By Clementine Wilmet Briley

(Intended for Last Week)
After two months of spring-like weather, we have been visited with quite a variety of winter weather. During the past week, we have had warm rains, cold rains, hard rains, gentle rains, frost, fog, ice, hail, sleet, and snow. Beautiful, large, soft snow flakes fell thick and fast several times Monday morning, but melted as soon as they fell.

Lots of flu and colds in our community now. Miss Dolly Reynolds has been in bed several days with flu, but is better now. Her comrades, Mrs. Alice Rossom and Mrs. Lula Kelly, are also down with the flu.

Mrs. Bob Egger has been sick since Saturday. We sincerely hope that she won't have the siege that she had last winter.

Alvin Ketchum was sick last week, but it up now. John Briley has been sick with flu for the past week.

Report from Mrs. Charles Roberts, who went to Sealy Hospital at Santa Anna for an operation several years ago, is that the operation was long and tedious and very serious, and that she was getting along as well as could be expected.

News reached us Tuesday evening of the death of Sam Jones of Regency. He is the father of Mrs. Lem Egger and Mrs. Tom Perkins, and an early pioneer of this country, having lived most of his life at Regency. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family. We regret to see the pioneers slipping away from us. With them passes from our reach, so much of the interesting history and folk-lore of our locality.

Members of the Wood Roberts family were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Reid Sunday. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Wood Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Billie McNurten and Norville, Charlie Roberts Darwin Roberts, Dale Reid and Mr. and Mrs. Charm Whittenburg and baby Clint.

Miss Evelyn Mashburn of Daniel Baker College spent the week end with home folks, and remained over for Washington's Birthday.

Miss Ruth Mashburn of Brownwood has been staying with her cousin, Mrs. Alvin Ketchum, and attending Indian Creek School.

The school bus was unable to go Thursday and Friday on account of rains and bad roads.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wilmet, Miss Bernice Wilmet, Mrs. Clara Wilmet, and Mrs. J. R. Briley had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Dwyer Sunday after church.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Egger went to Brownwood Sunday to visit Mr. Egger's brother and wife Mr. and Mrs. Ralleg Egger. We are glad to report that Mrs. Egger has been moved home from the hospital, and is improving.

School Building to Be Rebuilt at Melvin

Melvin, February 17.—Contract has been awarded to Boese and Thornton, Austin architects, to draw plans for a new school building here, to replace the structure razed by fire on Jan. 8.

More than 135,000 bricks have been salvaged from the old building, to be used in erecting the new structure. From 10 to 40 men have been given employment salvaging the bricks.

A bond issue is to be called at a later date, following approval of plans for the new building.—Brady Standard.

Accident Record For 1937

Basic reasons for America's shameful automobile accident record in 1937 were "too much speed and too little courtesy" according to a new booklet entitled "Death Begins at 40" just issued by the Travelers Insurance Company. The booklet presents a complete analysis of last year's traffic accidents, based on official figures from the 48 states.

There is no intention in the booklet, according to the editors, to advocate 40 miles an hour or any fixed speed as a top limit. To quote: "There are times, as in heavy traffic or heavy fog, when 30 miles an hour is suicidal; other times when 50 miles an hour seems reasonable. Every driver should know, however, that if he does have an accident it is more likely to mean death if he is going fast."

Many of the reatures in the boklet have been prepared especially to show what happens in the higher brackets of speed. It is pointed out, for instance, that a car is four times harder to stop at 50 miles an hour than it is at 25, and nine times harder at 75 miles an hour than at 25. A new word, "turnability" has been coined to express another speed factor. The driver's turnability the booklet shows, decreases rapidly as his speed increases. Thus he can make only one-fourth as sharp a turn at 50 miles an hour as he could make at 25 and only one-ninth as sharp a turn at 75 as at 25.

Another set of figures shows that if you have an accident while driving under 40 miles an hour there is only one chance in 44 that somebody will be killed, but if your accident comes while you are traveling faster than 40 there is one chance in 19 that somebody will be killed.

While the folly of high speed provides the main theme of the booklet, there is a secondary theme which runs consistently through the issue. It is the need for courtesy on the highway.

After analyzing reports of 40,000 fatalities and 1,221,090 injuries in traffic accidents last year the company's statisticians point to these interesting and little known facts about accidents.

Exceeding the speed limit was responsible for 37 per cent of the deaths and 25 per cent of the injuries.

More than 94 per cent of drivers in fatal accidents were male and less than six per cent female. It does not necessarily follow that women are safer drivers than men, it is pointed out, because adequate data on the relative exposure are lacking.

Ninety-seven per cent of drivers involved in fatal accidents had had one or more years' driving experience.

More than 78 per cent of all fatal accidents occurred when the road surface was dry. Eighty three per cent of all fatal accidents occurred in clear weather.

More persons were killed on Sunday than on any other day. The heaviest injury toll came on Saturday. More persons were killed between seven and eight o'clock in the evening than at any other hour.

Fatalities increased last year in every age group except that from five to fourteen years of age.

In the last fifteen years, 441,912 persons have been killed in the U. S. by automobiles. This is almost double the number of American soldiers killed in action or died of wounds in all the wars this country has engaged in since its birth.

The insurance company will distribute two million copies of the booklet this year in the interest of street and highway safety. Single copies or quantities may be obtained gratis by writing the company or any of its agents.

If you seem to have lost some of your strength you had for your favorite activities, or for your housework . . . and care less about your meals . . . and suffer severe discomfort at certain times, try Cardui!

Thousands and thousands of women say it has helped them.

By increasing the appetite, improving digestion, Cardui helps you to get more nourishment. As strength returns, unnecessary aches, pains and nervousness just seem to go away.

ARE YOU ONLY A 3/4 WIFE?

MEN because they are men can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness for three weeks of the month—but a hell-cat the fourth.

And make up your mind men never will understand. There are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport.

No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood into womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife. Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and go "smiling through." Over a million women have written in reporting benefit. Why not give this world-famous medicine a chance to help YOU?

ee—A. L. Carroll, Wayne Hayes, James White, O. E. Rice. Ram, Billy and Hog Construction Committee—T. A. Kemp, Alva Masters, C. P. Alberty, Max Cooksey, Lloyd Carroll.

Booths Construction Committee—S. S. Dorbandt, F. E. Burgett, Tom Wallace, Jimmie Rothwell, Ernest Lynn Fisher, Carl Tillman.

These committees are given with their members in order that the citizens may know just where and to whom to refer their exhibits. Each member will be glad to offer information concerning the exhibit he has in charge.

Enumeration Work In County School Areas Will Begin

Supplies for taking the scholastic enumeration in Mills County are now available, it was announced by Judge R. J. Gerald. The enumeration will be begun in March and completed during the month of April.

Last year 2,056 children of school age were listed in the county. Residence on April 1, is that recorded in the census.

Census trustees are urged to make a thorough canvass of each school district, since any child left off the list means a loss to that district of the annual per capita apportionment, which last year was set by the state board at $22. If many children are left off the list, it was pointed ed out, the loss was more than the county would receive. Most cases in which those who have been overlooked are of age after the census taker has been requested to keep in mind when canvassing districts for the list.

Don't forget tonight, that the P.-T. A. ladies are putting on the "Old Maid's Convention" at the school auditorium. Everybody come.

Wylie Cook is building an addition to his home on "Star-View Farm," which will make the house more convenient and comfortable.

Mrs. Eddie Franks, of Houston, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lant Adams, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCaughan, of Santa Anna, visited over the week end with Mrs. McCaughan's brother and sisters, Mr. Neal Soules, Mrs. Ellen Clifton, Mrs. Gertie Jones, and Mrs. Mary Soules.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Waggoner, of Center City, and also their son, Wilbur and little son, dined with the Walton Moore family last Sunday.

Rayford Moore spent the week end with his grandparents in Center City.

Mr. and Mrs. John Waddell are expected home from Marlin sometime this week. They have been there for Mr. Waddell's health.

Beautiful weather has been spread over the face of our part of the state the past few days, and the number of grubs that have been turned upside down with the plow and hoe is amazing. Fortunate were the hens near by.

Ben Cox seems to be improving some after so many months, even years of serious heart trouble. He is able to sit propped up in bed a bit.

There are a number of cases of mumps in our community at the present writing. Seems to be getting the older folks this time. Howard Petra, Van McGilvray, and Reuben Gype are the victims that we know of.

Tom Roe is still on the puny list. Seems not to be doing so well.

Golden Witty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Witty, has been in bed for several days with a touch of flu.

Garden seeds are going into the ground and here's hoping we will have a good crop this year.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
PICTURE ARRANGEMENT

A simple arrangement, but a good one, partly because the same curved line is repeated in the boys' backs and the back of the chair. This gives rhythm to the picture.

MANY snapshotters read about picture composition, and decide it is something subtle and "arty," and pretty much of a puzzle. But it needn't be a puzzle, at all. Composition is simply pleasing arrangement.

The woman who arranges flowers in a bowl, or furniture in a room, is "composing" in much the same way as an artist composes a picture. Both are seeking balance, harmony, and an attractive arrangement that appeals to the eye.

Picture composition can be very subtle, but it does not have to be. As a rule, the simpler the arrangement, the more effective it is.

Clearness is the first need of an effective picture arrangement. One way to obtain this is to seek contrast. For instance, if a gray object is pictured against a gray background, the two tend to "run together." But if a gray object is pictured against a white background, with lights so arranged that it casts a black shadow on the white background, there is good contrast, and the object "stands out." A good example of contrast would be a light-haired person pictured against a background of deep shadow.

Lines have a definite "pulling power," especially if two run together to make a point near the picture edge. Suppose, for instance, you snap a picture of a cat's face and want the eyes to stand out. In that case, the cat's sharp-pointed ears need to be in shadow, or the picture should be trimmed so that the tips of the ears are cut off—otherwise, they will draw attention upward away from the cat's eyes.

The shapes and outlines of things play a great part in establishing the "feel" of a picture. A "pyramid" arrangement gives weight and stability, while slender forms, such as a flower with a thin stalk standing in a slim bud-vase, suggest lightness.

Lines differ greatly in their effect. Low, level lines suggest quietness and sadness, while tall straight lines, such as the trunks of forest trees, suggest dignity and grandeur. Curved lines have grace, especially the S-curve such as is seen in the arch of a horse's neck or a swan's neck. When the same shape of line is repeated several times in a picture, the arrangement tends to take on a pleasing "pattern quality."

Try choosing your viewpoint so that the lines and forms in your pictures have a definite character. This results will please you.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Fearful that the state park development program in Texas will be substantially curtailed if any more CCC camps are removed April 1, as now contemplated, Wendell Mayes, chairman of the Texas State Park Board, and William J. Lawson, secretary, arrived in Washington Thursday to confer with federal authorities.
 They will urge upon Conrad Worth, assistant director of the National Park Service in charge of state co-operation, that the present 16 camps in Texas be continued for at least another six months, Mayes said.
 Three camps, including the one in Big Bend Park, were removed Jan. 1 and the state board is anxious to prevent any further reductions at this time, Mayes said.
 The two officials also plan to report to federal officials the progress being made through private endeavor to obtain funds throughout the State to purchase the land necessary for the establishment of the Big Bend National Park. Both expressed the belief that it will not be long until a sufficient amount of money has been raised to go ahead with plans and seek the balance of the appropriation necessary from Congress and the Texas Legislature.

Clements—Mathis

Calla lilies and white stock with fern clustered in pedestal baskets ornamented the Church of the Epiphany Sunday afternoon at 4 for the marriage of Miss Dorothy Dell Mathis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Mathis of this city, and David Owen Clements, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Clements of Goldthwaite, Texas.
 On the altar brass vases held stately spikes of white gladioli lighted by cathedral tapers in brass standards. On the organ were low bowls of calendulas.
 Pews occupied by the family of the bride and groom and their close friends were marked by white satin bows and white carnations. White carnations were worn in the coat lapels of the ushers, L. A. Walker, Jr., of this city, and Cliff McCall of Beeville.
 Prior to the entrance of the wedding party, Hobart Barnhill sang "Oh Promise Me," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Kenneth McKamey of Portland, who also played the traditional wedding marches and soft music during the ceremony.
 The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. She was most attractive in a two-piece Dolinski original of silver blue and navy crepe wool. The dress of classically simple lines held a large clip of the two tones of blue at a high neckline and bands of navy blue were accents given to the short sleeves of the dress and across the front of the short boxy coat. She wore a quaint navy blue exaggerated poke bonnet of navy straw lined underneath with minute navy taffeta accordion pleats.
 On her arm she carried pink rosebuds and lilies of the valley tier with pink and white satin ribbons.
 Only attendant to the bride was her chum, Miss Mary Lou Ballard of this city, wearing a modish model of navy crepe with girdle sash and bolero of ashes of roses crepe. Braid of the same shade outlined the short bolero and contrast was given in her accessories of navy and a halo hat of navy straw. She carried an arm cluster of talisman roses.
 They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Jack Mathis of Kilgore, brother of the bride.
 Rev. Munds, pastor of the Good Shepard Church of Corpus Christi, officiated at the ceremony.
 Immediately following, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Receiving the guests were members of the bridal party and Mr. and Mrs. Mathis. The bride's mother was gowned in a Packard model of royal blue crepe with navy accessories.
 Mrs. L. A. Walker, Jr., and Mrs. George Simons presided at the lace-laid table appointed in silver and crystal. A large bowl of white candytuft blossoms in a crystal bowl flanked by white tapers in silver candelabra was attractive decoration. On the sideboard were other tapers and a clever wedding scene of bridal figurines, a garden gate and bouquets of sweetpeas lending color accent.
 The bride officiated at the traditional cutting of the first slice of the wedding cake. It was a white square confection embossed with tiny sugar-spun roses and green leaves. Mrs. Walker served the cake and Mrs. Simons was at the silver coffee service.
 Mr. and Mrs. Clements left for a motor trip to Monterrey, Mexico, and other points. After March 1 they will be located in Goldthwaite.
 The bride, a popular member of Kingsville's younger set, received her degree from Texas A. and I. College with the June class of 1936. She was a member of the Delta Theta sorority, B. B. A. Club, and other organizations.
 Mr. Clements also received his degree with the 1936 class. In college he was prominent for his prowess in tennis and activity with various other campus organizations. He is a member of a pioneer family of the Goldthwaite community, where he is engaged in business.
 Numerous hospitalities have complimented the bride previous to her wedding.

 Our school teachers seem to be quite unfortunate the last two weeks. Mr. Patterson was sick with flu last week, Miss Graves is real sick this week suffering with rheumatism. Mrs. Patterson was substitute for them and judging from the nice compliments the children gave her, she must have made a good one.
 We extend sympathy to the Townsend family in the loss of his father.
 Mrs. Stuck helped take care of her new grandson Saturday and Sunday. His parents Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Stuck are very proud of him.

It might interest some of your readers to note that we are having a month without a new moon," writes G. B. Rosborough of Belton.
 He adds the comment that "the efficiency experts who are promoting the 13-month calendar year and promising that the changes of the moon would come had probably best figure a teeny on the same day in each month, mite closer . . . though of course the difference would not be great enough to worry lovers or fishermen or famers who plant their potatoes "in the moon."

Bees Do Not Sting You if You Display No Fear

According to the popular notion, insects are physically unable to penetrate the human skin no matter how hard they may ply their stingers, because the pores are then closed, notes a writer in the Indianapolis News. The United States bureau of entomology investigated and reported that the belief has no foundation in fact. The stinger of a bee does enter the skin through the pores, and these tiny openings may be slightly affected by breathing, but the difference is not sufficient to interfere with the operation of the bee's stinger. If bees do not sting a person while he holds his breath or clenches his fists it is not because they can not sting under such conditions, but because the person is then likely to be more quiet.

Early Coins

In the reign of William and Mary copper coins were struck in England for New England and Carolina. Lord Baltimore had silver shillings, 6 pence and 4 pence made in England to supply the demands of his province of Maryland. Vermont and Connecticut established mints in 1785 for the issue of copper coin. New Jersey followed a year later. But Congress had under advisement the establishment of a mint for the confederated states, and in this same year agreed upon a plan submitted by Thomas Jefferson. The act went into operation, on a small scale, in 1787. After the adoption of the Constitution in 1789 all the state mints were closed.

The Word "Dun"

The word "dun" is supposed by some to be derived from the French "donnez." The British Apollo of 1780 says, however, that the word owes its origin to a Joe Dun, a famous bailiff of Lincoln in the time of Henry VII. He is said to have been so successful in the collection of debts that his name became proverbial. Whenever it seemed almost impossible to make a man pay, people would say, "Why don't you Dun him?"

Pyrethrin, Insect Killer

Pyrethrin is used to kill insects. Many tons of pyrethrum are brought into this country annually from foreign countries, chiefly from Japan. It is a strange crop to most farmers in this country. The pyrethrum belongs to the great Composite group of plants, which include the chrysanthemum, aster, daisy, dandelion, ragweed, and wormwood. The pyrethrum has flowers that resemble the ordinary field daisy.

THE CHRISTIAN AND WAR

So far in the history of the United States there have been three great moral issues which have seized hold upon the hearts and imaginations of its people to the virtual exclusion, for the time being, of all other moral issues.

First was that of abolition of slavery which was closed by the War between the States, sealed with the blood of a million men, and then partially nullified by Reconstruction.

Next came prohibition under the leadership of the powerful Anti-Saloon League. With all of the evils of intemperance again rampant, there is as yet no organized revival of prohibition. Perhaps this is because what appears to be a greater issue has appeared.

That cause is the cause of peace as opposed to war. By some it is based upon economic grounds in protest against the intolerable waste of lives and property by war. By some it is based primarily upon religious reasons, and for others of the crusading spirit peace has itself been made a religion.

To the sincerely devout Christian there has always appeared a conflict between the literal application of Christ's sermon on the mount and human survival amidst wars and rumors of wars. Usually the issue has been dodged by the device of enlisting God upon each side and waging war in His defense. This device, first used in annihilating the infidel and the heathen, became less satisfying in internecine conflicts. It was reduced to absurdity during the World War when each side vociferously proclaimed God as its ally. The result seemed more to validate Napoleon's ironic declaration that "God was on the side of the biggest battalions."

Today, as undeclared war is being waged on our right and on our left, and with every daily paper bringing the dread conflagration nearer to our own rooftree, the question once more becomes acute. "What is Christ's attitude towards war? What should the Christian's response be?"

Hulen R. Carroll, after illustrating his statement that war was a religious rite among the Hebrews of the Old Testament, significantly adds:

The God of the Bible always admonished people not to fight if it can be honorably avoided. Nehemiah, both statesman and prophet, admonishes his followers to "fight for your brethren, your sons, and your daughters, your wives and your houses." And Isaiah warns them against selfish, aggressive war: "Woe unto thee that spoilest, and thou wast not spoiled; and dealest treacherously and they dealt not treacherously with thee! When thou shalt cease to spoil, thou shalt be spoiled; and when thou shalt make an end to deal treacherously, they shall deal treacherously with thee."

When Christ in the New Testament spoke of peace He was not thinking of peace between nations, usually, but of the peace in the hearts of His followers, John 16:33, "These things have I spoken unto you that in Me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation."

Much capital is made of the fact that Jesus is called the Prince of Peace. That is a prophecy in Isaiah written centuries before He was born in Bethlehem and yet fulfilled. He is not the Prince of Peace yet. He will be when "the wolf and the lamb shall feed together, and the lion shall eat straw like the bullock."

"Peace on earth good will to men," is much quoted, but mistranslated. It should read, "Peace on earth to men of good will." If all were men of good will there would be peace in all the earth. It is the other kind that bring on war and often the men of "good will" have to fight for their homes and country.

HELP FOR KING COTTON

Old King Cotton, like most royalty in these troubled times, has been shorn of most of his royal prerogatives. With his reduction to the status of an ordinary farm crop, the South and Texas have suffered. Last week at Dallas the State-wide Cotton Committee was called in session by the general chairman, Burris Jackson of Hillsboro, and initiated a three-fold program. This program is enthusiastically endorsed by men of every shade of opinion regarding cotton production in Texas. This unexpected unanimity gives rise to the hope that other differences may be ironed out and a united effort made to re-seat the tattered king upon his traditional throne.

The three objectives of the committee are (1) research to dis-

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEWS OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST

What the Oxford Group Offers to the Church

By Rev. Ben H. Moore, D. D.,
Pastor, Austin Avenue Presbyterian Church Brownwood.

The Oxford Group offers to a church that is groping in a fog of confusion, division, misunderstanding, and indefiniteness of purpose and technique, not some thing new, but a fresh interpretation and a co-ordination of what she already possesses, yet with ample freedom of action as to its application. This definite purpose to which the Oxford Group points Christians is: To live a God-guided life yourself and to change others into such Christians.

The distinct technique followed by the Group in accomplishing this purpose is:

First, an absolutely honest self appraisal, not in the light of your neighbor's life and conduct, but in the pure light of Christ.

Second, an unconditional surrender to the will of God. No half-way surrender will do. God does not risk spiritual power in the possession of unsundered wills.

Third, faithful observance of the Quiet Time, or Two-way Prayer. The prayer that accomplishes no more than to tell God all about what you want Him to do, may relieve your pent-up emotions, but it accomplishes little in guidance toward the solution of your problems and the direction of your life. The really effective prayer is that in which one offers sincere confession, praise and thanksgiving, and the desire of one's heart, plus a recommitment to God's will, followed by a period of silent waiting, relaxed of body, alert of mind and spirit, listening for the Holy Spirit to speak through Scriptural Truth, Conscience, Luminous Thoughts, Vivid Impressions, definite messages like spiritual radio flashes.

This is the fourth step—Definite Guidance of the Holy Spirit. This need not be expected until one's spiritual contact points have been thoroughly cleansed of the corrosion of unforgiven sins and unrighted wrongs. When cleansing is done and the will to obey is there, the flashes of guidance will follow and a joyful heart will recognize them for what they are—the Guidance of the Holy Spirit for a willing spirit who can now be trusted.

Fifth, there must be prompt and conscientious obedience to such guidance, or it will cease to come, which is only to be expected as such guidance, is conditioned on a surrendered will and a will that does not obey is not surrendered.

Sixth, sharing wisely, as the Spirit may guide. Sharing refers to both confession and witnessing. To be freed from the burden of any sin one must frankly confess that sin to oneself, to God and to the person or group against whom the wrong was committed, and restitution made as far as possible as the Spirit may guide. Sometimes the sharing of one's experience in confession and resultant forgiveness may be the very edge that will open another closed heart. Sometimes such confession to others, not directly concerned may do definite harm. Such confession or sharing of sins, therefore should be done wisely, only under definite guidance of the Holy Spirit. The same is true of sharing in the sense of witnessing. The person to whom one is guided to witness for Christ has already been prepared by the Holy Spirit for such witnessing to take effect, otherwise it is likely to fall flat.

Seventh, restitution. Nothing so convinces of the genuine reality of a changed life as restitution. To right the wrong, or pay the debt, or restore something unjustly taken, rolls the burden from the sinner's heart and opens the heart of him who was wronged to receive a like experience of God.

In addition to a definite purpose and a distinct technique, the Oxford Group offers to the church of today the challenge of an uncompromising standard. It calls the Christian in the church and the pagan within and without the church to the unconditional acceptance of the four fundamental principles of character, which Christ exemplified and taught, as the standard by which to measure oneself (not the other person), and at which to aim as a goal. Christians are silenced in their witnessing by a sense of defeat; pagans are leaving the church strictly alone because they feel it has nothing to offer them, pastors are busy offering alibi's and explanations for the churches' failures. All of these suspect the truth. The Oxford Group knows and accepts the truth. It is compromise with sin. Both God and Satan demand the same thing—the whole heart. The man or woman, in church or out, who compromises with sin, has a divided will, and a divided will can never expect to be trusted with the power and direction of the Holy Spirit. The Oxford Group, with no apology or alibi, offers to the church this old, old truth of an absolute standard, summed up in the Four Absolutes: Absolute Honesty, with self, God and fellowman; Absolute Purity, personal and social; Absolute Unselfishness, with God and man; Absolute Love, toward God and man. This constitutes the uncompromising standard by which the Christian cover new uses for cotton, under the direction of A. M. Goldstein, Waco merchant and Chamber of Commerce president; (2) cotton improvement under the direction of Lamar Fleming, cotton factor of Houston; and (3) ginning improvement under Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech at Lubbock.

As The Texas Weekly has so ably and persistently pointed out, the chief cotton problem is that of restricted consumption resulting primarily from the high tariff policy of the United States. While the Texas committee did not take up this phase of the problem, there are intimations from other quarters that it is at long last receiving some of the attention it deserves.

It may not be hoping too much to believe that by the time Texas cotton has been improved in length and staple and is being ginned properly, the world's markets may once more be open to it, and a new and sounder era of cotton prosperity in Texas will be ushered in.

Laughing Around the World

No Treat to the Visitor

By IRVIN S. COBB

WHEN William Slavens McNutt was a reporter in Seattle, his city-editor sent him out to get an interview with an Alaska miner who had just returned to the states after twenty years spent in the far North.

"Be sure, Bill," said his chief, "to ask him what he thinks about the new Smith building." An hour later McNutt returned to the office. "I didn't get much of a story out of the old chap," he confessed. "What did he have to say about the Smith building?" asked the disappointed city-editor.

"He allowed it was pretty tall." "Thunder, man, was that all you could get out of him? Pretty tall—I'll say it is. Didn't you tell him that it's the tallest office building on the Pacific coast?—410 foot from the pavement to the top of the tower?" "Yes," said McNutt, "I did tell him all that, but it didn't seem much use. You see, for the last fourteen years he's been living in a little cabin against the foot of a cliff 6,000 feet high." Health Notes

For the protection of the public a law was passed in 1921 making it mandatory for every person who is employed in any public eating place, bakery, meat market, dairy or candy factory to secure a health certificate from a reputable physician. This law is intended to eliminate all persons having any communicable disease from handling any foodstuffs. These certificates must be renewed every six months.

Typhoid fever, diphtheria, and amoebic dysentery carriers have been found numbers of times working in dairies, cafes, and other places where food is prepared or offered for sale. It is not too much for the consuming public to demand that those who sell them food shall be free from communicable diseases. If the

is to purge himself, not his neighbor. When he does so judge himself, he is apt to find himself somewhat nauseated at what he sees. He realizes his own need of the grace and power of God. When he follows through with complete surrender, he becomes a changed man and is soon, with loving sympathy, seeking to change his neighbor.

Lastly, the Oxford Group offers to the church the inspiration of Tangible Results, as a result of aiming at the purpose, and following the technique and accepting and living by the standard. These results may be briefly stated as: Relief from the burden of Sin and Worry; Freedom from all Complexes—Superiority, Inferiority, etc.; a Christ-centered and unified life of joyous, spontaneous, God-directed service; a first-hand experience of God through Christ, the Bible, Prayer and the listening for the voice of the Holy Spirit; warnings of wrong motives, thoughts and actions which might lead to sin; Insight into the difficulties of those one is trying to help; Solutions to difficult problems; innumerable examples of changed lives who are actually finding, obeying and using the power and direction of God in daily living; effective witnessing in changing of other lives, and finally, the spreading of God's Kingdom from life to life around the world.

Lord, Thy kingdom come by Thy will's being done on earth as it is in heaven.—Brownwood Bulletin.

examinations for food handlers are properly carried out, much good will be accomplished in protecting the health of the buyer as well as giving the applicant for a certificate accurate information as to his physical condition.

The Texas State Department of health has repeatedly advocated periodic physical examinations for the general public, as it is during these examinations that many incipient diseases may be discovered and treatment begun in time to stop its development to such a degree that treatment will not be helpful. Many deaths and much suffering would be eliminated if every one would have this periodic check. In the case of food handlers, only the diseases that are communicable will withhold the issuance of a certificate. The cost is money well invested and the consuming public should demand that those they buy from have this evidence of good health.

Hamilton

Rev. Gid J. Bryan, pastor of Hamilton First Methodist Church and Mrs. Bryan, popularly known throughout the state as President of the Central Texas Conference Woman's Missionary Society, spent Wednesday in Fort Worth.

Six hundred Methodist ministers and laymen of Central and Northwest Texas conferences were in Fort Worth Wednesday for a full-day rally commemorating the 200th anniversary of the conversion of John Wesley, founder of Methodism.

Hamilton County is to have a new $30,000 modern jail building according to information given the Herald-Record on Thursday of this week by Judge J. C. Barrow. Warrants will be issued for financing the project of the erection of the new structure, a two-story building of steel reinforced concrete.

To Prof. Virgil M. Santy and his biology class belong the distinction of being awarded a credit, which added to other credits of affiliation raise the standard of the Hamilton High School to a ranking equal or above that of any other public school in the State District.

Hamilton was listed along with a number of other Central Texas towns in receiving 15 per cent credit for good fire record. Fire Chief Dow stated.

Hamilton, the county and the State suffered a distinct loss thru the death on Sunday morning, February 20, of Mrs. William S. Tate. She was a wonderful woman, whose qualities would have made for widely published greatness had her sphere had wider boundaries.

In conversation on Thursday morning with Alderman Ted Chesley, who is acting for the City Council in the development plans for the James Memorial Park and municipal swimming pool in Hamilton, the Herald-Record representative learned that work is still delayed on the construction of the pool. However, Mr. Chesley gave assurance that the swimmers would have a nice place to swim by the beginning of hot weather, if not a good deal sooner.

An interesting proposition of progress revealed by Mr. Chesley is that Engineer L. S. Secrest, who was in Hamilton from Gatesville on Wednesday, is working on plans and specifications for landscaping and beautifying the park grounds to be submitted for approval as a WPA project.

Sometime during the shades of the night that bridged Sunday and Monday, February 13 and 14, Campbell Perkins, 86 years of age, "crossed over the river to rest under the shade of the trees." When he did not awaken on Monday morning as usual he was found in his bed calmly peacefully wrapped in the slumber of death.

Wayne and Freda Massey and Floyd and Lloyd Daniel visited in the Robertson home Sunday afternoon.

RUB soothing, warming Musterole well into your chest and throat. Musterole is NOT just a salve. It's a "counter-irritant" containing good old-fashioned cold remedies—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor and other valuable ingredients. That's why it gets such fine results—better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. It penetrates, stimulates, warms and soothes, drawing out local congestion and pain. Used by millions for 25 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong. Tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau, No. 4367.

DRIVE TO LIFT AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY OUT OF SLUMP

A national drive to sweep the American automobile industry out of the current recession and stimulate American business generally was announced by Alvin Macauley, speaking for every American automobile manufacturer and the nation's 46,000 automobile dealers.

The campaign, to be known as "National Used Car Exchange Week" and scheduled for March 5 to 12, is an outgrowth of recent conferences at the White House between President Roosevelt and leaders of the automobile industry, Mr. Macauley said. President Roosevelt has been advised of plans for the campaign, which is the first co-operative effort ever undertaken in which all American manufacturers have taken part.

The campaign is timed at the outset of the spring selling season when both new and used cars usually begin to move in greatest volume. Mr. Macauley said. It is aimed primarily at stimulating the disposal of used car stocks now in dealer hands. Once this is accomplished, a substantial increase in car manufacturing schedules and employment of wage earners in the automobile factories is anticipated.

To support the campaign, Mr. Macauley announced, the manufacturers will spend $1,250,000 in newspaper, radio and outdoor advertising and in other promotional channels. Two-thirds of the advertising budget will be spent in newspapers.

TRUE STORIES
PROGRESS THROUGH CHEMISTRY
By Dr. Jas. K. Hunt, E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc.

Cellulose as a Chemical Raw Material

MUCH of the progress made in recent years toward better living is due to the chemist. Starting with raw materials found in nature, he has created hundreds of new products for our health, comfort, and happiness. Working in the twilight realm of atoms and molecules, the chemist has found that cellulose is a fruitful raw material for making a wide variety of beautiful and useful new products. A conservative estimate is that this widely distributed material is at present put to more than 10,000 uses.

Cellulose is one of the most plentiful of nature's raw materials. Millions of tons of it are produced each year as the fibers or framework of practically all plants. Cotton "linters," — the short "fuzz" left on the seed after the longer fibers have been removed by ginning, and trees such as the spruce and fir, are the principal sources of cellulose used for chemical purposes. It is estimated that the United States uses each year approximately 180,000,000 pounds of cotton linters and more than 200,000,000 pounds of wood pulp.

Among the more important products based on cellulose are rayon and transparent cellulose film, which together required the cotton linters and wood pulp from an estimated 6,000,000 acres of land in 1936.

When cellulose is treated with a mixture of nitric and sulfuric acids, a product known as nitrocellulose or pyroxylin is formed, which is the basis for quick-drying lacquers, motion picture film, sporting powder, and the pyroxylin plastics which are put to myriad uses—from scuffless heels for women's shoes to toothbrush handles.

Treated with acetic acid, cotton linters give us another important cellulose derivative used in making acetate rayon, safety X-ray film, airplane window shields, fountain pens and lamp shades.

Take a look at your automobile. The safety glass is made safe through the use of a sheet of transparent cellulose plastic sandwiched between two sheets of plate glass. The finish is based on cellulose. The leather-like upholstery is a cotton fabric coated with a cellulose compound. Likewise the steering wheel may be made from a cellulose derivative, and the fabric of a recently-developed heavy-duty tire is rayon made from cellulose. Even the new man-made sponge with which you wash your car had its origin, not in the sea, but in the cotton field or forest of towering spruce.

The draperies and bed spreads in your home, the washable window shades, your wife's gown, the cement that sticks the soles onto her shoes, her handbag, the colorful talon fastener of her gown, her costume jewelry and toilet articles, the tinted enamel she has on her fingernails, her fountain pen, the water-proof binding on the latest "best seller," the transparent wrapping on the candy and other goods you buy, your buttons and buckles, even your fishing tackle, all may have had their origin in the chemist's amazing raw material—cellulose.
