Bobbie Fairman Stung by Centipede

On Wednesday night as Bobbie Fairman was preparing to retire, she took a fancy pillow off of her bed and something dropped out of the cover on her foot and stung her several times before she could shake it off.

Her mother came when she heard her scream and found a centipede about 8 inches long crawling away.

The doctor was summoned immediately and advised hot packs. As we go to press, Thursday, she is resting much better.

Health Notes

"Infantile paralysis can be expected to occur more frequently during the next three or four months," predicts Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. "This is always more frequent during the hot months."

"The germ responsible for infantile paralysis is so small that it escapes detection even with the most powerful microscopes. The first symptoms are usually vomiting, headache, fever, stiffness of the neck, pain in the legs, irritability and drowsiness. Complete recovery may follow such an illness. In the more severe cases, the germ penetrates the nervous system, resulting in paralysis of nerves controlling one or more groups of muscles. Some remarkable recoveries have been noted.

"Files or other insects have not been demonstrated to play a part in the spread of this disease. Infection spreads from person to person with the droplets transmitted by coughing and sneezing. Children and grown people that are healthy may be carriers of the germs. When present in epidemic form, about one child in each hundred is apt to suffer an attack.

"Early recognition and diagnosis are essential. The use of immune serum may be a factor in preventing paralysis. A period of complete rest is essential for muscles that are affected. If parents note any symptoms of illness in their children, the family doctor should be consulted at once.

"Children present at Beaumont, will be taken to Brownwood, Miss. present general manager of the Gulf Division will succeed Clemon, Mr. Ball.

Appointees are veterinarians. It was stated.

Miss Eugenia French, well known Home Economist of the Ball Brothers Company, will be in Goldthwaite on July 15 and 16 at 2 p. m., at which time she will give a free demonstration of meat, fruit and vegetable preserving at the Fairman Company.

Miss French attended Texas State College for Women where she was awarded special prizes in recognition of her Home Demonstration work. She also was on the special honor roll and did demonstrations in food classes. Miss French, because of her special training and study in Home Economics, is not only perfectly prepared technically for her work but she also has a charming personality which claims her audience's attention and admiration.

Having had considerable practical experience, she is able to explain all the latest and most economical methods of canning foods in glass containers in such a manner that it is easy for listeners to understand every step in the process.

The Ball Brothers Company, manufacturers of quality glass jars for nearly half a century, is sending Miss French and scores of other qualified demonstrators all over the country to show housewives the United States Government-approved methods of steam pressure, hot water bath, and open kettle canning. Every one in this vicinity is cordially invited to hear Miss French and ask her any questions pertaining to canning.

Safe and Sane Fourth

Lake Merritt took on the aspect of a popular summer resort during the holidays. A record-breaking crowd bent on enjoying the day to the fullest, gathered there at all hours Saturday, Sunday and Monday, to swim, fish picnic, rest and to unite in family or friendly reunions. Practically all the cottages were filled to capacity with the pleasure-seekers.

In spite of the crowd there were no fatalities or casualties. Some few probably will suffer the effects of sunburn but that will be a minor item considering the fun they had acquiring it.

Cemetery Working

There will be a cemetery working at Pleasant Grove Thursday July 14, and all old timers are requested to be present and help identify graves that markers have been lost from, so they can have new markers put on them.

Commander Doughty Re-visits Old Home

Lieutenant Commander Leonard Doughty, Jr., of the U. S. Navy drove into Goldthwaite Wednesday afternoon and remained until Thursday re-visiting scenes of his childhood here. It was his first visit since he left for Houston 31 years ago, but he found many familiar landmarks.

Commander Doughty is the son of the Hon. Leonard Doughty of San Francisco, who practiced law in Goldthwaite for many years and is well remembered and highly regarded by all of the old-timers here. After the death of Mrs. Doughty, who is buried here, young Leonard and his sister went to live with their grandmother in Houston.

Commander Doughty has just completed three years of duty at sea as Gunner officer on the U. S. Battleship Mississippi and is on his way from his former shore station at Long Beach, California to Washington, D. C., where he has been detailed to duty in the Naval Gun Shops. He is making a leisurely cross country trip, visiting relatives in Dallas and Houston enroute.

He has had a distinguished naval record. After graduation from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1917, he was commissioned and went to sea on a destroyer doing patrol and escort duty in the submarine zones of the North Atlantic. He has twice served as an instructor in the Naval Academy, teaching Engineering and French. In 1930 he commanded a U. S. destroyer in China, and he was on duty in Shanghai during the fighting between the Japanese and Chinese in 1932.

Commander Doughty is an expert swordsman and was an alternate for the Olympic games. Last month in Los Angeles, he was awarded a handsome silver cup for his prowess with the sabre.

While in Goldthwaite he was a guest of the Eagle Editor and spent Wednesday night at Lake Merritt in the Stokes cabin. He took a swim in the lake and declared he enjoyed it more than he did swimming at the famed Walkiki Beach in Hawaii where he was on temporary duty two months ago.

Goldthwaite Girl Gives Program

Nettie Ruth Brucks has been invited to give a dramatic program in San Saba tonight, July 8. She rendered this same program here in Goldthwaite some weeks ago and received favorable comment, both locally and from distant towns.

The program will begin at 8:00 p. m. and will be given in the San Saba Methodist church.

GREAT CELEBRATION FOR EDITOR

The Editor is having a great celebration. Her two sisters and their two sons from North Mississippi are guests in her home. They are Mrs. M. M. Miller and son Kyle Miller, Mrs. J. B. Barnett and son, Malcolm Barnett.

This is the first time the sisters have been here since the summer of '31 and it is Mr. Miller's first visit to Texas. He is a science instructor in the public schools at St. Petersburg, Florida.—Mullin Enterprise

ATTENDS SINGING

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Porter attended the singing convention in Eastland Sunday. Monday they visited Mrs. Porter's sister, Mrs. R. H. Pack of Waco, and brought back L. B., Jr., Barbara, Georgia and Jean who have been on an extended visit with their aunt.

Bartlesville Garden Festival

At Bartlesville, Oklahoma, six hundred red bud trees were purchased by the Garden Club for distribution among the city residents next fall with the proceeds from the Garden Festival held in the Clyde Alexander garden in June at which 250 persons were present.

Three clever skits, the catchy music and rollicking lines which were written by Mrs. Walter Schulze (formerly Miss Blythe Weaver of Goldthwaite) were presented for the entertainment of the festival crowd.

Young folks of the city were costumed as insects and flowers played the roles and music accompanied the presentations.

The playlet written by Mrs. Schulze was, "Insects Arise." Insects, arise, arise, Your destiny fulfill; 'Tis yours the Earth to claim Unsweeping be your aim. And dauntless be your will. Creep, crawl, fly Our cause defending If to die, 'Twere glorious ending. Firm we stand, A valiant band, We'll fight unchecked To the last insect To conquer man, TO CONQUER MAN!

Picnic Supper at Lake Merritt

A large group of local people motored to Lake Merritt the afternoon of the Fourth where they enjoyed a lovely picnic supper. They gathered at the club house for games preceding supper and many enjoyed a cool, refreshing swim. About thirty persons were present.

Wilcox-Evans Reunion

An interesting family reunion took place during the holidays when the combined related Wilcox and Evans families held their second annual gathering at Fair Park on the Fourth. There were 96 members of the two families present representing three generations.

The group came from various sections of the state and out-of-the-state to attend. Coming from Winters, Goliad, Houston, Stephenville, and Pittsburg Oklahoma. The original home is Goldthwaite. For many it was the first time in 40 years that they had seen each other so there was much reminiscing of former times.

The family began their annual reunion last year and will try to make it a yearly event. Next year they plan to meet July 15th as some were unable to come this year on the 4th.

While most of the group have returned to their respective homes some are prolonging their visit for a few days. Mrs. A. A. Harrison of Winters remained as a guest of Mrs. Walter Doggett and Elwyn Doggett of Brownwood, who came home for the reunion is still with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doggett.

Miss Louise and Voyd Lee Doggett are visiting their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Cook of Wink. The Cook's were here for the recent Wilcox-Evans reunion.

MULLIN ENTERPRISE EDITOR AND GUESTS COMPLEMENTED

Mrs. J. H. Randolph of Goldthwaite, complimented the Editor and husband and their guests Mrs. M. M. Miller and son, Kyle and Mrs. J. B. Barnett and son, Malcolm, of Holly Springs, Miss., with a most enjoyable dinner on Sunday, and a delectable picnic feast at Lake Merritt on the Fourth.

Goldthwaite's monthly Trades Day, held here Tuesday, brought a host of shoppers from surrounding towns and territory and gave a decided impetus to business. All business houses report fine sales in merchandise, generally.

The free show at the Melba Theatre which ran from 10:00 a. m. until 6:00 p. m. drew capacity crowds for every showing.

The next Trades Day will be August 1. Merchants all over town are planning for it already and will have many record-breaking bargains for the public on that day.

The Trades Day crowd Tuesday afternoon heard a great deal of political speaking at the court house.

Absentee Voting In Progress

According to L. B. Porter, County Clerk, absentee voting began here July 3, and will continue through the 20th. So far only two votes have been cast and two other applications made. He also stated that fifty absentee votes was a large number for Mills County and probably the voting by absentee ballot would not exceed that this year.

Brown Reunion

A reunion of Browns, their relatives, and friends, totaling 71 persons, spent July 4, on the Colorado in Big Valley, Mills county, at the home of Andy C. Brown. They had a fish fry—and plenty of fish.

The Browns are descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Brown, who lived in Big Valley and in Lake View community, San Saba county. Attending the reunion were six of their children, 17 grandchildren, 18 great-grandchildren, and other relatives.

Who Pays?

WHO PAYS?—A recent survey reveals the rather astounding fact that if everyone had to turn over to the government all income in excess of $5,000 a year, the sum collected would pay only about 1-5 the annual cost of government, federal, state and local. It points out that the great bulk of the tax bill must be paid by the small wage earner. He pays it in the form of "hidden taxes" without knowing it in most cases. Hidden taxes are a part of the cost of virtually everything that everybody buys—food, clothing, shelter—necessities as well as luxuries. For example, even the simplest item of everyday fare, a loaf of bread, is taxed 57 times, the survey shows. The loaf of bread for which Mrs. American housewife pays eight cents, could be bought for six cents if these hidden taxes were eliminated. HEADLINES—By 1942 nearly 90 per cent of America's sea-going freight ships will be 20 years or more . . . Americans use 12.6 pounds of coffee each a year . . . The SNAPSHOT GUILD

A Ferris-wheel angle shot of your crowd is just one picture opportunity among scores you will find at the circus or street carnival. Take the camera along!

WHEN you go to the circus or carnival, by all means go early and take your camera along. There is endless variety of new, interesting snapshot material—and you'll actually see more, and enjoy yourself more, if there's a camera in your hand.
On the midway, you can picture side-show barkers, flamboyant tent signs, gaping people who are visiting a circus for the first time, wide-eyed youngsters munching popcorn or quaffing pink lemonade, gaudy displays of prizes at amusement booths, and scores of other amusing details.
Wandering about the lot, you will be able to picture interesting details of circus equipment, and perhaps novel sidelights of circus life—family wash strung out between wagons, mending of costumes and equipment, feeding and grooming of work stock. Be friendly, don't annoy the circus folk, and they will treat you courteously.

Pictures of performers and animals should be obtained during the circus parade, as you may not be allowed to take your camera inside the big tent. The light inside is usually too poor for good snapshots except with ultra speed lenses and film. But there is ample opportunity outside to keep the camera busy, and you can come away with enough good shots to fill several pages in an album. Try it just once, and you'll never be without your camera when the circus comes to town.

"Picture Ahead"

Photography has swept the world with a tremendous popularity during the last few years. Camera makers thrive; miles of film are exposed every hour; pictures enliven the magazines and newspapers; millions of people have found an enjoyable hobby and at least thousands have discovered a fine art in the capture of beauty, on sensitized paper.
We may not all be enthusiasts of the mechanical camera but all carry a powerful image recorder in the camera of the human consciousness. To what photographs do we give most attention in a salon, a shop window or our daily paper? Are the tragedies of war, a gruesome automobile wreck, a squalid slum back yard or a discouraged and haggard face? Photography's visualization of broken bodies and slimy trenches has helped turn humanity from the supposed glamour of war, and authentic evidence of "how the other half lives" has helped awaken public conscience.
But again, what are the pictures from which we get a lift? If we are to turn away from the half-world of shadow there must be something to turn to. There is significance in the fact that it takes light to make a picture. The pictures that are fullest of light, in a mental sense, are the ones that impart most inspiration.
These are some of the best liked subjects—a graceful bird against the sky, a ship in sail on a sparkling sea, a bunch of flowers, a pretty girl, character study of weather-beaten ruggedness, a bridge that is poetry in steel, the gleam of a lighted window in a darkened street, a child at the serious business of play, a softly inquisitive cat, a friendly dog, a dozing cow in a summer meadow or the clump of birches that filters the sunlight on a brook.
Is it too much to ask for beauty and strength in the pictures we love? No, that is what makes us love them, and what makes them serve us. Many "a good composition" can be discerned in the pictures our eyes are continually receiving. And a camera is not required to preserve them on the lively screen of memory. The mental image we grasp and treasure tends to express itself in our experience.—Grimes County Review.

3 Ransoms Paid in Recent Years But Victims Killed

Three times in recent years kidnapers' ransom demands have been met in vain.
Testimony at the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann indicated that Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., already lay dead in a shallow grave when John P. Condon, acting for Colonel Lindbergh, turned over $50,000 for the youngster's safe return.
The second ransom paid in vain was $50,000 raised by Mrs. Charles S. Ross of Chicago, Ill., for the return of her husband, a retired greeting card manufacturer who had been kidnaped September 25, 1937.
The payment was made Oct. 8. Two days later the elderly man was killed in an underground hideout near Spooner, Wis. John Henry Seadlund is awaiting execution for the crime.
The body of little Jimmy Cash was found recently near Princeton, Fla. The lad's father had delivered $10,000 to a spot designated in a ransom note and hoped to get his boy back alive. A 21-year-old truck driver, Franklin Pierce McCall, federal agents say, confessed to collecting the money.
In these three cases all, or a part, of the ransom money has been recovered.

crease in tourist registrations; restaurants had a 25 per cent gain in transient trade, and communities throughout the state noticed increased tourist traffic.

Texas, which "discovered" the profits of tourism in an impressive way in 1936 and 1937, when the Centennial and Pan-American expositions formed the basis for abundant advertising of the state, still has attractions worthy of as vigorous exploitation as those of any of the many states which are permanently in the tourist business.
The Lone Star State got a tempting picture of tourism profits when her 1936 retail gasoline tax receipts showed a $4,000,000 jump, more than writing off the state's official $3,000,000 investment in the Centennial.
In a state as large and as varied as Texas, stimulation of tourist traffic could profitably be carried on within the state as well as by attracting outside visitors.

Texas and Tourists

Texas enjoys two most valuable attributes. Its size and variegated scenery attract thousands of tourists. The fact that it is one-third of the distance between the Atlantic and the Pacific Oceans on all-year transcontinental highways of the better class brings it another consignment of tourists who come for the travel facilities and pause for the attractions on display.
The result shows in a surprising table of figures. The State is fifth in number of tourists and second in money spent by them. Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Michigan lead Texas in the first table and New England alone exceeds it in the second. In 1937, 11,565,000 tourists transacted $446,226,000 worth of business in Texas—ranging from the wayside filling stations to the shopping centers.
The advertising incidental to the creation of the Big Bend National Park has already shown penditures when the present results in the increase of tourists. It is confidently expected that Texas will lift itself in the summer, while the main supply is stored in the large trench silos for winter use. They cost so little to build and fill that it's mighty cheap insurance against feed shortage at any time."

Dairy farmers in the cow testing associations are also learning that a regular supply of green pasture or succulent feed is the only fair way to learn whether a cow has a profitable productive capacity. Many a cow has been condemned without having a chance to show what she could do, because so seldom have they had the right kind of feed throughout an entire lactation period.

Ebony

By Clementine Wilmeth Britley

(Too late for last week)

Grief shook the hearts of this community this past week when death took from our midst Wednesday morning, June 22, Mrs. Albert Hardin, 22, nee Evelyn Reeves.

Evelyn was one our own girls, born and reared in this community, and loved by everyone. All her life she had been as frail as a flower, but as courageous as the sunrise.

She was a graduate of the Mullin high school. In 1936 she went with her aunt, Mrs. Brownie White, to her home in Los Angeles where she remained a year or more. On May 1, 1937, Albert met her in Arizona where they were married, and where they made their home for a few months. After that they returned to the Reeves home where they were making their home at the time of her death.

Apparently well Tuesday, Evelyn was rushed to a Brownwood hospital at 6:30 Wednesday morning. At 9:25 she was gone, leaving to the care of her loved ones an infant daughter.

With J. M. Cooper of Brownwood officiating, she was laid to rest Thursday afternoon in the Ebony cemetery in the midst of a tearful throng who covered her grave with flowers. Pall bearers were Ralph and Lillard Wilmeth, Charm Whittenburg, B. Singleton, J. R. Reeves, Isom Carr, and W. R. Scott.

Survivors are her husband, Albert Hardin; her infant daughter, Evelyn Reeves; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reeves; a brother, Hubert Reeves; grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Reeves, all of Ebony, and a sister, Mrs. Mildred R. Roberts of San Antonio.

Out-of-the-community relatives who attended the funeral were Mrs. Mildred Roberts of San Antonio; Palmer, Jake and John Zumwalt of Oklahoma; Mrs. J. M. Lanford, Okla.; Mrs. L. H. Hardin, Stanton; Mr. and Mrs. Isom Carr and children, Big Springs; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Scott and children, Trent; and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Singleton and children, Novice.

HOPE FOR DEMOCRACY

July 4 has passed again, but it behooves us this year more than ever before to study the conditions which have been brought about by the principles of the American Declaration of Independence. On July 4, 1776 America started out on an uncharted way. Since then many nations have adopted the democratic form of government which the United States originated. Those nations have gone through many troubled times but with one or two exceptions have survived.

But democracy at the present is facing a perilous situation. Czechoslovakia, one of its younger adherents, is being threatened constantly by its Nazi neighbor, Germany. Austria has already been absorbed by Hitler's dictatorship. France looks anxiously at her borders menaced by Europe's three most militant powers. China, with its vast millions new to democracy but possessing great capacity for it, is struggling against the aggressiveness of Japan. If Japan succeeds, democracy in China will be over. But there is even greater danger in China's case. She has looked with hopeful eyes to the older and more strongly established democracies for help, but she has looked in vain. Chinese leaders wonder how long their patient countrymen will continue to embrace the political creed of nations who offer no aid to keep China's democracy intact. Conditions have become peculiarly ripe for a movement toward dictatorship in China. What a blow to the future of democracy if it should lose China and her millions!

Our nation, though young in years, was the originator of "government of the people, by the people, for the people." Time and again it has welcomed other nations into its way of thinking. Numberless times has it helped to bring about democracy in small nations. It fought the last war "to make the world safe for democracy." With its vision turned peaceward, it must now fight a braver and a bloodless war to keep democracy safe for the world!

BOOST THE BAND!

There is possibly nothing that can show the progressive spirit of an active and up-and-coming town like a good band. It is an advertisement of our town that we can ill afford to lose. Even candidates recognize the ability of a band to concentrate attention and gather the crowd. A good band has a certain something that thrills us without our knowing why.

Our town is now pooling its musical talent into a band that will be one of Goldthwaite's proudest assets. A capable leader has been secured in D. W. Diserens of Gatesville. Mr. Diserens has an enthusiastic group to work with. He has plenty of talent to work with. He has the best wishes of the citizens.

A band can help our town in any number of ways. It can perform on public occasions. It can make visits to other towns advertising outstanding events in Goldthwaite. It will give those possessing musical talent a way to find self-expression and it will give those who do not, a chance to hear good music made at home.

Goldthwaite needs this band and the band needs the encouragement of every citizen in Goldthwaite. Come out to hear it on practice nights and give it a hand!

BETTER BUSINESS AHEAD

Continued gains in stock market sales and prices can point to only one thing; the investing public is convinced that the bottom of the depression has been passed and better times are ahead.

While activity in the stock market does not always coincide with prosperity for the producer, the two usually run close together. Other signs also point toward better times. Wholesale and retail inventories are scraping bottom. Carloadings are increasing. And the President's pump-priming program, no matter what the long time results may be, is already helping business move forward.

"Living Strenuously"

It was Theodore Roosevelt who was the great exponent of "the strenuous life." And after all what life is worthwhile unless it is full of purpose and keenly alive? Most of us go through life half-heartedly following the line of least resistance and drifting rather than steering toward a great purpose. If everyone in his own field could accomplish as much as "Teddy" Roosevelt did in his life, handicapped in certain ways though he was, the world would see a new era. With our energies concentrated, rather than dissipated as they are oftentimes, we ourselves would not only be more useful but happier. It is a matter to think about anyway.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Views of the Nation's Press on Topics of Interest

The Pensions Issue

The problem of old age assistance has been a major issue in the current campaign from its very beginning, and now as the contests for Governor and other high state offices, including membership in the two houses of the Legislature, are nearing their climax this question continues to be in the forefront of political argument and is the subject of more discussion by the candidates than is devoted to other matter.

This is so because the payment of old age assistance to aged citizens of the state is of interest not only to the present and prospective recipients of this bounty, who naturally want and feel that they are entitled to as much as they can get, but to every citizen it is of importance because those who do not receive pensions must provide the money for paying them. Because of this wide interest the issue is being belauded in the thinking of many people, some of whom think a maximum monthly grant should be given to every person over 65 years of age, while others believe there should be no ceiling to the apportionment of old age assistance funds and that much more than is provided in the constitution should be given in many instances.

For these reasons, it is permissible to remind the public that limitations fixed in the federal old age pension law are applicable to the situation in Texas. The maximum grant of federal money is $15 per month, and the federal law makes its grant upon the basis of the need of the recipient. State money can be apportioned only on the same basis, although the State Legislature has authority to determine the manner in which the need of an applicant for assistance may be determined. Therefore, it is utterly futile to propose a uniform apportionment of $30 per month, or any similar sum, to all persons over 65 years of age, regardless of their individual needs, because neither the state nor the federal funds can be distributed on such a basis.

The aged people of the state should concern themselves principally with the election of a Legislature pledged, first, to see that adequate funds are secured by reasonable taxation to keep the pension treasury sufficiently filled with available revenues; and second, to see that those elected members of the Legislature are disposed to give adequate consideration to the problem of determining the need of applicants for assistance. If pension funds were distributed without regard to available revenues, payments soon would be stopped by a shortage of money. If they are distributed without regard to need, the needy will suffer while others receive money that is not needed.

Old age pensions should not be merely a political issue to be used for campaign purposes. Straight thinking easily removes most of the difficulties surrounding it, and square dealing by the next Legislature will iron out most of the controversy now surrounding it. What the next Governor may think it is of comparatively little importance, for the Legislature holds the key to the situation.

A Short Step Forward

The new tax bill, which the President allowed to become law without his signature, marks a step toward tax sanity. And at the same time it marks a significant achievement for a courageous group of congressmen, led by Senator Harrison, who realizes that you can't make business go ahead indefinitely by punishing it.

The tax bill is frankly a compromise—Senator Harrison and his followers wanted further reforms, but they were impossible to get at this time. Therefore it has gone far toward correcting tax inequalities and abuses. But it has demonstrated that it is possible to do something to help business in the way of tax adjustment.

At the next session of Congress the friends of tax sanity must push on with redoubled vigor if the nation is really to be given a tax system that will even approach the ideal of fairness, with discrimination toward none.

Yellow Fever Flood

It was Pearl Buck, the American novelist reared in China, who warned the world of the danger of mixing the destructive implements of modern warfare with the Oriental philosophy of the cheapness of human life.

The efficient military machine of the Japanese army, comparing favorably with any European force or that of the United States has borne out Miss Buck's predictions. Now infused into the Oriental tragedy with its hundreds of thousands of casualties and its untold suffering has come superlative force of nature—the Yellow River, known long as "The Scourage of the Sons of Han" (the Chinese race) and "China's Sorrow." At flood stage, the dykes of the Yellow River have been broken either by retreating Chinese or by Japanese bombardment.

The cause is immaterial. The cost is 150,000 Chinese natives drowned and no doubt many Japanese soldiers. Thirty million Chinese refugees were reported fleeing westward to escape the invading army. In three provinces alone, observers reported, flood and the ravages of war have created a relief problem almost as great as that caused by the World War.

Americans desirous of helping the anguished Chinese may throw up their hands in despair at such facts and figures which do not embrace the total of suffering in China. And yet the Chinese people are still courageously carrying on their defense against the enemy, and are as one in the face of crisis fertile for despair.

The Western mind can hardly conceive how the little brown soldiers from Japan can master the Chinese spirit and such overwhelming forces of nature as the Yellow River flood. The Western mind can scarcely face the tragedy itself. Were it not for the philosophy of the Oriental, one would be inclined to believe that civilization in the East has been engulfed by barbarism.

Ernest O. Thompson For Governor

Expressing confidence in his election and telling in plain, sincere language the program upon which he is running, Ernest Thompson, candidate for governor, brought his campaign here Tuesday afternoon with a speech from the courthouse steps.

Thompson was introduced by Judge R. J. Gerald.

Expressing confidence in his election, Thompson told of increasing support and strength he has been gaining all over the state.

"I am going to win this race," he said. "I can just feel it coming on."

Thompson stressed chiefly in his address here his plan to bring permanent prosperity to Texas.

In it he included legislation for farm and ranch relief, soil conservation, improved marketing and industrial development to give employment to Texas labor and furnish markets for Texas products.

Pointing out that revenues from present sources are increasing, Thompson said that this increase from present levies plus economies he would make would put the state's financial house in order and still allow meeting of social security obligations without cutting out or crippling any necessary services.
