New York Gave Crick In The Neck To Our Scout Jamboree Reporter

(Editor's Note: Goldthwaite's delegation to the Boy Scouts National Jamboree returned to Goldthwaite last Monday. The delegates were Penn Barnett, Ray Campbell Hudson, Lathon Jernigan, James Gilliam and Dr. T. C. Graves. The Eagle asked the official Scribe to write the story of the trip. Here it is, precisely as he wrote it.)

By RAY CAMPBELL HUDSON

First of all we wish to thank the citizens of Goldthwaite, especially the Lions Club, for making it possible for us to go to the Jamboree.

We left Brownwood at 1:45 A. M., June 24th, on a special train, with a duffel bag, an army pack with a minimum of clothes, our Indian costume that we had slaved over for weeks, several hundred toads, terrapins, rattlesnake rattlers, etc. We couldn't carry suitcases on the trip. Not many of the boys slept that night. We were too excited. I had never ridden on the train before, so that was a thrill. We arrived in Fort Worth the next morning and picked up some more boys. We left Brownwood with two cars and got to Valley Forge with 22 cars, about 640 scouts on them. You can imagine how long it took for 2 diners to feed us. One morning we had breakfast at dinner.

We had lunch at Oklahoma City, supper in Kansas, a long wait in Chicago, and finally to Washington D. C. We were late getting there so our sight seeing trip was cut short, but we saw the White House, Mt. Vernon and many other places of interest. We had lunch in the Pentagon Building.

We arrived in Valley Forge Tuesday Morning about 5:30 A. M. We marched 2 miles to our camp-site where we had breakfast of cold corned-beef, milk bread, and fig newtons. The food was allotted by the commissary before each meal. The menus were planned and the recipes printed on them. We took turns cooking for 10 boys. We cooked over a charcoal fire. (It was a toss-up who was the best cook, Penn, James, Lathon or I) When we first arrived at the camp, there were a few large buildings set up; the P. X. Commissaries, hospitals,

Draft Board May Name More Drafters

Charles Frizzelle, Mills County Selective Service representative, said yesterday, Thursday, that new Draft Board instructions are expected very soon from Austin by way of Lampasas which, for the present, is the regional headquarters. Mr. Frizzelle added that with reactivation of Selective Service, he expects two more Mills County representatives to be appointed. The first call may take no more than two or three men from Mills County, Mr. Frizzelle said, but precise determination of the future program must await receipt of official instructions. Since the reactivation of the Draft, Mr. Frizzelle has conferred with officials in Lampasas.

Lt. B. L. Perkins and family have returned to Newport, R. I. after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Perkins and his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Tate and Beverly Ann. Lt. Perkins will attend class in an advanced officers Naval School.

rest offices, showers, etc, but almost immediately those 625 acres of grass and brush were covered with tents ranging from a pup tent to a troop tent. Our troop (70 boys) went as Indians, so we had tepes, 2 boys to a tepe. There were oil field riggers from Oklahoma and corals from Idaho etc—every section stayed in some kind of shelter representative of their state.

We had 2 medical check-ups the first day. When a boy was found to have a bad tooth they sent him to the hospital, much to Dr. Graves' sorrow!

We roamed all over camp, getting acquainted, trading and selling. I might say right here that I think we got the best end of all the trades.

June 30th, the Jamboree was officially opened at 9:00 P. M. When an aerial bomb was set off all the flags on the Jamboree ground were raised. President Truman spoke to us that night, but there were so many G. men that we barely saw him.

Sunday morning we went to the big arena to Church. Later M-G-M took our troop picture in full Indian costume. I think our troop stole the show. There were some other troops there as Indians, but they had "bought" costumes. All the boys wanted to trade us out of our head dresses, in fact, when we wore them we had to be careful to keep them from pulling out feathers.

We had a Council Fire that evening. There were lots of visitors to watch. We let the visiting Scout Leaders smoke our Peace Pipes. That night we went to General Headquarters for a flag lowering ceremony. There were about 65 flags of states and nations lowered when the band played. Lathon played in the Region 9 band. Afterwards, we went to the big arena for a

Insanity Plea By Tom Fuller In Court Today

The plea of Tom Fuller that he was insane when he inflicted shotgun wounds on R. L. "Bob" Cockrum and Luther Booker at the Fairman Company, Inc., showrooms in Goldthwaite on May 3 was scheduled to be heard today, Friday, before District Judge Wesley Dice at the Mills County Court House.

The trial was scheduled for nine o'clock Friday morning. Fuller has been indicted on two counts of assault with intent to murder, but through his attorney, H. W. Allen of Hamilton, he has contended that he was insane at the time of the shootings, still is of unsound mind, and is unable to provide counsel with proper information on which to base a defense.

Through Counsellor Allen, Fuller contends that for the protection of his legal rights his plea of insanity should be disposed of as a matter of priority over action on the two indictments that were voted by the Mills County Grand Jury after the shootings last May.

Mr. Cockrum and Mr. Booker were wounded when Fuller fired shotgun blasts in the course of a protest to School Board Chairman C. C. Collier against receipt by Fuller of a notice regarding delinquent school taxes. Fuller was wounded in the arm when a shot fired by Deputy Sheriff Clyde Cockrum put an end to the danger created to many persons by Fuller and his shotgun.

For two months, Fuller was under observation by mental experts in Austin. It is understood that they have concurred in an opinion expressed at the time of the May 3 shootings by

Mystery Of Week Is Whether Miss Hintz Is Married

The mystery of the week is whether County Home Demonstration Agent Ella Hintz is married, or whether all of us will be invited to a wedding that will be solemnized, perhaps on July 28. Ladies of the H. D. Clubs have duly showered Miss Hintz, but all of them are quiet or they pretended not to know, whether the marriage of Miss Hintz and Martin Jacobs of Honeygrove has occurred.

A tip on the matrimonial aspect of the life of Miss Hintz came from Mrs. Eula Nickols, reporter for the Goldthwaite H. D. Club. Mrs. Nickols, in reporting on the last meeting of the Club at the home of Mrs. Oscar Burns, said:

"Miss Hintz met with us for her last time. She has decided to do 'home work.' We are all going to miss her. We wish for her future to be a long-lasting one."

Is July 28 still the date, or are you busy writing a story for our Miss Earlene Nix's page three, Miss Hintz? How does Mr. Jacobs like your corn bread and donuts? Your many friends are bubbling over with questions and hope to hear from you very soon.

No, She Ain't No Damsel, It's Archer With His Hair Let Down

SMILE WHEN YOU SAY THAT, LEONARD

Never belittle the power of the press. It grew hair on Leonard Archer in a week, and then made him let it down for all the world to see, as you, too, can see above. The glum countenance has nothing to do with how Mr. Archer feels about his hair. It is merely a reflection of his innermost thoughts about an Eagle reporter. In fact, if Mr. Archer had two faces, he would look glum again at the same time for the benefit of the Eagle's photographer, Mrs. B. C. Wicker.

If you read your Eagle last week, you will recall that in explaining a photograph of Mr. Archer and his staff at the Archer Grocery, it was necessary, in the interest of truth, to point out that Mr. Archer threw his head back and pushed his chin up with the sole idea of keeping his bald spot from being photographed by Mrs. Wicker. Such difficulty had been anticipated when Mr. Archer first was asked to pose, but the obstacle was overcome and the Eagle went to press happily, last week, with Mr. Archer's bald spot gleaming on page one. That, unfortunately, was not the end of the story.

On the theory that an editor is responsible for what his reporters write, Mr. Archer has been feuding with the editor of the Eagle for a week. There is good reason to believe, also, that by use of various lotions, light rays and incantations, he has been growing hair. If his endeavors prove to be a boon to all men who are balding, the editor will be able to take the fact of the feud philosophically as just another of the hazards of journalism.

By a fortuitous coincidence, the editor this week was closeted with his attorney, Counsellor E. B. Gilliam, when the above-pictured Mr. Archer arrived, amidst considerable stir, at the Eagle office. He had properly

First Baptist Church Summons New Pastor Here

The First Baptist Church in Goldthwaite voted last Sunday to call to its pulpit the Rev. J. T. Ayers of Hubbard. The call has been accepted by Brother Ayers, who will assume his pastorate in Goldthwaite during the next few weeks.

Brother Ayers will succeed the Rev. Joseph L. Emery, who has been Pastor of the Riverside Baptist Church in Houston since mid-May. Brother and Mrs. Emery and Mr. and Mrs. Ayers were friends both at Baylor University and at the Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth.

The consideration which resulted in the call to Brother Ayers was made on the recommendation of a Pulpit Committee, of which E. B. Gilliam, Jr., was the Chairman. Other members of the Committee, which was appointed following the resignation of Brother Emery, were Mrs. V. C. Bradford, Mrs. O. B. Hale, Mrs. Grady Carothers, Charles Conrad, J. D. Harper and T. F. Sansom.

Brother Ayers has been Pastor at Hubbard for about a year and a half. While at Baylor University as a student, he served as the Pastor at Mound for some seven years. He also has been a member of the faculty at Baylor University where he had the distinction of being Baylor's youngest professor in the Bible Department.

Brother Ayers' wife, Elizabeth, enjoys a considerable reputation as a public speaker. They have an infant daughter, Ruth Annette, who now is about seven months of age.

Brother Ayers has a commitment to conduct revival services during the first week in August and he will decide in a few days whether to assume his duties in Goldthwaite before or after the revival.

Brother Ayers occupied the pulpit at the First Baptist Church in Goldthwaite on Sunday, June 25. He received his Bachelor's degree in arts at Baylor University and he received his degree as a Bachelor of Divinity from the Southwestern Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth.

Be Sure To See The Red Sox Play Night Of July 22

Manager Howard Hoover of the Goldthwaite Red Sox says to make a date for eight o'clock, Saturday night, July 22, when the undefeated Red Sox will provide another good game for the fans—this time against Spiegelville.

Last year Spiegelville defeated Goldthwaite, but on the night of July 22, the Red Sox will be out to make matters even. They did just that last Friday night against West. Last year West trounced the Red Sox but last week it was a different story, with Goldthwaite winning 3 to 2 after a tight, exciting game pitched by Y. B. Johnson and Ralph McAllister, and caught by Larry McCasland.

West took the defeat a little on the hard side but the protests by the vanquished visitors abated when an enthusiastic Goldthwaite fan shouted: "If you don't believe you were beat, read the Goldthwaite Eagle." Okay, fan, West was beat.

This weekend, we shall miss the Red Sox, since they will be playing away from home at Bandera.

FOR WHAT ARE WE WAITING?

The pure and simple pap to which the American people are being treated is leading to heartbreak.

Stripped of the silly trappings of hokum that surrounded the designation of General Douglas MacArthur as United Nations Commander against North Korea, the fact of the news is that the United States of America is fighting for survival against the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

The air waves and the majority of our newspapers are filled with confusion, bewilderment and uncertainty. All three of them reflect upon us. For this is no time for confusion, bewilderment or uncertainty. It is a time to face up to the question as to whether we want to live in freedom, rear our sons and daughters, pass on to them the fruits of our toil; the right to dream and to strive—and retain the right to live ourselves.

Are we going to conduct ourselves as Moscow wills? Are we going to continue to let the Kremlin suck us into Korea and then, while still confused, uncertain and bewildered, have Moscow sock us with haymakers at such unprepared points as Germany, the Middle East, Formosa, French Indo-China, the Balkans and Scandinavia? Yes, we are, if we continue on the present course of refusing to face up to the realities of the world and the times in which we live.

It has taken more than 25 years to write this editorial. It goes back in the personal memory and the experience of the writer to 1921, when Benito Mussolini staged his Black Shirt March on Rome. In the intervening 29 years, evil men have made monkeys of decent men, because decent men were afraid to fight except defensively. Decent men have kept on sacrificing the best of themselves because they persisted in waiting until evil men let them have it, smack in the kisser—every time and at the times chosen by the men of evil.

Have we forgotten Pearl Harbor? After Pearl Harbor, America was placarded with signs that read: "Remember Pearl Harbor!" Have we forgotten the Men of Bataan? Do you remember the truth of the Death March From Bataan? Do you remember New Guinea? Do you remember Guadalcanal? Do you remember the Long Road to Tokyo, up through the stepping stones of the Pacific?

The more you are asked to remember, the harder it gets, doesn't it? Was your boy or your friend's boy lost in North Africa? Do you remember when the beaches of Normandy were stained with American blood? Have you forgotten the Battle of the Hedge-rows? Can your memory take you back to the Christmas season of 1944 and the Battle of the Bulge? Was your boy or your friend's boy on Okinawa?

Was your boy or your friend's boy on many a ship that went down in the Atlantic, in the Pacific or in the Mediterranean? Yes, we built more than 50,000 combat airplanes a year—many, many more—but was your boy or your friend's boy in any of them, when they went down over Tokyo, over Stuttgart, over the Roumanian oil fields—or over the thousands of other places to which the flower of American manhood plunged to their deaths? Do you remember? It ought not to be hard to remember. Many American mothers and fathers and widows still awaken in the darkest hours of the night and they push their faces into their pillows and choke down the sobs because—they do remember. They will never forget—not so long as they live.

They tell us that the future is unpredictable. It is not. It will be just the same as the past that some of us remember so vividly. In fact, it will be worse, much worse, unless we act; unless we insist on an end to the hokum, on an end to waiting for the men of evil to decide when they will re-enact on a much greater scale, even, the brutal tragedy of the seven American soldiers who were found shot to death in Korea with their hands tied in knotted ropes behind their backs.

For what are we waiting? Are we waiting for the men of evil to go about their slaughter piecemeal? Are we waiting for more Pearl Harbor, Guadalcanal, Okinawa, Normandy and the Battle of the Bulge? Are we waiting for the ruthless enemy to do his worst, but on different scenes? Are we waiting to send into death, in battle, the children our mothers have nursed, the children over whom fathers have worried, the youngsters who can make a better world if they can but live and have their dreams?

That is what we are doing: The issues that face us now will be decided by the weapons we have, but which the men of evil are making us fritter away. Do we lack the courage to use them in order to live? If we use our weapons now—yes, use A-bombs over the Spider of Russia inside his foul and advancing web—our youngsters can live to admire our gumption. But dead men, men who were needlessly slaughtered, do not send out "thank you's" from unmarked graves. Such men die bitterly.

For what are we waiting?

Do you remember—remember just a little? If so, for what are we waiting? Ignominious death?

OUR JAMBOREE PRIDE

We believe that this community owes a vote of thanks to Dr. T. C. Graves for conspicuous and unselfish service that was rendered by him as mentor to the Mills County delegation to the Boy Scouts National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, Dr.

Graves was more than a convoy to Penn Barnett, James Gilliam, Lathon Jernigan, Ray Campbell Hudson and Larry Walton on the trip to and from Valley Forge. Going and coming, Dr. Graves was Trainmaster. He was health officer on the train and he rendered a like service throughout the encampment at Valley Forge. He worked hard and gave up many hours of sleep in the same spirit displayed by so many others and that made the second national Scout Jamboree so successful.

We were talking with Dr. Graves on his return about the Jamboree that was attended by 47,000 picked youngsters from our own and other countries. It was our pleasure to tell him that during his absence we received spontaneous postcards and letters telling us gratefully how proud we should be of Dr. Graves and the Goldthwaite Scouts.

Tremendous good is bound to accrue from the visit of the Goldthwaite delegates to Valley Forge and to such other places as Washington, New York and Niagara Falls. Their own horizons were broadened and they widened the horizons of others. In speaking with obvious pride of the Goldthwaite boys, Dr. Graves told of the friendly manner in which they mingled with other boys from many parts of the country. He told of their conduct as smart little traders, which made many acquaintances for them. He told how well they acquitted themselves, along with other Comanche Trail Scouts, who went to the Jamboree as Comanche Indians and who had central roles in the massive, impressive Independence Day pageantry.

We believe that the Jamboree meant a great deal to Mills County, and not only to those who actually attended. We were represented by boys who were a great credit to us; they brought back to us not only a record of achievement, but also a whole series of experiences that will be reflected back beneficially as time goes on. So far as this community is concerned, much of it had a part in sending our delegation to the Jamboree. The Lions Club was the sparkplug of the effort in which so many others joined at the time of the Lions Club Talent Show last April. The next time that an opportunity is offered to make a similar effort, the response should be overwhelming on the basis of the success of this one. Meanwhile, we have our great pride in the Mills County Jamboree delegation of 1950, and abiding thanks goes out to Dr. Graves. We hope that the philosophy behind the Jamboree concept will not soon be forgotten.

The Eagle's Aer

By The Editor

The editor's feud with the San Saba News has come to an abrupt halt. In his first page column, The Round-Up, co-publisher Jack H. Bowen of the San Saba News tossed a lovely bouquet to the editor of the Eagle last week. How can you feud with a guy like that? We'll keep searching for a Mavor for San Saba, Jack, and any time you ask for it we'll send down a remedy for type lice. Here's hoping that the buckled bridge over the San Saba river won't keep you from coming up to Goldthwaite for a visit.

Our mail continues to run so heavy that this week, as was so last week too, we have space only for acknowledgements. But we do want to acknowledge a grand letter from the Rev. Joseph L. Emery, former Pastor of the First Baptist Church in Goldthwaite and now Pastor of the Riverside Baptist Church in Houston. Brother Emery renewed an Eagle subscription for his parents in Temple and for himself and Mrs. Emery in Houston. Their continuing interest in Goldthwaite is a matter of satisfaction to their many Another letter for the editor is grateful for Lis "Old Friday" Walker now lives in Austin but considers himself to be Mills County Old Timer. The attitude of the Walker Administration towards the South is all wrong. He threatens to vote for the South in the next election. "I am like the man who asked for coffee or tea," Friday wrote. "He said he had was tea, he was coffee, or vice versa— for a change."

The same mail that your indignant letter to Walker, also brought a speech made in Congress by Ben H. Guill, the Republican in the Representatives. It was shorter and it took the "for years the representatives of the Truman Administration have made little to hide their hostility to the South." Representative said that the people of South no longer are being "the thunder on the

The editor is making Guill's speech in Old Walker. While he is at it, send on to Mr. Walker a speech that came in the mail—a speech by Jack of Houston, who is Chairman of the Campaign Committee Two-Party Government as it was interesting to us that at a speech at Crockett Saturday, Mr. Porter among other things that Confederate grandfathers thought I would swallow man's socialism and the confiscation of property by his Adams without fighting back."

When you get hot collar in good old fashioned, Old Friday Walker may help you a bit in that an increasing number of people want Texas to be progressive politically as progressive in every other that they recognize that "real monopoly does not for progress — and that is nothing sacred about a political party." As Mr. Porter at Crockett, a political party is merely a necessary instrument in the functioning of a form of government as ours. It is the kind of who formulate the political party that does what kind of a political it is."

Another letter that fell in the mail bag was from Ferrell of New York City. Ferrell, it seems, makes a habit of collecting picture card views of court houses wanted to know how to obtain picture postcards from the Mills County Court. The editor has referred to Dave Clements and Bill over at Clements' Drug. He wants it, he did not but Mr. Ferrell also to buy a copy of the Goldthwaite Telephone directory. The editor has endeavored to call on enough to refer to Ferrell to Mrs. Alita Primm. If Mr. Ferrell lets you what in the world he wants a Goldthwaite telephone directory, please don't keep it a secret. If Goldthwaite telephone directories are valuable only to collectors, the editor wants to know about it.

She carried, for her "something old and something borrowed" a white lace handkerchief, used by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ernest F. Barton, in her wedding seven years ago. News Of The Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District

"They laughed at me when I started farming," says Garth Carter, "but I have the old homestead back in production again." Mr. Carter was referring to his past year's experience in rebuilding the soil on the J. R. Carter home place two miles northwest of Center City. Garth was determined to reclaim the fields on this farm and he relied heavily on hairy vetch to help him out. "The vetch got the job done," says Carter.

With a conservation plan developed with the assistance of the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District fresh on his mind, Carter sowed 60 acres of the cultivated land in the fall of 1949 to vetch and small grain and used phosphate fertilizer. The fields had been lying idle for five years. Other parts of the cultivated land had been turned out for several years so the native grasses were allowed to reseed and spread. The vetch did exceptionally good but the wheat made only six bushels to the acre.

After the grain harvest in 1949, Carter asked Carl Casbeer, technician with the Soil Conservation Service to run the diversion terraces and field terrace on this farm. All the planned terrace lines were run and Commissioner Fred Wall constructed the channel type terraces and the diversion terraces. Carter then sowed 32 acres to rye and vetch and wheat and let the vetch volunteer on the remaining land. The vetch made a good growth and the prospects for an excellent wheat crop were good. But the hails came and damaged both crops at least 50 percent. Even with the heavy damage, the wheat made 10 bushels per acre and sold for a premium. The vetch made 60 pounds per acre.

"It is not so much what I have made off the vetch," says Carter, "but what the vetch has done to the soil on this farm." Carter points out that the soil is loose and friable. He plans to plant corn on the field where vetch has been grown two years.

Carter has only run a few livestock on the place and the native grasses are improving. The fields are protected by diversion terraces and field terraces. Hairy vetch is holding and building up the soil. Another farm is back in production because the land was treated according to its needs and Garth Carter says that it pays.

Christian Science Services

"Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 16.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?" (Psalms 27:1).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For with thee is the foundation of life: in thy light shall we see light" (Psalms 36:9).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mind is the same Life, Love, and wisdom 'yesterday, and to-day, and forever'" (page 283).

Our Grandma Goldthwaite Lost Our Grandpa By Not Keeping Him Home

Since everybody should have a Grandmother, the Eagle here-with presents Goldthwaite's Grandma. Some day, we hope to have a photograph of Goldthwaite's Grandpa, but for this week, we hope that Goldthwaite will be content to have a likeness of Ann Wilson Goldthwaite, who was the Grandmother of George Goldthwaite, for whom Goldthwaite, Texas, was named.

GRANNY GOLDTHWAITE

Last month, thanks to a Goldthwaite kinsman, P. H. Trout of Roanoke, Virginia, the Eagle was able to introduce you to Colonel Thomas Goldthwaite, who was one of our George's ancestors. Now, please, may we present George's very own Grandma. "You all right, Grandma?"

She was Ann Wilson, who lived from 1774 to 1863. She was a daughter of a Baptist Clergyman of Suffolk, England. That ought to please the many Baptists in our midst. Goldthwaites were Baptists 'way, 'way back.

Mr. Trout of Roanoke tells us that in 1791, Ann Wilson, who is pictured in this story, became the second wife of Lieutenant Thomas Goldthwaite of Chelsea, Mass. They were married in England, while Lieutenant Thomas Goldthwaite was visiting "at home," and they came to America together in 1792, landing at Portsmouth, Virginia. They lived for some years at Hudson, New York, then at Dalton, New Hampshire, and later moved to Boston. Hold everything—in due time, Grandma moved to the South.

There was great unhappiness in our Grandma Goldthwaite's life. Her husband, our Grandpa Goldthwaite, went to England in 1810. He never came home. Eighteen years later, in 1828, of course, Grandma got worried about his prolonged absence and went to England to see what had happened to her spouse. Lieutenant Thomas Goldthwaite, our Grandpa, was dead, but Grandma never told of the circumstances under which he died.

After she came back to America, Grandma Goldthwaite went to live in Montgomery, Alabama, where her sons had settled and where our own George Goldthwaite was born. Goldthwaites became Southerners.

Again thanks to Mr. Trout, we are able to tell you about the very first Goldthwaite in America. He, too, was named Thomas Goldthwaite. He was born in England about 1610, and came to America in the summer of 1630. So, there have been Goldthwaites in America for 320 years.

To get back to our own Grandma and Grandpa Goldthwaite, their family became strongly Confederate, Mr. Trout says, following their move to Alabama. One of their daughters, Ann Esther, married Judge John Archibald Campbell, who helped to write the Dred Scott Decision, and who resigned from the Supreme Court of the United States in order to enter the Cabinet of Confederate President Jefferson Davis.

The letter from Mr. Trout, that brought the news of Grandpa and Grandma Goldthwaite, also told about Anne Wilson Goldthwaite, who was a distinguished American artist.

"Possibly she was the most noted woman artist in America at the time of her death," Mr. Trout wrote. "My two daughters are fortunate in owning several of her works."

That Miss Goldthwaite died in January of 1944.

From this day on, nobody ever will be able to say that Goldthwaite, Texas, doesn't know about its Grandma. Thank you, Mr. P. H. Trout, of Roanoke, Virginia.

We surely wish we knew what happened to Grandpa. Maybe he went on a toot after he got across the ocean and away from Grandma.

Incidentally, Mr. Trout has been so kind as to arrange for the Boston Museum of Fine Arts to send some interesting descriptions of Goldthwaite family portraits to the Mills County Historical Society in care of the Jennie Trent Dew Memorial Library.

During the 4th guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weatherby at their cottage at Lake Merritt were Mr. and Mrs. M. L. O'quin and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Bear of Dallas.

Hula Skirt Weather For Rae Ann Calder Up In Hot Ft. Worth

Friends of Rae Ann Calder, formerly of Goldthwaite, will be interested in learning that she thinks Goldthwaite has better weather than Fort Worth, where she now makes her home. Just before Rae Ann moved to Fort Worth, the Eagle published a photograph of her in a grass hula skirt. Her Dad, Guy Calder, wrote to the Eagle this week that "Rae Ann needs her hula skirt here in Fort Worth."

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Findley and children of Coleman and Miss Mamie Lou Womack of Comanche spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Womack.

More Civil Service Jobs Are Available

Impending civil service examinations for occupational therapist, physical therapist and pharmacist at salaries ranging from $3,100 to $4,600 annually, and for cotton warehouse examiners at an annual salary range of $3,100 to $3,825 were announced this week by Goldthwaite Acting Postmaster, Lucile Fairman. The warehouse jobs will be in any cotton-producing area in the United States, while the others will be in veterans hospitals and regional offices in the United States and Puerto Rico.

Applications for the warehouse jobs must be filed before August 8. Applications for jobs with the Veterans Administration will be accepted until further notice. Additional information may be obtained from Postmaster Fairman.

Hillside Mission

By LIDA BYRNE
We know that God makes fire, brimstone, and all the elements, in fact everything, but until recently we could not comprehend how fire could fall from heaven, but atomic energy settles that doubt. The Bible tells us in Ecclesiastes, chapter 1, verse 9: "there is no new thing under the sun." According to the above, atomic energy has been used in the past. If we read the 19th chapter of Genesis, noticing carefully the 12th and 13th verses, we see that two men said they would destroy the wicked city of Sodom. That city was not only destroyed, but also Gomorrah, and "all the plain, and all the inhabitants of the cities, and that which grew upon the ground." That event took place about 3848 years ago.

Russia to continue to have the initiative. Since I first wrote and broadcast of the Russian threat to our lives and hopes in 1946, I have been against "preventive war" so long as there was no actual clash of arms. But there is a clash of arms now, and our men are dying on battlefields of the Kremlin's choice. We can cut short the death and destruction, the heartbreak and the misery, if now we have the courage to say, "we shall stop this once and for all and not allow the Kremlin to bleed us at will and for long enough for Moscow to triumph." As matters stand now, our men are dying by the inches as measured by Russia. We can stop that in a matter of weeks by using our atom bombs, carried by our long-range bombers, to destroy the Russian war potential so that, at least, there may be peace and security ahead for our kids.

On the editorial page of this week's Eagle there is an editorial entitled: "For What Are We Waiting?" Because of the mechanics of our production, it had to be written last Monday. Since Monday, my conviction has grown even deeper that preventive war is the only resort for Americans and for those who are with us, but who are able to give us only "moral support." If you believe in salvaging the future for freedom instead of playing into the Kremlin's hands—if you are alive enough to do more than sit on your bunners in the Square in Goldthwaite and fan yourself or shake your head sadly—why don't you bestir yourself just a little bit and let Senator Johnson, Senator Tom Connally and Representative O. C. Fisher know how you feel about the present policy of letting the Kremlin bleed us to death? Or, have you no concern about the future?

This week guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hester were their daughter, Mrs. B. L. Means and children of Fort Worth.

candlelighting ceremony. At a given signal, (in total darkness) 4700 boys lighted their candles. This was supposed to represent the "Light of Liberty". The candles made the arena almost as light as day.

July 4th was the BIG day. We were selected to take part in a pageant of 8000 boys. We were dressed in full Indian costume and were in the opening scene showing the first contact by the Indians with the white man. We were proud to have the Big Chief chosen from our Council, Game Warden John R. Woods from Brownwood. The Big Chief had about 600 other Indians in front of the huge stage and at the raising of the hand, the Indians broke out into Indian dances. A runner came in with the message to the Big Chief that the white man was coming. Then came hundreds of pioneers, prospectors, etc. Railroads sprang up. Paper towns, cowboys in full costume and many on horses. Scenes of Scout Crafts of all kinds followed. Tall towers, bridges, etc.

After the pageant, General Eisenhower spoke and we sang "The Star Spangled Banner". When we came to the words, "bombs bursting in air" a display of fireworks was set off estimated to cost $8,000.

Wednesday we went to Philadelphia by train and made a foot tour of the city. We saw Independence Hall, the Liberty Bell, Betsy Ross' home, the grave of Benjamin Franklin. We went in one famous Church where George Washington had a pew. Elmo Letbetter from Brownwood had to set down in it.

Thursday was a sad day. We were getting ready to leave. We had to knock down our camps and say good-by to every one. A lump was in our throats as we sang Auld Lang Syne to every one, 47,000 boys including 15 foreign nations and Alaska. We loaded our tents, cots and duffel bags that night so we had to sleep on the ground under the stars. We left camp at 4:00 that morning and got into New York at 5:00. I could write and write about New York, but I still have a crick in my neck locking up at the tall buildings. Some one told us that they could see the sun only one hour through the day because the buildings were so tall. We saw the Empire State Building, The Statue of Liberty, ate in the famous Child's Restaurant, saw Rockefeller Center and so many interesting places.

We left New York at 7:30 P. M. We got into Niagara Falls at 8:00 A. M. and stayed till 9:00. It was every bit as beautiful as we had heard. We went through the Cave of Winds, almost under the Falls.

We got back to Brownwood after going through 30 states and Canada. We arrived at 8:30 Monday morning, tired but very happy.

Fuller

Dr. M. A. Childress of Goldthwaite that Fuller was suffering from "an acute psychotic reaction."

At the time of the May 3 shootings, E. T. Fairman, President of the Trent State Bank, was injured slightly in the cheek by a stray pellet from Fuller's shotgun. Mr. Fairman had attempted to reason Fuller into surrendering his gun. The hand of the Rev. Ed H. Lovelace, Pastor of the First Methodist Church in Goldthwaite, also was grazed by a pellet from Fuller's gun.

It was understood that for the trial Friday morning, Sheriff Wiley L. Mahan would gather a "pick-up" jury" if such action might be necessary following a Court Room conference among Judge Dice, Prosecuting Attorney Jim Evetts and Counsellor Allen.

adjusted the facial expression that is shown here. His face was flushed and his eyes burned. "I have come to let my hair down," Mr. Archer announced with obvious bitterness.

Counsellor Gilliam took one look at the spectacle and fled to his lair in the nether regions of the Mills County Court House, leaving the editor alone and undefended to face the irate Mr. Archer. The editor could have run Mr. Archer's flowing locks through the rollers of a press and so could have put an end to both Mr. Archer and his feuding. Being a peaceable man, however, it was decided to let the general public in on the entire incident. There was a struggle, yes. You can see the outcome of it here.

What is under the hat is anybody's guess. It is our guess that under the hat there are some of Mrs. Archer's bobby pins. They must be fastened to the lining of the hat because, as the Eagle of July 7 showed very clearly, there was absolutely nothing else to which they could have been fastened.

By way of heaping coals of fire on Mr. Archer's head, hair or no hair, we draw the attention of the public to another coincidence. Today, Friday, Mr. Archer re-opens his Archer Grocery on the north side of the Square, just 40 days after a fire left him with time in which to delve into the secrets of the Cozette Beauty Shop, Rosebud and the House of Beauty. Go to the Archer Gro. re-opening and see Leonard with his hair down. If there is another fire, there surely will be a singeing.

Tomorrow, Saturday, there will be a Working at the Duren Cemetery. James Green urges that everybody attend with lunch and tools and be prepared to participate in a business meeting and election of officers. The Working has been postponed twice this year because of weather but Mr. Green is hopeful that it will really happen tomorrow, Saturday.

mittee that was appointed by the Council last Monday night.

Last Tuesday night, as advertised, the Goldthwaite Volunteer Fire Department, as advertised, rushed a bucket suspended from a cable that stretched across the west side of the Square. Judges Loy Long and J. Y. Tullos called the outcome of the hose fight between the "Wet Ducks" and the "Water Lilies" a draw. Both sides got wet and both sides had fun. The same went for the spectators.

Ray Duren, who captained the "Wet Ducks," said the hose fight proved that the lower end had the advantage. The hose changed sides, the prove mark W. C. the hose fight Goldthwaite has a Fire Chief Reid L. "Hi Neighbor" be well-dressed after having gone off hose fighting and the press. Assisted Joe Bailey Kame tained the "Water the hose fight is wet.
