PRIDDY ENTERTAINS HUNDRED SOLDIERS ON THANKSGIVING

The people of the Priddy Community served Thanksgiving dinner to about one hundred soldiers from Camp Bowle, on Thursday, Nov. 20.

The afternoon was devoted to meeting the guests, picture taking and a group singing in which the greater part of the soldiers and a number of civilians participated.

Immediately before the soldiers started back to camp, the ladies served cake and coffee to everyone.

We, the people of Priddy, and everyone who took part in entertaining these soldiers, enjoyed doing our bit to prove that we appreciate the soldiers who are serving our country. A list of the names of these soldiers was made. We hope to add to this list with more such acquaintances and show our loyalty in every way possible.

CONNALLY IS SEEKING WAY TO STOP STRIKES

Believing that the real spirit of the mass of American labor ought to be and is "Defense and not Defiance," and believing that the time has now come when the Senate and House must decide who is running the country, John L. Lewis or the Congress and the President, Senator Tom Connally last week introduced legislation to assist the President in stopping strikes affecting the national defense.

The bill represents a continuation of Senator Connally's effort to bring a halt to strikes slowing down the country's production of defense material; in June the Senate adopted the Connally amendment authorizing the President to take over plants halted by strikes, but the amendment was knocked out by the House of Representatives.

Connally requested that his bill go to the Judiciary Committee, of which he is a member, where hearings on the bill have already begun. The Texas Senator was named chairman of the sub-committee in charge of the legislation.

The bill provides that whenever plants, facilities, or mines are impeded or hindered by strikes or labor difficulties the President shall have authority to take them over. It further provides that when the government exercises such power the labor conditions, excepting wages, shall be frozen; a labor board would be set up to see that the workers receive a fair wage for their work in plants operated by the government.

Provisions are already on the law books for the government to take over when employers refuse to operate the plants for our national defense.

In introducing the bill, Senator Connally stated to the Senate, "I do not believe that the great mass of the laboring men in the United States sympathize with the effort to use the strike as a weapon against the government in this critical hour of the nation's history, at a time when other men are being called to training camps at $21 per month."

SEVEN SELECTEES LEAVE FOR ARMY

The following selectees from Mills County will leave on December 6 for Dallas to be inducted into army service: Lewis Leaver Hodges, Willie Bernhard Schoen, James N. Bayley, Joe Alton Kemp, Norma Lee Mosier, Robert Lee Hashaw. On December 17, eleven more men will be called from Mills County.

MAMIE-TOM MITCHELL HOME given by Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Mitchell Marfa

FIVE NEW BUILDINGS AT METHODIST HOME TO BE DEDICATED AT WACO NOVEMBER 28

WACO, Nov. 26. (Special)—Culminating the most outstanding year of more than half a century and launching the drive for funds to finance next year's $125,000 budget, the Methodist Home here will dedicate five new buildings on its campus Friday, Nov. 28. Bishops A. Frank Smith of Houston and Ivan Lee Holt of Dallas will take leading parts in the program, and more than 2,000 out-of-town visitors are expected from the six conferences of Texas and New Mexico which support the home.

The affair begins with a barbecue on the Home campus at noon, the dedicatory service following at 1:30 p. m. Each new building will then be opened, its donors and the boys and girls who are to live in it serving as welcoming committees and guides. Four of the new structures are residences, furthering Supt. Hubert Johnson's long-time dream of doing away with dormitories and transferring the orphanage into a group of homes, each with its own house mother, its own dining room, kitchen and bedrooms, so that children may be brought up in an atmosphere as near like actual home life as possible. Half the Home's 400 children are now living in cottages. The fifth building is an infirmary. Donors are Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Perkins of Wichita Falls, who are giving a second cottage for girls after two years ago giving a home for senior girls; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Birdwell of Wichita Falls, a boys' home; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Mitchell of Marfa, a girls' home; the late Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Williams of Fort Worth, who will be represented by relatives, a boys' home; R. P. Willis, Sr., of Atlanta and the late Mrs. Willie Willis, who gave the infirmary. This building has been furnished by W. T. Penn of Wichita Falls and the late Mrs. Penn. After the dedication, there will be an evening session of the 48 district superintendents of the Texas and New Mexico conferences. They will discuss the budget campaign, due to be held in all Methodist churches during the month of December. The Home, existing for more than half a century without endowment, has relied on free will offerings for support during its entire history. Because of the limited budget all buildings have been donated by private individuals, 1941 marking an all time high in gifts of this nature to the Home.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SPECIAL SERVICES FOR THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving Day services are held by The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and its branches throughout the world. The order of services includes the reading of a Lesson-Sermon on the topic of "Thanksgiving." Opportunity is also afforded those present to give testimonies of gratitude appropriate to the occasion.

The Golden Text is: "Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High; and call upon me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me (Psalms 50:14-15)."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God." (Revelation 21:3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth's immortal idea is sweeping down the centuries, gathering beneath its wings the sick and sinning. My weary hope tries to realize that happy day, when man shall recognize the Science of Christ and love his neighbor as himself,—when he shall realize God's omnipotence and the healing power of the divine Love in what it has done and is doing for mankind." (Page 55).

35TH ANNUAL CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE

When the world is on fire ... tuberculosis in our state seems to be a small problem. But let us keep our perspective. National defense, of course, needs money, machines and material. But machines and material need men and men need health.

The lessons learned about tuberculosis in the last war must not be forgotten. We cannot afford to weaken on the home front by giving the silent foe, tuberculosis, a chance to destroy what the people of this nation have built—as happened twenty years ago.

Let us keep our eyes on the affairs of the world, but let us also watch the foe ever ready to invade our homes. The fight against tuberculosis needs the same vision, courage and generosity which have brought us thus far.

Each full sheet of Christmas Seals represents one dollar for the protection of your neighbors' homes and yours. Won't you buy them and help to finish the fight against an enemy which killed thirty-eight hundred of your fellow Texans last year? You can get Christmas Seals at the Eagle Office.

METHODIST NOTICE

There will be no services at the Methodist Church Sunday morning or evening. Rev. B. A. Myers will be in Barksdale Field, La., to attend the graduation exercises of his son, H. GOLDTHWAITE FFA TO RETAIN ITS CHARTER

Goldthwaite was one of the 63 of the 86 high school chapters of the Future Farmers of America in Area 4 for which applications have been received for retaining their charters up to Nov. 15. These have been approved and copies returned to the chapters, A. J. Spangler, Area Adviser of John Tarleton Agricultural College, announced at Stephenville this week.

The students of vocational agriculture in two new schools, Trent and Morton Valley, have applied for original charters and have been recommended to J. B. Rutland, State Department of Education, Austin, to receive the charters in the Texas Association of Future Farmers of America.

The officers of the Goldthwaite Chapter which presented this application are: Allison Geeslin, Avenir Carter, Alvis Stewart, Deloyd Benningfield, Aubrey Burkes, Harold Cornelius, Pete Geeslin, and Cecil Vir-din.

The adviser of the Goldthwaite Chapter is M. B. Coffey, and he states that the chapter has a membership of 21 boys.

The annual program of work of the chapter is set up under these headings: (1) Supervised Farming, (2) Co-operative Activities, (3) Community Service, and (4) Leadership Activities. At the end of the year, July 1, 1942, the Chapter will be graded on the type of program it has set up and the extent to which it was carried out. The first Chapter will be designated with a bronze emblem. The Area Chapter winner will be designated with a silver emblem and the state winner will be designated with a gold emblem.

CAMP WOLTERS IS NATION'S BIGGEST INFANTRY CENTER

Camp Wolters, Mineral Wells, Tex., (Special)—One short year ago this week, November 12, 1940 to be exact, actual construction work was started on what has become the largest of the nation's four infantry replacement centers, Camp Wolters.

One year ago the present site of the huge cantonment was just another plot of ground covered by rocks, brush, trees and hills. The name Camp Wolters then meant nothing in particular to the citizens of Mineral Wells, a sleepy, little health resort city of approximately 6,000 people. Camp Wolters was just a spot for members of the Texas Cavalry to spend several weeks each summer. Their arrival and departure each year caused little comment in this community.

Little did they realize that within a period of one year their town would become known from coast to coast as the home of the nation's largest replacement center. Little did they realize that within one or two weeks after the start of construction that their small town would be converted into a swirling, seething mass of humanity all seeking the same things, work, a place to sleep and food.

In less than three months the number of workers reached the astounding figure of more than 19,000, releasing thousands of dollars into local trade channels. The citizens were literally left blinking in astonishment. The magnitude of this project was soon realized, particularly when the weekly payrolls began to reach the enormous amount of $625,000.

Mineral Wells, despite this increase in population is still a quiet town. There have been few crimes of violence. A recent order has closed all pool halls. The military and civilian police work in harmony, the MP's taking care of the soldiers, while the city and county police handle the civilian cases.

Original plans for Camp Wolters called for an expenditure of $5,600,000, have facilities for approximately 19,000, and to be completed in two or three months.

Camp Wolters has cost approximately $15,500,000, isn't complete yet and when all units are at full strength, more than 20,000 will be placed at the huge cantonment.

Everywhere men and power machinery began moving forests and mountains in building the cantonment where 20,000 selective trainees were to be launched in to military service. Workers scraped and scooped, hauled and hammered as this vast conglomerate of earth and lumber, men and machines resolved itself into the first semblance of the camp of the present. Laborers in three shifts worked the clock around with floodlights as bright as day dotting the hillsides for the workmen.

Members of the Construction Quartermaster's staff at that time were: Major Paul M. Brewer, Constructing Quartermaster, now in the Puerto Rican Department; Captain Houston L. Gaddy, Executive Officer, now Major and Construction Quartermaster at Fort Huachuca, Arizona; Captain Thomas G. Gammie, Liaison and Engineer-in-Chief, now Construction Quartermaster at Camp Wolters; Captain Frederic J. Elson, Property Officer, still at Camp Wolters; Captain George M. Roper, Purchasing Officer, transferred; Captain John F. Phelon, Equipment Officer, transferred; Captain John Long, Fire Marshall, now Major and assistant Fire Marshall; First Lieutenant Philip P. Gilbert, Adjutant and Transportation Officer, now Executive Officer to Captain Gammie; Second Lieutenant Edwin S. Berngart, assistant Property

Cotton Farmers Of Mills County To Vote Dec. 13

Mills County cotton farmers will help decide the course of cotton again this year when they vote in the national cotton marketing quota referendum, according to J. M. Geeslin, chairman of the Mills County AAA Committee.

The decision will be made Saturday, Dec. 13, and six polling places will be set up within the county, the chairman explained.

While increased production is needed in many commodities in the Food-For-Freedom program, any increase in cotton will cripple the defense effort because of the enormous supply on hand, Mr. Geeslin said.

Due to naval and war blockades, export trade has dropped from 6.2 million bales during the 1939-40 season to 1.1 million bales during the 1940-41 season. Export trade for the present season is expected to hover near the 1.1 million bale mark.

As a result of demands being made for cotton in the national defense program, domestic consumption of cotton for the 1940-41 season just ended was the highest on record. Consumption was about 9.6 million bales, which was about 2 million bales above the preceding year.

"Although our domestic consumption has gone up, the increases will not offset the loss of our former export market," the chairman said.

At the same time Mills County farmers are voting on whether they want to continue marketing quotas, they will also decide the fate of the loan program. Loans are not in effect during the years when marketing quotas are rejected.

Last year the referendum carried in Mills County when 90 per cent of the cotton farmers voting approved quotas.

DECEMBER WORKERS' CONFERENCE

The December Workers' Conference of Mills County Baptist Association will meet at Star on December 10, at ten in the morning. Dr. Middleton, First Church, San Angelo, and Pastor Elmer Durham of Big Spring will be two of the guest speakers, and all the emphasis will be on Sunday schools. There will be an Executive Board meeting at 1:15 that day.

NOTICE TO CITY TAXPAYERS

Recently the Legislature passed a bill providing that delinquent taxes might be paid without penalty or interest, the provisions of which were adopted by the city. However, the time under which that could be done, under the state law, has expired.

The City Council has passed a resolution to extend the time in which payment of City taxes can be made without penalty and interest, until January 1st, 1942.

If you have delinquent city taxes, this is an opportunity to pay them at the least possible cost. It is the hope of the council that full advantage of it will be taken.

F. P. BOWMAN, City Secretary.

Officer, now Safety Officer. In celebrating one full year of service at Camp Wolters, Captain Gammie and his staff which now includes First Lieutenant Hamilton S. Owen, Engineering Officer and First Lieutenant Barie B. Harben, Transportation Officer, are also celebrating the completion of the major portion of the current $5,600,000 expansion program now underway.

GLOCKENSPIELER?—HE'S LATEST ADDITION TO SNAPPY ARMY BANDS

Army musicians will soon be playing new Bell Lyra's, a variation of the glockenspiel popular in European military bands. The instrument contains a keyboard similar to that of a piano, but is played by striking 22 metal bars with a small mallet. The tonal and harmonic effects have a tremendous carrying range and add possibilities for musical variations.
 The Bell Lyra player carries the 30 by 22 inch instrument in an upright position by means of a shoulder strap. For concert work it may also be played from a stationary rack. The new instrument can be played on the march.

STAR ITEMS— By MRS. DORA GOODE

In looking over the letters of last week, I noticed one correspondent as saying there was little neighborhood news to write up, so the news necessarily would have to be of their-own-selves. Well, that correspondent has one on me because there's absolutely nothing to tell about, except that the high cost of living goes up a notch with each passing norther. Howsomer, there is one very interesting thing that happened to the writer recently—a visit to our school. Now I must confess that I haven't been much interested in schools of late years. But, before Mr. Patterson got up through all the class rooms—meeting all the teachers and the children, study hall, offices, library—giving detailed information all the while of the inner workings of the school—why, I wished I were a kid again going to school. "Let us stop here," suggested Mr. Patterson, when we were in a long hall once again; "it's time for the bell to call for a four-minute rest period. We waited. Then the bell buzzed, and out from all class rooms and study hall surged those youngsters (between two and three hundred). Soon the hall was thronged with them. And once again I missed my guess for I expected loud talking, skipping, boxing and what not. But, NO! There was orderly confusion. Passing from end to end of the hall, quiet conversations, opening of lockers, getting a drink, pencils, books, tablets and what not—then the bell again, and all those youngsters disappeared as quickly and as orderly as they had come on to the scene of action—not a youngster left in the hall. A beautiful pageant of disciplinary education. One room into which we were introduced was a class without a teacher. Mr. Patterson was enthusiastic about that class. "They all study different subjects—"Airplane Production, "The Price of Crime," "The Price and Production of Commodities," and eight or ten other different subjects which I failed to remember. I think of that class often as I go about the daily tasks, and can think of no better name for it than "The Class of Widening Horizons."

Say, folks, you fathers and mothers, you're missing a treat and a surprise by not visiting your school during working hours. Mr. Patterson is interested—immensely—in his work, and takes delight in showing and explaining the working schedule, the plans and play role of the school. Don't pass up this opportunity of seeing the smooth-running mechanism of a beautiful organization of a superintendent, co-teachers and youngsters.

 Mrs. J. D. Mason and children moved to Dallas last week, where Mr. Mason has employment. J. J. Witty took them over and while in Dallas visited with his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Witty.

Mrs. Howard Petrey and boys visited with her husband in Fort Worth last week. She was accompanied by Mrs. Charlie House who went to see her son, Avery and family.

Mrs. Jethro Newton has been quite sick the past week.
 The Methodist parsonage is being repapered and repaired, including a new well, for the new pastor who will be in this week with his wife and baby.
 Those spending the Thanksgiving holidays in the San Angelo section were J. C. Witty and Miss Hattie Barr.

Mrs. J. S. Jolley returned to her home in Sherman Sunday, after a two-weeks' visit here with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Marvin Atrip.

Highlights Of Texas History

By CHARLES O. HUCKER
University of Texas Library

OF THE PROFITS IN PORCH-SITTING

Many people always make for a new country because they feel it offers them the opportunity to make a quick fortune; and the swarming influx of settlers into Texas during the early days of its statehood, true to that generalization, seems to have resulted from such an impulse—hope animated by practical ambition and deeply colored with the attraction of the unbelievable.

In Texas, people seemed to think, all you needed in order to make your mark in the world was first of all a little capital, enough merely to buy a few cattle; secondly a front porch and an easy chair to occupy while they multiplied out on the plains; and, lastly, a market for the tremendous herd you would soon possess. And the market, at least, did exist.

This sort of notion spread like wildfire through the United States during the 1850's and 60's, generated chiefly by travelers who could claim only a superficial acquaintance with the cattle business. John C. Reid of Alabama was one of these; and his analysis of the Texas cattle industry in his "Reid's Tramp" is one of the most startling bits of statistical information to be found in the Texas Collection of the University of Texas Library.

COWS AT $5 A HEAD

Reid passed through Texas in 1856 on his way to the Gadsden Purchase, where he was to establish a mining company. He traveled obliquely across the state, from Galveston to El Paso, noting as he went the peculiarities of the countryside, of the people, and of their occupations. He admired the people very much, coming ultimately to the conclusion that "no people ever exhibited more heroism, moral courage, sublimity, than the Texans in their war."

But as regards the cattle business, which particularly caught his fancy: Suppose you entered Texas with $2,000, he began. With that capital you could buy a herd of 500 cows, for, he wrote, "an ample supply of grown cows may be obtained near, by judicious selections, at not exceeding five dollars a head." Then you could hire a Mexican cowboy or "shepherd" for an annual salary of $175 and wait confidently for your pot of gold.

REID'S MATHEMATICS

"Five hundred cows," Reid figured, "will give annually one calf each; of these (calves) one in five will die, and the remainder belong to the sexes equally." Thus after only one year you would have 900 head. At the end of the fourth year "there are 2,100 head, of which 700 are cows, 600 heifers, and 800 bulls"; and at the end of the seventh, 4,260 head.

"The grand heifers have by this time," he figured on, "arrived at the producing age, and now the increase is somewhat similar to arithmetical progression." Thus, if only you could hold out for twenty years, or so, you'd find yourself ultimately with a herd of—oh, so many thousands.

But should you wish to sell at the end of the seventh year, he pointed out, your fortune would have been made even then. For in any market, he claimed, you could sell your herd at $7 a head for a total of $29,820. That, even minus your cowhand's wages and your original investment plus interest, would leave you a profit of $23,546. And $23,546 is a pretty good profit from porch-sitting.

100 YEARS AGO IN TEXAS

"The Santa Fe Expedition is exciting much interest in Congress, and the censures against the President for fitting it out without authority of Congress, are general and severe. Some investigations are progressing that may elicit important facts, in relation to the amount of expenditures incurred for this unlawful measure. A disposition has been generally manifested by the members to prohibit the payment of any bills or drafts that may be presented for payment, on account of the expedition.

"A remarkable degree of harmony prevails among the members of both houses. It is pleasing to notice with what remarkable candor and liberality members of all parties and sections, unite in sustaining measures intended for the general welfare of the republic. . . . Among the members who have already distinguished themselves in the few debates that have sprung up are Mr. Jones of Galveston, Mr. Jones of Gonzales, Mr. Van Zandt of Harrison, Mr. Robinson of Brazoria, Mr. Wood of Liberty, and Mr. Wynns of your country. . . . In the Senate, Judge Webb is regarded as quite an acquisition to that body. He is distinguished alike for his industry, his talent, and unchanging integrity."—The Telegraph and Texas Register (Houston), Nov. 24, 1841.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Albert Trent and Jake Harrison of Beverly Hills, Calif., arrived the first of last week. They will be with relatives and friends here for two weeks. Jake Harrison, Miss Emma Harrison, and Mr. and Mrs. Haynes Harrison of Brownwood met the rest of the Harrison family last Friday at San Antonio, where they had several days' reunion.

STATE GAME DEPT. TELLS HOW TO COOK DEER YOU KILLED

How do you cook venison? What is the best recipe for a venison roast?

These and many other questions arise in the kitchens of hundreds of Texas homes these days, as mighty hunters pull in the driveways with two fat bucks strapped to the fenders of their cars.

J. Frank Doble, famous as an outdoorsman as well as a writer of Texas folklore, has a very simple recipe for venison steaks. "Cut off a steak, salt and pepper it, chunk it in the flour and throw it in the grease," he says. "That's the best way to cook venison."

But that's the preference of a tough outdoorsman. Others might prefer one of the following recipes for roasts and steaks, and they might enjoy the jelly sauce for venison:

ROAST SADDLE OF VENISON (Loin or haunch)

Wash the surface with lukewarm vinegar and water (it should have hung at least a week in a cool place) and rub with butter to soften it. Cover with greased paper tied on; over this a paste of flour and water, rolled out at least one-half inch thick, may be spread, and the whole covered with another greased paper fastened securely. Fifteen minutes to the pound is the rule followed where it is preferred rare. More time is required, according to the size, to have it well done. Pour a pint of boiling water around the meat and cover with another dripping pan. The oven should be hot. After the first hour, baste thoroughly at short intervals, re-covering the pan after each time. Half an hour before dinner uncover the pan, remove the papers and paste, return to the oven, and baste with melted butter and a little lemon juice; dredge flour over the whole and let it brown. Repeat the basting with butter two or three times during the half-hour, and take up on a heated dish. The plates should be heated also, as venison cools easily. Serve with currant jelly and sauce.

VENISON RIB ROAST

Have the bones removed from 2 or 3 ribs of venison, roll in a thin slice of salt pork, tie tightly in shape, season, dredge with flour and roast. Serve with spiced currants or gooseberry catsup.

VENISON STEAKS

Heat the gridiron well, butter the bars and lay on the steaks, which should be cut from the haunch. Broil thoroughly; venison requires more cooking than beef—saving all of the gravy possible. Serve with currant jelly laid on each piece. Heat the plates.

Venison steaks may be fried also, and served with a very little melted butter and jelly. Two tablespoonsful of currant jelly melted with butter the size of a walnut, is a very nice sauce.

Strain the gravy into the pan—there should be at least one pint. Thicken with one tablespoonful of browned flour; add two tablespoonsful of currant jelly; one tablespoonful of lemon juice; one-half teaspoonful salt; one-fourth teaspoonful pepper.

Two scientists at the Texas College of Arts and Industries report their experiments indicate that "blue bugs" may play a role in the transmission of fowl paralysis.

ARMY ENGINEERING TRAINING PAYS DIVIDENDS FOR SOLDIER

Joseph L. Andreske has found that his Army training in engineering has plenty of dividends and cents value in fitting him for civilian life.

When inducted into the Army last year, Andreske was an educational adviser with the Civilian Conservation Corps.

After basic training in military fundamentals, Andreske was soon named Staff Sergeant with Company A, 107 Engineers, at Camp Livingston, Louisiana. His aptitude for engineering soon won him a chance for training as a surveyor at the Engineer School, Fort Belvoir, Virginia.

He was graduated in May after studying mathematics, computation and plotting, drafting, leveling, transit and plane table work. He returned to his unit and soon got an increase in pay from $72 to $84 per month with promotion to Technical Sergeant.

During maneuvers in Louisiana, Andreske put his engineer training to many practical uses. He gathered important data needed in bridging the Red River. Later, after the maneuvers, he was busy with survey work on subdivisions where landmarks had been damaged or obliterated because of troop movements.

Andreske was recently relieved from active Army duty because he is over 28 years old and married. He found not only his old job waiting for him in civilian life, but two other employers seeking his services. The Construction Quartermaster at Camp Livingston offered him a job as instrument man on a surveying crew. At Knoxville, Tenn., the Tennessee Valley Authority Headquarters offered him a job as surveyor. His C.C.C. boss also wants him back.

The Army is in the junk business—to save Uncle Sam millions of dollars.

In an out-of-way section of Philadelphia, a little group of men and women spend their work-days picking over a pile of woolen and cotton scraps. They are salvaging waste material from the cutting and piecing machines used in making millions of Army uniforms. Saving these cloth scraps last year saved the Government more than $1,500,000.

To provide uniforms for the Army's million and a half soldiers the Quartermaster Depot buys the uniform material, then sends it to manufacturers who have contracts with the Army to make the soldiers' trousers, coats, shirts and other clothing. Scrap cloth that accumulates during the manufacturing process is returned to the Depot, carefully sorted, baled and auctioned to the highest bidders.

The Army knows to the penny how much scrap material is saved in the manufacture of each piece of clothing—coat, 10c worth; overcoat, 14c; trousers, 5c; field jacket, 6c; field cap, 6-10c.

Approximately 29,000,000 acres of land were reseeded to grass by deferred grazing in the United States in 1940. To conserve water for livestock some 75,000 earthen dams or reservoirs were built, or more than twice as many as in 1939.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

(From Goldthwaite Eagle Files of December 2, 1916)

D. A. Hamilton, the newly-elected commissioner and justice of the peace of Mullin, had business in this city the first of the week.

A number of Goldthwaite people expect to go to Brownwood today to see the presentation of the wonderful production, "The Birth of a Nation."

R. H. Patterson and wife of Star were visitors in this city Sunday.

Messrs. A. Campbell, R. S. Crain, and Scott Thompson were among the San Saba citizens who visited this city this week.

George W. Godwin and Miss Dorcia Stark were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stark, in the Rock Springs Community last Saturday.

County Clerk Summy issued marriage license this week to Rev. E. P. Harris and Miss Bettie F. Wilson.

The Methodist ladies have a bazaar in the Harrison building on Fisher Street, where they have many articles on display suitable for Christmas presents.

Mrs. Owen Yarborough returned the first of the week from a visit to relatives at Lampasas.

Charming hospitality was extended to the Merry Wives Club and their husbands Tuesday evening when Mrs. J. H. Rangolph and Mrs. Walter Fairman entertained in the Fairman home.

Mrs. L. W. Leverett and family enjoyed a visit from her brother, John McCaughan, a banker of Melvin, last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Littlepage spent Sunday in Lampasas, where they attended the family reunion at the home of his parents.

The Trent State Bank has placed a large thermometer and barometer in front of the banking house.

State Department Health Notes

In the time-honored, expansive American manner, Thanksgiving Day is being celebrated in all Texas homes this week, and according to Doctor George W. Cox, State Health Officer, we can be thankful for at least one blessing which our forefathers did not enjoy.

"When the Pilgrim Fathers proclaimed the first Thanksgiving Day, health was purely a matter of chance—a gamble in every sense of the word. A sick person was faithfully dosed with herbs and tonics prescribed and compounded by his neighbors and friends. It was a tossup whether he lived or died. There were no hospitals, no doctors, no well-stocked pharmacies, nothing to alleviate pain, and very little to promote a patient's chance of recovery. Sickness and pain those days," Dr. Cox asserted, "was something to be borne as best one could."

Doctor Cox emphasized that the last fifty years have been the most golden years of achievement in the history of medical science. Today we can offer our heart-felt thanks for good health and the means of preserving it.

"Our Pilgrim Fathers founded for us a free nation and left us that heritage of freedom so greatly prized by every true American. Ours is the task of preserving that freedom and of passing that heritage on to our children; but today we are conscious as never before that general good health is in itself a priceless legacy," he stated.

Doctor Cox pointed out that at this time fifty-two per cent of the residents of Texas have available some form of full-time health service. The State Department of Health and its affiliated local health units have placed full-time health service within easy access of 3,338,788 people, and a program of expansion is even now under way.

"Thousands of dollars are being spent every year to promote and safeguard good health among our people, and for this one great contribution to the health of the nation," Dr. Cox asserted, "we should indeed be thankful."

ROBBING THE NEST

It's Your Life Texas Safety Assn. Austin

THE TYPICAL ACCIDENT VICTIM:

He was a pedestrian. He was over 40 years of age—by no means decrepit; nevertheless his eyesight and hearing had passed their peak efficiency and he was less alert and agile than he had been only a few years ago.

He had the usual worries that go with the adult life of the family bread-winner; he was frequently preoccupied, and occasionally downright absent-minded.

He probably had had a couple of drinks.

He had never learned to drive a car and his walking habits had been formed when automobiles were both fewer and slower than they are now.

He was wearing dark clothing, and while the headlights of the oncoming car seemed blinding to him, his outline was scarcely discernible to the driver against the dark background of the pavement.

It was between six and seven o'clock on a late autumn evening, and he was struck just as he stepped out from between two parked cars preparatory to crossing between intersections on an unlighted street in a fairly large city.

It can be you!

200,000 ACRES OF PUBLIC SCHOOL LAND TO BE PUT ON SALE

Bascom Giles, Commissioner of the General Land Office, has announced a statewide sale of approximately 200,000 acres of surveyed school lands for April 7, 1942, by the School Land Board of which he is chairman. Gov. Coke R. Stevenson and Attorney General Gerald C. Mann, members of the board, had concurred with Commissioner Giles in the advisability of a sale at this time.

The land is located in more than half of the counties of the state, and will be purchased for one-fifth down payment and 40 years to pay the remaining four-fifths.

"We have requests every day to advertise certain tracts for sale," Commissioner Giles pointed out, "and the School Land Board believes that demand and prices for land will make the spring of 1942 an opportune time to hold this statewide sale."

This will be the second sale of surveyed school lands since Commissioner Giles took office. The first one, on Jan. 3, 1940, resulted in an unprecedented 8,000 bids being received for the sale of approximately 200,000 acres. When all the offers had been tabulated, 265 high bids were accepted for the purchase of 94,000 acres, bringing $393,917 into the permanent school fund.

Florence McDermott Listed In 'Who's Who'

Florence McDermott, formerly of Goldthwaite, is among college students who will be listed in the 1941-42 issue of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." The book will be released in January or February.

A senior majoring in journalism, Miss McDermott was selected with 20 other students from her college, Texas State College for Women, at Denton, to represent that school in the publication.

This book is published through the co-operation of over 600 American universities and colleges. It is the only means of national recognition for graduates devoid of politics, fees and dues. Several students from accredited colleges are selected for their biographies to appear in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Miss McDermott is a member of the Theta Sigma Phi, honorary fraternity for women in journalism, editor of this year's annual, and treasurer for the past two years for the Newman Club. She has served on the college newspaper as sports editor and columnist.

In 1938, she graduated from Goldthwaite High School, where she was active in sports and the high school paper. Until her freshman year at TSCW, she resided in Goldthwaite.

which should run the sewing room up until the middle of next January.

The Rev. T. N. Barton is sponsoring a gift of 400 pounds of pecans to the 400 children of the Methodist Orphanage at Waco and requests that those who may wish to contribute pecans to this cause please bring them in to the local Methodist parsonage in time to be sent off before Christmas. Pecans will make a typical gift from this section.

It was announced yesterday that a Community Thanksgiving service and program will be given at the Baptist Church at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, Nov. 26, sponsored by the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches.

San Saba

John E. Jackson, aged about 75, and a resident of San Saba since 1902, died suddenly at his home here Wednesday morning at 11:30 o'clock after a very brief illness.

Robert Jordan, an official of a large Eastern rural hospital foundation of New York City, has wired Rev. W. B. Holmes, Jr., chairman of the Jaycee Hospital Committee, that he will arrive in Fort Worth from New York on Tuesday morning, Nov. 25, to make a thorough investigation of the need and the field here for a very substantial rural hospital in San Saba.

Miss Grace Baxter, WPA sewing room supervisor, reported Monday that new textiles for the San Saba sewing room amounting to a total of 8,800 yards have recently been received here in the past two weeks.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 30

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

CHRISTIAN LOVE

LESSON TEXT—John 13:34, 35; I Corinthians 13:1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—We love him, because he first loved us.—I John 4:19.

Many important things enlist the interest of the Christian, but we need to beware lest we neglect what Jesus declared to be the first and great commandment—that we love God; and its necessary sequel—that we love our neighbor. If love is forgotten (and who can deny that it often is in our day?), the very foundations are shaken. We need a revival of Christian love.

I. Love—A Mark of Discipleship

(John 13:34, 35).
Do you want to know whether a man is a Christian? Find out whether he loves his brethren. Such is the test Jesus gives in these verses.

1. Commanded. It is the will and purpose of God that the followers of Christ should have a real love for one another. It is not to be a matter of impulse or chance, but the love God has for us should constrain us to love one another. Thus is love.

2. Exemplified. God has loved us. He does love us. How infinitely much is wrapped up in these simple words! He even gave His Son to die for us because He loved us (John 3:16). How then can we withhold our love from Him and from one another?

II. Love—A Christian Grace (I Cor. 13).

In a world where hatred prevails, and is in fact glorified, this chapter needs to be read and reread. We find that love is

1. Essential (vv. 1-3). Life has many excellent gifts and men quite properly seek after them. How do they compare with love, and what do they amount to apart from love? Glowing, angelic eloquence; the far-seeing eye of the prophet; the attainments of knowledge and culture; mountain-moving faith; liberal-hearted charity; martyr-like self-sacrifice—without love they are all as nothing. Apart from Christ and His love operating in our hearts and lives the worthiest attainments of men are vain and empty. Love is the very essence of a satisfying and useful life.

2. Effective (vv. 4-7). Does love really work, or is this just a fine sounding but obsolete theory? It works.

Think of the things in life which irritate and depress us; then put opposite them the qualities of Christian love as given in verses 4 to 7, and you will agree that what this world needs most of all is love.

Remember that talking about love or reading about it or studying it in the Sunday school will not make it effective. We must put it into practice. Why not start now? You will be surprised at the results.

3. Eternal (vv. 8, 12). Many gifts are only temporary in their usefulness; in fact, almost everything that man makes or does (apart from his service for God) is transient. Even so vital a matter as prophecy shall one day find its end in fulfillment. Hope shall eventually find its longing expectation satisfied. Faith will be justified in seeing what it has believed. Childish things will be put away by the full-grown man, knowledge will increase and darkness disappear.

But love—love is eternal. It never fails, and will never fail. God is love and God is eternal. From all eternity and unto all eternity love continues. Therefore, we agree with Paul who in the verse preceding this chapter (I Cor. 12:31) says that while you may covet the best gifts, here is the more excellent way—love.

Let us be clear about this. Love is not a substitute for regeneration, and certainly regeneration is no excuse for lack of love. Read John 13:34, 35 again and remember that if we are Christ's disciples we will count it a high privilege to keep this first and great commandment of love.

Dependence on God

Poverty in any shape helps to stir in man a sense of need, a disposition to consider himself as dependent... The real puzzle of life consists not in the fact of widespread poverty but in that of widespread affluence; in the fact that so many are sufficiently endowed with "goods" as to believe they can live by them, and so cease to look for their true life to God their Father.—E. Lyttleton.

Death Becomes Transparent

And so the empty tomb becomes the symbol of a thoroughfare between life in time and life in the unshadowed presence of our God. Death is now like a short tunnel which is near my home; I can look through it and see the other side! In the risen Lord death becomes transparent. "O death, where is thy sting?" O grave, where is thy victory?—Dr. J. D. Jowett.

A Visit To Camp Bowie Last Sunday

By LA DELLE CASBEER

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Casbeer and LaDelle invited Benois Karnes and Theresa Venable to visit Camp Bowie with them on Sunday of last week, which was "Open Camp Day." Anyone could visit in the camp, inspect the tents, recreation rooms, shops and offices.

We first drove around in the camp and saw some of the boys out on walks from the hospital. After driving around until about 12 o'clock, we stopped at the 143rd Infantry and started walking. Three soldiers asked us if we were looking for some one, and we said no, that we were just looking around, and they asked if they could show us around the camp.

About 12:30 the bugle call for "chow" was heard. We had our lunch with us, but the boys invited us to be their guests at "chow." The mess hall seated 250 with 10 people to each table.

The food was grand, especially the pie and cream. We had at our table, chicken and dressing, potatoes, cream peas, fruit salad, gravy, angel food cake, raisin pie, ice cream, and good corn-bread and light bread.

After "chow," we went to the Tank Battalion where you could go for a ride if you wanted to but it sure was dusty. We then went to the rifle range and got some bullets for souvenirs.

The 141st Infantry put on a band concert including both military and popular music.

After the band concert we went to the Service Club, then to prison. The 141st Infantry had a military review and the band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

We went to chapel No. 5 of the 143rd Infantry. All the chapels have electric organs and are more beautiful than you think.

We said farewell to the camp and soldiers at 6 o'clock.

Truck load limits in the 48 states vary from 14,000 in Louisiana to 120,000 in Rhode Island.

Young tender smoked turkeys may be baked slowly as in roasting ordinary poultry, but first they should be soaked overnight to take out part of the curing salt.

Cannibalism and feather picking, vices which sometimes develop in poultry flocks, can be cured quickly by adding an extra two to four per cent salt to the ration.

Most of the nation's 16 egg-drying plants are located in Texas, Oklahoma, and Missouri. By January 1, the total will reach 37, with most of the new ones in the Corn Belt.

A balanced ration fed according to production is the most economical method of producing milk. On good green pasture three pounds of grain per gallon of milk should be fed. With hay and silage as roughage, feed up to four pounds of grain per gallon.

TABLE CLOTH MADE HERE

TO ENTER WORLD'S FAIR

One of the finest and most adorable pieces of fine art ever presented in this county is a pure linen table cloth for a dining table owned by Mrs. Nolan Horton of Artesia, N. M. Mrs. Travis
 Long of Goldthwaite, sister of Carl Featherston and daughter of Mrs. Henry Featherston, made the cloth and was two and one-half years completing the embroyered cut-out work. Mrs.
 Long received $75 for the hand work on the cloth.

This table cloth will enter the World's Fair in New York City, and the San Francisco Fair in the spring. This cloth has had chances to enter fairs all over the world where first prize is one thousand dollars.

Mrs. Horton returned to her home in Artesia, N. M., with her family after spending the week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Featherston.
 She will be remembered here as Miss Laura Featherston.

Mrs. J. D. McKenzie accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Dutch Mc-Kenzie to Fort Worth Sunday for a few days visit.
