

Eagles Come Back Late In Season With 37-16 Upset Over Longhorns

GHS Fighting Eagles upset the Early Longhorns 37-16 in a late-season comeback Friday night at Early, to finish the district play with a 2-2 record.

The Eagles battered the Dragons 31-7 in the first game and after two weeks of cross plains and Santa Anna district play with renewed vigor met Early with renewed vigor Friday night in the third round of the District 9-A closer Friday night.

Bangs downed Cross Plains and earned the right to meet Early in the bi-district game.

In the last half of the game, the entire defensive unit that will play together next year played with the exception of Ronnie Wetterman, who is a senior this year.

After a scoreless first quarter, Johnny Johnson, Eagle QB, kicked a 30-yard field goal to put the Eagles on the board with three points. Eagle HB

JOE HUDSON
Eagle of the Week

Joe Hudson, a 5' 10", 145-pound, defensive cornerback on the Eagle squad has been named "Eagle of the Week" for the Early game. The Eagle coaches chose Joe for the honor because he showed the most aggressiveness and made the hardest hits against the Longhorns.

Joe is a junior at GHS, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis T. Hudson.

Reggie Robbins opened the third quarter with a powerful nine-yard plunge over the goal and Johnson added a good kick to rate a 10-point lead.

Johnson followed with two successive touchdown passes to Jeff Stewart in the end zone for seven and ten yards, and added the points after, to store up a safe 24-0 lead at the end of the third period. Then Sam Watson went over from eight yards out to put the Eagles even farther up the victory ladder.

Early's Timmy Doss broke the Longhorns' standstill in the fourth quarter on a 14-yard touchdown run and Horner ran the two point conversion. Then in the final minutes of the game Longhorn QB Lance Blackwell added a 23-yard TD with Doss running the extra two points.

To climax the Eagles' victory, Joe Hudson took off on an eleven-yard trip to paydirt with four seconds left in the game, to boost the score to 37-16.

Young Homemakers Enjoy Christmas Program By Lone Star Gas Economist

Mrs. Jennifer Askew, Lone Star Gas home economist, from Brownwood, presented the program for the Mills County Young Homemakers at their monthly meeting Thursday night. Mrs. Askew displayed a variety of holiday goodies and showed clever ways to wrap them for Christmas giving. Her talk also included tips on packaging and mailing food to servicemen.

Guests at the homemakers meeting were Barbara Burton and Loretta Rickel. Sarah Jane Rudd joined as a new member.

Members were reminded to leave their items for the food baskets to be delivered to shut-ins at the home of Wanda Allen on November 20. Carolyn Tiemann, Jean Todd, Frances Carlisle and Jeanie Ratliff volunteered to judge the foods at the stock show in January.

Plans were made for a Thanksgiving Bake Sale on November 26, with details to be announced later. December 13 was set as the date for the Young Homemakers' annual Christmas Party. A meeting will be held on December 4 to make plans for the party.

"Thanksgiving?
Thanks for what?"

Most everybody asks a blessing over his Thanksgiving turkey as a ritual. But how many of us remember that giving thanks is the deepest, most meaningful sort of prayer?

These cynical days, of course, you'll hear some people say, "What have I got to say thanks about?"

The answers to that never change: Thanks for what we have, no matter what that is.

Thanks for what we are, and can be.

Thanks for all God's blessings on us and on others.

This Thanksgiving, think of what giving thanks really means.

In the truest sense of gratitude, it means each of us must re-dedicate himself to the idea that "God's work must truly be our own." Everywhere, Every day.

People change the world. Thankful people change it for the better!

As It Looks From Here

OMAR BURLESON, M. C.
17th DISTRICT, TEXAS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Following recent comments on what happens "after Vietnam," it seems apropos to quote the eminent Chaplain of the United States Senate, Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, answering the question: What is the religious justification of the right of self-defense against aggression? It was just two years ago that his statement on this question was published by U. S. News & World Report.

The wisdom of Military Preparedness is being challenged today by powerful and influential sources. "There is nothing inherently good or bad about a sword," Dr. Brown says. "The quality of sharpened steel may depend on whether it is in the hands of a surgeon or a bandit. Earth's greatest Teacher admonished, 'Put up your sword; for he that takes it shall perish by it.' That sword was drawn in anger and vengeance. It was a bad sword. But Jesus also said, 'I am not come to bring peace, but a sword.' That sword unsheathed against evil was a good sword. All depends upon the purpose for which the blade is to be used.

"Without swords, coerced men are compelled to cry peace when there is no peace and to surrender the most heavenly things to the most hellish forces. There is a sword bathed in heaven. If swords are in the hands only of those who cannot be trusted with them, then the only peace possible between the lion and the lamb, which, it is prophesied, shall some day lie down together, is for the lamb to lie down inside the lion. There are present-day appeasers of evil who would label that arrangement peace. But a peace dictated by unethical force is the peace of slaves.

"A Nation must be strong to make its word for peace effective. A peace gained by constant retreat because of the threatening blackmail of superior force is not peace, but war. It will be a day of mourning for all the free world if ever our nation, whose potential force is the greatest; refuses to back to the hilt its belief in universal brotherhood and to use its terrible swift sword against aggressors ready to pounce on new victims.

"There always is enough bad in the world to shatter any dream of an ethical peace, unless that ill wind has a restraining fear of the power of organized good will. To weaken the national striking power is to vote to make it inevitable that the democracies shall be forced to do the bidding of oral perverts who have been allowed to fashion a preponderance of swords.

"Of course, force is never the last word. At best, it but clears the way for the constructive agencies of friendship, good will and cooperation to do their healing work, so that at last swords can be turned into plowshares. But when you face men who have put the state on the throne, instead of God, you cannot conquer them by kindly example or a friendly smile. No gentle charms can stay the fangs of the cobra when it is ready to strike. To allow deviltry — whenever it is powerful enough — to trample righteousness into the mire at will, while the forces of good stand impotently by, is a tragic travesty of justice and judgment.

"In England, before World War II, a group of influential clergymen, ignoring Germany's rearmament led a movement utterly to renounce the sword of defense.

"Declaring they were willing to risk all on meeting Hitler's threat with understanding and good will, they secured hundreds of thousands of signed pledges of a virtual refusal to take up arms. That futile policy, sincerely followed, helped to bomb the churches of which these preachers were the ministers and to fill the land with lamentations for the mangled and the dead. That crusade was a definite factor in Britain's unpreparedness when the foe struck. Time tragically proved it was no hour to exchange a clean sword for an olive branch.

"In America, a man stood up in a free pulpit to preach. He quoted detached sentences from the Christ whose hand held the lash when His Father's House was made a den of thieves, and whose eyes were often as a flame of fire. The preacher declared that evil, no matter how diabolical, was never to be resisted with any physical weapons. Rhetorically, he asked, 'What has a sword ever accomplished worthwhile?'

"In a pew was a worshiper in whose heart was an aching void and in whose home was a Gold Star, speaking of the valor of a young crusader who marched forth with a righteous sword and came not back. At the church door, following the service, that worshiper said to the clergyman: 'I can tell you one thing that the righteous sword has done.'

"What", asked the minister. "Replied the listener with deep feeling: 'The sword in the hand of those who have resisted militant evil has given you the right to stand here today and to proclaim your convictions without fear of being liquidated.'

"The one who had publicly said that rampant evil was never to be resisted by force paused for a moment and then acknowledged, 'I am afraid I cannot refute that.'

"There is no refutation in God's World and man's for the flash of the righteous sword.'

Without impugning motives of any man, it all devolves down to the question of appraising the kind of world in which we live. Should we trust those who have historically avowed to destroy our Nation or be prepared to defend ourselves at whatever the costs?

Vandals Damage Swimming Pool
The Mills County Swimming Pool property in Goldthwaite suffered some damage from vandalism the past weekend, according to announcement by City Manager W. C. Barnett.
A party, or parties, entered the property and broke a lavatory room and piled it and other items on the floor of another room. They also turned on a two inch water line at the back of the pool.
They apparently had the idea of filling the pool but the water lines were adjusted so that the water was running down the creek instead.
Barnett stated that the damage and running water was discovered Monday morning. He also noted that whoever did the job had to have tools to turn on the water.
