Methodist Notes

Mark Twain said that everybody talked about the weather, but nobody seemed to do anything about it, but people will talk.

For more than a year we have had an increasing clamor about the dry weather. It has been raining steadily for three or four days now. In that time we have not seen the sun. The rain, so much desired, has come, and still people complain, and think the sun has gotten lost, and that the weather is terrible. Why can we not be sensible?

It is not rain and mud and everything else disagreeable that the clouds have brought. These are simply the introduction to other things. The real things that are to come to us is water to moisten the earth, preparatory to an abundant harvest. It only takes a little faith to see growing corn, wheat, oats, barley, the sunny sides of the glowing peaches, painted by the warm sunshine, the apples, the apricots and berries; lowing herds and bleating sheep. These, and ten thousand other things, so needful to our lives, can we see in the clouds and rain. Let us forget the grouch that we have been nursing because of the rain, and go to church Sunday and joyfully sing: "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

Our congregations were small at both the morning and evening hour last Sunday. Brother Duke preached a good sermon notwithstanding the fact that he did not have the inspiration of the large audience. The same can be said of Brother Nixon, who preached at night. This is as it should be. There is no special call for a let-down in the great business of preaching simply because something interferes with the attendance. Those who do attend should be treated with the same consideration as the larger audience.

The second quarterly conference was held at the close of the preaching service Sunday night. W. C. Dew, Mrs. Dew and Mrs. Charles Bayley were elected as delegates to the district conference to meet some time this spring at Fredericksburg. Several others of the congregation are members of this conference through their official connection.

Wednesday of next week there is to be held at Llano a district missionary meeting. A good program has been prepared. Some of the strong preachers of the West Texas conference are to speak, together with one of the representatives from the board of missions at Nashville. We should have a representative body from this church in that meeting.

Our hearts were made sad by the death of Marvin Spence Rudd, one of our young men of the Baptist church last week. Death of any, causes sadness in a community, but the sadness is the more acute when the deceased is taken in the very bloom of youth. Our sympathies go out to the family of the deceased.

A beautiful and thoughtful thing was done in our quarterly conference last Sunday night. So unusual was it that in many years experience I had never seen it done before. When the names of the members of the quarterly conference was called, and the presiding elder reached the name of L. E. Walters, it was announced that he had been called by death. Bro. Nixon asked the audience to stand, where they remained with bowed heads for a little space, then Bro. Nixon led in a touching and tender prayer. A beautiful tribute to a good man who had wrought faithfully, finished his course and passed on to his reward.

HIGHWAY NUMBERS

Automobile drivers should remember that while they can buy highway plates at any time, it is unlawful to place 1935 plates on cars prior to April 1, 1935.

Commissioners Hold Session

Commissioners court was in regular session Monday and Tuesday, transacting routine business, such as examining official reports, auditing accounts against the county and looking after usual county business.

No further action was taken in the matter of highway 74a, as no report had been received from the highway commission regarding the proposed change in the survey from the square to the Cryer mountain. It is likely an extra session will have to be held when this report is received.

The livestock tax rate was fixed for the county. Stock cattle are to be assessed at $8, registered cattle at $15, 1 to 2-year-old steers $8, 2 to 3-year-old steers $12, 3-year-old steers and up $15, calves $5, sheep $2, goats 75 cents.

NAZARENE REMARKS

It is needless to say our congregations were small in all of the services last Sunday. While our attendance was affected in the services, yet we rejoice in the fact that once more, this old thirsty earth has a good season in the ground. (At least in this section of the country.)

Our woman's missionary society has been busy the last few weeks preparing a shower for the Society for Friendless Children at Copperas Cove, Texas. A number of church members and friends have donated work and articles to this shower. We take this means of expressing our appreciation to all who have had a part in preparing this nice shower. Before these remarks go to press, this shower will have been delivered to the home in Copperas Cove. This home is managed by Mrs. Viola Dawson, who recently was in our town, and took a child from here to the home.

Next Sunday morning, (D.V.) I will preach from the subject, "Spiritual Dieting." The Sunday evening subject will be "Stewardship."

Our regular services for the week are as follows: Sunday school 9:45 (not 10) Sunday morning. Preaching at 11 and 7:15. Prayer meeting Wednesday 7:15 p. m.

We invite you to attend. Visitors are always welcome.

CHARLIE HARRISON, Pastor

SCHOOL TRANSPORTATION

Bit by bit, the state is recognizing that it owes to the boys and girls a responsibility in the way of school transportation, as well as providing a school. A school to which a boy or girl can not get is worthless. If the state is going to maintain schools, it is assuming the attitude that it must do something toward making it possible for the boys and girls to get to them.

The local school board at a recent meeting, in considering plans for the future of the Goldthwaite schools, discussed the matter of putting on enough busses to accommodate the outlying communities that want the service. It is understood that it is not the policy of the board to want to take in any community that does not want to come, but it seems evident that some of the communities can be provided with more efficient school service than they are now getting and at no additional cost.

It is a matter worth investigating. SCHOOL ADVOCATE

MERRY WIVES

Mrs. Tom Toland was hostess to the Merry Wives and a few guests on Tuesday afternoon at the home of her mother, Mrs. L. H. Little. At the conclusion of the games of contract bridge, a delicious salad course was served. Dainty handkerchiefs were awarded as prizes to the club members, guests and table cut, scoring high. REPORTER

Hauptman Guilty Given Chair

It is likely there was never a criminal case tried in America in which there was more universal interest throughout the world than was displayed and felt in the trial of Bruno Hauptman in Flemington, N. J., on the charge of murdering the Lindbergh baby. The child was taken from his crib in the family home on the night of March 1, 1932, and a note was left for the family demanding a ransom of $50,000. The money was paid, as directed by the kidnaper, but notwithstanding every condition was met the child was murdered. The helplessness of the victim and his parents and the brutality of the kidnaper aroused the public as few cases have in the history of the world. Then when Hauptman spent some of the marked ransom money and later a large amount of the money was found on his premises the guilt was fastened on him in the estimation of the public, hence the almost universal approval of the verdict of the eight men and four women jurors, when they reached a verdict Wednesday night, after eleven hours deliberation.

There will be an effort to secure a new trial and an appeal of course, but the prediction is safe that the verdict will stand. It would be useless and of no interest to give a resume of the testimony in the case, as everybody is familiar with it in full detail.

DIRIGIBLE DISASTER

The giant navy dirigible Macon crashed into the ocean off Point Sur, Central California, Tuesday and three cruisers threaded through the Gold Gate bearing the 81 survivors of the airship disaster. Two men were missing. The last of the navy's great dirigibles, about which rumors of sabotage gathered at the time of her construction, was beneath the waves.

Lieut. Com. Wiley of the Macon reported that he received word that the number one cell under the fin was gone and that the stern was crumbling. Finally the number two cell was gone. He tried to land near cruisers off Point Sur, but could not see the surface until shortly before landing.

Disaster plunged the airship into the ocean 110 miles south of San Francisco and navy vessels responding to frantic SOS calls, rushed through fog and rain to pick up Commander Wiley and 80 other survivors of the crew of 83.

A roaring explosion tore the Macon apart, navy men believed. A wireless message told of a "bad casualty" in the air.

A red rocket shot into the darkness when the Macon struck the water 17 miles off Point Sur. Curling spray flower from the bows of nearby navy ships as they sped to the rescue.

The controversy over fighting airships opened with new vehemence in congress as the government prepared to launch at least three investigations into the crash of the dirigible. A prediction that the crash, coming after the disaster to the Macon's sister ship, Akron, would spell the "death knell" of lighter-than air craft, as a fighting arm of the navy came from Chairman Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, of the house naval committee.

SUPERINTENDENT ELECTED

The Goldthwaite school board held a meeting last Monday night, at which time Supt. A. H. Smith was elected for another year as head of the Goldthwaite school system, which action was decidedly pleasing to the patrons of the school and the other citizens of the town and school district. No date was set for selecting the other members of the faculty and no other business was transacted, outside of the routine matters.

Cotton Contracts Soon Ready

The county agent announces that the 1935 cotton contracts will be offered for signatures as soon as they are received at his office and they are expected every day. In connection with these contracts, an important ruling has been received by the county agent, the salient features of which are here quoted: "There is nothing in the cotton reduction contract to prevent a landlord from renting the land to another tenant in 1935 or to prevent the tenant from renting land from another landlord in 1935, provided the tenant had only a one-year lease in 1934. If a change is made the landlord, however, must maintain the same number of tenants and these tenants must have the same status as in 1934. In other words, it would be a violation of the contract for him to change from managing-share tenants to share-croppers or from share-croppers to day hands in order to secure for himself a greater share of the benefit payments."

In reference to the hog-corn sign-up and the second payment, also the parity checks, Mr. Weaver reports:

Six hundred seventy cotton parity checks totaling $8,191 have been received, with 50 checks still out. No corn-hog checks, but the acceptances have been received on most of them for the second payment.

Corn-hog sign-up for 1935 will close Feb. 16 - this Saturday. Cotton sign-up will start just as soon as the blanks are received. The option checks are being received direct by the producers and will likely all be in hand in a few days.

NO FORTUNES TOLD

The Eagle was the first weekly newspaper in America to install and maintain a radio broadcasting station, but the station closed about seven years ago, hence the management of the paper was much surprised to receive a letter this week from a young lady in New Jersey stating that she frequently "tunes in" on the Eagle's station and was highly complimentary of the service and said she believed a great amount of good was being done by the broadcasting, in the way of helping people in their troubles. She stated frankly that she was in trouble and enclosed $1 in payment for an answer to her inquiry, which was regarding her love affair with a young man. She stated she had written to him last March, but had not received a reply. She wanted to know if the young man intended to marry her and, if so, when. The answer was easy to give, but as the broadcasting station was not in operation and the office does not maintain a fortune teller or mind reader, the money was returned to the lady in the self-addressed envelope she enclosed.

TRADES DAY

Monday will be the regular trades day event for Goldthwaite. The third Monday in each month has been designated as trades day and it is the intention of the business men of the town to continue to observe that day as the monthly trades day. Many towns have found it profitable to the buyers as well as the merchants to have a monthly trades day and there are many advantages in such an arrangement. It gives the people in the trade territory an opportunity to get together and become better acquainted. It also affords an opportunity for trading by those who have livestock and other property they do not need. The people of this trade territory have always evidenced appreciation of trades day and everybody recognizes the advantages of such an event.

Baptist Reminder

I am glad to say that the work on our educational building is started again. The brick work will about be complete this week. If the weather permits it will be a very short time until the building is completed.

I am glad to say that the services held throughout the county last week were of unusual interest. There were large crowds everywhere we went. Our district missionary seems to be taking hold in a fine way. He makes a good impression with the rural people. I think he will do a great work among our rural people.

Now that the days are longer, it seems necessary to change our services a little. We will meet just fifteen minutes later in the evening.

Continued Rain Is Beneficial

The rain that commenced to fall Wednesday of last week continued with more or less intensity until Wednesday of this week. At times the downpour was heavy, then a slow mist with occasional showers continued for the entire time, until the earth was thoroughly soaked, tanks were filled and many of the creeks and branches were started running in several sections of the county. There was no accurate gauge, but the fall is variously estimated at from 3 inches on up. Anyway, it was plenty for all purposes and it can not now be said that there is no bottom season. Land that was broken received the greater benefit, yet the land that is yet unbroken will be in good condition for plowing, while the moisture will cause seed to sprout readily.

With this fine season there is every reason for hope that the coming growing season will be good and prospects for farming are encouraging.

COUNTY TOURNEY

PRIDDY FEB. 15 - 16.

Unless unforeseen weather conditions warrant a change, the Mills county basketball tournament will be held at Priddy on Friday and Saturday, February 15 and 16.

The first game will be played at 9:30 Friday morning and the last game will begin at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Since the tournament was postponed from Feb. 9 to the above mentioned dates, the athletic council has decided to play the tourney on a double-bracket arrangement, with seven games on Friday and six games on Saturday.

The business men of Priddy are giving a basketball trophy to the winner of the tourney.

In this connection, a girls' tournament with 5 teams and four games will be held simultaneously with the boys' tournament.

The P. T. A. will again be in charge of the meals and offers the same inducements to teams and coaches as before. Don't forget the time and dates and be here to help your team win the tournament. JOEL I. GRIMLAND Ath. Dir., Mills County.

COLLEGE CELEBRATION

Belton, Feb. 6 — Wearing the cap and gown formally for the first time since her coming to Mary Hardin-Baylor, Miss Norma Scott, Buffalo, marched with other members of the senior class Friday, when the college celebrated its ninetieth birthday. The occasion was also significant in that Miss Scott was formally received into the alumnae association when that group welcomed the seniors into its ranks.

This traditional service marks the beginning of the activities that play such a large part in the social life of a senior.

Miss Scott's Goldthwaite and Mullin friends are pleased to know of the excellent progress she is making in her school work and offer hearty congratulations.

PAVING STARTED

The first movement toward paving the streets of Goldthwaite commenced this week, when grading and preparation for laying pavement started on West Fifth street and a portion of Hutchings street, from the Methodist church to the intersection of Fifth street. This paving is to be done with the material supplied by a manufacturer of Uvalde, who proposed to sell the material at a very reasonable price and sent a carload here to be used as a sample of his company's products. It is too early to say just what will be the result of the experiment, but the manufacturers certainly have faith in the product and if it does prove satisfactory the city council will likely have several of the streets paved, especially about the business section.

FEWER SCHOOLHOUSES

Once America's pride, the "little red school house," with its barn-like single room and primitive equipment, is slowly but surely passing. More than 10,000 of these small district school buildings were abandoned in the past few years, their places being taken by the modern consolidated school.

With the rapid extension of good roads and the employment of motor busses for the transportation of children to these larger institutions, it seems inevitable that the one-room school, with its many handicaps, will eventually disappear.

While the district school must thus give place to a new and better system, it has filled a paramount role in the advancement of the nation. To the self-sacrificing labors of faithful teachers in these rural schools many famous men and women owe their early education and inspiration.

But the demands of progress must be met in education, as well as in all other phases of our civilization. The new and larger consolidated school, with its staff of better prepared teachers, its improved organization and its modern equipment will mark an advance over the "little red school house," which must make for a more enlightened and efficient citizenship.

WANTS RACING LAWS REPEALED

Governor Allred has asked the legislature to repeal the law legalizing pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing.

The governor said no niceties of language, talk of so-called "pari-mutuel or certificate" systems, could disguise the fact that everything permitted under the race track "gambling law is gambling pure and simple."

He asserted the act, originally passed as an amendment to the departmental appropriation bill in the closing hours of the forty-third legislature and re-enacted at the first called session a little later, legalized flagrant evils "outlived by patriots in the legislature 26 years ago."

A LIBERAL POLICY

The Eagle has been more liberal than judicious in the matter of subscriptions for the past three years, owing to the depression, but the time has come when all newspapers are being required to cull their lists to those who really want and pay for the paper. One requirement recently brought to the attention of the Eagle management is that the paper can only be sent through the postoffice at the second class rate to bona fide subscribers and business men who carry advertisements and are entitled to a copy of the paper to check such advertisements, but the old "free and easy" policy must be abandoned.

Lost 20 Lbs. of FAT In Just 4 Weeks

A St. Louis, Mo., lady wrote: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—a quarter pound jar lasts 4 weeks—you can get Kruschen at any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

EXEMPTION ALLOWED

A head of a family is defined by income tax regulations as "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more persons who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage, or by adoption, and whose right to exercise control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation." The exemption allowed a head of a family is $2500. The phrase "in one household" may be interpreted as meaning the taxpayer's personal residence, an apartment, rooms in a boarding house, hotel, etc.

Under certain circumstances it is not necessary that the taxpayer and his dependents live under one roof during the entire taxable year in order that the taxpayer may claim the exemption. If the common home being maintained, the parent is away on business, or a child at school or on a visit, the exemption is allowed. Moreover, if a parent is obliged to maintain his dependent children with relatives or in a boarding house, while he lives elsewhere, the exemption still applies. If, however, without necessity, the dependent makes his home elsewhere, the benefactor is not the head of the family.

The same ruling applies to husband and wife "living together." If occasionally the husband is away on business or the wife on a visit, the common home being maintained, the $2500 exemption still applies. The unavoidable absence of husband or wife at a sanatorium does not preclude the exemption. But if the husband continuously makes his home at another place and the wife at another, they are not living together within the meaning of the revenue act.

Odds and Ends

Black has been absent the last two weeks, because of the measles.
 Dean Hale and Eulabel Bell have dropped out of school the last week. Dora Dean moved to Menard, where she attends school.
 A few pupils have been absent this week on account of weather.

Be sure that you don't miss Sullivan's operetta, "The Trill" tonight at the high auditorium.

Attitudes

There are several different attitudes; some of them are grouchy, sullen, despondent, innocent, likable, studious and indifferent. Grouchy attitude is the one that a person usually has when he is sick. The symptoms of such an attitude are a "head off," and the effect is that it loses their respect and causes them to be like the grouchy attitude. Sullen attitude is somewhat of a likable attitude. Some times a person is really mean on the inside but can put on such an innocent front that he fools the people he meets. A likable attitude is the one that is best of all. A person with a likable attitude has a respect for authority and friends. If you had a likable attitude, you would be no wars, no petrels and very few troubles.

Let us all look at ourselves and see just what kind of an attitude we have. If it is bad, let us change it for the better and if it is already good, let us see if it does not change for the better.

The boy described last week was Leonard Huddleston.

Interscholastic League Meet
 It will not be long until the Mills county meet comes off. The debate teams have already been organized and are composed of Clara Blackwell and Doris Robbins for the girls' team. The boys' team is composed of John Reese Graves and Fred Soules; the other is made up of L. C. Cortis and Leonard Huddleston. The participants in the other literary events are organizing and will soon be ready for work.

The boys started coming out for track Monday and it looks as though we are going to have a good track team this year. Everyone get behind these students and give them a boost whenever you can.

 Q—How many people are actually represented by each representative?

A—According to the last census the actual representation was one representative to 280,674 persons.

Q—How many world war veterans hold bonus certificates?

A—About 3,531,800 ex-soldiers would be added to this county alone, if the ex-soldiers could receive their money, which would amount to about $75,000 for this county. The soldier would be able to pay his debt to the grocer, the grocer would have an increase in business and would have to put on additional help. The soldier could live once more as he lived before the war sucked the strength from his body.

Why should the soldier be made to wait until 1945, when he may not even be living then? It is "now" that the bonus should be paid so that the soldier can get the benefit of it himself.

Time after time you have sent senators and representatives to the national capital to help put through the bonus bill, and everytime your senators and representatives have slapped the hand that put them in office. They haven't passed the bonus yet and they won't pass it unless the American people get behind them and demand it.

"Pay the bonus and watch the nation prosper."

The Observer

By Vergil Howard
 There she sits just "jabbering" away as if it were all she had to do. Well, I'll give you a description of her, and you can do the guess work. She has light brown hair, gray-green eyes, is about five feet two inches tall, weighs about 105 pounds. This is her first year in the Goldthwaite public schools, and she is a member of the senior class. She is a good student, even though she does talk a lot, and has won many friends during her school year here.

Now, who is she, she?
 The girl described last week was Ruth Obenhaus.

Oh! Boy! A football hero, and that's no lie, or at least you would think so from the way those pep squad girls yelled for him at the first football games this year.

He has dark hair, gray eyes, weighs about 165 pounds. He is about five feet eleven inches tall. He is a member of the senior class (but lets his mind wander on a certain girl in the junior class. He might as well join the junior class). He's a swell guy at that though, and is pretty studious for a boy. He's one of those indoor baseball players, too. Who is he?

The boy described last week was Leonard Huddleston.

TOWNSEND PENSION PLAN

Coleman, Texas, Feb. 11. — Now that the Townsend old age revolving pension plan is causing some heated debates in congress, members in every state of the union are making their positions clear.

Congressman Chas. L. South, the first congressman from the new 21st district, has stated his position and belief very plainly and frankly in a letter just received by Rush Johnigan, deaf and dumb constable of precinct No. 1 in this city, a staunch advocate of the new, untried plan.

After expressing opposition to the Townsend plan, but advocating a reasonable measure, Congressman South wrote: "I could not permit myself to mislead my friends in any such manner. As I expressed it to one of our friends in Coleman, it would be on a par with a father leading his small son to believe that he would receive a new red bicycle for a Christmas present, when the father well knew that he would not be able to receive more than a twenty-five cent toy train. The child would be disappointed and the father would be a criminal."

"I do not believe the Townsend plan is at all reasonable and do not believe it stands any chance in the world to pass, Congressman South wrote. "The money required to pay this enormous amount for one year would equal the total amount of income of this government for at least six years. It would be paying to nine people out of every hundred as much money as the other ninety-one out of the hundred make in all."

"I think it is unfortunate that a few misguided, but perhaps well-meaning people, with no experience or ability to pass upon great economic questions would have evolved this fantastic plan. It is more regrettable that a few politicians who know the plan will not work, are sponsoring it and pretending to believe that it will work."

"I believe this congress will pass a law which will provide some $15 per month for dependent and deserving old people. The states will be permitted to supplement this amount, doubtless. Even if the states do not pay anything and the federal government will pay $15 each, it will enable old people to tide over and will be a source of much gratification and comfort to them. This will cost the government a lot of money, but it is within reason, whereas, the Townsend plan is absolutely beyond reason and sooner or later we will have to face this fact."

"I have gone into a good deal of detail in this, because I think a lot of you, as you know, and I do not want to see you misled on this question."

Congressman Thomas L. Blanton of the Abilene district has declared against the plan and has been having some hefty tiffs on the floor of congress with congressmen from California, who have caused a flood of letters to members of the Texas delegation, as well as delegations from other states.

Why Not Smile "Smile and the world smiles with you; Weep and you weep alone."

Some people do not realize how true the above quotation is. If we could realize what our lives would mean to us and others if we had no sunshine to break through the dreary clouds of gray and brighten the entire universe, we all enjoy getting out in the sunshine. The warmth of the rays of sunshine glow through us just as a smile helps to lighten another's burden. Rise each morning with a smile in your heart and a smile on your face, then each day will be brighter and your burdens will be lighter. Just because you smile.

It makes us happy to do things for someone else. If a friend is sick, send that fellow flowers or a book, or better still, visit him. Carry a ray of sunshine into his room and cheer his lonely being. Then thoughts of gladness will enter your heart, for you have helped another to live more abundantly. Always wear a smile and you will be happy, too. A kind word and a pleasant smile will always be appreciated.

EBONY

Ebony has at last received its share of rain. Our ground is thoroughly soaked, and there is plenty of water for the stock. We had some rain Wednesday night, but Friday evening it began in earnest. It just poured. Sunday it rained almost all day. It still rained some Monday and Monday night and Tuesday.

There was no church or Sunday school Sunday on account of the rain. Dale Reid is having to miss school this week on account of having the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Jones returned Sunday evening from visiting Mrs. Jones' mother, Mrs. McNurien, in San Saba county. Mrs. McNurien has been very ill in a Brownwood hospital, but she is considerably better now.

Mrs. Ed Crowder's mother, Mrs. Volney Meeks, who has been very sick with pneumonia at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Randolph Massey, at Ridge, is improving now.

Mrs. J. R. Wilmeth is on the sick list this week. Miss Lily Bell visited our school Monday.

J. P. Ketchum and family visited Mr. Ketchum's mother, Mrs. J. M. Ketchum, Sunday.

Herbert White and daughter, Mrs. Fina Cook, and her little daughter, Trilby, all from near San Angelo, visited Mr. White's mother, Mrs. Martha Louise White, Tuesday. While here Mr. White took his mother with him to Regency to visit his sister, Mrs. Henry Egger. They visited other relatives at Ridge. Friday morning they returned home.

The 4-H Club held its regular meeting Friday morning at the English period. They will have their next meeting Friday morning, Feb. 22. They have also planned a pie supper to be held at the school house March 1.

Eugene Egger's landlord has put up a windmill for him. Lillard Wilmeth and Mrs. J. R. Briley attended the curriculum revision meeting at Mullin Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Orr and their two little girls, Bera Mae and Pauline, from near Brownwood, visited Mrs. Nellie Malone a few days ago. The Ors used to be our citizens and Bera Mae was one of our best pupils. We hope they will visit us often.

P. R. Reid is remodeling his farm house.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Reeves have finished their farm census job in the Mullin precinct and are at home again.

The Mullin basket ball team played our boys here Wednesday evening. The game resulted in a score of 13 and 16 in favor of Ebony.

Little Louise Ketchum is quite sick at this writing. It was necessary to take her to Brownwood to the doctor Monday.

Remember, Bro. Jodie Caldwell of Howard Payne college will preach here Saturday night, Sunday morning and night.

Miss Fannie Russell, aunt of Meek Russell and great aunt of Mrs. Lora Crowder of this community, died at Brownwood on Monday and was buried here on Tuesday. Her relatives do not know her exact age, but they say she was over a hundred years old. She was born in Missouri, also lived in Tennessee. She came with her people to Texas and lived at Georgetown many years. The remainder of her life was spent at Brownwood, having lived there many years. Her brothers, Tom and Dick Russell, who both sleep in this cemetery, were among the first settlers of this community. Her mother also rests here. She was the last of her family, but is survived by many nieces and nephews.

Bro. Cooper of the Melwood Avenue Baptist church, Brownwood, officiated.

Her niece, Mrs. Roland Russell of Brownwood, who nursed Aunt Fannie in her last illness, accompanied the body here for burial.

Eleventh Grade

The biology class has done good work in their notebooks and will have an easier time when they have caught up.

Tenth Grade

The tenth grade of Priddy has started to work on circles in geometry. It seems that it will be easier than the first half of school.

The English class has organized a "Better English club."

Ninth Grade

Our class has had a good attendance this week, although, it has been rainy and muddy.

We organized an English club Thursday, February 7. We decided that the name of our club was to be "Better Speakers, Thinkers and Writers Club."

The colors were decided to be maroon and white. The officers, which were elected by the class, are as follows: Viola Limmer, president; Nelda Jeske, vice president; Wilma Nauert, secretary; Dora Mae Steinmann, reporter. The members of the program committee, which were appointed by the president, are: Nelda Jeske, Wilma Nauert and Fred Scott. They will prepare a program for every Thursday for the rest of this term.

Our motto was decided to be, "Make a way or find one." We are hoping our club will be a success.

Eighth Grade

The eighth grade has not had very good attendance this week on account of the rainy weather.

We organized an English club Monday, Feb. 4. The name of it is "Freshmen Better English Club." Orange and white are the colors decided on. The following officers were elected: President, Nelma Grelle; vice president, Hattie Schumann; secretary, Ida Lubke; reporter, Bertha Lubke.

The program committee was appointed by the president and will hold the position for two weeks. Those now appointed are chairman, Nelma Grelle; members, Ervin Simms, Esta Lubke, Arthur Drucekhammer, Mary June Perryman.

Third and Fourth Grades

The third and fourth grades' attendance has been small the past week on account of sickness. We are glad to report the Rost twins back in school, also Norman Henkes, after a week's absence. Many others are yet unable to return.

The fourth grade some times gets rather discouraged over learning to do fractions, but our motto is "Never give up and by and by they will be easy."

We are planning for a valentine box tomorrow and are looking forward to a nice time.

We are indeed glad to see the sun out again today, as it has been hidden so long.

Primary

The addition of a number of new pictures, makes our room look brighter.

Billy Joe Priddy, Wanda Humphries, Ben Humphries, Doris Merlene Dearson, Edward Jeske, and Clyde Deckard were on the Tuesday spelling honor roll.

Sports

Due to the bad weather last Saturday the Mills county basket ball tournament was put off. The teams drew Tuesday and until Friday and Saturday 15-16, they will play as follows today: Priddy-Pleasant Grove; Pralrie-Goldthwaite; Star-Mullin; Center City.

The first game will start at 9:30 a. m.

The girls basket ball tournament will be held Saturday, Feb. 16, at Priddy high school. There are five teams entering the tournament.

The Priddy girls basket ball team had a game matched with Star last Friday, but the weather was so bad that the game was called off. This was a disappointment for the girls team of Priddy, because they had the right spirit to play.

The home economics class will begin their sewing now in a few days.

The civics class is doing good work in answering and working on daily questions.

Everybody in the girls' glee club has such a croaky voice we can't practice any new songs. We hope that soon everybody will clear their voice and be able to sing.

The tenth and eleventh grades organized an English club. The officers are the following: Irene Gromatzky, president; Carl William, vice president; Edna Lubke, secretary; Mildred Mason, reporter. The program committee is composed of J. N. Steward, Hilma Hein, Louise Koch and Billie Perkins. The English club will meet every Wednesday. The club motto is "To make good English better."

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE

Our second quarterly conference that was to be held at Green's Chapel the eleventh instance, was called off on account of the bad roads to that place. Dr. McClure will be here to preach a short sermon and we expect to have a good crowd from all the churches. The business that is to be attended to demands an early date and hence we are announcing the place as Blanket so that we can have it if the good rains continue to fall on us.

Cordially yours,
CHESTER WILKERSON

Making a Sparkling Party Table

ATTRACTIVE use of modern materials gives a festive note to the above party table setting. Over a lace dinner cloth has been placed a cover of transparent Cellophane in the natural shade. The centerpieces and the favors with grape motifs are made of the same transparent material both in black and in the natural color. Candelsticks of chrome and places set at the side only are two modern notes. The glass goblets are suited to the clear, sparkling table setting.

The party table cloth and grapes can be had ready made or can be made at home. For the table cover, seam together two strips of the natural colored transparent material in wide width with Scotch cellulose tape, which is gummed and transparent.

For the grapes, make balls of absorbent cotton about 1 inch in diameter for the large bunches, and about half that size or less for the smaller grapes. Cover with the transparent material in black or any other desired color, and tie with spool wire at the base of the grape, leaving 5 inches of the wire extended. Next, take two grapes and wind wires together, then wire this stem to a heavier piece of wire which serves as the main stem and which is about 7 or 8 inches long. The main stem will be left extended 3 1/2 inches, as shown in the above illustration, without grapes or leaves.

Use fourteen grapes to a bunch, so placed on the main stem that the bunch, when finished, will be comparatively flat on one side, so it will lie flat on the table. Two leaves are cut from silver paper and wired on the base of the grapes. The wire stems left exposed are wrapped first with crepe paper, then with the transparent material in natural shade, until well covered.

ODD ACCIDENTS

Loss of a wheel meant only delay for repairs to a clergyman driving along a Michigan road, but to William Bender it meant a sojourn in a hospital. As the car was passing, a wheel came off, bounded up and struck Bend in the head as he sat on his front porch.

It was a case of the hunted becoming the hunter when two Ontario men, Messrs. Gravelle and Burke, set out to kill a moose. An unusually fine specimen leaped into the road and attacked them. After a futile attempt to demolish their car the animal rushed back into the woods with the radiator shell and a fender clinging to its antlers.

It would be hard to convince a young Marylander, John Wood, that there is no such thing as luck. When his car was side-swiped by a truck and knocked through a bridge abutment it was saved from plunging down an embankment when it lodged atop a telephone pole.

A young man in Monterey, Cal., was forced to take to crutches, because his feet failed to awaken with the rest of his body. Stepping down from bed his right foot turned under, causing a severe sprain. The same thing occurred when he shifted his weight to the other foot.

But when a West Virginia coal miner, A. McHaffey, got out of his bed to investigate a noise he found a dead man sitting upright at the foot of the stairs. He had fallen from his car as it rounded a curve and had plunged through the door into the house.

When Eskil Karlsson of Sweden endeavored to prove to his wife that he was the better dish washer of the two, his foot slipped, causing him to fall upon a bread knife he was holding. After he returned from the hospital he decided to let her do the dishes.—Pathfinder.

AN OVERWORKED SUBJECT

The subject of traffic and highway accidents would seem to have been overworked in the press and through other propaganda the past several years, yet the accident list continues to grow from year to year until the total has become enormous. Last year, the good year 1934, motor and highway accidents struck deeper at the heart of American homes than ever before. During that year, according to absolutely trustworthy authority, 36,000 people were killed and more than a million were injured in such accidents. This condition is a challenge to all authorities charged with the protection of human life and the well-being of the citizens to exert every means to enforce such regulations as will give the maximum of protection. Three causes for the condition can be assigned. They are reckless driving, speed and the apparent indifference of the public, both pedestrians and travelers by vehicles of various kinds. A remedy should be found and then applied. The enforcement should be equally as strict on the reckless pedestrian as on the reckless driver. A person responsible for any manner of wreck or accident should be held accountable, regardless of how the accident was brought about and when this is done there will be a lowering of the death and injury rate in traffic and on the highways. All of the blame must not be placed on any one class or condition. Watch the traffic on any street or on any highway for a short time and the cause of the mounting casualty list will be easy to determine.

INVESTIGATING THE COST OF CRIME

The Texas senate has had a committee at work investigating the many ramifications of crime and determining, as near as possible, the cost to the state and, incidentally, its taxpayers to maintain law and order. In discussing the work and efforts of this committee, the Texas Tax Journal brings out some very salient facts, when it says that the "cost of crime is not altogether reflected by the amount of money paid out by the state, county and city governments, as hundreds of thousands of dollars are paid out in Texas in insurance premiums in order to become more secure against crime. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are paid out for watchmen of homes, manufacturing institutions, banks, etc., to prevent crime. These two items, as well as many others are not reflected in the cost of crime by the public records. The kidnaper, bootlegger and robber have had such sway that crime has become an organized institution and the public is their victim. The children of wealthy people, as well as the fathers and mothers, are preys of crime, the financial institutions where people's money is deposited are shining marks for it, and the gamblers and bootleggers generally thrive upon the younger generation by the illicit business that has so many ramifications and the whole cost of the crime set-up in Texas is more expensive than the entire cost of government."

MAINTAINING A COTTON MARKET

Some of the outstanding and most reliable authorities on the cotton market are in disagreement on the effects of the government's policy in limiting the production of cotton by limiting the acreage devoted to the production of that crop. While there are grounds for sound reasoning and debate in all they say, on either side of the question, the angle that is of paramount importance to the cotton growers and to the entire south, if not the nation, is what would have been the result to the cotton producer, whether as an individual or as a community, state or section, if the federal government had not attempted a remedy. One argument brought out by a citizen in a large cotton producing county in South Texas, in a communication to some of the daily papers, shows that he has prospered under government control. To use his own figures, he shows that for his 1932 crop he received, including receipts for the seed, $19 per bale. For his 1933 cotton and the payment for the plow-up he received $52, while in 1934, under the operation of the Bankhead law, he received $85 per bale. This is a much better showing than most people thought could be made and certainly argues in favor of the government control.

DANGER IN DELAY

There are few communities in Texas that do not expect to have a part in the centennial celebration next year, but so far there has been very little done by any of them in even formulating plans, much less putting them into operation. If only a meagre program is intended, there is plenty of time, to be sure, but the danger is that the idea that there is plenty of time will operate to thwart the plans of those enterprising citizens who really intend to have a part in displaying the development, resources and beauty of this state. One of the most beneficial features connected with the proposed celebration is the inspiration of a patriotic spirit in the citizens, but if the good purposes are not carried to a successful termination, they will not result in a great deal of good to the state, even though the patriotic spirit of the citizens may be helped wonderfully.

Another very vital matter is being neglected, in this connection, and that is the outlining of plans to be followed by the smaller as well as the larger communities. If some state commission would make a study of the conditions and then outline plans to be followed there would be much more activity throughout the state in preparation for the celebration of the centennial.

IMMENSE PURCHASES

It is doubtful if the country as a whole fully appreciated the government's immense undertaking in the cattle purchases during the past few months and certainly the full extent of the benefits to the entire country are not appreciated, unless the various angles of the undertaking are understood. Figures on drouth cattle purchases show that the administration paid approximately $20,000,000 for about 2,000,000 head of cattle in Texas and the relief commission canning plants in Texas processed 374,000 head, turning out 47,000,000 cans of beef, 1-4 pounds to the can, and affording employment to between 20,000 and 30,000 persons, counting extra employees required by slaughter houses. In addition, the AAA, having bought 700,000 head of sheep and about 400,000 goats, has shipped out of the state fifty cars of sheep pelts, with a like number of cars remaining to be shipped. Thousands of livestock owners would have impoverished themselves in securing feed to sustain their stock, whereas, they were relieved of that responsibility and were given the price of the cattle to apply on their other expenses or obligations. It was indeed a wonderful plan carried through by the government.

VITAL STATISTICS

A new baby every four minutes, 320 every day, 10,100 a month—that's the record of Texas, who showed 121,508 births registered with the state bureau of vital statistics in 1934. This total carries an increase of 8,800 over 1933, when 112,669, the greatest number of births ever registered with the bureau in any year, were registered.

The 1934 records showed an excess of 57,956 births over the total deaths. Last year in Texas there were 63,552 deaths recorded, or one death every eight minutes, 174 each day, or 3296 per month. Or putting it another way, about two babies are born in Texas each time a death occurs in the state.

The bureau of vital statistics is a part of the Texas state department of health and is charged with the duty of seeing that every birth and death occurring in the state is properly filed and registered. Such records are known as vital statistics because the information contained is of vital importance to the person himself, the community and the state.

Texas is now in the registration area for both births and deaths. Everyone can assist in helping to keep our records at this high requirement if they insist that every birth and death occurring in their family be registered.

LOST CITY FOUND

A press report from Nogales, Ariz., says: Paxton C. Payne, archaeologist, has returned to the mountains of northern Sonora where, he reported, he had discovered tombs of a race of giants, seven to nine feet tall.

Payne believes that he has found the legendary "lost city of Sonora."

The archaeologist stumbled upon the ruins at the foot of a deep canyon. He found a narrow cave screened by a high waterfall. Crawling through a tunnel, he came upon a verdant valley, where he discovered the skeletons of the giants. He said he also found many furnishings and implements. The houses, now decaying, had walls 17 feet thick, he reported.

"The lost city of Sonora" has become a legend among Mexicans and Indians. Traditions say it was inhabited by a race of giants.

POOR MEXICO

Rebellion is again threatened in Mexico. That poor old country has been in a storm since the days of Diaz. Previous to his election to the presidency it had been in war most of the time for half a century.

The officials of Mexico blame the church for the trouble, and the church says that it merely stands for the civil and religious rights of its members.

We do not pretend to know who is to blame for the situation, but we do know that it is deplorable. If Mexico could be brought into development as the United States it would become a strong ally, and it would give to our people a greater market for manufactures than they will ever be able to acquire in the old world.

Mexico needs two things—a strong government that can keep the peace, and a just government that will extend liberty to all the people and opportunity to all who desire to work and acquire property for themselves.—Waco Record.

TO REWRITE CONSTITUTION

Unforeseen legal complications have arisen to change the procedure in the fight for a new state constitution being waged at Austin by Representative J. Franklin Spears of Bexar county. A joint resolution calling for a constitutional convention is now before the committee on constitutional amendments.

In preparing data for the hearing on his measure, Representative Spears unearthed an adverse opinion written in 1923 by an assistant attorney general. The opinion made in answer to an inquiry by 52 members of the house, declared the legislature to be without power to call a convention to rewrite the constitution.

Spears now plans to withdraw his resolution calling for a convention and to substitute a new amendment giving the legislature such power.

TIMELY TOPICS

Just how Deputy Sheriff Fowler of Oklahoma learned to drive with one hand is not pertinent to this story. But his ability to do so came handy not long ago. Driving with one hand and shooting with the other, he pursued two bank robbers, killing one and wounding the other, besides recovering the $3750 they had stolen.

A church in Ohio operates a filling station which all members are asked to patronize. This may give some legislator the idea of imposing a special church tax on gasoline. It is taxed for nearly everything else.

Harry B. Thayer, retired telephone magnate, made this sage observation at the end of his long business career: "It is easy to fool yourself; more difficult to fool those you work for; still more difficult to fool those you work with; and almost impossible to fool those who work under your direction."

With so many government inspectors snooping about, it is rather easy for impostors to pull their stuff. In Nashville a bandit armed with a fake search warrant gained admission to two homes and robbed them of several hundred dollars.

A strange animal freak is described by O. C. Van Hyning, curator of the Florida state museum. It is a turtle with two perfectly developed heads, which see, eat, drink and sleep independently. It is encased in a single shell, but has two sets of front feet, although possessing only two hind feet and one tail. One of the strangest characteristics of this remarkable turtle is that, although it has only one stomach, the two heads sometimes fight for the same morsel of food.

A business magazine tells of the enlightenment of a negro insurance agent, arrested for doing business without a license. The magistrate said: "Don't you know you can't sell life insurance without a license." The darky replied: "Boss, you done said a mouthful; I knowed I couldn't sell any, but I didn't know why."

Dr. Freeman of Yale reports, after an exhaustive survey, that the man who "takes it easy" while he works is likely to get the most done. This is encouraging to those who like to take things easy—and that applies, we imagine, to most of us.

GUESSING THE FUTURE

Making predictions concerning what future years will bring forth has long been an interesting, if generally futile, indoor sport. A writer in Le Matin of Paris recently recalled some of the prophecies of the monk Theodosius, whose writings were discovered in an old monastery.

In the year 932 Theodosius tried to predict some of the things which would or would not happen in the coming 1000 years, so that time is up. Here are some of his guesses:

That Mohammedanism would be destroyed, the Cross having conquered the Crescent. But there are still more than 200 million Mohammedans in the world.

That the demand for books would cause pious monks to spend night and day copying manuscripts of the great bishops. He did not foresee the invention of printing.

That while the magnetic power of rubbed amber was interesting, nothing important would come of it. This phenomenon was later developed and became the clue to the discovery of electricity.

That it was madness to think man could ever fly, or raise himself into the air like a bird. Another poor guess.

But with respect to his skepticism about flying, Theodosius was no farther wrong than a certain United States congressman of only 32 years ago, who opposed an appropriation for airplane experiments, declaring that only a fool would believe that mechanical flight was possible of accomplishment. A few months later the Wright brothers flew at Kitty Hawk—and everybody knows what has happened since.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEW'S OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

BLACKLISTING NATIONS

A blacklist of nations, charged with discriminating against American goods, according to reports from Washington, is shortly to be announced by the state department. It is said that a list of 35 such nations has been compiled, and while their identity has not been disclosed, the Associated Press intimates that most of them are European nations. According to the dispatches, these nations maintain exchange restrictions, quotas, and other limitations on imports, besides tariffs, which are alleged to be discriminatory against American goods. Precisely what form the retaliatory measures are to take is not entirely clear, though the dispatches say that such nations will be denied tariff deductions granted under reciprocal agreements with other nations. This may mean nothing more than that the state department plans to interpret the most favored nation clause in such a way as to require the removal of certain special restrictions existing in various countries, and that the Washington correspondents hit upon the provocative word "blacklist" to describe the move and thus make a better "story." But blacklist or no blacklist, any move that will restrict our trade with European nations will be bound to hurt us more than it hurts those nations, for the very good and sufficient reason that Europe usually buys about twice as much from the United States as the United States buys from Europe. Not only that, but very nearly half of our total exports (it was more than half down to 1926) go to Europe. We have more reason to want to reopen trade with Europe than Europe has to want to reopen trade with us. As a general rule we buy twice as much from the rest of the world than we buy from Europe, whereas Europe buys very nearly as much from us as the rest of the world does. That was a natural condition when we owed large sums annually to Europe, but it is rather difficult now that Europe owes us large sums annually. But aside from that, it ought to be clear that any policy we may adopt that costs Europe one dollar in trade is likely to cost us two dollars. This would be true no matter in which direction the loss was occasioned, whether by a reduction of the volume of trade or by a failure to increase the volume where an increase would otherwise have resulted. A blacklist of European nations would be a costly device to us. It would be cutting off our nose to spite our face.—Texas Weekly.

ARMY OF 165,000

Representative Ewing Thomson of El Paso, member of the house military affairs committee, has introduced a measure to increase the strength of the regular army to 165,000 men, which would mean the enlistment of 50,000 additional soldiers. For a number of reasons the measure probably will find strong support in both branches when it comes up for action. Chief among these reasons is that the regular army is considerably below the "safety line" in personnel, as the annual report of the secretary of war pointed out. Another good reason is that taking 50,000 men off relief and putting them into the army would be a good break for the men and the country.

At 165,000 the United States would still have one of the smallest armies among the major powers. The soviet commissar for defense announced this week that Russia's army has been increased from 600,000 to 940,000. He coupled it with the statement that war was being prepared against Russia, and dared these putative enemies to "try our borders" and they would discover that the Russian army is now one of the finest on the earth. That probably is no exaggeration.

Military budgets are being increased all over the world, and in spite of disarmament conferences and peace activities the great nations are making war medicine. We want no war, but we do want a good standing army at all times and especially when the war spirit is gripping the nations of the earth.—Abilene News.

IN DEFENSE OF LAISSEZ-FAIRE

Great Britain and the United States have formerly been the traditional defenders of the principle of economic freedom. England as the pioneer industrial nation largely dependent upon foreign commerce, and the United States as a relatively new country with vast resources awaiting development by private initiative, have both had good reasons for keeping governmental interference in business and finance at a minimum. On the other hand, the countries of the continent of Europe, notably Germany and France, have usually leaned toward a greater degree of government economic intervention in the past.

The annual report of the bank of France emphasizes the degree to which fundamental economic policy has been revised in the various countries. "The normal play of economic laws," complains Jean Tannery, the new governor of the bank, "is continually falsified by artificial interventions." M. Tannery implies that France wishes to continue to avoid currency manipulations and similar types of governmental recovery, trusting that other nations will follow suit and thus permit her to enjoy the benefits of such a non-intervention policy.

The gold bloc countries have replaced Great Britain and the United States as the chief protagonists of relative economic freedom. It remains to be seen whether, in the face of continued deflationary pressure at home, they will continue to resist the temptation to apply greater political control to their national economies, a course which has gained so much in popularity in the United States and elsewhere in recent years.—New York Journal of Commerce.

thing very materially about tariff reduction." By this he meant that when any important protected commodity or article was brought up for tariff reduction, the political pressure was so great that it would be blocked. One of the inherent weaknesses of the representative-democratic form of government is the effectiveness with which a vitally interested, militant minority can block legislation which is in the interest of the majority. The need of tariff readjustment is an example. It is an "utterly impossible task" that must be accomplished and the southern representatives and senators should be about it.—Dallas News.

AGREEMENT WITH

The signing of the trade agreement with Brazil, the real beginning of progress in the right direction, but the celebration of the event is justified only on the hopes for the future. It is a material lowering of some important commodities and articles of trade in agreement with Brazil, considered solely from the point, the pact represents an accomplishment. But, from the broad view, the purpose of the new pact, the Trade Agreement, present diplomatic feat, is discounted, because Brazil is not in position to resist the offer of a new trade pact. That country bought last year only about 10% of our merchandise worth us more than $90,000,000 goods. Over a number of years Brazil has had the balance in her favor. In example, we exported to that country $100,076,439 of goods, while importing the value of $220,668,000. It is good reason why the trade treaties have been Cuba and Brazil.

Our diplomats and special experts are going to an entirely different when they are finalizing treaties with the few important countries. We have trade balances favor. Yet, the success whole program under the Agreement Act will be success on this front country that has been the short end of the that is in a bad mood, the opposition to world trade struggle. The program of reciprocal agreements has been put point where the new S. L. N extended to such countries as France and Germany be occasion for a relation.—Dallas News.

While playing beneath the house occupied by their grand- father, J. A. Eklund, children of C. W. The coins were said to have been fairly good imitations, but were unfin- ished in appearance. Mr. Eklund lives in the Fritz Haber house in the southwest portion of the city. The coins were turned over to local officers who have been investigating, but so far no clues as to who might have made the counterfeit, nor who might have left them where they were found, have been discovered. It is said that in past months a number of counterfeit coins, similar to those just found, have been passed in the city.—Stand- ard.

This was the only way in which to clear the title to the property for the heirs of the deceased man who had made the freak deed.

LEARNING FROM THE WHALE

There are many people who laugh at what they call the fool pursuits of scientists. They fail to appreciate the scientific mind, or the probability that discoveries in one investigation may disclose principles of great importance to mankind. For example, a scientist is now making a study of the whale. Why? Because the great sea mammal possesses a secret that might be of value to men. Some lines, for an hour, the whale goes under the water, and stays under. What becomes of the carbon dioxide which he generates? If the whale has some method of disposing of this poison is it not possible that, once discovered, scientists may be able to reproduce for men the same condition?

Well, says the doubter, what of it? Well say we, this might save the lives of a number of submarine sailors. It might spare hundreds of miners and save their lives when buried within the mines. It might do more than this. What it might do we cannot tell, but the scientist will find out for us if we give him a chance.

THE MACON DISASTER

Shenandoah—Akron—Macon—one by one the huge dirigibles representing an investment of many millions have been given to the god of storm and disaster. What happened to the Macon over the Pacific Tuesday is known. The SOS from the giant aircraft showed that commander and crew recognized their danger, the factor that brought quick assistance and which was responsible for the rescue of 31 of the 83 men on board. Until Lieut. Com. Herbert V. Wiley makes his official report, the definite cause remains hidden. The Macon's loss is low in life, but heavy in cost. Its $4,000,000 value represents approximately the amount necessary to put an air vessel of this type in commission. Since the loss of the Akron, naval officials have urged replacement and, in the naval building program on which the present congress is to pass, one Macon-type dirigible is provided. Now there is no longer a dirigible fleet. It was wiped out Tuesday night.

The loss is a severe blow to the navy, because it must be noted that the service does not share popular dissatisfaction with the dirigible. It is believed to be a necessity for defense purposes. In the Panama maneuvers, observers credited the Macon with war condition performance. Only last April the navy took pride in its coast-to-coast new record. Now it is gone.

So far, all that the United States has to show for its dirigible experiment is the loss of more than 100 useful lives and of more than $10,000,000 in construction and maintenance. Before the navy is the serious task of explaining what malignant fatality dooms American dirigibles to disaster. A flying coffin is not a menace—while it flies. But the splintered wrecks of steel and canvas that were the Shenandoah, the Akron and the Macon are sinister monuments to all that we have attempted with the dirigible.—Dallas News.

CARD OF THANKS

We are indeed grateful to our friends in Goldthwaite and elsewhere for their many acts of kindness and sympathy in our bereavement, in the loss of our dear son and brother. Words can not express the appreciation we feel for all the thoughtfulness and words of consolation of our neighbors and other friends. They did more than we could have expected and the beautiful flowers supplied for the home and the cemetery were evidence of the friendliness and sympathy of our friends that we can never forget.

MR. and MRS. MARVIN RUDD and Daughters.

MARVIN SPENCE RUDD PASSED AWAY

The entire community was saddened last Saturday afternoon by the announcement that Marvin Spence Rudd had passed away in a Fort Worth hospital, after suffering a short time with meningitis. His remains were brought to Goldthwaite that night, accompanied by a number of relatives and friends of the family, who had gone to Fort Worth to be with the grief-stricken parents in their over-shadowing bereavement.

Funeral services were held in the cemetery at this place Sunday afternoon and notwithstanding the inclement weather a large number of friends of the family and the friends and former school mates of the young man attended the sad service.

Marvin Spence was born April 11, 1913. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rudd, and grew to manhood here. He united with the Baptist church at this place in 1923 and was a graduate of the high school in 1929. Later he attended a business college in Fort Worth and at the time he was stricken with meningitis he was employed part time in Fort Worth and was a student in a business college in that city. When the message came announcing his critical condition the parents hurried to Fort Worth to be near him and other relatives joined them there when the seriousness of his condition was made known to them.

All of the community and the entire circle of their acquaintance join in deep sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Rudd and their two daughters and other bereaved relatives.

CENTER POINT

Sunday school, church and singing were rained out Sunday. Neither were there any services Sunday night, because of the bad weather.

The nice rain, which fell over the week end, was surely beneficial to the grain and fresh broken land. The norther also was helpful in preventing early budding of the fruit trees.

Mrs. Leonard Chambers spent last week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. George Hammonds and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Taylor and Patsy Nell visited Tuesday and Wednesday of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cox of South Bennett.

Mrs. Eula Nickols of the Rock Springs community called on Beese Hutchings Thursday and attended the ladies' club meeting at Mrs. Ray Davis' in the afternoon.

Mrs. Florence Conner and Lillie spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Lewis Truitt.

Quite a few of the school children were water bound Friday night and had to spend the night across the creek.

Lois Elaine, small daughter of Professor and Mrs. Robbins, has been quite ill, but is better at this writing. She barely escaped an attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Florence Conner visited Mrs. Chester Williams Monday.

Dee Hammonds accompanied Dock Langlitz from Goldthwaite, to Brownwood Sunday afternoon to take Curtis Taylor and Clifford Hammonds back to the CCC camp.

Johnnie Taylor visited his mother Tuesday morning.

Curtis Taylor and Clifford Hammonds spent Saturday night and Sunday with their parents.

Mae Ellen and Hazel Williams spent Friday night with Evelyn Hill.

The men of the community seem to be getting along real well with the work on the school grounds, considering this rainy weather.

The little Conner boys were Friday night visitors with Joe Taylor.

A large number of the school children have the chickenpox this week.

Arthur Williams and Johnnie Taylor played 42 Tuesday night with Frank and Jesse Romans.

Miss Faye French is visiting her sister, Mrs. Roy Branswell, this week.

Because of bad weather there has not been so much visiting and, too, this scribe failed to learn all the late news.

News In Brief

Indorsement of the proposed $3,000,000 appropriation from the state treasury for the state's part in financing the Texas centennial was given in resolutions adopted at the closing session of the seventh annual mid-winter meeting of the Texas Press association Sunday in Austin.

A bill was introduced in the Kansas legislature to create a Kansas naval reserve and militia and authorizing the state's governor to accept any warships, lifeboats, aircraft or other equipment the navy might lend the Kansas contingent for practice work. The navy would sail the Missouri river.

The national senate this week voted sweeping investigation of virtually every possible activity of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, and authorized $750,000—the largest initial sum it has ever voted for an inquiry—for expenses of the probe. The resolution now goes to the house, where passage is considered certain.

Premier Mussolini Monday called to arms 250,000 Italian soldiers and placed naval equipment and airplanes in readiness to retaliate for a succession of alleged border attacks from Ethiopians. Italy's neighbors in Africa. "The situation is grave and it is impossible to say what will be done if Ethiopia ignores our protest," declared a government spokesman.

Major Charles A. Shepard—backed by his third wife against a charge he poisoned his second for love of a Texas blonde—was acquitted Monday in Topeka, Kansas, and the 63-year-old retired army tuberculosis specialist said he was going home to Denver to start over again. A federal court jury returned its verdict after deliberating sixteen hours and fifteen minutes. It was Shepard's second trial. The United States Supreme Court reversed a conviction in the first, held in 1930.

The conviction of C. E. Heidingsfelder, Sr., Houston attorney, on a charge of embezzling $34,500 from a client, was affirmed this week by the court of criminal appeals. Heidingsfelder was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment by a jury at Georgetown, where the case was transferred on a change of venue. In an exhaustive opinion reviewing all the basis upon which Heidingsfelder's attorneys appealed, Judge George E. Christian of the court's commission of appeals, found no reversible error in the record.

A new domestic allotment cotton act designed to replace the Bankhead law and cotton provisions of the agricultural adjustment act was proposed in a bill introduced in congress this week by Representative Eagle, a Democrat, Texas, who said the measure was designed to provide a permanent, sound program for maintenance of the cotton-producing industry and contained these principles: Guarantee of parity price to the producer on all cotton domestically consumed, no compulsory reduction of acreage or production, no such voluntary reduction through government payments, and increasing foreign trade by inducing export of cotton.

A magnetic stool pigeon will slip into Sing Sing prison this week to sing the death warrant for gun smuggling. The device is expected to detect without fail the bugaboo of all prisons—the smuggled gun on which has been based most of the major outbreaks. The inventor is a young Russian. The gun detector consists only of two little boxes, one on either side of a doorway. The apparatus in one of the boxes sends out a constant stream of magnetic impulses. In the box of the opposite side of the door way is a receiver that sets off a loud buzzer the minute the magnetic field is distorted by some metal object. The detector already is in operation at Alcatraz Island prison in California.

A German demand for a military air fleet equal to Russia's and possibly greater was said in informed quarters Monday to be a part of the reply Hitler is framing for the Anglo-French pact proposals. The Nazi leader has been in virtual seclusion in his Bavarian mountain retreat, mulling over Germany's reply to the powers.

An army proposal for the creation of six more powerful air bases was coupled before a house committee Monday with assertions that Alaska is vulnerable to Japanese attack. The army plan was submitted by the assistant chief of staff, who said the program represented peace time training for defense. One of the new bases would be in Alaska and the others would guard the continent and the Panama Canal.

Ten thousand defiant Kansans swept across the prairie lands Sunday in a gigantic rabbit drive, in direct violation of the attorney general and the state board of health. For three hours farmers and townsmen marched across an eight mile square and slew tons of the gray rabbit pests that threaten next year's crops. Thirty thousand rabbits were exterminated. When the hunt was over leaders remembered that attorney general and state board of health had prohibited the drive.

After scoring three victories for President Roosevelt, the senate appropriations committee favorably reported the administration's $4,880,000,000 work relief bill with a slight concession to organized labor on the "prevailing wage" issue. As reported the bill carried a new section, directing the president to pay the "prevailing rate of wages" on any project if the proposed "sustenance wages" are found to be "affecting adversely" the prevailing wages in the vicinity. This substitute for the American Federation of Labor's demand that "prevailing rates of wages" be paid on all relief projects, proved unacceptable to labor leaders.
