HIGH SCHOOL HERALD

The Eagle gladly welcomes the High School Herald to its columns this week and hopes the school news will be better and more interesting to all the students and patrons than ever before.

HELLO 1988!!

The Goldthwaite Eagle has been invited by the management of the State Fair of Texas at Dallas to send it the first page of this week's edition to be placed in the "Treasure Chest of the Texas Press" Saturday. This chest of Texas iron containing the front pages of many Texas newspapers will be buried for 50 years. When it is removed in 1988, middle aged men and women, now unborn, will have an opportunity to read of Goldthwaite and Mills county "fifty years ago."

Mindful of the remarkable changes that have taken place in Texas during the past half-century, The Eagle makes only one prophecy for the next fifty years, and that is that in 1988 the citizens of Texas will still be subject to death and taxes.

State Fair to Open Tomorrow

DALLAS.—Saturday morning, October 8, the gates will swing open on the largest and most attractive State Fair in all the half century of progressive effort, each year to outstrip the one preceding.

Early in the week but four small spaces had not been contracted for the 16-day event, with all indications these would be taken prior to opening day.

Judge Few Brewster recessed District Court Wednesday and dismissed the jury. Two civil suits remain on the docket but neither will require a jury. They will be taken up next Monday.

Only two criminal cases were taken up at this term of court. Both plead guilty to driving while intoxicated and were each fined $50 and sentenced to five days in jail and had their drivers license revoked.

Seventeen tax foreclosure suits were brought at this term of the District Court. Five were dismissed as the defendants made payment of taxes and court costs before judgment was entered. One suit was continued to perfect service.

Eleven suits resulted in judgments for the plaintiffs and involved the collection of approximately $3500.00 in taxes owing to the State of Texas. County of Mills, Goldthwaite and Mullin Independent School Districts and the City of Goldthwaite. There remain about forty tax suits to be brought. The first of these will be filed immediately after the adjournment of this term of district court.

About 25 tax suits have been brought under the present tax collection program, and it is estimated that with the filing of 40 additional suits it can be brought to a close.

Number of Trench Silos Increased

Reports from College Station indicate 15,000 trench silos will be filled in Texas this year, and there is a possibility that the figure will reach 20,000. Slightly more than 10,000 were filled in 1937.

According to records in the County Agent's office, 42 trench silos were filled in Mills County last year. To date 26 have been built and filled in Mills county this year bringing the total to 68 for the county.

We still have time to build and fill 22 more this year to make a hundred for the county.

Pleasant Grove H. D. Club Organized

On Tuesday evening, September 20, all the women interested in Home Demonstration work met with Miss Scott, our Home Demonstrator, at Mrs. Charlie Berry's. A club was organized with nine members.

The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Oran Carothers; vice-president, Mrs. O. Z. Berry; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Melvin Crawford; council delegate, Mrs. Arthur Robbins, and reporter, Miss Ruby D. Berry. Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Ray Berry, October 18.

Methodist Church

Our Rally Day last Sunday was a grand success. We appreciate the fine response. Such loyalty is most encouraging. May we suggest now that every Sunday may be a Rally Day for us. If it is worthwhile for us to make a special effort to attend and invite others to the church on Rally Day, surely it is worthwhile that we attend every Sunday. Let us meet our Lord and our friends at church every Sunday.

Next Sunday night we will have the Men's Choir again. A special quartette is being prepared also.

Come and worship with us. Church School, 9:45. Morning Worship, 10:50 a. m. Epworth League, 6:30 p. m. Evening Worship, 7:30 p. m. Mid-week Service, 7:30 p. m. Come to all the services.

Lions Club Met Tuesday

Miss Maggie Marie Hill, talented music instructor in the Goldthwaite schools, entertained the Lions Club Tuesday with three vocal solos. Miss Lillian Summy accompanied her at the piano. Miss Hill then led the club in singing several popular numbers. The club met in the recreation room of the Methodist Church for its second regular meeting.

Kelly Saylor gave a report on the work of the citizen's athletic council, of which he is chairman, in equipping the high school athletic field with flood lights and stands. His talk was supplemented with remarks by Raymond Little and A. H. Smith.

Sam Sullivan discussed the WPA sidewalk and curb and gutter project which was put into operation last week. O. H. Yarbrough spoke on the newly authorized survey of State Highway 81 from Goldthwaite to Comanche.

Preceding the program, a delicious supper was served by the ladies of the Methodist Church. The hour for the next meeting, Tuesday, October 18, was set for 7:00 p. m. instead of 7:30.

Prizes Offered By Postmaster

In connection with the observance, this week, of National Letter Writing Week, the local post office is offering prizes of theatre tickets to students of the Goldthwaite schools. The tickets are for Kate Douglas Wiggin's charming comedy, "Mother Carey's Chickens," and are offered through the courtesy of the Melba Theatre, where the picture is being shown Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Nationwide interest has been aroused by National Letterwriting Week, and many local people are taking the opportunity to write long-neglected letters to old friends and relatives.

First Baptist Church

E. E. DAWSON, Pastor

In spite of the renovating that is going on in the church building, all services will be on regular schedule next Sunday. Sunday school at 10:00, the worship beginning at 10:50, the B. T. U. at 6:30 in the evening, and the evening worship at 7:30. You are always invited and always welcome when you come.

The response of the people in the renovation enterprise has been generous and ready and all of us are happy in the prospect of a more comely building and one with increased comfort. It is an investment in comfort and appearances, both of which are important in all religious work.

Remember—the Workers Conference on Friday, October 21. Every church in the county is expected to be represented. It meets with us at Goldthwaite.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY ZONE THREE TO MEET

Tuesday, October 11, at 10:00 a. m. Methodist Zone No. 3 will gather here for their semi-annual meeting.

This zone includes the missionary societies of the Methodist Churches of Lampasas, Lometa, San Saba and Goldthwaite with Mrs. H. F. Lewis as Zone Chairman.

Fatherless Families

Every widowed mother who has two daughters, 18 and 16 and two sons, 12 and 5, are invited to be the guests of the management of the Melba Theatre to see, "Mother Carey's Chickens," on Saturday midnight, Sunday or Monday, Oct. 8, 9, 10.

Survey of Past Shows Gains Made

Goldthwaite Leads In Sound Development

Rising above the handicaps of drouths, floods and epidemics, Goldthwaite and Mills county are entering the last quarter of 1938 with substantial gains recorded. Every indication is that both city and county will be in better condition at the close of the year than at its beginning.

This development follows the trend of the last three years which has seen more material progress here than in any other 10 years of the city's history.

Residential building has forged ahead. One has only to drive the length of Fisher street to note that almost every house is a new building or has been recently remodeled. A similar condition is apparent throughout the city and in most sections of the county as well. Especially noteworthy are the number of small, neat, comfortable residences built and owned by those of moderate incomes. These, more than anything else bespeak the substantial worth of our citizenship. Inspired by the Garden Club, yards and gardens are now an attractive feature of most homes.

Several business houses have been remodeled and redecorated. The court house and jail have been re-roofed and brought to first class condition. The post office has been enlarged and improved and equipped with modern new government-owned fixtures that in appearance and convenience are the equal of any. The Baptist Church is now receiving an overhauling that will improve both its looks and usefulness. The Methodist Church, still new enough to be counted as one of the showplaces of Goldthwaite, is a monument to the vision and civic-mindedness of the late W. C. Dew, Goldthwaite's foremost citizen, whose sudden and tragic death shocked the community just one year ago.

Latest and finest of recent improvements is the new lighted athletic field of the Goldthwaite public schools. One remarkable fact about this field is that it was started on funds subscribed by Goldthwaite citizens, was completed by a WPA project, and was then equipped with modern floodlights and stands entirely through private funds advanced by the Trent State Bank on the security of 50 public-spirited citizens.

The enrollment of the Goldthwaite schools is now the greatest on record, and seven school buses daily bring the advantages of modern classrooms and equipment and specially trained teachers to many school children living in the country. A brick addition to the grammar school building, a gymnasium, and modern plumbing have been installed at the school within recent months. An active P.-T. A. has largely assisted in equipping the auditorium and making various other improvements.

Similar improvement in the schools is also apparent at Mullin, Star and several other county schools. There are two schools in the county that will run less than six months.

Goldthwaite is a good place in which to trade. A recent comparison showed that food prices in Goldthwaite were lower than in San Antonio, long known as the cheapest food market in the state. Other stores maintain ample, up-to-date stocks of reasonably priced merchandise. Stimulated by the monthly Trades Day which offers free entertainment as well as merchandise bargains to shoppers, more and more people are coming to Goldthwaite for their trading. Another attractive factor is that Goldthwaite offers a year-round market for all the products grown or raised in the county. It attracts wool and mohair from adjoining counties and is a concentration point for many commodities. Mills county horses have had their superiority recognized by the U. S. Army which has purchased a far greater proportion of its requirements here than in any adjacent county.

Advantages Detailed
Briefly here are some of the advantages of Goldthwaite and Mills county that assure its continued development and its attractiveness to prospective home seekers:

It is centrally located in the state and connects with modern hard-surfaced highways with every section of Texas. A $250,000 bridge is now being built ten miles south of Goldthwaite on State Highway 81 which will divert a considerable amount of through traffic from Southwest Texas through this county.

Goldthwaite, in the hills, has an altitude of 1700 feet, approximately that of Kerrville. Its summers are milder, its nights more pleasant than surrounding sections. In the winter the winds are tempered by the hills and temperatures rarely drop as low as in nearby points.

An adequate supply of pure, underground water is available in every section of the county. The land ranges from extremely fertile river bottoms and valleys to rough grazing land which produces the finest Angora goats in the country.

An active Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring new developments in Goldthwaite. The city now has lower electric rates than most of the surrounding towns and still lower rates are in prospect. A rural electrification project will soon bring cheap electricity to many rural homes in the county.

Goldthwaite and Mills county have the smallest relief rolls of any county its size in Texas. It has no negroes and practically no residents of foreign birth.

Its people are peaceable and law-abiding. For the past 18 months there have only been 10 indictments returned by the grand jury, an average of hardly one-half a month. Civil litigation is also light, so last year the Legislature authorized Mills county to reduce its terms of district court to two a year.

Bonds and Taxes Low
Very few cities and counties in Texas have as little bonded indebtedness or as low taxes as Mills county and the city of Goldthwaite. The county has $18,000 courthouse bonds and $16,333 road bonds of District 1 outstanding. The county tax rate is 70c on the $100 valuation. The road tax in District 1 is 10c, and the state tax is 49c.

The city has $15,000 waterworks bonds, $5,000 sewer bonds and about $3,000 in warrants outstanding. It has also issued $20,000 sewer revenue bonds, but these are paid from sewer revenues and not from taxes. The city tax rate is $1.50.

Goldthwaite Independent School District has a tax rate of $1. This makes the combined taxes of Goldthwaite taxpayers $3.79 per $100 valuation, or less than 4 per cent.

Schools Lose, Voters Gain If Polls Are Abolished

If and when the poll tax is abolished in Texas, this state will have two to three times as many voters, the schools will lose more than million dollars, and the candidates in Democratic primaries will have to put up more money to cover the costs of election. In fact more balloting boxes would have to be designated in San Angelo to handle the 12,000 or more voters who would have the right to ballot here on the basis of a 21-year-old requirement with any registration restrictions that might be adopted.

The voting strength of the current year for the most part is less than half the census totals of 1930 for citizens 21 years of age, the qualifying years for the ballot. In some instances, the voting total is about a third that which could qualify on an age basis alone. The comparisons for the 25th Senatorial District in this section of Texas, follow, the first column being for poll taxes in 1938, the second being the census of citizenship of age in 1930:

25th Senatorial District
County—	1938	1930
Comanche	3,492	9,999
Mills	1,950	4,427
Brown	5,217	15,058
Coleman	4,022	12,415
McCullough	3,455	7,218
Mason	1,701	3,059
Menard	1,485	2,416
Concho	1,874	3,770
Runnels	4,292	11,298
Coke	1,450	2,741
Tom Green	7,283	21,402
Schleicher	867	1,741
Irion	812	1,140
Sterling	433	840
Gillespie	3,845	6,044
Kimble	1,622	2,307

Total 43,794 105,875
The poll tax issue in Texas has been brought to the fore by recent declarations of Governor Nominat W. Lee O'Daniel, who didn't have a poll tax this last year and who wants to get rid of it altogether as a voting requirement. The result likely will be a strong movement for a constitutional amendment to be submitted to the electorate next year. President Roosevelt also is emphatically opposed to the poll tax requirement, which still exists in only seven states—Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

Repeal of the ancient "two-thirds rule" by the Democratic national convention and the fear that the 1940 apportionment of delegates may be based on the votes of the respective states in the general elections puts the group in a tough spot in view of the fact that the poll tax requirement shrinks the vote. In 1936, the poll tax group of states polled only 24 per cent of their potential electorate—the lowest voting record on the civilized globe—as compared with 72 per cent vote as the average of 39 states free from the poll tax plan. At that time there were nine such states. Florida dropped out of the poll tax group on May 29, 1937. Arkansas is submitting the matter as an amendment this year.

Some think that the elimination of this tax as well as others against which fights are being made means a sales tax will replace them. Among these is Clyde Vinson, former Democratic chairman in this county. He favors abolition of the requirement but reasons that the $1,500,000 lost will have to come from other sources, and that a sales tax is the likely consequence.

Dam's Electric Power Reserved for Cities

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—Firm in the belief that the Lower Colorado River Authority can best serve the interests of the people of Texas by selling the power produced in the series of four dams on the river above Austin direct to municipalities that will install their own distributing systems. Directors of the Authority have consistently refused to sell this power directly to public utilities now in the field until all of the cities in the area which can be economically served by the Authority have had an opportunity to exercise their option. It has stated that:

"The Authority, as a public agency of the State of Texas, cannot refuse to extend its facilities to any municipality or public agency desiring the same, provided such municipality or public agency is located within economical transmission distance of its facilities."

Caradan

By Herman Reynolds

There was a nice crowd at Sunday school, Sunday.

Bro. Dalton filled his appointments through the week end.

D. L. Reynolds is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Reynolds. He likes his work fine and is getting good rating in the United States Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Stewart are leaving Wednesday for a trip to Carlsbad, N. M.

There will be singing at Caradan every first and third Sunday nights in each month, every one is invited to attend and take part.

D. L. Reynolds, Mrs. Oren Reynolds and little daughter, Shirley Jo, their parents Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Reynolds, Babe Reynolds and aunt Ella Rowe visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Holder at Austin, Saturday night. They also visited Herman and Daphne Reynolds at the University while there.

Everyone present enjoyed the entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. Charley Anderson Saturday night.

A Newspaperman For 68 Years

"And you're the editor," he said, walking into the office. He was a sprightly gentleman, but you could tell he was getting up in years. I asked him to have a seat and he introduced his daughter.

"Well," he said by way of introduction, "I just wanted to come by the newspaper office. You see it's natural with me. I've been doing it for about 68 years now. It was in 1870 that I got my first job in a newspaper office. I've been writing or hanging around one until I retired. I'm 86, you understand, and the oldest newspaperman in Texas."

The name is Eli T. Merriman. He lives in Corpus Christi, has a mind crammed full of facts about Texas, was born and reared in the Rio Grande valley. In fact, when the Texas editors met in Corpus Christi at one of their meetings, the convention was dedicated to Mr. Merriman.

He knew Col. Holland when that individual was struggling to put over his Farm and Ranch magazine. He worked on the Dallas News when Dallas was not much larger than San Marcos. He saw Corpus Christi start from a few shanties to grow to its present city class.

He was 9 years old when the Civil War broke out but he was one of the few Texas kids who remember some of the battles. Because about the only skirmish-

Less Monthly Discomfort

Many women, who formerly suffered from a weak, run-down condition as a result of poor assimilation of food, say they benefited by taking CARDUI, a special medicine for women. They found it helped to increase the appetite and improve digestion, thereby bringing them more strength from their food.

Naturally there is less discomfort at monthly periods when the system has been strengthened and the various functions restored and regulated.

Cardui, praised by thousands of women, is well worth trying. Of course, if not benefited, consult a physician.

es that took place in Texas during the war were around Brownsville.

"The yankees," he explained, "stirred up trouble there. They were always putting the Mexicans and Indians onto us."

He is a kinsman of J. Frank Doble, the writer and U. T. instructor, and J. Frank often comes to him for historic data.

His daughter is Mrs. Genevieve Holworthy and she is here to put her son, Alfred, in the university.

Outside of being a little hard of hearing, you wouldn't figure that Mr. Merriman is 86. He still gets a huge kick out of life. You can tell that by the way he talks and the sparkle in his eye. He is an ardent member of the Knights of Pythias and the Episcopal Church.

And, naturally enough, he thinks Texas is the greatest state in the union.—Austin Statesman.

PRIMARY NEWS
We have a new pupil this week which makes eighteen in our room and we are a very jolly group.

The Third Grade has been reading about dogs. They have learned the names of several different kinds of dogs. They have also been studying about the sheep and cattle ranches and the great forests in our western states.

We have been making some posters in health using things that are good for our teeth.

INTERMEDIATE NEWS
School opening found us with sixteen pupils in our room and there are more to begin later. We have three new pupils in our room that we did not have in school last year. We have also five from the Primary room.

We have had several absentees in our room this week. But we are hoping for a good attendance this year.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS
This is the fourth week in school, and we are all working hard, hoping to accomplish something in this year's work, which we feel sure we will if we keep trying hard enough.

Some who will be in this room have not started to school yet, and we are hoping they will start soon. There are others who are absent on account of cotton picking.

SPORTS NEWS
Looking around the playground at activity periods we finally come to a conclusion that eating plum granates and sitting under shade trees are the most popular sports.

We hope that we can soon have our volleyball, baseball and basketball teams organized.

G. I. S.
The girls of the two larger rooms have organized a club called the "Girls Improvement Society." In this club we discuss ways of improving our manners, traits, and personalities.

We have decided to meet every other Wednesday at noon. Our motto is, "We Strive To Learn," and our colors are pastel blue and pink.

Officers of the club are: president, Dorothea Davis; vice president, Florence Davis; secretary, Amy Halford; reporter, Oleta Utzman.

Our first program committee is composed of Dorothea Davis, Oleta Utzman and Ruthie Stark. Our sponsor is Miss Vines.

PROTECT PRECIOUS EYESIGHT

Begin Light Conditioning This Easy Way

FOR THE STUDY TABLE, an I. E. S. Better Sight Lamp, equipped with 100-watt bulb, gives several times as much light as ordinary lamps using the same amount of current. Glass diffusing bowl (A) sifts out harmful glare. White shade lining (B) reflects maximum light on work. Table models, $3.95. Three-light floor models, with 100-200-300 watt bulb, $7.95 up.

TO MAKE KITCHEN WORK EASIER, a Renu-a-Lite diffusing bowl, equipped with 150-watt bulb, spreads soft glareless light to every nook and corner. Prevents eyestrain and makes kitchen bright and cheery. Bulb and diffusing bowl are combined in single compact unit that screws into existing socket or drop cord. No wiring needed. Only $1.95, complete with bulb.

FOR READING IN BED, a pin-it-up wall lamp, equipped with 75-watt or 100-watt bulb, provides the proper amount of glareless light for safe seeing. Diffusing bowl throws light upward for general room illumination and downward for ample light on printed page. Also recommended for over the vanity or dressing table.

ABOVE ALL, make sure you have the proper size and type of bulb for every lamp and fixture. Let us measure your lighting with a Light Meter and let you see for yourself whether you're getting enough light for safe seeing.

Fire Prevention Week Fort Worth Press Bargain Rate

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—Stressing the importance of continued vigilance on the fire prevention front, Marvin Hall, fire insurance commissioner, today urged State-wide observance of the annual Fire Prevention Week scheduled for October 9 to 15.

"Fire uncontrolled is one of the most serious problems that confronts us today," Hall said. "Each year its heavy toll in life and property is a black mark on the proud name of Texas. Only by constant and relentless vigilance of the part of every Texas citizen can we hope to reduce, and finally to eliminate the costly destruction of this economic enemy number one.

"Active participation in Fire Prevention Week by every Texas citizen will go far toward curbing losses and saving lives, and since fire losses have a direct bearing upon the fire insurance rates, there are other practical benefits accruing from effective fire prevention.

"Fire Prevention Week is designed for every Texan interested in performing a distinct service to his State, to his community, and to himself," Hall said. "If we remember that the fire that never starts will never get out of control, and keep the thought before us each day of every year, then we will rightfully say that the practice of fire prevention pays big dividends in human lives and happiness."

PEACE WITHOUT VICTORY

The peace achieved at the momentous conference in Munich last week was indeed a peace without victory. Hitler, no doubt, will claim it as a tremendous victory for himself and for Germany. It is quite true that Germany has emerged with practically all of Czechoslovakia that he set out to gain, but it was bought at a price. For one thing Hitler has had to repeat his assurance to France that he does not want Alsace Lorraine. He has had to buy the good will of Poland by deeding away the Germans in that country and by agreeing to a maintenance of the Polish Corridor between East Prussia and the Reich. He has had to give up the idea of winning back the German speaking North Italians.

Although the Sudeten area was by far the richest prize of all, its acquisition has left the Fuehrer's hands tied. He has learned that even the Democracies for which he has so often professed contempt can be pushed too far, and he now undoubtedly realizes how close he came to the brink of personal and national disaster. For despite all of his brag and bluster, it is conceivable that Germany could have won against the forces that were already under arms and prepared to march against her.

The Czechs have lost and lost heavily. Their 20-year dream of empire has already faded. Now instead of being a deadly spear-head thrust into Germany's tender side, the Czechs find themselves pinched by the iron jaws of the Sudeten vise. But although they have lost approximately one-fourth of the population and resources and area of their nation, there is a possibility that even this may prove a blessing in disguise.

The Sudetens were never happy under the Czech yoke. Early in the history of the new nation they tried desperately hard to break away. All of their cultural and most of their economic ties were with Germany, and their presence in the Czech army was a potential source of weakness in an otherwise magnificent, modern fighting machine. With the amputation of this festering member, the patient may enjoy better health than ever before.

But regardless of who lost and how much, every nation is immeasurably better off than if a war had been fought. Czechoslovakia herself would have lost far more heavily if her land had been laid waste by war, if her cities had been destroyed by bombs, and her storied castles riddled with machine-gun bullets and gutted by hand grenades. The men she has now lost are those who hated her. War would have wiped out her best and most patriotic sons.

As for the rest of the world, even the non-combatants, war would have been an unmitigated disaster. The few munitions makers and purveyors of war supplies who might have profited would have been tremendously outweighed by all the other classes who would have seen the demand for their own produce and products dissipated in the fire and fury of battle.

There is a moral gain in the achievement of Neville Chamberlain. Never again should it be said that war is inevitable. He has shown the way indeed to peace without victory.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt likewise is due unstinted praise for his timely warning to Hitler and for his efforts in interesting Mussolini in effecting the compromise. In the peaceful outcome of the crisis there is happily glory enough for all.

THE SCHOOL AGE

If you should line up the entire American population from day-old infants to tottering old men and women, you would find that practically one out of every four persons is enrolled in school this year. Eliminating all those who are obviously too old or too young to be enrolled, adding all the teachers and others connected with the schools and you will have almost half of the remainder.

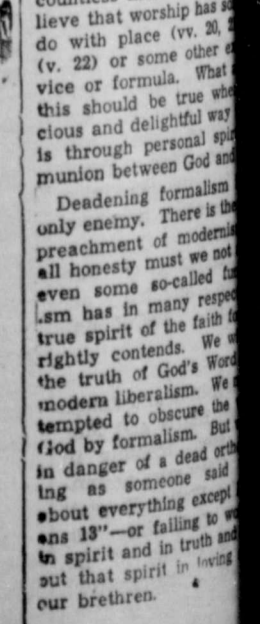

The figures are as follows: elementary schools, 22,400,000; high schools, 6,750,000; colleges and universities, 1,350,000, making a total of well over 30,000,000. How many more Americans are studying correspondence courses or pursuing some other form of education there is no way of telling.

Never before in the history of the world have so many people as great a proportion of a people been interested in education. If education really educated, we should soon have a race of intellectual giants qualified to cope with anything.

But one has only to consider the forms of amusement that educated Americans are most interested in to begin to wonder if their education has fitted them for life any better than it has for leisure. Considered coolly, one wonders how many of those who are going to school are going either because they cannot find work to do or because they want to avoid going to work.

History a thousand years from now is likely to denominate this as the "Great School Age." Will it find the vast sums of money and the incalculable amount of time spent in attending school justified by the men and women produced?

"RISING TIDE"

In this distraught world so much of the news deals with the destructive forces of crime, war and greed, it is easy to overlook the fact that there is another side.

To report each week this other side is the purpose of this column. It deals principally with the personal experience of a rising tide of men and women who believe in God-control and whose lives are governed by the thought that if you want a new and better world, the place to start is with yourself. If you would like to meet or correspond with any of them, write to the Rising Tide Column, Goldthwaite Eagle, Goldthwaite, Texas.

"I won't go to a school with a Saint attached to the name of it. People will think I've gotten religious and no one will ask me to any Proms." That's what Barbara van Dyke of South Orange, New Jersey, said defiantly on the verge of being shipped off to boarding school—for discipline.

"It was characteristic of my entire attitude," she continued, embarrassed protest at my family tree which was veritably alive with Presbyterian ministers.

"The church and all it stood for was symbolized in the packages of out-dated clothes we sent off periodically to a clergyman's family in need.

"My entire outlook on life was materialistic and the things that money represented.

Having Fun? "A Southern friend of mine once said she 'lived from date to date.' So did I. Then on a beach one summer I met some people who actually seemed to be having more fun not spending every minute seeking their own interest. They told me the secret, it was very simple—just loving people.

"Well, I loved them... that is, everybody except one person in an office in which I worked. But God could certainly permit me one pet hate.

Just One "Toward this person I had a racial antagonism and superiority. But when I told God that I was willing to learn to love people and specifically to be friends with the person whom I disliked. He took me at my word. The very next day she made a mistake in her work which entailed a lot of extra hours of typing. Up to that moment I would have done nothing to help her. Now here was my opportunity. On the basis of that simple act we began to forge, what to me was, a whole new kind of friendship.

Opportunity "Within the past year I have had an opportunity to make good my new determination to assume responsibility that I, as a typical young person, had been shirking for so long. A friend of mine asked me to help her out in taking care of her children. I'm fond of children but I've never wanted to hold the rod. So I went up to help her, equipped only with an overnight bag. 'If this gets too hard,' I said to myself, 'I can pull out and go home.' But when I got there God showed me He had other plans. He gave me the willingness to stay and the willingness to prove that my snobbishness had gone by facing what some of my friends called 'going into service.' With all my scholastic training I've never received the discipline that I did during that time. It was an experience I wouldn't trade for all the Prom dates in the world.

"The co-operation and discipline I learned in this helped to equip me for the responsibility I am taking now—working in the business office of the Rising Tide pictorial.

"I now see as I am willing to take responsibility, wherever I am, will the Youth of America, of which I am a part, make anything of the World of tomorrow which we are inheriting."

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 1:1-14

"The First Commandment to worship God exclusively and bids us to worship Him alone. The First Commandment forbids us to worship any other god (Exodus 20:3). Israel had lived in Egypt, a people who worshipped images, and to enter into Canaan were many false gods were therefore carefully forbidden the worship of any kind, whether gods of any kind, whether they were attempts to symbolize God. In studying this need to exercise care in the point by talking about wood and stone which were attempts to symbolize God, and to fail to apply to any improper use which may prevail in the present day. Idolatry is forbidden to make any likeness which to them were to be worshipped, not whether it be an image of an angelic being, in fact "any image in the heaven above, earth—such as a man or under the water—such as if such objects have either by ourselves or not bow down to them. Let us examine our religious practices in the light of commandment.

Observe that obedience command brings rich "thousands" (v. 6), which is a curse upon man who disobey, but descendants. Spiritual often runs through while spiritual life just blesses those who follow the man who gives and his children's entire spiritual heritage, but that man who passes ofness and spiritual death to his children!

World War Hero Retires from Army

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Eagle is happy to reprint from the Fort Worth Star Telegram the following sketch of Col. J. A. Rogers, a former Mills county boy. Col. Rogers has not only made good, but has won his way to the top of the ladder of fame. His Mills county friends are proud of his success, especially the Eagle, as Allie (as we called him then) was an employee of the Eagle when quite a youth and gave evidence then of the qualities that have brought him renown.

Col. Joseph A. Rogers of the United States Army Field Artillery, Texas-born and thrice cited for valor in the World War, retired from active service and will be in Fort Worth late this month to visit his mother and sister.

His mother is Mrs. J. A. Rogers and his sister is Mrs. Paul Dearmin. Both live at 3116 South Adams Street. The retired Colonel will visit them enroute to California, where he likely will make his home.

Colonel Rogers was awarded the distinguished service medal, the silver star and three oak-leaf clusters for exceptional service as an officer in the World War, and he was one of the heroes mentioned in the anonymous war diary, "The Cannoneers Have Hair Ears."

Especially was he hero to the One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Field Artillery (Chicago, Campaign, Springfield, East St. Louis) which saw him first in the worst days of the Argonne, when Col. Horatio B. Hackett had been wounded and the casualties were mounting rapidly.

Colonel Rogers took over the One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Field Artillery at its blackest moment. Firing batteries were harried by illness, cold and hunger. The men had no shelter.

There was no camouflage for the guns. Ammunition was running low.

And here is the story as told by official war records and a paragraph of description by Robert J. Casey, a Chicago reporter, who knows the colonel as Chicago's favorite army officer "now and forever."

"Colonel Rogers got his first glimpse of the One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Field Artillery" (this is from Casey's story), "in a rain-swept valley where dead horses and dead men had not been buried for 10 days and mustard gas clung to muddy slopes in a continuous mist.

"We'll have to do something about this," he said.

"And presently, with no confusion and no apparent effort, he had the batteries rolling again toward the Meuse."

And this from the record books at Fort Bragg, N. C.:

"Enlisted as a private of the regular army in August of 1904, he has served in all of the grades to include his present rank of colonel. He served with the Fourth F. A. in the grades of lieutenant and captain. During the World War his record was passed by few of the officers who saw active service in France.

His health has never been good since the war. He spent a year in a military hospital. He was stationed for a time with the Eleventh Field Artillery in Hawaii, has been instructor for the National Guard in California and has spent long periods in staff schools.

He was assigned to Fort Bragg when his retirement from active service was ordered last month. A review of all units was held in his honor at Fort Bragg Sept. 1. Since then he has been resting at Hot Springs, Ark.

TRADE AT HOME

Mrs. Cely Eva Hanson

On December 1, 1904, a tiny girl baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilcox in Mills county. They named her Cely Eva. The years sped swiftly by and in 1924 she graduated from Goldthwaite high school. Later she attended Draughton's Business College at Fort Worth and then went to San Angelo to work.

Here she met and married L. B. Hanson, a young business man of San Angelo. Their path of life seemed to stretch ahead so bright and happy for the next few years. During this time two sons, Billy Bates and Kenneth Weldon were born to them. Then suddenly tragedy entered into their lives. On April 15, 1936, during a severe windstorm, the boat in which L. B. was fishing was upset and he was drowned. The body was recovered and laid to rest in Water Valley Cemetery near San Angelo.

Mrs. Hanson and her two sons returned to her parents home in Mills county for a few months. Then, leaving the boys with her parents, she returned to San Angelo to prepare to enter into the business world. She took a beauty course and later bought an interest in a cafe in San Angelo.

September 24, she felt ill and consulted her physician, who advised an operation. She returned home and sometime later became critically ill. Friends who discovered her rushed her to a local hospital for treatment, but infection had already set up and was spreading rapidly. Friends called her parents to her bedside and all that was humanly possible was done to save her, but to no avail. On the morning of September 30, 1938 at 5:00 o'clock she passed away.

Sept. 30, at 3:30 p. m., funeral services were held at Massie Funeral Home in San Angelo. Services were conducted by Bro. Lawrence Hays. The body was laid to rest beside her husband's in Water Valley Cemetery.

Surviving Mrs. Hanson are her two sons, Billy Bates, 6, and Kenneth Weldon, 4; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilcox and one brother, Arthur Wilcox all of Jones Valley, Mills county.

Tom Priddy Dead

The friendly and genial spirit of Tom Priddy passed to the Great Beyond Oct. 3 at 12:30 p. m. at his home near Priddy and was buried beside his wife and little son, Leslie, who preceded him many years ago.

He leaves one son, Lee and family, one sister, Mrs. S. E. Yoes of Tuscola and three brothers, J. D. and E. O. of Goldthwaite and A. J. of Brady and a host of friends.

Everything known to medical science was done to save him, but the great Giver and Taker of life saw fit to over rule human effort and called him Home and why not? For Tom was made in His own likeness and was the result of His own handy work and while our hearts are melted with grief, we are submissive to His Holy Will.

If he had lived until Jan. 18, 1939, he would have been 75 years old. He was a member of the Baptist Church at Priddy and was never counted short in his dealing with his fellow men or his Maker.

The funeral was largely attended and was conducted by Rev. Barrett of Comanche and Dr. Dawson of Goldthwaite. The pall bearers were his nephews and the Priddy choir furnished the music.

Our hearts go out to those who sent flowers and aided in other ways so beautifully expressed, and to the nurse who was so faithful and untiring.

HIS BROTHERS AND SISTERS

S. E. Q. Club

The club met with Mrs. Tas Renfro with seven present. We pieced on a quilt.

Our visitors were Meses. Casbeer and Langford.

Mrs. Renfro served cake and ice cream which all enjoyed as the afternoon was so warm.

We meet with Mrs. Shelton next time.

We missed those who were absent.—Reporter.

New Deputy State School Supt.

H. E. Robinson has been transferred to East Texas headquarters either at Greenville or Commerce. He has made many friends while in this district the past two years and was a gifted speaker and favorite with the teachers and student body.

The post of Mr. Robinson here will be filled by G. D. Holbrook of Lubbock, who held a similar position in the West.

Miss Middy Cowley

Miss Middy Cowley passed away at the home of her sister, Mrs. T. W. Butler in the northern part of town on September 24, 1938. She was born in Prairie Lea, June 17, 1871, and moved to Mills county in December, 1900 and has lived in Goldthwaite since 1904, being employed by various firms here for the last 25 years.

Miss Middy was taken sick in March and had been confined to her bed since July.

She was laid to rest in the Goldthwaite Cemetery and the services were conducted by Rev. E. E. Dawson, pastor of the Baptist Church.

Tuesday Study Club

Mrs. Ed Gilliam was hostess to the Tuesday Study Club, Tuesday, Oct. 4.

After a short business meeting, Mrs. Robert Steen, Jr., gave the club an interesting review of the book, "Under Capricorn," by Helen Simpson. Then the hostess served a delicious plate to fifteen club members.

STAR P.-T. A. HOLDS OPEN MEETING

The two Extension Agents, Miss Scott and Mr. Weaver were guests of a regular meeting of the Star P.-T. A. Monday night.

This was a get-together meeting and men, women, and children of the community attended. After a business session, W. P. Weaver was called on for a talk. Miss Scott was then presented and led in some interesting games with the young people while Mr. Weaver led the children. Delicious refreshments were served after which a community agricultural club was organized with Henry Pock, president; Mrs. Scott, vice-president and H. R. Collier, secretary.

A meeting of the club will be held Monday night the 17th, to discuss the present and the proposed farm programs and household electrical appliances. At least 200 people attended this meeting. The high school band presented a splendid program. The minutes of the reorganization meeting were read and showed 45 paid-up members. Such an organization means much to a community.
