Eagles Have Hardest Game Here Tonight

Meeting Of Mills County Teachers Held Here Last Monday Night

The first meeting of Mills County Teachers for 1948-1949 was held at Goldthwaite on Monday, October 11, 1948, beginning at 7:30 p. m. At that time a delicious dinner consisting of fried chicken with all the "fixins" with coconut pie and ice cream for dessert was served in the Luncheon room of the Goldthwaite School. Supt. LeRoy Beard of Star called upon C. F. Lawson for the invocation.

After partaking of this delightful repast, the group went to the auditorium of the Goldthwaite School for the formal part of the meeting. Supt. Beard, president of the Mills County unit of the Texas State Teachers Association during 1947-1948, called the meeting to order and asked County Judge John L. Patterson to take charge of the program. Judge Patterson then introduced Dean R. E. Mendenhall of Daniel Baker College, Mrs. Mendenhall, John L. Beard, Director of Equalization, Texas State Department of Education, C. T. Wilson, Publisher of The Goldthwaite Eagle, and Mrs. C. T. Wilson. Supt. Beard then introduced the Star teachers present. Supt. T. M. Cash of Priddy introduced the members of the Priddy faculty who were present. Supt. W. B. Williams of Mullin presented teachers of his school who attended this meeting, and Supt. H. E. Patton introduced the Goldthwaite group.

Then John L. Beard addressed the group. He expressed pleasure at being able to be present and discussed the work of the Equalization (State Aid) Division of the State Department of Education. He made several suggestions for the improvement of the present equalization law. Among these recommendations were an annual increase in salary of approximately $400 per teacher and the use of average daily attendance rather than scholastic enumeration as the basis for figuring the teacher-pupil ratio.

Dean Mendenhall was then presented to the group. He spoke on "A Buck Private in the Educational Army." This address was interesting and showed a keen insight into the everyday problems of a classroom teacher.

At the close of this address, Judge Patterson turned the meeting over to Supt. Beard for a business session. Supt. H. E. Patton was elected president of the Mills County unit of the Texas State Teachers Association for the current year, and Principal J. N. Faith of Goldthwaite was selected as Secretary-Treasurer. Supt. T. M. Cash of Priddy and LeRoy Beard of Star were named as delegates to attend the convention of the Mid-Texas State Teachers Association.

Upon the invitation of Supt. Williams the group voted to hold the next meeting at Mullin sometime in January. The exact time of this meeting is to be set by Mr. Williams who is to have a notice of this meeting published in The Goldthwaite Eagle.

Mr. Patton spoke briefly, urging all teachers to join the State Teachers Association. Each of the four superintendents of Mills County schools reported all teachers of his school were already members of the state organization. The County Superintendent was instructed to notify B. B. Cobb, Secretary of the State Teachers Association, of the fact that all Mills County Schools have 100 per cent of their teachers members of the State Teachers Association.

Junior Chamber Of Commerce In Business Meeting Tuesday Night

The Goldthwaite Junior Chamber of Commerce met in business session at The Hangar Tuesday night, adopted a constitution and by-laws, elected a board of directors to serve for the coming year, and transacted other business. Light refreshments were served to a good crowd of enthusiastic young men.

Jaycee President C. M. Smith called the meeting to order and asked Secretary J. D. Harper to read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved. J. J. Saeger, chairman of the Constitution and By-Laws Committee, read a report prepared by the committee on Constitution and By-Laws for the local Jaycee organization, which was adopted. The local organization is to be affiliated with the state and national Jaycees. The By-Laws call for local dues of $12 per year, with a nine-member Board of Directors composed of the officers, last past-president, and four members to be elected each year. Young men of good character between the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive are eligible to join.

A Board of Directors was elected to serve the first year as follows: Rex Collier, Raymond Summy, Gerald Head, and Bert Brewer.

It was voted to meet at 7:00 p. m. twice monthly, on the second Tuesday and fourth Wednesday in each month, subject to change.

President Smith announced that Charter Presentation Night would be held on the second Tuesday night meeting in November, Nov. 9. He asked the Board of Directors to meet early next week to appoint the necessary committees. Members present paid dues for the first quarter.

The next meeting of the Jaycees will be at The Hangar on the fourth Wednesday of this month, Oct. 27.

LAMPASAS BADGERS COME TONIGHT TO PLAY UNDERWEIGHT EAGLES HERE AT 8 O'CLOCK

The Lampasas Badgers, who have made a habit of beating the Goldthwaite Eagle team for the past four years, come here tonight to try to make it three straight wins. They have beaten the Eagles the last two games played, and are tied with San Saba for first place in District 22-A Conference play this year. They have been beaten only once this season—by the Gatesville team 18 to 0 in non-conference play.

The game tonight will be the hardest hurdle the scrapping Goldthwaite Eagles will have to overcome in conference play. The Eagles will be short two of their mainstays tonight, Robert Johnson and Red Miller, who are in Kansas City competing in the national meat judging contest. Coach Bert Brewer is starting Tom Boyd, 110-pound quarterback, in Johnson's place, and Ralph Massey, 135 pounds, at the right half position; thereby cutting down the Eagle starters by 47 pounds. The Eagle poundage tonight in the start will be 1,612, nearly 147 pound average, while Lampasas Badgers total 1,704 pounds for an average of nearly 155. Lampasas last Friday night at Lampasas pushed and pounded through 1,851 pounds of beef to run over the Fredericksburg Hillbillies by 20 to 0 score.

Probably the largest crowd of football fans ever to be at Eagle Field will see the game tonight. Coach Bert Brewer has predicted an Eagle win—and has been working his boys this week in practice. If the Eagles beat the Badgers tonight they will have the most favored position to win District 22-A honors this season when they play Llano here on November 12, which closes the play.

Following are the season scores for the two teams:

LAMPASAS BADGERS
Lampasas 12; Belton 12.

General Election Ballots Are Now Ready For Absentee Voting

The name of Lyndon B. Johnson appears in the Democratic column as candidate for United States Senator, with Jack Porter in the Republican column and Sam Morris in the Prohibition Party column as opponents.

Governor Beauford H. Jester in the Democratic column has three opponents on the ticket: Alvin H. Lane, Republican; Gerald Overholser, Prohibition; and Herman Wright, Progressive.

Mr. Webster gives the following definition of "mugwump":—"An independent member of the Republican party; formerly, a bolter from that party in 1884."

In modern politics, it seems that Henry Wallace would be classed "A King Bee of the Mugwumps," for two reasons: First, deserting the Republican party for a seat in the Cabinet of Democrats, and second, deserting the Democratic party to head the Progressives.

Yet, the most interesting definition of "Mugwump" comes from a "teenage school boy" in class, defined it as a "bird sittin' on a fence whistlin' with his mug on one side and his wump on the other."

Now, I ain't calculatin' nor jestin' either, but I think some of our Texas politicians would classify under that category. —ROG.

FEAR OR FAITH

By DR. H. H. BUNZELL, Director, The Bunzell Laboratories, N. Y. C.—C. P. S.

The thinking of the average man today is polluted by a sense of insecurity, specifically by fear of the future. Under the spell of an increasing trepidity, his decisions are hesitatingly made from day to day with little vision for future growth.

This partial paralysis of the venturesome spirit so characteristic of the American nation is infectious and is bound to have—in time—its harmful effect on our national progress and our national security. It could easily usher in an "era of fear".

Probably nothing would lead to a general depression more quickly than such an emotional paralysis, such a breakdown in the strength of our morale. Nothing could be more indicative of general national weakness. And certainly it is just what the Communist Fifth-Column, an enemy powerfully entrenched in our midst, would like to bring about.

The Communists have encouraged a state of hopelessness, discouragement, and fear in order to bring about a condition of political and economic indecisiveness, inactivity, and depression. Upon such a condition of chaos a Communist system of government might be constructed.

The lack of faith in the future that is evidenced repeatedly in every walk of life is no minor ill. It is something that could wreck ideals that Americans have fought for and died for; it is something to be rooted out.

Franklin Roosevelt preached that the only thing to fear is fear itself. Thoreau said it before him, and the kernel of the thought goes back some 2,000 years. When Rome was enjoying the glory that preceded destruction, Seneca taught, "Fear kills more than disease", and in the face of barbarian invasion a few centuries later the Christian Lactantius wrote, "Where fear is present, wisdom cannot be".

In the course of ten thousand million years, this world has passed forward from microscopic drops of living matter to the crowning achievement of creation—man. If a celestial observer soaring through the space of time took a look every few million years or so, he could chronicle a steady advancement of the living forms on this earth. He would observe as a pattern of nature a struggle upward, a constant try at better living, as better adaptation to the environment and a survival of the fittest.

With the coming of man, nature advancement took on astonishing speed. For, along with consciousness, man was endowed with an everlasting desire for improvement. This improvement has come through a constant struggle with contending factors, won century after century by man's resourcefulness and fearlessness.

No country's history is so full of epochal demonstrations of the go-to-it, do-or-die spirit that marks man's spiritual and physical advance as is that of the United States. Pioneer settlement, Revolution, Civil, and two World Wars are strong examples of this nation's courage and faith in its ultimate destiny.

We have a glorious background and glorious historical memories, and what we face as a people and a world now is not necessarily blacker than what has been faced and surmounted before.

Our personal destinies are intimately tied up with the future of this country, as is obvious. It is folly to doubt America's future and senseless to doubt our personal futures. We shame our heritage if we quail before present dangers and are blind to present potentialities. This is no time through pusillanimity to sell ourselves short; it is no time to sell our country short.

Personal progress entails a fearless assault on our problems. This is to be attained only through faith in ourselves and in the future of our country.

Life and Law

Lesson for October 17, 1948

YOU, friend reader, probably know less about what is in the books of Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy than any other part of the Bible. These are the sections mostly filled with laws— "Thou shalt not... Thou shalt not... You either skip these entirely or you say to yourself, "Well, that has nothing to do with me." If so, you have been missing one of the most interesting sections of the Bible.

Dr. Foreman

Some of these old laws are dead; but even a mummy can be interesting. Call them dead if you like; you still can learn a great deal about the times and the minds and the customs of those far-off days by reading the laws which governed people's daily lives.

But it is hardly fair to call them dead. Rather, they have been honorably retired. That is to say, they were admirable laws in their time and place, and God's will was learned through them.

The Living Soul of Law

THERE are two ways of looking at any law, or you might say there are two sides of every law, the inside and the outside, the soul and the body as it were. The body, the outside, is the letter of the law; the inside or soul of the law is the spirit or principle of the law.

The body of the law, like the body of a man, lies; it is not intended to live on and on. But the soul of the law (if it has one; some don't) lives forever.

Take, for instance, that law in Lev. 19:9. The body of it, the letter, says: Do not be efficient in getting in your crops. Leave some wheat in the field. Leave some grapes on the vine.

Today that sounds rather stupid, on the face of it, and no good farmer would pay attention to it. But look at the spirit of that law: the wheat and the grapes were to be left for "the poor and the stranger."

There was then no Red Cross, no bureau of displaced persons, no traveler's aid, no family service, no social security, none of our many modern agencies for the underprivileged. Those who had property were bidden to have a care for those who had none.

The duty of society to see that no one starves, the duty of all to help those in need, that is the living soul of this law, and it still breathes in laws of the 20th century—laws of old age assistance, maternity assistance, pension plans and so forth.

The living soul of the Old Testament laws can be expressed this way: The love of justice and the justice of love. The best and wisest laws today are those which give this same spirit its fullest and most practical form.

Jesus' Last Word

THE Jews figured out that there were in all 613 separate commandments in all the laws combined. They used to have interesting debates as to which of all the 613 commandments was the most important.

They came to Jesus with that well-worn question. Jesus quoted only two laws, one from Deut. 6:5 and the other from Lev. 19:18. Love God, love your neighbor, he said. All the other laws depend on these two.

To this day, Christian thinkers are not entirely agreed as to just how far Old Testament laws may be binding on Christians. But all are agreed on two points: The basic principle of these laws is always good, and that fundamental principle is love.

Love Is Not Repealed

THIS is what Christians mean when they say that the laws of God are eternal. We do not mean that every law between the covers of the Bible can and should be used as the law of our land today.

What we do mean is that the spirit of these laws is immortal, for the spirit is love, and love never has been repealed.

Show me a law which helps the strong at the expense of the weak, a law which encourages cheating and selfishness and fighting, and I will show you a bad law. Show me a law which encourages and helps men to deal fairly with one another and to live together in peace, and I will show you a good law. Every law that helps you love your neighbor is a good law; indeed there is something divine about it, for God is Love.

"Intermezzo" is the simple and poignant story of a beautiful young pianist, Anita, who falls in love with Holger, father of the little girl who is her star pupil. Her attraction is heightened because the man is a concert violinist whose talents strongly appeal to her zest for music, especially when he plays his composition, "Intermezzo." Secondly, the picture tells the tragedy of the man's broken home and the consequent battles of conscience that haunt the lovers even in their most joyful moments.

Around these basic plots the picture delineates credible and sympathetic sub-themes. The wife reacts with complete honesty when she sees the situation developing and realizes how powerless she is to prevent it. Equally sincere is the role of the little girl, whose faith in and affection for her erring father remain unwavering. A most moving force is the pianist's ambition to win a music scholarship, which she at first hopes will bring her fame in her own right and which she is later tempted to abandon in favor of her new-found love.

Once the love fires have kindled, Anita (Ingrid Bergman) becomes concert accompanist for Holger (Leslie Howard) and they embark on a triumphal world tour. For months they share the communal joy of creating superb music together and of discovering each other anew amidst the glamour of the fine arts centers of the world.

Circle No. 1 of Woman's Society of Christian Service met Monday in the Wesley Workers class room at the Methodist Church. The Mission Study is on "America's Geographical Frontiers" and the lesson was by Mrs. Talbot Ledbetter of her visit there. She gave an historical background of the island Oahu and gave word pictures of the beauties of Hawaii and Honolulu. Language creates a great barrier there in missionary work and necessitates the conducting of services in four different languages in some places. Buddhism is still very strong in Hawaii and the need for more Missionaries is great.

The Islands are anxious to be admitted to Statehood in the U. S. and Mrs. Hoskinson discussed this in a very able manner.

All women of the church are invited to attend these study classes in either circle of the Society.

Mrs. M. Y. Stokes, Jr., is Missionary Study leader for Circle No. 1 and Mrs. Malcolm Jernigan for Circle No. 2.

Mrs. R. B. Hannah of Donna spent Sunday night with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Linkinogor.

WINTERTIME LAWNS

A green winter lawn brightens the home grounds. It stands out in lush greenness against the bare, brown background of winter. It catches the eye of passers-by, and makes them say, "That family grows green grass in the wintertime."

Italian rye grass makes a good winter lawn for this area. It's easy to grow, and does not injure Bermuda or any of the other summer grasses. It takes up in the fall where the summer grasses leave off, and dies out in the spring when they are ready to start in again.

This grass is well-known among stockmen as a good winter pasture grass, and can be bought from feed stores, seed companies and nurseries.

This is the time of year for the people in North Texas to seed Italian rye—about the middle of September. Around the first of October is the best seeding time for Central Texas, and those further south should wait two weeks or a month later. Seeding rate for this grass is a pound and a half to two pounds for every thousand square feet of lawn area.

It's possible to wait later on into the winter, but there's a risk there. Cold weather slows up seed sprouting, and some of the seed may not come up until next spring. On the other hand, if you plant too early—before the cool season starts—young plants are likely to be killed by the heat. Italian rye thrives in cold weather.

Before sowing this winter grass, mow the lawn grasses to at least an inch and a half. When the Italian rye comes up, mow it just like any other lawn grass. Seed will come up in about three days if moisture conditions are right.

Keep the young plants moist until the roots have a good start in the ground, and water the grass as it begins to grow. Italian rye doesn't make seed until it gets about 18 inches tall, so you'll have to replant it again next year.

Miss Hatfield says another reason why it has to be replanted is because the roots die out every summer.

Anywhere, Any Time—Farm Terms

You Can't Swim the Mississippi with a Million Head of Cattle

The Mississippi River always has been the "continental divide" in the geography of the livestock industry. In the old days the great herds of longhorns trailing north from Texas had many rivers to cross. The Red. The Canadian. The Big Blue. The Platte... but there was never a trail that ended east of the Father of Waters. The Mississippi was, and is, one river you couldn't swim with a million head of cattle.

It's a staggering job to get the nation's meat from producer to consumer. Two-thirds of the meat animals are produced west of the Mississippi... two-thirds of the meat is eaten east of it. On the average, meat has to be transported more than 1,000 miles. It's a big job—a huge job. Just consider: in 1947 alone, this job of getting the nation's meat from the farm and range to the cooking range involved 32,158,000 beef animals, 24,044,000 sheep and lambs, 82,579,000 hogs!

Harvesting any national crop—from wheat to meat—is a big job. Big machines are needed. Who uses binders when combines are more efficient? Similarly, in the processing and nationwide distribution of meat it takes large-scale, efficient "machinery." There's a need for all of us—producers and meat packers; shippers and marketing people; transportation lines; wholesalers and retailers. We all play a part—whether we are individuals or companies, whether we operate locally or on a nationwide basis.

Over the years, we at Swift have worked to perfect our nationwide system of marketing. We, and 26,000 other commercial slaughterers, provide a competitive cash market for your livestock. We buy your animals and dress them. We process and refrigerate them. Then, we distribute the meat to retail store men everywhere. (Our earnings for all these essential services are only a fraction of a cent a pound.) Because this big job is done efficiently, you producers are assured of markets... consumers everywhere are assured of meat. We at Swift & Company are proud of our part in building the "1,000-mile bridge"; the "bridge" which carries meat from the point of surplus production to the point of consumption. So long as all America wants meat it will take efficient nationwide organizations to bridge that 1,000-mile gap.

Tally and Cull "Newcomers" in Breeding Ewe Flocks
 by Clair E. Terrill
 United States Department of Agriculture

As you swing the cut gate, you can increase total salable lamb weight—your margin of profit. For here you can cull ewes that are barren in their first lambing season. You can also cut out those unable to raise singles in their first lambing year. These ewes often get by on their appearance alone. For frequently they are heavier woolled and in better condition than nursing ewes. But they do not always pay their way.

Recent research has proved that subsequent market lamb production from such dry ewes may not justify keeping them in efficient commercial breeding bands. Experiments with Columbia range ewes at the U. S. Sheep Experiment Station, Dubois, Idaho, established this fact. There is a definite relationship between the total weaning weight of lambs produced in the first year and in the three following years of lambing.

All ewes that twinned the first year, regardless of whether the lambs were raised, weaned 19 pounds more lamb weight in the three years of study than ewes that failed to lamb—five pounds more than ewes which did not rear their first single lamb. Ewes that dropped and raised singles had 16 pounds greater annual lamb yield thereafter than ewes which did not lamb. And ewes that did not rear their first lamb later produced 14 pounds more lamb weight yearly than ewes which were barren their first lambing season.

So, to increase efficiency in market lamb production, tally "newcomers" in ewe herds at breeding time. Then mark barren low-producing ewes for culling after the lambing season.

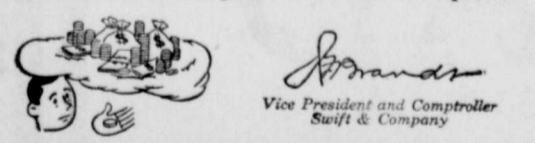

All That Glitters Isn't Profit

Government reports tell of farm and ranch income from livestock that totals more than 17 billion dollars. Many folks read those reports and say—"No wonder meat is so high. Livestock producers must be coining money."

That is a thoughtless comment, based on misunderstanding. That 17 billion dollars is not profit—it is gross income. Many expenses must come out of your gross livestock income before you can make any profit on it. There's the cost of breeding-stock and feeding-stock... of your hired labor... of feed, machinery, equipment. All these costs are at all-time high levels. Out of your gross income also must come property and income taxes, interest; insurance premiums; repairs; new buildings; fences; death losses, etc. After you've paid all those necessary business expenses, you're lucky if you end up with 10 or 15 per cent profit.

A lot of people are just as wrong about Swift's profit as they are about yours. They look at our total sales of 2 1/4 billion dollars last year and say—"That's a barrel of money. No wonder meat is high!" But the fact is that competition in both buying and selling is so keen that from those 2 1/4 billion sales dollars an average of 79c went to pay you for your livestock. 10c for pay to our employees. 6 1/2c for supplies and other necessary business costs. 3c for taxes and transportation. All we had left as earnings was 1 1/2c.

Yes, in our business, as in yours, there's a big difference between gross income and net profit!

More History Of Treasure Hunts In Mills County Told In 'Silver Dreams And Copper Plates'

By MAE FEATHERSTON

(Editor's Note—The following article written by Mae Featherston of Mills County, entitled "Silver Dreams and Copper Plates," was published in 1937 in STRAIGHT TEXAS, a publication of the Texas Folk-Lore Society. Due to interest here now in treasure and mine hunts, The Eagle reprints it with special permission from the author and from the Texas Folk-Lore Society.

Time went on, and the story of the Mexican treasure was almost forgotten. Epley Springs was no longer on a map but was hidden in a tangle of brush in the corner of an isolated field. But in 1932 Dutch Hollenback came to Mills County prospecting for buried treasure. He had a machine which was supposed to locate buried metal to the depth of fifteen or twenty feet. Two men were needed to operate the machine, one to carry the device itself and another to carry the batteries by which it was run. As it was carried along near the ground the machine made a slight buzzing noise, but when it was near metal, it buzzed loudly.

Some local boys became very much interested. They went with Mr. Hollenback on many of his exploring trips and carried the digging implements. One day, while they were walking across an open meadow, the machine set up a loud buzzing. "Here!" said Dutch. "Dig here!"

The boys began to dig furiously, and in a few minutes they unearthed an old broken teakettle.

Mr. Hollenback and Doc, his battery man, prospected over all the hills around Epley and explored many natural rock caves, with which this vicinity abounds. They searched extensively around the Dry Pond, the dry bed of an old dirt tank located in a tangle of brush on a hill about two miles west of Epley Spring. On the west side of the Pond stands a great live oak tree on the rugged bark of which are cut two indistinct maps. On the eastern edge of the Pond, directly opposite the regal oak, stands several elm trees, and it was beneath one of these elms that Dutch Hollenback, in July of 1932, unearthed a small copper box, the second of the boxes buried by Padre Lopez to be found. On top of the box was a Catholic Cross and some Spanish writing. Inside was a single piece of paper with the same cross and writing on it. But the writing on the paper was so dim that it could not easily be read.

Dutch talked very little after he found the box. He only said, "That's what I'm looking for," and he seemed satisfied. He kept the chart, but he gave the copper box to Roach Fox, a local man who was helping him that day and who had actually dug the box up.

One day in August, several weeks after the discovery of the copper box, I and some friends of mine, laughingly calling ourselves Coronado's grandchildren, spent an entire day exploring places of legendary interest near our homes. We crawled through some of the Guthrie Caves, killed a rattlesnake, drank from the icy waters of Epley Spring, and visited the Dry Pond. The bed of the Pond was ridged and uneven, showing traces of former diggings. The aged live oak stood stately and silent, and across the Pond, at the foot of an elm, was a shallow hole. The August sun smiled tolerantly down upon us, and a faint breeze which stirred lightly in the brush seemed to whisper, "Not far away Dr. Jim Kirkpatrick dug up the first copper box; over there Dutch Hollenback dug up the second; the third is somewhere close by."

According to Monte Henderson, he knows where the third copper box is buried; three different fortune tellers have told him its exact location.

For a number of years the Hendersons have lived at the foot of the hill on which the Dry Pond is located. Their home is composed of three large caves dug in the hillside, and a tent. Aside from tending their flocks of goats, Mr. Henderson and Monte spend a great deal of time searching for clues to the buried Mexican treasure.

One day while herding his goats, Mr. Henderson found a rock map half buried in a dense brush thicket. On it were drawn two lines forming an acute triangle near the center of the rock and extending to the right side. Between the two lines was a figure 3. In the upper right-hand corner was crudely drawn an Indian woman in the act of shooting an arrow from a large bow, and in the opposite corner was a mountain peak. The map was broken off sharply at one side; so Mr. Henderson did not know whether he had all of the original map or whether part of it was still undiscovered.

One Sunday afternoon during the Christmas holidays of 1934, I went hiking with a crowd of boys and girls, and our rambling walk eventually led to the Henderson homestead. We found Monte at home alone. Scarcely had we taken a drink of water from the tin dipper which hung by the well in front of the tent until we began to question him about his treasure hunting experiences. Aside from showing us the map that his father had found, Monte said very little at first, but when we convinced him that we wanted a story about his own experiences and were not trying to find the buried silver, he talked freely and fluently.

He took us through an old rock cave he had recently reopened and showed us some curious-looking but indistinct writing on its walls. Then we went to the Dry Pond. On our way there we passed a small tent made of green burlap curtains—curtains like those recently stolen from the nearby Live Oak School. Monte told us that it was the camp of a prospector named Brown who had acquired mineral rights to the land on which all of them were searching.

The Dry Pond has changed greatly since 1932. Much of the brush had been cleared away, and scattered over the bed of the Pond were several huge mounds of dirt. Water stood in some of the deep holes, and the whole place showed that it had been the scene of recent activity.

Monte led us to a place some distance south of the Dry Pond and said that here Dr. Jim Kirkpatrick had dug up the first copper box about 1902. We already knew where Dutch Hollenback had found the second box east of the Pond. Then he stepped off twenty good paces directly north of the majestic live oak and pointed to a slightly sunken spot of ground.

"Here," he said, "the third copper box is buried. I know, for three fortune tellers have told me so."

We asked him why he did not dig it up, and he replied that he was only waiting for Brown's mineral rights to expire. Then he would file mineral rights and unearth the box.

Each time Monte's conversation lagged, a few tactful questions or exclamations of wonder started him afresh. He told us a strange story about two Mexican prospectors from Monterrey who had been there a short time ago. It ran something like this:

It was night, and a pale moon was shining, Monte was standing on the west side of the road beneath the huge live oak, and the two Mexicans from Monterrey were standing across the Pond beneath an elm tree. As they watched, two spirits arose from the center of the Pond and moved silently toward the two Mexicans. When they reached the edge of the Pond, they stopped between two young elms, and, after standing there several seconds, they disappeared into the ground. The Mexicans immediately began to dig on the spot where the spirits had disappeared. Monte watched them for a while, but, fearing discovery, he soon went home. The next morning the Mexicans and their camp were gone. As yet no one knows where they went, but between the young elms a cross was dug, five feet long with arms three feet wide.

We crossed the Pond, and sure enough, there between two elms was the freshly dug cross. It was about eighteen inches deep. As we stood looking down at the shallow cross, I suggested to Monte that perhaps the Mexicans had discovered the third copper box, but he shook his head. They might have found gold or silver, but they did not find the box. He knew where it was buried.

On our return, we stopped at Henderson's well for another drink, and Monte brought out a number of his maps and showed them, but they were all copies. Mr. Henderson would let no one see the originals. In explaining the maps, Monte drew very eloquent. He retold the story of the fifteen jack loads of silver, told us all about the fight with the Indians, and about Dr. Kirkpatrick and Uncle Jimmie Guthrie. Then he gave us the whole history of Epley Springs and was closing with a complete account of the Chisholm Trail when my sister Fay, who had been only half listening, broke the magic spell by turning to another

Old Age Assistance Payments Are Increased As Of October First

Payments to those who are dependent upon Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Needy Blind, and Aid to Dependent Children will be increased an average of about $2.00 on October 1, 1948, as a result of recent changes in the Federal Social Security Act, according to Mrs. Anita Isham, local Field Worker.

In the dying days of the Regular Session of the 80th Congress, the matching formula by which Federal money is allocated to the States was changed. The new Federal formula provides about 64% Federal to 36% State. Mrs. Isham stated that there is, of course, no Federal money allocated any State except on this matching basis.

Had not additional Federal money been made available, it would have been necessary to reduce each Old Age Assistance check between $2.00 and $3.00 during each month of the present fiscal year, according to Mrs. Isham. It is now possible to avoid this cut and instead raise checks $2.00 and to adopt a maximum payment of $50.00 in the Old Age and Blind programs; and $27.00 for the first child in a family and $18.00 for each additional child in the Aid to Dependent Children program. All adjustments have already been made, and it has not been necessary for those receiving aid to visit the Welfare office to secure such raises as are possible. It is anticipated that the Old Age Assistance rolls will show a net increase of 700 persons per month. Mrs. Isham commented, the additional funds will be used in these three ways: To avoid what would have been a $2.00 to $3.00 cut in payments each month; to increase payments approximately $2.00; and to provide for payments to new persons coming on the rolls.

The number of checks to be mailed in October to those eligible to receive them will not be known until after the 1st of October, as the certifications of new grants will not be closed until September 30. In September there were 207,143 Old Age Assistance checks mailed out with the checks averaging $31.57. It is anticipated that a slightly larger number of checks will be mailed in October, which will average about $33.57. Average payments to the needy blind will average about $38.00 to about the same 5,741 persons who in September received an average of $35.01. Payments to dependent children will average about $3.00 per child more to the 41,873 children who received an average of $15.08 for September.

Mrs. Isham added that during the current fiscal year, which will end August 31, 1949, it is anticipated that $86,000,000 will be distributed to those entitled to receive Old Age Assistance, of which $31,000,000 will be State money and $55,000,000 will be Federal money; $2,700,000 to the blind, composed of $1,000,000 State and $1,700,000 Federal funds; $9,000,000 to dependent children, of which $3,000,000 will be State and $6,000,000 Federal. The Texas Constitution prohibits expenditure if more than $35,000,000 for the three assistance programs in any one year. The Legislature has appropriated this amount as follows:

$31,000,000 for old age assistance.
$3,000,000 for aid to dependent children.
$1,000,000 for aid to the needy blind.

Before additional money can be appropriated by the Texas Legislature, the Constitution will have to be amended to allow for larger appropriations.

'Cover Crops And Fertilizer' Is Subject For Farm & Ranch Group

"Cover Crops and Fertilizers" was the subject for discussion at the Goldthwaite Farm and Ranch Group meeting last Thursday night at the Agricultural Building. Thirty farmers, ranchers and businessmen attended this discussion. Ben R. Day, Work Unit Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, told the value of cover crop and listed the legumes that have been successfully grown in this district. Hairy Vetch, Austrian Winter Peas, Hubam Clover and Madrid Clover are the principal legumes that are sown here to control erosion and to improve the productivity of the soil. Proper inoculation, early planting date, and application of phosphate fertilizer are necessary for a good growth of winter legumes, Day pointed out.

"It is hard to believe what cover crops have done to the soil on my place," said Luther Soules, at the meeting. "The land plows easier with no clods and its holds more moisture than it did, say, three years ago," Mr. Soules said. He then told of 5 acres of land that had produced from 500 to 900 bales of Johnson grass hay each year for 27 years. After sowing this five acres of land to clover and vetch in oats the past two years he has been able to harvest the oat and vetch crop. Mr. Soules told the group, "I doubt if I could find enough Johnson grass in this field now to make two sales of hay."

D. N. Waggoner, who owns a farm near Center City, said that on land that had grown vetch last year, he made 40 bushels of oats per acre; whereas, on land that was not treated, the oats froze out.

Lester Bain, Administrative

Officer of the PMA, told the group how the AAA would assist them in paying for planting a winter cover crop. He said that all the available vetch seed in the county was gone and that 21 carloads of phosphate had been delivered to farmers in this county. After giving the results of some fertilizer tests in Hamilton County, Bain stated that, "The best results from fertilizer can be obtained by using it under a legume cover crop."

Dr. T. C. Graves was elected leader of the Goldthwaite Farm and Ranch Group. He took the suggestions of the group for the subject of the next discussion.

Geo. Reese, County Agent of Mills County, was designated as the leader of the next meeting. The next meeting will be held on Nov. 4, Thursday night at 7:30 p. m. at the Mills County Agricultural Building.

VERNON CARR IS RE-ELECTED AS SOIL SUPERVISOR

Vernon Carr, Brooksmith, pioneer Brown county grower of Madrid sweet clover, was re-elected unanimously as a member of the board of supervisors for Subdivision 5 of the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District to serve five years at an election held last week at the Brooksmith gin office.

American Legion Has Regular Business Meeting Last Thursday

The Harry F. Edmondson Post American Legion met at Legion Hall on regular first Thursday night at 7:30 last week, with Post Commander Howard Campbell and Adjutant Thomas M. Glass in charge. A good crowd of Legionnaires was present.

Commander Campbell called attention to the Legion's child safety campaign that was started here at the beginning of school in cooperation with the local P-T. A., and said much comment had been received. The Post sponsors articles in The Eagle and is also sponsoring the loudspeaker at the Eagle Field Football games. The members of the Post are to paint a scoreboard at Eagle Field and hope to have it ready for the game tonight.

The Post voted to accept the generosity of three of its members to pay for Legion Colors if they could be secured. Two members have had a standing offer to furnish colors for several years, but they could not be obtained during the war. Another member is to be responsible for the cost of lumber necessary to build a boxing platform at Legion Hall. The Post voted to sponsor the Golden Gloves tournaments here this fall and winter. The platform will be built in sections so bouts can be held at the ball park in good weather.

EAGLES WIN OVER MASON COWPUNCHERS

(By TERRY BLAKE)

The Goldthwaite Eagles to come from behind to beat good Mason Cowpuncher ball team at Mason last Friday night. In a first half featured long runs, fumbles, off side penalties by both teams the Cowpunchers scored only touchdown of the game.

To open this thrill-packed contest, the Eagles won the and elected to receive. Cowpuncher Brown kicked to Eagles and Lynch returned the 25 yard line. The Eagles picked up 1st down in two plays. Red Miller broke through own left side for 15 yards to mid-field strip only to fumble away the ball to an alert Cowpuncher. A series of mid-field punts and punt exchanges by both teams and the first quarter ended with the score 0-0 with the Eagles in possession of the ball.

The Eagles came to life sparked by the brilliant play and long spectacular run by John Alex Miller, Red Miller and Hamil Lynch; the cool and very effective quarter-back by Robert Henry Johnson. The Eagles struck hard and fast score two touch-downs in the succession, to go out in front the third quarter and then a third touch-down in the fourth period to ice the game away.

To open the 4th quarter, Job Alex Miller ripped through the right side of his own line to score the third Goldthwaite touchdown, and set the Eagles out front 19 to 6.

Coach Bert Brewer's fighting Eagles had out-run, out-played and out-scored a clean, hard riding Cowboy outfit who never quit until the final whistle. Mason has a fine team that plays clean, hard football. The Eagles line did a real job of football in opening holes for the back and stopping the Cowboys.

Final score: Goldthwaite Eagles 19; Mason Cowpunchers 6.
