Methodist Notes

Before this is in print the roof will be on the new church. It is now rounding out so that you can determine just what it will look like when completed. There seems not to be an extra thing to it that is not essential. There are no costly spires, yet it is one of the most pleasing, and dignified buildings it has been my privilege to see. Nothing cheap has been done. Everything is of the very best and nothing neglected. The people of the town, regardless of denominations, should be proud of the success of the Methodists, if they have no higher motive than that of civic pride. So I think, the entire populace takes a real interest in the progress that is being made.

One other thing to be proud of is that there is to be a pipe organ in this church. As a matter of fact, the organ is already here and ready to be installed as soon as the building is ready for it. We may expect a grand opening and dedication of the organ, when it is installed. This is as it should be.

Since the Methodist folks have no services in the evening, except the 5 o'clock worship, they have the opportunity to attend the other churches of the town. Whatever others may think of this, it is a real joy to this writer. I should have but little respect for myself if I could not get a real pleasure out of warming my feet by my neighbor's fire, yet I should have a contempt for myself if I did not like my own fireside the best.

One of the things that is coming to the Christian work, is a catholicity of spirit that the past did not possess. There seems to be no acrimony, and envy in the Christian churches, such as cursed the church in the past. We are more and more regarding one another as members of the same general family, though we may differ in some things which seem to some as vital. This thought is suggested by the experience of one of the preachers in a correspondence with a Roman Catholic priest. The priest said in substance that we would never be able to bring the followers of Christ into any sort of co-operation until we recognized each other as Christians through the one fact that all served one common Lord. Then he added: "This I am ready to do." To this the followers of Christ should wholeheartedly respond. We are living in a day with new and perverted ideals, a day when strange doctrines are being enunciated.

So much has been said about the curse of unemployment, that the mind is becoming obsessed with the idea that all employment is legitimate, regardless of the fact that many of the things that people call employment may lead to the grossest crime. This idea is fostering gambling of every sort. The citizens of a certain Texas city are almost up in arms to defend gambling, a spacious argument being made that to stop this gambling will throw hundreds of people out of employment. Why not extend the thought to murder, theft and every crime known to man? True the people do need employment, but it should be employment that helps to a better condition of society, and not that which leads to the lowering of the standards of a morality that is already at a stage that is hurtful.

Some wise man has discovered lately that strong drink has at least one element of virtue in it. He has discovered that when drunk, a man will tell the truth. We recommend this thought to Mr. Ripley for his "believe it or not" column. A long observation of this not very wise writer, has convinced him that a man steeped in bootleg liquor may become the most eloquent liar this side of the place that Ingersoll said does not exist.

Come to Sunday school and church services Sunday—you will feel better, the preacher and the teachers will appreciate it and you will be helped.

W. P. WEAVER, County Agent.

City Election Attracts Interest

The election of city officials to fill vacancies that will be made by the expiration of terms, will be held April 7 and already there is considerable interest in the selection of candidates. The terms of Mayor H. G. Bodkin, City Attorney F. P. Bowman, Treasurer Grover Dalton and Aldermen S. P. Rahl and S. P. Sullivan expire at the time for the April election, and either they will be elected or others to fill their places. Already petitions are being circulated in the interest of some citizens and applications are being filed for places on the election ticket.

Nazarene Revival Begins Sunday

A revival is to begin in the Nazarene church Sunday to continue to April 12. The preaching will be done by Rev. Jas. P. McCraw, an evangelist of Bethany, Okla., and the music will be directed by Prof. Curtis Smith, also of Bethany, who is a nephew of Mrs. S. P. Rahl of this city.

REV. JAMES P. McCRAW

Rev. Charles Harrison, pastor of the church, asks for the cooperation of all the people.

Tanning School At Mullin

Judged by the attendance, interest and results, the tanning school at Mullin Monday and Tuesday of this week was the most successful meeting of the year. By actual count 109 persons attended Monday, 131 Tuesday and 149 persons watched the work during the two days.

Duke Thornton, Jr., extension leather specialist, had charge of the demonstration. Upon arrival of Mr. Thornton and the writer, Superintendent Patterson and his fine boys were found with a hide in process of tanning and getting things ready for the crowd. Then came Mr. Tesson and C. O. Stark, Center Point, with several hides in different stages and a group of club boys. Then J. E. Peck, Goldthwaite, with another hide, then E. L. Young with a side of finished leather. E. H. Hapgood, Big Valley, sent a well made home tanned hame string. With these hides, Mr. Thornton demonstrated every step in tanning.

On Tuesday the club boys cut and made halter, harness and hamestrings, under supervision of the specialist. All these are on display in the county agent's office.

Ten communities were represented in attendance. Eight teachers brought groups of club boys. We believe everyone of these teachers will put on a demonstration in his community at once. County Agent Weaver announced a leather show to be held probably the last of April.

Mr. Thornton is an artist and held the closest attention of the men and boys throughout the two days. Come to the office and see the leather.

W. P. WEAVER, County Agent.

Big Appropriation Seems Likely

Washington, March 24.—The senate Tuesday passed the $205,000,000 agriculture appropriation bill carrying $1,000,000 for continuing the Midwest "shelter-belt" and sent it to conference with the house.

The senate added approximately $39,000,000 to the bill over the amount voted by the house. The increases were largely made up by an appropriation of $10,000,000 for the forest service to acquire new timber lands, and a like amount for the soil erosion service to study methods of flood and erosion control and to develop nursery stock for water sheds.

Destructive Cyclone Strikes Brownwood

A cyclone or wind storm did damage in Brownwood Sunday night, variously estimated at from $25,000 to $50,000. The citizens of Goldthwaite have observed cleanup week and most of them have put their premises in nice shape. However, some have placed trash in the gutters along the streets, which is strictly prohibited. Don't place it in or near the gutters or where it will blow into the streets.

Athens Social

Last Sunday morning the chairman of the entertainment committee, Mrs. Jim V. Cockrum, announced that the time had arrived for the Athens class of the First Baptist church to have another social. This was good news for each and every one, as these socials are greatly enjoyed, especially when an oyster supper is first on the program.

Monday night by 7:30 o'clock a nice crowd had gathered at the Royal cafe, where everything was in readiness to enjoy the steaming hot oysters, and everything that goes with them.

After enjoying everything immensely and thanking Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Thompson for their kind and courteous favors, we continued our journey to the mountain home of our superintendant and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bowman, to enjoy a few games of "42." We were met at the door with such a warm welcome, by our host and hostess, that we were truly glad we were a member of the Athens class.

After enjoying the games and fellowship with one another, Mrs. R. E. Clements called the house to order and had a short business session.

The president discussed a very important subject, after which Mr. Clements passed out the "mite" boxes to every one and—well, for further information you see him.

Wouldn't it be nice if every chair in the Athens room was filled next Sunday morning. Just how happy it would make our teacher, our president and all the rest of the officers to see just another Sunday, eighty-five out of our room as it did in the past, and if you don't believe it ask Mr. Bowman or Mr. Toland. I'm sure our pastor would rejoice to see this many in our class, too. Let's begin now to make our plans to be there. Let us help our superintendant by helping him to shoulder the responsibility and by our working together, much can be accomplished in our Savior's name.

Bro. Swanner led the closing prayer. At a very late hour, each one thanked Mr. and Mrs. Bowman for entertaining us in their home and for the beautiful hospitality that was extended to every one, and asking that some time in the near future we might again have this same opportunity.

Many Motor Cars Yet Unregistered

There will be a grand rush for the collector's office the next few days, to secure auto and truck license and driver's license. The time is short for securing the necessary license.

Up to yesterday afternoon only 755 motor car highway tags or plates had been issued by the collector's office, whereas, about 1,500 will be required to supply the motor car owners of the county. It will be a violation to operate a motor car without this showing of authority on and after April 1. This is also true of the driver's license. About 4,000 are expected to be required in the county and up to yesterday only 2,980 had been registered.

Secretary Summoned Before Committee

A report from Washington says that a subpoena was served Tuesday on R. E. Clements, resigned secretary and co-founder of the Townsend old-age pension organization, ordering his appearance before a special House investigating committee.

Clements, second in command of the organization which seeks to pay $200 a month pensions to all persons over 60, resigned Tuesday because of what he termed differences with Dr. F. E. Townsend.

Chairman Bell (Democrat), Missouri, of the committee said Clements had been ordered to produce all records, documents, files and other data incident to the operations of Old-Age Revolving Pensions, Inc., the Townsend organization.

"Clements was advised he would be the first witness called before the committee to explain the organization set-up, how it was spent and who received any part of it," Bell said.

Astrologic Bridge Party

Mrs. Paul McCullough was hostess to the Merry Wives club and a number of guests Tuesday afternoon in a unique birthday party. Places were found by the month and day of each guest birthday, in an envelope decorated in gold stars. On it was their horoscope and a good wish for their birthday. Most of us found we were born under a lucky star which made us happy.

Mrs. W. C. Dew scored high for the club members and was awarded a lovely bottle of an "Evening in Paris."

In the cut Mrs. Jones of Lampasas was the lucky winner.

A delicious salad plate with individual birthday cakes with each guest's name on it, was very much enjoyed by all. XX.

Mrs. W. B. Stokes of Gladesville, sister of Governor Allred, was killed Saturday afternoon in an automobile accident eight miles east of Mineola. Her husband, W. B. Stokes, was carried to a Mineola hospital seriously injured. The Stokes automobile, officers were advised, was forced into a culvert by an oil truck when the driver fell asleep at the wheel. Officers arrested the truck driver and jailed him at Mineola.

From central Oregon's high desert came a story Saturday of five antelope that delight in racing automobiles along the lonely road from Bend to Burns. Showing no fear of the cars, a quintet of pronghorns, raced several machines for miles over the desert, paralleling the highway as they ran. Motorists reported some instances the antelope were able to outrun the cars, especially along sections of the highway damaged by recent storms.

Chevrolet's
 high-compression valve-in-head engine gives economy without equal!

FOR ECONOMICAL TRANSPORTATION

The Chevrolet engine is the most economical automobile engine produced today, because (1) it is a six-cylinder engine, and (2) it is a valve-in-head six-cylinder engine.

Every test proves it's more economical . . . Every Chevrolet owner knows it's more economical . . . And every person will readily understand these simple A-B-C reasons why it is more economical

Its six cylinders use less gas and oil—in fact, use the least gas and oil—because six cylinders are the most economical combination used in modern automobiles.

Its valve-in-head design cuts gasoline consumption still lower because there is less loss of heat through the walls of the combustion chamber in valve-in-head engines, and the Chevrolet engine gives maximum heat (or power) saving.

Most important of all, Chevrolet's more efficient cooling system, pressure stream oiling and the greater accessibility of all working parts result in more dependable operation, over a longer period of time, with the lowest maintenance costs. Thus, Chevrolet's valve-in-head engine—only one of its kind in Chevrolet's price range—gives economy without expense.

Sammie McBurney died at Scottsdale, Arizona, Monday. He was reared in Zephyr and formerly owned the property now known as Mrs. Daisy Ford's ranch at Scallorn. He was married some years ago to Miss Delva Williams, a niece of Rev. Sam Taylor of San Saba. His wife and five children survive him.

JOHN S. CHESSEY PASSED AWAY WEDNESDAY

Mr. John S. Chesser died in a hospital in Brownwood Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock and his remains were interred in the cemetery at Williams ranch yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A large number of the friends of the deceased gentleman and his family attending the funeral service.

Mr. Chesser was stricken with apoplexy Sunday afternoon, while walking in the garden at the home of his daughter in Bangs. He was hurried to the hospital at Brownwood, but never regained the use of his members. It was known from the first that his case was hopeless, although every effort was made to restore him and every attention was given him.

John Sherrill Chesser was born in Burnett county June 9, 1863. The family moved to this section before the formation of Mills county and located in what was later known as Chesser valley, west of Mullin, where he grew to manhood. In early life he was assistant postmaster at Mullin during the incumbency of T. S. Baird as postmaster at that place. Later he came to Goldthwaite and served as deputy county clerk. Going back to Mullin he spent several years there and was a resident of that place when elected to the office of district clerk, which office he held several terms. After his retirement from office he continued to make his home in this city.

Mr. Chesser is survived by his wife and several grown children, besides other relatives and many friends.

Several county offices and some of the business places in this city closed during the funeral in honor of Mr. Chesser's memory.

"The Littlest Rebel"

Once more we present Shirley Temple, in "The Littlest Rebel." She has the film world at her tiny feet. She has joined the ranks of the world's best dancers which include Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Ruby Keeler and Bill Robinson. There is grand singing, superb acting, hilarious comedy, tearful pathos. In fact you see Shirley Temple in her greatest role. Shirley Temple is not alone in this picture, for there is a great cast including John Boles, Karen Morley, Jack Holt and Bill Robinson. Show fans will get their money's worth and then some.

"Kind Lady"

Drama

The story and locale of "Kind Lady" are English; the cast is a mixture of English and American players. The kind lady has a mania for pollyannaism. She befriends a needy stranger who turns out to be a vicious crook, who tries to steal all she has. The complicated plot is finally worked to a happy ending.

"Whipsaw"

Romantic Drama

"Whipsaw" is an interesting story, well acted, capably directed and geared to appeal to almost everybody. Rival gangsters and G-men give us a play of action and thrills. This show offers entertainment that involves tense drama, appealing love interest and pleasing comedy. Featuring two personalities, Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy. This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production is receiving very favorable comment from the general public.

"Dr. Socrates"

Gangster Drama

A famous surgeon, Paul Muni, has his career wrecked by the untimely death of his fiancée. Finally starting life anew in a small town he finds success and love after he aids in the capture of a gang of public enemies. Ann Dvorak offers a fine supporting role. The great William Dieterle directed "Dr. Socrates."

Do You Know—

That Shirley Temple, by box office receipts, was the most popular star of the movie world last year and if the remainder of this year equals the first part, that in 1935-36, she will far exceed her last year's popularity. You can see her in her latest and best picture at the Melba, March 29-30, in "The Little Rebel."

Fred Astaire has refused to sign a new contract with RKO to make eight more pictures with Ginger Rogers. RKO offered him $4,000,000. You saw their latest picture at the Melba, March 19 and 20, four weeks after its release in Hollywood.

(From the Enterprise)

Canada is visiting in with Mrs. E. Oden. Mrs. Aley Sanders and of Dallas are visiting here. Mrs. W. S. Lowe spent with her parents. The following with their friends visited in the home of Oliver Green Sunday: Ebb Oxley, Luther Green and Will Butz. Randolph Massey and son of Ridge were Mullin visitors Saturday. He reported Mrs. Massey convalescing nicely from a pneumonia attack. Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Perry and children attended the track meet in Goldthwaite Saturday and Mrs. Perry visited a dentist. Mr. and Mrs. Lenville Calder of Priddy and Mr. and Mrs. Lois Williams of Winters were week-end visitors in the home of S. M. Williams and Mrs. Dorcia Chester. Miss Jane Kurley of Comanche is now with Mrs. Leone Walton's beauty shop. Miss Kurley was formerly with the Couch Beauty Shop of Comanche. The sad news reached Mullin of the death of John Herman, two day old son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Williams of Grosvenor. The little one died Tuesday. News was received here Friday that Mrs. Moss Boatright (nee Miss Viola Hill of Prairie) died in south Texas Friday. Mrs. Boatright had a wide circle of friends at Prairie where she was reared.

Leo Renfro is at Cross Plains, as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. King. Mrs. Harry Hermersdorf of Brownwood visited Mrs. M. C. Kirkpatrick Sunday. Mrs. Aaron Little of Comanche is reported critically ill at her home. Her host of friends here regret very much to hear of her illness. Mrs. S. F. Harper of Goldthwaite visited Mr. and Mrs. Rex Mahan the first of the week and Mrs. Mahan accompanied her home Wednesday. The large crowd in town Saturday was even larger than expected, due to the county meet, being in progress. The crowd came just the same. And the centennial trips were awarded to Mrs. Will Butz of Duren, two to Miss Sanderson, one to Glen Calder. Rev. A. C. Wikerson will preach at the Methodist church the 5th Sunday in March, and a large crowd will be appreciated. Remember come to church Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Will Murray of Fort Worth spent the week-end with Mrs. J. L. Burkett and her sons. Mr. Murray is employed with the Woody Kutch Livestock Commission Co. W. S. Kemp and Mrs. Kemp left the first of the week for South Texas. Mrs. Kemp will visit with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kemp at Goose Creek for a brief time. She will then join Mr. Kemp, who has a good government position. Mr. and Mrs. Kemp will both be greatly missed in this city. They are progressive and always helping in civic affairs as well as leading church workers. Their places will be hard to fill and we hope they return home soon.

On Tuesday evening, March 17, Mrs. J. F. Williams and daughter, Miss Eula Mae, invited a group of Mr. Williams' friends to help celebrate his seventy-second birthday. The guests gathered early, bringing birthday wishes and gifts as a surprise for Mr. Williams. The merry group was welcomed and all were soon busy playing forty-two and dominoes or exchanging exciting bits of news. Delightful music was furnished throughout the evening by Messrs. Prentice Walker, M. S. Savoy and Tom Wallace. At a late hour plates decorated in St. Patrick's theme were passed with delicious sandwiches, hot chocolate and cookies. The following enjoyed the evening's entertainment and departed wishing Mr. Williams many more happy birthdays: Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Romans, Mr. and Mrs. Hamp Pickens, Mrs. and Mrs. Bob Crockett, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Savoy, Messrs. Tom Wallace, Prentice Walker, Campbell Pickens, M. E. Williams; Misses Babe Keating, Leta Mae Williams, hostesses Mrs. J. F. and Miss Eula Mae Williams and honoree Mr. J. F. Williams.

On Tuesday, March 24, the friends of Mrs. Chas. Hays agreeably surprised her with a birthday dinner. Two ladies arrived early telling her they had come to spend the day. She suspected nothing until about noon when more ladies came, each bringing a covered dish. By noon-time the table was laden with good things to eat. The day was spent in pleasant reminiscences. Mrs. Hays was the recipient of many lovely gifts. Those enjoying the day were: Mesdames T. J. Clendenen, J. E. Ince, W. C. Preston, S. J. Casey, H. R. McDonald, J. L. Burkett, Z. T. McCown, Tip Hart, E. L. Burkett, S. M. Casey, Floyd Burkett, O. H. Pafford, J. F. Williams, Walter Keating, Hamp Pickens, Lindsey Kittle, L. T. Reed, M. D. Mills, S. V. Roberts, W. M. Smith, J. P. Lockridge, Lynn Roberts, Katye Pyburn, Ima Kirkbride; Misses Obella Ince, Vernon Keating, Eula Mae Williams, Ida Mae Roberts, Ida Anna Reed, Pearl Eubanks and little Christine Ince, Betty Lynn Kittle and Nelma Roberts.

A sad message came Monday at noon to R. H. Paterson from Clovis, New Mexico, stating his only sister had been called by death to that eternal home. Mrs. J. M. Head was formerly Miss Isa Patterson of Mills county and was a daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. A. V. Patterson. She was a Christian since childhood and loved her church and Sunday school. A regular attendant until ill health prevented. Faithful loving service has radiated an influence over all those with whom she came in contact. Much of her life was devoted to making the way smoother and happier for others. She was devoted to her family and her home. She is survived by her bereaved husband, J. M. Head, two daughters, Mrs. T. A. Griffin of Mountainair, New Mexico; Miss Edith Head of Clovis; two sons Pierce Head of Clovis and R. G. Head, Estancia, New Mexico; one brother, R. H. Patterson of this city; four grand children and a devoted daughter-in-law and son-in-law and other relatives besides a wide circle of friends. Interment was at Clovis, Tuesday.

PENSION PLAN POPULAR

The co-operative pension plan of the national and state governments, while not all that could be desired, is a move in the direction of relieving the aged who are unable to provide for themselves and have none upon whom they can depend for support.

No other subject requires more serious thought by our statesmen than the old age pensions and provision for their payment. A number of our law-makers have explained by argument and the recitation of figures that the Townsend plan is far beyond the possibility of realization, yet few have offered a better plan and one they term feasible.

It is for these reasons that the statesmen of the state and nation are called upon to evolve some plan that will provide a pension for the aged and at the same time outline a method for securing the funds, without becoming too burdensome upon those who must be called upon to pay the costs.

BEGINNING AT THE BOTTOM

One of the public safety bureaus charged with a reduction of the automobile casualties is proposing that the matter of safety for highway traffic be taught in the public schools and this, indeed, appears to be taking a sensible attitude and beginning the instruction and warning at an important point.

Let it be understood, however, that the driver is not the only one at fault or the one on whom all of the responsibility rests. The pedestrian is at times the contributing cause of an accident or fatality as is the carelessness or recklessness of the driver.

INCREASED INCOME NECESSARY

There is no doubt that the federal government must have more income to enable the treasury to meet the immense demands from every direction. Statesmen and financiers from many states have given thought and advice on the subject and still the discussion goes on.

BUSINESS POLICY ENDORSED

A great many people have criticized the federal administration for its much spending and liberal borrowing, when the course would be endorsed if they really understood the plans formulated and the purposes to be accomplished.

It is a pretty general policy to criticize the debt making practice of government, yet there is no hesitancy in demanding all sorts of appropriations and benefits from the government.

WORLD COTTON CONSUMPTION

A big noise was made during the past week over a statement issued by the New York cotton exchange service on Monday to the effect that world cotton consumption of cotton during the current cotton year (ending July 31st) promises to smash all records.

A PARDON BOARD

The recommendation of Governor Alfred for taking the pardoning power from the governor of the state and placing it in the hands of a regularly constituted pardon board, we believe to be a wise one.

The duties of a governor of any of our states are now so numerous and so exacting that that official should be relieved of the harassing bombardment of clemency seekers. Relatives and friends and attorneys, of those who have been convicted of crimes, annoy and beset governors almost to distraction.

All of this must detract from the governor his poise and efficiency in dealing with problems of the state's affairs, which crowd upon the chief executive for solution. There should be some place of appeal, in case a wrong or too severe verdict has been imposed (which is very rare) but certainly the governor should be relieved of deciding such an appeal.

A board, charged solely with the duty of investigating and passing upon cases asking clemency would, we think, safeguard justice and meet the demands of the citizenry for such a possible appeal. Alfred's recommendation contains wisdom and we would be glad to see it adopted in Texas.—Kerrville Times.

KEEP CHICKENS HOME

Suggestion by City Marshal Walters that people who own chickens should keep the fowls on the premises of the owner is reasonable and timely.

No garden, whether planted with vegetables or flowers, is improved by the scratching of chickens.

Individual liberty, is a precious heritage but it should not and does not extend to allowing damage to the property of others. Therefore, while all people are at liberty to raise chickens—and more people should raise chickens—they are not at liberty to permit the fowls to get their living from property of a neighbor unless the neighbor consents to it.

This may seem like a small matter, but when one considers that many people spend money for plants and seeds it is not fair that their expenditures should be wasted because of the destruction caused by chickens. The fowls can be easily penned and good citizens will see to it that they are not causing damage to their neighbors by neglect of this.

Some people are being damaged by livestock running loose, especially near the corporate lines. Cows roped out to eat the grass on roadsides or in pastures that are not securely fenced, sometimes break their rope and trample and eat shrubbery in private yards. The city has laws to provide impounding cattle and other livestock found running at large, but usually the damage is done before the suffering property owner can notify the officer. Since Paris is trying to make the city beautiful with flowers and shrubs there should be an extra effort of owners of any chickens and livestock to prevent depredations.—Paris News.

PAYING FOR WAR

The administration at Washington estimates that the American government, to date, has spent $7,800,000,000 on its World War veterans. The new bonus will add substantially more than $2,000,000,000 to that. And if pensions ever come, the figures will become astronomical.

But it is too late for us to start weeping about it now. The time to have worried about all this expense was in the spring of 1917, when our participation in the world war was still ahead of us.

The lads who went to fight the Germans for us in 1917 and 1918 did not invent the pension-bonus system; neither, it should be added, were they the ones who thought up the idea of drawing cards in the world war.

In other words, this colossal expense that goes dragging on and on long after war's dead bones have been laid to rest—it just comes with the bicycle. Declare war and this is what you get.

And if we don't like it, there is one fool-proof way to avoid it: by staying out of war.—Belleville, Ill., Advocate.

OVERLOOKING A BET

In more than 20 states, they've already got the teachers' oath bill on the books. But that is only the beginning of the oath campaign. In New York, the legislature has before it a students' oath bill requiring that all students in institutions supported in whole or in part by public funds to swear to uphold the constitution. That takes in a lot of students, and before the bill is passed and enforced, we're doubtless going to hear a lot more about it.

Fur farming is now established in 25 of the 48 states.—Pathfinder.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEWS OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

BELIEVES IN HELEN OF TROY

We refuse to believe that Helen of Troy was only a myth. A University of Cincinnati archaeologist who has been digging in the ruins of ancient Troy says there is no truth in the story that the beautiful wife of Menelaus, King of Sparta, was carried off by Paris. The Greeks and the Trojans did not fight over Helen. It was merely a struggle for empire, not unlike the last great war, or the one that may begin if France does not yield to persuasion and Hitler is unwilling to withdraw any of his soldiers from the Rhineland.

What has this archaeologist, Dr. Carl W. Blegen, uncovered at the sight of this ancient city that causes him to dispose of one of literature's greatest love stories in this summary fashion? We doubt if he has found anything important, and we feel quite certain that he doesn't know as much about the Trojan War as the poet, Homer, did when he lived and wrote. Moreover, we do not believe Homer was nodding when he told of Helen being carried away, physically if not emotionally, by the handsome Paris, and of her return to Menelaus after the fall of Troy. Scientists once concluded that Troy itself was only a myth, that such a city had never existed and the Iliad was nothing more than an excellent piece of fibbing. Homer, they said, was not an individual, but a syndicate. Then they discovered there really had been such a place as Troy, indeed, six or eight or possibly nine ancient Troys, each of which had been obliterated by dust. So the Iliad must have rested on some historical foundation.

And if the archaeologists will keep on, they discover that Helen of Troy wasn't a myth either. Meanwhile they should not ask us to believe that the "face that launched a thousand ships" did not launch a single vessel, not even a canoe. They should not ask us to accept the idea that poets of all ages, who have made Helen the ideal of womanly beauty, were thinking of some other woman. If Helen of Troy had been a myth, the Trojan war would not have lasted ten years. It is doubtful if it would have lasted six months.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

"IT WON'T BE LONG"

"It won't be long now." That, according to one correspondent, expresses the hopeless fatalism of the people of Alsace as they observe the movements of the German and French troops. If they are right, if their fears are justified, it won't be long until this now peaceful countryside is turned into an inferno, rocked by explosives, seared by flames, broken to useless pieces by the machinery of modern warfare. It won't be long until the young men of Alsace are facing enemy shells and machine-gun bullets or hiding from these in filthy trenches and themselves venting the savage lust to kill, which overtakes most humans under the conditions of war. It won't be long until the roads leading out of Alsace are crowded by women and children and men too old and feeble to fight, carrying, if possible, some small part of their household effects to such miserable safety as they can find behind the lines. Disease and death. Days and nights of horror. It won't be long, indeed, it won't be long until peace, the peace of exhaustion, will return to Alsace. And the old men and the women and babies—those that still live—will struggle back to their homes or the ruins that had been their homes. And the young men, those that survive or partly survive, also will return. The dreary and slow process of rebuilding will begin again. For what and for how long? Until the victors in this war have learned the price of victory and the vanquished have become strong enough to set about learning that costly lesson

CHINA'S COTTON

China's troubles have become such that many of her wealthier people—whose ancestors dressed in the world's finest silks—now have difficulty in clothing themselves in cheap cotton. Reduced consumer purchasing power, resulting from internal chaos and disastrous wars with Japan, has had serious effects on the cotton market. Cotton stocks in Shanghai are only about half what they were a year ago, and China's cotton imports from October through January were less than half those for the corresponding months a year earlier. The import situation was aggravated by China's abandonment of the silver standard last November.

Another factor affecting China's cotton imports has been the policy of her mills in favoring greater use of domestic cotton. China's 1935 cotton crop, however, was considerably smaller than that for 1934. This fact, with the dwindling supply of foreign cotton in warehouses, is expected to result in a strong increase in cotton imports in April. It appears doubtful, however, that the United States will derive much benefit from this expected increase. Low-priced cotton from India has been favored recently in Chinese markets.

Potentially China offers a market for a great deal more cotton than she now buys. If she could follow Russia's example in industrialization, her demand for cotton might become much greater. The influence of Japan, however, works against Chinese industrial development. Japan apparently would like to prevent the expansion of textile industries in China, in order to force Chinese to buy cotton goods from Japanese mills. At present, Japan seems likely to have her way.—Dallas News.

HOW TO GET A JOB

Cornell has taken a step in advance of rival technical colleges and schools of business administration. It has introduced a course in how to get a job. The personnel director of the New York Telephone Company conducts a demonstration class for seniors in engineering, from the stance, facial expression and handshake of the applicant to the cataloging of his advantages to the organization. Perhaps the director reveals the infallible trick for obtaining the opportunity to display one's proficiency in the execution of the coveted handshake. "Under the spell of his professional graciousness," the account records, "the young men began to unfold themselves." That proved him an adept personnel director, but can he confer on them the same skill in making a prospective boss unfold himself? That is the rub. A good approach is no guarantee of satisfactory service, as the instructor well knows. Some of the best job-getters have the most frequent need for their gift. Perhaps the instructor is quietly sizing up the lot in his own interest. A good many of them are likely to crash their way into his private office after commencement for a real test of what he has taught them. Several other non-resident lecturers are engaged for the course. It is a first rate idea. The more personnel directors appear before the class, the more openings will appear for placing graduates. It would be quite out of keeping with the theory of the pedagogy for a personnel director to be too busy to be seen when his secretary announced that one of his recent pupils had come to call. A plan of action for getting through the door of a personnel director's private office would seem to be rudimentary in such a course.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

WHEN PRESSURE

At the end of 1935 unemployment insurance had an accumulated approximately $100,000,000 amount then being benefits led the subcommittee on unemployment to estimate the surplus at $32,000,000. There was agitation for larger benefits and contributions: the committee recommended the February 27 the minimum informed the House that the government had the committee's recommendation that the wage reductions by employers be reduced to a piece. The recommendations only to unemployment insurance for persons years old.

It might be thought small a reduction worth making. So far employer of a large number is concerned on a large number of conditions would come saving, but the average probably will not protect the economy. On employment insurance, cumulative effect of reductions will be according to the estimate, the surplus will be wiped out. 75 per cent of all income During February employment showed a decline, but the number of unemployed still 2,000,000. British are for a gradual employment in 1936 and expect a sharp re-employment some time next five years, as cycle of unemployment.

To the individual in contributions unimportant; to the all important. The which resulted from cumulation of reserve interest students of city legislation here untutored as a matter of unemployment legislation, we overlook opportunities lesson from a nation had more experience.

TIGHT SHOES

Maybe the feminine faces are getting prettier and prettier because the feminine feet are getting less hurtier and hurtier. No face can be beautiful for more than minute at a time if the feet are in pain. Hurty feet spoil sweet expression. Women have always wanted small feet, no matter what the bulk above the ankles might be. The Chinese ladies carried the passion for child feet to such an extent that they gladly crippled themselves by binding their feet in early girlhood to prevent expansion. A Chinese lady with normal feet, in past generations, was looked upon with as much wonder and as much scorn as if she had ears as big as the sides of her head. It was a pitiful absurdity, of course, one now fast passing out of practice. But how smart is an American or a European woman who ignores the real size of her feet and cramps them into shoes too small for them? Just as a statesman can't look impressive when he has the tummy ache, neither can a woman look lovely when her feet are half killing her. The modern beauty shop is wonderful, no doubt, and its operators genuises. The customer's hands may be made glamorous in the beauty shop, but they won't stay that way if her feet hurt all the way up to her eyebrows. Woman, as well as man, begins at the ground. If the groundwork is bad, the superstructure can't be perfect.—State Press in Dallas News.
