Methodist Notes

This writer has never seen a more enthusiastic bunch engage in any undertaking than these Goldthwaite Methodists as they advance in their building program. The enthusiasm, as a matter of fact, is not confined to the Methodists alone. Those of other churches, and of no church, are becoming inoculated with the spirit. Several fine subscriptions have been volunteered by some of the other churches, and of no church. People are certainly showing interest when they hunt up the committee and volunteer their offering without even so much as being solicited.

Step up people and get in line. Avoid the rush. All want to aid in this great enterprise. While there is not much danger of you not being able to get in, yet it is necessary that what is done be done at once, so the work can start. Snap into it and let's get going. For full particulars as to what is really being done, read a statement by the pastor, Brother Duke, who at the request of the building committee makes a statement in this issue of the paper.

I have been asked what the purpose of the offering that Brother Duke took last Sunday. In other words, what is the business of the Methodist Bible Chair at the University of Texas? I am glad to answer this question for the benefit of all. This is an effort on the part of the Methodist church of Texas to take care of the spiritual, social and physical well-being of the young people who attend the university. As a matter of fact the other churches are at work to this same end. I know of no greater work being done by the churches than this. People send their young people to the university, where it is impossible to have their special interests looked after by the university itself. The students are turned out in the city with the thousands of other students to find their own associates. This done, parents think they have done their whole duty by their children and then if these children go to ruin they blame the university for it. I say without fear of successful contradiction that if the young people who are sent to the university will only place themselves under the influence that the church furnishes for them, there will not be much danger of them going astray. Of course if they do not do this and go on and find their own associations they will likely find that of the wrong kind. If they do this in spite of what is being attempted, they can only blame themselves for their own downfall.

That is the business of the Methodist Bible chair. It is under the direction of Doctor C. W. Hall, one of the most competent and considerate men I know. He knows the needs of your young people, and is willing and anxious to help them. Write him about your young people, and get them to line up with his program. You will never have occasion to regret it.

In the mean time, let everybody subscribe to pay the indebtedness to save that property. It will be a tragedy if the Methodist church should be compelled to close out work with and for the two thousand Methodist young people who are attending this great institution. Our part in the payment of this debt is $35.00. Let us not fail in this great enterprise.

J. S. BOWLES.

Pay Poll Tax

Every citizen should remember to pay poll tax before the end of this month. It will be necessary to have a poll tax receipt in order to have the right to vote, unless the voter came of age after Jan. 1 last year or was sixty years of age prior to Jan. 1 last year.

Commissioners Court In Session Monday

All members of the commissioners court were present for the regular January session on Monday. Aside from accepting the gift of the canning equipment offered the county by the Texas Relief commission, only business of a routine nature was transacted.

Bridge Party

Mrs. Walter Glenn Saylor entertained a small party of friends on Friday afternoon at her home. Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon, and Miss Mary Helen Cockrum won the high score and received a lovely silver flower basket.

A delicious refreshment plate was served by the hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. Alderman of El Paso, who is her guest. XX

Editor Has the Flu

R. M. Thompson, editor of the Eagle, is in bed with the flu. Employees of the paper have done their best in getting out this issue, but it is realized that several items of interest have been omitted because of the editor's absence. The Eagle's faithful correspondents are particularly requested to make allowance for the failure of their communications to appear, and to turn in their copy next week as early as possible.

EBONY

Home-made candy was served by the sixth grade mothers.

LIVE OAK

Wedding bells have rung once more in our community. Miss Veana Flatt and Mr. Raydston House were married a few days ago and all their friends wish them the most successful of all such successful voyages.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Featherston and Charley and Zetta accompanied Miss Ruth Featherston to Pflugerville last Friday and after visiting a few days there and in Austin returned Sunday. Faye accompanied them home and returned to Austin Monday.

Floyd Manuel, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is well on the road to recovery. We all hope he will soon be able to return to his work.

We were very sorry that the Chapman and Tumlinson families had to leave our community. We hope they will like their new locality as well as their old locality liked them.

We are very glad to have the Cecil Allens and Mark Manuel and wife to move to our community.

BIG VALLEY

Colds seem to be very popular in this part of the world. Several have been reported sick the last few days.

Mrs. Ben Long has been at the bedside of her father, Mr. Burdett, of Goldthwaite. At last report he was very low.

A shower was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Warlick in the Calvin home Thursday night. A large number enjoyed the occasion, and Mr. and Mrs. Warlick received lots of nice, useful gifts. Brother and Mrs. Price also received a nice supply of canned goods.

Highway Program Nears Completion

A number of highway workers who had become familiar to residents here have been transferred to other points as the highway work in Mills county approaches completion. Fisher street, which unites all of the highways entering and leaving Goldthwaite, is to be paved from the city limits at the south of town through the railway underpass in the northeast edge of Goldthwaite. The actual surfacing of this road is waiting for warm, dry weather, and it is doubtful if it can be completed within six weeks or two months more. At present traffic is being diverted from the center of the street to along the curb in order to pack the road better and displace any weak spots before the asphalt is applied.

Singing at Priddy Sunday Afternoon

Sunday is the regular day for the Priddy singing class to meet. We hope to have a large attendance. All lovers of singing are most cordially invited to come and help make it a success. Singing will begin promptly at 2 p. m.

Center City Cagers Make Good Record

With the smallest players in the tournament and representing one of the smallest schools, the Center City basketball team placed fourth at the Daniel Baker tournament in Brownwood Saturday. The playing of the diminutive Center City team was applauded by the spectators.

STAR

D. A. Jeske, manager of the Star Cash Store, and his brother, C. F. Jeske of Priddy, returned Thursday from Brenham, where they went to attend the funeral rites of a dear old friend.

Another sad occasion was the death of Grandmother Wall at Hamilton last Friday. She was the mother of Graham and Tobe Wall of Star. The burial took place at the Murphy cemetery at Evans, with friends and relatives of Star attending.

Wylie Cook, who was in the Temple sanitarium for several days, is home again much improved.

Robert Feasler of Georgetown is now the capable mechanic employed at the Star garage.

Elbert Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hamilton, has returned from Mission, where he went on business. While there Elbert had the misfortune of having his suitcase and clothes stolen.

This is leap year, as all girls and boys know. If there are any "new deals" made which turn out bad just blame it on the women. In connection with the thought, I have been requested to announce that Avery House, young, handsome and popular salesman at Jeske store, and Randolph Garrett, a very efficient engineer and basketball referee, are on the carpet. There is no excuse for dying an old maid with these two young chaps on the market.

James Soules, popular manager of the Star garage, was a business visitor in Brownwood Saturday.

Mrs. Joe Moore is on the sick list this week. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

Miss Bernice Soules, who is teaching at Cottonwood, came home Friday for the week-end. There are a number of new radios being installed in our community. Dick Jeske started the fad with a wind-charger and now Mr. Carroll, Roy Baker and Will Boykin have followed. I am not sure that is all. B. P. Goode has been busy getting these radios installed and ready to turn on.

Baptist Reminder

It was a joy to spend the first two days of this week in a pastor's retreat held at the First Baptist church, San Angelo. Four of our pastors from this association attended: Rev. Jim Hays, Rev. T. F. Cooper, Rev. Walter Scott and myself.

I am happy that Bro. Scott, pastor at Big Valley, has secured as inspirational speakers at our workers conference, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. McClain of Ballinger. Dr. McClain is a great preacher, and his wife is one of the outstanding women leaders of our state. It will be a sad thing for any Baptist woman or girl in our county to miss her address.

Sunday morning I will use as my theme, "Building a New Testament Baptist church in Goldthwaite." Sunday night my theme will be "A Marvel about which there should be no Marveling."

Sunday morning we had as our goal in the young people's department in Sunday school 40. We went beyond this and had 45. I believe we can reach 60 this Sunday. The young people's department meets in the church for our opening program at 10:00 o'clock. We will have several numbers that you will enjoy.

During the last few days a number of friends of the church have asked the privilege of making contributions, so we are asking everyone interested not to wait to be solicited, but to hand in your contribution to some member of the building committee or send your check or money to the new church account at the bank.

Next Sunday will likely be our last Sunday in the old church, so come and let's make both services great occasions.

Makes Honor Roll On Two Lists

Virginia Bowman

Miss Virginia Bowman, Goldthwaite, has recently achieved worthy honors at Mary Hardin-Baylor, where she is a sophomore this year. She was named on both the dean's and the student government honor rolls. The first list is composed of those girls who achieve distinction in scholarship in the previous term's work, and the second carries the added achievement of being in complete accord with student government.

Miss Virginia, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Bowman, made the unusual record of twelve out of a possible fifteen grade points. In addition to that she is also assisting in the biology laboratory this year. She, however, also takes a prominent part in student activities. She is a member of the Player's Guild, an organization for those who are interested in dramatics, and of Historical-Phila, social and literary organization for upper classmen.

Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies, such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and

THE PASSING AWAY OF A. H. HILL

The death angel entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hill at 11 p. m., January 4, claiming Mr. A. H. Hill as his own, and wafting his spirit to the great beyond.

The funeral services were held at the home at 2 p. m., January 2. Bro. Swanner of Goldthwaite and Bro. Allen Carter of Center City conducting the funeral services. Clarence, Omer, Albert and Weiden Hill, grandsons, and Will Rahl and Roy Wilkins were active pall bearers. He was laid to rest in the Pleasant Grove cemetery at 3:30 p. m.

"Uncle Albert," as he was lovingly called, was a loyal husband and father and a good neighbor, and always stood for what was just and right. He had been a conscientious member of the Missionary Baptist church for 54 years.

He was born in Rusk county November 2, 1856, and moved with his family to Mills county forty-six years ago. He located in the South Bennett community and remained on the same place until death claimed him. Mr. Hill married Miss Amanda Moore, December 15, 1876. They celebrated their 59th anniversary December 15, 1935. To this union were born 8 children, 6 of whom are still living: W. E. Hill, C. M. Hill, Geo. W. Hill and Mrs. John Dupree, all of Goldthwaite; S. T. Hill of Slaton, J. R. Hill of Comanche, all of whom were at his bedside when the end came.

There are 86 in the Hill family, including the in-laws, 31 grand children and 28 great grand children to mourn his going away.

Until the passing of Grandpa, there have been only two deaths in the Hill family in 42 years. Those were Melton Hill, a grandson, January 27, 1930, Billy Clifton Burks, a great grandson, January 20, 1929.

The kindness and thoughtfulness of the neighbors and friends will be remembered and appreciated by the family, and also the beautiful floral offerings.

FOOTBALL BANQUET

Last Thursday night, January 15th, the football boys and girls were entertained with a banquet by the P-T. Upon arriving they were entertained with music. They then had a delicious spaghetti supper. Mr. Smith, the toastmaster, took charge and a lively program ensued. Spirited speeches were made by Mrs. Carl Keese, president of the P-T. A. Coach Cloninger; Captain Davis, alternate; Captain Voyd, Lee Doggett, Juanita Rudd, president of the pep squad; Willie Faye Gray, yell leader. The yell leaders, Irene Ray, Lottie Hester and Willie Faye Gray, then lead some spirited cheers and songs. Mr. Smith made very interesting introductions.

Superintendent A. H. Smith spent Friday in Brady conferring with school authorities, officials of the chamber of commerce and hotel managers relative to the Mid-Texas Educational Association, which meets in Brady February 7 and 8. As has been previously mentioned Superintendent Smith is president of the association this year. He is planning a high-class program and expects an attendance of two thousand teachers.

SENIOR NOTES

The once bewildered senior class was immediately thrown into an uproar of enthusiasm when members of the same read an announcement on the bulletin board which read as follows: Those who have made an average of a B or an A may be exempt in that subject if they do not have a C on their card. For a while it seemed as though this institution had turned into a mad house, but the excitement was too great for some.

Three cheers for Mr. Smith!

JUNIOR REPORT

The junior class is very sorry to lose Louise Gartman. She is going to California to attend the last semester of school there. Louise is one of the highest ranking juniors in both popularity and scholastic standing, and we will miss her very much.

Clara York spent the week-end in Stephenville.

CAN YOU IMAGINE?

 Louise Gartman not reading a book "four or five times?"
 Clara York not talking about biology?
 Earl Harvey knowing how to act as president in Aztecas club?

LATIN CLUB MEETS

The junior basketball team has lost two games already, but we hope to do better after mid-term. Of course, the exams have been worrying us considerably.

MID-TERM EXAMINATIONS

G. H. S., Tuesday, January 14.—Goldthwaite High School is deep in the throes of mid-term examinations. By the time this paper is printed, the exams will be over. Just as a dying person does, each student has relived, in the past two days, at least five months of his life.

IDIOTORIAL

This year, 1936, is leap year. In other words the status of a boy is exactly opposite during this year. It will be a long, hard year for homely boys and also for good looking ones if they don't like girls. Here are some ways an acceptable boy can keep him: zzzzzt HTAhhhhhaorssm girls from pestering him: Stick out your tongue every time you are introduced to a girl.

Wear a disguise, such as colored glasses.

Bark like a dog.

Adopt annoying habits, such as blowing cigarette smoke in their faces.

Start the report that you hate football and other sports.

Criticize a girl's faults to her face and give some suggestions for improvement.

Use profanity around her parents.

IN MEMORIAM

Goldthwaite High School mourns the loss of a well-known and popular student, Nolan Hutchings. He had been a member of this school over four years and his record here was above the average. TO NATIONAL FARM LOAN STOCKHOLDERS

As an evidence of the Federal Land Bank's effort to help its borrowers by the dissemination of good ideas, please note the following from a letter written by A. C. Williams, president of the Federal Land Bank of Houston:

"Believing that the experience of those who have succeeded may be helpful to other borrowers in pointing out ways by which they may increase or budget their income and meet their obligations, we have decided to offer prizes totaling $100 for the best letters received by us prior to March 15, 1936, from borrowers of the Federal Land Bank on the subject of 'How I raise the money to pay the installments on my land bank loan.' The first prize will be $25.00; the second prize, $15.00; third prize $10.00; and there will be ten additional prizes of $5.00 each. A committee of impartial judges will be appointed, and the winning letters will be published."

Why not some borrower from Mills County, get one or several of these prizes?

She was 95 years of age and had been an invalid and great sufferer a long time.

POLITICAL CAMPAIGN NOW OPEN

The Eagle gives the voters the benefit of an estimate of the worth and abilities of these gentlemen.

JUDGE R. A. LUKER

Our representative, Judge R. A. Luker of Proctor, Comanche county, offers for re-election to the office he has ably filled for the last two years, which was the first term for him. He has proved that the endorsement given him by his friends in the last campaign was true and accurate. He is conversant with the law-making machinery and methods of the state, has a wide acquaintance and influence among the members of the lower house and has given his district and the state at large good service during his term in the legislature. He has grown in favor with the people of the two counties comprising his district and is in better position to obtain results as a representative than he was prior to his becoming a member of the legislature.

JUDGE R. J. GERALD

Judge R. J. Gerald offers as a candidate for a second term as county judge and ex-officio county school superintendent. He has proved himself worthy of the confidence the people reposed in him by electing him to the position and has grown in popularity with the people, because of his fidelity to duty and his watchful care of the public interests. Those having business with his office find him always in his place, ready to render any helpful service possible and care for every detail of his official duties.

As presiding officer of the commissioners court he has made a fine record as a business man in caring for the county's interests and has the friendship and co-operation of the other members of the court, while the schools of the county have received his careful attention at all times.

J. HERN HARRIS

Mills county has never had an officer who was more devoted to duty or more watchful of the public interests than is Mr. Harris, who is serving his first term as sheriff, tax assessor and collector. His office has to do with almost every department of public business and it requires care and patience, as well as ability to handle everything with promptness and accuracy. His entire official record has been characterized by efficiency and courtesy, in law-enforcement as well as in tax matters. All business coming into his department is given attention and all inquiries by citizens receive courteous attention. He was especially fortunate and farsighted in selecting his office helpers, for they have given strong support to his policies of efficiency and courtesy and have added to the public confidence in his department.

L. B. PORTER

There is not now nor never has been a more efficient, courteous and accommodating officer or citizen than L. B. Porter, County Clerk, who this week announces his candidacy to succeed himself in the office. Mr. Porter is familiar with the records and the business of the county and is a very valuable official, not only for the county, but for all of the citizens. He keeps his records so they are accessible at all times and by his knowledge of their contents and his accommodation to the people any citizen can secure what information he needs without delay or difficulty. Everybody likes Mr. Porter and appreciates his value in the important position he occupies.

L. B. BURNHAM

L. B. Burnham offers for re-election as County Commissioner for precinct No. 1, which position he now holds with efficiency. Mr. Burnham is recognized as one of the best informed members of the court on tax values, county expenses, road requirements and any other duty devolving on members of the court. He knows the county's resources and is careful in creating liabilities. He knows the property values in his precinct and in all parts of the county and is especially valuable in equalizing taxes. He is an enthusiastic advocate of good roads and his ability as a road builder and maintainer is clearly reflected by the splendid condition of the roads in his precinct.

JESS TULLOS

In the announcement column appears the name of Jess Tullus, who is a candidate for Commissioner for precinct No. 1. He lives about four miles north of this city and has made his home in the precinct most of his life. He is a farmer by occupation, but has had considerable business experience, which fits him for the work inside the court, while his acquaintance with the property values in the precinct makes him qualified as a member of the county tax appraising board. Mr. Tullus is a most likeable man and one who has the confidence and respect of all who know him. He has a great many supporters in his home community and in other parts of the precinct who are enthusiastic over his prospects for his election.

JESS G. EGGER

The announcement of Mr. Egger for re-election as Commissioner for precinct No. 4, appears in this paper. He is one of the hardest working members of the court and his services have been of benefit to the entire county, as well as his home precinct. He looks to the interest of the county in tax matters, conserving the finances and holding up a high standard of efficiency. He is serving his first term in the office and his friends are enthusiastic over the fine record he has made for a first term. He is a man of firm convictions, but broad-minded enough to weigh all sides of a question coming before the court. His precinct has received less highway money than the others but he has done a lot of good road work and has more in contemplation, as soon as he can secure the money. Everybody likes him fine and his supporters are strong for him.

J. A. HAMILTON

With a proved record of efficiency behind him, J. A. Hamilton is announcing as a candidate for re-election as commissioner of precinct No. 2. Coming from pioneer stock, he is fully acquainted with the needs of the county and of his precinct. With unbounded energy and perseverance he has tackled the problems confronting him, and his friends point with pride to the improvements for which he is responsible, particularly in the roads of his district. While his first concern is in properly representing the people of his precinct, he is equally interested in the affairs of the county at large, and his business ability has repeatedly proved of advantage in this connection. He is affable and courteous, and those having business with him are assured of an interested hearing.

JAMES RAHL

If there is a more popular officer in the court house or a better man in Mills county than Judge James Rahl, the Eagle is anxious to make his acquaintance. He fills the office of Justice of the Peace in a way that reflects credit on him and on those who elected him. He is jovial and kind, but strictly business when it comes to the discharge of his official duties. He is not arbitrary in his rulings or in dealing with matters coming before him in his court. Nobody can claim or think that he ever did a dishonorable deed or wronged any human being with whom he had dealings. His announcement for re-election appears in the proper column.

Announcements

The Eagle is authorized to make the following announcements, subject to the Democratic Primary Election July 25:

SOCIAL SECURITY

Among the plans of government to provide funds for the social security system is a tax on pay rolls, which tax grows larger with the passing of the years. This new law, labeled "social security," became operative on the first day of the present year and, according to announcement already made, it will take 1 per cent of each employer's total payroll—and it is to be paid by the employer, not the employee. Next year the tax will be 2 per cent, and in 1938 it will reach 3 per cent, the maximum under the present law. Forecast is that the tax will produce total revenue of $250,000,000 during 1936. If business conditions remain unchanged, it will obviously produce $500,000,000 next year, $750,000,000 per year thereafter. However, hope is that business betterment, with its corollary of increased employment and higher wages, will steadily increase the revenue even though the percentage of tax remains constant. The next step in the program will come in 1937, when the federal old-age insurance plan goes into operation. That will start with a 1 per cent tax on employers and a 1 per cent on employees, which will mount slowly until it reaches 3 per cent on each in 1949. Total federal tax will thus be 9 per cent of all payrolls by 1950, of which employers will pay 6 per cent, employees 3 per cent.

In addition to these federal levies, some of the states are studying ways and means of bearing their share of the expense—in the case of old-age insurance, for example, the federal government will match state donations dollar for dollar. A number of states already have various taxes for this purpose, others are planning them. In some cases, state funds are created by payments by the employer alone, in others by payments by both employer and employee. And there is a certain amount of agitation for a general sales tax to create funds to meet the expense.

State-federal co-operation involves certain legal difficulties. Requirements are that state funds shall be turned over to the federal government for distribution. In most states, it seems that this would be unconstitutional under present state constitutions. If that turns out to be true, states which wish to co-operate will have to go to work remaking their laws and amending their constitutions. Further legal troubles arise from the fact that, in the view of many attorneys, the social security act was hastily written, lacks the clarity it should have. Some think that present legislation should be thrown overboard and a new start made. However, there seems small likelihood that this will be done, though it is expected the present congress will make an effort to clear up some of the more vague parts of the new law and thus make it legally understood.

Dismissing these legal and technical difficulties, which must be eventually settled by the courts and congress, it may be said that business views social security with mixed emotions. Many corporations have liberal pension plans of their own, established long before a federal law was conceived. They agree with the principle the legislation represents, confused as they are by some of the details. Many industries are considerably worried as to where to get the money. Hope of the administration is that business conditions will continue to improve so rapidly that profits cannot help but rise, that increased costs will thus be automatically taken care of, for under the law, these new costs become fixed overhead regardless of any profit.

There, in brief, is the status of social security at present. It could be changed overnight by the passage of another kind of law, such as the Townsend plan with its demand for $200 a month for all people over 60 years of age, regardless of race or other conditions.

A WONDERFUL HERITAGE

A writer who might possibly be charged with being somewhat bombastic, has called attention to a number of potent truths in an article outlining the American heritage when he said: "We have become a great nation because we are a nation of fearless individualists. We have no caste, no privileged few; and the little child born in the tenement is a potential president of the United States. This is our heritage. No depression can take away from the true American his desire to climb and his desire to achieve. The history of America is filled with the stories of men who battled their way through barren wilderness, who blasted their way through mountains of rock, and laid the foundations of cities and businesses that stand as testimonials to this country and its opportunities. For the track walker becomes the railroad president and the farm boy becomes the president of a great bank."

UNIVERSAL APPROVAL

President Roosevelt's address before congress upon its convening has been discussed and criticized from political standpoints and otherwise. Some points met with disapproval by some of the politicians and by some of his political opponents and certain sections of the public press, but some of the suggestions offered and plans advocated met with universal approval, especially when he said that 85 or 90 per cent of the world's people were peaceful, that 10 or 15 per cent endangered peace. Also when he denounced dictators and made thinly-veiled allusions to saboteurs. He said the United States must provide an adequate national defense and at the same time keep absolutely neutral and free from dangerous foreign entanglements. These views received general approval by United States commentators.

IN THE LIMELIGHT

There is a ludicrous side to some of the free publicity being sent broadcast and with which every newspaper's mail is burdened and that is the persistent and strenuous efforts put forth by those sending out the propaganda to put themselves in the limelight. It is not enough to discuss the plans advocated or the purposes involved, but the writers inject their own names and opinions at every turn. Some of the publicity might be accepted but for the fact that the basis of it all is to place some unknown individual in the limelight and give him notoriety rather than advocate some plan or system that might possibly be of worth or at least might attract some attention and elicit some discussion.

A British company will operate a chain of plants to extract motor fuel from coal.

District Judge Watkins of Dallas issued an injunction Saturday restraining all state and county officials in Texas from enforcing the chain store tax law passed by the last special session of the Legislature.

Two convicted Minneapolis "money changers" in the disposition of a portion of the $200,000 Charles F. Urschel ransom, were taken secretly to Leavenworth penitentiary Saturday to begin serving five-year terms. They were convicted late in 1933 of handling $5,500 of the ransom paid for the Oklahoma City oil man's release in July, 1933.

A German engineer claims to have perfected a practical process for making illuminating gas from lignite, says a Department of Commerce report of interest because of East Texas lignite deposits. The process is said to produce 20 to 30 per cent more illumination gas of high heat test value than from a corresponding amount of ordinary gas coal and at less productive cost.

Siam and Japan are shown in a state department report to have been America's best customers during December for goods labeled arms, ammunition and implements of war. These two countries bought more than half of the total of $708,882 of such goods sold for export under state department licenses. Siam led the list with purchases of $336,091. Japan bought $119,652 worth of military goods.

An agricultural climatological map of the world, showing sections best adapted to major crops because of weather conditions, is planned by the International Commission of Agriculture. Work on the map will start until the soil map of the world now being made is finished, probably not for two or three years. Meantime, the four members of the committee will perfect a plan for compiling data needed.

An outstanding Mormon at Salt Lake City, Utah, Reed Smoot, former Republican stalwart senate leader and financial advisor to presidents on his twenty-fourth birthday Friday gave his recipe for longevity: Keep mind and body active, eat only plain food, well cooked, use no tobacco or alcohol, love the country and your fellowmen. He spent the day at his desk in the office building of the Mormon Church.

A German archeological expedition in Turkey has reported discoveries showing sanctions to be 3,000 years old. Clay tablets were found whose inscriptions reveal that in 1270, Egyptians initiated a treaty ending a long war. Later the pact was explained with both "high contracting parties" agreeing to order nothing from Assyrian states because the latter had become "inconvenient" through economic political pressure.

Forces of the Texas State Teachers' Association should be focused toward gaining an increase in the State scholastic apportionment, now standing at $17.50, the majority of the association executive committee decided Friday at its meeting in Fort Worth. In 1926 the apportionment was $12 for each scholastic, then was moved up to $16, and for the last two years has stood at $17.50. At this figure the state for a time fell behind on payments.

A man arrested last week in Henderson, who allegedly stole a hound dog in Missouri, must go back and stand trial. Governor Allred has granted extradition back to Mississippi County, to stand trial for the offense—a grand larceny in the state. The dog was described as a black and tan hound, a good coon and possum hunter, five years old and worth $75. The papers also charged he stole two dogs in Kentucky. Their breed and value was not shown.

VIEWS OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

CHARTING NAVAL NEEDS

At London the naval conferees are surveying the naval needs of the United States as well as other nations. In this connection it is worth noting that the recently adopted neutrality policy of the United States as applied toward Italy and Ethiopia introduces a new factor into the equation which deserves more attention than it is receiving. Acting under the neutrality resolution the American Government has laid down an entirely new thesis in regard to its obligations to protect its nationals and their trade on the high seas. For more than 100 years the Government had undertaken to protect by force legal American trade with anyone except in case of an actual blockade. The several pronouncements of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull have revisited the obligation which this undertaking placed on America's armed forces. Those pronouncements declared that any and all trade with a belligerent in time of war is at risk of the trader. In effect they have curtailed the old "freedom of the seas" doctrine and left on the navy merely the obligation to protect commerce with neutrals. How far this curtailment extends is extremely uncertain at present neutrality resolution expires in February. Failure of the congress to enact a new measure would restore the old status. An other cogent point is suggested by the fate of American commerce with European neutral powers during the early years of the World War. The Allies succeeding in controlling all navian countries on the theory that such trade might be intended for transshipment to Germany. The United States never formally renounced the position it took toward the allied restrictions and today still insists in theory on the "freedom of the seas" even in war time so far as trade between neutrals is concerned. It is obvious from that experience that fully as much naval power might be necessary to maintain neutral rights as such trade as would be necessary to protect trade with a belligerent—provided of course that the United States was actually prepared to defend its contention by force—Christian Science Monitor.

MEETING RELIEF DEMANDS

Everyone knows who has given the matter thought that there will be many families to take care of after the federal relief is discontinued. This is giving grave concern to the governments of various Texas cities. The relief commissioner of Harris county let forth a woeful note of pessimism concerning it the other day.

There are those who advocate state funds to be secured by some new form of taxation. There are also those who believe that it would be better to have an intense drive and raise what is needed in each community by popular subscription. The trouble with a special tax for that or any other object is that it will become a permanent fixture and will rest unevenly upon the shoulders of the people. A subscription gets funds from only those able to contribute.

The thing is that there are many unemployed and that they must be taken care of in some way. The works program has given jobs to 3,500,000, but we must recollect that when this work started there were 12 million unemployed. Private industry has absorbed some of these but the number is great enough still to be a serious problem that the people must meet in some way.—Waco Record.

GEOLOGY STARTS ENEW

It would be hard to overestimate the importance for geology of the facts discovered this year about the former level of the seas. A prelude was the use of sound waves to explore the sea bottom, going on for several years and which gradually has disclosed the surprising number and still more surprising size of the submarine canyons off the mouths of most rivers, including the Hudson. In November Professor Richard M. Field of the Princeton university, announced result of his summer campaign with geophones and seabottom explorations, showing that, whatever may be true of other continents, the eastern edge of this one is no sharp and age-old rim of rock, but is a slope covered with sediments and dissected by erosion, suggesting that the rain and frost must have been at work here when the ocean was at least a mile lower than now. And now comes Dr. Charles S. Piggott of the Carnegie institution, to tell last week's meeting of the Geological Society of America that samples bored out of the sea bottom by a new apparatus confirm Professor Field's deduction. That the level of the seas was somewhat lower during the glacial epoch is an old idea, as a result of water tied up on land as glacial ice. In a similar way, complete melting of the present Antarctic ice cap would raise the oceans some scores of feet. Around the edges of most of the continents are submarine terraces which seem to be sunken beaches. Other terraces along river valleys and on seaside cliffs suggest slightly higher levels at other geologic dates. The structure of coral islands, such as Bermuda, suggests similar up-and-down fluctuations of sea level in not too distant geologic past. But these changes involve rises and falls of a few hundred feet at most, something of a quite different order from the new idea that the oceans have sunk and risen by at least a mile.—New York Herald-Tribune.

RELIEF WORK

The Government itself introduced the practice of relief, even if it didn't invent the theory. There have been hard times. Times in which good men and good workers could find no wage. "Clamorous pauperism feasteth while honest labor, pining, hideth his sharp ribs," wrote Thackeray at a time when England was in the midst of difficult times. It remains true that honest labor can become content with doles, if too long extended. But those who have four walls and a roof, who have a fireside and a bed, may find it easy to condemn those who are less fortunate, perhaps less willing to earn in travail the comforts that others have with seeming ease. It is unfortunate that Federal relief was abandoned in midwinter. The local communities were unprepared, and will continue to be unprepared, to assume the responsibility. There will be more work in the spring than now, more in the summer and the autumn. But now it is difficult for even the best of workers to find employment. The PWA has not found a wage for all who need it. Then there are many marginal cases between the grade of employable and unemployable. Local communities are indeed unable to assume the feeding and housing of the unemployables. Yet too much nursing does tend inevitably to induce a disposition to invalidism.—State Press in Dallas News.

The Lampasas city council has ordered an election Jan. 28 to vote on a $20,000 waterworks revenue bonds issue. If the election carries proceeds will be used to buy Hancock Springs and adjoining acreage as a new water supply source.

DAN WESTERMAN BURIED AT ROCK SPRINGS SUNDAY

Dan S. Westerman, who was found dead in his bed last Friday morning, was buried in the Rock Springs cemetery at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. Funeral services were held at the home and a large assemblage of friends gathered there and joined the procession to the cemetery. Dan Westerman was liked by everyone who knew him, and his sudden death came as a grievous shock. While his health had been bad for sometime, he had recently seemed to be improving. Last week he suffered a light attack of flu but had practically recovered when apparently a sudden heart attack caused his death.

CARD OF THANKS

It is with grateful hearts that we express to our friends all over the country our sincere appreciation for their kindness and sympathy at the time of our overshadowing sorrow. Everybody was kind and helpful in many ways and endeavored in every way to prove their friendship for our dear departed one and ourselves. Not a thing could have been done that was not done and we are profoundly thankful. We would not forget in this connection to mention the great profusion of beautiful flowers provided for the home and cemetery by loving friends.

His suffering is over. Mr. Dan will be missed by his wife and mother and other relatives as well as his friends. May God be with Ira Hutchings and family and Mrs. Westerman in their sorrow.
