starved soul more prayer, more meditation on the word and more communion with God. Just how true of us today, how much we need more prayer, more meditation and more communion with God.

Mrs. Anderson closed our lesson with prayer.

Mrs. Carothers served a lovely plate of refreshments, consisting of pimento sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, cake and hot chocolate, with whipped cream.

Our hostess being such a lovely cook, needless to say, we enjoyed it, even to Mary Lou, Norma Sue and Sonny. We had 11 present.

Mrs. Hall will have the next meeting. Mrs. Elmer Scobey will have charge of the devotional and Mrs. Johnson will teach the lesson, II Timothy.

Tattler Honored
The Tattler, the Mullin school paper, was given second place in the editorial contest in the Texas High School Press association, in open competition with all high school papers, which is indeed an honor and is creditable to Mills county as well. The winner of first place in the contest was Houston high school and the third place was accorded San Antonio high school. The Tattler taking a place close between those to city schools is a source of pride for us all. Not only the editorial writer for the paper, but the sponsors, the staff, the school and the community are to be congratulated. This is not the first time the Tattler has been recognized by the press association authorities for its excellence and the Eagle believes it to be the best all-round school paper in Texas.

I remembered how Cardui helped my aunt. I sent for six bottles of Cardui and when I had taken them, I was much better and stronger. I did not suffer so much pain. I continued taking Cardui until I had taken nine bottles. I do not have the severe pains. . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."

ODD ACCIDENTS

Another office seeker, an Illinois man, is alive today only because he stooped to pick up his pencil just as someone fired a gun at him through the window.

Hunting accidents, of course, are frequent, but two similar ones occurring in different parts of the world are worthy of mention—a rabbit and a dog each shot the hunter. A rabbit hanging from the belt of a Hungarian nimrod gave an expiring kick, caught its foot on the trigger and discharged the gun. When another hunter in the Prairie state, laid his gun down for a moment his dog stepped on the trigger and caused a load of shot to be discharged into his master's leg.

A sneak thief in an Arkansas city had done well by himself until he added an alarm clock to the loot already in his pockets. When he accidentally set off the alarm, a passing policeman heard the racket and after investigating, escorted him to jail.

A Canadian bank clerk, so the reports says, usually starts the day off with a good stretch and deep breathing. While going through this procedure recently a lung collapsed and caused him to spend a few weeks in the hospital.

Be careful around the bathtub. A young lady of Indiana was about to take a bath, when she stepped on the cake of soap, skated right through the window and landed on a sand pile three stories below. Luckily she was unhurt.

When a Minnesota farmer went into the store of a friend he always helped himself to a piece of candy. One day he picked up an explosive torpedo, which had fallen among the candy from the fireworks shelf. When he bit into it, it exploded, seriously injuring him.

Although Harvey Pontius of Indiana, literally had his pants burned off he was not seriously injured from the flame. It all happened when Harvey forgot that his trousers were oil soaked and struck a match on the seat.—Pathfinder.

INTERESTING FACTS

Washington was born on Friday, and died in the last hour of the last day of the week, in the last month of the last year of the century.

Adams and Jefferson died on the same day, July, 1826.

Van Buren was the first president not born as a British subject.

Taylor, being a regular army officer, never voter prior to his election as president. John Adams lived longer than any other president, more than 90 years.

Tyler was a member of the provisional congress of the Confederate states and was member-elect of the permanent Confederate congress at the time of his death.

Lincoln was the first president to wear a beard. Grant was the first to wear a mustache, and also wore a beard.

Buchanan was the only president who never married. Cleveland was a bachelor when inaugurated, but married soon afterward.

William Henry Harrison was the oldest president upon taking office, 68; Theodore Roosevelt, the youngest, 42.—Kerrville Sun.

INDICTED FOR MURDER

Mrs. Ethel Johnson, 46, of Dallas, was indicted late Saturday by the Coryell county grand jury for the slaying of her son, Joe Blankenship, 20, and his 19-year-old bride, Bernice, on a farm near Gatesville, August 19, last year. The indictment was returned after an exhaustive two weeks investigation. More than 100 witnesses were called before the grand jury in the investigation of the double slaying, once called a murder and suicide by an official coroner's verdict. Mrs. Johnson was charged several weeks ago in a complaint filed by the dead girl's father, W. E. Davenport, prominent San Angelo attorney. The youth and his bride of less than a year, lying side by side, were found dead on the farm of Mrs. Johnson's father, George Middick, near Gatesville. A pistol lay nearby.

OWN AFFAIR

Two divorces and two remarriages in the president's family since he was inaugurated, are the cause of much comment, unfavorable and otherwise. Marriage of the daughter to a newspaperman Friday set tongues wagging through the country.

There is a divorce evil, but all divorces are not evil. Some are necessary to human happiness and social stability. One fact to keep in mind in considering these Roosevelt divorces and remarriages is that both had reached mature years and were capable of making up their own minds. They are entitled to live their own lives, and while it is true that a president's family, due to its conspicuous position should make more concessions to public opinion than ordinary families, the country has no claim upon any one but the president himself. His children are of age and he has no legal control over their actions. It would be stretching imagination too far to hold that the president was in any way responsible for the marital difficulties of his son and daughter. They were free to make their own choice, and made it.

No doubt these marital affairs have caused the president some grief and worry, thereby adding to his burdens. But he seems to be a man that takes everything that comes his way and keeps on smiling.—Abilene Morning News.

WILL HISTORY REPEAT ITSELF IN 1935? 1.5 BILLION BUSHELS CORN 1934, 2.5 BILLION BUSHELS CORN 1935. EXCESSIVE production of corn may be expected in the fall of 1935 unless a large percentage of farmers agree to hold plantings for the year within reasonable limits. It is pointed out by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The normal response to severe, though temporary feed shortages and high feed prices occasioned by severe drought is a planting of a larger than average acreage to corn the following year. At the same time, yields per acre usually return to normal and a record crop with low feed prices results. Then, after a year or two, livestock production, particularly of hogs, becomes excessive, and livestock prices also are forced down.

Washington and the Supper Table

By Edward Soules
 When do American women begin to age?
 What is the total amount of money paid in the United States? When and how did the extension "o'clock" originate?
 Is there any distinction made between right and left handed writers?

Answers to these questions will appear in High School Herald at week.

On last Tuesday evening the schoolers from ten or twelve schools adjoining Goldthwaite met in school auditorium here for the purpose of studying the curriculum revision program that is going on all over the state. Prof. G. A. Brooks of Howland Payne College, County Superintendent R. J. Gerald and Capt. A. H. Smith were the main speakers on the program.

Entertainment features on the program were numbers by the school orchestra and Girls Glee club of Priddy school.

Mary Bowles' Recital

Last Monday night, January 28, Miss Mary Bowles' expression class gave a recital in the grammar school auditorium. The recital consisted of music by Walter Elliot's orchestra of Mullin, a welcome address by the tiny tots, two playlets, several dances, several talks and a cabaret scene, with Virgil Howard as master of ceremonies. A large crowd attended and everyone seemed to be well pleased in the way the program was carried out.

Plans for Junior-Senior Banquet

By Florine Woody
 The juniors held a class meeting January 21 and discussed their plans for a junior-senior banquet. We have planned something that will be different and hope it will be one of the most outstanding events of the season.

The banquet will be held some time in March, but the exact date is not known. The juniors already are getting their data together and the plans of the banquet are to be kept secret.

The Observer

By Virgil Howard
 "Oh, you red-headed rascal!"
 He looks a good girl to the boy who is going to describe to you. He looks this way and I can see that he's pretty tall, probably six feet, has red hair, gray-green eyes, weighs about 145 pounds. He seems to "day dream" a lot about a certain blonde in the senior class. He was a member of the football team last year. He seems to be well liked among the members of the senior class. Maybe it is because of that winning personality of his. He's one of those studious fellows and makes pretty good grades. Who is he?

The girl described last week was Doris Robbins.

There's blondes and then there's blondes, but this one couldn't be in the class of "those fickle blondes." She is a grey-eyed blonde with wavy hair, medium build, five feet and four inches in height, weighs 105 pounds. She is an active participant in any move toward the betterment of her class or school. She was a member of the pep squad this year, and is also a member of the high school glee club. She is one of the best sports that the high school has ever known, or ever will know. Everyone that has her acquaintance knows her for a true and loyal friend. She is probably one of the best liked members of the senior class. Why? It's that winning personality and ever ready smile. Who is she?

From the Classroom

For the past four and a half months the biology class has been searching "here and yon" for insects and now have a collection of over a thousand.

Each member of the class was required to collect and mount 25 insects. They were required to mount them in a glass frame on a background of cotton.

Mary Clements presented the class with a collection of about 50 mounted butterflies. Her total collection of insects was over a hundred.

The best collection of insects was collected and mounted by Mary Clements, Sarah Fairman, Aileen Martin, Clara Blackwell, Juanita Rudd, Clara Bowman, Mary Margaret Bigham and Anna McLean. The above named group made A on their collections.

The project for the class during the last term will be collecting wild flowers. Each student is required to make a collection of ten different, perfect species of flowers.

Senior Class Play

For the past two months the senior sponsors have been reading play after play in the hope that they would find one suited for the class. At last they have eliminated all but three of the plays. They will probably choose one of these plays in the next week or two, and announce their list of characters. The play chosen will probably not exceed eight or nine characters.

The senior class is expecting a large attendance at their annual class play. The money derived from the play will be used in financing the senior project for this year. Watch for the date of the senior play.

The Price of War

When you hear anyone speak of the cost of the late world war, do they merely speak in the sum of money? Do they forget to mention the fact that soldiers paid with their lives that they might be victorious? Has it come to pass that the world is willing to forget those men who gave up their homes, children, wives and positions to fight for freedom? Do you ever stop to think that some person is suffering heartaches today, because they had to pay the price for your freedom? Think of the mothers, wives, sweethearts and sisters who gave their men that we might be free. Every soldier that paid with his life was some mother's son. Have you ever pictured the anguish, sorrow, grief and heartaches of that little mother as she watches day after day for her boy who will never return? At each new footstep at her gate, her heart beats faster, and the thought flashes through her mind, "could that be my boy coming home after all these years?" Then with a sigh and new pain in her heart, she turns again to her work. Before the little mother hangs a tiny gold star that signifies to the world that she gave her son to appease the gods of war.

In 1928 the Gold Star Mothers were given a free trip to Flanders Field that they might pass among the "crosses row on row," and see the graves of their sons. What mother wouldn't give back that trip to Flanders and the Gold Star if she could only class her arms around her son once more?

What of the soldiers who risked their lives fighting for their country, but are now unable to receive a cent of the soldiers' bonus? The government has money to use in keeping up the relief rolls, but they haven't the money to pay the soldiers what is due them. Who is it that starts the war with an eye to profit? It's the munitions manufacturers that do all they can to start war, and then they let "you" fight it.

Could you justly call a man "yellow" because he refused to fight the battle that someone else started; because he doesn't want to leave his home, wife and children and everything he has worked so hard to build up; because he can see into the future and vision the hardships, agony, and privation of his family?

War is a demagogue that sucks the life from nations in the form of their youths. As long as the nations resort to war to settle petty disputes, instead of settling them in peace, those nations must pay the price of war with their men and boys, and always there will be mothers who will have to pay the greatest price of all.

The greatest thing the government has done toward helping the mothers, whose sons' never returned, was the erection of The Unknown Soldiers' Tomb. The tomb signifies the gallant courage with which the unidentified soldiers gave their lives. Deep down in her heart, each mother cherishes the secret hope that it is the body of her son that lies within the tomb.

A great educator once said, "It is through the follies of others that we may learn to avoid those follies." So why not take heed to the destruction, grief and pain of the last war, and try hard to avoid another one.

The boys and girls of the Goldthwaite schools are getting a holiday today while the teachers are away attending the Mid-Texas Teachers convention, in session in Brownwood today and tomorrow.

This association is made up of the teachers of about twenty counties. Something like 1000 teachers are expected to attend the meeting. The program contains the names of some of the leading educators of the state, including State Superintendent L. A. Wood and Supt. C. N. Shaver, who is president of the state teachers association.

Our own school will be represented on the program by Mrs. Sparks Bigham, who will give a paper on new and improved methods of teaching reading. Also Supt. A. H. Smith is first vice president of the association and chairman of a committee to determine the educational progress made in this part of the state during the past year.

Orchestra Concert

Last Friday evening Jimmie King brought his Daniel Baker orchestra to Goldthwaite and presented a concert in the grammar school auditorium. The numbers played were the following: Anchors Aweigh, Aitar of Genius, Bugle Call Rag, Stars Fell On Alabam, Eighteenth Regimental March and Overture from Orpheus. Variety was supplied in the form of two numbers, Love Is Just Around the Corner, and Little Dutch Mill sung by Melton Smith; June In January and Love In Bloom, were sung by Misses

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Your community will always be just as good as the people who live in it make it.

Those who advertise must always keep two things in mind. First, they must have something to sell. Second, they must tell others about it.

Isn't it odd that little Finland would turn out to be the most truthful and honest of all the nations of the earth that owe us?

It is now that time of the year when but few New Year's resolutions remain.

Many of our citizens have learned that classified advertisements make money for those who use them. The Goldthwaite Eagle has a rate for such advertisements that is low enough to make them available to everybody. We would like to convince anyone who has anything to sell.

Every buyer in Goldthwaite owes it to his community and to his family to first try to buy everything he needs in his own community. And merchants owe it to the local buyers to keep in stock attractive goods at fair prices. If both parties do their part Goldthwaite will grow and prosper. Without this co-operation, business will lag.

Is it not much easier to stand on the side lines and criticize the players?

No method has yet been devised to make a man believe that which he does not want to believe.

It is agreed that the country is better off now than at any time during the past year, but no political partisans can be found who will agree upon the reasons for the improvement.—Selected.

PLAIN AMERICANS

A remarkable feature of the recent numerous congressional investigations is that nothing was revealed to indicate that American industry has departed from the basic principles on which it was founded—individual integrity, hard work, vision, sympathetic understanding of human needs, and other qualities that are the pillars of individual and group success.

Congress and some of the appointive officials of the administration assumed a somewhat belligerent attitude toward industry during the early part of the last session. That attitude was modified considerably when its promoters began to hear from the real owners of industry—the American people, the consumers. For instance, one squadron of New Dealers demanded that industry be made to pay, pay and pay through unemployment insurance, and that the unemployment insurance bill be passed forthwith. But when the people, the millions who have a vital interest in industry, were heard from on that subject, the members of congress who were coming up for re-election were delighted to help smother the unsound proposal to levy a new burden upon payrolls.

Owners of American industry are plain, everyday American citizens. It may be a disappointment to thrill-seekers to know these citizens are not hobgoblins, but is just as well to mention the truth occasionally, during periods of political hysteria.—Dover Advance.

Gladys Oxford and Ondora Ellis. Sextette from Lucia was played by six members of the orchestra and an amusing musical story, Auld Lang Syne, played by Mr. King, completed the program.

Mr. King is endeavoring to start an orchestra here in our high school. Judging by the excellent performance given Friday night, he merits our support and co-operation.

ANIMALS IN BIBLE TIMES

By Jasper B. Sinclair

In the far off Bible times many animals were respected and held in much higher esteem than they are today.

The domestic donkey, for instance, was the honored animal for carrying official dignitaries—kings, prophets and judges. The camel was the sign of wealth, its flesh being forbidden as food, although its milk was drunk and its hair used for weaving into cloth.

The humble cat was then not merely a house pet. It was carefully fed and protected at all times, and held in highest reverence by the natives of both Palestine and Egypt.

Deer were revered as symbols of grace and swiftness, causing their name to be used as a favored term of endearment by young and old alike. The lion was then as now the symbol of strength and courage; the king of beasts as it has always been down through the ages.

Among some of the tribes of Palestine the ram was highly esteemed, representing the omnipotence of the Deity, despite the fact that Abraham offered this animal as a sacrifice in place of his son. The herding of sheep is one of the earliest known industries. Among the Hebrews sheep represented God's pastoral care for man, and were thus highly respected. Even today the ewe lamb is the pet animal of the peasants of Jerusalem. Like the lion, the unicorn was also the symbol of strength and courage, the term being used figuratively as descriptive of great princes and chieftains.

Even the predatory animals, such as the wolf, jackal, leopard, hyena were respected for their evil ways in the animal kingdom. Rather than make them the objects of the hunt or the chase as in the present day, the natives of old Palestine permitted such as these to inhabit their own haunts unmolested.

A LIBERAL POLICY

The Eagle has been more liberal than judicious in the matter of subscriptions for the past three years, owing to the depression, but the time has come when all newspapers are being required to cull their lists to those who really want and pay for the paper. One requirement recently brought to the attention of the Eagle management is that the paper can only be sent through the postoffice at the second class rate to bona fide subscribers and business men who carry advertisements and are entitled to a copy of the paper to check such advertisements, but the old "free and easy" policy must be abandoned.

Examinations
The exams are over and everyone is wondering if he flunked or passed. Let's hope it was the latter in all cases. The report cards will be out this week. Lots of minds are being made up to study harder this semester. That is not a bad idea at all.

Honor Roll
The ones on the honor roll for the fourth month are:
Sixth grade: Mae Ellen Williams, Lucille Taylor, Ovella Wesson, J. C. Wesson.
Fifth grade: Zeta Lawson, Dorthea Marie Davis, Norma Lee Harmon.

Fourth grade: Florence Elizabeth Davis, Gerald Davis.
Third grade: Joe Taylor, Shirley Newman.

Second grade: Ruth Charlene Stark, Barbara June Wesson, Lavena Mae Robinson Lewis Conner, Lindy Spinks.

First grade: Marjorie Hazel Williams, Charles Edward Davis, James Doggett.

Girls' Sports
We can't say that we've had much sport these cold winter days, but just the same we've played both volley ball and a little baseball, but what we've played has been snappy and worth seeing.

Primary Report
We are very glad to have Penny and Vernell Chaney join us in our school work. We hope they will enjoy going to school here.

School Society
Lucille and Joe Taylor visited with the Davis children Saturday night.

Miss Alva pinks visited school Friday afternoon.

Ovella Wesson was absent from school Monday and Tuesday on account of illness.

Gladys Perry spent Sunday night with Merlene Stark.

Miss Adeline Spinks was a visitor at school Tuesday afternoon.

Doris Davis spent Thursday night with Arlie Taylor.

Lucille Harmon was absent from school Tuesday.

Elmo Fallon visited Eammon Perry Monday night for awhile.

Humor
Miss Frye: Howard, how can you tell when winter comes?
Howard: When it begins to get late earlier.

Zona Lee, who was taking a test in third grade English was asked to pretend that she was a little Chinese girl and described herself. She came up to her teacher and asked, "How do you spell coupon?" and the teacher said, "Why do you want to spell coupon?" and Zona Lee replied, "How do you spell coupon—the bread that hangs down a Chinese person's back."

In the seventh grade civics test, Mr. Robbins asked what a tariff was. Garland Spinks' definition was: "A ball of dirt that you can't tear up."

We knew they were quite youthful, but not as much as this: Doris Newman asked permission of the primary teacher, for her, Arlie Taylor and Fay Ruth Robbins to go play during the study period.

A few of the high school girls (omitting the names) burst forth in a song on Friday afternoon. It must have been caused by the overtaking of their brains on those mid-term examinations.

We sympathize with Miss Duey in the loss of one of her favorite ducks, Kit, which made its demise Saturday morning.

Doris D.: Merlene your hair looks pretty this morning.

Eammon: Merlene, you should say thank you for the invitation.

Keep Your Head
Have you ever felt blue, down-hearted and sad,
That day everything turns bad;
Don't give up and down your head,
Don't be a baby and cry on the bed,
This old world wasn't built in a day,
You know everything can't go your way,
The cause of your trouble, don't blame on some one else,

The best thing to do is just watch yourself.
If you are down-hearted and don't have a job,
Keep up your spirit, don't beg or rob,
If you are a teacher and the kids are all a pest,
Just remember you were once a kid and do your best.
Robert E. Lee held on in the civil war for four long years,
So you should hold on a few days with all your trouble and fears,
While dying you know,
Lawrence said: "Don't give up the ship."
So when everything goes wrong,
Hold yourself, don't slip.
When someone gets your best girl and you feel like dying,
Just remember
You can get her back if you just keep on trying.

STAR SCHOOL NEWS

Someone has said, "Where there is a will there is a way." Thus it is true with the citizens of Star community. For some several years the people of Star have hoped for a great advancement in their school, and now, through the co-operation of the faculty and pupils of the school and of the people of the community, some new additions are being built. Three new rooms and a combination auditorium and gymnasium are now under construction. The entire construction is planned to be finished within four months.

The two newly added courses, wood work and home economics, are making great headway in their achievements. Within another year or sooner, we hope to have more equipment and a better department. If possible, some wood working machinery, which will be run by electricity, will also be added. The electricity, which will also light the new auditorium and gym will be taken from a light plant which will be set up within the next 30 days. Many of the homes of Star will be lighted by the light plant. The plant itself is large enough to supply power and light for the entire town.

A dramatic club was organized at the beginning of the school year and is now making a high scoring record in the school. With its capable officers, members, and faculty advisers, we are assured that the club will continue to be a record breaking one. The club sponsored a three act stage play last month, and is now making preparations for the one-act contest plays. All the members are working desperately and are going to furnish some school plenty of competition at the interscholastic league meet.

The Star P. T. A. was re-organized at the beginning of the school year and has been pushing forward all this time. They sponsored a school carnival and several programs which were enjoyed by everyone attending.

They are also sponsoring a three-act stage play on Friday night within the near future. It is a real play with plenty of action.

The Star girls basket ball team gained an overwhelming victory over the Big Valley competitors last Saturday afternoon. They also played a game with the McGirk girls and won by a score of 10-9.

MOUNT OLIVE HIGH SCHOOL

The High School Play
The play, "All a Mistake" was presented at the school house Friday night by the high school students. A large crowd was present and every one seemed to enjoy the play very much. Mr. Lane and Clinton Harris played some good music while Annie Lou sang between acts.

Intermediate Room
The seventh grade has been studying terracing. They have not only been studying terracing, but they really know how to do the job. Last Wednesday evening they terraced Mr. Wilcox's and Friday Mr. Huckabee's farm. They plan to terrace a farm or two this week.

The sixth grade has started a book on President Roosevelt. They will clip clippings from daily papers and magazines. They plan to do more current reading so they can make a good book.

The fifth grade is in a race for an all-day sucker. At present it is hard to tell who will win, for every pupil is doing his best to get the sucker. Some think Arnold Scott will get it, but he won't if he does not watch out, because James, Grady, Wyona, Evelyn, Maudine, oh, in fact, the whole class is trying to beat him.

Deloyd seems to be the lucky boy in the fourth grade. Anyway, he won the all day sucker for winning in the arithmetic race Monday. Deloyd is slow and easy, but he learns what he goes over and he never forgets what he learns.

The intermediate room has organized an agriculture club. At present they are not ready to put out much dope on the nature of the club. We will only say that the club was organized to help the seventh grade study agriculture and put into practice some of the things that they learn.

The other day our teacher found a note on the floor, or was it in the air, that read like this—"Give me some sugar, so I will be sweet." We hope he does not get a hold of another one of our notes.

Good Sportsmanship
One of the nicest compliments that can be paid anyone is to say they are a good sport. That word means a lot. It means you think of others instead of self alone; it means you are nice and agreeable and ready to help in all undertakings. Now pupils, think about this and try to come up to this standard. Don't be for self alone, if you want your fellow classmates to love you.

Basket Ball
Soon the season will be over. We say it with regret, because we enjoy the games very much. We haven't been so lucky this year, as we may have wished to be. Some of us have put forth every effort to keep fit, stay in training, and come out for practice. Some of us have been careless and neglectful and haven't trained as we should. To those that have, we wish to say you have fought a good fight. Friday we meet Mullin at Priddy. Let's fight, fight, fight! and win this game.

Glee Club
Several of the smaller girls have dropped out of the glee club. However, we have about twelve or fourteen that always come to practice and do their very best. They sang Friday night between acts of the play. They looked very pretty in their red dresses and their singing was good.

Humor
Half and Half—
Eva Koen is very fat and the other day, laden with parcels and packages, she was trying to mount a horse. Mr. Cooke, who is very small, was looking on.

Eva scornfully said: "If you were half a man you would help me up."

Mr. Cooke calmly replied: "Sure, ma'am, if you was half a woman I would."

"Now, students," said Mr. Smith, "I have told you the story of Jonah and the whale. Arvin, you may tell me what this story teaches?"

"Yes, sir," said Arvin. "It teaches that you can't keep a good man down."

Bro. Nicholson preached Saturday night, Sunday morning and Sunday evening and certainly delivered some wonderful sermons and there were good crowds at all the services. He has changed his regular appointment to the fourth Sunday, instead of the second Sunday. Everyone try to be present next fourth. If we would all go to church more and carry on the work of God as He wants us to do we would all get along better and get a greater blessing out of life.

Those that had dinner in the Wallace home Sunday were Tas and Forrest Renfro and their wives, B. F. Renfro, Jr., Bro. Nicholson,

S. R. Stewart and wife and Mr. Duey, B. F. Renfro, Jr., called in the Wallace home Sunday night.

Last Wednesday night a large crowd gathered in the Arthur Wilcox home and enjoyed an old time singing and several special songs by Earl Hale and wife, Mrs. O. B. Bell, Mrs. Ellis Wallace, B. F. Renfro, Jr. After several hours of good singing, we were invited into the dining room, where the table was filled with several kinds of delicious cake and hot chocolate, which was greatly enjoyed by all. After the refreshments everyone departed for their homes, hoping for another such singing soon.

D. C. Collier and family and Bro. Joe Collier's family, accompanied him to the Evans school house Saturday night, where he preached Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Arthur Wilcox and family went to San Saba Saturday and brought their son, Raymond, home to spend the week end. Raymond is attending school at San Saba.

The Renfro boys, Clifton and B. F. and John Meeker played 42 in the Wallace home Monday night. 42 is the thing of the day again since the long nights are here again and there is nothing else to do out here.

This community is planning on getting up a play soon. So watch for the title and date of presentation.

Jack Atkinson and wife visited across the river at Neal Saturday night and Sunday.

Johnnie Blair and family from Neal visited his brother on the Jernigan place Sunday.

One of the quietest, nicest, most dignified boys in the senior class is Cecil Huckabee. He never has much to say, but what he does say is worth listening to. He is not very good looking, but he always has a pleasant smile for every one. All his classmates, friends and teachers like him. He is a dandy good sport. He is always willing to help others and can lose as well as win. He is a very good basket ball player and an excellent track man. This is his last year at Mount Olive, and this can truthfully be said about him. "He will be missed by all who associated with him."

finals, which will be Thursday and Friday.

We enjoyed Miss Braziel's chapel program very much last Monday.

Primary News

We rendered our chapel program Monday, Jan. 28. Barnard Swindle, assisted by his sisters, Misses Nina and Florine, entertained with musical numbers. The first and second grade pupils gave a number of songs, and readings. The second grade gave the "Billy Boy" play. Esther Sigmund gave some harmonica selections.

Girls' Sports

The Priddy basketball girls defeated the Clifton junior college girls by a score of 12-11 Saturday evening. There was a very hard fight from both sides. The team that played was Viola Limmer, Louise Koch, guards; both showed that they could stay up with the Clifton forwards. Irene Gromatzky was center jumper and she received the tip-off every time and our center runner, Velma Bufe, did excellent work in getting it and passing to the forwards, Edna Lubke and Mildred Mason, who tried their best to put it through the goal. But to our hard luck, three of our best players fouled out. They were Louise Koch, Velma Bufe and Irene Gromatzky. But our substitutes, Hilma Hein, Ethel Hohertz and Jewel Townsend, were put in their places, who also did their best. One of the Clifton forwards also fouled out.

Boys' Sports

The Priddy Pups defeated the Clifton college team Saturday night. They left Priddy about 2:30 Saturday afternoon. They were all feeling fine and ready to play ball that night at 7:00 o'clock. The Pups were given their supper in the dining room of the college.

The Pups enjoyed several games of horseshoe pitching and then made ready to go to the gymnasium to play ball. After watching the Clifton boys defeat Waco 23 to 22 and then seeing the Priddy girls defeat the Clifton girls 12 to 11, the Priddy Pups decided they would let the girls see them win a game, too.

The Pups fought hard through out the game and continued to pile the scores up until the last minutes of the game. The score was 49 to 20. Mason was high point man. Everyone should be present at Priddy February 1, and see those Pups go.

Drawing will start for the games of the county tournament promptly at 3:30 o'clock, and the first game will start at 9. We are going to try to make the county tournament at Priddy a great success this year. Everyone come and do their part.

Home Economics

The home economics girls are preparing for mid-term examinations. They will cook candy today.

The Civic Club

The civic club is finishing their charts and now they are working for mid-term examinations.

The Glee Club

The girls sang "Mr. and Mrs. Is the Name" and "Memories" Friday night, January 25, 1935. Only 11 of the girls were present but we did very well. Tonight we are on the program at Goldthwaite and will sing again our favorites.

G. M. Fletcher, Mrs. S. W. Isham, Mrs. R. H. Patterson and Miss Lillian Doris Fletcher visited in Star Monday and inspected the new school plant. Workmen are busy on the new addition. It will consist of several class rooms, a large auditorium that will accommodate the crowds and be so beneficial to the town, also a gymnasium. The superintendent, Mr. Clem, is greatly interested in the work and is a "livewire" superintendent.

Many of the planters are re-sowing grain this week. The pretty days have been fine for the work. It is estimated that over 50 per cent of the small grain was killed by the recent blizzard, and in some localities all of it was injured. However, the most of it has been replanted and now if it can get a few good rains it will come again. The orchardists claim the freeze was of untold value to the fruit trees and in eliminating the borers, boll weevils and other pests that thrive in warm winters.

MARTIN SMITH ANSWERS FINAL CALL

W. M. Smith of Abilene, a former citizen of Prarie, died at his home in that city Friday.

Mr. Smith and family leased their farm and ranch at Prarie, where they had been prominent citizens for over a score of years and moved to Abilene in the fall. His health failed and he was in a hospital in that city and then went to other hospitals, seeking health, but love nor medical skill was of avail to prolong his life.

Mr. Smith was a devout member of the church of Christ, an industrious man and devoted husband and father.

Survivors are the widow, nine children and a number of grand children.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lockridge from here attended the last sad rites of her father.

Condolence is extended to the bereaved from the Enterprise and old friends here.

She was 92 years of age and a member of the Primitive Baptist church over 60 years and recently walked a block to attend church services.

She is survived by ten children, six of whom were present at the funeral, and she leaves to mourn her passing 100 grand children and great grandchildren.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given to the editor personally at this office.

A BIG UNDERTAKING

The national law-makers, in both the upper and lower houses of congress, are moving cautiously in the matter of the New Deal and in consideration of the two principal projects sponsored by the White House—social security, and an unprecedentedly vast public works program, designed to eliminate the dole, or direct relief.

The public works program is of the most immediate interest. It will cost—the largest draft ever drawn against the United States treasury for any single purpose. The president says it will get about 3,500,000 men to work directly and, if his hopes materialize, it will put another 3,500,000 to work indirectly, in jobs created by the spending power of the first 3,500,000.

Equally important are the promised principles upon which the program is predicated. All work is to be useful, in that it will either permanently improve living conditions or create new wealth. Pay for workers will be above the present "dole" level—but will be low enough so that the men employed will still keep an eye out for jobs in private business. Projects will be selected so as to use the largest possible amount of labor for the money spent. The money will be allocated on the basis of the greatest need—that is, a state which has 20 per cent of its people on relief will get more than a state which has but 10 per cent on relief.

The list of possible public works has not been completed, but a number are known. Public buildings will be one. Bridge building will be another. Soil conservation and sanitation will come in for their share, as will tunnels, flood dams and forest conservation. Road building will naturally be near the head of the list.

So far as the social security program is concerned, it is finding rather hard going. It seems that every congressman has his own idea as to how the ill, the aged and the unemployed should be aided—there is much argument, many words and little agreement. By the time this is read, the so-called Townsend plan, whereby every person over 60 would be given $200 a month by the government, will probably have been discussed in the lower house—proponents of the plan claim enough supporters to get it through.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS VITAL

No subject is more important to the country than the recovery of business from the effects of the long-drawn-out depression. The recovery of business is important to every section and every individual. Hence, the announcement that business is building back to normal is most interesting at this time. A report by Dun & Bradstreet, the recognized authority on matters pertaining to business of the country, is of vital interest when they announce the fact that business is experiencing gradual improvement in almost every line of endeavor. Trade, according to that agency, is rising above the levels of 1930 and 1931. Where, at the beginning of 1932, that Company's business activity index stood at 50.1, it now touches 74—a gain of 45 per cent. This increase is largely due to retail distribution gains, which are 5 per cent above last year in New England, 8 to 12 per cent up on the Pacific coast, and 20 to 30 per cent improved in the middle west, with the balance of the country showing rises of from 12 to 15 per cent.

Steel production is at 44 per cent of capacity—a gain over recent levels. It is still advancing. Electric power production shows some gains. The construction industry, long dormant, is showing signs of recovery, due principally to the activities of the housing administration which, after a slow start, seems to be gathering momentum in its drive to make people build and renovate their homes.

A recent annualist statement, sent out over the financial wires, said, in effect, that all matters of interest to business are overshadowed by the possibilities inherent in the supreme court's forthcoming decision on the gold seizure act. It seems sure, however, that quick remedial action will be taken if the court holds against the government—congress is prepared for an adverse decision, and bills are already drafted in case it again becomes necessary to revamp our money system.

A HEAVY TOLL

A few months ago a great passenger liner burned at sea, with a loss of life totaling about 150. Recently a crack Canadian passenger train tore onto a siding and telescoped a "holiday special." A score of people died as a result of the crash. Each of these tragic incidents was headlined in newspapers throughout the civilized world. Millions of people were literally horror-stricken. Public and private bodies immediately started inquiries in an effort to fix the blame and punish those who were guilty. The whole force of public opinion, backed by the authority of the law, determined that everything be done to make certain that there would be no similar accidents.

Yet those deaths, horrible as they were, were infinitesimal compared with a form of accident which the public accepts with complete indifference—the automobile killings. Last year automobile accidents accounted for one death every 15 minutes, and an injury every 31 seconds. The year showed a record killing in the United States of 36,000 and an injury total of 1,000,000. No use to try here to fix the blame on the automobile drivers, the condition of their cars, the curves in the highways, grade crossings or the pedestrians, the fact that the accidents occurred with their accompanying death lists is the matter for consideration and the evolving of some remedy or plan to reduce that death and injury list is a subject that should have the attention of everybody.

OLD AGE PENSION

No subject is more universally discussed than the old age pension plan and it is agreed by everybody that some plan should be evolved to care for the aged, if they have failed in their productive years to make provision for themselves when old age comes upon them, if and when they have lost their savings by unwise investments or have been defrauded or bereft of their savings. Even in normal times, poverty stricken old age constitutes one of the gravest social problems. It is said that only a small per cent of the citizens over sixty-five years of age are self-sufficient financially. The rest must depend upon relatives or on public or private sources for support. The matter of providing an old age pension, then, becomes one of paramount importance, not only to the individuals, but to the entire social structure. The only question is the best form in which to provide it.

Health Hint

AVOID TUBERCULOSIS

Speaking of children and their susceptibility to tuberculosis, Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer, said: "Few people realize that babies and young children are very likely to catch tuberculosis if they are kept in the rooms with people who have the disease, use the same dishes, sleep in the same beds or are handled and kissed by people who have tuberculosis."

"Babies and young children pick up the germs of tuberculosis just as readily as they pick up the germs of measles or whooping cough or of any other of the so-called children's diseases. But tuberculosis is different from other diseases in certain particulars. Unlike most diseases, it has more than one form. Babies who get tuberculosis may not show the symptoms we associate with the disease in older people. But the disease in most cases develops rapidly and is likely to end fatally. Tuberculosis in babies and young children is a very serious matter, but recent studies have shown that if young children are removed promptly from contact with the disease and given the necessary care, many lives can be saved.

"A great deal can be accomplished whenever tuberculosis develops, whether in young or old, if the presence of the disease is recognized when it is in its early stages and if medical attention is secured promptly.

"Tuberculosis doesn't just happen. Nobody is born with the disease. Everybody who develops tuberculosis gets it from some other source. Children and young people who have been in contact with persons ill with tuberculosis are especially likely to contract it."

INVESTIGATING EXPENDITURES

The first special federal grand jury summoned in Washington since the investigation of the famous Fall-Dohney oil cases was called Saturday to meet Feb. 6, to investigate charges of graft in a Texas Public Works Administration project.

Secretary Ickes, whose investigators uncovered the alleged graft, refused to name the project involved or to say whether any public works officials were implicated. All others having knowledge of the case steadfastly declined to name the project most directly involved. Ickes did, however, indicate this inquiry "may have ramifications."

First word of the proceedings came from United States Attorney Leslie G. Garnett, after he had summoned the jury. Garnett said the inquiry was being undertaken solely at the request of Ickes and that the jury would analyze "specifically one project in Texas." The head of the PWA investigation division, has been in Texas three or four times recently, presumably in connection with the graft charges. He worked up the case which will be presented to the grand jury.

The only direct statement Ickes would make was: "The public work administration investigation division has made a long and careful study of the project upon the direction of the administrator and presented to the proper prosecuting officials of the government a full report for such action as they deem proper to take."

He would not tell of instances where graft had been uncovered. Reporters pressed him on this point because of statements, that after the Texas inquiry the grand jury would probe disbursement of PWA funds on other projects.

The secretary said he regarded the grand jury proceedings as highly confidential and he would not want to say anything that might imply guilt to those to be investigated.

Ever since he took office Ickes has watched closely the expenditure of every cent of government funds passing through his hands. To help him he reinstated Louis Glavis, discharged in 1908 in the midst of a controversy with the then Secretary of the Interior, Richard Achilles Ballinger. Glavis has about 500 men in the field.

Last week Ickes decided the federal government owned one-half interest in the famous Elk Hills, Cal., oil fields, which fig-

FORTNIGHT OF FUN?

The earth-shaking moral, economic, political and contractual questions involved in the gold clause and its upholding or rejection are on the laps of nine supreme court justices. Questions asked from the bench have been very distressing to the representatives of the government and the corporations whose obligations are affected. Chief Justice Hughes, in particular, has been most searching in his quizzes upon the precise source of the government's power to alter contracts.

In the midst of all the speculation, agitation and mental distress now evident in a variety of circles, it may not be impious to guess that nine men at any rate are having a very pleasant time. It isn't so long ago that it was the new deal fashion to dismiss the supreme court as a group of nine elderly gentlemen whose opinions and ideas need not trouble the more vital branch of the government. If the supreme court looks dangerous, it will be packed with men of new ideas, it was frequently hinted.

Now the supreme court has under consideration the monetary policy of the present administration, the keystone of the whole scheme. The court may decide that, but, for those who believe that beneath a judicial robe there beats the heart of an average man, it will be clearly obvious that these nine supreme court justices are taking a lot of pleasure in watching the anguish of some great constitutional lawyers and their not always so constitutional clients. In the end they may find the law on the side of the government, but they rank as arch-angels in forbearance if they aren't getting keen pleasure from observing sub judice the writhings and moanings of new dealers on the anxious seat. — Baltimore Sun.

COTTON SITUATION

Cotton exports are showing no signs of improving and the total since August 1 amounts to less than 59 per cent of the total for the corresponding period a year ago. During December less American cotton was exported than during any December since long before the world war, and it is beginning to appear that a similar low record will be made in January. Up to last Wednesday the total for the month was 361,538 bales, which would indicate that not much more than 400,000 bales will be exported during the month, as compared with 739,352 bales last January, 793,676 bales January two years ago and 919,815 bales January three years ago. Always a great deal more cotton is exported between August 1 and January 31, than between February 1 and July 31. With less than 3,000,000 bales exported during the first six months of the current cotton year, the total for the year will not be much more than 5,000,000 bales, unless there is an unexpected improvement during the next six months. Meantime, Brazil has more than doubled its production during the past three years and the outlook is that its production during the coming year will be more than three times its average normal annual production prior to 1931. This would mean that in the short period of four years it has boosted its production from 550,000 bales to between 1,600,000 and 2,000,000 bales and the end is not yet. In other words, more than 1,000,000 bales of competitive foreign cotton, additional to that already existing, has been brought permanently on the world market and will be available as a substitute on the world market, and will be available as a substitute for American cotton in the future.

We say this new competition will be permanent, because undoubtedly the Brazilian development is permanent in character. An official of the AAA declared publicly in an address at Dallas less than a year and a half ago that such a thing would be impossible. — Texas Weekly.

ured prominently in the troubles of former Secretary Albert B. Fall, who served a prison sentence for his part in the Teapot Dome oil scandal. The Ickes ruling served to assert the government's claim for $25,000,000 worth of oil remaining in the Elk Hills pool and opened the way to action to recover on oil and gas already taken out.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEW OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

FARMING A BUSINESS

There is no panacea for our social ills in pushing people back to the farm.

Agriculture is already oversupplied with workers and steadily produces goods in excess of the quantity the market will consume. To put more men to producing farm products depresses prices for everyone, and further decreases the market for industrial goods which the farm population should provide.

Nor can the average man find self-sustenance on the farm. If he knows the business—for it is a business—he can take up competition with his fellows, and share their ills or successes. But the idea that the American family of today can make its own little world, support itself on a few acres, comes from the imagination of someone who hasn't been near a farm for a long time.

A farm, in the last analysis, can provide directly to its occupants only food. Everything else must be bought. The farmer must sell goods in order to get the money with which to buy. Hence, aside from food, he is just as much dependent on our system of exchange, on banking, and credit and transportation, as any industrialist or merchant, and is just as bound to suffer when those systems go awry.

The farmer, it is true, can supply his own food without making use of outside agencies. This is not quite so easy as many people imagine; vegetables do not grow at all seasons of the year, meat is not kept without difficulty; nevertheless it can be done. But food represents a small part of the needs of the farm family, just as it does of the city family. The farm family must buy education for its children, it must buy medical attention for its members, it must buy literature, a little drama, and a little entertainment, not to mention factory-made clothing and shoes.

These things are to be had only if the farmer's business, the selling end of it, prospers. The age-old peasant-type of farm, a little world in itself, cannot begin to supply the things which the American farm family deems essential to decent living. That is what is meant by the American standard of living. It is a very real thing.

We can always have social security, national stability, to be sure, if we found it on peasant farming, if we arrange matters so that the great bulk of our population exists habitually on the goods which individual families garner from individual farms.

A higher type of society, in which the products of many types of farm hand and of many types of industry are freely interchanged to the mutual advantage of everyone concerned, offers no such assured security. Nevertheless, Americans have the courage to assert that they will maintain and advance the higher type, that they will dare the dangers involved while seeking to eliminate them through the development of new social controls. — Houston Chronicle.

DEFENSELESS ALASKA

Undeclared Alaska is already attracting the attention of Japan. Well informed shipping men state that Japanese seamen, going to Seward for scrap railroad material have acquired a better understanding of harbor facilities on the Alaskan coast than Americans have.

Aggressive and ruthless Japan knows that Alaska could maintain part of its great surplus of population, and knows that Alaska has the mineral wealth which Japan must have to exist—coal, iron, gold, oil, copper, asbestos and unestimated lumber resources.

Alaska is comparable in climate to Sweden, which supports a population of more than six million in an area one-third as great as Alaska's.

With Alaska left an ungarded treasure house, it is an ever-present temptation to the cupid-ity of Asia.

The United States has established no naval base in Alaska. There the navy is represented by a few radio stations, the army by a small military detachment.

GENEROUS GROUND

We have had a fine season for fall gardens. And the ground has responded kindly to those who have appealed to it earnestly and with availing tools. In all the excitement and argument and eloquence that have been incited by agricultural conditions during the bad years, not once has the land been accused of unthankfulness. It has done its part wherever seed were sown, cultivation applied and moisture granted. The land always yields its bounty to those who believe in it and honor it with sincere attention. Mr. Allmon of Tloga honored his garden spot. He sowed turnip seed, kept the livestock out and thinned out the sproutlings when they stood too close together. And so he raised and gathered big turnips and bushels of turnips. If all his neighbors didn't raise turnips, perhaps it was because they didn't like turnips. But their pigs and chickens and milk cows like turnips, and if the neighbors didn't care to grow table turnips they might have done well to grow pig, cow and chicken turnips. We read a good deal about putting the unemployed on subsistence farms. But about seven out of ten of the relief rollers have had farming experience and didn't do very well at it. Would they do better if given a new trial? Not if they should fail to give the ground a fair chance to subside them. In every case, the land remained after the man left. It didn't move to town. — State Press in Dallas News.

FOREIGN BOND
The difficulties in dealing with defaulted bonds were stressed by Clark, president of Bondholders' Protective League in an address before club last week. Mr. Clark said that bondholders' government, recourse to litigation, diplomatic pressure, economic reprisals when foreign debtor does not do will. None of these measures, he concluded, has ever proved satisfactory.

The time when a country was willing to intervene in other countries' debts due its citizens since passed. Court decisions favor of creditors are of doubtful value. When a sovereign nation's decisions are unenforced when the debtor is a nation, legal remedies in default are often applied under foreign law where the default is government intervention. The case of Germany, prove useless.

The obstacles in effective action to enforce defaulted foreign bonds make it difficult for protective committees to obtain tangible results in the one recourse against defaulting government bonds generally is to avow bonds in the future. That are in default on service. At a time like this, a little new financing is needed. This advice is practical value. With recovery, however, rehabilitation their ability to stimulate defaulting accede to a reasonable element. — New York Commerce.

SHELTER BELT PLANTING

First tree plantings of the gigantic shelter belt, based approximately on the Red river astride the Texas-Oklahoma boundary and extending to the Canadian border, will be made this spring, the United States Forestry Service announces. Each of these 150 first plantings will cover an area 165 feet wide and five miles long. The maps prepared by the service show three counties in the Texas panhandle will share the first plantings, the counties being Childress, at the extreme southern end of the belt; Collingsworth and Wheeler. In western Oklahoma, first plantings will be made in Harmon, Beckham, Ellis, Woodward and Harper counties. Other Texas counties in the belt, where plantings are later to be made, are Motley, Hall, Donley, Gray, Roberts, Ochiltree, Lipscomb and Hemphill.

The forest service, which has conducted an extensive survey of the regions and the use of shelter rows or windbreaks of trees, many of which are fifty years old, find that practical experience strongly suggests good local results from the expansion to a larger scale. Good crops have been gathered on the lee side of windbreaks despite prevailing dry conditions. The large effect of the belts as a whole upon climatic conditions is not so well authenticated in this country, although the experiment begun years ago on the vast plains of Russia produced markedly favorable results.

At any rate, the forestry service is going ahead this spring with first plantings in the great belt. In the work this spring 4,000,000 trees will be set, and 21,000 man days of labor will be required. In all cases local labor will be employed. — Star-Telegram.

Alaska could be reached in a day's flight by planes from Japan or from the Russian base at Vladivostok.

And America has no defense there against air or sea attack.

Both the army and navy recognize the military importance and the vulnerability of this rich, tempting territory.

This year the navy's grand maneuvers will have as the northern apex, the Aleutian islands. The army has made test squadron flights to Alaska, as have the navy.

But there is no fort, no permanent naval establishment there, despite the urgings of the army general staff.

Defense must be provided for Alaska in peace time, so that it will not be a temptation to provoke war. — San Antonio Light.

That taxation of spinsters will make old maids feel it a privilege to be unmarried, was the opinion expressed by Mrs. Margaret Dutton, in a discussion of the unmarried woman's place in the world at a meeting of Brownwood Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday night. She pointed out that many women remained unmarried from choice and not from necessity, and said that she was glad to see that one state legislature was considering the placing of a tax on spinsters.—Leader

THE CHALLENGE OF CRIME

In an address one month following adjournment of the National Crime Conference, Attorney General Homer Cummings said:

"I venture to make this report because of my firm conviction that our people have awakened from their indifference to the menace of crime and are eager to learn what our law enforcement agencies propose to do about it."

He reminded his audience that while theretofore the public, expressing itself through conferences or otherwise, had appealed to the government, in calling the crime conference, appealed to the public for its thoughtful advice, its maintained interest and active help in a national movement to meet the common peril. Crime, as it is now perpetrated, he declared, is a "challenge that can not be met unless the people are determined that it shall be met."

Since the national conference adjourned, the speaker said, governors have called state and regional conferences on crime, as have state attorneys general, and state legislatures meeting this month will consider legislation to improve administration of criminal justice. Declaring that out of the thousands of suggestions arising from the national conference, "the one which most needs our immediate action is that of securing a better co-ordination of all agencies, local, state and national."

Sunday for New York City, to attend funeral services for her father.

Nine Hungarian women will be tried for their lives at Debreczen, Hungary, on the charge that they poisoned their husbands or other relatives. It will be Debreczen's second "mass murder" trial in as many years. The first proceedings involved 10 women. One was hanged, the others sentenced to life imprisonment. Poison obtained by steeping fly paper in hot water was used, the prosecution charged, to put out of the way husbands no longer wanted or relatives whose property the defendant allegedly coveted.

MAN'S HEART STOPPED, STOMACH GAS CAUSE
W. L. Adams was bloated so with gas that his heart often missed beats after eating. Adle-rika rid him of all gas, and now he eats anything and feels fine.—Hudson Bros., Druggists.

WITH exports of pork and lard from the United States still remaining at a low level, a large increase in hog production is not warranted at this time, according to officials of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Exports of pork from the United States showed a slightly upward trend in 1934, but this was offset by a decline in exports in lard. Annual shipments abroad remain at about three-fourths of a billion pounds, as compared with nearly two billion pounds in the early post-war period. The decline during the ten years from 1923 to 1932, as indicated by the above graph, has been equivalent to about nine million hogs.
Great Britain, the principal market for pork products, continues to restrict pork shipments from some countries, including the United States, by means of import quotas. Germany, second ranking buyer of hog products, limited monthly lard imports in 1934 to 66 per cent of the volume imported during the corresponding months of 1931-33, and during the latter part of the year imposed restrictions on conversion of German money into foreign exchange that caused further reductions in lard imports.
The 1935 corn-hog production control program now being offered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is designed to help farmers keep hog numbers in line with the current low level of export trade.

PASSING OF ERNEST KINGSBURY

Mr. E. G. Kingsbury died at his home in Hamilton county, near Star, Tuesday night and his remains were interred in the family cemetery at Fairview, near his home, Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Kingsbury was a lawyer in early life and later engaged in the newspaper business at Hamilton for several years.

After having retired from the newspaper work he returned to his farm, where he spent the remainder of his life. He met with an accident some years ago, when a horse kicked him, inflicting serious injuries and he was never in perfect health afterwards. The Eagle editor feels a personal grief in the passing of Ernest Kingsbury, for he was considered one of the editor's staunch friends. He leaves his wife and several children, as well as a host of friends to mourn his going.

TRADE QUOTAS

Creation of an international board to divide up the world's export markets among the producing and manufacturing nations was proposed to a senate committee by Secretary Roper.

The commerce secretary proposed that the international board start its work with cotton and later broaden its scope to other agricultural products.

He said if the assignment of quotas of agricultural and manufactured goods were given "and the nations of the earth through some regulatory power could compel the member nations to stick by their quotas, the question of overproduction and surpluses would be wiped out in a very short time.

RESTORING PAY

Restoration April 1 of the last 5 per cent of the federal pay cut was assured Wednesday, when the national house directed a conference committee to accept such a senate amendment to a deficiency appropriation bill. President Roosevelt had recommended full pay not be returned until July 1. The senate amendment would not apply to salaries over $10,000 a year, but this will mean that the salaries of members of congress, who receive just $10,000, will be boosted along with those of other federal employes.

A LIBERAL POLICY

The Eagle has been more liberal than judicious in the matter of subscriptions for the past three years, owing to the depression, but the time has come when all newspapers are being required to cull their lists to those who really want and pay for the paper. One requirement recently brought to the attention of the Eagle management is that the paper can only be sent through the postoffice at the second class rate to bona fide subscribers and business men who carry advertisements and are entitled to a copy of the paper to check such advertisements, but the old "free and easy" policy must be abandoned.
