NUMBER THIRTY-NINE

TEXAS AVIATOR SETS WORLD FLIGHT RECORD

Hughes Makes Flight In Less Than Four Days

Bringing his big Lockheed airplane safely to land at 2:34 1/2 p. m. Eastern standard time yesterday, Howard Hughes, Texas aviator, completed an almost unbelievable flying record and cut Wiley Post's previous world flight time more than half.

Hughes left New York for Paris at 7:20 p. m. Sunday. He flew to Paris in less than half of Lindbergh's record and continued on by way of Moscow, Omsk, Yakutsk, Fairbanks, Alaska and Minneapolis to New York.

The time from take-off to landing was only three days, 19 hours and 37 minutes, and the total distance was over 14,700 miles.

Road and Bridge Work Progressing

Blade work on highway 74-A between Goldthwaite and the Lampasas county line will be finished this week, and the road will be ready for the hot top next week, and will be open for traffic soon afterwards.

Work at the Colorado river bridge is also going along steadily. The highway is pretty well blocked and all trucks are being routed through Lometa. So far only earthwork has been done, but they are about ready to start screening sand in preparation for concrete work.

Priddy Picnic On July 21, 22, 23

Homer C. DeWolfe of Austin, will speak on the second day of the Priddy picnic, July 22, it was announced this week.

On July 23 there will be a polo game and saddle races. Election returns will be given Saturday night.

Sanderson Family Has Reunion

The annual reunion of the Sanderson family was held at Moline July 3 and 4. Those attending the gathering were Mrs. J. H. Sanderson and son, J. H. Jr., and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Sanderson and children, Fred and Emmalene; Mr. and Mrs. John Cole and daughters, of Blum; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sanderson and children of Goldthwaite, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Sanderson of Coleman, and Miss Bessie Schuler of Lometa.

Hart and daughters, Mrs. Marvin Casbeer and children, Mrs. Willis Hill and Misses Florine, Earline and Robbie Gene Simpson.

Iced Coca Cola, sandwiches and cookies were served.

Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Dan Covington on July 19. —Reporter

FAMILY REUNION AND PICNIC

Mrs. M. M. Miller and son, Kyle Miller, who is a science instructor at St. Petersburg, Fla., and Mrs. J. B. Barnett and son, Malcolm, of Holly Springs, Miss., who have been visiting in the Editor's home, left Friday for the week end at Austin. Mrs. J. H. Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Patterson accompanied them and attended a family reunion at Barton Springs.

Twenty-eight were present and happy memories are now being recalled of the association with loved ones.

While in Austin they were guests of A. H. McAuley and Haskell Smith and families. Mrs. A. E. Oldfield was at the reunion and sent greetings. She had the honor of being the oldest one present.

Malcolm Barnett was as proud as Lucifer over his trophies. He carried home three horned frogs and ears of a mule-eared rabbit he shot for himself.

Disposition of Cotton Allotments Not Used By Farmers

The following communication has been received by the County Agent concerning unused cotton allotments.

"The State office was given two alternatives that could be followed in making distribution of this acreage.

1. It could be added to the State Reserve and distributed on a mathematical basis over the entire State, or

2. It could be used to correct mistakes in established allotments in the county in which it was originally allotted.

The State Committee chose the second alternative, since by the first method the percentage of increase over the entire State would be so small that no one would receive any benefit. When measurements are made many discrepancies will be found between reported and measured cropland. These allotments can be used to make upward adjustments when measurements exceed the reported cropland."

Under this ruling no increase in any farmers allotment will be made unless his measurements exceed the reported cropland.

W. P. WEAVER, County Agent

Cemetery Cleaning

Some of the ladies of the town regret so much to see the cemetery in such bad condition, that they have hired a man to clean off the grounds and will ask all those interested to assist with the funds to pay the man for his work. If you care to donate toward this cause, see Mrs. L. E. Miller.

NEW MARKET MAN AT PIGGLY WIGGLY STORE

Jesse Goen, formerly of Austin Food Market of Lubbock, has accepted a position as Market Manager of Piggly Wiggly Grocery here. Mr. Goen comes highly recommended and as soon as he is settled, will be joined by his wife.

Sample Ballot Printed This Week

On another page of this week's Eagle will be found a sample of the ballot that will confront the voters on Saturday, July 23. The Governor's race is overshadowing most of the other contests in the minds of many voters, but all of the offices are important, and the voters should exercise care in their selections.

The county races are unusual in that there are only two in which there is a contest—the county treasurer and district clerk. In Commissioner's Precinct 3 (Mullin) there are five candidates, and in Precinct 4 (Big Valley-Ebony), there are three, so run-offs will likely be necessary in these precincts.

Saylor Chevrolet Co. Makes Expert Repair

"Seeing is believing," according to the old saying. This was demonstrated last week by Saylor Chevrolet Company in repairing the door of the Eagle Editor's automobile. A truck accidentally backed into the car while it was parked in front of the Eagle office, and the door was split and badly damaged. However, the expert mechanics at the Saylor Garage have repaired it so skilfully, it cannot be distinguished from the other door.

With so many auto accidents occurring nowadays, it is a decided asset to the community to have in it a garage equipped to do such excellent work.

T. B. Graves Falls Off Load of Hay

T. B. Graves of Lake Merritt Community, had the misfortune to fall from a load of hay, 12-feet, spraining both wrists and breaking a small bone in his left hand which has caused him a great deal of pain and much inconvenience.

His family was on a vacation trip to the Valley, where Mrs. Graves visited her sister, who was formerly Miss Margurite Sullivan. They report a most delightful time and state that Mr. Graves injuries are improving.

Carloadings

Santa Fe system carloadings for the week ending July 9 were 25,780 compared with 28,584 for the same week last year.

Cars received from connections totaled 4,183 as compared with 5,606 for the same week last year. Total cars moved were 29,963 compared with 34,190 for the same week in 1937.

Santa Fe handled a total of 30,706 cars in the preceding week this year.

GOOD NEWS

Commissioners' Court met Monday and granted the appropriation for a Home Demonstration for Mills County.

It's good news to the ladies of the county who have been working to accomplish this for some time.

The Garden clubs over the county sent representation to the Honorable Court some weeks ago to petition them for the appropriation.

VISITS HERE

Mrs. John L. House, of Tucumcari, N. M., and Miss Hattie Barr, of Star, arrived here Wednesday. They attended the 75th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg. This was the final reunion of the "Blue and the Gray's." There were over 2,000 in attendance—500 confederates and 1500 union veterans. On their return, they spent 3 days in Washington, D. C. visiting all points of interest there. They report a grand time.

Lake Merritt Club Misses Meeting

Lack of a quorum Wednesday afternoon prevented the annual meeting of stockholders of the Mills County Hunting and Fishing Club from being held. The meeting was set for 2:00 p. m., but several attempts to assemble the minimum of 25 members failed, and at 2:30 p. m., President M. Y. Stokes, Jr., called the meeting off for lack of a quorum.

An informal discussion was held by the members present, and W. E. Miller suggested that the by-laws of the club be amended to make 15 members a quorum instead of 25. Action will be taken on this at the next meeting. The present directors will continue in office.

Francis Carruth represented a number of members residing in Gatesville, and L. L. Wilson of Brownwood were also present.

The club has just closed a very successful year. With the addition on Monday of 8,000 fine bass from the Federal fish hatchery at San Angelo, the total of fish placed in the lake in the past 12 months reached the total of 20,000. A new bathhouse and piers have been built, a tennis court has been built and equipped, a fine ping pong table has been placed in the club house and numerous repairs and improvements about the grounds have been made.

Private improvements are also being made. The W. P. McCullough cottage has been remodeled and enlarged, and F. P. Bowman is making an addition to his attractive cottage.

Joe Curtis Grandson To Broadcast Today

Master O. P. Curtis, Jr., five years old, son of O. P. Curtis of Wichita Falls and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Curtis of Goldthwaite will sing over the radio at 3 p. m. Friday (today). He will broadcast over the Wichita Falls station. Although one of the youngest singers to be heard over the air, preliminary tests have shown that he has a good radio voice.

Lincoln Ellsworth, noted polar explorer, will leave Capetown, Africa, for his fourth trip to the Antarctic Region. He plans to explore 1,200 of ice and snow.

Dr. Robert A. Millikan, cosmic ray experimenter from California Institute of Technology Thursday entered Mayo clinic for checkup on a stomach ailment which forced him to leave Bismarck, N. D., where he was conducting experiments.

ENTERTAINED AT LAKE

Mrs. R. M. Thompson and M. Y. Stokes, Jr., had as guests at the Stokes cabin at Lake Merritt Wednesday evening, Mrs. M. Y. Stokes and Charles E. Stokes of Lampasas, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. M. Stokes of Westfield, N. J., and Mrs. J. T. Rather, Jr., of Houston.

Local FFA Students Praised in Huntsville

HUNTSVILLE—John Bowman and J. T. Soules of Goldthwaite carried the colors of Mills county to the front at the State FFA (Vocational Agriculture) High School Boys' State Leadership contest held at the Sam Houston State Teachers College in Huntsville last week. Bowman and Soules displayed splendid forensic ability in fighting their way through a large and strong field to cop first place in debating.

There were 700 FFA boys from all parts of Texas vying for honors in the following contests, public speaking, news writing, extemporaneous speaking, debating, one-act play and FFA chapter conducting. All contestants were required to use rent farm subjects.

H. G. Webster, vice-president of Huntsville National Bank and former citizen of Goldthwaite, said "I am indeed proud of John Bowman and J. T. Soules. It is an honor well deserved and fine recognition for Goldthwaite."

Dr. Charles N. Shaver, president of Sam Houston State Teachers College was loud in his praise of the Goldthwaite boys.

Jack Reid Injures Eye

Jack Reid suffered a painful eye injury Monday when a wrench he was using slipped and struck him in the eye.

He was carried to a hospital in Brownwood, and it was feared the sight had been destroyed, but when he returned to his home Wednesday he was able to see some. It is believed that he will regain full use of it when it heals.

A Letter

Following is a letter received by the Eagle Editor:

Dear Madam: If practicable, I would like to express my best regards to my friends in Mills county through the medium of your press.

Recently my wife and myself enjoyed an excellent vacation in Mills county. Although I was a stranger, everyone I met extended their friendship and hospitality as wholeheartedly as tho I were actually a member of their family.

Throughout my naval service I have never had the pleasure of spending a vacation in such home-like surroundings and look forward to a future visit back to Texas.

To my friends I wish to express my thanks for everything and wish you every success in your interesting work.

It may be of interest to hear that I have received official orders authorizing my transfer to the Naval Research Laboratory, Washington, D. C. for a course of training in radio engineering. The minor details of transportation through the Panama Canal are being carried out—my arrival in Washington will be August 5.

Sincerely,
CHAS. A. SNAY,
U. S. N. Radioman First Class

L. A. Moon's new home is assuming the proportions of an attractive residence.

B. F. Mahan has had quite a lot of work done on his home repapering and painting, and freshening up generally.

CHURCHES

Methodist Church

FRED J. BRUCKS, Pastor

It was encouraging, indeed, to see the fine congregation that was present Sunday morning. The church school attendance was some better, also. The "Adam and Eve" contest is attracting much attention and is creating a lot of interest. We urge you to attend all the services Sunday.

Our evening preaching service will not be held. The Baptist meeting is still in progress and the pastor will close out a meeting at Lake Merritt School House Sunday night. We will expect you to be in your places for the services Sunday morning and for the League meeting Sunday night.

Pecan Budding and Grafting Notes

Farmers who desire to bud trees but have no budwood stored may still work their trees over by cutting fresh budwood from trees, according to J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist of the Texas A&M College Extension Service.

At the base of the previous year's growth are some 4 to 8 buds that have not been forced out, he pointed out. Bud sticks may be cut from this growth and packed in damp shavings at a temperature of 36 to 40 degrees. So treated, the wood may be held for a week or two before use.

After July 15 the current growth of pecan trees may be used as budwood. The leaves should be trimmed off to within a quarter of an inch of the stick. Such wood, like the bud sticks of the previous year's growth, may be used at once or held for as long as 14 days by packing it in damp shavings and lowering the temperature.

Cold storage budwood cut in February must be seasoned before it is used. This is done by placing the sticks in damp sawdust and holding them at a temperature of from 80 to 85 degrees. During April it usually takes from 6 to 8 days before the buds ship well; in May, as it becomes warmer, only 4 to 6 days are needed. In June 3 to 4 days is generally enough.

Budwood that has been seasoned need not be wasted if the budding operation is interrupted for any reason, Rosborough said. Such wood can be held for 18 to 25 days by placing it back in a temperature of 36 to 40 degrees.

Thoroughly dormant budwood should be used for grafting, according to the horticulturist. Such wood is taken directly from storage and should be used within 24 to 48 hours.—Acco Press.

Scout Council Gets 25-year Lease on Gibbons Camp Site

It is announced by G. N. Quirl, Scout Executive of the Comanche Trail Council, that the council has been successful in obtaining a 25-year lease on 25 acres on Brady Creek and the San Saba River, the site that has been used for the annual summer camp for the past several years. Thru the interest of the Gibbons family and honoring their father, Uncle Billy Gibbons, who took a great deal of interest in the Scouts during the first year they camped on the ranch, there were no charges for the lease. The lease gives permission to Scouts to camp and hike over the rest of the ranch, which includes 45,000 acres, as long as it is in the name of the Gibbons family or their heirs.

The camp is located in the hill country, 15 miles south of Richland Springs, at the mouth of Brady creek, on the San Saba River. In discussing this camp site, Quirl stated that in his opinion the swimming pool formed by the low dam across the creek is "one of the safest and most sanitary in Texas." The maximum depth is eleven feet, and the pool is gradually shallower toward the entrance side. The entire bottom is gravel and the water is estimated to change once in two hours.

The site has a traditional background. Many Indian battles have been fought in the forks of the two streams. Many Indian relics are to be found in and near the camp. Indian sign paintings are on two bluffs, which have been visited by many students of archaeology. The old Chisholm Trail crossed the San Saba above the camp on the San Saba River. Such places as the Richland Springs Caverns, Smugglers Draw, Cold Springs, Honeycomb Cave, etc., are in hiking distance of the camp. Many Scouts see their first wild deer and turkey while attending camp, Mr. Quirl said.

Last summer a total of more than 300 boys from the council attended the camp, which is operated in two one-week sessions each summer. Camp dates this year are: July 12 to 19—July 20 to 27.

Special events which have already been planned for this summer's camp include a memorial service honoring "Uncle" Billy Gibbons, which will be held Sunday, July 23.

A special entertainment feature of each period will be the "battle of flours," a mock military engagement in which all the Scouts in camp participate and which involves the use of paper bags containing flour as ammunition.

The carriage purchased by Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette for their planned escape from the revolutionary mob's fury contained a clothes press, a wine cellar, a cupboard for foods and a silver dinner service, as well as accommodations for six members of the family and servants.

Many women, who formerly suffered from a weak, run-down condition as a result of poor assimilation of food, say they benefited by taking CARDUL, a special medicine for women. They found it helped to increase the appetite and improve digestion, thereby bringing them more strength from their food.

Naturally there is less discomfort at monthly periods when the system has been strengthened and the various functions restored and regulated.

Cardul, praised by thousands of women, is well worth trying. Of course, if not benefited, consult a physician.

Builders of Texas: 4-H Club Boys And Girls

More Texas farm boys and girls attended the Junior Farmers' Short Course at College Station this week than any previous event of the kind. Everyone of the State's 254 counties was represented among the 2,600 youths enrolled. The turn-out exceeded the sponsors' most optimistic expectations.

Should the adult farmers, whose course is set for next week show as much interest, all attendance records will be broken. That will mean the Texas farmers, both young and old, are going to college as never before. Thanks to the work that the county agricultural agents and their demonstrators are doing in their communities, the rural people appreciate the practical value of "Book farming."

Too, the Governments soil conservation program, the spread of diversified farming, the challenge of a declining world cotton market and the changing times generally have awakened the farmers to the fact that they have new problems to solve. So they are going to College Station for light on those problems.

Then, many a farm family's interest in agricultural extension dates from the 4-H Club boy's project. If that youngster can earn a profit on his acre in tomatoes, his flock of chickens or his baby beeves, why cannot the farm as a whole be made to pay? Multiply that object lesson by some 56,000 and the extent of 4-H influence in Texas may be realized.

As Walter Britten of Groom, retiring chairman of the Texas clubs, reminded the Short Course audience, these young Texans—boys and girls, too—are doing creative work:

"They are building a new home life, developing better strains of livestock, moulding new social values, learning how to appreciate the finer things.

On the whole, those resourceful youngsters are building a more prosperous and more livable Texas. They have shown themselves masters of their own fortunes, and need not worry about unemployment or the business cycle.—San Antonio Express.

CREEP FEEDING, PRO AND CON

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

Calves grow faster at weaning time, from weaning, and more per pound, when access to a grain ration is running on pasture with their dams. The grain is placed in a self-feeder fenced to exclude the cows and permit the calves to eat at will. Known as "creep-feeding," this practice has become quite common in the Southwest, and is generally profitable. Now that oats and barley are in the bin creep-feeding can start; corn and grain sorghums will also be available soon.

Both Texas and Oklahoma experiment station have done research work on creep feeding, and will send their bulletins explaining the procedures and the results in detail on request. Since the farmer or ranchman is interested only in selling his crops and livestock to the best advantage, his own circumstances must decide whether creep feeding is a desirable practice.

In general terms it may be said that creep feeding is always profitable if the grain feed is home grown, and especially so if the calves are to be sold as feeders. In Bee county Texas, the creep fed feeder calves sold in the fall of 1937 weighed an average of 100 pounds more than other calves under the same range conditions, and sold at a better price per hundred, paying handsomely for the grain consumed. On good pastures the contrast is not so great, one Oklahoma experiment showing a difference of only 39 pounds. The difference is price, in favor of the creep fed calves, however, would have still paid for the grain at market prices.

The true cost of meat production by the farmer who grows both grain and livestock is not the "market price" of the grain, but the cost of producing the grain and turning it into meat. This may be higher, but is more likely to be lower than the "market price" formula would indicate; the farmer who feeds his own grain at least cuts out the cost of hauling to town and the costs of extra handling which all grain must bear if it goes thru commercial channels. For this reason the "profit and loss" data in experiment station reports should not be literally applied to farm-feeding or finishing, where the farmer produces both the feed and the animals to consume it.

Creep-fed calves take to the dry lot finishing rations with less loss of weight at weaning than non-creep-fed calves, but the latter tend to gain more rapidly in the finishing period. As a rule creep-fed calves will furnish ahead of those not creep-fed, though there may be little difference in the final weights, if both are fed for the same length of time.

The greatest benefits from creep-feeding will be shown in calves to be sold as feeders at or soon after weaning. The greatest gains occur when pastures are short. In a Texas range experiment in Webb county creep fed suckling calves gained 114 pounds more in 160 days than those not creep fed, and ate an average of 7 pounds of feed per day (4 parts ground milo heads, 1 part cottonseed meal). This included what the cows ate while the calves were learning, which was for 43 days, enough to make them gain 50 pounds more than their less fortunate sisters on the range.

Threshed grains are recommended for young calves, while older calves will handle ground ear corn or grain sorghum heads to advantage. Unless pastures are unusually green and abundant cottonseed meal or pea-size cake should compose one-seventh to one-fifth of the ration. A small amount of limestone flour or finely ground oyster shell in the ration is advisable, and bone meal may be mixed with the salt in equal parts to advantage. The self feeder should be placed near the watering place.

Those not familiar with self-feeders and creep-feeding practices can get helpful bulletins through county agents.

Greeks Familiar With Electricity

The ancient Greeks, centuries before the Christian era, appear to have known some of the facts concerning frictional electricity. Thales of Miletus knew that amber after being rubbed acquired the property of attracting light objects and Theophrastus, in his treatise, "On Gems," mentions that such power is not peculiar to amber alone. No definite scientific information was acquired, however, until the close of the sixteenth century, when William Gilbert, an English physician, published his great work, "De Magnete." He has been called the "father of electricity." In his book he used for the first time such terms as "electric force" and "electric attraction," and he clearly distinguished between magnetic and electric action. He was only one of the many discoverers of principles that led to the development of practical uses for electricity.

TESTED AND PROVED IN ARIZONA'S SCORCHING DESERT HEAT

Low priced . . . Efficient . . . Quiet Economical to Operate

Here is the cooling unit that is bringing relief from heat to thousands of Southwestern homes. Low priced, quiet and efficient, the Arizona Cooler provides lake breeze comfort at low cost by scientific application of the principle of heat removal by evaporation. It not only cools the air from 10 to 20 degrees below outside temperatures but also removes dust and pollen.

A self-contained unit, the cooler is easily installed in a short time by placing the cabinet on the window sill and lowering the bottom sash until it engages in the channel on the face of the cooler. Especially designed for quiet operation, it provides a pleasant movement of cool air without objectionable noise. The operating cost is extremely low—approximately one cent per hour for most models.

Two types of coolers are available—the propeller fan type (illustrated) and the blower type, which is used to force air through ducts to point of discharge. There is a size for every application—from small homes to large stores and offices. Prices range from $59.50 up, depending upon the amount of space to be cooled. Water and electrical connections cost from $2.00 to $3.50 extra.

We shall welcome an opportunity to give you more information about the Arizona Cooler and to submit estimates based upon your requirements. No obligation is involved.

COOLS BY EVAPORATION Here's How It Works

A powerful but quiet fan (A) pulls outside air through the cooling mat (B) which is kept moist by water dripping from a copper tube at top of cabinet. As the air passes through the mat, it is cooled by evaporation and then blown into the house, through the house and out again through windows left slightly open at the top. A three-position control (C) permits increasing or decreasing the fan speed to suit weather conditions. A convenient control valve (D) regulates the flow of water. The amount of cooling varies with the humidity. With an outside temperature of 100 degrees and a 40 per cent relative humidity, the cooler delivers air at approximately 85 degrees.

Live Oak

By Mrs. J. H. Brown

Our hearts were saddened last Thursday, July 7, when the news came that Mrs. Arthur Solomon had passed away after a prolonged illness. All that loving hands and medical skill could do could not stay the hand of the Grim Reaper.

The community has lost one of its most beloved citizens. She had not lived in this community many years, but to know her was to love her, and her friends were numbered by all whom she met.

Mrs. Solomon was president of the Jolly Chatter Club since its organization. She will be greatly missed from our circle. May God bless and comfort the bereaved ones in our prayer.

Miss Ruth Featherston left for Austin Sunday afternoon to join a group of young people, including Fay Featherston, who were leaving for Mt. Sequoyah, Ark., to attend the Methodist Young Peoples Assembly. They will be away about two weeks.

Miss Morine Brown of Fort Worth is enjoying a two weeks vacation with home folks.

Ebony

By Clementine Wilmeth Briley

The thresher has been in full swing in this neighborhood the past week with the men sweltering in the intense heat of a July sun, but thanks to the modern thresher that brings along its own chuck wagon, the women haven't had to stand over a hot cook stove cooking for thresher hands. Grain is turning out fairly well for this locality.

A combine, the first ever to be in this community, cut the wheat on the Crowder farm.

A summer drouth is something we rarely escape. It is on us now in devastating intensity, cutting short the corn and twisting the maize and hegrira, blighting some fond hopes that fine prospects had built.

Beginning Friday night, Bro. Wharton will be with us for ten days. Could we not pause from the sweltering toll of the day, from the cares of this life which ever beset us, to come together each Lord's Day and evening to feast upon spiritual things. To learn from the word of God, and be lifted to a higher plane of living?

There will be dinner on the ground both Sundays. Everybody is invited to come. We hope there will be people present from all the surrounding communities.

Mrs. Ira Egger of San Angelo is visiting her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Egger.

Mrs. John Holder of O'Donnell attended church here Sunday. She is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crowder.

J. Malone of Fabens who is spending the summer with his uncle, W. E. Malone, says his grandmother Breeding, who farms in the irrigated Rio Grande Valley near Fabens raised almost five bales of cotton to the acre last year. She had in a little over 50 acres and made 253 bales.

Pete Ketchum underwent an appendicitis operation at a Brownwood hospital Tuesday of last week. He had a pretty hard time, but was able to be carried home to San Saba county Monday.

Mrs. Henry Smith is still in very bad health. Her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Egger have moved in the house with her to care for her.

On account of bad health, the doctor has told Billie McNurlin that he must forget work. Something mighty hard for a farmer in this section to do, especially when he is paying out a home.

Mrs. Earl Day had another brother visit her this past week. Perry Green from Austin, and his two sons, Bob and Wilson.

Baby Evelyn Reeves Hardin left us Tuesday. She and her father have gone to Big Springs to make their home with her grandmother Hardin. She was accompanied all the way by her aunt, Mrs. Mildred Roberts. Mrs. Roberts returned Saturday. She said the little lady stood the trip fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lane and daughters, Vivian and Geraldine, left Tuesday for Frijole where Mr. Lane has a good job.

Mr. and Mrs. Mory White and children from McCamey are visiting Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. Jack Cloud.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
CAMERA IN THE CAR

When driving, keep your camera on the seat beside you, loaded and ready. You never know when a picture chance (such as this) will pop up.

DO YOU keep your camera in your automobile when you're driving—all loaded on the seat beside you, lens and shutter set, ready to shoot at a moment's notice?

Try it sometime, and you'll be surprised how it helps you spot picture opportunities.

Hundreds of pictures can be shot without leaving the car. This is especially true in warm weather, when car windows are down, and the top, in some cases, is folded back.

If you are not doing the driving, your hands are free and there are many more picture opportunities for you—as well as a better snapshot position. The car halts at a street intersection, and there may be a popcorn peddler on the corner, a window washer at the office window above, people busily hurrying to and from work. A small boy is struggling with a big bundle; an old lady passes by with her head wrapped in a shawl—chance for a swell "character" shot. Indeed, all these can be good pictures—natural, "off-guard," full of life.

Never take a drive in the country without your camera. You see more, enjoy yourself more, notice more interesting things if the camera is along. Try making a connected picture story of a Sunday afternoon drive—and you'll be surprised how entertaining it can be. And here's an idea: picture landscapes and interesting stretches of road through the windshield of your car, from the back seat, using the outline of the windshield as a "frame" for the scene. Such pictures show not only what you saw, but how you saw it—hence, they are twice as effective. Needless to say, the windshield glass must be clear.

CURTAIN FOR DEVIL'S ISLAND

France, after years of indifference to pleas of humanitarians, has finally decreed that no more convicts will be sent to Devil's Island, the dreaded hole of horror which has been her great penal colony. The several thousand prisoners there now will serve out their sentences and can go back to France with their citizenship restored and a new chance for life.

The world has been awaiting such a move from the French government for many years. Devil's Island, in its eighty-six years of existence, has become the epitome of all that is cruel and unjust. For years penologists, writers, Christian leaders have been exposing the inhuman practices, the hopeless futures of its prisoners who were very often condemned for petty offenses. France has at last awakened to the realization and has moved to put an end to her "dry gullontime."

Humanitarianism has won!

ONE GRAND GESTURE

An outstanding virtue of humanity, perhaps, is that individuals so often immortalize themselves by the performance of a single grand gesture, an act which through its simplicity yet sincerity shows others around them the true nature of that individual's character.

Such an act was that of Sir Philip Sidney when lying wounded on the battlefield and very thirsty, a friend brought him a drink of water. Sidney looked around, saw an enemy lying a few yards away dying, and proffered his drink to him. Philip Sidney is more noted for that one act than for all the poetry he wrote. And there is Colonel Travis of Alamo fame, whose heroic letter rallied Texans everywhere to his aid. His stand during the crisis is remembered more than anything else he ever did.

What are some of the effects of such magnificent acts? A pioneer flight from New York to Paris by a little-known youth, a Taj Mahal dedicated by a sultan to the memory of his wife, the "Singing Tower" of Edward W. Bok, a continent discovered by Columbus! Surely not insignificant things in themselves.

Every day in newspapers, over the radio, we read of great heroic gestures performed by the ordinary, common people. Only a few months ago an aged man gave one of his eyes to a young friend so that the younger man could see. A mother sacrificed an ear for her son. The grand gestures of humanity, how they glorify the race.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY

July 7 marked the first anniversary of Japan's war on China, a war that is unequalled in size, in expense, or horror in all Oriental history. One million persons are dead and wounded, over 7,000,000,000 dollars worth of property destroyed, 16,000,000 Chinese refugees fleeing from floods caused by the cutting of dams and dykes.

Yet after a year Japan seems no closer to her goal of conquering China. Both countries are a great deal weaker. In China millions are starving, homeless and ill; in Japan an entire nation is cutting living expenses to a minimum in order that the war of conquest can go on. This first year will leave a legacy of horror for years to come, in which these two nations will have worked slavishly to rebuild what has been destroyed, and to atone for what is lost.

One good thing it has done for China. It has given rise to an increasing spirit of nationalism. China's war lords, realizing that China is fighting for her very existence, are coming or have already come to Chiang-Kai-Shek's aid. Cheered by this, the Chinese leader has announced that there will be no cessation of war until China has won.

In Japan, on the contrary, few persons besides the military leaders, are particularly enthusiastic about the war. The war to them means loss of foreign markets, piling expenses, and the ruin of amicable relations with other powers—a great price to pay. With such odds as that against them Japan may not last too long in her battle against a uniting nation.

VIEW'S OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST

Havens for Refugees

Not the least of the troubles given to other nations by the rash policies of Adolf Hitler is the problem of providing refuge and employment for the thousands of Jews and others whom he has exiled or who have fled his ruthless persecution. The conference of more than thirty nations now meeting in France to work on this problem will have its hands full.

Even at the outset of the meeting, spokesmen for various nations are beginning to make excuses for lack of hospitality. England is heavily overpopulated, France is beset with economic and espionage troubles and Palestine is witnessing a virtual guerrilla war between Jews and Arabs. The United States would have to amend its immigration laws to take in many refugees.

Probably some of the South American countries, which have large, undeveloped natural resources and relatively thin populations offer the best sites for new colonization. But it will not do to dump large batches of refugees in any country without first making detailed plans for their self-support. Unless Hitler relents in his policy of confiscation, practically none of the refugees will have enough capital to set themselves up in business.

The best possible outcome of the present conference, of course, would be for it to find some way to put pressure on the Nazis to relax their persecutions of Jews and to restore civic rights to the million who would like to emigrate if they could. But there is little hope in this line, since the only kind of pressure likely to make Hitler squirm is threat of military force, which will not be used. It looks as if there will be much sympathy for the refugees—but little practical help.

What's Right With America

Mathew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, took occasion in a Fourth of July address to emphasize a few of our national assets rather than to stress our liabilities, as is commonly the method, particularly in an election year.

His theme, "What's Right With America?" is an important lesson for the ferment of reform which assails the country on every side. The danger of constant criticism and denunciations, such as have centered around Jersey City in recent months, is that they overlook many of the privileges which Americans enjoy.

If one believed all the politicians, reformers and other militant orators told us these days, he would conclude the country had gone to the dogs and that Fascism or Communism are necessary to save us. It nullifies the effect of such emotional, prejudicial appeals when we reflect that the American people are blessed with liberties, privileges and even economic advantages to a far greater degree than the inhabitants of other countries today. If we balance our assets against our liabilities, we can be better satisfied with what we have without falling into a state of contentment that is fatal to all reform and progress.—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

Ails of the South

Diagnosis of social ailments of the South has been a popular pastime for decades but has proved almost sterile as far as practical results are concerned. Economically and in other ways, the Southwest has cut loose from the Old South and has followed a more progressive course; but some of the Southeastern States are still trending toward social decay.

The South suffers not so much from lack of resources as from neglect in developing them. With 26 per cent of the country's population, the South has only 16 per cent of the tools with which people make their living; and with half the country's farmers, it has less than a fifth of the farm implements. With an abundance of cotton, many of those who grow it are still without stockings.

Part of the trouble in the past has resulted from Dixie's mental attitude. Whenever anyone from the North has made some critical comment on such Southern problems as race relations, farm tenancy or child labor, the tendency here too often has been to denounce the critic as an ignorant carpetbagger—and then sit back and do nothing, as if these problems never existed.

The conference of Southern Governors and business and cultural leaders, now in session in Washington, may apply more realism to the South's regional problems than has been the case previously. If so, gain will come not only to the South but to the whole nation, since the entire country suffers when one of its large regions is ailing. At least the conference may direct a spotlight on what needs most to be done.—Dallas News.

Enthusiasm

Enthusiasm is the greatest business asset in the world. It beats money and power and influence. Single-handed the enthusiast convinces and dominates where a small army of workers would scarcely raise a tremor of interest. Enthusiasm tramples over prejudice and opposition, spurs inaction, storms the citadel of its object, and like an avalanche overwhelms and engulfs all obstacles. Enthusiasm is faith in action; and faith and initiative rightly combined remove mountainous barriers and achieve the unheard of and miraculous. Set the germ of enthusiasm afloat in your life; carry it in your attitude and manner; it spreads like a contagion and influences every fiber of your being; it begets and inspires effects you did not dream of. It means joy and pleasure and satisfaction; it means life real and virile; it means spontaneous bedrock results—the vital things that pay dividends.—Anonymous.

Get This for Texas

Texas should bend every effort to obtain for their state the $1,000,000 cotton research laboratory to be established by the federal government. Authorization of this laboratory, and three others to be devoted to research in connection with other farm crops, marks a long step forward for American agriculture. The laboratories will develop new uses for farm commodities and their by-products.

The necessity of finding new outlets is particularly urgent in the case of cotton, now that foreign production has out-stripped American and we have lost most of our foreign market. The farmer seems doomed to receive less money for his cotton crop in the future than formerly unless domestic consumption can be increased through tapping new uses for the staple.

Texas is the largest cotton-producing state. Texas growers are 90 per cent dependent on the vanishing foreign markets. The loss of those markets will hurt Texas more than any other state. The Southeastern mills will draw their supply from the growing area east of the Mississippi as in the past. Therefore it is to Texas that the research laboratory offers the brightest hope.—Houston Chronicle.

PROGRESS THROUGH CHEMISTRY

Sponges from Forest and Field

FEW of the household products in use today can lay claim to a lineage as ancient as that of the lowly sponge. Millions of years before man appeared on the earth, the sponge had evolved to more or less its present form on the bottom of the shallow waters of what is now the Mediterranean Sea. It is not surprising, therefore, to find references to the sponge by writers who lived many hundreds of years ago.

Sponges, of which there are many types, are the skeletons of a low form of animal life that is attached to the sea bottom. In the case of the commercially useful sponges, these skeletons consist of "spongin," a protein material having somewhat the same chemical composition as silk. For many centuries the principal source of supply was the Mediterranean Sea, the sponges being collected chiefly by Greek divers. About 1880 sponge fishing was started in the Gulf of Mexico, and around Tarpon Springs, a town built largely by Greeks on the west coast of Florida, a million dollar sponge industry has developed.

These cellulose sponges may be made in any desired size, and with either coarse or fine pores. They absorb 20 times their own weight of water, yet do not sink and pick up grit from the bottom of the pail. They can be cleaned and sterilized by boiling. They contain no sand or abrasive, and when wet are extremely soft, yet tough and durable. They are, accordingly suitable for the bath, or for dishwashing or washing the car. They are not affected by household chemicals such as dilute lye, acid, or abrasives. They are used for polishing silverware, brass, and furniture, and for washing windows, woodwork and linoleum, cleaning leather goods and white shoes, and removing spots from fabrics.

chemist now makes from pure cotton and wood cellulose. As in the manufacture of rayon and "Cellophane" cellulose film, the purified cellulose is first converted into a syrupy, amber-colored liquid known as viscose. But instead of forcing this liquid out through the holes of a spinneret to form rayon filaments, or through a long narrow slit to give a thin, transparent sheet of "Cellophane," it is so processed as to form a porous mass similar in appearance to natural sponge.

The man-made sponge—and in the pitcher, the volume of water it will absorb.

The contractors will have 210 calendar days to complete the building.

Mrs. J. A. Birdsong, 52, prominent Vernon church worker and club woman, died suddenly Monday at 2:30 a. m., at her home, 2200 Paradise Street. Death was attributed to a cerebral hemorrhage, and she died within a half an hour after she was stricken. Mrs. Birdsong had been in good health, and death was unexpected.

Funeral services were held from the Presbyterian Church Tuesday morning at 10 a. m. with the pastor, Rev. J. Albert Steele, officiating. The Underwood Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements for burial in the East View Memorial Park.

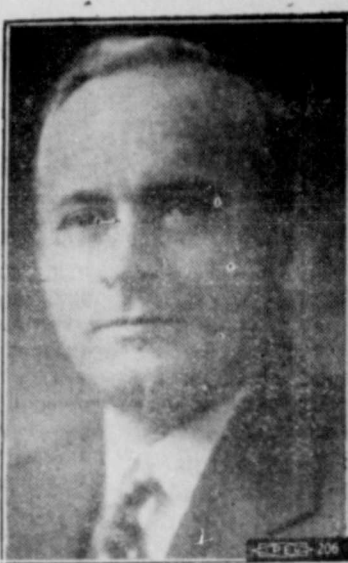

Surviving are the husband; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hudson of Goldthwaite; three brothers, Dow, and Blake Hudson of Goldthwaite, and Clyde Hudson of Gary, Ind., and three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Sykes of Winters, and Mrs. Cloe Huddelston of Dallas, and Mrs. John Schooler of Goldthwaite.

Mrs. Birdsong, who's maiden name was Lora Mae Hudson, was born June 29, 1886, at Goldthwaite. She went to Vernon in 1908, and was a teacher in the public schools until 1919. In addition, she taught private classes in music. On July 2, 1921, Miss Hudson was married to J. A. Birdsong of Vernon, and they have made their home there since that time.

A prominent worker in the Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Birdsong was formerly president of the Ladies Auxiliary and at one time of her death she was serving her second year as first vice president of the Dallas Presbyterian, U. S. At one time she was secretary of literature for the Wichita Falls Presbyterian, U. S. A. She returned Saturday from Ceta Canyon, where she had been teaching a methods class for adults at a five-day Presbyterian conference.

Mrs. Birdsong was a member of the Vernon Musicians Club and an honorary member of the Home Economics Club of which she was the first president. She was also affiliated with several other social clubs. — Vernon News.
