South Africa Has Smaller Wool Clip

It is reported from British sources that the 1937 wool clip in the Union of South Africa now is officially estimated to be smaller than that of 1936, instead of larger as originally estimated by the South African Department of Agriculture in July.

The decrease, as compared with last season, as a result of drouth, which is reported to have adversely affected the spring and long-wooled clip. The autumn clip (April-May), on the other hand, is expected to be unusually large.

Texas Anglers Are Urged to Observe
State Regulations

"Since there will be persons using artificial bait and possibly a few visiting from other states, there are several fishing laws that should be explained," declared Game Warden John Wood recently in quoting the following regulations:

Licenses: Artificial lure licenses are issued to any resident of Texas who uses artificial baits of any kind. No one is exempted from buying this license. The price is $1.10.

A non-resident fishing license is issued to anyone who is not a bonafide resident of Texas—this means that one must live in Texas six months from date of making application for a resident license. For a five-day fishing license the price is $1.10 and the price for a non-resident fishing license good for one year is $5. If artificial lure is used by a non-resident a resident artificial license must be bought.

It is unlawful to sell bass or crappie at any time. It shall be unlawful for any person to set or drag in any of the fresh water of the state any net or seine made of wire or other metallic substance.

An artificial lure is any manufactured bait or imitation of a natural bait.

A few simple rules in handling the fish you catch: If one catches a small fish that will be turned back into the water, the hands should be wet before touching the fish. This prevents the disturbance of the slime that covers the fish. Should this be broken, sores will form on the fish. The fish should be returned to the water carefully and not thrown thirty or forty feet to the water.

Do not take more fish than you can use. The surplus that one takes will be wasted and will never do anyone any good, where as if they are left in the water, some of your friends will have the pleasure of catching them.

Did you know that every fish that the Texas Game Fish and Oyster Commission raises for free distribution to the waters of Texas costs seven-tenths of one cent each? You can see the vast expense when this cost is compared to the state as a whole. Eleven years ago the cost was 47 cents per fish. From this you can see that the science of fish production is for your benefit. It is up to you fishermen to help us conserve our fish.—Brownwood Banter

Attic Ventilating Fans Add Comfort to Home in Summer

In many sections of the country hot-weather nights are often so severe as to preclude sleep during exaggerated hot spells.

Houses may be made more comfortable and livable by the installation of attic ventilation.

A fan is used that has a large capacity and is located so that it has a free discharge to the outside and is easily accessible for oiling and repair.

Ample allowance should be made for the circulation of air thruout the house. This may be done by leaving doors or windows open and leaving the attic stairway open as far as possible.

By using the fan at night the best results are obtained. The fan is ordinarily so arranged that it sucks the air from the rooms and discharges it into the night.

For daytime efficiency it is advisable to equip windows with Venetian blinds and awnings which will exclude a lot of heat that under ordinary conditions would penetrate into the house.

Much of the cost of this type of modernization may be financed with funds from private lending institutions operating under the provisions of the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

The county recently completed a $250,000 glass and stone structure for executive offices, one of the most modernistic structures in West Texas. Odessians are interested in the demolishing of the old building because ago J. M. Frame the Pacific agent here was addressed to the Texas Pacific agent whenever the should be destroyed.

Birthdays of the Blue Club was celebrated in the home of Mrs. Will Mesdames Beulah and Will Burks as hostesses.

Planned to have a picnic on the creek in the Burks home, but a rain the night before prevented our picnic, so Mrs. Burks had us in her home.

The group began to gather at 8 o'clock. The morning was spent in having a good time. At the noon hour a Buffet lunch was served from the dining table. In the center was a large white cake with 3 candles. Many tempting dishes were enjoyed by the club members and a number of playing games.

Everyone enjoyed the spelling match from the old Blue Back speller, also the games of "42" and dominos.

All too soon we reluctantly bade our hostesses goodbye, wishing for another such a good time.

The regular meeting of the club was held on May 3 in the home of Mrs. Dan Covington. The afternoon was spent in quilting on a Log Cabin quilt.

Our guests were mesdames Will Blackburn, J. T. Hart and Ed Dennis.

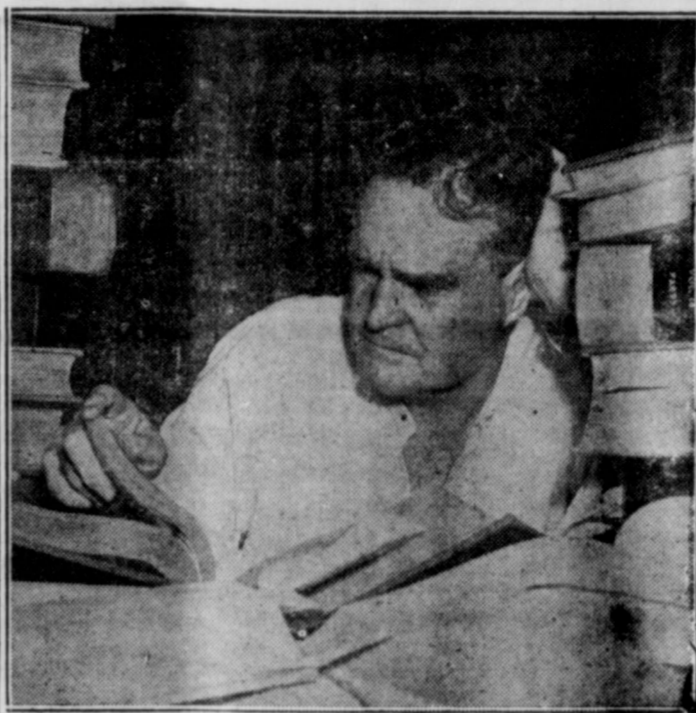

Our hostess assisted by Mrs. Hart served a delicious ice drink with fruit and cake.

At a late hour we adjourned to meet with Mrs. M. L. Casbeer on May 17.—Reporter.

BRUCE BARTON SEES RETURN TO "MIDDLE ROAD"

Writer, Now Congressman, Says "Business Must Learn to Get Along with Government."

Congressman Bruce Barton

FEELING that conditions have reached the lowest possible point when youngsters converge on Washington and unashamedly demand three-and-one-half billions of dollars to keep them in comforts and provide them with educations, and openly threaten governmental representatives with "the consequences" if they don't hand over the money, Bruce Barton, prominent business man and writer who last year launched a career in politics, has declared that the time has come for America to take a middle road back to economic sanity.

"With business and government both doubting their own infallibility," said Barton in a Cosmopolitan Magazine article published today, "what is the next step? People obviously are getting tired of undigested legislation, name calling and hullabaloo. They are impatient with Big Business and Big Government alike. The left wingers are losing their lure, and the tough nuts on the right are being cracked. The country is about ready to swing back to the middle of the road."

In his article, Mr. Barton severely criticizes both Big Business and the New Deal. "Big Business," he said, "took more than his share; and when the people began to criticize him for it, he clung to tradition and his 'rights' until the slow process of law actually threw hurdles in his way." "Business," says Barton, "so capable and ingenious in improving and selling its product, was far less progressive in its human relations. Much of the time it was behind public opinion when it should have been ahead."

Concerning the New Deal, he says, "We may fairly say that the major problems which the New Dealers promised to settle are still far from settlement. There were at least ten million persons out of work in 1933. More than forty billion dollars have been spent, and the public debt has reached a terrifying total. But some ten millions of willing workers are still out of work." Now let business neither sulk nor exit. Now let it humble itself and step into government and say: "Together we shall serve—you with the power that must be supreme, and I with all the science, skill and resources which I have learned to use so well."

Mr. Barton is resigned to the fact of unemployment. He says: "Unemployment is world wide. Unemployment is the biggest business in the United States. Government and industry merely add to their burdens and expense by trying to blame it on each other."

Although Mr. Barton has long been a regular contributor to many national magazines, the story appearing in the June issue of the Cosmopolitan is his first political article since assuming his duties last January as Congressman from the 17th Congressional (silk stocking) District in New York.

He's All For Women Working

I see where up in Boston a big utility company is turning off all its women help that aim to get married after the first of the month, writes Fred Gipson in the San Angelo Weekly Standard. And the the state legislature is all festered up worse than a stone bruise on a kid's heel over the question of women's rights in holding jobs. The house even passed a measure that would penalize all married women civil service applicants. The senate, though not likely just to be contrary killed the thing. But the house isn't satisfied, and its members are milling around like red ants when a cow steps in their hole.

Let me be kicked to death by grasshoppers if Boston men don't take the cake for being the most loomed bunch I ever heard tell of. They'll keep messing around up there until the women take a notion the men are right and all quit work, and then look what a fix this country'll be in. Because the thing'll spread, just like all women's fads. And the first thing a man knows, there won't be a woman in the country that will turn a hand.

And then a man's chances for getting married and quitting work and still eating three square meals a day will be slimmer than ever.

ONLY YOUR MILEAGE MERCHANT PLATES YOUR ENGINE

Do you need any reminder of what oil you bought? Not if it delivers smooth long mileage that you can't forget! Then here's the real big value of the little drain tag you get from Your Mileage Merchant: he marks it with your mileage today as you change to his patented Germ Processed oil, and then you can keep tabs on how far you go before you ever need another quart of OIL-PLATED engine.

OIL-PLATING is exclusive with Conoco Germ Processed oil. The patent-guarded Germ Process forces this "magnetize" on to the working parts in the form of a slippery OIL-PLATING. The parts that used to wear worst and make your oil "rub out" fastest, now wear this all-over, deep-seated OIL-PLATING. It can drain down while your engine is stopped, nor wear in all the whirl of 4,000 revolutions a minute. ## Center City

Sunday was Mother's Day. An appropriate program was rendered at the Baptist Church, after which Bro. Hunt preached a touching sermon paying tributes to mothers. The church was beautiful with decorations. I am hoping every mother was happy and no one was forgotten by her children.

Last week closed our school. A picnic Friday was enjoyed by a large crowd. A program was rendered in the morning. Barbecue and all that goes with it to make a good dinner was served at the noon hour. 4-H boys calves were judged, goat-roping, goat milking, ball games, etc were afternoon excitements. Joe Shelby Langford's calf won first place, and Foy Von McCasland won second and third places with his calves. A number of other fat calves were entered and all are mighty proud of the work these boys are doing.

Safety in Numbers!

New Figures on Road Maps Help Drivers

New Conoco Maps Make You Think in Hours Instead of Miles

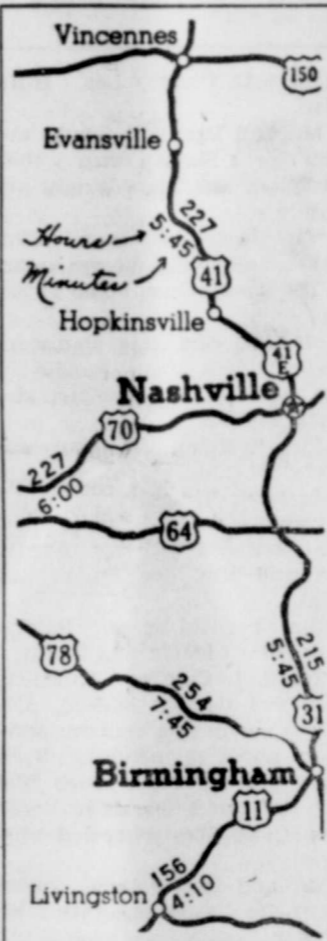

PONCA CITY, Okla. — Numerals that indicate the average driving time from town to town in hours and minutes have been added to United States maps issued by the Conoco Travel Bureau, America's largest free travel service which is maintained by the Continental Oil Company. This new automobile safety development is the most advanced road map improvement in recent years.

The new driving time figures, which are printed in red beneath each mileage figure, are expected to save the driver the trouble of calculating his own probable time and to encourage him to think in terms of reasonable time of arrival instead of the distance he has to cover.

Continental's driving time figures are the result of long investigation and careful checking of practically all of the well-travelled roads in the country. The hours and minutes as they appear on the new maps represent effective but reasonable speeds under normal traffic conditions and over dry roads.

In each case, consideration has been given to the nature of the route and to whether there are an unusual number of hills, turns or other features. For example, where a distance of 182 miles of flat straightaway in Arizona requires only 4 hours and 30 minutes at a safe pace, the same distance in the West Virginia hills requires 5 hours and 27 minutes.

The driver is expected to make allowances if he is in the habit of driving unusually fast or slow or if he encounters bad weather or heavy traffic. In test use, motorists seem to have no difficulty in learning how much allowance to make after a few trials, and the easy calculation of the probable hour of arrival appears to set a standard that removes some of the uncertainty and makes for more comfortable driving.

THE ABUSE OF LEARNING

"Learning is fallen into contempt, because everyone claims a learned education for their children, and to have them maintained in the universities and schools, or eminent colleges, at the public expense; with even attending whether their children have the genius and capacity requisite to make any progress in learning. As it is of much greater importance for the good of the State and of society that persons who are not fit for learning be educated in such manner as they may be employed in manufactures, in trades, in the army, and even in agriculture, according to their station and inclination and find hereby means of gaining their bread . . . (It is ordained that those) to whom the inspection of schools is entrusted visit the schools carefully and . . . distinguish the young people who give proofs of their talents and application from such as have no genius, or who on account of their laziness, indolence, or small inclination to study, are nowise qualified for a learned education . . . that they encourage the first to continue their studies, and give them the assistance they shall need, and on the other, that they dissuade the last from literary pursuits, and exhort them to apply themselves to some manufacturing or to learn a trade or some other honest profession, not allowing them to be instructed in any other thing, but in religion, and reading, writing and arithmetic; that we may no longer see any of those students who, being arrived at the age of 20 or 30 years, are still a burden to the public and to themselves, do little honor to their masters or regents."

This is not a statement of the present, but a proclamation of the great German Emperor, Frederick the Great, which he published 230 years ago, nearly a quarter of a century before the birth of our own George Washington. It was republished in a letter to the New York Times in 1922, and the EAGLE is indebted to Dr. J. E. Brooking for a clipping of it.

The condition which the proclamation relates is not unknown to us. Everyone is personally acquainted with those whose education has apparently been wasted. Whether the King's plan would be workable now is at least debatable, but this much is certain: education to accomplish its purpose should be fitted to the individual. It is as unreasonable to believe that exactly the same course of education will suit every student as it is to believe that they could all wear the same size hat or shoes.

If all the children to whom "book learning" came with difficulty had been diverted to other subjects, the world would have lost a few, but very few great scholars. On the other hand they might have become still more famous for accomplishments in other fields. We are constantly being reminded from cases in real life, that the man with innate ability can rise above the deficiency of his education in school, and that the man without the ability is helped very little, if at all, by years of schooling.

If only those high school students who displayed conspicuous ability and industry were permitted to attend college, our state education bill would take a tremendous drop, our college football squads would be sadly depleted, and higher education would present a very different appearance.

But whether we would then have better men and women, more intelligent voters, and office holders of greater ability and integrity, no one knows.

CAUSE FOR PRIDE

Comparison of the criminal docket of District court at Goldthwaite with the dockets in nearby county seats reveals a condition that is cause for gratification on the part of citizens here. Although Mills County now has only two terms of district court a year, the last being held in September, 1937, only five indictments were returned by the grand jury last week, and two of these were returned to the jurisdiction of the lower courts.

Of course there is plenty of room for improvement, and it goes without saying that there may be some offenses meriting indictment for which sufficient evidence could not be secured by the grand jury. But it is evident that on the whole the people of Mills County are law-abiding and peaceable. Even in civil suits, there is far less litigation before the court than in most counties this size.

This is just cause for congratulation, but not cause for relaxing our efforts to do still better. The critical problem that is before us is that of developing honest, law-abiding men and women from our growing boys and girls. And to do that, the setting of good examples, in little things as well as great, is most important. It is not enough for a man to steer clear of the law's clutches himself, he should live so as to encourage those who may be watching him to lead blameless lives themselves. A little well-doing is worth far more than a lot of advice.

Gargantua's Trainer Snakes Bites

One night, about two years ago, Mrs. Gertrude Lintz, wife of a Brooklyn, N. Y., stomach specialist, awakened suddenly when she felt something heavy climb onto the foot of her bed.

Quickly she turned on the light and found a 200-pound gorilla sitting there; she snapped off the light to keep from frightening him, and cautiously got out of bed. Taking one of his hands in hers she led him softly down the stairs, luring him back into the cage with a banana.

That was the last time Gargantua the Great was out of a cage. Last week, in a new air-conditioned glassed-in prison, he was being shown to thousands of New Yorkers as "the most ferocious animal on earth." Star of the new Ringling Brothers & Barnum and Bailey circus, he now weighs more than 460 pounds, is 5 feet, 7 inches tall and reputedly has the strength of 27 men.

Gargantua is the only gorilla ever raised successfully in captivity. All the credit for his magnificent condition must go to Mrs. Lintz. She bought him five years ago when he was just a 20-pound baby, and tended him as carefully as a child, keeping him caged on the back porch of her Brooklyn home. Last December she sold him to the circus for about $10,000.

Mrs. Lintz, an English woman, had never raised a gorilla before. Her animal experience, however, had included raising 280 St. Bernard's, many of them prize-winners, and 16 chimpanzees. When Captain Arthur Phillips, of the Barber Steamship Line, brought Gargantua to her, the baby gorilla was in danger of going blind from acid thrown into his face by a disgruntled sailor. Mrs. Lintz put drops in his eyes several times a day, sang him to sleep in her arms, oiled his coat, and had specialists for all his illnesses.

Gargantua's playmate was Massa, a younger ape which Mrs. Lintz had cured of pneumonia. The two played about the house and yard. Gargantua liked to take pictures off the wall. Massa liked to sit on top of the piano and to mop the kitchen floor.

One day, Mrs. Lintz fell on the wet floor, striking Massa's foot and knocking over the pail of water. Massa was frightened and charged. Before his owner could escape, the enraged gorilla had bitten her 22 times—deeply. When she recovered, he was friendly but apparently knew he had dominated her, so

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges everyone to be careful to prevent snakes bites when in the country. In Texas the chief offender is the rattlesnake, and, contrary to common belief, it does not always rattle before it strikes.

About seventy-five percent of all bites occur on the lower extremities and could be prevented to a large extent, by wearing high top boots or leggings. About twenty per cent occur on the hands and arms. Care should be exercised in not putting the hands in invisible places when climbing rocks, and to look before picking up anything that may be obscured by vegetation, brush or rocks.

If one is bitten, prompt action is necessary and a physician be obtained as soon as possible. No time should be lost in removing the poison by suction; this can be done by a suction cup. First, a tourniquet should be applied above the wound, so as to increase congestion and assist in washing out the poison. A cross cut incision with a sharp, clean knife or razor blade should be made over each fang mark, or preferably to connect the two fang punctures. These cuts should be at least a quarter of an inch deep and at least that long. Suction should be applied for at least a half hour. The tourniquet should be released every ten or fifteen minutes for a minute at a time.

If bitten by a snake, do not run or get overheated; do not take alcoholic stimulants; do not use potassium permanganate (which is now known to be of no value as an antidote) to cauterize the wound; and do not depend on home remedies.

she sold him to the Philadelphia zoo.

Soon after Gargantua's nocturnal escapade of two years ago Mrs. Lintz had to stop entering his cage because he flew into a rage when she left. She continued to oil and brush his coat through the bars, but he had grown up and was no longer a pet. Now that he is in show business, Mrs. Lintz hopes to raise orang-utans and gibbons. —Pathfinder

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Views of the Nation's Press on Topics of Interest

This Nation's Forces And Their Mission

In many respects people are alike the world over. There are more followers than leaders—which is as it should be, to avoid confusion. That is not to say that independent thought is lacking among the followers, but the records show that any people as a whole can be mightily swayed toward a common purpose.

Most men in all nations are peaceful; civilization has advanced that far. However, given a plausible cause, they will fight. Those extreme pacifists who insist that they would not go to war under any circumstances are reckoning without mob psychology. An inhuman atrocity can afford the basis for propagandists to dilate upon, and before the pacifists realize what is happening to them, they are cheering with everybody else, singing patriotic songs and chafing at the delay which keeps them from the front lines.

Secretary of War Woodring takes a realistic view of world politics. He observes that democratic nations now are strongly pacifists; but he recognizes the possibility that, "if pressed too far, a wave of indignation might sweep over them that would make it extremely difficult to keep the peace."

While he considers that the United States always will be ready to co-operate for veritable world peace, Secretary Woodring perceives that a strong national defense is the most effective insurance against war under present circumstances. In his latest report to the President, Mr. Woodring praised the Nation's military forces for efficiency and equipment, but favored a larger active and reserve personnel, more guns and planes.

Viewing the dangerous situation in Europe, Secretary Woodring points out that dictators have geared their fighting-machines to strike swiftly and that defenses must be adjusted accordingly. He wastes no sympathy upon "have-not" nations' pleas that economic stress dictate expansion, because they are using their foreign exchange for armament and thus lowering the living standards in their countries.

Most Americans will agree with the Secretary that this Nation's armed strength must be used to discourage aggression, and otherwise be purely defensive.—San Antonio Express.

Unemployment

The special committee on unemployment and relief of the United States Senate estimates the number of unemployed persons in the country at the present time at 12,870,000. This figure approximates the number of unemployed during the dark days of 1932. The committee believes that approximately 2,000,000 people have lost their jobs since last November. It is also estimated that approximately 14 per cent of the people in America are now beneficiaries of public aid either from the Federal, state or local governments.

Trade at home—Get the Best Say you saw it in the Eagle!

What Do Voters Want

Representative A. T. McKinney of the Huntsville district, not being a candidate for another term in the Texas House, is free to speak his mind. In an Austin dispatch he is quoted as saying that "the bunk and hypocrisy in politics is amazing." That, of course, is not news, but it is unusual for such a statement to come from an office holder, nor would it have come probably had he been a candidate for an office unless he was running for pasture and not with the expectation of being elected.

Then the representatives is quoted as adding that "Texas newspapers do little about it. They carry it all—speeches full of the usual bunk. So the public seldom gets any political information. What is the matter with the newspapers in Texas? If the public gets little political information it is not the fault of the newspapers, but the fault of the candidate and office holders for not giving political information. The newspapers cannot make political information—they can print only what the office holders and candidates do or say—and if that is not political information it is not to be charged to the newspapers."

Candidates long ago learned that what the people want is not political information. Real information is too dry a subject. They want hot stuff. Witness the cries that once followed the Fergusonian invectives, of "Pour it on 'em, Jim," and the same cries that years afterwards, in the last few days, were reported to have punctuated the Thompsonian gubernatorial spudding-in at Sulphur Springs. That's what the voters want and what they get, first from the politicians themselves and then from the newspapers, the duty of the latter being to present things as they are.—San Angelo Weekly Standard.

Do You Know That—

A new transparent can made of a plastic material with tin top and bottom has been placed on the market. It is reported Germany has ordered 133,000,000 of these cans to conserve the tin supply of that country.—The persons who have one automobile accident usually have a second and often a third.

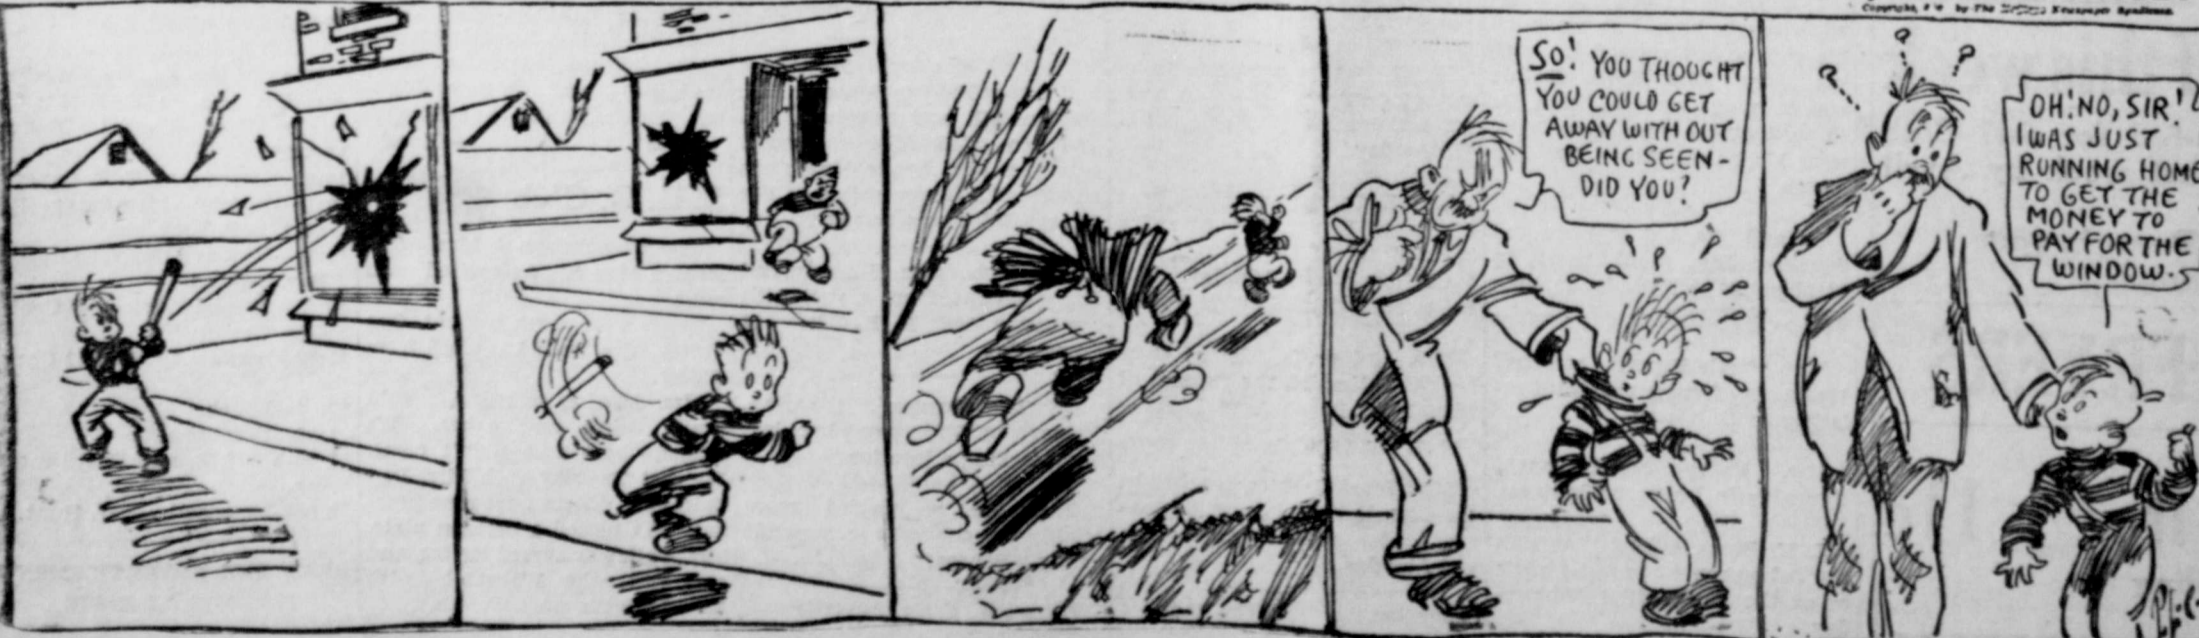

A survey shows that while "accident repeater" constitute less than 4 per cent of the population this group is responsible for 40 per cent of the country's auto accidents.—You read a newspaper from the light of the 2 billion candlepower beacon atop the Palmolive Building, Chicago, at a distance of 27 miles.—Federal Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald says the FHA program will lead to $100,000,000 of private construction before the year ends.—The bureau of Mines has advocated the purchase of a stockpile of manganese for national defense purposes.—A new process has been invented by the coal mining industry which increases efficiency 10 per cent.

Lampasas

According to many farmers and some local buyers who also have grain crops of their own, the crop in the Lampasas section is the most promising this season that it has been in many years. Oats is the principal grain crop here, although several farmers have wheat and few have barley.

The total rainfall in Lampasas the first four months of 1938 was far above the average, the amount being 11.38 inches. Tuesday, May 3, a little rain fell here only .12 inch. The total rainfall for the first four months of 1937 was 7.20 inches; 1936, it was 3.20 inches.

R. L. Harrell, D. F. Moore, W. T. Moore, J. Wesley Smith, Clyde Walker, J. W. Baxter and other leading pecan men of Lampasas County, supported by W. J. Milligan, E. E. and Guy Reisen and other San Saba celebrities, staged a real district pecan meet in the orchard of D. F. Moore at Bend Friday. There were about three hundred people who were served an excellent barbecue dinner.

More than a hundred people, representing seventeen towns and cities, were present at the Lampasas Methodist Church for all-day meeting of the Llano District of the W. M. U. The cities and towns represented by one or more persons, including eight visiting ministers of the churches, were: San Antonio, San Saba, Kerrville, Liberty Hill, Mason, Star, Leander, Blanco, Marble Falls, Lometa, Bertram, Victoria, Burnett, Briggs, Art, Goldthwaite.

J. Y. Hamilton, liquor control officer for this district, Sheriff White of Hamilton County and Barney Preston, deputy Sheriff here, arrested a man and woman Wednesday afternoon at the intersection of Highway 66 and No. 74, the couple coming toward Lampasas. They were taken to the Public Safety Department, Austin, where the man was charged with violation of the Mann Act, the two not being married and of forgery to which he plead guilty. The car driven was a 1929 Plymouth roadster bearing California licenses and containing various newspaper clippings of prominent murder cases, including the Frome case, and two suitcases of very nice women's clothing. The woman wore a diamond ring and another good ring. More than 100 master keys of various kinds were in possession of the two.—Record

San Saba

The San Saba County 135,000 Road Bond Issue went "over the top" last Saturday in a way that showed a quiet determination of the people of the county to "pull the county out of the mud," once and for all time.

At Bend last Friday seven county Agents heard pecan specialists from Texas A&M College and from the Department of Agriculture tell 300 interested persons the best methods of budding and grafting pecans and to list the leading varieties for this section, when the group met at the Frank Moore orchards. The county agents present were W. P. Weaver, Mills; W. P. Graham, Lampasas; T. H. Royder, Travis; Dor W. Brown, Williamson; Jack Williams, Hays; E. R. Lawrence, Bosque; and C. E. Tisdale, San Saba.

San Saba almost had a wholesale jail delivery last Sunday with ten inmates, 8 or 9 of them in on felony charges, but the attempt was nipped just in the nick of time when a hole in a screen window at the jail aroused the suspicion of the sheriff's staff.

The former home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Howard has been sold to J. Roy Taylor and wife, and the final papers are being prepared on the sale.

Biss Betsy Jane Walters arrived Tuesday from San Angelo, where she is employed, to visit with her parents, Judge and Mrs. G. A. Walters.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

ENLARGEMENTS

camera, and showed up too large in the finished picture. The negative was "masked" in making the enlargement so that only the head showed. Result: a much better picture.

When you get a good picture, enlarge it! Any good snap is better when it's big. Enlarging "opens up" the details—lets you see interesting things you didn't see before. And a large picture just naturally has more appeal to the eye. Give a person two pictures, equally good, and he will automatically look at the larger one first. Moreover, he will look at it longer.

Don't let small size or surplus material handicap your pictures. Any snapshot can be enlarged somewhat, and some, especially those made on fine-grained film, can be increased many times in size. Very likely you have pictures in your album right now, that, if enlarged, would be worth framing and hanging in the home. Try it. You may discover you're a better snapshotter than you thought!

Brownwood

City officials and representatives of the Bureau of Air Commerce and Works Progress Administration conferred here last week on plans for improvement of Brownwood airport.

All Carnegie Library Board officers were re-elected to serve for a second year at a meeting Tuesday night. Re-elected are: Joe Weatherby, president; T. H. Hart vice-president; Mrs. B. A. Fowler, secretary-treasurer.

Twelve Scouts with their Scout master, A. R. Hochhalter, went on an overnight hike last Friday. Camp was made for the night close to McClelland's tank. Here food for supper and breakfast was cooked on hot rocks. During the evening initiation ceremonies were held.

Brownwood this week is boasting the only operating glass lamp chimney plant in Texas, with the recent establishment of a factory here by Clyde Graham and Joe Erberich, formerly of Wichita Falls. The plant is located at the corner of Greenleaf and Wilson streets. Production will start within a few days, and glass products other than lamp chimneys will be added later.

As actual construction on unit 1 of the million-dollar Lake Brownwood irrigation system got underway the past few weeks, plans for the second unit are rapidly being drawn. Estimated cost of the second unit is $275,000 to $300,000, and will cover a filtration plant, pumping plant and reservoir for Brownwood water supply and the remaining seven miles of main canal.—Banner.

Carloadings

Santa Fe system carloadings for the week ending April 30 were 18,195 as compared with 22,932 for the same week last year.

Cars received from connections totaled 4,920 as compared with 7,516 for the same week last year. Total cars moved were 23,115 as compared with 30,448 during the same week of 1937.

Santa Fe handled a total of 23,636 cars in the preceding week of this year.

MAY FETE BEST EVER PRESENTED HERE

The May Fete staged in the auditorium Tuesday evening, May 3, was the best of its kind ever presented here. Each class had its representatives in court, but the main program was a presentation of the primary grades.

The first part of the program was the entrance of the Queen and her attendants. The court was preceded by the herald, Luther Tyson and trumpeter, Pat Chandler. Then the dukes and duchesses of the various classes were presented. They were as follows:

First grade, De Rose Whittenburg and Ed Gilliam; second grade, Patricia Ann Maricle and Jim Bob Steen; third grade, Erma Joyce Thompson; fourth grade, Nettie Ruth Brucks and Bobbie Johnson; fifth grade, Frances Ann Tate and Alton Buford; sixth grade, Dorothy Nell Rudd and Hershel Hutchings; seventh grade, Evelyn Burns and Pat Bohannon; freshman, Barbara Walden and Floyd Sansom; sophomore, Allene Mahan and Ellis Mahan; junior, Helen Reid and Dean Dickerson; senior, Gladys Kerby and Clark Davis.

This group was followed by Prime Minister A. H. Smith. Two tiny flower girls, Ray Ann Ford and Nell Carmen Wilkins, and the crown bearer, Sybil Ann Reid, preceded the queen.

Her majesty, Princess Oleta Henry, escorted by Boyd Hunt, was the last to appear. Jane Ann Steen acted as train bearer. The Prime Minister crowned the queen, then the court retired after paying homage to her.

The second part of the program was an operetta directed by the primary teachers, Misses Adams, Taylor and Ely. Mrs. Saylor served as pianist.

The children were dressed to represent various flowers—pansies, buttercups, morning glories, sunflowers, roses, tulips, and violets. The primary teachers made the flower heads worn by the pupils. The program was well planned and well executed.

Food Prices

The Department of Agriculture estimates that it costs about $1 per week less to feed the average American family of five today than it did 10 months ago. Food prices have declined about 10 per cent since last September and there is every reason to believe that they will remain low for the balance of 1938.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

THE AWFUL PRICE YOU PAY FOR BEING NERVOUS

Quivering nerves can make you old and haggard looking, cranky and hard to live with—can keep you awake nights and rob you of good health, good times and jobs.

What you should try is a particularly good woman's tonic—and could you ask for anything whose benefits are better proved than that world-famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Let its wholesome herbs and roots help Nature calm your shrieking nerves, tone up your system, give more energy and make life worth living again.

More than a million women have reported benefit—why not let Pinkham's Compound help YOU, too, to go "smiling thru" trying times like it has other grateful women for the past 3 generations? IT MUST BE GOOD!

EDUCATION

the Broad Highway

Our Schools are Worthy Institutions

Today, as never before, we see the necessity of broader education. Barriers crash before those who are prepared. Every child should be given the opportunity of attending first-class educational institutions. We are fortunate in Mills County. Our schools rank high among those of the state.

To those who have made our schools possible, we pay tribute. Likewise, we salute the teaching profession, men and women who have given more than liberally of their time and effort in making our schools outstanding in the field of education. Their qualifications tell a story of careful preparation.

After deliberating for only an hour, a jury in the trial of G. W. Chancellor, found the defendant not guilty in district court here Wednesday afternoon. Chancellor was tried for murder in connection with the shooting to death of R. L.
