OKLAHOMA MAN HARD ON DOLE TAKERS

"Help wanted" was the word of Erle P. Halliburton, millionaire president of an oil well cementing firm, to American industry in a fight he is waging on "the dole," lest Americans become "a race of people that can't take it."

But by that token, "no help wanted," was Halliburton's answer to all job applicants who ever have received relief, either as a direct gift with which to buy food or for working on relief projects.

Halliburton, a distant relative of the globe-trotting author, Richard Halliburton, started from scratch 14 years ago and now his interests which employ more than 1000 persons, 200 of them in a Honduras gold mine, to which he takes even heavy machinery by airplane, because there is no railroad.

He said he could see no reason why any company should employ dole recipients, "when there still are thousands of people who refuse to accept charity at the expense of the taxpayers."

"I think the sooner industry decides not to employ persons who accept the dole, the sooner the relief problem of the nation will be solved," he said, contending that any man can earn more for himself by modern methods than the same man could have earned 30 years ago.

AN UNUSUAL CONTRACT

Mark Robinson, volunteer worker for the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia, has an unusual contract to fulfill—supplying 2000 black widow spiders for a biological laboratory seeking an antidote for its poisonous bites.

And he's filling the orders at the rate of 200 spiders a day, from Philadelphia's vacant lots. Robinson finds his spiders under stones, newspapers, bits of wood and other rubbish. He says the local breed is fully as poisonous as its relatives in the west and south. "I locate the spiders by their webs, which are made of a few scattered filaments," he explained, "shinier than most, but without any pattern. The web is poisonous, too, and so are the eggs, which are wrapped in a spherical sac about the size of a small marble."

LOOKING BACK

Not many people want to go back to the "horst and buggy days." Since the coming of automobile, radio and other modern conveniences and pleasure aids, life has been more comfortable and the world rests on a higher economic structure. Housework is easier than it was.

Office work is easier. Machinery does much that had to be done with hard licks.

But some of the virtues, some of the customs, some of the practices of the horse and buggy days would be a blessing now. We can not get around the fact that old-fashioned charity, love and helpfulness have faded from the picture. Home life is not what it once was in America and there are some grounds for the belief that it is actually breaking down.

The horse and buggy was a simpler vehicle than the high powered car, and simplicity stood out above haughtiness and pretense. The former lead to quiet retreats and the latter too often leads to frolics where thrilling pleasures are sought.

We are not blaming automobiles. We do not want to go back to the horse and buggy days. But there is something in the very atmosphere of progress calculated to cause the neglect of certain spiritual values.

The challenge to us all is to keep moral progress up with mechanical progress. Make character just as beautifully modern as the furniture in the home. It is really more important.—Waco Record.

YOU NEED FRIENDS

I recently read about a man who, while ill in the hospital, had over 300 visitors. All visiting records for the hospital were broken. That man was a champion friend-maker!

A successful old man when asked how to get along in business replied: "I simply say: Make friends. Looking back over a long life I can see that much of what the world calls my success is due very largely to what my friends did for me."

We need friends to win. We need friends to stand by us and to believe in us. We need friends to point out our shortcomings and show us how we can improve ourselves. We need friends to inspire us. We need friends who use their influence to help us succeed.

The best way to have friends is to be one. "If you see a friend slipping away from you," wrote David Grayson, "stop whatever you are doing and bring him back, for friendship is one thing you cannot afford to be without."

—Silver Lining.

ROCK SPRINGS

There was Sunday school Sunday morning.

I was talking with friends in town Saturday afternoon about the car wrecks in Mills county. We all decided this county was always in style and so is Rock Springs. Saturday afternoon E. D. Roberson, Cone Sullivan and Roth Miller were coming from across the bayou with a load of hay on a truck. They had a bridge to cross at the foot of the Burnet hill. Just as they got on the bridge it broke. Two of the boys, Cone and Roth, were riding on top and were thrown off, but were not hurt badly. Mr. Egger and his force of men will have their job to do over.

This road was full the fourth. People getting away from home. I guess the river was full in every direction.

This word canning is getting old to the most of us. We will all enjoy eating what we have canned this winter.

Some from here went to see the big circus Friday. Most of them were late, but they found out they hadn't missed anything.

Frank McDermott finished up his threshing this week. I am sure he was glad, as well as his helpers. He certainly has been nice to his neighbors, especially those who had small crops.

Several in this county have been real puny the past week. The weather and too much to eat was their trouble.

W. A. Cooke and Rudolph spent Sunday in the Roberts' home.

Mr. Kyte and family from Ridge visited in the Massey home Sunday.

Mrs. Lula Gatlin and Miss Love called on Mrs. Claud Holley in the Nickols home Wednesday afternoon.

Homer Doggett took James Nickols' place at the McDermott thresher Monday.

R. C. Webb and wife spent the week end in San Saba county.

Beryl, James and John Earl Roberts played with the Massey boys Sunday afternoon.

Wick Webb enjoyed a domino game Sunday afternoon with the Nickols boys.

E. D. Roberson ate dinner on Thursday with Philip Nickols and Thursday night the two ate supper with Glenn Nickols and wife in town.

Believe it or not John W. Roberts and J. Frank Davis celebrated the fourth by resting. Can you imagine farmers resting this time of the year. Well, they had just finished the day before, getting their grain in the granary.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberts canned peas for Mrs. Jess Massey last week.

J. T. Robertson got a fall last week and we are glad he wasn't hurt badly.

R. E. Collier and wife went visiting the fourth, but I failed to learn where.

There were several mistakes in my letter last week. If it was my fault I am sorry. I guess I did make one mistake, so I will amend it. E. D. Roberson was elected to teach in the Big Valley school next term, not out here. This would be too small a school for a big man like Mr. Roberson. He likes to work.

Joe Roberts and family canned peas and beans for Mrs. Nickols Tuesday.

Ray Stark and family and his father and mother, Joe Davis and family, J. P. Davis and wife and Henry Simpson and family, spent Sunday on the creek.

Philip Nickols helped with the haying on the Harrison farm this week.

Beryl Turner and family and Bernice Traylor visited in the Traylor home last week end.

Glenn Nickols and wife from town spent the day Sunday with his mother, sisters and brothers.

R. C. Webb and wife don't mind waking their neighbors up about five these mornings. As long as the cantaloupes last the neighbors won't care either.

Mrs. Joe Davis and children visited in the J. C. Stark home Friday afternoon.

J. O. McClary worked too hard last week and got too warm. He has been feeling badly all week. I feel sure Mrs. Claud Holley was glad when her husband came for her, because it was canning, washing, ironing and cleaning house, all the time she was at home. She will have to come

MENTAL SUNSHINE

Imagine, if you can, a cake of ice one and one half miles square and ninety-two million miles high. It would reach from the earth to the sun.

Scientists tell us that this gigantic cake of ice would be completely melted in thirty seconds if the full power of the sun could be focused upon it!

Mental sunshine is powerful, too! The sunshine of faith and confidence will melt the ice of inertia and fear and bring back better times. The sunshine of understanding will melt the ice of suspicion and distrust and erase from the earth the scourge of war. The sunshine of laughter will chase away the clouds of despair.

Mental sunshine will cause the flowers of peace, happiness and prosperity to grow upon the earth. Be a creator of mental sunshine!—Silver Lining.

I know I haven't told all the news, but I've been very busy, keeping myself in bed this week, caused from two falls I have received. I feel sure I will be O.K., after going to the doctor. I will soon be going again.

Women Who Have Pains Try CARDUI Next Time!

On account of poor nourishment, many women suffer functional pains at certain times, and it is for these that Cardui is offered on the record of the safe relief it has brought and the good it has done in helping to overcome the cause of womanly discomfort. Mrs. Cole Young, of Leesville, La., writes: "I was suffering with irregular... I had quite a lot a pain which made me nervous. I took Cardui and found it helped me in every way, making me regular and stopping the pain. This quieted my nerves, making my health much better..." If Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

HANDOUTS

"Few HOLC Applications Indicate Improved Conditions." The quoted headline tops a mimeographed release from the office of public information, Washington, D. C. The "release date" is June 29, so this notice will not be illegal, will not get State Press a jail term, writes that columnist in the Dallas News. And as this column perhaps is the only space in which this and similar handouts will appear it may be accepted by the office of public information as a regular customer for such literature. The government at Washington draws a wide line of distinction between public information and propaganda. Propaganda is what private business sends out in its own defense, public information is what the government sends out. Both sides are pleased to have their sendouts printed, but private business knows something of the elements of advertising, the government knows nothing whatever about advertising. Private business expects its advertising to be run as advertising and expects to pay for it. Government wishes its mimeographed or government-printed publicity to be printed free of charge. This would be all right, to a limited extent, if the stuff the government's publicity agents send out was really informative, or if written in a way to interest readers. But it isn't. The government employs highly paid and highly recommended publicity agents, but seldom considers hiring an advertising agent. There is an almighty difference between publicity and advertising, but the government doesn't know it. The government is oblivious to its own loss in almost all directions except in the direction of advertising. The government spends multiplied millions in running the biggest printing office on earth, in some cases competing with private printers, yet it continues to regard advertising as something that is done by those opposing government measures, therefore propaganda. Much of the matter originating in the government printing office, including the congressional record, is propaganda, but the government still thinks propaganda is something private business engages in.

COMPETITION IN COTTON

A startling fact which the latest figures on world cotton consumption brings to notice is that during the ten months ending May 31, the world consumed 2,194,000 bales more of foreign cotton than of American cotton! This news should come like an alarm in the night to all who have the interests of the people of the cotton producing states at heart. Nothing remotely resembling it has ever happened before, and if this situation is to continue, if it is to be permanent in the future, then millions of the south's people are doomed to protracted unemployment and a long period of painful and almost impossible economic readjustment is ahead of the people of the cotton producing states. On last Monday the New York cotton exchange service issued its report on world cotton consumption for May and for the ten months ending with May 31. It shows that during the ten-month period the world consumed 21,306,000 bales of cotton, but that of this only 9,556,000 bales, or only 44.8 per cent, was American cotton. What this means may be judged from the circumstance that during the five years ending with July 31, 1929, 59.8 per cent of all the cotton consumed was American. If that percentage of the cotton consumed during the ten-month period had been American, it would have amounted to 12,740,98 bales, or 3,184,000 bales more than was actually consumed. That gives a fair idea of the extent to which foreign cotton has supplanted American cotton.—Texas Weekly.

ABOUT RELIEF ALLOTMENT

An informal veto on allotting more work relief money to rivers and harbors jobs than the $97,000,000 already approved, has been imposed by Harry L. Hopkins. This decision, prompted by the expensive materials required for such work, was said Sunday to mean that less will be spent on waterway improvements than at any time in recent years. It became known as army engineers disclosed they will start construction on half the projects by August 1.

Interesting Items Reported Over the World

A proclamation by Secretary Wallace Monday established the minimum 1935 wheat adjustment payments at least 33 cents a bushel, compared to the 1934 minimum of 29 cents.

Estimates that $760,000,000 could be raised annually by levying taxes as high as 94 per cent on big incomes, inheritances and gifts were submitted to the national house ways and means committee Monday by the treasury.

Nathan Brown, Carroll county, Ga., farmer, was stung by a bumble bee. Writhing in pain, he dashed to his house for first aid. On the way he ran across a green snake, which bit him on the foot. Then he headed for town for medical attention. On the way a bulldog bit him.

The Texas board of control has ordered plans drawn for approximately $1,114,000 worth of new buildings and permanent enlargements at state eleemosynary institutions, the work to start soon after Sept. 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year, when the funds will be available.

Concentration of numerous Fascist battalions and regular army regiments was pushed Sunday, as the Italian nation rallied behind Benito Mussolini's apparent intention to wage war with Ethiopia. Three ships left for East Africa over the week end, bearing more than 3000 men and officers. Numerous other vessels waited at docks for the regular volunteers battalions, one of which is en route from Tripoli to join the newly-created Black-shirt division.

A 42-year-old "water walker" has laid plans for a crossing of the English channel in September aboard a pair of homemade pontoons, or water skis, which he propels across the water by means of "buoyancy cylinders" attached to poles he carries in each hand. The German-American inventor, who said that he hopes to develop the commercial aspects of his device, said he had been encouraged by a week end trip across Lake St. Clair on his strange pontoons, navigating a distance of 52 miles.

Estimating that 29,166,000 acres of cotton were in cultivation on July 1, the department of agriculture said Monday that with the exception of 1934, this was the smallest July 1 acreage reported since 1905. The current total was said to be an increase of 4.6 per cent over July 1, 1934, but 28.6 per cent less than the average acreage for the five year period, 1929-1933. No estimate of indicated production or of the condition of the crop July 1, was announced, the law requiring those figures not be gathered until August.

Lower food prices are forecast by the board of control, as bids receivable July 18, were asked for an estimated $2,000,000 supplies needed in eleemosynary and educational institutions next year. A board member said he was confident food prices would be appreciably lower, but uncertainty characterized the price of cotton goods. Many thousands of cotton goods are used annually to clothe the state's wards. Most of the contracts would be for the fiscal year starting Sept. 1. Some on heavy staples, such as flour, sugar and meats, would be limited to three to six months.

A near riot of a hundred lepers demanding their release from San Lazaro hospital at Manila, P. I., was revealed Saturday on the heels of the legislature's adoption of bill relaxing restrictions against sufferers of the dread disease. When they learned of the legislature's action Friday the lepers demanded their immediate release from the ancient Spanish hospital, where lepers are confined before being transferred to the Island of Cullion, known as the largest leper colony in the world. The rioters insisted health authorities had no right to detain them further. Police were called to restore order. Most lepers are now confined at Cullion where 5000 are under treatment.

"SMILE"

Cheer up! If you have trouble, "Tell it not in Gath, publish it not in the streets of Askelon; lest the daughters of the Phillistines rejoice." Tell it to the policeman and the preacher. Then forget it.

If you can't keep anything else, keep sweet. That is a great preservative. Don't thunder too much—it sours the milk of human kindness. The yacht that keeps its nose high in the air wins the race. "Even a tombstone has a good word for a man who lies down." The cheerful idiot helps; he lifts the face, at least.

Be an anthropos and look up. If you can't resign from the human race, Don't be a cynic, or the dog catcher will get you. Aiming down your nose will just land you in the dirt.

Does a wall block your path? Leap over it, or onto it and look over. Make a watch tower of it. Mountains are but stepping stones sloping up to view lots.

"Smile, you son-of-a-gun, smile!" That is the legend staring everybody in the face in a certain business house. And that means you!—Eagle Lake Headlight.

THIEF-PROOF AUTO TAG

Curbing the automobile theft racket is another problem being given consideration by officials of the justice department. Last week the federal bureau of investigation called attention to state authorities of the desirability of adopting non-interchangeable license plates for automobiles.

It was learned that District of Columbia officials are considering proposals for the adoption of a special type of fool-proof tag now being used in Mississippi and Florida. Recently, Massachusetts placed these tags on 10,000 cars as an official experiment.

The license plate is similar to the usual tag with the exception of a patented locking mechanism built into the plate. Once in position it is impossible for a tag to be removed without mutilating it.

These special tags, used in Mississippi for three years and in Florida for two years, are held to have made possible a sizable reduction in automobile thefts during those periods.—United States News.

Refreshing Relief When You Need a Laxative

Because of the refreshing relief it has brought them, thousands of men and women, who could afford much more expensive laxatives, use Black-Draught when needed. It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. . . Mr. J. Lester Roberson, well known hardware dealer at Martinsville, Va., writes: "I certainly can recommend Black-Draught as a splendid medicine. I have taken it for constipation and the dull feelings that follow, and have found it very satisfactory."

CENTER CITY

We are certainly having warm weather. Green crops need rain. However, it is hoped the threatening of grain will be over before it rains.

Miss Naomi Langford returned Monday from a visit with relatives in Hamilton. She spent the fourth in Fort Worth.

The Methodist meeting begins next Sunday. Many are very busy in the crops, yet we hope they take time to attend.

Several from here attended the services at Pleasant Grove last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb Hill and daughter, Miss Ruth, visited in the Joe Langford home Monday. Grandad Carter returned home with them for a visit.

Hugh Livingston died in San Antonio Saturday and was buried here Sunday afternoon. Bro. F. E. Swanner of Goldthwaite and Bro. Liles of this place conducted the funeral services at the cemetery. He leaves a wife and two children. We extend sympathy to all the bereaved family.

The fight between industrial and craft unionists Sunday threatened an upheaval within American Federation of Labor ranks in the next few months. A drastic change in the federation executive council's policy was said in authoritative labor sources to be needed to maintain the federation as now set up. In fact, some quarters said plans for organization of a new federation of industrial unions already are in the making.

Receipts at the Laredo customs house from July 1, 1934, to June 30, 1935, increased approximately 660 per cent over the previous fiscal year. Official figures prepared by a deputy collector of customs in charge, show total receipts for 1933-34 were $219,923.93, while for the fiscal year just ended the total receipts were $1,391,639.16. The big increase is principally from import duties paid on corn and other Mexican agricultural products.

Aroused at the apparent lack of feeling with which people are taking the continued loss of foreign cotton trade, J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, predicted in Dallas Monday a disastrous end to the state's chief farm product unless the situation is remedied. This loss, now recorded at 40 per cent, is upsetting the balance of trade, he said, since manufacturers particularly automobiles, are showing an increase.

With damage estimates mounting hourly, the state and federal governments have shouldered the full cost of removing debris and rehabilitating flood-wrecked New York communities, where 41 persons have lost their lives since Sunday. The two governments swung a full force of relief workers into action as the most conservative reports from the 10-county area in the south-central area of the state showed flood damage to be well in excess of $15,000,000.

Another Scrap of Paper

Just seven years ago Abyssinia, Italy, the United States, Japan and practically every other nation on the globe signed a solemn agreement, the Pact of Paris or Kellogg-Briand Treaty.

How much this agreement means to Italy is shown by Mussolini's vaunted threats of war against Abyssinia and still more by boatload after boatload of men and munitions which he has shipped to the Abyssinian border for use when the torrential rains have ended in September.

If there had been a different ruler of Italy in 1928, Il Duce might claim not to be bound by the Pact of Paris, but he was then, as now, the supreme dictator of that nation.

Abyssinia has pitiously appealed to the United States to stop the impending conflict, but our government has rightfully declared a hands-off policy.

It is not our fight and it will not make a great deal of difference to us whether Italy wins or loses.

Much Ado About Spending

The country hears a lot these days about government spending and government treasury deficits and next year—the presidential campaign year, there will be much more said about this spending and the figures on the deficit side of the national treasury ledger will become much more familiar to the public.

The Waste of Accidents

While the country is endeavoring to recover from the blighting effects of the depression there appears to be no effort to stop the most serious and useless waste in all sections and by all classes—the waste of accidents, which is complete and irrevocable, both in lives and materials.

Steady Improvement Indicated

Writers on business of the nation and others in a position to know whereof they speak assure us that general business conditions over the country are growing steadily better.

Health Hint

FLY CONTROL

Flies spread disease. They are reared in filth and through life make frequent trips from filth to food. Germs causing dysentery and other intestinal disorders are transported on the hairy feet of flies.

Flies multiply rapidly as soon as warm weather comes to stay.

A female deposits more than a hundred eggs at a time in organic material, such as manure, or in an insanitary outdoor toilet. The life cycle from egg to larva (maggot), to pupa, to adult male or female fly requires but ten days.

Fortunately, modern sanitation and knowledge regarding the life, history and habits of the house fly render possible complete control over the fly nuisance.

THE BOYS

Out in the prairie regions recently James Roosevelt was reported to have been anything but successful in persuading the folk that dad's notion about a "horse and buggy" constitution was good stuff.

Maybe the boys lack some of the diplomacy and tact that is often exhibited in the White House in dealing with such matters when they become too hot to handle.

If the young men are taking soundings, they should have discovered a few things that it might be helpful for the White House to know.

COTTON COMMITTEE MAKES STATEMENT

Mr. R. M. Thompson, Editor of the Goldthwaite Eagle, Goldthwaite, Texas.

Dear Mr. Thompson:

Having noticed with regret that your columns regularly carry attacks on the cotton processing tax, both editorially and copied from other papers, and believing that the processing taxes have redeemed the farmers of the southland from conditions prevailing in 1932, and earnestly believing that the substitution of any other proposed plan for the processing taxes would mean the death knell of the farm program and asserting our preference for a living price and decent scale of living for the farmer to the world market, we here concede that your editorial policy is your own and assure you that we are not trying to control same, but we respectfully ask that you give some space to our side of the controversy, and if your desk does not receive such arguments that you allow us to hand you from time to time arguments supporting the farmers' side of the controversy.

We believe that recovery from the depression is largely due to the farm act and the reduction program. We believe that all lines of business, except the few lines that profit at the expense of low prices of our products, have enjoyed the benefits of this program.

Assuring you of our esteem and highest personal regards, we are,

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEWS OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

THE HORSE AND BUGGY RIDE

The horse and buggy haven't done a bad job of it. They have traveled 146 years and haven't broken down anywhere. Some pieces of road were pretty rough, but the horse and buggy got over them.

When this buggy ride started the average fellow wasn't getting along any too well in most other parts of the world. He was under absolutism.

When the American buggy ride started a great many wise people wouldn't have bet a dollar on the chances of a new nation.

After 146 years it is still going. No other government in the world exists today in the form in which it existed then.

Rights for men, so long an iridescent dream, are now right around the corner. The National Woman's Party, in convention assembled at Atlantic City, has declared for heart-balm suits for jilted men, equal pay for equal work, and equal alimony in cases of divorce.

When youth, eager herald of the world's work, help wanted" signs flash before his face, it has a good reason for being cynical.

MAN FINDS CHAMPIONS Rights for men, so long an iridescent dream, are now right around the corner. The National Woman's Party, in convention assembled at Atlantic City, has declared for heart-balm suits for jilted men, equal pay for equal work, and equal alimony in cases of divorce. Now ain't that something? But better still is the fact that the ladies who have come out for men's rights are go-getters.

There used to be youngsters who think now that U. S. on the trappings mean "us." That is what the American government has meant and what it will continue to mean so long as the horse and buggy are sufficient for its purpose.—Chicago Tribune.

A DANGEROUS INVOCATION

Premier Mussolini's Ethiopian enterprise, so hard to defend, has now reached what may be called the last stage of defense. It is addressed especially to Great Britain, that old friend that has been cold to the grandiose adventure.

This is an ancient agreement that has often been followed disastrously. Germany has Austria testify to the price of the Dual Monarchy paid for prestige. It is only forty years since the Battle of Adowa. In the Turkish War of 1911-12, Italian cruisers, searching French steamers for contraband of war brought on a controversy, happily settled, with France. War is always a doubtful and ticklish weapon.

The present Italian position seems to be this: We have gone so far that we must keep on going. What will you pay in other people's territory to buy us off? This is good, sober and practical policy of a certain kind.

These considerations bearing whatever on the mind in 1904. That money affected by any action has taken or may take respect to private habits, bonds. It is a scheme made in the name of the Italian people in a treaty of two sovereign governments.

GIVE YOUTH A CHANCE When youth, eager herald of the world's work, help wanted" signs flash before his face, it has a good reason for being cynical.

Through the ministerial alliance plans have been formed for the protestant churches to combine their evening services during the months of July and August. The services will be on the lawn of the Methodist church where lights and seats are available. The different pastors will alternate for the preaching and each church will render special musical numbers at certain times.

Plans are under way to place a detachment of CCC boys in the park when the transient camp is moved. It is planned to complete the work in the park with the new camp. The transient camp had about 300 men here for a time, but the number has been reduced since the warm weather and there has been only about 70 men in the camp for some time.

A party of Lometa people were in an automobile accident Sunday morning when enroute to Austin. The occupants of the car were Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Pearce and two daughters, Mrs. Frank Reed and child, Norman Reed and Payne West. They were about ten miles out of Austin when the accident occurred and they were taken to a hospital for treatment, but were all able to return home. Mrs. Pearce had several cuts about her head and was the most seriously injured. The other car was registered from Williamson county but the occupants were not known here.—Leader.

A driver coming this way, whom it seems was trying to mirror two unmixables, ran into them. Mrs. Pearce suffered a head injury, in which it was necessary to take 20 stitches, and Morgan Reed had a bad cut on his throat, which took nine stitches to close. Comanche

Proctor is to have a two-day picnic Friday and Saturday, August 2 and 3.

Prospects for an electric power line to Sidney are good, according to Dr. Sterling Price, who said that the project was being carried on through the PWA.

Comanche county public school system will receive about $85,000 as its share of the per capita allotment of $17.50 for each scholastic granted by the state board of education last week. The allotment of $17.50 is the highest in several years and was $16.50 last year.

One of the largest crowds in several years, variously estimated from 4000 to 6000 people, were in Comanche July 4 to celebrate Comanche's first annual independence day festival, which was held on the public square and lasted from 9 o'clock in the morning until midnight.

W. H. Carpenter, 47, one of Comanche's most widely known citizens and business manager of the Comanche Chief, died in a Brownwood hospital at 10:30 o'clock Monday night, following an operation for acute appendicitis on the preceding Wednesday. Mr. Carpenter stood the operation well and he apparently was doing as well as could be expected, until a few moments before his death, when he suffered a heart attack.—Chief.

An eastern newspaper in 1865, just seventy years ago, published the following news item: "A man about forty-six years of age, giving the name of Joshua Coppersmith, has been arrested in New York for attempting to extort funds from ignorant and superstitious people by exhibiting a device which he says will convey the human voice any distance over metallic wires so that it will be heard by the listener at the other end."

"He calls the instrument a 'telephone,' which is obviously intended to imitate the word 'telegraph,' and win the confidence of those who know of the success of the latter instrument without understanding the principles on which it is based. Well-informed people know that it is impossible to transmit the human voice over wires as may be done with dots and dashes and signals of the Morse code, and that, were it possible to do so, the thing would be of no practical value."

"The authorities who apprehended this criminal are to be congratulated, and it is to be hoped that his punishment will be prompt and fitting, that it may serve as an example to other conscienceless schemers who enrich themselves at the expense of their fellow creatures."—Oshawa Reformer.

ENCOURAGING REPORT

The chamber of commerce of the United States says there is less "Midsummer dullness" this year than last and that evidences of general improvement by early fall may be expected within a few weeks.

The publication stated in its fortnightly review that "analysis of detailed evidence for the first five months of 1935 show general business activity in those months remained remarkably steady, and at a level noticeably higher than in the corresponding part of 1934."

"Production in all its forms, whether in raw materials or in manufactured articles, averaged 5 per cent higher. Output of manufacturing industries themselves was better than 6 per cent higher."

The low point of production for the year, expected this summer, will be "substantially over the low point of last summer," the report added.

Employment in durable goods industries has shown a tendency to remain at the highest levels since the early part of 1933, it said, while in nondurable goods industries employment also has been keeping near its high point.

A decrease in cotton exports has affected foreign trade business and in May, as well as April all imports exceeded all exports. Any substantial increase in cotton goods exports would be sufficient, however, the report adds, to give the country's foreign trade a favorable balance.

Here's the Motoring Giraffe

Passing cars on hills always constitute an invitation to disaster, but it seems not to have occurred to many drivers, from the way the practice is indulged in by some motorists.

The person who passes another car on a hill, and especially near the top, is really doing what the fellow in the above illustration is trying to do. He's so eager to get on his way, that his neck is stretched away out. Some people call this type of driver the "peeping tom of the highway." A driver who is very much like the person illustrated is the one who swings around traffic on curves when it's impossible to tell what is coming from the opposite direction.

Last year, according to statistics of the Travelers Insurance Company, nearly 10,000 automobile accidents were caused by drivers who passed on hills and curves. There were nearly 500 persons killed and more than 10,000 who were injured. Drivers who are in the habit of passing improperly should remember that "it is all very well to enjoy the sights, but not to be one."
