

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JANUARY 22, 1937

NUMBER TWENTY-TWO

Nazarene Remarks

Friends and acquaintances will regret very much to learn that another hero of the cross, in the person of Rev. J. B. McBride has gone on to his eternal reward. Brother McBride preached his last time in a Watchnight service in the First Church of the Nazarene, Pasadena, California. The next day he as stricken with illness that lasted four days leading up to his death. General Superintendent Goodin conducted the funeral services January 8. Bro. McBride held a meeting in the local church here a few years ago. He is a relative of Mr. D. D. McBride of Goldthwaite. Our sincere sympathy is extended to all bereaved.

Rev. Bud Robinson and Dr. Bracken are to be with us next Monday night, January 25. The public is invited to hear these speakers. Uncle Buddie was converted Wednesday night at 11 o'clock, August 11, 1880. He says of his conversion, "I went to the camp a walking tramp, and left an heir of God. I went to the altar that night with a pistol in one pocket, and a pack of cards in another of my old greasy overalls." He preached his first sermon about a year later, using a New Testament that cost five cents. He says of his attire that his breeches cost 37 cents, coat 38 cents, shirt 15 cents, shoes $1.00. His determination is exemplified in a unique prayer, "O Lord, give me a backbone as big as a saw-log, and ribs like the sleepers under the church floor; and give me iron shoes and galvanized breeches; and give me a rhinoceros hide for a skin, and hang a wagon-load of determination up in the gable end of my soul; help me sign up the contract to fight the devil as long as I have a fist, and bite him as long as I have a tooth, then gum him until I die. All this I ask for Christ's sake, Amen."

Beginning next Sunday the revival services will continue two weeks. Brother French, of San Antonio who will conduct the meeting, is a fine preacher and a great young people's worker. CHARLIE HARRISON, Pastor.

GARDEN CLUB MEETS

The Garden club met Friday January 15 at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Fairman. The subject for discussion was "Winter Treatment of Roses," which was presented to a large and enthusiastic group of the members.

The following subjects were most ably and graphically discussed:

"Proper Methods of Watering and Cultivating Roses," Mrs. A. Dickerson.
"Pruning for Spring Roses," Mrs. Luther Rudd.
"Enemies of the Iris," Mrs. M. Y. Stokes, Jr.
Miss Catherine Fairman gave an instrumental solo.
Mrs. J. C. Evans capably led the study for this meeting.
Mmes. Lamar McLean, W. B. Summy, A. M. Hunt, serving as hostesses graciously passed plates containing hot chocolate and various confections to the members.

The Garden club is happy to announce that the contest for yard beautification and improvement sponsored by this organization last year will again be featured during 1937. Now is the time to think about your spring planting. This contest applies both to rural and urban homes.

SELF CULTURE CLUB

The Self Culture club met in the home of Mrs. J. A. Hester on January 14. Mrs. J. A. Hester and Mrs. Walters Hester were hostesses.

Mesdames J. J. Stevens and John K. Berry were elected to membership. The program for the afternoon which was on Kipling, was interesting.

Several guests were present for the program and the social hour.

Delicious refreshments were served and everyone enjoyed the afternoon with the HESTERS. REPORTER.

PAVING CONTRACT LET FOR HIGHWAY SEVEN

Ernest Loyd, Fort Worth contractor, was awarded the contract Friday for paving highway 7 from Goldthwaite to the Brown county line. His bid was $156,522. Three other bids were within a few hundred dollars of this figure which was considerably lower than the highway commission's preliminary estimates.

The work will consist of caliche base and double asphalt surface treatment. It will bring employment to many local people and will release thousands of dollars in pay rolls here. Work will start by February 10.

Baptist Reminder

I feel that we had a very unusual day Sunday. We had a full auditorium Sunday morning, it tooled additional chairs. We had 151 in Sunday school. Sunday night the crowd was unusually large with 62 in B. T. U. We have a plan for every age in our B. T. U. With such services as we had Sunday we should be encouraged to do even better next Sunday. I am teaching the young single men now from 15 to 20. We want 16 Sunday morning. If you are one of this group help us make it.

On February 5 at 7:30 p. m. we are to have a Father and Son banquet. We are planning on having around 150 present. We are looking forward to this as one of our great services of the year. Dr. Thomas J. Davis, president of John Tarleton college will be our guest speaker. Dr. Davis is a great Baptist layman and deacon. We will hear him gladly. I hope you begin to make plans to be with us.

Services as usual Sunday. We expect you to be with us. FRANKLIN E. SWANNER.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Since the law was amended last October many applicants who have been receiving assistance who qualified under the old law do not qualify under the law as amended last October.

To continue paying this class of applicants, while others who are needy and have never received any assistance, do not receive any pending an investigation of their case, is very unfair.

All applicants who have been cut off and who feel that they have been cut off unjustly, can save time and trouble by writing a letter to the local investigator requesting a review of their case.

This is the explanation given by the state investigator who is temporarily located here for the number who have been cut off.

BLUE BONNET CLUB

On January 19 the Blue Bonnet club met with Mrs. H. H. Kemp, with six members and three visitors present. The evening was spent in setting a double wedding ring and a turkey foot quilt together. After the business hour Mrs. Kemp served a delicious lunch. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Daisy Covington on February 2. REPORTER.

GOLDTHWAITE LIONS WILL SPONSOR TRIP

Meeting in the basement of the Methodist church Tuesday evening, the Goldthwaite Lions club held one of the best meetings of the current year.

The program consisted of music by Miss Louise Gartman, Aubrey Smith and Mark Fairman, Jr. Mrs. Marsh Johnson honored the club with a song.

The guest speaker was Thomas W. Smith, engineer in charge of highway construction in Mills county. Mr. Smith's talk on road construction was very interesting as well as educational. He stated that work on highway No. 7 west to the Brown county line would begin in the near future and that the east end of No. 7 to the Hamilton county line, which is going to be one of the best roads in this section of the country, would very likely begin about March 1.

Lion O. H. Yarborough advanced the suggestion that Goldthwaite Lions club members and the business men of Goldthwaite meet with the citizenship of Priddy at a community dinner and entertainment to be held in Priddy in the near future. After extended discussion, the club unanimously passed this motion.

Some 66 Goldthwaite people have already signified their intention to attend the banquet at Priddy. Anyone else who would like to go, whether a member of the Lions club or not, is asked to notify Roy Simpson or V. C. Bradford.

WEATHER MAN MAKES GOOD PROMISE OF BAD WEATHER

As the Eagle went to press last night, a repeat performance of the icy weather of two weeks ago had begun. A light mist that froze as it fell was laying an icy curtain over windshields. The freezing weather was a sharp contrast to the mild weather of Wednesday and Wednesday night when the mercury stood around 60.

Church Of Christ

About seven hundred years before Christ's advent into the world the prophet Isaiah said, "And it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow into it." Without question this prophet made reference to the establishment of the church of the Lord. Isaiah refers to the same thing when he said, "The law shall go forth from Zion, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem." Other prophets also made reference to the establishment of the church, and the things that were to transpire in connection with its establishment.

In Caesarea Philippi, Jesus said to the apostle Peter, "Upon this rock I will build my church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." In the following verse he calls the thing mentioned as "the church" the kingdom. Then the church and the kingdom are the same thing.

But Jesus said, "There are some standing here who shall not taste of death, until you shall see the kingdom of God come with power." Then within the lifetime of his followers the kingdom of the church was to come into existence. But the Lord said that the disciples should, "Receive power after the Holy Spirit come upon you." Then, the kingdom or the church was to come when the power or Holy Spirit came. On the first Pentecost after the resurrection of the Lord the Holy Spirit came, so does this mark the beginning of the church of the Lord here on earth. Hereafter the church is spoken of as an existing institution, but before it was spoken of as something in the future.

Any church springing into existence before this time or since this time should examine its abstract. Surely the Lord has had nothing to do with the establishment or furtherance of any other. Matt. 15:13. E. W. STOVALL, Minister.

The Methodist Church

Our church school made a splendid record in attendance last Sunday, but we can easily go beyond that record. I trust the words of Bishop A. Franks Smith in his strong and appealing message at New Orleans recently may be a real inspiration to each of us in our work. "Conviction and enthusiasm will rule the world." Now let us apply this to our church program for the next six months and see what it is possible to accomplish. When a man tells what an important place the church occupies in the community, and that he would not live where there is no church, if he is honest and fair to his convictions, he will re-enforce such convictions with faithfulness and enthusiasm. We should think of these words of Charles Kingsley, "The health of a church depends not merely on the creed which it professes, not even on the wisdom and holiness of a few great ecclesiastics, but on the faith, virtue and loyalty of its individual members." We are weaving each day into the record we must face at the end.

Read the special announcement for next Saturday evening at 7:00 o'clock. Do not fail to hear Dr. Jackson at this time and Sunday morning, also the male quartet from the University of San Antonio. These occasions are not only for the members, but friends of the church. Epworth Leagues will meet at 2:00 p. m.

Preaching service 7:00 p. m. "The Winning Spirit."

Midweek prayer service and choir rehearsal Wednesday evening 7:15 o'clock.

You are always welcome to all the services of the church. For the best interest of each one, the church, community and Kingdom, we should be in our place regularly and promptly. JOHN K. BEERY, Minister.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION PROMISES NEW CUTOFF

A new paved street joining Fisher street in Goldthwaite with highway 7 just east of town was promised a delegation of Goldthwaite citizens representing the city and the Lions club at a hearing in Austin Monday.

The route approved goes east on Fourth street from the court house past the Gulf, Texas Company and Humble filling stations and will reach the top of the "mountain" by an easy grade, making a great improvement over the present route.

The delegation, Mayor H. G. Bodkin, Superintendent A. H. Smith and Walter Glenn Saylor, found the commission very courteous in its consideration of the proposition. They were assured that the project would be referred to the engineering department immediately and that construction would begin as soon as the necessary details could be worked out.

QUIRKS IN THE NEWS

Greenfield, Ind.—During four days, in which he drove 500 miles, Dr. L. B. Rariden was bothered with a peculiar squeak in his automobile.

He took the car to a garage, where Kelly Coffin, mechanic, extracted a live cat from the chassis.

That fixed the squeak.

Philadelphia.—For two full days, the brethren along Fraternity Row at the University of Pennsylvania stared, dumbfounded, at the university-approved "rushing list" of students eligible to live in fraternity houses.

With the hundreds of men's names were those of Margaret Mary Lenahan and Allison Lago, co-eds. Finally someone told W. Chatin Wetherill, director of student welfare. He busied himself with an eraser and spoke of "clerical error."

Ringgold, Texas.—On a flight from San Diego to Montgomery, Ala., Lieut. Marion Huggins became lost in fog between Houston and Dallas.

After cruising five hours, his fuel gone, Lieutenant Huggins found a small hole through the clouds. He made it and landed on a pasture 100 miles from Dallas.

The pasture belonged to J. L. Huggins, who proved to be a distant relative.

Columbus, Ohio.—An automobile salesman wrote to the state industrial commission that he was injured "north of the city while demonstrating a new car." He asked compensation and his employer certified the claim.

However, Robert Nott, state supervisor of information, recommended the claim be rejected and the commission agreed with him.

"The accident occurred north of a city," Nott reported, after an investigation, "but it was north of Toronto, Ontario, while the salesman and his boss were on a fishing trip."

Kansas City.—Police Scouts, Ralph Parr and A. E. Campbell overtook a frightened heifer roaming through downtown traffic.

Officer Parr bulldozged the animal, neatly threw it, tied it to a telephone pole. But the heifer resented capture. It floundered violently at the end of its tether.

While officers pondered how to subdue it, the animal fell to the ground—dead.

SOME PUSH

When there's nothing laying around in the world requiring interest, one can find something in the Eagle about which to write. The Eagle has been giving account of the late move creating a public library at the court house. I do not know who sponsored the move, but it's object is so praiseworthy that it should provoke the highest commendation. Books, more books and more good books, should be the slogan of every home and every soul.

The custom of rush and hurry, both in business and to acquire cheap entertainment has robbed the present generation of much reading, reading that would have built strong and happy character. Were I a teacher, I would do my best to look after the reading of parents as well as my pupils; were I a pastor I would do my best to look after the reading of the people.

Of course there is no end to the making of books. I am not suggesting that just any book, however, light and undeserving, is suitable for the public library. The public needs good books more than it needs silver or gold. A good book is like a good friend, in that it is hard to part with. You say, yes indeed, but as you have read the book and possibly done with it, donate it to the library and give it a fine chance to work its way into the thoughts and lives of others. Or better still, purchase one of it's kind for the library.

The time is overdue to emphasize reading those books and periodicals which teach and impress fine ideals and refined conduct. "Tell me with whom you company, and I'll tell you who you are," is quite a safe proposition, but "you read and I'll tell you what you are." The present-day disposition for sensational reading, sensational pictures and sensational dramas, is stamping its effects on society in serious degrees. Following up feeble, silly reading expresses its self in daily life of the reader. It never can be otherwise. One is reminded of Irvin Bachelier's reference to Prof. Berk's reply to his anxious pupil Barton: "Yes" said the professor, "a part of each apple you eat goes down into your blood and bones and you can't get it out." It is the same way with things you enjoy and the books you read. A most serious and impressive lesson as to accumulating our thoughts and expressing them is Mark Rutherford's in the case of Mrs. Cardew. Mrs. Cardew took her friend

Catherine by the hand saying "Do you think I could learn how to talk?" The question seemed innocent enough. But there was a crisis in her life, a most serious one. The one dearest to her in all the world was growing cool and more distant. This dear one had been drilled in mind and language and would talk smartly and interestingly on so many subjects. Mrs. Cardew had fiddled away so much time in cheap and frivolous things that now she couldn't match, even by a thousand efforts in conversation, the one she held most dear to her heart. With her soul vibrating in anxiety she want's to know how to talk. The demand of the present brings echo into our homes and society.

SAM SAY.

THIS MACHINE AGE

A few poets and recluses excepted, we are all so conditioned by the mechanics of a machine age that we do not quite realize how completely we are subordinated to the "regimentation" of technological processes. It takes an unorthodox use of the machine to demonstrate vividly the potency of mechanical equipment. At Chicago, a news report indicates, a ring of crooked lawyers and physicians have developed a remarkable machine which inflicts bruises painlessly, or almost painlessly. This device has important uses.

The highways are crowded with innocent folk in cars who carry $10,000 of liability insurance. Street cars are owned by great corporation which, juries are wont to believe, are simply rolling in wealth solem from common people. Railroads are rushing their great trains across grade crossings at break-neck speed—with the sole object, of course, of bowling over careless or even reasonably diligent citizens. That is where the bruising machine come in. If one is to collect damages he must be hit by somebody who carries insurance or is well fortified with this world's goods. But he must live, if he is to enjoy his damages. He must appear to be hurt seriously. But for his own convenience, he should be hurt only temporarily and superficially. The bruising machine meets this technological need with a technologist's insight. It roughts up and mania really the best efficient realism but without the victim's capacity spend the damages are awarded. So again triumphs. It is science to give ter busily in a few months, machine to dist true bruises, p always roman Enquirer.

POSTAL CLERK'S MEMORY WORTH $25.00 REWARD

Recognition of a signature he had not seen for 12 months brought a postal employe a $25 "nest egg" with which to begin 1937, according to Postmaster O. T. Kellam of Robstown.

Five Mexicans, bearing the equivalent of the English name "Smith," call for mail there. They have identical "given" names. A package arrived from West Texas for one of these "quints."

Mexican "Smith" Nos. 1, 2 and 3 did not call for the package. The fourth claimed it, said to contain clothing, and signed for the parcel, which was insured for $25.

A month later, the fifth Mexican "Smith" set up a howl for his duds. Then the consignor claimed the insured value of the shipment.

When the government felt satisfied that the wrong "quint" had the goods, it rewarded the shipper for the error.

"Any mistake by a postal employe," explained the postmaster, "is his own expense. So this individual worker forked up the $25."

Now, a year later, Mexican "Smith" No. 4 called here for his mail again. This clerk, who formerly had waited on him, happened to be at the delivery window. Feigning deafness, the postal employe asked the "hombre" to write his name. The signature was identical with that of the parcel recipient a year ago.

Eventually, the erring "quint," Mexican "Smith" No. 5, consignor of the bundle, and the government adjusted their differences. When the $25 in question was returned to the governments cofers, Uncle Sam reimbursed his employe.

EXAMINATIONS

ne this goes to press

 ida will be over. Fri-on of this week the

 ssible at this time 'o percentage of fail-ult of the examina-whatever that per-here is a cause for
 e. The faculty earnthe aid of the paring these causes. It is very difficult to remedy a cause until that cause is found. Long years of observation has caused us to feel that most of the failures may be attributed to one of the following three causes: 1. Insufficient preparation in the work preceding that attempted by the pupils at the present time. 2. Lack of effort on the part of the pupil. 3. Home conditions that will not permit of regular attendance and satisfactory school work. There may be many other contributing causes to failures, but whatever they are it behooves us all to find the causes, and remove them if possible.

CHATTER COLUMN

Why, sometime last week, was the discussion of an evening dress most vital to Clayton Huckabee and Oleta Horton?
 And speaking of Clayton, the nice thing has been treating senior girls to cold drinks lately.
 We warn you, Clayton, they are gold diggers.

May we suggest to John Bowman that he control his temper and his ego a little more firmly.
 Mr. Bowman shot his car upon the curb at orchestra last Thursday night; during the practice he lost his temper and left in a hurry. We wonder what his father said when he turned up with a tire burst by running over a curb. (Who were the four boys who ascertained that the tire was burst?)

We bet you didn't know that Earnestine Wood, Bill Wood, La-vannah Wood, Nora Wood, Annabel Wood, Johnnie Wood, and Tommie Wood all come to school every day on the same bus. Just a basket of chips.

Here's something we were behind on: Dale McCasland has been courting Louise Jernigan.
 Ah Dale, the senior girls disapprove.

Katherine Hodges experienced her most embarrassing moment as Troy Berry accidentally looked into the Goldthwaite Eagles' dressing room Monday night.

 Such blushes!
 Frame up!! Some of those fights "stunt night," looked awfully funny. And Sumter Gerald isn't a woman-hater anymore, because his girl friend was in the audience when he licked Walter Carroll.

Doesn't Floyd McKenzie make a lovely girl. We saw several boys trying to flirt with him, - - her -
 - it! And what a figure that Clark Davis has! - - Ummmm!

Why didn't the seniors win?
 We understand that they are taking right, but there seems to be a sore spot 'way down—as if they could have won and for some reason didn't.

Weren't those juniors a scream? Let all rejoice in that the best act won.

INITIATION OF GREEN HANDS

The V. A. boys will be initiated to the degree of Green hand on Wednesday, January 27, at the Junior high school auditorium.

SENIOR NOTES

Although we were not very successful with our stunt last Tuesday night, we still contend that the seniors were practically perfect. Even the young people of the eighteenth century could not have danced the square any better than the seniors who took part in the stunt. We discovered one thing of importance from the square dance and that was, that centuries gone by were deprived of the best caller in history, when they missed Joe Davis. We are beginning to wonder if Warren Thompson is a high school senior or a baby. (He is a good combination of both.)

As for the girls, we were very proud of them and we know they are the cutest girls who ever adorned an eighteenth century dress.

Of course we feel that we should have won, but as we did not, we will admit that the juniors style show was very entertaining and we hope they will use the five dollars to as good advantage as we would have.

NEWS ODDITIES

Lafayette, Ind.—Among the answers of Purdue University students to an education department questionnaire were:

"Haile Selassie was the grand champion angus steer at the Chicago livestock show."

"Wallis Simpson was the husband of the woman former King Edward loves."

"Shirley Temple is a child movie star."

"That last one? Ninety per cent scored it correctly, but not a single student identified Maxim Gorky."

Miami, Fla.—When Mrs. A. H.
 Nichols returned home, she found her household furnishings being loaded into a truck by a dealer who said he had agreed to pay the "owner" $50 for them.
 The "owner appeared. He aswered Mrs. Nichol's protest with:

 "I'll call my wife and prove I own this furniture."
 "Go call her!" cried Mrs.
 Nichols.

So the stranger went away—
 and he never came back.

Bowling Green, Ky.—Couples who want to be married here can have the service free of charge.

The newly-appointed justice of the peace, Kenneth D. Harris, 70, announced: "Since I don't have anything else to do, I might just as well give them a free start in life."

Tulsa, Okla.—It may not be stylish, but Margaret Bell Fer-rington, 17, knows it is convenient at times to wear boots that are slightly too large.

At a zoo here she stuck the toe of her riding boot into a spotted leopard's cage. The animal took a savage bite.

Happily, the boot was "just too big to let my foot out easily and quickly," said Miss Ferrington.
 Keepers found tattered remnants of the boot in the cage.

Lamar, Mo.—Jesse Mann, government weather observer, found it unnecessary to leave his house to see how great was the rainfall in a recent storm.

A huge tree limb crashed through the roof of his newly decorated parlor, bringing buck-etfuls with it.

Jefferson City, Mo.—Adminis-

 chauffeur for the governor—two Republicans, two Democrats. Retiring Governor Guy B. Park is recommending him to the new executive, Lloyd Stark, said Carter never had been in an accident and never was a minute late.

Chicago.—Visitors to Federal Judge William H. Holly's court room were startled to see dainty, gay colored women's under-things draped over tables, chairs and even the bench.

Attorneys handled the unmen-tionables diffidently but judicial austerity prevailed. They were exhibits in a suit over a patented underslip.

St. Paul, Minn.—Howard Key-so had two different reasons for believing crime does not pay.

First, he was sentenced to the state prison for child abandonment. Second, he was robbed of his year's prison's earnings—$54

Condition your horses for Spring Work

ROUGHING through the winter means a soft, unready team for spring. When plow time comes, you cannot afford to harness up a rough-in-the-hair, run-down, worm-infested team. Condition your workers right now with a course of Dr. Hess Stock Tonic. It will give their systems a spring house-cleaning—loosen up the bowels, tone up the liver and kidneys, help them shed their winter's coat.

Give your workers Dr. Hess Stock Tonic and you will soon discover that you have a team before you that can do an honest day's work. They will be there for business—and willing. Dr. Hess & Clark, Inc., Ashland, Ohio.

The singing at Caradan Sunday was enjoyed by a good crowd despite the threatening weather. The next convention will meet with the Mullin class the first Sunday in March.

The Death Angel called Mrs. Will Hill last Friday at 12:30, she was laid to rest at Bethel Saturday evening. How sad it made us all. We all extend our deepest sympathy to Mr. Hill and her children; it is so hard for us to give up a dear mother in this world. How I know she will be missed. It is not as with those that have no hope. You all know she is at rest with Jesus beckoning you to come.

Next Saturday and Sunday are meeting days at the church. Let everyone come. We want everyone that will take part in the Sunday school service. Let us all be on time so as to get through for the meeting hour. We hope to get our B.Y.P.U. program made out nad have our program Sunday night.

ROCK SPRINGS

There was Sunday school Sunday morning at the usual time.

Well I am glad to be back on my job again. If I wait ten more years for another vacation like this one was, I will be getting too feeble (not old) to write very intelligent letters. I really enjoyed my visit with my relatives in Hopkins county and also with my friends in Fort Worth. I hope I didn't wear my welcome out in Fort Worth, as I was snow bound. I enjoyed being with Mrs. Brown and Rueben, also Tom Lewis and family. Mrs. Hicks spent the day on Sunday, so it kept me very busy answering questions. Dock Kelly and wife spent a few minutes with us that evening late. I made it home on slippery roads all right.

My assistant writer may not feel very highly complimented when she reads this, but some said her letters read just like Busy Bee's. Now I felt complimented for I didn't finish high school and she did. But you don't need a very good education just to tell where so and so visited. The assistant said in last week's paper I could tell the low down on this community from now on. Well we never have any low down news. But during the holidays we all try to feel good, and from what I heard I think some tried to carry out the Christmas spirits. Some of the games at the parties got "kindy" rough for some, but most everybody said they sure enjoyed themselves.

The writer from Evans is sure enjoyed by myself, she or he which ever it may be, sure reaches out far for the news. Keep the news coming.

Our ears have been ringing lately, believe it or not, it may be wedding bells we are hearing. We will just wait and see. Everybody who could, got married last year, leap year, but some didn't, so we will listen for more bells.

We extend our sympathy to all the bereaved who lost loved ones last week. Especially Will Hill and children.

Those who visited with C. Ballard and family Sunday and Sunday night were Will Fox and wife, who live east of the city and Hugh Smith and family and brother from Big Valley and Landy Ellis and wife, Mrs. W. A. Daniel and Mrs. Eula Nickols and boys. We are very glad to have our good neighbors back with us.

W. A. Daniel and wife took their daughter and Grete Taylor to Hugh Dennard's Friday night to a tacky party. Can you imagine Bill Daniel dressing tacky and having a good time at a party. I actually heard all of this really took place. We all

"The Blacksmith's Gift," starring Monte Blue, to be shown here by R. L. Steen & Son as part of John Deere Centennial Celebration.

NORTH BENNETT

We all sympathize with Mr. E. M. Geeslin and family in the loss of his wife and their mother, Mrs. Geeslin was the daughter of Judge and Mrs. J. B. Head. She was one of a family of twelve children. There had been only one death in the family before she passed away, and the youngest is now past fifty years of age. I think this is remarkable. There are so few families that have this record.

Friday the word came to us that Mrs. Will Hill had passed away. Another one of our good neighbors and friends, leaving her husband and a number of children and grandchildren to mourn her. This leaves a place vacant in the home that never can be filled. We extend our deepest sympathy to the family.

Walter Robertson from Center City visited with his parents last week.

WEATHER WEATHER?
 A resolution calling attention to the weather has recently been moved in the British House of Commons. Does this indicate that a subject long debated by the people may shortly be fully vented in the house? Will it be decided then, once for all, whether this portion of the English heritage is the finest ever, or, literally, a blot on the landscape?
 The debate would be interesting. Tories, not of the blue-sky school, would undoubtedly vaunt the English climate, and vow that custom had not staled its infinite variety; while the Leftists could hardly fail to point out that 799 years had passed since we were told that summer was "icumen in," and that, even allowing for the inevitability of gradualness, it must be regarded as overdue.
 What a dilemma for the government! For a vote of thanks would alienate the members for Manchester, and leave the government hard put to it to find its weather-eyes; while a motion of censure would have unfortunate repercussions on the tourist traffic.
 In the meantime, the average Englishman, far from emulating Dr. Johnson, who disliked the topic, will continue to regard the clerk of the weather as a master of ceremonies unrivaled in effecting tactful introductions.—Christian Science Monitor.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given to the editor personally at this office.

SMALL BUSINESS IS BIG

A recent survey of the national income shows that small, unincorporated businesses, just such as we have in Goldthwaite, account for 40 per cent of the national income while small corporations in which the stockholders actually operate the business account for 20 per cent more leaving only 40 per cent, or less than half, to be produced by the "big" corporations.

Small business ranks first then as an income producer and also as an employer of labor, as a purchaser of raw materials, and particularly as a community builder.

While the big corporations make more noise, through their paid propaganda and lobbying experts, the little fellows are doing more work and going right ahead paying their taxes. It is encouraging that the present administration recognizes the importance of little business in the general outline of American industry and has taken steps, as in the Patman bills, to protect it from the stranglehold of its big brother.

But congress is not the only agency that can help. If every man and woman connected with a little business himself would trade with other little businesses, the good results, not only to each business, but to the communities and the nation as well would be amazing.

THE CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

The Eagle has no desire to be classed as reactionary or out of step with progress, but it does not believe that the child labor amendment to the constitution of the United States is the proper solution for the ills it seeks to remedy.

The Texas legislature has several times turned down this amendment, but as it comes up again at the present session, tremendous pressure is being brought to bear upon our legislators to induce them to ratify it.

This is a question which is closely entwined with sentiment and makes it easy for the proponents of the child labor ban to accuse all who oppose it as cold hearted misers who seek to enslave the boys and girls of our nation for the sake of a few paltry dollars. Cruel pictures are painted of children toiling at inhuman occupations.

It so happens however that none of the abuses it mentions occur in Texas. For that reason it is extremely doubtful if the passage of the amendment would curb the abuses which are said to occur in other states any more than the passage of the prohibition amendment stopped the sale of liquor in those cities and states where the vast majority approved its sale.

If Texas should, out of big heartedness, ratify this amendment and thus aid it to become law, every family would find itself under a severe handicap.

The plain facts are that work is a blessing, not a curse, and to make it illegal for a strapping 18-year old boy to assist his parents in providing the necessities of life is downright silly. We believe our legislators will think before they vote.

THE TENANT PROBLEM

Senator Tom Connally has sent the Eagle a summary of the bill he introduced in the senate at Washington last week creating the Farm Tenant Home Purchase Corporation. It outlines a plan by which tenants may purchase a farm on long time at an interest rate of only two per cent if they can demonstrate their experience as farmers and their reputation for thrift and character.

This appears to be a step in the right direction. It is obvious that homeowning citizens are of more value to the community than the drifters who come and go leaving unpaid debts, untended fences, and bad feelings behind them. Senator Connally's plan would be to encourage those who deserve encouragement while the trifiers would not be given a stranglehold on the nation's pocketbook. One of the requirements of this plan is that the purchasers must adopt approved methods of soil conservation and land utilization.

Still within the memory of most of us are the cheap government lands that could be secured by merely homesteading on them. Ambitious men and women could at any time strike out for themselves and secure a foothold in fertile soils. Such opportunities no longer exist. But Senator Connally would again have the government open the door of opportunity by securing land from private owners on terms that any industrious farmer can meet.

If this plan is enacted, it will once more give the farm youth of the nation a chance to become better and more useful as well as more prosperous citizens.

AN ELOQUENT COMPLIMENT

The recent command of Gregory Ordzhonikidze, Soviet Commissar for Heavy Industry, that all Russian factories be reorganized along American lines to eradicate inefficiency and reduce waste, is perhaps the most eloquent compliment that could be paid to the industrial system in this country, says the National Industrial Council.

By the same token, it must have been a bitter pill for the Red Government at Moscow to publicly acknowledge that there was anything superior in the hated Capital system—a system which the Communist Party is dedicated to destroy.

No more opposite political philosophies exist than Communism and Democracy. The guiding principle of the former is rigid state control over the individual under a political dictatorship. Democracy, on the other hand, insures to a free people the free play of individual initiative and rewards commensurate with ability.

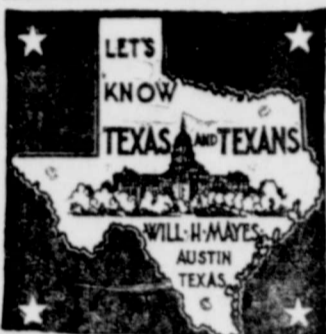

Under our system, American industry has created the world's highest living standards, the shortest working hours and highest wage scale, and has brought benefits to consumer and worker, in a degree unequalled anywhere else under any other system.

That the Communists now make this public acknowledgement will come as no surprise to Americans. This imitation of our industrial system by the severest critic of our political system follows the recent adoption of a written constitution by the Soviet permitting the ownership of private property and furnishes fresh proof that political dictatorship and state regimentation of industry are not compatible with the interests of the working man.

INFLUENZA IN TEXAS IS NOT ALARMING EPIDEMIC

Reports to the state department of health indicate a seasonal increase in influenza, but there are no indications of an epidemic in any such degree as that which swept the nation with such disastrous results during the world war, is the assurance given Texans by Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

The number of cases reported for the first two weeks in January is not in excess of those reported for the same period last year and the situation does not call for alarm, such as is likely to arise in the minds of the people because they recall the terrific destruction wrought by influenza in 1918.

Influenza is an acute, contagious, and highly infectious disease, occurring in epidemic and isolated form and often characterized by suddenness of onset, fever, headache, marked prostration and tendency to severe complications of the lungs. Practically is susceptible to it. No matter how many times you have had the disease you may contract it again.

Attempted preventive measures fall naturally into two groups—first, everyone should try to avoid exposure to the disease by avoiding overcrowded places, and stay away from persons ill with the disease; and, second, every person should form such health habits as will keep the resistance of the body at a maximum, so that when they are exposed the body will be able to resist invasion of the germs.

Sufficient rest, cleanliness of hands, mouth and teeth, fresh air while at work and at sleep, regulation of meals and bodily functions, wholesome food and freedom from anxiety will increase bodily resistance and go a long way to avoid contracting the disease.

The complications of influenza are far more important than the disease itself. Pneumonia all too often follows influenza. Don't neglect your "cold." If you have the slightest suspicion of fever, go home, go to bed immediately and call your physician. Stay in bed until he tells you that you can get up, and follow his advice explicitly.

TEXAS FACTS

National park experts have informed the Texas Planning Board that the proposed Big Bend National Park is the most interesting region in the United States.

Contrary to general opinion Texas pink granite does not intrust when exposed to the elements. Proof of this exists in the state capitol building which was erected more than 50 years ago of Texas pink granite.

Texas red gum is being successfully used as an interior trim for residences and office buildings.

Texas cordova cream limestone and Texas shell limestone have been used for building purposes in almost every state in the nation and even in Canada.

The industrial survey of the state being made by the Texas Planning Board shows that a great majority of the hides produced in Texas are shipped out of the state to be tanned. There is only one tannery in the state.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the state and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas

Q. Who were the first of Austin's 300 colonists to settle on the Brazos river? H.E.B.

A. When Abner, Joseph and Robert Kuykendall, brothers from Arkansas, reached the west bank of the Brazos at the crossing of the old La Bahia road late in November, 1821, they found that Andrew Robinson's family had preceded them a few days and located near the present site of Washington. Abner Kuykendall located about 10 miles west of there on January 1, 1822, on "New Year's Creek" and about the same time Josiah Bell settled about five miles below the La Bahia road, several other families having reached the settlement in December.

Q. Who were the first Austin colonists to locate on the Colorado river? H.E.B.

A. Robert and Joseph Kuykendall, and Daniel Gilleland, left the Brazos about Christmas, 1821, and settled on the Colorado river near the present town of Columbus, the first settlers there. Austin stated that on March 3, 1822, there were 50 men on the Brazos and 100 on the Colorado building cabins and planting corn for the coming of their families in the fall, though he knew of but eight families already arrived.

Q. What became of the Kiowa chief, Santanna, for whom the town of Santa Anna was named? G. S.

A. He was sent to the Texas penitentiary for depredations and the killing of several teamsters near Fort Belknap in 1871 and paroled after a few years. He was soon convicted again and sent to the Huntsville prison, where he suicided in 1878 by jumping from the second story of the barracks.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEWS OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

FOR SIMPLER, LESS COSTLY GOVERNMENT

During this session of congress the people will hear a great deal about reorganizing the federal government, to promote both efficiency and economy. As to the desirability of that process, public opinion is unanimous; but when it comes to method, agreement is not so easy.

Of course, each department and bureau considers itself indispensable. The government's over-expanded, top-heavy machinery must be reduced to normal dimensions, certainly—but let the cutting be done at the other fellow's expense. Such sentiment—not necessarily selfish or insincere—tends to perpetuate every government agency that is set up, for no matter how fleeting a purpose

Taking that condition into account, the citizen will not be over-optimistic as to the outcome of the deliberations which lately began with the president's message on reorganization. He will hope—but not very strongly—for a courageous leadership in the two houses of congress that will do the necessary things. Enough lawmakers of the Byrd type would work the needed reforms—but where are they?

As had been expected, Senator Byrd finds much that is wrong with the president's proposals: He will not sanction the addition of two members to the cabinet; he objects to the proposed salary raises; he would keep the comptroller-general.

On the other hand, the Virginia senator realizes that the president has set up "a framework for reorganization." Upon that framework the Byrd committee aims to build. It will propose consolidation and elimination of bureaus, along with reduction in personnel, which eventually will save taxpayers 300 million dollars a year.

That would be more like it; such a saving would put the government on the way to a balanced budget. As evidence that the thing can be done, Senator Byrd points to the Bookings Institute report—on which the Senate will hold public hearings, beginning January 25. It shows how, by consolidating the lending agencies alone, the government could cut 30 million dollars a year for running expenses. That is but one among numerous functions which could, and should, be linked together, with like savings.—San Antonio Express.

COLLEGE IS THE THING

The phenomenon of American college enrollments has been a constant source of wonder to observers from abroad, it has been repeated, are there to be found so many college students in proportion to population. Over here the situation is accepted as a matter of course. It is the common expectation that the numbers in college should grow from year to year along with the volume of industrial output, national income and the like, the difference being that the enrollments are not expected to drop along with the other things in a period of sharp business recession.

So President Raymond Walters of the University of Cincinnati makes an annual report showing an enrollment increase in nearly 600 institutions amounting to 6.5 per cent for full time students and 7.3 per cent in grand totals. Including full and part-time registrations, there are now 1,140,786 resident college students in the approved institutions of America. Counting that class of college and universities alone, it is seen that the country has one student in higher education for each 114 of its population, while in England, for instance, there is reported to be only one for each 1,000 or more of population, in Scotland, one in 473, and in Wales, one in 741. In many of the other European countries the figures are said to be even more impressive.

In contrast with those for America. President Walters notes that "the attendance increase may be explained as due partly to improved business conditions and

ONE ACRE FOR THE LORD IN 1937

A man came to his church treasurer with $20 toward his pastor's salary. It was from his "Lord's Acre" potatoes and was the first substantial contribution he had ever made to the church. He had found a new stimulation and satisfaction in life, and his church was enriched both by his spirit and by his gift.

The movement in western North Carolina has had seven years of promotion under the sponsorship of the Farmers Federation, the president of which is James G. K. McClure, Jr., of Asheville. This very useful Christian activity is now being carried on by approximately 300 country churches in that part of the state, and is spreading widely. The churches in this territory are now well furnished with practical helps for advancing the work—Lord's Acre literature including a covenant card, hymn, and placard; an attractive blue and silver button for the children with the words: "A Lord's Acre Worker," a Lord's Acre play; stereopticon slides; leaders group explanatory charts, and marketing facilities at Farmers Federation warehouses.

First and most important of all, the Lord's Acre plan of giving produces a working church. That every Christian church should be a working church is the clear lesson on Bible and church history. Yet everyone familiar with the life of the churches knows that in most congregations only a small proportion of the people really work for the church.

I would emphasize this fact—that the Lord's Acre plan is more closely uniting religion and life. Always the church has felt the need of making religion more effective in the daily conduct of its members. Sunday worship has been too much separated from, or at least not enough bound up with, the day-by-day life of the home and the farm.

The use of the Lord's Acre plan is helping to unite the teachings of religion with the practice of religion.

The country church is coming more clearly to understand that the Lord's Acre plan is not a substitute for other proved methods of financing but a substantial supplement to them and a stimulus to them, and that the plan, in every way, strengthens both farm and church life. It builds character; it furthers co-operation; it makes worship more vital. Consequently, the church will increasingly enlist its members in worthy Lord's Acre projects.

John Frederic Oberlin, in his historic work among the country people in the Vosges Mountains, is said to have required all candidates for church membership to plant and nurture a tree, symbolizing the union of religion and daily work in nature. Dr. Kagawa, the outstanding Christian leader of Japan, has been teaching Japanese Christians to plant and harvest for the Lord. Speaking at the annual meeting of the churches in the Lord's Acre movement at Asheville last January, Dr. Kagawa said: "Without that kind of movement it is utterly impossible to bring up a real Christian nation."—The Progressive Farmer.

partly to the persistent faith of America that higher education yields economic and cultural returns for youth and the country as a whole." The explanation is sound; but whether the theory behind it is sound, when applied wholesale, could be argued endlessly. Prolonged debate of it thus far has been entertaining, but little actually has been proved on one side or the other. Broadly it could be held that in a democracy educational privileges should be equal and open to all, and just as broadly it could be held that higher education is a waste of time and money for thousands of young men and women.

That question will not be settled. But America, for a long time to come will hold to its theory of college education, and to an extensive practice of it as well.—Kansas City Star.
