REACHING THE PEOPLE

In the old days, when an agitator had something on his chest, he looked for a soap-box from which he might attract an audience. Most of them never got any farther, but now and then an oratorical genius would rise to national prominence.

William Jennings Bryan did not reach a tenth as many ears as do his modern counterparts but those were within earshot were visibly affected. A speaker with the right personality could do wonders with the group in front of him, leading it at will from one emotion to another.

THE EAGLE appreciates communications and items of public interest, but they must be for the current issue—not forgotten items sent in after one or more issue dates have passed.

COTTON BLUNDER

President Roosevelt's action in raising the tariff on Japanese cotton cloth to an average of 42 per cent does not sit well with southern cotton producers and middlemen. In recent years Japan has been an increasingly important customer for American cotton. The new tariff action will give her an excuse to retaliate by buying less raw cotton from America and more from other countries.

The tariff boost on cotton goods is inconsistent with Democratic party principles and with the policy of lowering tariff rates by reciprocal trade agreements. It smacks of the Hoover tariff policies, which probably deepened and prolonged the depression. Moreover, the action did not go far enough to satisfy New England textile manufacturers, most of whom would not support Roosevelt under any circumstances.

Of course, Japan cannot afford to drop immediately and completely her importation of cotton from the United States. Yet such actions as the current tariff hike against her will spur Japan to scrutinize more closely other sources for her supply of raw cotton. For us to push her deliberately into the lap of cotton producers in China, India, Egypt and Brazil is nothing less than an economic blunder.—Dallas News.

PENSIONS PARAMOUNT

In the national state arena, the matter of pensions seems to refuse side-tracking. The state-federal pensions under the terms of the security act will begin coming through to the aged and needy in a month from now.

Our school teachers are campaigning for retirement pay, so that at the end of twenty years' service, each teacher may be assured of some income in case of retirement. The teachers stress the point that the word "pension" is a misnomer.

Pensions are a means to an end. Unless pensioning retires elderly people from gainful occupations and thus makes room for the unemployed in the prime of life, nothing is gained, not even for the individuals "pensioned," for unless the unemployment problem is solved fairly soon, there will be no pensions, no business, no living for any of us.

It is easy to see why the matter of state, federal and county pensions simply will not be downed.—Waco Record.

CARD OF THANKS

Expressing our heart-felt appreciation to friends for every kind word of condolence, every act of kindness and for the many beautiful floral offerings, the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Mrs. L. F. Welch can only say, "May God recompense every donor." She died as she lived, trusting God and we who mourn her are, of course, comforted in knowing that these deeds of kindness are like her, divine.

OLD FORT PARKER NEAR MEXIA

Old fort is located in Limestone county, near Mexia, and it was an improvised fort the Comanche Indians massacred the family with the exception of Clinthann, aged 6 years. They fled to their reservation in Indian Territory where she grew up and was made the wife of a chief. In later years she was taken from the Indians by Texas rangers, under the leadership of Sul Ross.

ON PATRIOTISM

The benevolent assimilation of China progresses. Training on the part of the Chinese is not to be discouraged. In their own interest it should be suppressed. Other nations might take it into their heads to resist their Japanese and protectors. They indulge in dreams of a new world which would prompt them to resort to the use of violence. There may be a cure. There may be a means of loyalty to the United States.

SOIL CONSERVATION RULES

Three supplementary recommendations of the Texas committee of the soil conservation program have been approved by the secretary of agriculture. The first of the recommendations approved is that the term "soil conserving crops" has been ruled to mean any crop on crop land upon which an approved soil-building practice is carried out in 1936, and from which no soil-depleting crop is harvested in 1936.

The second recommendation that was approved for the state of Texas states that sorghum or millet when seeded on crop land between January 1, 1936, and July 31, 1936, if all the crop is left on the land or plowed under, will be regarded as soil-conserving crops. The third approved recommendation is in regard to a soil-building practice which states that any sorghum, sudan grass or millet will receive a soil-building practice payment at the rate of $1.00 per acre when seeded on crop land between January 1, 1936, and July 31, 1936, and all the crop is left on the land or plowed under, providing that all the requirements for grant are complied with.

and gave them other holdings. They began the century by fighting Russia and gaining more. Recent years have seen the creation of Manchukuo, the addition to it of Jehol, and the extension of Japanese overlordship beyond the great wall. Where is the limit beyond which Japan cannot go in arbitrary rule over the Chinese people?—Boston Transcript.

ROCK SPRINGS

Wasn't the rain fine. Now there isn't any cause for the farmers not to want to work. It was the best rain we have had in a long time. It all soaked into the ground.

Janece Doggett from Coleman and her uncle, Joe Roberts, celebrated their birthday Sunday in the Nickols home. Those present were: Misses Claudia Carroll, Ethel Tyson and Homer Doggett and wife from Coleman, Mrs. Joe Roberts and children, Nellie Dea Cooke and Dwight Nickols and wife. Others were invited, but the rain kept them away.

I am very proud of my grandson, Beryl Roberts. He graduated to high school this term.

Who said it never rained in Mills county? It commenced to rain Friday afternoon and it really has rained and it is still raining. It rained frogs Sunday night and they have a very strong voice. They wouldn't let you sleep after seven o'clock Monday morning.

Joe Roberts and sons worked to save the nice big tank during the big rains. They had to do lots of work on the spillway in order to save the dam. They have lots of water now which they are proud of. It will last a long time.

Walton Gatlin and wife from New York, Mrs. Lula Gatlin and Miss Love and Orby Woody and family and Rev. Bowles and wife and son enjoyed a squirrel dinner with Oscar Gatlin and family Sunday.

There were but five members at Mrs. Whit's Friday afternoon at the club. There were two visitors, Mrs. Ernest Cooke and Mrs. Euna Whit. The five members really did quilt. There wasn't anyone there who wanted them the next time, so our president will let us know in time to come to the next meeting.

James Nickols is home from Cisco and other places, where he has been shearing. Harvey Dunkle and wife, J. T. Robertson and wife and Mrs. Woody Traylor went to San Saba Wednesday and to Brownwood Thursday.

Marion Robertson and Beryl Turner went to Brownwood Friday to get the Robertson car fixed up. Now they are in style, they have a closed in car.

Mrs. Homer Doggett and daughter, Janece, called on Mrs. Dwight Nickols Friday afternoon. Harvey Dunkle and wife from Oklahoma, visited J. T. Robertson and family and other relatives last week.

Mmes. John Roberts, Jesse Cockrum and J. O. McClary and wife went to Bozar fishing Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McNatt from Trigger Mountain joined them. They reported good luck.

Loy Long and family from town spent Sunday with the Elliss and Soules families.

Miss Neale Moore from San Saba is spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. E. D. Robertson.

Beryl Turner and family from San Saba visited with Marion Roberts and Mrs. Traylor last week-end. We see Turner has joined the mustache gang at San Saba.

R. E. Collier and wife, Mrs. Homer Doggett and Janece and Mrs. Euna Nickols and Philip sat until bed time in the Cooke home Monday night.

Vernon Tyson, James Nickols and J. T. Stark played 42 Monday night with the Webb brothers.

Forest Renfro and family from Ratler are staying with his brother, Tas, and wife. Forest is working for Barton Smith in town.

J. C. Stark and wife spent Wednesday afternoon with the Davis families.

R. E. Collier had the misfortune to step on a nail that penetrated his shoe and stuck into his foot, last Sunday. We hope he is getting along all right.

Ernest Cooke and wife spent a few days with her aunt and uncle, Jesse Lowe and wife, last week. They also called in W. A. Cooke's home.

Mrs. Harvey Dunkle spent Saturday night with Woody Traylor and family.

Homer Doggett from Coleman enjoyed meeting his old friends in town Sunday morning.

John Earl and Janet Roberts spent Friday afternoon with the Laird children.

The farmers and their wives and all their children will really have to fight the weeds since the rain. BUSY BEE.

EXUDING OPTIMISM

Mr. Farley's policy of claiming everything and conceding nothing naturally led him to "exude optimism" upon his arrival at Devils Lake, S. D., as a dispatch reports. It is the business or Mr. Farley to exude optimism, and he would fall far short of his duty if he failed to do it anywhere he might arrive.

The generalissimo of a new plan politics carries bundles of optimism around with him in his travels about the country. His brief cases are packed with it, and his files are running over with it. Much of it previously has been exuded by political employees, who must report their feelings in this manner or expect to lose their jobs.

So Mr. Farley is convinced of a lot of things, one of them being that if the Kansas governor should be nominated he would be "defeated by President Roosevelt even in his home state." As for the rest of the country, it hardly would be worth the contest. It is "in the bag" already, according to Mr. Farley's exuding optimism.

But it is strange, under the circumstances, that Mr. Farley should yield a bit on one minor point. He says "the people know that the work of recovery is only half done" and, of course, must look to the new dealers to finish the job. Obviously, the most careful calculations would show that it would take just exactly four years more to do it. But isn't it surprising that no more than one-half of it has been done already? Isn't that a dangerous concession for Mr. Farley to make? Is his optimism exuding enough on that vital point? Or is political expediency a more compelling consideration?—Kansas City Times.

Diplomatic Boondoggling

Almost everyone has filled out one or many questionnaires—those elaborate forms bristling with interrogation points, by means of which some investigator or official authority seeks to gather a few facts. A new use has been discovered for this method by the British foreign office, which has introduced it to the field of diplomacy. Hitler is the recipient of the form, which is designed to find out just where he stands on various issues in international affairs.

In effect, the questionnaire asks: If you sign a treaty, will you fulfill its obligations? And also: Do you intend to respect the present boundaries of Europe? There are other questions about treaties, but the two foregoing are those stressed.

The fact that such unprecedented questions are addressed by one power to another indicates the distrust with which the other nations now regard Germany. As far as achieving any net gains toward solving European problems is concerned, the questionnaire is merely diplomatic boondoggling. No matter what Hitler's intentions, the answers will be cordial, co-operative and conciliatory. It is much as if an employer asked an applicant for a position as cashier: "Do you intend to run away with the cash register's contents?"

The answers might form an interesting record if future developments run contrary to their tenor, but their value would be merely academic. In the game of diplomacy, it is actions, not words, that really count.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Halleville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

HOW BRITISH JUSTICE WORKS

The case of Dr. Buck Ruxton, a prominent physician of Lancaster, England, shows how British justice deals with murder.

On October 14, Dr. Ruxton was arrested, charged with the murder of two women—his wife and a nursemaid—whose bodies had been found in a ravine known as "Devil's Beef Tub." On March 2, he was brought to trial. On March 13, he was convicted and sentenced to be hanged on April 1.

The jury was out an hour and two minutes. The crown closed its case five months to the day after the doctor's arrest. Execution was delayed by appeal to the court of criminal appeal.

On April 27, the court of criminal appeal dismissed the appeal.

On April 29, the court of criminal appeal fixed May 12 as the date of execution.

On May 11, the home secretary refused to grant a reprieve.

On May 12, Dr. Ruxton was hanged in Strangeways prison.

Justice swift and sure. That is why England has few murders. With the same court procedure, it is a logical inference that our numerous and multiplying murders would quickly be reduced.—St. Louis Dispatch.

COTTON BLUNDER

President Roosevelt's action in raising the tariff on Japanese cotton cloth to an average of 42 per cent does not sit well with southern cotton producers and middlemen. In recent years Japan has been an increasingly important customer for American cotton. The new tariff action will give her an excuse to retaliate by buying less raw cotton from America and more from other countries.

The tariff boost on cotton goods is inconsistent with Democratic party principles and with the policy of lowering tariff rates by reciprocal trade agreements. It smacks of the Hoover tariff policies, which probably deepened and prolonged the depression. Moreover, the action did not go far enough to satisfy New England textile manufacturers, most of whom would not support Roosevelt under any circumstances.

Of course, Japan cannot afford to drop immediately and completely her importation of cotton from the United States. Yet such actions as the current tariff hike against her will spur Japan to scrutinize more closely other sources for her supply of raw cotton. For us to push her deliberately into the lap of cotton producers in China, India, Egypt and Brazil is nothing less than an economic blunder.—Dallas News.

PENSIONS PARAMOUNT

In the national state arena, the matter of pensions seems to refuse side-tracking. The state-federal pensions under the terms of the security act will begin coming through to the aged and needy in a month from now.

Our school teachers are campaigning for retirement pay, so that at the end of twenty years' service, each teacher may be assured of some income in case of retirement. The teachers stress the point that the word "pension" is a misnomer.

Pensions are a means to an end. Unless pensioning retires elderly people from gainful occupations and thus makes room for the unemployed in the prime of life, nothing is gained, not even for the individuals "pensioned," for unless the unemployment problem is solved fairly soon, there will be no pensions, no business, no living for any of us.

It is easy to see why the matter of state, federal and county other pensions simply will not be downed.—Waco Record.

CARD OF THANKS

Expressing our heart-felt appreciation to friends for every kind word of condolence, every act of kindness and for the many beautiful floral offerings, the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Mrs. L. F. Welch can only say, "May God recompense every donor." She died as she lived, trusting God and we who mourn her are, of course, comforted in knowing that these deeds of kindness are like her, divine.

For standardization a school must make 800 points out of a possible 1,000.—Banner.

If plans materialize during the next few weeks a new bridge will be erected within the near future over the Colorado river, ten miles north of the city on highway 81. While no funds are available at the present time for the work, according to Chairman Harry Hines, it is probable that an emergency fund for the purpose will be voted and work will go forward at once.

A lot of farmers around San Saba kept the plows running all or most of the day Sunday. They didn't come to town Saturday, either. This was because the fields were too wet to plow last week. In other parts of the county the fields are so dry that planting is useless, as the seed would not sprout.—News.

Governor Marland has declared himself in favor of repeal of prohibition in Oklahoma, as he announced the state will vote on the question, together with a proposal for state monopoly liquor control system at the second primary, July 28.

Attorney General William McCraw has ruled that negroes are barred from voting in the Texas Democratic primary elections. He further stated that a resolution adopted by the state Democratic convention in Houston in 1932 declaring negroes ineligible for participation in the primaries still was in effect.

An agreement to appropriate $526,000,000 for the navy for the fiscal year beginning July 1 was reached Saturday at a meeting of the senate and house conference committees. The appropriation, the largest in peace-time history, would provide for construction of 12 destroyers, 6 submarines and the continuance of work on 84 warships of varying types.

The only modern shore railway rifles in the United States, two 14-inch monsters, each twice as heavy as a locomotive, will be taken from the harbor defense at Los Angeles next month to a site near San Diego for army artillery exercises of a rare nature. Neither has been fired in eight years. They use about 500 pounds of gunpowder to throw a projectile 23 miles, far below the horizon-curve of the earth, with enough force to pierce steel armor-plate.

Announcement of a $5,000 scholarship to be awarded to ministerial students at Southern Methodist university by Bishop and Mrs. H. A. Boaz was made Saturday. The first award probably will be made in the fall of 1938, according to Bishop Boaz. He already has a fund of $3,300 toward the goal. The scholarship will be known as the H. A. and Carrie A. Boaz scholarship and will be awarded by the donors during their lifetime, after which it will be awarded by the president of the university.

A fast moving depositor who in two days opened 25 accounts aggregating more than $30,000 mystified Los Angeles bankers.

An account was started by the man in virtually every downtown bank in the city and the man then left the hotel where he had been staying and nothing more was heard from him. The American Bankers' association called on the Burns detective agency to investigate the possibility the man may have met foul play. The aid of the department of justice was also enlisted. Bank tellers said the man usually appeared with two suit cases from which he would produce a $1,000 and two $100 bills. He was described as evasive on questions as to his home address or the names of relatives, but calm in manner.

Peaceful science, rather than destructive war, is the end in view for a tank now being constructed by a Swiss engineer at Horgen, Switzerland. It is intended to carry a party of German, Swiss and South American explorers into the "green hell" of the Amazonian jungle. The turret on top of the tank will carry, not a machine gun, but a sound-recording motion picture camera. Caterpillar treads are expected to make going possible through thick jungle and marshy ground. The tank is an amphibian, with pontoons for river navigation. With the steel shell, the exploring party expects to be safe alike against the arrows and bullets of implacably hostile savages, the bites of poisonous snakes and disease-carrying insects, and the possible onslaughts of wild animals.
