

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

VOLUME FORTY-SEVEN

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, AUGUST 23, 1940.

NUMBER TWO

DEAR MR. WILLKIE—

Mr. Wendell Willkie,
Rushville, Indiana
Or Wall Street, New York.

Dear Mr. Willkie:

That sure was a smart speech you made in Elwood, Indiana last Saturday. I listened to every word of it, and when you got through I turned my radio off and says to myself, "Well, there's one thing he's sure about, and that is that he thinks he'd make a fine president."

I'm glad you cleared that up. Of course I knew you were right there in Philadelphia during the Republican convention button-holding delegates right and left, and you had the galleries filled with fellers hollering "We want Willkie!" until the delegates got the idea it was their master's voice and like good Republicans voted for the candidate with the most dollars behind him. But you were only a maverick then, and I wasn't sure after those Republican big wigs got through putting their brand on you, you might have changed your mind.

Seems like you have changed it right often. I remember how when you were a poor boy working your way through college you were an orating Socialist. Then you got a wife and a job and changed to a Democrat. Then you got thirty million dollars and ambitions and you changed to a Republican. There's still a few parties left to switch to, but I'm afraid a millionaire wouldn't feel at home in 'em. Still if the Republican party gets back in Washington for four years, they'll probably stage one of those Republican panics Wall Street likes to celebrate with—Hoover panic, Harding panic, Teddy Roosevelt panic, you remember—and if you don't watch out, you won't have enough of your thirty million dollars left to pay dues to anybody's party.

I liked the way you started off saying you were going to fight this campaign on principles and not on hate, jealousy or personalities.

And I was plumb touched by the friendly feeling you showed for that young Elwood feller till you spoke up and said he was you. But I noticed all through the rest of your speech that you were right smart stuck on Wendell, and politics begins at home they say.

But when you opened up on President Roosevelt the way you did, I sure was glad

Only Short Time Is Left to Ask for FSA Land Loans

Mills county tenant farmers who wish to borrow money from the Farm Security Administration to buy their own farms have only until August 31 to make applications for these loans, warned FSA Supervisor Edward E. Bravenec. A six-week period for accepting applications closes on that date.

No down payment is required of farmers to whom these loans are made, and if houses, barns, or other improvements are needed, the loans are made large enough to cover this also, Mr. Bravenec stated.

Application blanks may be obtained at the FSA office located in the Courthouse at Lampasas. Applications may also be obtained in the FSA office in Goldthwaite on Thursday of each week.

Tenant farmers, sharecroppers, and farm laborers may receive loans under terms of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, but the Supervisor said that farmers with an adequate supply of livestock and equipment free from indebtedness are given preference.

Farmers to whom loans are made are chosen by a committee of county farmers. Successful applicants choose the farms they will buy. The loans are repayable over a 40-year period at three per cent interest.

36 ATTEND FAMILY REUNION

Weather Man Turns Friendly

Texas weather took a turn for the better last week. Scattered showers increased here in Goldthwaite until a total of 3.18 inches was recorded on the government rain gauge maintained by Harry Allen for August through August 22.

Equally welcome was the cooler weather which sent the mercury down to the fifties and housewives scurrying for quilts and blankets. Over the state the coolest August weather for 25 years or more was recorded in many places.

Cook Family Reunion

The Cook family reunion was held last Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Mrs. Temple Hyslop's. There were 36 present. They had a wonderful time talking about the things that had happened since they were all together 26 years ago. All the family were present except one sister, Mrs. O. E. Dubbs of Pennsylvania, and two brothers, Alvin Cook of Boswell, Oklahoma and Earl Cook of Phoenix, Arizona.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Salyer and three children, Mrs. G. A. Smith and daughter, Mrs. C. E. Williamson and two children, Miss Blanche Hyslop from Port Arthur; Mr. and Mrs. Denzie Marley and son of Young, Arizona; Robert Cook and daughter of San Antonio; M. T. Cook and family of Mineral Wells; Mrs. W. H. Wheat Insurance Deadline Nears

With only ten days remaining before the August 31 wheat crop insurance deadline, 25 producers in Mills county have insured their 1941 crops against all unavoidable hazards.

The 1941 sign-up probably will exceed the 1940 coverage, J. H. Burnett, chairman of the county AAA committee, said. The 25 policies already applied for insure the production of 2504 bushels of wheat on 2592 acres in the county next year. Last year 70 policies were issued, guaranteeing production of 11071 bushels on 1339 acres.

Indemnity payments on the 1940 crop have been (practically) completed in the county, the chairman said. Loss claims have been made on 16 policies for indemnities totaling 572 bushels. Most losses resulted from drought.

"The increased interest in crop insurance this year indicates that the county's farmers are realizing more and more that insurance on their crops is routine farming practice," the chairman pointed out.

The chairman reminded producers that application for crop insurance must be made before the farmer seeds his wheat or by August 31, whichever is earlier, and that no applications would be accepted after that date.

American citizens who have non-citizens in their employ or who are acquainted with persons living in this county who are not American citizens, will be doing the aliens a favor if they will call their attention to this new law.

Letter from Local Boy With Guardsmen

Alexandria, La.
August 14, 1940.

The Eagle Editor, the people of Mills county, and the folks back home:

I wish that all the people could witness these war games and military show down here in the swamps and piney woods of Louisiana. We are encamped under canvas and sleep on straw-filled bed sacks that would seem as hard as a pile of bricks back home, but we come in from out on maneuvers all day and night and probably sometimes two or three days of fighting and maneuvering against an imaginary enemy and fall down on them and sleep as soundly as if we were an inner-spring mattress back home.

The attitude of the boy is better than you would expect, but it is mighty easy to start a fight with a bunch of boys that have failed to eat for 24 hours, and have marched 10 or 12 miles under the sweltering sun of the Louisiana skies. And speaking of skies, I think every man was glad to see the sky for once in his life. For two or three days we had begun to think that the sun never shined down here, but it has finally come out to stay.

We have several Mills county boys down here and I will try to name them and the unit they are in.

R. L. Atchison is with the Headquarters attachment to the 142nd Infantry.

With the Service Co. for the same regiment we have Raymond Casbeer, Talmadge Head, Woodrow Head, Charles Rickel, Al Soules, and J. D. Poe.

In Co. A, which is a rifle company, there are Glen Geeslin, Edwin Arnold, Vernon McCasland, Garth Carter and Alfred Carter. All of these boys are armed with a 30-30 Springfield rifle except myself, and I am assistant gunner on a light machine gun in this company.

The National Guard is a part of our national defense program and we are looking forward to the time when we will be mobilized at the order of President Roosevelt.

I think Goldthwaite or Mills county should organize some defense unit to cooperate with this great defense program of the nation.

Sincerely,
ALFRED CARTER.

NYA to Teach Airplane Mechanics

Austin.—With the establishment of two additional projects in Texas offering work experience in the fundamentals of airplane mechanics, that type of training is moving rapidly toward the front among National Youth Administration Projects over the State, according to J. C. Kellam, State NYA Administrator. Kellam said plans have been approved and action is being taken to set up NYA Airplane Mechanics Projects at the Tyler Municipal Airport and at the Rusk School in Dallas.

"NYA Airplane Mechanics Projects in operation at this time," the State Youth Administrator said, "are located at Ranger, Fort Worth, Marshall, South Houston, Waco, and Canyon."

As soon as sound detectors warn of the approach of hostile aircraft the projectors start criss-crossing the heavens with their beams seeking to entrap the invaders in light that will allow defense planes to deal effectively with them. These two searchlight attendants are shown throwing a little light on the blitzkrieg over Southeast England.

For the Medium Income Class

Housing economists agree that generally the cost of a home should not exceed two and one-half times the annual income of the purchaser. For the typical family, the property valuation of the new home purchased with an FHA-insured loan in 1939 was slightly more than twice the family's annual income. On this basis of reasoning the home illustrated here would fall easily within the means of the family whose annual earnings are around $2,000. Valued at $4,250, this property was financed with an FHA-insured mortgage of $3,400. Monthly payments on a mortgage of this amount, excluding taxes and hazard insurance, amount to about $20.

LAKE MERRITT H. D. CLUB

The club met with Mrs. J. W. Dellis Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Jess Massey gave an interesting and informational talk about her trip to the A&M Short Course. Mrs. Arch McIver, Mrs. Dellis' sister, stated that her husband was one of the first students to attend A&M College, in 1876.

The club voted to take kitchen improvement and landscaping for their new projects.

Each year the club has a social for the members, families, and friends. This year the social will be a chicken barbecue at Mr. and Mrs. Stuck's on Thursday night, August 22. Each one bring a chicken or chickens and a basket of lunch. Let us all turn out a little earlier and have a good time together.

Visitors were the following: Mrs. Arch McIver of San Antonio, Mrs. Hillard Prater of Dawson and Misses Helen Crow, Patsy and Bernice Chesser.—A Club Member.

NEW TWIST IN TRAINING

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Most football teams get to be "steam engines," "steam rollers" or "juggernauts" only in a sportswriter's imagination, but not this year's Columbia squad.

Literally doubling as locomotives, the Lion stalwarts have been showing railroad cars around as part of their "training."

If Columbia can shove other teams around as easily as Herb Maack, 201-pound tackle, and Frank Spasato, 175-pound back, shoved a 114,350-pound roller-bearing car at Columbia University.

Not that it isn't a tough job, but it's only fair to admit that the two human locomotives were helped along by the car's tapered roller bearings, which reduce starting resistance 88% and are the newest mechanical improvement for trains. Nevertheless, Coach Lou Little believes his scrappy team will find a way to put roller bearings under their opposition on the gridiron too.

With tapered roller bearings now being installed on all types of football training equipment, if so, it may not be long before the signal for the kick-off or time out is sounded by the melodious "toot-toot" of a locomotive whistle.

A Penny Saved Is A Penny Earned

Austin.—Because of the ingenuity and tenacity of two Texas highway engineers, highway men of the United States are now looking to Texas for a solution of the vexing problem of providing traffic with a safe, yet economical stripe down the center of the road to keep traffic in the proper lane of travel. John Porter Byram in the August issue of Texas Parade tells how these two men, Jim Douglas, recently appointed construction engineer, and Dave French, concrete paving inspector, worked out their idea "from scratch" and with no previous data upon which to draw any conclusions.

The article, "A Penny Saved Is A Penny Earned," points out that this one idea is destined to save taxpayers during the next 20 years a total of $706,350 or translated into terms of highway construction, enough money for the Texas Highway Department to build a minimum of 35 additional miles of concrete highways at an estimated cost of $20,000 per mile.

"The idea for a permanent center stripe grew out of a conversation that took place between French and Douglas in the Houston district office," reads the article. "They started from scratch after convincing themselves that something could be worked out. That was in 1932. There was a concrete paving job in progress in Victoria county and they selected it for the first experiment. After much discussion of the best method of procedure, they decided to mix lamp black in the concrete in the center.

"The thing was a colossal flop, according to French. The lamp black smeared and ran all over the road. It scaled off badly and the engineer on the job almost ran the two experimenters off the project. 'Our tail feathers,' recalls French, 'were sure dragging when we left.' "After many bull sessions French and Douglas finally came to the conclusion that the reason lamp black failed to work by itself was because it had such a light specific gravity which prevented it from being worked into the concrete so it would set. It wouldn't mix with the water and floated on the top of the surface.

"Why not, they reasoned, combine the lamp black with some substance that had a much heavier specific gravity and then impregnate the center stripe with this mixture. They decided to try iron oxide which has a specific gravity of five and which, when mixed with paving, increases its strength. It was 1936, however, before they could get up nerve to undertake another experiment. They tried the new idea on a concrete section being constructed near Sealy.

"It worked perfectly. The combination of the lamp black and the iron oxide mixed very effectively with the green concrete and set up efficiently. It was hard, increased the strength of the concrete where it was installed and actually cost less initially than the old method of painting the center stripe.

"Nor is the saving to the taxpayer the only benefit derived from the permanent center stripe. Many motorists have noted that when traveling along a concrete highway lined with a painted center stripe in the rain that their automobile loses traction and is inclined to skid. This is typical of stripes compounded from oils or asphalt bases. The permanent center stripe, however, is absolutely skid-proof in any kind of weather.

"Thus, once again, the progressive spirit that has marked the advance of highway construction in Texas under the Texas Highway Department has demonstrated its worth to Texas and the nation."

Military Highways Under Construction

Austin.—The Texas Highway Department today swung into action in the construction of three roads regarded as of strategic military importance. The work will be financed through emergency national defense funds at the specific request of the War Department and the Public Roads Administration. An allocation of $2,200,000.00 has been made for the projects. The work includes:

Connection between Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio and Camp Bullis in the northern part of Bexar county. This project is approximately 34 miles long and forms a part of "military loop" around San Antonio. This road will be constructed to a strength and width necessary to support a large volume of heavy traffic.

From Fort Bliss in El Paso to the Fort Bliss target range at Dona Ana, New Mexico, 9.5 miles of which are in Texas.

Approximately six miles of service roads in the Camp Hulen military reservation at Palacios.

The "go ahead" signal was received by the Highway Department on the projects Saturday morning. District engineers in whose districts the projects are located were notified immediately and field survey parties took the field this morning to begin work so plans may be completed at an early date. Engineers will be detached from routine work in other section of the state to speed work on the military road construction, Highway Department officials said. Several weeks ago the Texas Highway Commission formally tendered the services of the nation's largest highway building organization to the national government for use in bringing the United States to a high state of preparedness. Texas is believed to be the first and only state, thus far, to be called on for assistance in military road construction.

"It is the intention of the Texas Highway Department to have canned tomato juice and tomatoes for salad.

The hostess served delicious ice cream and cake assisted by her granddaughter, Jane. The next meeting will be in September.—Reporter.

as Highway Department to cooperate to the utmost with our national government in this crisis," the State Highway Engineer said. "We regard the request of the officials concerned with national defense that the Texas Highway Department construct these roads as evidence of the confidence and trust placed in the Texas Highway Department. We will do everything possible to justify this confidence. All facilities of the Department will be made available for this task."

Your Limit This Season: Dozen Doves

If you take your trusty shotgun (and it had better be a shotgun and not a rifle) out of its case for dove season, don't come back and brag to the neighbors about getting your limit of 15. Your 1940 bag limit for doves is 12.

This is the major change in hunting regulations for this season, Roscoe Parks, state game warden, said here.

"There is one point we want to stress about dove and waterfowl hunting," Mr. Parks said. "It is unlawful to hunt these birds with any gun other than a shotgun," he cautioned.

The game warden said this law was in effect to reduce the danger of hunting with a rifle. Shotguns must not be more than 10 gauge and, if repeaters or automatic, they must be permanently plugged to three-shell capacity.

Dove season opens Sept. 15, and runs until November 15 in this zone. The birds may be taken between 7 a. m. and sunset. White winged doves come under the same regulations as the mourning variety and the possession limit is for the aggregate of these two birds.

Migratory waterfowls may be hunted between Nov. 15 and Dec. 29, a 15-day extension over the old period. Ten of these birds may be taken between sunrise and 4 p. m. The limit on geese is three.

Ducks may be kept in storage 20 days after the season closes, a 10-day extension over 1939 laws. Live decoys are prohibited as always.—Fort Worth Press.

County H. D. News

"We keep books on all of our farm activities since this sort of record is invaluable when it becomes necessary for us to know whether the farm is paying with a profit, or making expenses, or if the financial situation is being reversed," remarked Floyd Sykes, Mills county whole farm demonstrator, of the Big Valley community. The Sykes family have been whole farm demonstrators for a year, and have materialized many of their long time plans such as improvement of livestock, better fences, soil conservation practices, established a water system for the house and barns, landscape the home grounds, purchased a piano in order to give the daughter, Laverne, music lessons.

Mrs. Sykes is a firm believer in a live-at-home program. This year she grew 19 varieties of vegetables successfully in her garden.

"I have canned over 200 number 2 cans of tomatoes and tomato juice," stated Mrs. Oran W. Carothers of the Pleasant Grove home demonstration club, "and I haven't started on the main crop yet. We can use tomatoes in some form daily, either in sauces for meats, salads, or just the juice is delicious to drink for breakfast or for a mid-morning snack."

Mrs. Carothers selects firm, red ripe tomatoes, steams them ten minutes, puts them through a sieve, heats the juice to 176 degrees F, puts the juice in sterilized cans, seals immediately, and water baths the filled containers for 15 minutes. If she has a lot of tomatoes to work up she uses the wash pot for a water bath canner.

Culberson Is the Man

(From the Fort Worth Press)
 When all the election returns were in, Olin Culberson came out on top in the first primary of the Railroad Commission race.

It was a remarkable tribute to the fine reputation and many accomplishments of Culberson that he was able to take the lead in the first primary in a field of 19 candidates, many of them much better known in politics.

Nearly every body expected Pierce Brooks to lead, because of his previous experience in races for governor and lieutenant governor and his long program of self-advertisement.

Consequently, when Culberson fought his way to the top it was an upset. It is the kind of upset which restores the faith of cynics in the ability of 1,000,000

Miss Billie Weatherby Wed to Brady Man

Miss Billie Weatherby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weatherby, became the bride of Mr. Talbot Ledbetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ledbetter of Brady, at 7 p. m. Thursday at the Methodist church here.

The bride attended Southern Methodist University, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. The groom attended Texas Technological College at Lubbock. Upon their return from a honeymoon in Colorado they will live in Brady.

The prenuptial music included "I Love Thee," sung by the choir, and "Because," sung by Mrs. H. D. Schulze, accompanied by Mrs. John Berry. The choir sang the words to the Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal party entered.

Rev. M. P. Burton read the ceremony before a fan-shaped arrangement of palms and white gladioli, flanked by candelabra in which white tapers burned.

Clusters of fern and feverfew tied with white satin ribbon were at the pew ends. Screens of smilax, clematis and baby's breath draped the chancel rail.

Mrs. Dale Ackers, the bride's only attendant, wore a light blue marquisette frock over taffeta with matching headress. She carried a Colonial bouquet of pink asters. Mr. George Carruthers was best man. Ushers were Messrs. Billy Neal, Clyde Weatherby and Ackers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of bluish pink marquisette over a slip of satin. Dainty rows of lace formed the bodice and outlined the hem of the full skirt. Her fingertip veil of triple illusion was caught in a halo of knife-pleated tulle. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and stefanotis.

At the reception a white Madeira dinner cloth covered the bride's table, which was centered by a mirror plaque on which stood a crystal bowl of feverfew and white gladioli. The ring-shaped cake and punch bowl were circled by Queen Anne's lace, gladioli and gardenias.

The bride traveled in a two-piece light green crepe dress with camel brown accessories.

The Eagle joins the couple's host of friends in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

Rev. J. W. Kelly is enjoying a vacation trip in Portales, N. M., with his sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Walters Hester are vacationing in New Mexico with Carlsbad Cavern as the main point of interest.

Supt. and Mrs. A. H. Smith's attractive, new home is nearing completion and they expect to move in next week.

DEAR MR. WILLKIE—

there wasn't any hate or jealousy in the way you feel, because if there was, I'm afraid you'd have melted my loud speaker.

You blame the President for what you call inflammatory statements, and you say you're going to "threaten foreign governments only when our government was threatened by them" and when you were ready to act. Then you forget all about that and start to lambasting Hitler and promise to beat him "on our own terms, in our own American way." Sounds kind of inflammatory to me, Wendell, and Hitler hasn't even been unfriendly to you. Seems to me like your foot slipped there.

But I don't really blame you for that. If my dad had been born in Germany like you said yours was, I'd want to make it plain that I was 100 per cent against Hitler even if my blood was 100 per cent German. But I think you ought to take back what you said about our President talking inflammatory when he uses high sounding words like "exponents of force."

At the beginning of this letter I said yours was a right smart speech and so it was. You come right out and say you are for "some form of selective service" but you don't say what kind, so those Republican politicians who are fighting the conscription bill in Congress claim you are on their side, but if the bill carries you can say, "Sure, I was for it all the time."

Then you say you favor helping Great Britain in the war, but you don't say a word about sending her those 50 destroyers she needs so bad.

You criticize the Democrats for not paying more relief and then you promise that if you are elected President (wanta bet?) you are going to spend less than the Democrats. Herbert Hoover gave you that idea, I guess. I remember how he was always promising two cars in every garage and prosperity just around the corner till all the banks closed down and Franklin D. Roosevelt became president just in time to save my ten cents and your thirty million dollars.

You were smart in blaming President Roosevelt for this country not being prepared when everybody knows it was your fellow Republicans that have been voting against preparedness till they got scared of Hitler. And even now they're holding up conscription so we can't start training the soldiers the President is begging for. That's smart all right but not exactly honest, the way we look at things in Texas. I haven't forgotten how you Republicans took those perfectly good Navy ships Woodrow Wilson had started and sunk them in the ocean so we wouldn't have any advantage over poor little Japan.

You were right smart in coming out for all those reforms like old age pensions and regulation of wages and hours and banking and securities and even rural electrification! You don't like the New Deal, you say, but you whoop and holler for the things the New Deal has done. It takes a smart man to do that and get away with it, Mr. Willkie. Just a few months ago you were crying because the rural electrification in the Tennessee Valley was ruining your 9c a kilowatt electric utilities. Now you are all for it. You sure have got a changeable mind. Do you aim to change it back again if you are elected President?

That sure was smart to challenge President Roosevelt to go gallivanting around to debate you, Mr. Willkie. Of course that's all you've got to do till election time when you'll get your old utility job back. The President is a mighty busy man looking after our country's defense in what even you admit are dangerous times. Now don't say he's afraid of you, for we've heard you both on the radio.

Of course if he had agreed to debate you, your brother Republicans would be the first to scald him for neglecting his duty. Your old Socialist friend, Norman Thomas, is keen to debate you. Are you afraid of him?

Mr. Willkie, I'm going to turn down your invitation to join your party. The plain truth is I don't want any more millionaire presidents. Down here in Texas the only Democrats who are for you are millionaires or fellers working for them. The rest of us remember our last millionaire Republican president. Mr. Hoover was a poor boy who had made millions of dollars and was elected President, and he pretty near ruined us. That Hoover panic doesn't seem to have worried the officers of the utility company that has been paying you a salary of $75,000 or $100,000 a year, but it surely did trim the poor fellows who owned your stock.

When you were elected president of Commonwealth & Southern its stock was selling for $29, a share. Now it's only $1.37, but I didn't hear about your salary being cut.

Well now we common voters are just like the stockholders in a big corporation, and we dead sure ain't going to elect the kind of a president that takes care of the officers but lets the stockholders go broke.

Your Republican party ran this country in the hole so deep we Democrats haven't dug it all out yet. But now it looks like President Roosevelt has got it to running again, you're aching to take it over. Here you've been taking AAA payments for your big Indiana farms and then scald the Democrats for spending so much. I noticed you didn't quote that Philadelphia Republican platform a single time, but that's not surprising. For what you and all the other Republicans really have as a platform is "WE HATE ROOSEVELT SO WE WANT WILLKIE FOR HIS JOB." The trouble with you millionaires is that you think everybody who isn't a millionaire is too dumb to live. Maybe so, but we Texas Democrats are not dumb enough to bolt our party and vote for you.

The fact is you're promising to give us a whole lot more and spend a whole lot less doing it, and, brother, that don't make sense. Down here in Texas we've heard big promises like this before ("Yankee bragging," some of us call it), but we had Hill Billy music to go with it. You ain't even got the music.

Yours truly,
A. DEMOCRAT

(Who never was a Socialist and never will be a Republican.)

IMPROVED SUNDAY INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

Lesson for August 25

CONFESSION AND FORGIVENESS

LESSON TEXT—II Samuel 12:13, 14; Psalm 51:1-3, 9-13; 32:5.
GOLDEN TEXT—Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed.—James 5:16.

If the Bible told us only of perfect people, we would recognize it as being not true to life and assuredly of no help to us who know our own sinful natures. The Bible, however, tells us in all truthfulness of the bad as well as the good, the weak as well as the strong, the humble as well as the mighty.

It honestly portrays the sins of its greatest characters, revealing the heart of man as "deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked" (Jer. 17:9). It tells us of a gracious God (when man repents and forsakes his sin) who invites the sinner to come and be delivered from his sin. The lesson centers around David, the humble shepherd boy who became king; and in the height of his glory, being tempted by his own evil desires, fell into the lowest of sin, which he then sought to cover by a well-planned murder. He finds no peace until he repents and returns to God. Three words summarize the lesson.

I. Sin (II Sam. 12:13, 14). That little three lettered word seems to have the hiss of the serpent in it—sin—the cause of all man's woes and the chastise of a loving God.

David had tried to hide his sin and he said, "My bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long. For day and night thy hand was heavy upon me" (Ps. 32: 3, 4). "Be sure your sin will find you out" (Num. 32:23) is just as true today as it was in David's time.

The nature of sin is described in Psalm 51, and if we may anticipate a bit, we note that it is described by three words: "transgression," meaning a rebellious "stepping over" God's boundaries; "iniquity," from the same root as our word "unequal," meaning crookedness of heart and life; and "sin," which means missing the mark, a life going the wrong way.

Note that sin, while it may bring sorrow and trouble to us and those round about us, is "against the Lord" (v. 13 and Ps. 51:4). The sinner must face and answer to God for his sin.

Nathan's straightforward dealing with David brought him to II. Repentance (Ps. 51:1-3, 9-13). What David expressed to Nathan—"I have sinned against the Lord"—is more fully expressed in the great psalm of penitence which we know as Psalm 51. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith well says that "probably these verses have brought more comfort, and assurance of forgiveness, and hope for a renewed life after some terrible transgression, to a greater number of God's children down through the ages than any other single passage in the pages of the Old Testament."

To acknowledge one's transgression before God is to open the flood-gates of His mercy, to receive His grace in forgiveness, cleansing, restoration, new joy, and (note it well) renewed usefulness (v. 13). God does not cast His people off because of their sin, nor cut off their usefulness when they repent.

Observe, however, that God did not permit David's sin to go unpunished. God is forgiving, but even repentance cannot wipe out the results of sin (II Sam. 12:14). God chastised David to declare before the people all of His divine hatred of sin. To sin against God is no light and casual thing. It cuts deeply into life, and only the grace of God is sufficient to bring a man up out of that pit. But there is III. Forgiveness (Ps. 32:5).

How tender and sweet is that word—forgiveness. It speaks of the removal of guilt, the breaking down of the barrier which sin has created, and the restoration of fellowship. Where all had been wrong and troubled, all has become right and at peace.

These things are true even in the forgiveness of one man toward another who has offended, but infinitely greater when the heart of God meets the repentant sinner. He is so ready to meet such a man that even while he is thinking of confessing, God sees the attitude of his heart and forgives. "At this moment, without sight or sound that mortal ear can detect, or attitude that the eye of man can observe, even before the thing is said, when I make up my mind to confess, 'thou forgavest the iniquity of my sin! Do you wonder that when this man was going to write a psalm about this matter, he had to begin, 'O the blessings of transgression forgiven, and sin covered?'" (G. Campbell Morgan).

What Is It?
What is it?
"It screams like a woman in distress," declared one Pottsville citizen.

"I haven't heard it but my wife has and she thinks it sounds like a woman or child," declared another.

"Oh, it might be a bird," said one skeptic.

"A bird doesn't make cat tracks bigger than a tea cup," argued another.

The tracks are there; this reporter saw them on Cowhouse Creek about 200 yards back of Rev. O. O. Newton's home. Others have seen them and some have seen tracks in a field close by.

The dogs run under the house and horses come in from the pasture each night the screaming is heard, citizens declared last Saturday. One cow with a young calf bawled all night and tried to break out of her pen when the screaming was heard nearby.

Try This With Your Electric Beater

By Katharine Fisher
Director, Good Housekeeping Institute

An ancient adage has it that cakes are like bad boys—the more you beat them the better they become. But we have long since learned that this isn't true either of cakes or boys. Cakes, however, require a good bit of time and effort if they're made by the spoon method. But the electric beater has brought many changes. The best one is that, with an electric beater, results can be the same every time if a few simple directions are followed.

Our own Institute cake recipes give directions for mixing both with the spoon and electric beater. The electric-beater method for cakes made with shortening is very simple. Usually the shortening, sugar, and eggs are creamed together at a relatively high speed; dry ingredients are added alternately with the milk, as rapidly as possible, at lowest speed. For light batters, first mix the eggs, milk, and melted shortening in the bowl at medium speed; then add the sifted dry ingredients at low speed. Remember, always pull the plug to disconnect your electric beater before you put on or off beater blades or other attachments.

Here are the recipes and electric-beater methods for making a mouth-watering Lady-Baltimore Cake and Frosting.

Lady-Baltimore Cake

(Tested by Good Housekeeping Institute)

Use Institute-approved measuring cups and spoons. Measure level.

1/2 c. shortening
1 1/2 c. granulated sugar
2 c. sifted cake flour
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla extract
3/4 c. milk
5 egg whites

Since Lady-Baltimore Cake is a white cake and therefore the egg yolks are not used, we like to beat the egg whites in the small beater bowl first, so that the mixer blades do not need to be washed before the shortening is creamed. Butter and margarine are more easily creamed if allowed to soften for a while. Cream the shortening in the large mixer bowl at a relatively high speed. When it is the consistency of mayonnaise, add sugar, a little at a time. Cream well after each addition, until the mixture is light and fluffy. This is when an electric beater really comes into its own. You will find that the creamed shortening and sugar acquire a whipped appearance that is rarely achieved with hand-mixing. You are now ready to add the dry ingredients, which have been previously sifted together. Turn the beater to lowest speed—and watch out for overbeating. Quickly add the dry ingredients and the combined milk and flavoring extract, alternately. Stop the beater the moment the last bit has been mixed in. Then, with a spoon or wire whip slowly fold in the beaten egg whites. Pour batter into three greased 8" layer-cake pans, and bake at 325° F. for 25 to 30 min. After removing cake from oven, set it on cake racks about 5 min. Then loosen edges, invert on racks, remove pans, and turn cake layers right side up.

Lady-Baltimore Frosting

(Tested by Good Housekeeping Institute)

Use Institute-approved measuring cups and spoons. Measure level.

1 1/2 c. granulated sugar
3/4 c. water
1/2 tsp. cream of tartar
1/2 c. egg whites
Combine sugar, water, and cream of tartar; stir until smooth. If day is clear, cook without stirring to 260° F., or to the hard-ball stage. Cook to 270° F. If day is cloudy, if crystals appear on inside of pan, wipe them down with a damp cloth. When cooking is complete, add egg whites in the large beater bowl, and beat until mixture peaks or pulls away from the sides of bowl. Makes enough to fill and frost a 3-layer cake generously. Divide mixture into halves. Into one half fold the following mixture:

1/2 c. chopped nutmeats
1/2 c. seeded raisins, chopped
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 tsp. candied cherries, chopped
2 dried figs, cut into thin strips

Fill the cake with this mixture. Spread with the plain frosting. Garnish with cherries and nutmeats.

Wendell Willkie, Utilitie's Candidate

By Charles Michelson

Mr. Willkie says that the selection of Edward J. Flynn—"Boss Flynn"—was the designation he employed—as Chairman of the Democratic National Committee "speaks for itself." The mildness of the Utilitie's candidate's comment in comparison with his virtuous reflections on the iniquity of other conspicuous Democratic political leaders is quite understandable. When Tammany county committeeman Wendell Willkie collaborated with and worked in accord with the Democratic colleague from the Bronx the latter was still "Boss Flynn" and it is not on record that Mr. Willkie found the association in any way distasteful, and that was only a very few years ago. The Republican candidate for President is naturally contemptuous of bosses, except such bosses as Mr. Joe Pew of Pennsylvania, whose exploit, according to published accounts, in literally locking up the Pennsylvania delegation to the GOP convention so that it could not reach the convention floor to vote for Taft made Willkie's nomination possible. Besides, he probably figures that the favor of those who boss the Republican bosses is more important than that of titular leaders. The minority party has referred to the Democratic convention in Chicago as a steamroller show. Well, the Democratic candidate had approximately 900 of the 1100 delegates elected in the primaries pledged to him. The Bosses of the Bosses. The Republican candidate carried no primary election. He had no delegates worth mentioning, but he had what was more important at Philadelphia—he had the backing of the men who pay the bills. They wanted one of their own, and picked for the job the head of one of the biggest mergers ever launched in Wall Street. It was a logical choice—a leader of the big interests to challenge the leader of the plain people. Consequently, we have in the present campaign a perfectly definite division between the reactionary and the liberal groups among our people. Naturally, every newspaper capable of being influenced by the pressure, direct or indirect, of the great corporations and the FACTS YOU NEVER KNEW!!!

By Bob Dart

men who pull the strings in Wall Street are enthusiastically for the election of the president of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation to the headship of our government. Naturally, they are parading the names of fugitive Democrats who have announced themselves on the Republican side this year. Individual defections from either party have marked every election for a century. And this year nearly all of these names are those of disappointed politicians like Senator Burke of Nebraska, who was defeated for the Democratic nomination to succeed himself because the Nebraska people felt that he had already deserted his party. Others are those whose natural affiliations are with the money crowd. In fact, nearly all of them are men who turned their backs on their party long ago. They are the folks who formed the Liberty League that made so much noise and accomplished so little in 1936.

The disgruntled man in politics can deliver his own vote and no more.

It would have been news had most of these people been Democrats this year and not merely Democrats of long ago. It is not news that they are still on the outside, looking in.

It is not surprising that Mr. Willkie half poses as a liberal. In view of the very considerable liberal element in the Republican party, he could not intelligently do otherwise.

He was a successful corporation lawyer during nearly all of his professional life, and he was a sincere corporation man in his capacity as head of the Commonwealth and Southern empire, which dominated the power world much as did the Insull corporation, which crashed just about the time Mr. Willkie's corporation was attaining its zenith. He was an opportunist as a corporation head, and it is reasonable to expect the same devotion to expediency as a national candidate.

Public Utility Strategy.

There is an interesting example of this in the court records that marked the conflict between the big power company and the Tennessee Valley Authority. At one stage it was sought to effect an agreement between the two as to their relative fields of activity, etc. They made a contract and Mr. Willkie made the declaration "to a fully cooperative spirit in thought as well as act we have pledged ourselves to carry thru and I am confident that with the character of the members of the Tennessee Valley Authority that they will do likewise." But a few months later a preferred stockholder in the Alabama Power Co., a Commonwealth and Southern subsidiary, attacked the validity of the contract in the courts. Mr. Willkie spiritedly denied that the company itself had any connection with the litigation. It was subsequently brought out in a Senatorial investigation that the Edison Electric Institute contributed $50,000 toward the fee of the big lawyers who were representing the stockholder. At this time Mr. Willkie was on the Executive Board of the Edison Electric Institute, and his companies paid a great share of the contributions that supported the Institute.

However, the coming election will not be decided on what Mr. Willkie did as a corporation head but on the simpler issue of whether this country is willing to take a chance and on what sort of an administration can be expected from a candidate of his training, affiliation and environment.

It really is not very hard to figure the outcome. The registration figures show that in nearly every State the Democrats have huge majorities, and the defections are negligible. The reiteration of half a dozen names of the alleged converts to the GOP suggests the expedient of the old theatre where they marched a few soldier across the stage into the wings and round, and round and round again to give the impression of an army. Such a procession has no political meaning. The overturn of an administration is heralded by definite evidences—by the alienation of an important and numerous group, for example. And of such a movement there is no sign. Moreover, rarely has there been a change of administration unless it was preceded by the election of a hostile Congress—and the Democratic party holds the Senate almost three to one, and controls the House by nearly a hundred majority.

Hatchery Nears Completion.

Improvements on the Huntsville state fish hatchery near Huntsville will be completed by September 1, and the enlarged hatchery will be ready to produce its share of the at least 10,000,000 fish the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission expects to raise next season. The cost of improving the hatchery was nearly $30,000. It was a WPA project.

The hatchery has been increased in size from 32 to 38 ponds, which will total more than 33 surface acres of water. In addition, all of the ponds have been deepened and the water inlets and outlets on half of the ponds have been altered for more efficient handling. Pond rain ditches have been improved by lining them with rock and cement. The hatchery is being beautified.

While work is nearing completion on the Huntsville Hatchery, the Game Department, according to an announcement by the executive secretary, is preparing to enlarge the Jasper hatchery by 30 ponds, which will nearly double the capacity of that Southeast Texas hatchery. Considerable work will also be done on the Olmito Hatchery near Olmito, the executive secretary said.

Three million farm families of the nation, 53 per cent of them in the South, are trying to "keep soul and body together" on gross incomes averaging $615 per year, says Howard R. Tolley, chief, Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Due to the increased popularity of the breed in Texas and the increased demand for feeders in Texas, the American Shorthorn Breeders Association has added 35 per cent to the published premiums offered in this classification.

Quail are also confronted with another danger in East Texas this year. The Palestine Herald quotes Calvin Hinson to the effect that redbugs are so bad this year, due to the extremely plentiful supply of rainfall, which kept grasses and other vegetation green longer than usual, that they are killing many, many young quail. Redbugs are so bad, it is reported, that many young chickens have been bitten to death and many hens have quit laying.

Quail are not often killed in flight by trains, but the crew of the Sunshine Special recently removed three Bobwhites from the front of the locomotive at Palestine.

Army Remount Depot Goes to San Angelo

WASHINGTON—The War Department has decided to transfer from Fort Worth to San Angelo the small force of men who constitute the South Central Remount there, it was learned here. This is being done over the protest of Henry Bell, secretary of the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers association, who claims that Fort Worth is the leading horse and mule market of the southwest.

One of the major purposes of the Fort Worth Remount Depot is to handle purchases of animals.

But there are stationed there only two officers, two clerks and a groom, and the War Department has decided to move them to San Angelo.

Store That Crop In Trench Silos

Fort Worth.—Now that Texas primary elections are over, bankers, merchants and civic leaders can do no more effective political work, according to M. E. McMurray of the Texas Dairy Products Association, than to join the county agents and other agricultural workers in their campaign to see that farmers, dairymen and ranchers place as much of the bumper feed crop now growing into trench silos as possible.

To do this will insure a supply of highly nutritious feeds which, due to climatic conditions, may not be available next year. Tests have proven conclusively that feeds placed in trench silos may be kept indefinitely without deterioration and is automatically insured against fire and rain losses, as well as rodent damage. Other arguments which may be advanced to dairymen and others are:

1. Feed put into trench silos will go two to three times as far as dry feed.
2. As a substitute for green pasture it has vitamins not found in dry feed.
3. It is especially suitable when pasture is not available because of its water content.
4. It requires no investment; any farmer with his tools and team can build a trench silo suited to his needs—one ton or a thousand ton capacity.
5. It has equal value as a maintenance feed or a fattening element.

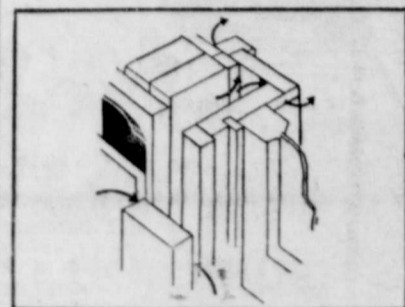

Particularly is the trench silo program applicable to the State's dairy program which is attracting a great deal of attention at this time. Dairying in Texas can never be successful without cheap and nutritious feeds. Talk trench silos until this year's feed crop is back in the ground.

To the Voters of Mills County:

Please accept this as the final reminder, requesting your vote and influence in my behalf on August 24, and assuring the people that I am more than thankful for their past favors. I will gladly leave my case in their hands for their decision.

FEW CENTS EXTRA FOR TIGHT WINDOW FRAMES IS GOOD INVESTMENT

← LEAKY JOINT
This is the kind of inefficient window frame construction that is used in many new homes. It results in drafts and dirty walls around windows. Arrows point to where cold air leaks in.

TIGHT JOINT →
Contractors call this wide blind stop construction. It cuts air leakage more than half around window frames. Costs just a few cents extra per window. Arrow points to wide blind stop.

Don't overlook the importance of the lowly window frame when you build your new home. It is the one thing that permanently joins your windows with the framework of your house. A window frame properly constructed keeps out dirt and drafts by making a weather-tight joint with the wall. A window frame indifferently constructed will allow as much as 174 cubic feet of air per hour to leak into your home, air that is often loaded with dust, to dirty up walls and cause drafts.

Good Construction Costs Little
Wide blind stop construction in window frames has been in use for many years, yet jerry builders will use frames without it in order to cut costs without regard to consequences. This type of construction costs about 30c to 50c more per window opening than ordinary construction and it will quickly pay for itself in heat saved and added comfort.

Window Frames Permanent
Remember window frames are a permanent part of the wall in your new home. To tear them out and replace them is not only a mess but a big expense as well. The easiest way to avoid leaky window frames in your new home is to buy frames that make a weathertight joint and that means wide blind stop construction.

Moore—Castleton

Miss Ellen Beatrice Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moore, formerly of this city and now of Austin, was married to Mr. Hudson Whitfield Castleton of Bay City Friday at noon at the University Methodist church in Austin. The ceremony was read by Rev. Noel P. Wilkinson, uncle of the bride and pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Eldorado.

Mrs. Castleton is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Wilkinson, prominent citizens of Brownwood. She received her degree from the University of Texas in 1939 and taught last year in the public school at Callalen.

Texas oil wells produced a daily average of 14½ barrels each in 1939 compared with over 18 barrels in 1937.

Culberson Claims Utilities Backing Pierce Brooks

Paris, Texas.—Candidate Olin Culberson today linked his opponent with the giant gas monopoly and charged the latter with attempting to intimidate the Texas press while the rival candidate had disqualified himself for fair public service through "unholy alliances with oil racketeers."

"Not a mail reaches our headquarters without numerous complaints from editors of small papers complaining they are threatened with a utility advertising boycott if they continue to support the Culberson candidacy," the candidate said. "The gas monopoly has also distorted and misrepresented the record in the Lone Star Gas Company case relative to the commission's stand on advertising. I simply sent the entire record to every editor in the state. All newspapermen want is the truth."

Despite pressure from the utilities, Culberson said, more than 100 Texas papers have editorially endorsed his candidacy. "The Texas press can neither be subsidized nor intimidated," he declared.

"My opponent can not possibly serve Texas fairly in the matter of reasonable gas rates because the very utilities which want no regulation at all and have fought lower and fairer gas rates in every court are on his side, backing his campaign," Culberson charged.

"How can my opponent possibly deal openly, fairly and justly with the legitimate oil business and the consuming public when every racketeer who has ever violated an oil conservation law or been prosecuted by me for breaking the oil laws is giving him unlimited backing in his campaign against me," Culberson demanded.

"My opponent has spent his entire campaign slinging mud at me and at the commissioners with whom he would have to work if elected. He has resorted to every questionable political device to throw a smoke screen around the true campaign issues which he has completely ignored. We have not been given a shred of evidence of his stand on freight rate differentials which would mean a saving of more than 17 millions to West Texas alone," Culberson said.

"I have insisted on conducting a clean campaign, running for the office instead of running against any individual. I led the ticket and that should be evidence that I have fairly discussed the issues and discussed them intelligently. I shall continue to do so. Every chapter and verse of my life has been voluntarily opened to those from whom I ask the high public trust of railroad commissioner," Culberson added.

"I could not talk very much about my opponent if I chose for I know little about him, and I have been unable to find anyone who does know much about him although he has run for governor, lieutenant governor and now railroad commissioner, all vital offices affecting the lives of us all."

"Wings Over Texas"

"Wings Over Texas" is the title of a prospectus sent this week by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel to 178 aircraft manufacturers throughout the United States.

A project of the Texas Industrial Program, the prospectus was compiled from data supplied by the University of Texas, the Texas A&M College, Texas Technological College, the Executive Department, the Texas State Parks Board, the Texas Aeronautics Advisory Committee, national Defense Aviation Committee for Texas State Employment Service, and Office of Government Reports.

The prospectus contains 31 pages of text, supplemented by eleven pages of maps and charts. The Governor addressed a personal letter to each of the aircraft companies receiving the report.

Copies went also to local industrialization committees throughout the state; federal and state governmental agencies; industrial commissioners of transportation, gas, power, light, and water companies serving Texas; regional chambers of commerce; and other interested groups.

In an introduction to the report, the major points are summarized as follows: "Texas is first among the states in recognition given by the Federal government to conditions favorable for aviation.

"Geographically, Texas is the gateway to Latin-America and is strategically located for commerce with every section of the United States.

"The great expanses of level land add much to the safety of flying and make possible an almost unlimited field for the selection and development of airports. The Texas coast and inland lakes provide excellent facilities for seaplanes and amphibians.

"Among the significant advantages which Texas offers is a mild year-round outdoor climate. Range of temperature and rainfall between sections of the state gives the manufacturer a wide choice of weather conditions.

W. E. Grisham

William Edward Grisham, son of J. W. Grisham, was born in Hot Springs, Arkansas, September 24, 1872. His mother died when he was very young leaving two children, Will and Henry. The family moved from there to Pottsville, where they lived for a number of years before moving to Goldthwaite. When he was about 18 years of age, he was employed in the B. A. Harris Dry Goods Store for several years. Then he went into business for himself, having the first grocery store in Goldthwaite. He was married to Miss Lora Allen and to this union were born five children, four daughters and one son, all of whom are living.

In 1918 he sold out and moved with his family to San Antonio, where the children grew up, married, and established homes. Later on two daughters moved to Miami, Florida, and Mrs. Lucille Fairman came back to Goldthwaite.

Mr. Grisham came back to Goldthwaite in 1929, and took charge of a Magnolia filling station, which after several years was sold. He then was employed as manager of Urbach's Hardware store until it was sold.

He was a member of the Progressive Christian church.

His death was the first in his immediate family, but was not unexpected, for he had been in failing health for several years.

He was laid to rest in the Odd Fellows Cemetery on Sunday afternoon, August 11. Active pallbearers were Earl Clements, Owen Yarborough, Walter Fairman, Shorty Horton, Claude Dickerson, Norman Grisham, John Hester, and D. D. Tate.

Honorary pallbearers were F. D. Webb, W. P. McCullough, W. B. Summy, W. E. Miller, Henry
