Goldthwaite Eagles Play Lometa Today

How to See District Game

The Goldthwaite High School's football team will play Lometa on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The game is expected to be a close one as the Lometa team has been playing well this season.

House Installs Heating System

The new court house has been equipped with a new heating system. The system is a 550-gallon oil burner. The new system is expected to save a great deal of money on fuel.

Attention to Cotton Growers

Producers who wish to sell their cotton should observe the following regulations: All cotton must be weighed and ginned by September 15, 1937.

College Students

Allen Campbell left last Wednesday to continue his studies in University of Texas. Mrs. Frank Bowman accompanied her daughter, Miss Clara, to Belton where she entered Mary Hardin-Baylor college for her second year.

Luncheon Held at Hodges Home

A luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. Marvin Hodges last Thursday. The guests included members of the Art Club in their first year. The schooler acted as hostess and presented the program. Mrs. C. A. Ecott, Mrs. W. P. McCullough, Mrs. Jno. Schooler, A. J. Schooler, Jacob Saylor, L. S. Schooler and Walter Fairman.

Big River Bridge Is Now Assured

Commissioners' Court lacks only one tract of securing the necessary additional right of way for the big bridge that is to be constructed across the Colorado river on state highway 81 between Goldthwaite and San Saba. Land has been purchased from J. J. Cockrell, George Robertson and Wm. Dennard and negotiations are under way with Barton Lawson. As all of this land was in cultivation, most of it in valuable fruit or pecan orchards, the prices paid averaged higher than on the tracts previously purchased.

The cost of the bridge is estimated at $200,000, a large part of which will go for labor and will be put in circulation in this county. It is hoped that bids can be opened for it in November. It will take two years to build. Plans for the bridge were re-drawn after the record floods of last September so as to insure its safety in case the river should rise that high again.

Nazarene Revival Is Great Success; Church Is Growing

The revival which had been in progress for the past two weeks at the local Church of the Nazarene came to a close Sunday evening with a full house and many turned away for the lack of room to hear the closing message of the evangelist, Mrs. Morris Gill. The large congregation requested that Mrs. Gill come back early in June for a great tent meeting, which she agreed to do. The revival was pronounced by the pastor as being a great success from many aspects. At the close of the Sunday evening service eight were received into the church with others coming soon.

The local church is well pleased with the outlook for the Nazarene work in Goldthwaite for the year as the church is enjoying a healthy growth in every department. The past two months the church attendance has more than doubled and the Sunday school is showing a marked growth.

Our conference meets this next month at Austin, and the pastor will be able to report all conference claims overpaid for the year. The church plans many new improvements for the next year in the way of pews, paint for the parsonage and landscaping for the church grounds.

The pastor wishes to thank those who helped make the revival meeting the great success that it was by your presence and that it was glad to welcome you at our regular services. Rev. Tyson will fill his pulpit at both services over the Sabbath.

The Methodist Church

You may forget to eat your breakfast Sunday, but don't forget that next Sunday is Rally Day at the Methodist church. Our goal is 200 in Sunday school and a record attendance at both preaching services. A special program is being prepared which will be rendered at the regular Sunday school hour. You will not want to miss it.

And for the evening service the message will be presented in the form of a Dramatic Monologue. You will remember this service. We are expecting you and all for a record day at the Methodist church.—Fred J. Brucks.

The Goldthwaite Hi School Herald

On Page 3 of this issue is printed the first number of the High School Herald which is written and edited by students of the Goldthwaite High School.

The Eagle is glad to allow the local schools this space each week for news of the school and the students. It is worth noting that by this arrangement there is no expense either to the schools or to the businessmen of Goldthwaite as there would be if a separate school paper were published, and the circulation attained is considerably greater than such a paper would be able to reach.

The Eagle believes that its readers who are not directly interested in the local schools will find much of interest in the Herald. Watch for it each week during the school year.

Lions Club Held Meet Tuesday

At the regular fortnightly meeting of the Lions Club in the dining room of the Methodist church Tuesday evening the zone meeting of Lions Clubs at San Saba next Tuesday evening was announced. Indications were that a large delegation of Goldthwaite Lions and their ladies would attend.

The invitation of the Star Band to enjoy a supper in that community was accepted, the time to be decided on later, probably Oct. 8.

A suggestion by W. C. Dew that a farmer's market be opened on the east side of the square met with a favorable reception. Mr. Dew pointed out that there is no place now where the producers of the county can conveniently meet and trade and offer produce for sale. No definite decision was made at this time as to how the market could be financed or managed.

MORNING BREAKFAST

Mrs. J. A. Palmer, president, will entertain the Self Culture Club members with a re-assembled breakfast Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

SEALY HOSPITAL NEEDS IRON LUNG WILL YOU CONTRIBUTE?

A few days ago a 12-year-old boy died in the local hospital of infantile paralysis. An iron lung might have saved him. Doctors and nurses did everything in their power to save the child, but without the iron lung equipment, it was only a matter of time. The nearest "iron lung" is in Fort Worth and is not available for use except to citizens of the Fort Worth communities and it is now in continual use. Cases in this community are steadily increasing and unless the iron lung equipment is acquired many of our local children may suffer.

Citizens of Abilene are now donating toward the purchase of a lung in a hospital there. The News is asking the citizens of Santa Anna and friends of the Sealy Hospital to contribute to a similar fund. The hospital serves hundreds of people in this section of Texas and has been one of the foremost in Texas in donating services to charity work. In fact so much charity work has been done here at the Sealy Hospital that the purchase of such equipment as the iron lung by the hospital would be almost impossible.

The "iron lung" can be purchased for $1650. The equipment can be used not only for paralysis victims, but for all types of paralysis of respiration and for artificial respiration. It is fast becoming a necessity for the safety of the community and of your family since infantile paralysis cases have reached epidemic proportions.

Contributions should be sent or brought either to the Santa Anna National Bank and deposited in the "Iron Lung Fund" or brought to the News office, where it will be carried to the bank. The name of each donor and the amount contributed will be published in the paper each week.

Contributors are urged to begin donations now and raise the fund immediately so that more cases can be treated before we have more tragedies here. Several more cases are existing in our community.—(Published by request of a friend of Sealy Hospital.)

Work Proceeds On Highway 7

Good progress is being made on Highway 7 both north and east of Goldthwaite. This week the Loyd Construction company expects to finish paving the stretch of road from the Brown county line to Goldthwaite and to move off the job which has occupied it since Feb. 1. Yesterday the pavement was open from Bozar north.

Where the new pavement ends on the hill between the homes of W. D. Clements and W. P. McCullough, the Hannah Construction company of Waco has commenced carving out the new roadbed for the highway leading to Star. This section of the road is being blasted out, with the big power shovel close behind moving out the earth and rocks.

The concrete structures on this road are being pushed to completion ahead of the dirt gang.

San Saba Publisher Honored By Press

Mrs. Amelia Cowan, energetic publisher of the San Saba Star, has recently received a number of favorable notices in the Texas press for her success in her field of work. For some 20 years she has been actively engaged in printing as well as publishing her paper.

Her son, Joseph B. Cowan, who is well known to Eagle readers for his assistance on this paper following the death of Mr. R. M. Thompson last year, is now on a newspaper in California. Mrs. Howard L. Brookshire, a daughter, is also a journalist.

The present editor and publisher of the Eagle knows from her own experience what difficulties Mrs. Cowan has had to surmount and is happy to add the Eagle's congratulations to Mrs. Cowan to those she has already received.

BLANCO SHERIFF HERE

Sheriff Casparis of Johnson County, Blanco county, was in Goldthwaite Wednesday and took back with him a road worker here who had been charged with wife desertion. Reports that Texas Rangers were in town were current at the time but were incorrect.

Test Gets Under Way A Day Before Deadline

Future Farmers to Send Delegates to National Convention

Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 14, Mr. Henry called a special meeting of the Goldthwaite chapter of Future Farmers to discuss the possibilities of sending a delegate to the national convention, which is to be held in Kansas City, beginning Oct. 17 and continuing through the 22nd.

After a vote it was unanimously decided that the members would pay the transportation for one boy. As this would only amount to about $15 the chapter could easily afford to do so.

At this meeting we also elected a new vice president, the vacancy occurring with the failure of Clayton Huckabee returning to school. This election completed our staff of officers, which is the following: Dale McCasland, president; Wilbur Hill, new vice president; Pat Obenhaus, secretary; J. T. Soules, reporter; farm watch-dog, George Ballard; historian, Floyd McKenzie; parliamentarian, Billie Saylor.

Jurors Are Called For District Court

District court will convene in Goldthwaite, beginning Monday, Sept. 27, with Judge Few Brewster presiding.

Grand jurors summoned are as follows:

- | | |
|----------------|-------------------|
| A. A. Moore | Ludlow Allen |
| W. P. Duren | H. L. Eggar |
| Geo. Tiemann | W. D. Clements |
| G. M. Fletcher | W. V. McGilvray |
| J. F. Davis | M. Burnham |
| H. R. Collier | Jess Tullos |
| F. O. Sykes | R. C. Johnson Jr. |
| Frank Kerby | Fred Conratt |

Unless the grand jury turns in some unexpected indictments, this term of court is likely to be even quieter than the last. In fact the docket is so light that Judge Brewster instructed Sheriff Harris not to summon any petit jurors the first week.

The venire will be published in the Eagle next week if it appears likely that a jury will be required.

Every woman tired of household work will be intrigued by General Electric Company's fascinating new contest, offering $40,000 in prizes for the best 100-word letters on "Why the Electrical Way of Living Appeals to Me." Full details of the contest are given in the Community Public Service advertisement in this issue of the Eagle.

First grand prize in the contest is a $12,000 New American Home, to be built to fit the winner's needs and fully equipped with the electrical conveniences that make life more pleasant and comfortable. Second grand prize is an $8,000 New American Home, also to be fully equipped electrically and built to suit the winner's requirements. In addition, there will be ten weekly prizes worth $200 each, to be given away each week for ten weeks.

Entry blanks for the contest may be obtained locally from the office of Community Public Service Company, which is cooperating with General Electric Co. in staging the contest. Anyone except employees of General Electric Company, their advertising agents and the local electrical company, is eligible to compete.

Wednesday afternoon at 5 p.m. the Pecan Bayou oil test well was spudded in on the Westbrook ranch. Dr. J. M. Campbell and Coke Westbrook of San Angelo, whose mother is owner of the property, were interested spectators as the big bit cut into the earth. Drilling was continued until midnight making a hole the depth of the drill stem. By next week regular drilling tours will be established, the remainder of the tools will be on location, and rapid progress is expected.

Richard Cunningham of Brownwood has the drilling contract. He has an impressive list of completion to his credit in the Brownwood field and is pleased over the prospects for a good producer here.

Judge R. J. Gerald Is Seriously Ill

County Judge R. J. Gerald was taken suddenly ill early Wednesday morning and was rushed to a Temple sanitarium where an emergency operation was performed. Besides a bad appendix he was found to be suffering from stomach ulcers, one of which had perforated the stomach.

He stood the operation well and reports yesterday were encouraging although his condition is quite serious.

The suddenness and seriousness of his attack came as a shock to his many friends here as he had been in apparently good health. He was a pallbearer at the funeral of Clarence W. Bledsoe Tuesday morning and spent the afternoon in his office at work as usual.

Baptist Reminder

209 in Sunday school brings an attendance up to what we have been working. We should never go below 200. It seems that our entire Sunday school force is continually working to enlist everyone we can. Practically every room in our education building was full Sunday.

Our BTU is increasing in interest. The attendance picked up Sunday night. We should have 100 every Sunday night. It will be a great day in our church when our people support a BTU as they do the Sunday school.

Sunday morning my subject will be "How May I Work Out My Salvation?" Sunday evening the subject will be "A Fire That Tests."

Sunday morning Dr. Oliver of San Saba brought us a very spiritual message on "Financing Our Church Through the Sunday School." Our people were greatly helped by his message. A layman like Dr. Oliver is certainly to be appreciated.

Were you in church somewhere last Sunday?—Franklin E. Swanner.

ROCK SPRINGS

There was Sunday school at the usual hour Sunday morning. The church called their pastor who was Bro. J. C. Wade, for another year.

We extend our sympathy to J. K. Davis and children in the loss of his wife and their mother, also to Mrs. Blessie and family in loss of her son and their brother. May God's richest blessings rest upon each of you.

R. C. Webb and J. O. McClary were invited guests to the barbecue celebration at Earl Fairman's big tank last Thursday night.

Joe Davis had the pleasure of cutting out the road Monday morning to the oil well. By six o'clock the rig was on the ground.

Several from here attended the Clarence Blessie funeral in town Tuesday morning.

Sunday Otis and Besse Hutchings opened their home to Philip and James Nickols to celebrate their birthday. Those present were: Ira Hutchings and family, Glenn, Dwight and James Nickols and wives, their mother and Philip, their brother, Shirley, was working and could not be present. Their three sisters were too far away to come. Mrs. W. A. Daniel was an invited guest. Miss Besse had prepared a nice dinner and when the rest brought what they had prepared it was a feast for everybody.

Catfish, I can't hardly wait for the paper today, so I can see the names that were sent in. I hope you select a good one from the bunch.

Sunday is church day. Come and hear the new pastor. Sunday school at 10:30.

We have one awful smart neighbor. Adrian Long is breaking land at night this week.

Mrs. J. M. Ballard is visiting with W. W. Fox and family who live east of town.

Wick Webb and R. C. Webb and wife treated J. C. Stark and family to ice cream Monday night.

Collier Ballard came home on Saturday. He has been off cotton picking. He brought back quite a bit of hard earned money.

James Nickols and R. E. Collier traded each other some sheep last week and in the trade James got the pet goat Mr. Collier has hated all these months that Mrs. Nickols gave Mrs. Collier when it was small. So now James' mother hates the goat as bad as Mr. Collier did. She hopes James trades it to some one sight unseen.

J. O. McClary and wife spent Monday afternoon with Mrs. A. R. Kaus and son at Bull's Creek.

J. T. Robertson rushed in Monday with his first bale of cotton.

L. W. Boyd and family are enjoying a visit from their son and family from Hobbs, N. M.

PAIN
Get rid of it

When functional pains of menstruation are severe, take CARDUI. If it doesn't benefit you, consult a physician. Don't neglect such pains. They depress the tone of the nerves, cause sleeplessness, loss of appetite, wear out your resistance. Get a bottle of CARDUI and see whether it will help you, as thousands of women have said it helped them.

Besides easing certain pains, Cardui aids in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from their food.

MAKE UP?

FEW husbands can understand why a wife should turn from a pleasant companion into a shrew for one whole week in every month. You can say "I'm sorry" and kiss and make up easier before marriage than after. If you're wise and if you want to hold your husband, you won't be a three-quarter wife.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

DOWN EAGLES
 The bow and arrow of the Indians brought the Goldthwaite Eagles as football teams struggled for possession of the ball.

The statistical results of the game are as follows:

	Com.	Gold.
First downs	13	5
Penetrations	4	0
Penalties (in yds)	15	35
Yards gained	221	35
Time outs	1	2

In the third quarter, the Indians called time out, and the Eagles extended it. The reason for this unusual event was that F. D. Coker of Comanche and F. D. Marshall of Goldthwaite were both knocked out.

The starting line-up for the two teams were:

	Comanche	Goldthwaite
pos.	E. Pate	A. Smith
re.	McMillen	D. Kirby
le.	Mehaffey	S. Gerald
ft.	Guthrie	McCasland
rg.	Isham	B. Hunt
lg.	Gray	G. Armstrong
c.	Coker	F. McKenzie
qb.	James	C. Davis
rh.	J. Pate	H. Shaw
lh.	Carnes	O. Harvey
fb.	Bear	F. Marshall

Next Friday afternoon, the Goldthwaite Eagles will go to Lometa where they expect to beat the Lometa high school football team.

The Eagles were handicapped by having two of their star players out due to injuries. Charles Wilbur Hill received a slightly fractured arm and George Ballard a severely sprained ankle in practice last week. Neither injury was serious and good reports are expected from both the boys in further games.

PEP SQUAD GOES TO COMANCHE

Looks Forward to Victory Over Lometa Today
 The Pep Squad is rapidly growing in both pep and enthusiasm, as was proved by the lively pep rally Thursday, Sept. 16. There was a large number of girls present, also a fine group of boys and quite a few townspeople about the court house lawn, where the rally was held. After giving several yells and singing some songs, the boys and girls paraded on the streets, two abreast, and created quite a bit of spirit.

Friday night about 60 girls went to Comanche on the school buses and had a very enjoyable time, for which we sincerely thank Mr. Smith. With so little practice the Pep Squad did not do so well as we might as hoped; however, the Comanche squad, football team and several citizens made very favorable comments concerning our squad, as well as our football team. Some of the Indians said that they had never played with such clean and fair boys as our boys; so we feel highly honored to have a team with such a reputation.

The Pep Squad is looking forward to the Lometa game with great hopes of victory. We believe our boys have a fine chance to win and we are still backing them one hundred per cent! We are sure the people of Goldthwaite and Mills county are just as enthusiastic about the game as we are.

COOPERATION

The success of this paper depends not upon the efforts of one person, but rather upon the cooperation of the entire student body. Suggestions for improvement are always appreciated by the staff. Contributions must be given to the editor not later than 8:30 on Tuesday morning, and reports are to be written on one side of the paper only.

GLEE CLUB

The high school Glee Club held its first regular meeting of the year Monday morning under the direction of the new teacher, Miss Marie Hill. According to Miss Hill, the prospects are very good and this year should be one of glorious achievements. It is the aim of the club to win other cups to place beside the beautiful trophy won last year at the Hardin-Simmons contest in Abilene.

The girls have not yet started work on any new songs, Monday morning was spent in testing voices. After the voices are properly classified the real work will begin. Watch the High School Herald for further news of this progressive organization, the Glee Club.

A NEW PLAN

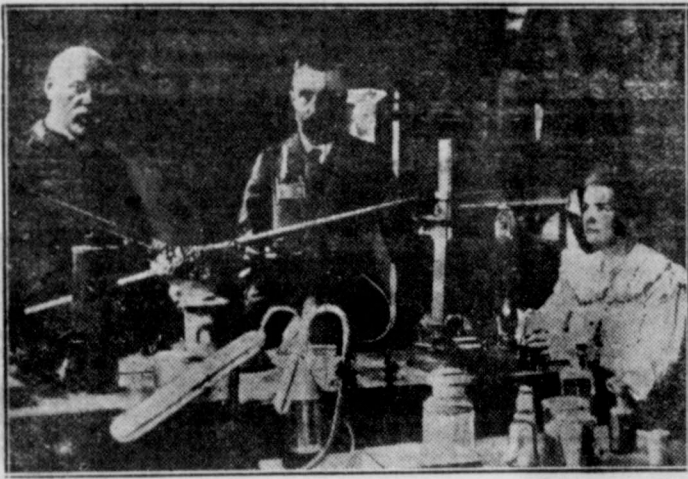

The public speaking class began a new plan for recitations. Each week a chairman and a speech critic will be elected by the class. It is the duty of the chairman to maintain order and preside at meetings. The speech critic takes special notice of all speakers, making notes on the good and bad points of each individual. At the end of the class period the critic reviews these notes for the other students. This system should prove beneficial by training the students in parliamentary procedure and by teaching them to recognize and correct mistakes. Jeanette Martin presided the past week; Catherine Fairman acted as speech critic.

KEY TO SUPER-RACE MAY BE USE OF RADIUM AND X-RAY

From this humble beginning by Pierre and Marie Curie emerged a great branch of knowledge which has brought more than 2,000 scientists to Chicago for the Fifth International Congress of Radiology. In this rare picture, taken before the turn of the century, the Curies (right) are shown in the crude laboratory where they discovered radium.

2,000 SCIENTISTS ATTEND OPENING OF RADIOLOGY CONGRESS

Tribute to Madame Curie

CHICAGO, Sept. 13—Exploration into the still unsolved mysteries of radium emanations and X-rays in their effect upon the offspring of flies and other simple organisms may supply the clue to the artificial development of a super-race, according to Dr. Francis Carter Wood, chairman of the Radiobiology section of the Fifth International Congress of Radiology which opened today.

Pointing out that such a sensational theory is still a matter needing more study, as it is now based on preliminary experimental work, Dr. Wood, Director of the Institute of Cancer Research in New York City, said: "The biologist, in experimenting with male and female flies and other simple forms of living matter has observed that radium and x-ray radiations produce mutations. That is, the rays produced marked changes in the physical structure of the offspring, and these changes are inheritable."

"This has been demonstrated by Dr. M. Demerec, of Carnegie Institute's Department of Genetics, working with X-rays at Cold Spring Harbour, New York. Dr. Demerec's findings are featured on the schedule of the Congress. Naturally they raise the question of applying and controlling radium and X-rays in such a way as to improve the physical and mental qualities of the human race. Hitherto most of the mutations produced in flies have not been beneficial. Similarly, exposure of expectant mothers to X-rays may result in damage to the child, or even miscarriage."

"It has been seriously discussed," Dr. Wood stated, "as to whether the basis of heredity and development of life on earth may not have been due to the radiations from distant spaces known as cosmic rays. We would scarcely have known of these cosmic rays if Madame Curie had not worked in her small shed in the back street in Paris."

Dr. Wood pointed out that the extension of the uses for radium into the field of heredity is no more probable than was the discovery of radium itself. "I remember," he said, "an old friend of mine, a famous professor of physics, who told me in 1896 that physics was finished. No new or important discoveries were to be expected."

Commenting on Eve Curie's life story of her mother, now appearing in the Saturday Evening Post, Dr. Wood declared that while research men work for years without apparent results, sometimes under the handicap of insufficient funds and equipment, there are compensations.

"I have a feeling," he said, "that if Madame Curie, as she lay looking at the mountains on the last day of her life, had been asked, she would have said that she lived an enormously happy life. Because she had always been doing the most fascinating thing in the world, and that is extending the boundaries of human knowledge." The Radiology Congress has attracted more than 2,000 outstanding scientists from all parts of the world. Their four-day meeting is devoted to discussion and analysis of the latest developments in the fields of radium, radiotherapy, short radio waves and other rays, in their relations to living matter and the treatment of disease, particularly cancer.

ADOLESCENT ANTICS

Did you know that apples were served in the classes? Well, of course not in every class, and only to very privileged characters. Said characters are Duron Kerby and Hubert Shaw, who calmly munched an apple, not a very large one, in the presence of Mrs. Hatchett and the entire public speaking class. Ask them how they managed it.

"Healy" is at it again! It seems that now he can't decide whether to be a sophomore or a junior, as if that decision were up to him and don't tell a soul, but it is reported he still has those awful fits that brought him renown last year.

Isn't it fun to go to other towns? You learn a lot of new things. For instance, what is meant by "three inches in thirty minutes?"

Oh, for the life of a bachelor! Davis, Davis, McCasland and Carter can tell you just what it is like after living on canned food—and maybe cans, for all we know—for three weeks. Any home cooked food will be appreciated by them, especially if it is a white layer cake with chocolate icing!

All bus, taxi and truck drivers apply for a load at Goldthwaite high school any week day at 4 o'clock. Football boys make good patrons. Important notice: Fare not guaranteed.

"There comes a time in every man's life—" when he must study Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales." The seniors have finally reached that perilous stage of existence; so if you hear some strange words mixed with their normal language, blame it on Chaucerian English. Of course, it couldn't be slang!

Feminine ears perked up and feminine eyes sparkled with new born hope when mention was made in the American History class of the proposed Army encampment in San Saba. Imagine 10,000 men that close to home!

THE SPOTLIGHT

Beginning next week a new feature will be introduced into the Herald. It is to be a combination of old ideas and new ones, under a new heading. This department will be known as the "Spotlight." Each week a member of the senior class will be interviewed for interesting facts in his high school career. The name, physical description, a list of achievements, and any other interesting points will be given. Watch for each senior as they appear in the Spotlight.

SENIORS SELECT CLASS RINGS

Friday afternoon the seniors spent an hour deciding on the class ring for 1937-38. The design decided on was very attractive and everyone was well pleased with the decision.

You can't go wrong as long as you are headed right.

KING RANCH CONTROVERSY IS DESCRIBED BY EDITOR

New York.—Texas' great King Ranch, larger than the state of Rhode Island, is the subject of an article in the October American magazine written by Hubert Kelley, associate editor and one of the few reporters to be admitted through the gates of the million-acre feudal empire ruled by Bob Kleberg.

After giving the statistics familiar to all Texans—1500 square miles, 75,000 cattle, 1500 miles of wire, 500 gates—Mr. Kelley reports special interest in the fact that the King Ranch, which for years has been "a symbol and stronghold of American individualism," has now become "to many people in its own country a symbol of high-handed power and imperialism."

Having heard the usual and familiar complaints against the King Ranch—that men crossing over the wire fence to hunt had disappeared, that political pull had for ten years prevented construction of a road which would have saved trucks 50 miles on the way to market—Mr. Kelley asked Bob Kleberg for his side of the story, and quotes him as follows:

"Bunk! Pure bunk. It's communism, that's what it is. Those who haven't anything want what somebody else has. It's the spirit of the times—rap, rap, rap. I used to be interested in all the complaints about the ranch, but what's the use? People talk to you friendly-like, promise to say pretty things about you, and when you've turned your back, they smack you in the face. Mystery ranch, my eye. This is a big meat store down here, nothing else. If you find an armed man on this ranch you can have his gun. And what's more, I've already given over 200 miles of right of way for highways through this place, and if that other highway they keep howling about is not finished yet, it's all because the state of Texas hasn't had the money to build it with."

Mr. Kelley contents himself with writing both sides of the various arguments, and describing the ranch and its personnel. He leaves the reader to draw his own conclusions.

Some poetry makes a fellow feel prosaic.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Sunday, Sept. 19, the Blackburn family celebrated the birthday of their sister, Mrs. Mittie Biddle at R. J. Blackburn's home with a surprise dinner. Mrs. Biddle and William were invited to spend the day with her brother and wife and about 9:30 o'clock all the family began to arrive with filled baskets. Mrs. Biddle soon discovered what had been planned. At 12 o'clock they all went down to a live oak grove where Bob Blackburn and Aaron Stacy had built a long table which was soon filled with all kinds of good things to eat. In the center of the table was a large white decorated coconut cake with 69 pink candles on it. This was a gift from his niece, Miss Gladys Casbeer. The afternoon was spent in taking pictures, talking and having a good time. At 4 o'clock Gladys and Mrs. Ray Blackburn lighted the candles and Mrs. Biddle blew them out and then served cake and iced tea, after which Pauline Blackburn presented Mrs. Biddle with a large box of nice presents, which the family had brought for her. Those present were: R. G. Blackburn and his wife, Emma Casbeer and Gladys, Dan Covington and wife and Aaron, George Blackburn and family, Mrs. Will Blackburn and two boys, Mrs. Chester Head and two boys, Ray Henry and family, R. G. Blackburn, Jr., and family, Joe Casbeer, William Biddle nad the honoree.

PROSPERITY GAINING

The national income produced in the United States in July showed a sufficient rise to more than offset the decline during the previous three months, according to the Alexander Hamilton Institute. The national income consequently reached a new peak for the recovery movement. It amounted to $6,172,000,000 in July as compared with $5,854,000,000 in June and with the previous peak of $6,149,000,000 last October. It was 12.1 per cent larger than in July last year when it amounted to $5,506,000,000. For the first seven months, the national income totaled $41,381,000,000 this year as against $34,806,000,000 last year, an increase of 18.9 per cent.

It is possible that when the returns for August become available, they will show that the national income received a set-back. Expansion, however, is in prospect for September and October. During the final two months of the year a rather pronounced recession will probably occur. While the national income during November and December may not come up to the 1936 level, gains in previous months should result in the 1937 annual income amounting to between $70,000,000,000 and 75,000,000,000 as compared with $63,799,000,000 in 1936. The national income this year will thus be the largest since the pre-depression year 1929 and will not fall far short of the record high figure of $80,757,000,000 attained in that year.

TAXES AND COMMON SENSE

In an article entitled "What Is Texas' True Financial Condition?" in the Texas Weekly, Booth Mooney presents some common sense facts which deflate considerably the demands for raising $15,000,000 of new taxes at the special session of the legislature which opens in Austin next week. Here is what he says:

"To bring the matter down to bed-rock, there is nothing alarming in the present deficit in the General Revenue Fund. Most of that deficit has been caused by expenditures that will not have to be made again; most of that deficit will gradually be liquidated without new taxes. Time and growing revenues from existing taxes will take care of the matter if they are permitted to do so.

"It would be much fairer to taxpayers for the state to put on a drive to collect delinquent taxes than to pile heavier burdens upon the backs of those who pay their taxes fully and promptly. Some $26,000,000 in delinquent taxes are owed to the state. Why not make a real effort to collect this sum? In former years the plea has been that such a campaign would injure the small homeowner. But that plea is no longer valid, for homesteads of $3,000 valuation or less are now exempt from state taxes. A campaign to collect this $26,000,000 would reach those who so far have declined to bear their share of the cost of government. That would be far better than striking the paying taxpayers another blow. Incidentally, delinquent taxes become void if not paid within ten years after they are due, so there is little time to lose unless Texas is willing to see this potential revenue—due and collectible—lost for all time. If state officials feel that something must be done about the deficit in the General Revenue Fund—though, as stated, there is nothing alarming about that deficit—they might well center their attention on a campaign to collect past-due taxes.

"It will be recalled that the old-age pension enabling act was passed during a special session. And it has not yet ceased to bedevil the people of the state. Old-age assistance is in politics up to its neck in Texas today simply because the enabling act was laxly prepared and rushed through the legislature a few months before a primary election. Today we find that in 28 states with old-age pension laws, an average of 17 per cent of the persons more than 65 years of age are receiving assistance. If that percentage prevailed in Texas, the state would be extending aid to approximately 45,000 persons, whereas, in fact, more than 114,000 Texans are receiving old-age assistance. It is the worthy old folks themselves who suffer from this situation. So many pensioners are on the rolls in Texas that the national average month payment of $18.77, representing contributions of state and federal governments, cannot be made in this state, despite the fact that the amount of money made available for old-age pensions is steadily rising. If the Texas percentage of oldsters receiving assistance was in line with that of other states, each one of them could receive the national average monthly payment of $18.77—and still the cost of such aid would be only $9,000,000 a year. The plain truth is that many persons are receiving old-age pensions who are not entitled to them with the result that many worthy persons either are unable to get on the rolls at all or receive smaller payments than they deserve.

This condition has been brought about by the looseness of the enabling act passed by a special session of the legislature. Such a mistake must not be made again. That is why caution is sug-

A SPRY looking colored youth entered a drug store on Fiftieth street and Sixth avenue the other day and, dropping a coin into the slot of the pay telephone, asked Central for a certain number. When connections had been made, persons near the booth heard him say this:

"Is dat Mizz Willum Jones speakin'?" Well, Mizz Jones, did you want to hire a smart colored boy fur a handy man around yore flat? Ma'm? You say you already is got a boy wukkin' fur you? Is dat so? Wellum, is you satisfied wid him? Den you ain't thinkin' 'bout mekkin' a change? Dat's all, ma'am."

He put the receiver on the hooks and emerged from the booth. The head clerk, who had been one of the ear-witnesses to his remarks, hailed him:

"If you're looking for a place you needn't go any further. Don't you see that sign there in the window saying 'Colored Help Wanted'?" "I ain't lookin' fur no place," said the youth. "I already is got a good job—been wukkin' at it goin' on two weeks now."

"I don't understand," said the puzzled clerk. "Why were you calling up that lady?"

"Oh, dat's de lady I wuk's fur. I got drunk last nite and was jest checkin' up to see if I still had the job."

Q. By what name was Col. James W. Fannin known in his boyhood days in Georgia, and why?

A. He was adopted and reared by his maternal grandfather, J. Walker, and as a youth was known as James F. Walker. His guardian had his name changed to James Walker Fannin. He was the son of Major Isham F. Fannin, who served under General Jackson at New Orleans.

Q. What was the Guadalupe flag?

A. The original Guadalupe flag was the banner of Miguel Hidalgo who inaugurated a Mexican revolution against Spain soon after the North American colonists secured their independence. When the mission was founded at Ysleta in 1682 the "Banner of Our Lady of Guadalupe" was placed over the altar as a church flag and not as a military symbol.

Q. Where and when was Sam Bass born and when did he start on his criminal career?

A. Sam Bass was born near Mitchell, Lawrence county, Ind., July 21, 1851. He came to Texas gested in raising revenue and making appropriations for aid to the needy blind and dependent children. Such caution is not likely to be observed during a special session. Wisdom dictates holding these matters over for a few months. Incidentally, wisdom also dictates remedying the faults in the old-age pension law at the earliest opportunity.

"Assuredly, this is a time for making haste slowly. Wild tax schemes might easily disturb the accelerated business tempo now being enjoyed in Texas. Just what tax measures will be proposed and actively pushed has not yet been made absolutely clear. But regardless of what proposals are made, the people of Texas should keep in mind that this state's fiscal position is much better than that of many other states. And they should weigh carefully all talk about the necessity of levying new and heavier taxes."

Q. When was Panola county created and what was its first county seat?

A. Panola county was organized from Harrison and Shelby counties in 1846, with Pulaski, then a village about 8 miles northeast of Carthage, as the county seat. Carthage became the county seat in 1849, the town being founded that year and named from Carthage, Mo.

Q. How many grapefruit canning and juicing plants are there in Texas?

A. There were 35 such plants at the last available report. A number of others are being built in preparation for this season's crop.

VIEWS OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

FELINE AND FUR

Supt. and Mrs. J. Rice Finley returned Friday from a several days' visit to relatives at Tolar, in Hood county. While there Mr. Finley killed a polecat. The old polecat had two kittens which he captured and brought home with him. He said they would make good pets to anyone desiring such as you would not have to buy any more perfumery for the premises, since they would take care of that. He hasn't found anyone that desired the kittens. Mr. Sanders might trade for them, as he is a great hand to buy and sell.

If Mr. Sanders is truly a great hand to buy and sell, he will appreciate this advertisement which is free. Men engaged in selling are very partial to advertising, and are deeply enamored of free ads. Any publisher could fill every issue of his paper with free ads, and those dealers who claim not to believe in advertising would be in the front row, pushing the hardest and calling the loudest at the publisher's bargain counter. However, the publisher wouldn't last long. He would die of suffocation, induced by the free-spacers piling on top of him in their hurry to get their copy into his hands. As for the polecats (genus seganka) they will be difficult to dispose of. They are not popular with anybody and are abhorred by even the major members of the feline tribe, themselves very tidy and choosy in their tastes. But if Professor Finley is tired of teaching school he can avoid that work by taking his kittens to the school house and turning them loose, after they get a bit older. A skunk a day will keep the children away. Skunk fur, incidentally, is much liked by ladies who know their coats. The fur, though, is the only part of the skunk that milady cares for.

PRINTING THE NEWS

When to print a disagreeable story and when to leave one out of the paper is one of the most troublesome problems of a small town editor. In the case of a person who has been found guilty of being unfaithful to a public trust, or one who is guilty of a serious crime, it is not difficult to decide because the public right to have the news, demands that it be printed.

There are some cases, however, in which the offense is entirely of a personal nature, and in this case publishing the story would bring humiliation to innocent persons without serving any good or beneficial purpose. In these the making of a decision is often not easy. If the story is printed, relatives and friends of the person concerned will feel that it is unnecessary; if it is suppressed, the gossipers and scandal-mongers will be disappointed, and many will insinuate the editor was "bought off." These same scandal-mongers, however, will howl the loudest if their own shady actions were held up to public gaze.

So it's hard to please everybody, and no editor of sense tries to please everybody. He must let common sense and his own conscience be his guide.—Gatesville Messenger.

NO SIT-DOWN FOR THE FARMERS

Like oil and water it is apparent that Western farmers and ranchers and the CIO labor agitators will not mix. Just this week a group of Oregon wheat farmers banded together in Jackson county, started a membership campaign and elected a president who issued a proclamation that "the primary purpose of the organization is to guarantee the orderly harvesting of agricultural products without the damaging interference of outside agitators."

Western growers are usually fair in dealing with permanent and transitional labor. They pay the highest wages that they can afford in relation to the current crop price, and they don't want any interference from the outside who knows nothing of the local situation and cares nothing except to breed discontent and gain new "honors" and adherents for his particular brand of unionism.

The act of the Oregon farmers was based on the terrible labor troubles in the agricultural districts of California, where for months men fought and blood flowed while the crop rotted in the fields. Their statement added that "the menace of radical activities intended to obstruct normal harvesting, processing and transportation of crops, and resulting loss for all" was the object of the anti-interference campaign.—Kimberly (Idaho) Advertiser.

POWER OF THE PRESS

When five young ladies in the backwoods of Ontario sniffle, the whole world takes notice.

The Dionne sisters are the only quintuplets in the recorded history of the human race, all of whom lived to celebrate their third birthday as the quins did on May 28, 1937.

They are the world's eighth wonder, with far more human interest attached to them than attached to the other seven.

And so their doings, as well as the doings of Dr. Allan R. Daffoe, the country doctor who saw them safely into the world, without the aid of facilities of a modern city hospital, and who has watched over their health ever since, are matters of world-wide concern.

Yet if they had been born a couple of centuries ago they would have been a local wonder at most.

Without the newspapers, without the telegraph, telephone and wirephotography, which have carried their whimpers, their gurgles and their pretty faces to the ends of the earth, they could have sniffed their little noses off for all anybody cared outside of their immediate neighborhood.

The press has kept the lines open from their nursery to the hearts of millions who have never seen them, and helped them to acquire fame and fortune which if it had not been for the newspapers, they would never have known.—Detroit Free Press.

Lometa

Lometa is soon to have a detachment of the United States Army to spend a day and a night with them, and no doubt it will be the largest number of persons that ever stayed here in one single night. Col. Brown and Major Guillemet were here Tuesday making arrangements for a camping place for the men, which is composed of a band of 3500 with 500 Army trucks. To Bob Hines is due a vote of thanks for furnishing the camping place. It takes 75 acres to accommodate the party. To give an idea of the enormity of the caravan, Col. Brown stated that it would make a procession 40 miles long. This trip is being made for the purpose of testing army transport equipment.

GARDEN CLUB PICNIC

The Goldthwaite Garden Club began its new year by announcing to the membership that a picnic supper would take place at Lake Merritt on Friday night, Sept. 17.

Cars began to arrive at 6:30 o'clock and by 7:30 a large number had assembled with boxes and baskets, jugs of ice water, lemonade and tea. Tables were prepared and the baskets and boxes gave up their contents, which were placed on the tables in tempting array, consisting of everything good to eat. The jolly crowd gathered around the festive board and enjoyed an hour of feasting, talking and merry-making.

Music on the piano-accordion was furnished by Melmoth Young Stokes, III, and he was loudly applauded.—Member.

"WHERE YOUR MONEY BUYS MORE"

BOYHOOD

I often think there's much more joy
A livin' the life that I did when a boy.
Up in the mornin' 'round the break o' day
With the air chuck full of new mown hay.
Old Sol paintin' pictures up in the sky
The man in the moon a blinkin' his eye.
Feedin' the horses, a sloppin' the hogs
Gatherin' hen fruit, raisin' some dogs
Juicin' the beifiers, a plowin' the corn
Sleepin' some 'tween the last chore and morn—
An' last, but not least, the old swimmin' hole,
The watermelon patch, the homeward stroll.
I still believe there's much more joy
A livin' the life that I did when a boy.
