Married In Houston

Wilba Kemp and Miss Ruth Florence Mullan, two of Mills county's most popular young people, were married in the First Methodist church in Houston last Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, in the presence of a few relatives and close friends. The announcement of the marriage was received with pleasure in Mullin and Goldthwate, where the young people are very popular.

Following a night I will discuss the subject. short executive session, an interesting program on Columbus was given by the fifth grade, led by Mrs. Bigham. Mrs. A. H. Smith gave a short talk on fire prevention and Mrs. R. J. Gerald gave a discourse on "Aims and purposes of the Parent Teachers Association." The association, according to Mrs. Gerald, is not only an organization for the purpose of making possible a closer parent-teacher relationship, but it also stands for making cleaner and better places in which our children may work. The P.-T. A. is of great value to parents in helping them to solve problems of children and home environment. It is obvious that those who do the greater part of the complaining about the school are these who know least about it. Members of the Parent-Teachers association are kept informed on school problems The association aids the faculty in giving the proper protection guidance and care to all the children in the school.

The association continued its custom of giving a prize of $1.00 to the room having the largest number of mothers present. It voted also to give a prize of one dollar to the room which had the largest number of paid members on the membership roll by the second Tuesday in November. The fifth grade won the attendance prize this time with eventeen mothers present.

Mrs. Claud Saylor was voted authority to keep the first aid kit in the grade school in good ondition.

Mrs. S. P. Sullivan offered her ounch bowl to be used at all times when needed. The association appreciates it very much and promises to buy another if

Down On The Farm Fumigation Will Cut Grain Losses

Carbon disulphid, commonly known as "high life," is recommended for fumigation of grain to prevent losses by weevils. High life is sold as a liquid and turns to a heavy gas. It is highly inflamable and the gas explodes. For this reason care should be taken in handling it.

The following method been found successful: Spread the high life in wide shallow pans with broad evaporating surfaces, so that a square foot o evaporating surface is provided per pound of high life. Set the pans on top of the grain in the bins. If the bins are open above then the grain, pans and all should be covered with canvas or wet blankets, sticks being laid crosswise of the pans under the cover, so that evaporation can proceed rapidly.

The quantity of high life should be figured at the rate of 10 pounds per 1,000 cubic feet of nominating committee was apspace in the entire crib or bin. Fumigation should be continued for at least 24 hours. Windows following: Mrs. R. M. The clouds are hanging low at this writing and look as though it might rain again. We had a good rain Sunday night, which was a set-back to the farmers picking cotton. Some are pulling the cotton after so much rain. Ellis Wallace and family and Annette Renfro were visitors in San Saba over the week end. They were sorry to hear of Ellis' little nephew, Bobby Frank Sloan, having a broken limb that he received Saturday morning when he fell off of a fence. The doctor put it in a cast and he was resting as well as could be expected Sunday evening when the Wallace family left there.
