TEXAS PRESS GROUP ELECTS PRESIDENT

At their closing session at Waco last Saturday, members of the Texas Press Association elected James F. Donahue, Tyler, president; Luther Watson, Sweetwater, vice-president, and re-elected H. Deskins Wells, Wellington, secretary-treasurer, with Joe Cook, Mission; J. C. Wilkerson, Sr., Comanche, and Thornton Hall, San Antonio, new members of the executive committee.

Invitations for the 1943 convention were received from Galveston, Fort Worth and Lufkin. Selection to be made by the executive committee.

Industries not engaged in war efforts were asked not to curtail or abolish their advertising appropriations during the present emergency because of reduced revenues newspapers now are experiencing.

Merchants and advertising industries should greatly appreciate the free publicity the newspapers are giving all departments of the war effort and be ready to assist the newspapers by their patronage. Many things carried by newspapers are very essential in winning the war, but when lack of co-operation is experienced, newspapers can not go on.

A committee composed of Sam P. Harben, Richardson; Lowry Martin, Corsicana; Walter D. Adams, Forney; Dave Warren, Panhandle, and President Donahue was appointed to work with the Texas Woman's Press Association for the establishment of the Texas state library.

CAMP BILLY GIBBONS FOR LOCAL BOY SCOUTS

Each registered Scout in the Comanche Trail Council, which includes Stephens, Eastland, Erath, Comanche, Mills, San Saba and Lampasas Counties has been sent a Camp Billy Gibbons Bulletin. These bulletins give the required information including a camp application form, needed by Scouts who plan to attend Camp Billy Gibbons during July 8-15 and 15-23.

There are 1,137 of these Scouts and each one of them should be entitled to a camping experience at their Council Camp this summer. The training these boys will receive in a wilderness camp is more important to them and to the people they will come in contact with, at the present time than it has ever been before. Red Cross Life Saving, First Class Swimming, Merit Badge Tests in First Aid, Cooking, Personal Health, Public Health, Rowing, Hiking, Marksmanship, Pioneering, Signaling, Safety, Pathfinding, Physical Development are part of the subjects to be learned while in camp. These subjects are good training for the Scout and in an emergency of any kind the boys who have gained a knowledge of the above mentioned subjects are of vital importance to the entire community.

The Camping Program includes adventure and recreation as well as work. There will be camp-fire programs, archery contests, baseball games, watermelon feasts, swimming contests, time for fishing, leathercraft, metalcraft, woodcarving and Indianlore contests, adventure hikes and songfests. A Boy Scout Camp is a school of manhood and citizenship—a builder of physical, mental and moral strength.

What You Want—When You Want It

GEORGE W ROLLINS—

"I shall put forth every effort in my power to see that the people of this district get a fair deal. I believe that the gasoline rationing for the State of Texas is out of harmony with the policy that should fit in our program, but if it should become necessary that we make it a war effort, then surely we would all be for the gasoline rationing; otherwise, I would say that we are not in a position to say that we should oppose the gasoline rationing for Texas.

"Fully realizing that all of our storage capacity is full of gasoline, then we could not say that it would be a good thing for the people of Texas to incur any further waste or curtailment of the use of one of our very important natural resources. It shall be my purpose to work for the masses of the people, and not for any special clique or any combination of such. Realizing that I am just one of the citizens of the District, and a working man at that, and the further fact that the District is composed of working men, I realize at this time that we should put forth every effort to hold what we have rather than put on some new program that will cost us untold money.

"The truck situation of our District, as we all know, is one of our essential movement at this time. Therefore, I think that we should have a flexible clause in our general rule whereby we will be permitted to move our present crop. I shall put forth my best effort in securing a rule or a concession from the rule to take care of this emergency, and any other emergency that may arise from time to time, as we are confronted with some of the most radical changes from day to day that we hardly know one day what to do to take care of the next. But we feel that we are just another group of people so handicapped along with the rest of the nation that we must try to make our efforts count for our good and then for the good of the nation as a whole."

GEORGE W. ROLLINS.
 Candidate for State Representative.

MELBA THEATRE NEWS

"THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER"

Imagine Bette Davis, Ann Sheridan, four penguins, the only bearded star in Hollywood, a mummy case, the biggest nose in movies, an octopus and a giant tree piled high with Christmas gifts and you'll have an idea of the goings on in the picture called "The Man Who Came to Dinner," which ran as a play for two years on Broadway and the road. The Warner Bros. film version shows at the Melba Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, June 22, 23, 24.

Monty Woolley, of the New York production, is the bearded star, and it is he who creates the havoc in a perfectly blissful family when, invited to dinner, he slips on an icy porch and breaks his hip.

Confined to his chair, Monty makes his stay to dinner something to be remembered. For one thing, it lasts four weeks, but it also involves sending the family upstairs, forbidding them to use their phone while he calls the world over and urges their children to elope and hop freighters Singapore bound. And he fills the house with the strangest people.

Bette Davis says that in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" she is a "pitcher throwing a change of pace." She plays a deadpan, satirical secretary. But this is one picture in which she falls in love, stays in love and actually is alive at the end to get her man and presumably live happily every after.

"Her man" is her own find, Richard Travis, six-two, big and blond. She saw him in a service-short and couldn't help crying, "That's for me!"

WAR GARDEN INSECT SERIES—No. 1

Every Garden Plant Has Its Insect Enemies

The gardening beginner is inclined to pass up the first few bugs he sees as of no importance—and this is the worst possible mistake. The single bug in the spring can produce a bushel basket full of fall, so fall upon him with all your forces. Run him down with sprays and dusts and poison as the type of insect may indicate. Don't let the spring crop escape or you may lose much of the value of your garden.

In this series, we will tell you about many of the more common insects but remember, in general, that there are two ways to control them: By a contact spray that poisons them from the outside when it hits them—for example, Black Leaf 40 is so used—or by a stomach poison which the insects eat and which kills by its internal effects. In the latter case, lead arsenate is the standby. Sucking insects cannot be poisoned by internal treatment and some of our most destructive pests, such as aphids, are suckers.

Catch Them Young and Treat Them Rough

Remember that many egg-laying insects hatch out as a worm and often they are easiest killed in this stage. For example, while the grown asparagus beetle can be killed by covering the grown plants with a spray made of a pound of lead arsenate, one pound of soap and fifteen gallons of water, yet this spray is dangerous to humans when sprayed on the tips that are to be eaten, and so the tiny worms should be attacked as fast as they hatch by also spraying the edible tips with Black Leaf 40, using a teaspoonful in a quart of soapy water. One or the other will get him.

In spraying either with a contact spray or with a stomach poison spray, we hear much about adding soap to the mixture. There is a definite scientific reason for this.

It is self-evident that in spraying either type of poison, a complete coverage is desirable. There should be tiny particles of lead arsenate, for example, on every part of the plant so that no matter where the pest eats, it will be poisoned. Sprays spread more thoroughly than plain water, and distribute the spray material more evenly than can possibly be done if the soap is omitted. Remember, then, when spraying your garden, add enough soap to make suds.

CHEWERS AND SUCKERS

APHID—A TYPICAL SUCKER Killed by Black Leaf 40
 CABBAGE WORM—A TYPICAL CHEWER Killed by Lead Arsenate

Leafhoppers cause serious damage by what is called hopperburn or tip burn. This happens on beets, rhubarb, potatoes and many such plants. In the early stages, the leafhopper is in a wingless "nymph" stage and spraying or dusting with Black Leaf 40 will kill it. After the leafhoppers are grown, they fly readily and can not be handled effectively by poisons. Bordeaux mixture is also a control for leafhopper if used early.

The same general principles apply to flower gardens that apply to vegetables. The insects lay eggs that in most cases hatch into worms, and the sooner action is taken with a spray gun, the less the loss.

Although the aphid grows in a different manner, not passing through the worm stage, the same general principles of early spraying apply.

BECAUSE he hates to appear sentimental he probably says, "Forget it!"—when you ask him what he wants! BUT HE CAN'T FOOL US! FIGHTING INFLATION

Any sacrifice we have to make to win this war is cheaper than losing it. The war against inflation is an important part of the war against the Axis. To wage a successful war against inflation, we must all understand what it is and how to fight it. The following tells how:

1. What is inflation?
It is a run-away price—higher prices for almost everything we buy and for most things we sell. Inflation has come with every big war this country has fought and a long and painful depression has followed each.

2. What causes inflation?
Taken as a whole, the people of the U. S. will make more money in 1942 than ever before, but there will be less consumer goods to buy with the increased earnings. The reason is that our factories have turned from making goods we normally buy to manufacturing articles for the armed forces. Bidding for scarce goods means higher prices. Because of higher living costs, wages go up. Because wages go up, the cost of goods must go still higher. Once started, this spiral of inflation goes upward faster and faster.

3. Are we moving toward inflation?
Since the outbreak of the war, the cost of living has started climbing much as it did during the last war. A study of price increases from month to month shows that this upward movement has been picking up speed. Think how your own cost of living has gone up.

4. Are farmers interested in higher prices?
Farmers are more interested in parity prices, or fair exchange value for their produce, than in high prices. Incomes do not quite catch up with living costs. We handle more money but it will buy less and less of the things our families need.

5. What is bad about inflation?
Inflation slows down our war effort and doubles its cost. The enemy would rejoice to know that the U. S. has gone on a wild inflationary drunk.

6. One of the worst things about inflation is the let-down following it. Most farmers remember after the last war trying to pay for high priced land, machinery and supplies with low priced cotton, wheat and beef. Inflation raises taxes which are slow to shring during the depression.

All groups do not share equally in increased incomes but all must pay the inflated prices if they buy. Some can't buy much.

going to fight inflation?
Congress and the President have taken action to prevent a further rise in the cost of living by placing ceiling prices—now in effect—on almost everything we buy. For most items this ceiling price can be no higher than the highest price charged for such items in each store during March of 1942. Prices may be lower and will still vary from store to store.

Other steps being taken are increased taxes on individual and corporation incomes and the stabilization of industrial wages and the prices of farm products. Other points in the government's fight against inflation are given in the summary above. Remember, every individual has a part in this war. Do your part to win. Fight inflation.

If you would like to study inflation more thoroughly, ask your County Agricultural Agent or Home Demonstration Agent for "Inflation Comes Back to the Farm."

TOMATOES—THE VICTORY FOOD SPECIAL

The season's first heavy supply of tomatoes is being featured in all local stores this week—a Victory Food Special, John A. Wright, county agent, announced this week.

Tomatoes now found in local stores are being shipped in from Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia and South Carolina farms and represent one of the finest crops grown in recent years.

"Local merchants are cooperating with the Agricultural Marketing Administration and their trade associations in promoting Victory Food Specials. Because farmers are on an "all-out" war basis, they are producing more food than they ever grew before. Due to super-abundant harvests, or other factors, unusually large supplies become available. These foods must be marketed promptly or be wasted, and in this time of national emergency no food should go to waste. Therefore, such foods are designed as Victory Food Specials, and local homemakers are urged to do their bit in seeing that the food is used to help build a stronger America.

Buy—eat—and serve more tomatoes while local stores are featuring this important vegetable," Mr. Wright said.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Peebles, two sons and Mrs. H. H. Seawell and son, all of Lexington, have visited in the W. M. Johnston home and the Weaver Lodge in Big Valley this week. Mr. Peebles made a business trip to Gorman Tuesday.

Sugar Conservation Table

(Clip and save)

The following table gives the sweetening of syrup, honey and maple sugar, as compared with white sugar:

Maple Syrup	1 cup
Maple Sugar	1 cup
Honey	1 cup
Sorghum	1 1/2 cups
Cane Sugar	1 1/2 cups
Corn Syrup	2 cups

Best rules to follow in shifting recipes from refined white sugar to other sweeteners are:

Cakes and Cookies

Honey: Replace sugar with honey, cup for cup, but use one-half the quantity of other liquid called for. That is, if the original recipe called for 1 cup sugar and 1 cup milk, use 1/2 cup honey and 1/2 cup milk. Other ingredients remain the same.

Corn, Cane or Maple Syrups: Replace sugar with syrup, measure or measure and reduce liquid only one-third. Cookies made with corn and cane syrup are not as sweet as sugar cookies.

Sorghum Syrup: Follow the same rule as with the other syrups, but reduce the baking powder called for in the original recipe. Use 1/2 teaspoon of soda for every cup of sorghum. The quantity of soda and sorghum has leavening power equal to 2 teaspoons of baking powder.

News dispatches from College Station last Saturday night said more than 20 students of the college had been suspended or expelled since June 1 for violation of the state anti-hazing law. Names of those involved were not made public, but ten students were expelled and more than a dozen were suspended, after investigations by the discipline committee which is made up of deans of the school. ### Army Addenda

THE "JEEP" GOES TO SEA

Effect of the army's new streamlined organization has been realized, the War Department has announced, when within five minutes after Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of the service of supply, directed the purchase of an undisclosed but large number of amphibian trucks, Brig. Gen. J. L. Frink, director of motor transport, placed by long distance telephone an order with motor manufacturers to put this new motor transport vehicle on the assembly line.

The amphibian, built upon the standard chassis of the quarter ton vehicle popularly known as the "Jeep" is more fabulous in its performance than its land counterpart. It does everything the "Jeep" does on land and can duplicate it in water. It will go through swamps, jungle undergrowth, or ride the ocean waves with the same ease that it travels upon land.

Simultaneously with the War Department announcement that the Army will be prepared to transport soldiers in motor trucks in water as fast as 10 and up to 60 miles an hour on land, a preview of motion pictures of successful tests of this new vehicle was shown to Washington newsmen at the Motor Transport headquarters in the Municipal Center Building.

The Services of supply new requirement speed record established between the time General Somervell gave the go ahead signal and General Frink placed his factory order by long distance telephone revealed that Motor Transport had been working since the spring of 1941 on the development of this land water truck. All engineering problems had been solved in months of secret tests supervised by Col. E. S. Van Deusen, director of Motor Transport engineering.

When military characteristics were set up in June, 1940, for the quarter ton 4 x 4 truck, which subsequently became known as the "Jeep," the Army recommended that it have amphibious qualities if practical. Hundreds of patents on amphibious vehicles were found but none were satisfactory and none covered the four wheel drive characteristics of the "Jeep."

In co-operation with a nationally known firm of Naval architects, P. C. Putnam, technical aide of the National Defense Research Committee, conducted tank tests on various hull forms that could be applied to the quarter-ton chassis. This was generally known as the "Jeep in the bathtub stage." When the research disclosed that the hull could be attached to the standard chassis, it was then seen that assembly line production was possible.

The quarter-ton amphibian is the first of this type of motor vehicle to go into mass production.

"ARMY WAR SHOW" TO PRESENT VIVID PICTURE

With planes zooming, bombs bursting, the sharp crack of anti-aircraft guns and the rattle of rifle and machine gun fire, a vivid picture of modern warfare will be given by an "Army War Show" which will tour 14 major cities for the benefit of the Army Emergency Relief, the War Department has announced.

Organized along the lines of an Army Task Force, the show will have close to 1,200 officers and enlisted men participating under command of Colonel W. T. Bals, General Staff Corps. It will open in Baltimore.

The show is designed not only to give a picture of warfare, but also to show how a soldier is trained from the time he is inducted into the service until he is ready for combat—how he is fed and clothed and the kind of equipment with which he is supplied.

With the show will be exhibits from every branch of the service ranging from the flame-throwers of the Chemical Warfare Service to the replica of a new chapel and necessary equipment for services of the Chaplains Corps.

There will be field kitchens, with soldier cooks and helpers demonstrating how meals are prepared in the field of action, ambulances and a special exhibit by the Medical Corps. Rifles, machine guns, cannons, and repair units will be exhibited by the Ordnance Department. Demonstrations will be staged by the Signal Corps with a heavy truck digging post holes while soldiers put up posts and string wire. "Walkie-talkie" radio sets and other equipment of the Signal Corps will also be shown.

A typical motorized Tank Force will participate in the "battle," with tanks, jeeps and other equipment participating. Electrically controlled bomb bursts will lend realism to this battle while "enemy" planes roar as anti-aircraft batteries with guns and searchlights attempt to repel them. Grim realities of warfare will be displayed with a Japanese airplane brought down at Pearl Harbor and a German Messerschmitt shot down over London as features of the display.

ARMY FORBIDS SOLDIERS WRITING TO STRANGERS

The War Department does not approve correspondence between soldiers and civilians unknown to them, it announces. Under no circumstances will any plan to promote or encourage such correspondence be approved. However kindly the motive behind them may be, the Department believes that such plans are liable to be abused by unscrupulous persons.

"FIDDLESTICK" GAUSE TESTS ARMY TIRES

The "fiddlestick" is a new gadget designed by an Army Quartermaster Corps officer in the interest of tire conservation, the War Department has been informed.

The "fiddlestick" contains an air pressure gauge so mounted that an officer can quickly check the pressure of tires as he passes down a line of army trucks undergoing inspection.

The "fiddlestick" is about 18 inches long. It is carried like a swagger stick or riding crop.

Mrs. G. D. Byrd Called By Death

Mrs. G. D. Byrd was called by death Saturday evening about 8 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Tom Watson, at Bertram. Her health had been failing for several years, and for the past six or eight weeks she had been visiting with her daughters, Mrs. Ben Watson and Mrs. Tom Watson. Her health got worse about a month ago while at the home of Mrs. Tom Watson, and she had been confined to her bed ever since.

All that loving hands and medical skill could do was done but to no avail.

Mrs. G. D. Byrd before her marriage was Tecca Elliott Wilds. She was born April 9, 1873, in Burnam County, N. C., and died June 20, 1942, making her 69 years, 2 months and 11 days old. She was married to Lewis Sprinkles about 1888. To this union two daughters were born: Mrs. Tom Watson and Mrs. Ben Watson of Bertram. Mr. Sprinkles died about 1894.

Later she was married to Geo. D. Byrd of Yancey County, N. C. To this union two sons were born, both having died in infancy. She was converted and baptized into the Missionary Baptist Church when she was about 10 years of age. She always loved going to church until her health became so bad that she could not attend any longer.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrd came to Texas a while after they were married and lived near Lampasas and San Saba for several years. Then they moved to Mills County, where they have made their home ever since. They have many friends who regret to learn of Mrs. Byrd's death.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. Sinas of Center City, where she attended church. She was laid to rest in the High Valley Cemetery.

She leaves to mourn her death her heart-broken husband, G. D. Byrd of Goldthwaite, and two daughters of Bertram; 14 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. Pallbearers were six grandsons, George, Carl, Beidal, Floyd and Elmo Watson of Bertram, and Vernon Watson of Houston.

FISHING LICENSE SALES INCREASE

During the first 10 days of June fishing license sales showed a gain of approximately 5 per cent over those during the same period last year, William J. Tucker, executive secretary of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, said, indicating that at least so far Texans are going fishin', war or no war.

The war as a matter of fact has increased the desire of the outdoors-loving public to get a little relief from the high tension necessarily brought on by war-time conditions, according to reports from Game Wardens over the state. Many soldiers stationed in Texas find excellent recreation during their off hours at the old fishin' hole. And since fishing generally has been good to date it seems that Johnny Bass and Red (Earned) Bream have been trying their best to make the future fighters happy.

Factors other than the desire for recreation have contributed to the increase in fishing, however. Officials pointed out that in Texas this year there is much more fishing water available to the public, the most conspicuous example being the pride of Northwest Texas, huge Possum-Kingdom Lake located in Palo Pinto, Young and Stephens Counties. Further, many good-sized farm and ranch ponds have recently been completed over the state and stocked with fish, principally by the Game Department, and these ponds today support a sufficient population to justify removal of a considerable number of fish. Most of them are rewarding the anglers handsomely, Wardens report.

Another factor luring anglers to the cool waters is the fact that some chains of lakes, such as the Lower Colorado River Valley's system of Buchanan, Luks, Marshall Ford, and Tom Miller Lakes, are just now coming into their prime, so far as fishing is concerned. They have been scientifically stocked for several years under the direction of the Game Department's Chief Aquatic Biologist, and the results are today more than pleasing to the angler.

"Fishing won't win the war," the Executive Secretary said, "but it will keep our minds and bodies healthy and clean, and more fit for the hard jobs that are still ahead."

RECORD FISH FIGHT

A. F. Pierce is a landlubber from the South Plains of Texas, where the redwing blackbird in swift flight cuts the blue horizon with bullet points of crimson wing shoulders.

But he also probably holds a record for playing a big salt water fish longer than any man who ever cast tackle into the Gulf of Mexico, according to the Harlingen Valley Star.

Using a light rod and line, he hooked the large fish at 7:30 in the morning and skillfully played him until shortly before midnight, when his line finally snapped. He didn't have a fish to show for his 16-hour battle, but he did have a record—and what a record!

He lives in Lubbock. There are few dramatic battles in Nature that veteran Game Warden John Hearn has never seen, but he had never seen, and for long had wanted to see, a blue snake tackle a rattler. Last week it happened, reports the Cotulla Record. Hearn came upon the scene to find the blue snake had wrapped itself around the rattler and had broken its neck. The blue snake was in the act of swallowing the rattler when it was disturbed and took to cover.

PARADISE OF BUREAUCRACY
By GEORGE C. HESTER

One of the most discouraging features of the war effort is the failure of the government to put its own machinery on an all-out war footing.

Two years ago there were less than one million civilian employees in the Federal service.

Back in World War No. 1, the Federal employees never reached a total of one million.

The fact is that manpower is being wasted. Much of this is man power that is sorely needed in some productive war effort.

The government, for example, and with no little effort, has set up agencies for the purpose of giving out factual information to the public.

Finally, in 1942, alongside the other two agencies, came the Office of Facts and Figures, the purpose of which was to disseminate factual information to citizens of the country.

Meanwhile, these three agencies, all engaged in the same work, have built up a bureaucratic mountain of 30,000 employees.

The whole situation became so ridiculous that finally the President ordered the three agencies to be merged under the direction of Elmer Davis.

It is generally conceded that the waste of effort and lost motion feature nearly every great agency and department in Washington.

Salted away in bureau jobs at from $4,000 to $7,000 per year, are thousands of fanglazed lawyers, professors, etc., posing as experts, technicians, research and information specialists.

Sometime and somehow, payday is coming to this country. Every piece of superfluous and cumbersome bureaucracy being built under pretext of the emergency only serve to retard the war effort now and make the return to democracy more difficult in the future.

TRAINS CAN'T DODGE AUTOMOBILES

Accidents at highway-railroad grade crossings are unnecessarily delaying the movement of war and other materials, as well as troops and passengers.

An average of 38 trains a day, or 1,137 trains a month, the study discloses, are delayed a total of 22 hours a day or 660 hours a month, by crossing accidents.

since 1930, and 4,885 were injured.

During the seven-year period, 1934-40, the railroads eliminated more than 13,000 grade crossings.

The grade-crossing problem is up to the motoring public. The train can't leave its track. It can't stop in a few feet as can a properly-driven car.

The U. S. flag was first hoisted over Wake Island July 4, 1898, by Gen. F. V. Greene.

State Department Health Notes

In a vigorous war time campaign to elevate the state health level by preventing the spread of communicable diseases which might be transmitted by foods, the State Department of Health is conducting training schools for food handlers in many sections of Texas.

"Food handlers are being instructed in sanitary methods of preparing, handling, and serving food for public consumption," Dr. Cox said.

The prophet answers that claim by pointing out that those who favor the use of alcohol are the ones who call evil good and good evil, etc. A little study of liquor propaganda as it appears in the advertising of the industry soon demonstrates that fact.

IV. They Say, "Strong Men and Leaders Are Drinkers" (Isa. 5:22). Sadly enough, many of our leading men do indulge in liquor, but if the truth were out, it would be known that they are less capable as leaders and weaker men for their use of it.

Special attention has been paid to requests for schools in defense areas, and classes have already been held in Mineral Wells, Anahuac, Liberty, Victoria, El Campo, Wharton, Bay City, Brownsville, Harlingen, Corpus Christi, Midland, Odessa, Gainesville, Georgetown, and Taylor.

COLLEGE YOUTH WANTED FOR NAVY'S V-7 PROGRAM

Most people are familiar with the Navy's V-1 program, which was inaugurated to allow college men to continue in school and for transfer to V-5 and V-7. The V-1 program will not begin to produce college graduates until February, 1944; therefore, the enlistment of ten thousand V-7 men is now authorized.

While nobody knows just exactly how much Fourth of July holiday traffic there will be, everybody agrees that much of it will be vital to the war program—defense workers, movement of war materials, etc.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for June 28

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

ALCOHOL FACTS VERSUS DRINKING PROPAGANDA

LESSON TEXT—Proverbs 21:17; 23:32; Isaiah 5:20-23; Hosea 4:11; Joel 3:2; Ephesians 5:18.

GOLDEN TEXT—If sinners entice thee, consent thou not.—Proverbs 1:16.

The facts are on the side of the one who opposes the liquor traffic, and they are so plentiful and so devastating that the industry does not care to face them.

Our lesson suggests several points in the liquor propaganda, each of which we can prove to be untrue.

I. They Say, "Enjoy Life, That's What We Are Here For" (Prov. 21:17).

Consider the ads of the liquor trade. They carry the beautiful lady, the brilliant young man, the socially correct surroundings, riches, ease, etc. They suggest that even the grandmother in the home approves the use of intoxicants to bring comfort and pleasure to the breadwinner in the home.

What is the truth? Man is not here for pleasure; he is here to serve God. History demonstrates that the nation that lives for pleasure, especially in connection with the use of intoxicants, is doomed to extinction.

II. They Say, "Liquor Is Not Dangerous" (Prov. 23:32).

It is presented as a pleasant and harmless stimulant, when in fact it is known to science, to police and social welfare workers as a narcotic which not only upsets digestion and deranges physical processes but, most vicious of all, "affects personality by its action upon the certain specific brain areas."

III. They Say, "Those Who Oppose Liquor Are Fanatics" (Isa. 5:20, 21, 23).

The prophet answers that claim by pointing out that those who favor the use of alcohol are the ones who call evil good and good evil, etc. A little study of liquor propaganda as it appears in the advertising of the industry soon demonstrates that fact.

IV. They Say, "Strong Men and Leaders Are Drinkers" (Isa. 5:22). Sadly enough, many of our leading men do indulge in liquor, but if the truth were out, it would be known that they are less capable as leaders and weaker men for their use of it.

V. They Say, "The Pleasure Is Worth the Price" (Hosea 4:11; Joel 3:2, 3).

The wicked ones who captured Israel felt they made a good trade when they gave a boy for a harlot, or exchanged a girl for wine. The modern system of making merchandise of boys and girls is not as openly crass as that, but when you open the cost of alcohol to our land, be sure to add in the girls who have gone into iniquity by the way of tavern hostesses and the boys who have lost everything sacred because of "booze."

Remember too that the beer makers are deliberately using this war to cultivate a taste for beer in millions of young men—their future customers—and we are letting them get away with it, right in the army camps.

VI. They Say, "Drinking and Religion Go Well Together" (Eph. 5:18).

The contrast of Paul gives that claim the direct brand of falsehood. Being drunk with wine is the exact opposite of spirituality.

Liquor interests know that if church members can be led to believe that wine at dinner, beer as a soft drink—and an occasional social cocktail—is not incompatible with religious life, they will have effectually shut the mouth of the opposition they fear the most—the church.

Let pastors and church boards deal plainly and drastically with drinking church members, and the church will profit spiritually, and again become an effective means of stemming the tide of social iniquity which is engulfing our nation.

BABSON DISCUSSES REAL ESTATE TRENDS

By ROGER W. BABSON

Washington, D. C., June 26.—There seems to be as much misunderstanding about inflation as there is about rubber and gasoline. Even the Washington Bureaus appear to issue contradictory statements.

Will We Have Inflation?

We most certainly will have inflation. If it doesn't come during the war, it will come after the war. Inflation is like a stream of water, you can't dam it up forever.

All this talk about inflation is, however, accomplishing some real good of lasting importance. During World War I the administration at Washington was friendly to business.

There are various kinds of inflation—money inflation, credit inflation, commodity inflation, etc. Most of these forms are gradual and do not make or break people.

When people lose confidence in the dollar and look about for real things, they all turn first to good furniture, wearing apparel, new autos, books, rugs, etc.

What Will Benefit From Inflation?

The middle-class group will put their money into good real estate. If you do not own a home, you had better buy one. If you own a home with a mortgage, you should pay off that mortgage.

Real Estate Situation Today In the war districts there is very little vacant property; it must be less than 1 per cent.

(1) Business Property.—Now is the time to sell occupied city business property and the time to buy vacant suburban business property.

(2) Office Buildings.—Most office buildings have been built in crowded sections. Hence they should benefit during the remainder of the war.

(3) Single Family Residences.—Houses within walking distance of buses and railroad stations should hold up in value, but the sub-divisions, dependent on automobiles, should suffer during the remainder of the war.

(4) Apartment Houses.—These are mostly 100 per cent occupied at the present time. No new apartment houses are being built and the demand is gradu-

The fact that many people may stay closer to home this Fourth of July doesn't mean that they won't have accidents—by drownings, falls, firearms, etc. They also, as usual, will over-exercise and over-expose themselves to the sun. E. F. SMITH
 CHIEF JUSTICE, Austin
 Court of Civil Appeals

(A political ad paid for by friends of E. F. Smith)

SMITH TELLS OF WORK OF APPELLATE COURT

AUSTIN, June 19.—In a radio talk here last night, E. F. Smith, Austin attorney, a former first assistant attorney general of Texas and a candidate for Chief Justice, Austin Court of Civil Appeals, discussed the nature and the importance of the work of a Court of Civil Appeals judge. He referred to his record as an assistant to Attorney General C. M. Cureton, as first assistant to Attorney General W. A. Keelin, and to his 18 years' experience in the private practice of law in Austin.

Judge Smith pointed out that for the past many years much of his law practice came from other lawyers who employed him to assist them with their important cases in the appellate courts of the state and the nation. He referred to the fact that "a national publication for lawyers similar to that of Dunn & Bradstreet for business men now gives and for years has given E. F. Smith the highest rating attainable by any lawyer for character, legal ability and promptness in the payment of his debts."

Judge Smith declared that a change in the Court of Civil Appeals was necessary because the Court is far behind with its work due to the fact that "the present Chief Justice has not done a fair and a reasonable amount of judicial work. The present Chief Justice wrote only seven opinions in 1941, originally disposing of cases. These opinions cost the taxpayers more than a thousand dollars each! If in any calendar year E. F. Smith fails to write at least four times as many opinions as the present Chief Justice wrote in 1941, he will, in the public interest, resign the office."

The average number of opinions written by a Court of Civil Appeals judge, Mr. Smith stated, is more than 38 a year.

Beauty and Brains Leads Campaign for Soldier Candidate

This is not just a campaign smile that Mrs. Vernon Lemens of Waxahachie has on her face as she sits behind the campaign manager's desk of her soldier husband working for votes to elect him lieutenant governor of Texas. Proof is that she was selected "Smile Girl" in a national photographic contest before she married into politics. These radiant features helped her selection as a "Cactus Beauty" during her student days at the University of Texas. And her beauty is more than skin deep. Along with that beauty prize she won the highest scholarship prize. She was also Phi Beta Kappa at the University. These prizes and more she won while earning her way as she was learning her way through the University. For further discouragement to opponents it may be said she is a veteran political campaigner now. Working with her husband she has won three previous legislative campaigns.

Her greatest joys are her two sons, age 6 and 3, but she leaves routine house chores to a nursemaid and keeps her place as political partner to her husband. So it was logical for her to carry on the race for lieutenant governor when the senator was called from reserve officer status into active army duty in April. He is stationed at Camp Hood near Austin and under Army rules governing public officials will be eligible for leave during the legislative session.

O. C. FISHER—THE MAN WITH A RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT

(From Kerrville Mountain Sun, June 18, 1942)

Looking for a man who is "one of them," who knows first-hand the problems of West Texas and at the same time has a grasp of the needs of the total war of today and the leadership this nation must not relinquish in the peace of tomorrow, the people of the 21st Congressional District have at their call O. C. Fisher.

Who O. C. Fisher is and why he fills the bill of Southwest Texas' Representative in Congress, recounted from the facts of his heritage, his birth, his life, his career, give the answer to the challenge before the voters in the July Democratic primary.

Meteoritic though the career of this ranchman, lawyer, prosecutor, law-maker has been, it nonetheless is based on solid foundations. His personality and his record both explain why those who know O. C. Fisher expect him to "get the job done" when he assumes a responsibility.

It isn't commonplace for the people to elect a man to office by three-to-one majorities nor for a law prosecutor to obtain 98 per cent convictions in all cases tried in a high-population district with only two reversals in six years. Nor does it happen every day that 90 per cent of all the grand jurors a district attorney works with present him with a scroll of respect and confidence.

Who is O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, Texas?

One of 10 children, O. C. Fisher was born November 22, 1903, at the Fisher homestead on Red Creek in the shioak hills of Kimble County—a few miles from the ranch home of a Texas leader from the Hill Country, Governor Coke R. Stevenson.

His father is Jobe Fisher, one of the last survivors of the ranks of the pioneer cowboys who went up the Chism Trail. His mother was Rhoda Clark, a descendant of the Berrys, several of whom distinguished themselves in Texas' successful but trying fight for independence from Mexico.

Hardships weren't strange to O. C. Fisher's parents, just as they were commonplace to his determined forebears. Nor did he, himself, fail to meet hardships and rise above them to accomplishment.

Fisher himself never had to face the frontier attacks of Indians, as did his great grandfather, James Bradbury, who was killed and scalped by the Comanches in the Bradbury Hills of Kimble County in 1872 while leading a posse of settlers after a band of marauders who had slain a cedar-cutter, James Sewell, on Bear Creek.

But he didn't have life laid before him on a silver platter. As a youth, Fisher boarded out and went through Junction high school, partly supporting himself by acting as janitor at the Junction State Bank, serving as an errand boy and doing odd jobs.

Reared on a stock-farm, understanding the issues of farming and ranching, Fisher helped finance his college training by selling a "Farmer's Short Course in Livestock," a manual of practical money-saving ideas. His sales record won him a special award.

In public office, Fisher has had repeated expressions of public confidence. One year out of Baylor Law School, the new San Angelo lawyer was elected Tom Green County Attorney by a vote of nearly 3 to 1. After two terms as county prosecutor, the people went to Austin as state representative; he won the six-county race by an overwhelming vote.

As district attorney, he has represented the people in many cases. In two of West Texas' most horrible multiple murder cases, the Benavidez and Salazar cases, the law, under Fisher's prosecution, took its course. Juries gave death as the verdicts.

Versatile in his interests and

BOONE WILL OPEN RAIL CAMPAIGN IN AMARILLO

Dallas, June 25. — Lester Boone, candidate for the regular term of the Texas Railroad Commission, will open his campaign Saturday night in the home town of his two opponents for the place, Amarillo. Boone opposes Ernest O. Thompson and Baker Salisbury, both of Amarillo, for the place on the Railroad Commission. Boone is from Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Langlitz had as Sunday visitors some of their children and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Landrum and Harold and Mr. Landrum's mother, Mrs. Jim Landrum, of Abilene. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ward Carol, Colburn and Oden of Goldthwaite, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Langlitz, Miss Nannie Allman, and Mr. and Mrs. John Bishop of Eastland.

talents, Fisher is the author of a book, "It Occurred in Kimble," a history of the pioneer era in the Hill Country, which drew favorable comment from literary and historical reviewers.

An eloquent speaker, Fisher has been in demand for public addresses. His talk to an individual or to a crowd is that which "says something." Facts, rightly emphasized, properly supported, are what the public—as well as juries—want, Fisher explains.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher have one child, a daughter, Rhoda, a pupil in San Angelo Junior High School.

The results of the 1942 primaries are yet to be decided. Your guess is as good as mine. I am sure you have formed the habit of voting for one or the other of my opponents, as you will notice their names have been on the ticket for the past ten years.

This is the first time I have asked for a public office, and I will appreciate your vote. I feel sure that my ten years' business experience qualifies me to represent this district.

A change won't hurt.
