GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1938.

NUMBER SIX

MONDAY IS GOLDTHWAITE'S TRADES DAY

EAGLES MEET SAN SABA ARMADILLOS ON NEW LIGHTED FIELD TONIGHT AT 8 P. M.

High Attendance Expected, Conference Game for Both Teams

The new lighted field of the High School will be used for a gridiron battle between the Goldthwaite Eagles and the San Saba Armadillos.

Burnet School Supt. Compliments Team

Mr. A. H. Smith, Goldthwaite, Texas, Dear Smith: Just to inform you that we, the Burnet Public Schools and her friends, appreciate the courtesies extended to us upon our recent visit with you people for the purpose of playing a game of football. The game was clean and hard fought. Boys on both teams displayed good sportsmanship and a keen desire to win which was, I think, commendable to the boys, their coaches and the schools they represent. May we continue this friendly rivalry, which tends to develop dependable, hardworking boys who learn to take and give on the football field as they surely will have to in the business world. With continued best wishes, I am
Yours sincerely,
BURNS LANE

School Notes

Sponsors Elected

School Paper
Lawrence Stokes has been elected Editor-in-Chief of the school paper with Thelma Henry as Associate Editor. It is the plan to start some type of school publication next week. Whatever type of publication may be used the object is to keep the patrons and the public in general advised as to what the school is doing and attempting to do.

System of Grading
The school has adopted a slightly modified system of grading this year from that which has been used in the past. This year only three grades will be used. Although we are not sure which letters will be used to indicate the various grades the following classifications will be indicated: Excellent, Fair, and Unsatisfactory. This change is in keeping with the trend of many of the school systems and all the Educational Literature of the day, except that many schools are adopting a two grade system marking the work of pupils only as satisfactory or unsatisfactory. Pupils who make all Excellent grades will be given a place on the honor roll.

Enrollment
The enrollment continues to grow. New pupils are being enrolled.

Approval of Electric Line Expected

Applications of 75 householders for rural electric service between Star and Goldthwaite have been forwarded to Washington and engineers who plotted the map are confident the line will be approved.

If and when the line is completed and approved, an effort will be made to extend the line to Big Valley. Only a few more applications will be required for this line. Another proposed line that will receive attention will be from the Democrat community to Goldthwaite by way of Duran. A number of citizens in the Pleasant Grove community desire service and will be assisted in securing a line, according to W. P. Weaver, County Agent, who has been active in promoting the Star-Goldthwaite line. Another line extending from Hamilton to Priddy will serve 100 Mills county homes.

Letter Writing Week Begins Sunday

Throughout the United States October 2 to 8 will be observed as National Letter Writing Week. In every post office of the country there will be invitations to write those letters that need writing—to get in touch with those who are away.

At the Goldthwaite post office prizes will be awarded to students of the Goldthwaite schools. Full particulars may be obtained at the post office.

Methodist Church

Next Sunday, Oct. 2, is being nationally observed as "Go-to-Church" Sunday. Millions of American people will follow their noble impulses and attend the church of their choice. Therefore it is very fitting that we have set the day for the observance of Rally Day at our church. We urge that all our members and friends be in their places promptly at 9:45 next Sunday. We want a record attendance.

A special program will be rendered beginning at 10:30. The program will last about an hour and there will be no preaching service to follow. Don't miss this special occasion.

All the regular evening services will be held. Let us rally for the evening services also.

Church School at 9:45 a. m.
Morning Worship at 10:50 a. m.
Epworth League at 6:30 p. m.
Evening Service at 7:30 p. m.

JUST LOOKIN' 'ROUND

An Abilene truck driver had a close call on the highway near Goldthwaite the other night. He had just topped a hill and started down when his lights picked up a model T directly ahead of him loaded with negroes and household goods. A mattress had been tied across the back effectively hiding the tail light, so he could not see the light truck until too late to swerve past it.

He skidded into it. There was a crash and piercing screams rent the night air. He climbed out of his cab to care for the dead and wounded, but despite the racket no one had been hurt. A well worn tire on the T had blown out, and what were left of the fenders had been knocked off, and the body was pretty well scrambled, but the car would still run.

When the truck driver asked the negro driver what he could do to help, the latter, sadly surveying the vehicle which had taken the best part of a day and night to crawl from Austin to Mills county, replied: "Jest buy me a new car."

Goldthwaite's new lighted athletic field is something that the whole town can take pride in. As the old advertising slogan goes, "It's as good as the best and better than the rest." Tonight the stands will be full and running over for the game with San Saba. Better come early for a good seat.

September 27 is one of those days Tom Collier has no trouble recalling. And with all the war talk that has been going on, he remembers it only too well. In the cool, gray dawn of September 27, 1918 he went over the top. A machine gun bullet plowed right through his steel helmet and cut a furrow across his scalp. A few inches lower, and that bullet would have finished him off. Just wasn't his time to die.

Ad Topperwein was here Tuesday and staged one of his sensational shooting demonstrations. No matter how often one sees him, he always seems to do the impossible. It was unfortunate that his coming was not advertised as many hereabouts would have known.

Late War News

At 12:30 Friday morning Chancellor Hitler of Germany, Mussolini of Italy, Daladier of France and Chamberlain of Great Britain signed a general agreement in Munich, Germany which is expected to end the immediate danger of war.

District Court Meets Briefly

District Judge Few Brewster convened the September term of District Court Monday morning and named L. L. Wilson of Mullin foreman of the grand jury. While that body was deliberating, the judge disposed of 12 tax suits. Tuesday the grand jury brought in two indictments for drunk driving and was discharged, and court was recessed until next Monday.

Petit jurors for next week will be chosen from the following:

PETIT JURY

Center City 4-H Club Organized

The County Home Demonstrator, Miss Scott, came to Center City September 16, and organized a girl's 4-H Club. The sponsors, Miss Geeslin and Miss Ware, were very glad to see the girls take so much interest in the club work. There were twenty-five at the meeting and each intends to become a member of the club.

Miss Scott explained the 4-H club work, its objective, procedures or activities and results. The girls were so interested that they organized their club and elected officers. The officers are: president, Wilda Geeslin; vice-president, Barbara Carter; council delegate, Gilma Wright.

H. D. Council To Meet Oct. 1.

On Saturday, October 1, 1938, the Mills County Home Demonstration Council members will hold their first meeting at 2:30 o'clock in the District Court room for the purpose of organizing the council and to determine the demonstrations that will be carried out in Mills county. After the demonstrations are determined then immediate plan will be executed toward next year's work. With the aid of a program committee, the A&M specialists, and Miss Hearn, our district agent, the county Home Demonstration agent expects to have Mills county home demonstration club year books out sometime in December.

To date there have been ten home demonstration clubs and four girl's 4-H clubs organized. In the women's organizations, we have 150 members. In the girls we have approximately 60 girls enrolled.

At a recent meeting of the Athletic Council it was decided to add additional seating space on the Athletic field for three hundred people.

The school authorities from San Saba predict an attendance of 800 fans and students from there.

With winter just around the corner, the bargains that are being offered for this event by many of the stores are particularly timely.

Open House at Post Office

From 3 to 5 Monday afternoon the work room of the Post Office will be shown to visitors. Letters will be cancelled and dispatched and all the postal work that goes on behind the screen will be explained by the postmaster or one of the employees.

San Pedro Baby Wins Prize

Shirley Jo Reynolds, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Reynolds of San Pedro, California was awarded the silver loving cup offered as grand prize in the Better Baby Contest held at Huntington Beach, Cal., recently. Approximately 400 small children were entered in competition.

This was Shirley Jo's second triumph as she was first place winner in a costume parade at Daniels Field which attracted 6,000 spectators. Shirley Jo, dressed in a Hawaiian costume, contributed an added feature when she did a "hula" dance and the "Big Apple," after the judges had announced that she was the winner.

Shirley Jo is the little grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Reynolds of Caradan and she and her parents are here from California on a visit. She honored the Eagle Editor with a visit while here and a more winsome or attractive baby girl would be hard to find.

Attends Rose Festival At Tyler

Mmes John Berry, L. E. Miller and H. B. Johnson, members of the Goldthwaite Garden Club, left Thursday for Dallas where they will be joined by members of the Brownwood Garden Club and together they will attend the Rose Festival at Tyler to be held this week end.

Tuesday Study Club

The Tuesday Study Club had a luncheon at the home of Mrs. T. C. Graves Saturday, Sept. 24, as its first meeting of the year.

The guests assembled at 11:00 o'clock. The tables were beautifully laid with gayly colored Mexican cloths and pottery. The color scheme was carried out in the decorations and in the menu which consisted of spiced tomato juice, congealed chicken salad, potato chips, pickles, olives, pepper cases stuffed with corn, hot rolls, iced tea, peach ice cream and cake.

Mrs. W. G. Saylor, as the new president, was very optimistic over the program for the coming year.

After dinner, Mrs. Walters Hesters very delightfully reviewed the book, "And the Rains Came," by Louise Bromfield.

MULLIN TATTLER

The Mullin Tattler, Mullin school paper, made its appearance this week in the September issue.

It is a credit to the school and senior class.

CITY COUNCIL OFFERS TO BUY ELECTRIC LINES HERE

A special meeting of the city council was called at 9:30 Monday morning by Mayor H. G. Bodkin to consider further the city's going into the business of electric power and light distribution. A committee of Goldthwaite businessmen headed by Dow Hudson, chairman, was also present. Wm. G. Morrison of Waco, consulting engineer who conducted the recent survey of Goldthwaite, and Mayor R. J. Paine of Lampasas were present and explained several features of the proposition.

City Secretary F. P. Bowman first read a letter from the Public Works Administration at Washington which stated that before the city's recent application for a loan and grant with which to construct an electrical distribution system could be considered, it would be necessary for the city to offer the Community Public Service Company a fair price for as much of their property as could be used in the city system.

As the city plans to purchase electric current from the Colorado River Authority, it would have no use for the light company's generators but could use the poles and lines throughout the city. It was therefore decided to make the company an offer of $30,000, for this part of their system in Goldthwaite. A bond election was called for Saturday, October 15, at which time city property taxpayers will vote on revenue bonds for financing the purchase of the distribution system. Mr. Morrison was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for a new distribution system to be erected in case the Community Public Service Company's lines can not be purchased.

A communication from the light company was read at the meeting in which it offered to guarantee to the city rates as low as any that might be put in force in any of the towns which are now preparing to use CRA current.

H. D. Club Organized At Center City

Miss Scott, County Home Demonstration Agent met with the Center City P.-T. A. Friday night, Sept. 9, and helped the women organize a Home Demonstration Club.

There were eighteen women present who showed an enthusiastic interest in the idea of such a club. Miss Scott made an interesting talk, outlining the various projects offered. There are several from which to choose so we should be able to select two that will prove both interesting and beneficial.

The following officers were elected for the club:

President, Mrs. J. M. Oglesby; vice-president, Mrs. Ira Alldredge; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Jack Kirby; Counsel Delegate, Miss Alice Williams.

It was decided to have our first meeting Monday afternoon, at 2 p. m., Sept. 26, at the schoolhouse. All the homemakers of the community are urged to be present. We feel sure that such a club, enthusiastically supported will add zest and interest to our lives.

Miss Scott is expected to return in a few days to help organize a girl's 4-H Club.—Reporter.

Care of Orchards

There is such a wide variety of fruits to choose from that you should have little difficulty proving their belief to be a correct one. A desirable size orchard would have in it for each member of the family six peach trees, 1 plum, 1 pear, and 1 fig tree, 2 grapevines and 16 berry vines. Extra amounts of watermelons, cantaloupes, strawberries, tomatoes, and other fruits of this kind would be produced every year to use for the fruit until the tree fruits come into production; then extra amounts of these fruits could be used to give variety and to provide fruit should the tree fruits fail to produce as they have this year.

Would you like to grow your own fruit? Don't say it can't be done until you have tried, and tried, and then tried again! All farm people have to have the "patience of Job" about any crop they grow, and the same thing will probably be true about your fruit crop—but never be a "quitter!" Try again, maybe you did something wrong last time.

Perhaps you already have some fruit trees growing on your place that have not done so well this year. Give them a break for next year if you want them to come to the front with a "bumper" crop. Be sure they are well fed.

How can you expect fruit trees to grow and produce fruit when they are starving to death and have no water? What would happen to your cows and chickens if you treated them this way? Sure, you had a crop of weeds in your orchard this year robbing the trees of what little food and water was present in the soil! And you will expect them to bear next year. If they do not, you will say, "Fruit just doesn't do well on our place."

One of the inexpensive ways to feed your fruit trees is by planting a cover crop for them next month. Oats, wheat, or rye would be good to plant. If the rainfall should be limited next spring, this green manure crop can be plowed under early in the spring, and will not take the moisture from the trees. Of course, commercial fertilizer or stable manure properly applied about that same time would be appreciated untold amounts by the trees and would give them the materials they need to make good fruit out of and you would be a wise producer to see to it that this extra food is available.

Deep cultivation should not be practiced in the orchard because most fruit trees have a shallow root system, and if the feeder roots are cut, especially during the growing season, the trees are sure to suffer.—Ex.

The Governor-nominee will spend all of October 15, which will fall on Saturday, on the State Fair grounds, festivities beginning for him in the morning with a parade from the downtown district, and coming to a climax with a rally in the huge Cotton Bowl stadium, which seats 50,000 people, at night. He will visit many buildings and be entertained on the grounds at luncheon, probably in the Texas Hall of State.

Two radio broadcasts will be included in the schedule of the day. The Governor-nominee will be heard first in his regular noon program from a special platform in the Castle of Foods. The Cotton Bowl rally program in which he will be presented with prominent business and political leaders of the state, will be broadcast over a statewide network.

CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY PENSION FOR ITS EMPLOYEES

Ponca City, Okla.—The Continental Oil Company announced today the establishment of a retirement and pension fund for all of its employees who reach the age of 65 in the case of men and 60 in the case of women.

The plan, according to Dan Moran, president of the Company will be cooperative in character, employees making regular monthly contributions which will be supplemented by a contribution on the company's part. It will provide a minimum benefit of $30 a month, and in the average case the total retirement income including the Federal pension will amount to a figure somewhere between one-third and one-half of the employee's salary. For the older employees the company is providing a benefit in recognition of service already rendered.

them all—electricity? So that everyone may find out for himself, safety experts have prepared this electrical intelligence test. To learn how carefully you are using electricity in your home, give yourself ten points for each question in the following list to which you can truthfully answer yes:

- Do you—
1. Always have an experienced electrician make repairs?
  2. Disconnect irons and other heating appliances as soon as you finish using them (you may be wrong in thinking you have turned the switch off)?
  3. Use non-temperable fuses (fustats) which cannot be bridged with pennies or replaced by the wrong size?
  4. Always disconnect appliances by pulling the plug instead of the cord (to avoid damaging the cord)?
  5. Have a rubber-sheathed cord on the washing machine and a wire grounding the frame of the machine to a water pipe?
  6. Never allow electrical appliances to get wet?
  7. Never touch appliances when in the bath tub or standing on a wet floor?
- If your score is a perfect 70, you are the careful sort of person who probably never will have trouble in the use of electricity. If your score is below 60, start checking up; you're running too many risks.

Christmas is Coming—Also Thanksgiving
By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

Turkey-time approaches, and turkey raisers who think ahead will come out best in the annual competition in supplying festal tables. It takes at least four to five weeks of good full feeding to put a good market finish on turkeys, and longer if they are not already in good condition and health. At this time, therefore, it is time to make plans for the home-stretch with turkeys which are to be sold for Thanksgiving. Three or four weeks later will do for the Christmas crop.

It is the finish, the last few pounds put on the breast and other thick parts of the turkey carcass, that determines the grade and price per pound. It is false economy, therefore, to stint the feed at this stage. On the other hand every pound of this "finish" weight adds to the value of each pound of the original frame. The best figures available show that it takes from 4½ to 6 pounds of grain (including mash feeds) to make a pound of gain in turkeys, and the average cost of feed grains over several years has been $5.40 to $7 per hundred pounds of turkey. At the lowest imaginable price turkeys pay well for the grain and mash necessary to put them in first-class market condition.

An idea has been broadcast that the demand is now largely for smaller turkeys, 10 pounds or so. One of the largest turkey shippers in Texas says the 15 to 16 pound turkey is still in best demand. Even if the former were true an unfinished turkey would not be acceptable. The writer knows city dealers who buy thin turkeys at their own price and fatten them for their trade, making a two-way profit. The farmer who sells this kind of turkeys is losing both ways—the sale of the grain to the turkey at a good price, and the city feeder gets paid for the small labor of feeding.

"Turkeys are becoming so plentiful that consuming centers are getting more critical on the quality, and I believe that in the future we will find a greater spread between Southwestern turkeys and Northwestern turkeys unless our quality is improved," says A. W. Jacob, Extension Economist of the Oklahoma A&M College. The Northwest and the Pacific Coast have no better turkeys than the Southwest, but they have been crowding us out because they do a better job of finishing.

The feed crop in the Southwest is excellent and well distributed and all grains and elements of mash feeds are cheaper than for several years past. Most of this section has also had good rains to keep the ranges green. Everything is in our favor for turning out a turkey crop in prime condition this season, and at a low cost. It takes 1 to 1½ pounds less grain to make a pound of gain on good green range than without it, but if green range is lacking and all the feed were bought and the turkeys given all they could eat for four to six weeks before going to market it would still be profitable.

Nobody can forecast the ruling price, but everybody knows there will be a differential in favor of the prime and No. 1 grades. The grower has spent several months and some money producing a skeleton which has little market value as such. Properly "upholstered" with the few extra pounds of juicy flesh is the reason some people fail to make a profit from turkeys.

Many of the best turkey producers grade their flocks and full-feed only the best developed ones for Thanksgiving, and grade again before selling, holding back the lower grades for a later market. No turkey should go to market until it is free of pin feathers, which is a sign of maturity. Don't worry about over-weight—make them fat and let the weight be what it will.

have liked to have seen him. Wonder how many rounds of ammunitions he has used in his career.

A few years ago a California business man resolved that he would write five letters of appreciation every day. At first he thought he might have trouble finding that many people every day to write to, but soon his difficulty was to limit the list. These letters have proved an open sesame to a new world. He has received invitations from outstanding people from the President of the United States on down. He has made hundreds of friends. He has received hundreds of interesting letters in return as well as many gifts and kindnesses, but his chief gain has been in training himself to look for the good in other folks and to acknowledge it. Appreciation is one of the most valuable things in the world—we all treasure it so highly, we are rarely willing to pass it on to someone else.

Next week, National Letter Writing Week, will be a good time to make a start.

KEEPING OUR HEADS

One thing stands sharply out from all the confusion that surrounds the claims and counterclaims of Germany, Czechoslovakia, and England: America is keeping cool and calmly minding her own business.

Either those foreign agents whose job it is to whip up sentiment in this nation for their own lands have not yet gone into action, or their efforts are too palpable to gain credence from the American press and public. From President Roosevelt down to the man in the street, Americans have adopted the Missouri attitude of waiting to be shown. If we can maintain this honest and dispassionate appraisal of such facts as we can get, we can safely rely on the outcome so far as this country is concerned.

It is a tragic pity that war involving hundreds of millions of human beings can be aroused by such comparatively insignificant differences of opinion and of interpretation. It would be sheer folly if we should take sides.

This is not to say that we can escape the effects of a general European war. We have, in fact, felt repercussions from the Spanish and Chinese campaigns, and would be far more sensitive to a European conflict. But because we are doomed to suffer as an innocent bystander on the sidelines certainly is no reason for courting far greater disaster by joining in the fray.

So long as we common people can keep our heads and hold our tongues, so long can we be sure that those in whose hands rests America's destiny will neither betray us nor lead us astray.

Post Office Ad

Under this caption, State Press of the Dallas News, makes the following comment on the recent advertisement of the Goldthwaite Post Office that was published in The Goldthwaite Eagle: "Uncle Sam is glad to spend borrowed money on nearly anybody except the newspaper publishers. Uncle doesn't like newspapers. He reverts to the radio when he feels urged to say something. The post office advertisement at Goldthwaite was, no doubt, paid for by Postmaster Stokes. Incidentally, he composed a fine advertisement. It said what the post office was prepared to do by way of public service. It gave the names of the clerks and R.F.D. and Star Route carriers. It told of the convenience and cost of lock boxes. Would that all postmasters would advertise their services in display spaces. But if they started it, probably Mr. Farley would put a stop to it. Newspapers are on the new deal's large list. The new deal can't control a Democratic primary, but it can control Democratic postmaster. It can Can." State Press is only partly right. So long as post masters use their own money to advertise Uncle Sam's service, Mr. Farley does not object. As a matter of fact his able Third Assistant encourages them to boost post office sales so long as Uncle Sam doesn't have to foot the bills. But this does not mean that the postmaster who increases the business of his post office sees no benefit. Since the present postmaster took office in Goldthwaite, the post office department has not only completely equipped the post office building with modern furniture and fixtures, but it has increased the number and the salaries of post office clerks employed here, and this increase, which for the clerks alone amounts to over $4,000 a year, is going into the channels of trade in Goldthwaite. If the post office business had not been increased, it would have been impossible to secure these improvements. Since advertising increases business, it pays to advertise.

Faith That Changes Not

You ask me whether in the years that have gone the faith I received from my fathers has been modified in any essential particular. You ask me this, and I can look you in the face and look my Lord in the face, and say, The faith of my fathers is still to me the most believable that there is in all this world. I have tested its power in my own experience; I tested it over thirty years with practical application to the lives of others; I have tested it in my wanderings as secretary and bishop; I have known its value when the crown of life seemed to come to me in unsought honors, and I have known it in the vertiges and difficulties of life as a support that could give me cheer. And now, with the shadow of age upon me, and knowing that my history of fifty years is behind me, I look out into the future with an eye bright with the light of God's Spirit and with my hopes strong, yea with my faith strong that when God lets me die he will let me enter eternal rest. This faith I have. Nothing has disturbed it. I have read about new interpretations, and in my soul I have today the truth of God's Word confirmed to me by my own experience. I appreciate the ethical value of Christianity. I appreciate the philosophical forces which come to attest it, but I appreciate more and more as things go on the great "If ye do the will of God ye shall know." And, just as I know that there is a supporting power to my body when in deep water I spread the palms of my hands out and use them as fins, not only supporting myself, but propelling myself, so I can do the things which by nature I can not do, and that God helps me to love what I once did not love, and say what once I did not say, and I bless his name forevermore for the joys of the Christian family, for the fellowship of the Christian Church, for the blessed brotherhood of this conference, and for the coming brotherhood of the eternal life—Bishop Goodshell before the New York East Conference—at the completion of fifty years in the ministry. —Southwestern Advocate.

Come to Life

For the past fifteen years we have been wondering what had become of Horatio Alger. Neither Six-Point nor the twelve-year-old had ever heard of him and most librarians of the present generation think that he stood at the bridge in some Shakespearean classic. But Horatio Alger came to life in Brooklyn one night last month when Johnny Vander Meer stepped out on the mound before 38,001 spectators and pitched his second no-hit game within a week. The odd spectator in the 38,001 was one Babe Ruth, who returned to the game that historic night in the capacity of coach for the Dodgers. In the many years of big league competition, no man had ever before pitched two no-hit games in a single season. Only twelve have ever pitched that many in their careers. It was a truly remarkable performance. What makes the analogy to the heroes of the prolific Mr. Alger so pointed is that a few years ago a motion picture company, making a short, wanted to film the experiences of a likely youngster breaking into organized baseball. The boy most typical of fine young manhood, the one with the clearest eye and most modest manner, was Johnny Vander Meer. Maybe it is better that the Horatio Alger heroes now appear in the daily newspapers and picture weeklies as real persons instead of between the covers of "Do or Die" or "Strive and Succeed." They say this is an age of realism. Vander Meer, by his supple left arm, proved last month that realism is far more unbelievably romantic and stimulating than fiction. —CAPS and lower case

"RISING TIDE"

In this distraught world so much of the news deals with the destructive forces of crime, war and greed, it is easy to overlook the fact that there is another side. To report each week this other side is the purpose of this column. It deals principally with the personal experience of a rising tide of men and women who believe in God-control and whose lives are governed by the thought that if you want a new and better world, the place to start is with yourself. If you would like to meet or correspond with any of them, write to the Rising Tide Column, Goldthwaite Eagle, Goldthwaite, Texas.

How many fathers wish they knew to "manage" a difficult, unmanageable son who goes off in a huff to "make his own way, thanks!"; and how many sons wish they could find the secret of "getting on with the old man" who "really is a swell guy if only he wouldn't try to run me." The story of John Locke, 21, of Hartford, Connecticut, is the story of thousands. "I left college and my home and went to New York to prove that I could make a success of myself in my own way, not the way my father wanted me to," he says of himself. Smoothly For Awhile

"Fortunately, I got a job in a very short time and a promise of success if I was willing to work patiently toward that goal. For a few months everything went along fairly smoothly, then things began to happen which I could not understand at the time.

"I began to get impatient for success and to become dissatisfied with my job. At the same time my fiancée began to become dissatisfied with me. Life became awful. My family, my boss, my fiancée, none of them understood me. And I wasn't getting any closer to success. "Something was radically wrong, just where I did not know.

People With Zest "Then one day in January of this year, I met two young people who interested me a great deal. They seemed so happy and free. They seemed to have found a new zest for life which I needed badly. I was starving for it. "They told me about a Rising Tide of God-controlled lives. I had heard of the Rising Tide before but I had no interest in it because it seemed to have something to do with God. I knew nothing about God. I hadn't taken time to think about it.

Decided To Try It "I was quite capable of running my own life without any kind of help. However, these two people said that God was running their lives and could run mine if I wanted Him to. As they didn't look any the worse for wear, I decided to try it. "Maybe God could run my life better than I could. At least, if there was a God, I ought to give Him a chance.

"What happened after that decision would take hours to tell, but I discovered that there actually was a God and that He can and does cause miracles to happen. He turned me inside out, gave me a thorough look at myself. It wasn't very pleasant. Then He showed me what I could do about it.

"First of all, I saw that the trouble was with me and not with the rest of the world. I saw, among other things, that I had a tremendous pride which had been causing most of my trouble. It was completely selfish—it made me dishonest—it gave me bitterness—it made me im-

Your Home Paper

If you are the type of person who is inclined to reflect an indifferent attitude to ward your home paper—this newspaper—because it is only a weekly instead of a daily, a little personal and community reflection might do you and your community good. If it does print only once a week, your home newspaper is the only one which has done you and yours the honor of placing you and your activities in first-page headlines; it is the only paper, so far as visible evidence is concerned, that found out about your existence.

Your home paper laughs with you when you are happy and sympathizes with you when sorrow overtakes you; it is the only newspaper whose editor sacrifices the time to contact you personally for publicity of mutual interest; the great dailies are indispensable, but cold and impersonal without any motive for publicizing your community, your business, yourself or your family.

In pursuance of any and all community interest, you may find your editor or a staff member present, and giving his time, and paying his money for the privilege of writing and boosting your community.

How many editors or staff members of the big dailies have paid to attend your meetings, or have labored to publicize your community and its activities?

Many columns and headlines are published every week in your home paper—in pursuance of the effort at building and advancing our community. How many lines do you see in the dailies?

If your local weekly newspaper is insignificant in comparison it is far more loyal to you and your community than the big daily; the editor keeps his pulse on your community.

For every dime that you spend with your home weekly newspaper it renders untold free publicity and service to your community.

Again, this paper is insignificant compared to the big dailies, how does your business compare to Sears, Roebuck & Co.; or how does our town compare to Birmingham or Atlanta?

These are plain facts—something for the average citizen to think about.—Pied (Ala.) Journal.

pure in thought and act. It kept me from really knowing or understanding my father and it kept him from knowing or understanding me.

"In one sentence, my pride had caused unhappiness in our family, sent me away to New York, blocked me real success, and generally messed things up beautifully.

"I went to my father, my fiancée, and to my boss. I told them what I really was like. The whole atmosphere changed. Miracles began to happen in my life.

God Who Cares "I am back home again in a 'new' family which now has a foundation of real and unselfish love. We work and play together as a unit now, not as separate unrelated parts. Most important of all, I have found the answer to my biggest doubt—there is a God who cares for each and every one of us.

Wednesday afternoon at a call session of the city council, a stop light was purchased, which will be installed at the intersection of Main and Highway 74.

L. M. Stephens and Henry Stallings went to Del Rio, Friday. This was the first trip Stallings has ever made connected with either wool or mohair, and has been the senior partner in the business all these years. Saturday they bought the Moody Mohair Clip from the Silver Lake Ranch at Bracketville.

Improvements have been completed on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mick Stephens. Their kitchen is modern in every way. All units such as water heater and stove are built into the kitchen cabinet.

A large sun porch and glassed-in sleeping porch were added to the house.

San Saba

Two farm homes, with all of their furnishings, were destroyed by fire last Saturday night and an aged woman, Mrs. White, 92, badly burned crawled from one of them to save herself.

They were the homes of Ernest L. Oliver (of the Live Oak community) recently elected county superintendent in the August primaries, and that of J. C. Stoner, of the Holt community. A singular coincidence of the fires was the fact that seven years ago, on exactly the same night, both the Oliver and Stoner homes were destroyed by fire.

Another fire last Saturday night was that at the Ponton & Vogel gin here in San Saba when the roof of the boiler room caught fire. The local fire department, however, extinguished the blaze before it had done much damage.

An entirely successful convention was held here last Saturday.

Lampasas

Judge Ben H. Powell, president of the Texas Bar Association was one of the speakers at the Bell-Lampasas-Mills Bar Association meeting last Thursday night held at the Lampasas country club, at 7:30 o'clock. Another speaker for the occasion was Chief Justice J. W. McClenon of the third Court of Civil Appeals, Austin.

With one of the largest votes ever cast in a city election in Lampasas of property owners, the Municipal Light & Power Bonds went over Tuesday, September 20, by a handsome majority. The vote was almost two to one in favor of this issue, 347 to 183, according to figures furnished by Kyle Oliver, city secretary.

Annie Lois Carpenter, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Carpenter, died at the family home in Lampasas Thursday morning, September 22, at 11 o'clock. She had been seriously ill for three weeks.

At noon Thursday there had been ginned by the Gillen Gin, 255 bales of the 1938 cotton crop, counting two round bales for one bale.

Cotton was selling today for around 8.25 locally and cotton seed for $20.00 per ton.

An announcement of unusual interest in commercial circles and to the general public is that the L. & L. Auto Supplies Co., has purchased the J. D. McKinley & Son stock of hardware and implements and is continuing the sale in the same building on the west side of the square.

With the approval of the City Council and Mayor Lemmons, a city-wide improvement project sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce is on its way.

The project calls for sidewalks, curb and gutter work and paving. By using the advantages which the WPA offers at this time it will be possible for property owners to secure sidewalks, curb and gutter work and paving only the cost of materials that go into same.

Brownwood

Announcement was made this week of a gift of $2,500 by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jennings of Brownwood to start the fund to be raised for the construction of the new gymnasium and physical education building at Howard Payne College. The new building will take the place of the gymnasium destroyed by fire April 5.

Oscar E. McInnis and James E. McInnis purchased the Mitcham Funeral Home this week and the name has been changed back to that under which this establishment was operated for a number of years, the McInnis Funeral Home. Palmer C. McInnis is moving back to Brownwood this week from San Antonio to assume the duties of general manager.

H. E. Robinson, deputy state school superintendent in charge of the Brownwood district, received notification Wednesday of his transfer to district 6, with headquarters either at Commerce or Greenville, the change to become effective immediately.

Mr. Robinson will be succeeded here by G. D. Holbrook, who has been in charge of the Lubbock district. Mr. Holbrook, a well known Texas school man, is a graduate of Howard Payne College.—Banner.

Fruits Kept Fresh

In seasons of high production, large quantities of fresh fruits are allowed to go to waste because there is no market and they can be held in storage only a short time, but specialists of the U. S. Bureau of Chemistry and Soils have been studying and improving methods of preparing and keeping frozen fruit pulp, which may be used in making fruit ice cream and fruit sherbert.

Full-ripe fruit, when the flavor is at its peak is crushed to a pulp or puree, a predetermined amount of sugar or sirup is added, and the mixture is frozen rapidly. The amount of sugar or sirup depends upon the use of the product.

The fruit is held at a storage temperature of zero, Fahrenheit, and some of the original fruit stored 7 years ago is still in storage and samples opened from time to time have been as high in quality as when fresh.

Reports from manufacturers show that the frozen puree makes an ice cream much smoother in texture than when pieces of fresh fruit are used. The fruit pulp also may be used for mixing fountain drinks, and crushed or chopped fruits can be used as sundae topping.

Health Notes

"Pellagra, while not a communicable disease is of concern to the State Department of Health since many people die of it each year in Texas. Pellagra is a disease that is caused by the lack of proper foods. It comes on slowly and may not be recognized until the victim begins to have a sore mouth, stomach trouble, and reddening and scaling of the skin. When these symptoms appear, the disease has been present for some time," Stated Dr. Cox, State Health Officer.

The longer a person has pellagra the harder it is to cure, so one should be on the lookout for the early symptoms, such as nervousness, indigestion, and burning of the feet and hands. The disease may become so severe as to affect the mind.

Pellagra is not contagious. As long as a person eats enough of the right kind of food and is not otherwise diseased, he is in no danger even if he lives with a pellagra patient.

The prevention of pellagra depends upon eating the right kind of food at all times. To make sure that the diet is right, it should always include plenty of milk daily, some fresh meat, and as many fresh vegetables as possible.

sible. Tomatoes, whole wheat products, salmon, brewer's yeast, and fresh fruits are especially valuable. Having provided these essentials of a proper diet, the result may be arranged according to family and personal likes. In this way pellagra may be avoided.
