POULTRY TRAINING SCHOOL

Miss Myrtle Murry, Poultry Specialist, of College Station, will be in Pampa on Saturday, February 11th, to assist Miss Bess Winters, County Demonstration Agent, of Gray County, in conducting a Poultry Training School at that place.

We should like to see everybody from this section who possibly can, go to Pampa a week from Saturday to hear Miss Murry. She knows poultry and can be of great help to you in getting your spring flock started. In the morning, beginning promptly at 10 o'clock, she will take up the subject of "Profitable Poultry Raising," at which time you may feel perfectly free to ask questions incident to organizing a poultry association, or more personal questions regarding your own flock at home. In the afternoon, Miss Murry's program will consist of two lectures: "Incubation and Care of Baby Chicks," and "Feeding for Egg Production." This poultry training school is free to everybody and Miss Winters wants everyone to feel that they are personally invited to attend and take advantage of the opportunity it offers to learn more about profitable poultry raising.

O. B. HARDIN FOR SHERIFF AND TAX COLLECTOR

O. B. Hardin, this week authorizes the Chief to announce his candidacy for election to the office of Sheriff and Tax Collector of Roberts County, subject to the will of the voters at the Democratic Primary in July.

Mr. Hardin has served as sheriff of Roberts County for six years and filled the office very satisfactorily. He asks for re-election on his record while in the office and we are sure that it was good enough that the voters would do well to consider it before casting their vote. He is so well known to the voters of the county that we feel it superfluous to say a great deal. Remember he asks your vote, and consider his request well.

LYCEUM NUMBER GOOD

The number of the Lyceum Course given Saturday night at the Auditorium was fine and Miss Goude is an excellent entertainer as those who attended can testify. The weather was very disagreeable and the attendance was not as good as it would have been otherwise, but those who stayed away missed an excellent number.

The next number of the course comes on Saturday, February 11th. The Dixie Trio. The Trio is an excellent musical number and you will miss one of the best numbers of the course if you don't attend. Their program consists for a great part of the beautiful old Southern Melodies that never grow old. Be sure and hear them.

VISIT HOG SALE

The Vocational Agricultural class from Miami High School left for Shamrock Friday afternoon on a two and a half days trip during which time they attended the big Duroc Jersey sale put on by the Lillard Stock Farms, at Shamrock, Saturday afternoon. While on the trip they visited the small ranch and inspected his herd of fine Aberdeen Angus Cattle. They had a mighty enjoyable time while gone and camped out both nights. A bunch of the same boys went Tuesday afternoon to Pampa with Mr. Willis to take in Harley Talley's big hog sale.

Marvin Lewis, of Canadian visited friends here Saturday afternoon.

TEACHERS EXAMINATION THIS WEEK

A Teachers Examination will be held in Miami Friday and Saturday of this week, probably at the school building. The examination is open only to applicants from Roberts County, and no certificates will be issued to persons under 18, even if they pass the examination, however persons younger than 13 may take the examination if they so desire.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR RALLY

After a great religious revival had been held in a congregational church in Portland, Me. Dr. Francis E. Clark, the pastor, felt the need of some organization to train the young people. So to meet this need on February 2, 1881 the young people organized the first Young Peoples Society. There were about forty members of this society, the object was to promote earnest Christian lives among its members and to train them for real service for God.

This society prospered, under the hand of God, and was later called Christian Endeavor.

February 2, 1922 Christian Endeavor celebrates its 41st birthday. The movement from such a small beginning has spread to these forty-one years until there are C. E. Societies in every nation of the known world. And has a membership which reaches into millions. Eighty-one denominations support C. E.

February 5-12, has been designated, as "Christian Endeavor week," by the united Society of C. E. It should be observed by every C. E. Society in the world.

Miami Christian Endeavor Society is planning for a special meeting February 5th at 6:15.

Topic: C. E. Around the World.

Leader:—Helen Worley.

On February 12, A Big Christian Endeavor Rally will be held Sunday afternoon. We are expecting visitors from Amarillo, Dumas and Pampa.

We hope to have a crowd of our own folks to show them Miami Christian Endeavor is on the map.

Come, bring your friends whether you are a C. E. member or not.

NEW PASTOR OF CHURCH OF CHRIST

Eld G. A. Lamberth, of Wheeler, moved here Tuesday with his family, to take the pastorage of the Church of Christ, which has been without a pastor for some time. They have moved into the parsonage belonging to the church. Eld Lamberth has preached here several times and is well known to Miami people, who are glad to welcome him and his family into the community.

LEGION TO PRESENT "PEG O' MY HEART"

The Legion boys and the Auxiliary are putting in some hard likes this week getting ready to give their play "Peg O' My Heart," which will be given in the High School Auditorium, next Thursday night, February night. The story of the play is that of a pretty Irish girl, whose mother was cast off by her people on account of her marriage to a poor Irishman. The girl was brought to England and raised as a lady by her mother's people. She has many adventures, comic and pathetic and receives several proposals from men who are ambitious for her wealth. But in the end she finds the "Ong Man" in all the world and finds "there's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream."

Its a play that will hold you tense with interest from the start to the very finish, and you must see it.

Tickets will be on sale the first of the week, the Boys Scouts acting as salesmen. Get your tickets early for they are going to go fast.

INCOME TAX COLLECTOR HERE

Frank E. Buckingham, deputy collector of the Internal Revenue service will have an office in Miami on two days, February 20th and 21st, during which time he will be at the service of individual income tax payers to assist them in filling out their 1921 income tax returns. Every person who needs information in regard to making their returns, or wants assistance in filling out the forms should bear these dates in mind so as to get his assistance.

OLD MAN HEARE WARNS HIS N. S. CLUB TO BEWARE OF

Female Bandits! et al!

"A Louisiana Woman is charged with being head of Arson Trust."

"A woman bandit slugs a Butcher Shop Proprietor, with the butt end of a revolver and grabs $240 from her victims stockings and escapes."

"Woman stenographer of the First State Bank of Texline is charged with forging $1,600 in checks and is under bond of $2,000 at Dalhart, Texas."

"A colored lady shoots her poor, innocent husband while he sleeps."

"A colored lady found guilty of murder by Dallas Jury and given a penalty of 25 years in the penitentiary."

Females are considered very dangerous at the present time and you should heed the admonitions of your watchful President.

If any of our members desire to marry a female, let him first consult me.

Old Man Heare, President.

SCOUTS' PARENTS MEETING

Monday night the Boy Scouts of Miami Troop No. 1, held an open meeting for their parents, at which there were over forty guests. Thirty scouts were present. The Scouts had prepared a program demonstrating the different features of the work they are doing which gave their parents a deeper insight into the wonderful influence the scout work can have on their boys in making good citizens of them, and we are sure that after Monday nights meeting they will work harder than ever for the success of the scout movement in Miami.

M. M. Craig, Scout Master had prepared a speech, but owing to a severe cold he was unable to give it and it was read by Rev. Ellis Wells. Mr. Craig supplemented the speech with a short heart-to-heart talk with the parents, after which the mothers of the boys served a delicious luncheon. The boys of the troop presented Scoutmaster Craig with $25. in cash as a small token of their appreciation of him and his work for them.

We are sure that the meeting Monday night will mark a change in the attitude of the parents to the scout ideas and work and will make of them, everyone, boosters, for the Boy Scouts.

HOME PROGRESS CLUB NOTES

The Home Progress Club met in regular session Thursday afternoon January 6, at the J. E. Kinney home with fifteen members and one guest present. After Roll Call and the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, Mrs. N. S. Locke took charge of the meeting the subject being "Sidney Lanier" a musician and writer of the south.

Others on the program were Mesdames Claude Locke, B. F. Jackson, Dan Kivlehen and Olive Dixon. Each one of our club meetings for the year 1921 and '22 which has had for their study "Southern Literature" has brought out some interesting facts, here to fore unknown by the most of us and has helped to make us more appreciative of our southern writers.

During a business session the club voted to frame the pictures bought from the Elson Art Co. and will see that they are hung in the different rooms at the school house right away.

The Home Progress Club made application some time ago to become a Federated club and was notified through our secretary, Mrs. John Newman that we were accepted with full federate privileges.

We were glad indeed to welcome Mrs. Harry Nelson back after an absence of some time also pleased to have Mrs. Crain as a guest.

While a most delightful social hour was enjoyed our hostess assisted by Mrs. J. L. Seiber, served daintily prepared refreshments consisting of buttered sandwiches, chicken salad, English plum pudding with whipped cream and coffee. While the plates were removed Leon Kinney passed home made mints.

Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Claude Locke February 10th. On account of the Missionary ladies of the Methodist church serving dinner on Thursday the club will meet one day later. Please do not get the dates mixed.

HEREFORD SALE

The Red Deer Hereford Breeders Association announces that their third Annual Sale will take place here on February 15th. 51 head of cat-are to be offered, 37 bulls and 14 cows. Remember the date and make it a point to be on hand. 1-27c

INCOME TAX FACTS

In making out his income tax return for 1921, the average taxpayer will find a considerable saving in comparison with the amount of tax paid on the same income for 1920.

The exemption provided by the revenue act of 1921 are $1,000 for single persons (the term including widows, widowers, divorcees, and persons separated from husbands and wife by mutual agreement,) $2,500 for married persons whose net income was $5,000 or less, and $2,000 for married persons whose net income was $5,000 or more. Under the revenue act of 1918 the personal exemption allowed a married person was $2,000, regardless of the amount of net income. The personal exemption allowed a married person applies also to the head of a family, man or woman who supports in one household one or more relatives by blood, marriage, or adoption.

The exemptions for dependents—a person who receives his chief support from the taxpayer and who is under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective—is increased from $200 to $400.

The act requires that a return be filed by every single person whose net income for 1921 was $1,000 or more, every married person whose net income was $2,000 or more, and by every person—single or married—whose gross income was $5,000 or more.

The requirement to file a return of gross income of $5,000 or more regardless of net income is a new provision. Net income is gross income less certain specified deductions for business expenses, losses, bad debts, etc., which are fully explained on the forms.

Returns must be filed by married couples whose combined net income for 1921, including that of dependent minor children, equaled or exceeded $2,000, or if the combined gross income equaled or exceeded $5,000.

The period for filing returns is from January 1 to March 15, 1922. Heavy penalties are provided for failure or "willful refusal" to file a return on time.

Forms 1040A for incomes of $5,000 and less and 1040A for incomes in excess of $5,000 may be obtained from the offices of collectors of internal revenue and branch offices. The tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return, or in four equal installments, due on or before March 15, June 15, September 15, and December 15.

YOUNG FOLKS ENTERTAINED

Tuesday of last week a number of young folks spent the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Talley.

The evening was spent in playing games and answering questions to contests. When the time came that every one was exhausted in mind Mrs. Talley read the contest answers.

Willie Fay Newman, William Martin and Charlie Russell tied in the contest on drawing straws for the winner. Willie Fay was the lucky one and received a box of chocolate as the prize. Maxwell Gray receiving a stick of Red candy as booby prize.

Now for the test, a table was set with three different kind of cake, hot chocolate and whipped cream. The rest of the evening was filled with music. The party was given in honor of Mr. and Miss Pulaski who are visiting here from Alabama.

A Guest.

Oran Coffee came in on the afternoon train yesterday from California.

HELP INVALIDS TO FORGET

Presence of a Canary or Goldfish in the Sickroom Invariably Has Beneficial Effect.

Next time you sit in a room, the furnishings of which include a bowl of goldfish, consider how much time you spend watching the small fish as they swim slowly about or dart about in pursuit of each other.

Probably you will conclude you are indulging the usual tendency of the normal person to be attracted to moving objects. In sick persons and convalescents this tendency is more pronounced, and in the aged and very young it is still more so.

That psychology of this attraction has been given by Dr. Edward N. Leavy, formerly veterinarian to the animals in Central park zoo. He is now connected with a Fifth avenue pet store. "Sick persons lying in bed spend a great deal of time watching the goldfish if an aquarium is in their room," he said. "It takes their minds off their pains and aches and is very beneficial."

Canaries share with goldfish the honor of being the chief animate entertainment to the sick.—New York Sun.

One isn't troubled much by the laws against violence if he isn't troubled.

The Wrong Foot.

From a telegram recently received by the district superintendent of an Indian railway from a Babu station master: "Coming on duty early in the morning clad in my new and white uniform I perceived a man seated on a box in a naked and aggressive manner. Taking him to be an ordinary passenger, I proceeded to slap him, whereupon he hastily arose, unlocked the said box, clad himself in a policeman's uniform he took thereout and arrested me. The shoe is thus situated on the erroneous peddle. Please arrange."—London Morning Post.

National Emblems. The rose, England's national flower, was chosen as the country's symbol at the close of the War of the Roses. The shamrock is firmly imbedded in Irish hearts because St. Patrick used it to illustrate one of his sermons. The thistle was adopted as the national emblem of Scotland because, in the reign of Malcolm II, a moat filled with thistles saved a Scotch fortress from Danish invasion.

A Forgotten Art. In New York's streets there may be counted hundreds of signs that read "Watchmaker." Yet perhaps less than a dozen of such concerns could make a watch.

The crooked path is longest.

TRAFFIC WEAR ON BRIDGES

New Instrument Measures With Scientific Precision the Effect of Every Shock.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

A new instrument devised by the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture measures with scientific precision the effect of every shock and blow delivered by moving vehicles in crossing a bridge. Attached to any part of the bridge structure, this instrument makes a photographic record of the effect of the moving load. The amount of stretching or shortening of the part as a result of the shocks is represented by a fine black line on the photograph.

No blow or shock can be delivered so quickly that the instrument will not record its effect. It has never before been possible to measure the effect of such blows. Engineers have long been able to calculate the effect of standing loads very exactly; but because of their inability to measure the effect of quickly delivered blows or impacts, they have never been able to proportion the various parts of a bridge with absolute assurance. It has been necessary to make a liberal allowance for this unknown quantity. In some cases the allowance has not been sufficient and the bridges have collapsed under moving loads.

Many bridges still in service are probably too weak to withstand safely the sharp blows of swiftly moving vehicles, though they will safely carry the same vehicles at rest or moving at slow speed. The familiar warning posted at the portals of a bridge: "Speed limit on this bridge eight miles per hour," means that the design of the bridge to which it is attached is not strong enough to allow for impact. In the light of the recent experiments with motortrucks in which it was shown that a swiftly moving motortruck may strike a blow equivalent to seven times its actual weight, it is rather surprising, the department road experts say, that failures have been so few.

It is believed this new measuring instrument will soon do away with uncertainty. The knowledge gained by its use will enable the engineer to design bridges which are sure to hold up under fast-moving vehicles, and to build such bridges without undue waste of material and money.

GOOD ROADS AID PROSPERITY

Sum of $300,000,000 Lost Last Year by Farmers Unable to Get to Market Over Highways.

Good roads are the greatest single factors in securing and maintaining "community prosperity." Last year the sum of $300,000,000 was lost by farmers in being unable to market their products over bad roads. Roads that are impassable during part of the year cost farmers in every community thousands of dollars a week.

When one stops to think that in every township laid out in sections there are 72 miles of roads, it is easy to imagine the mileage of roads in this country, says a writer in an Exchange. Of these hundreds of thousands of miles of roads and streets, comparatively few miles are paved, and a noted authority on road building prophesies that not more than 8 per cent of all the roads in this country will be paved by 1928.

It would be excellent if we could have all hard roads—brick, concrete or macadam roads, which are good all-year roads. We should have more of them. But it is impracticable to pave every country road. However, it is just as important to have good laterals leading to the main roads as it is to have hard surfaced main roads. So we must do the best we can and properly maintain our dirt roads and streets.

Automobiles Must Take Turn. Twenty-one thousand miles of roads have been built with federal aid in the last five years, and these, of course, help out a whole lot, but progress may have to be even greater in road building unless the automobiles are to take turn about.

Pavements. Motortrucks ruin pavements about as fast as they are laid. As fast as pavements get stronger, trucks get larger and loads heavier.

Help Your Kidneys Fight That Cold!
Winter Colds and Chills Weaken the Kidneys and Are the Direct Cause of Many Serious Kidney Disorders

Is winter-time your backache-time? Does every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you lame, aching and all worn out? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going another day?

Then look to your kidneys! Grip, colds and chills throw a heavy strain on the kidneys. They overload the blood with poisons and impurities that the kidneys have to filter off. The kidneys weaken under this rush of new work; become congested and inflamed.

It's little wonder then, that every cold finds you suffering with torturing backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities.

But don't worry! Simply realize that your kidneys are overworked at such times and need assistance. Get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills today and give your weakened kidneys the help they need. Assist them also by drinking pure water freely, eating lightly, and getting plenty of fresh air and rest. Doan's Kidney Pills have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Good Folks:

FRANK PAVLIK, Hanover, Kans., says: "I have had attacks of backache and sore muscles in my hands and hips so bad I could hardly get up or down. These attacks have come on when I have taken cold or strained my back. The first attack I had was regular lumbago and a friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills. About one box of Doan's cured me of that attack and since then whenever my back hurts me I have only to take a few Doan's when the trouble leaves me."

MRS. RUBT BARR, Elm St., Pawnee, Okla., says: "My kidneys were weak and painful. If I took cold or overworked, I had attacks of backache that made me so miserable I could hardly keep on my feet to do my ironing. Headaches were a constant annoyance, too. Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to relieve these attacks and stop the backaches. The other signs of kidney complaint were removed by Doan's, also."

THINK UNCLE SAM FAIR GAME

Postmaster Asserts That Even the Best Class of Citizens Will Attempt to Cheat Him.

"Many good people," said a postmaster, "try to cheat the post. Clergymen, you know, will smuggle. Well, I've caught missionaries film-damming the post office."

"A missionary in Spain used to send thick bundles of Spanish newspapers to his sister. Inside the newspapers would be hidden kid gloves, boxes of sardines, fine Spanish embroideries, letters, all kinds of things."

"There's a deacon in this town who can't see a poorly canceled stamp but he must peel it off the envelope, wash it and use it again. Of course, we always bowl him out."

"The worst game ever tried on us, though, was the work of a professional revivalist. He took an old, canceled postcard, scratched out the cancellation marks with a sharp knife, wrote his message on a piece of paper that he pasted on the card's reverse side, and then tried to send the thing through the mails."

"All these people are good people. Good people, as I said before—people who wouldn't steal a cent—are continually tempted to cheat the customs and the post."—Detroit Free Press.

Daddy in a Bad Way.

Six-year-old Lois, whose father is professor of English at the university, delights in using "big" words. One day she heard her mother saying over the phone to one of her husband's students:

"No, Mr. B— cannot keep his appointment, I'm afraid; he is very much indisposed this afternoon."

Some days later Lois, while playing, was overheard to say to an imaginary caller at the door:

"No; my husband cannot see you today; he is very much decomposed!"—Indianapolis Star.

WESTERN CANADA Land of Prosperity
offers to home seekers opportunities that cannot be secured elsewhere. The thousands of farmers from the United States who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on FREE homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops. There is still available on easy terms Fertile Land at $15 to $30 an Acre
—land similar to that which through many years has yielded from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre—oats, barley and flax also in great abundance, while raising horses, cattle, sheep and hogs is equally profitable. Hundreds of farmers in western Canada have raised crops in a single season worth more than the whole cost of their land. With such success comes property, independence, good homes and all the comforts and conveniences which make life worth living.

You are entitled to the benefit of the doubt. Why not take advantage of it?
The law is very careful in protecting the rights of a prisoner charged with a crime.
How about the Law of Common Sense and the man who has committed an error only? Isn't this a good place to use the benefit of the doubt, too?
Take your own case: If you don't know for sure whether tea or coffee is harming you, you do know that many are harmed by the drug element in tea and coffee, and that headaches, nervousness, or high blood pressure are symptoms which often tell that the drug, caffeine, is giving the nervous system too much jolt.
Probably you know, too, that some people can't drink a cup of tea or coffee at bed-time, and sleep well that night.
Where many have been harmed by tea and coffee, and you may be harmed, isn't it well to put the benefit of the doubt on your side before doubt becomes an unpleasant certainty?
There's charm without harm in Postum—a pure cereal beverage, rich in flavor, fully satisfying; the favorite table drink of thousands.
Suppose you try giving yourself this benefit today, and keep up the test for ten days; then judge the results. See if you don't feel better and work better. You can get Postum wherever good food and drink are sold or served.
Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE
 In virtue of a certain order of sale issued out of the District Court of Roberts County, Texas, on the 13th day of January, A. D. 1922, in Cause No. 98, between Lewis E. Allen, doing business as Lewis E. Allen Refining Co., a plaintiff, and W. A. George and J. A. Coffey, a firm, a corporation, are defendants, and to be directed and delivered, I did on the 31st day of January, A. D. 1922, sell and take into my possession the personal property hereinafter described, and in accordance with said order of sale I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, at the Court House door of Roberts County, Texas, in the town of Miami, on the 15th day of February, A. D. 1922, the said property described as follows:
 Two Fordson Tractors, Motor Nos. 60554 and 50795.
 One 14-7 Amson Seed Drill Power Lift.
 One 7-foot Oliver Tandem Disc Harrow.
 Two D-41 Oliver Chilled Disc Plows.
 Said property will be sold to satisfy the judgment in said cause which is dated September 28, 1921, for the principal sum of Ten Hundred and Thirty-one and 55/100 ($1481.55) Dollars, with interest thereon from date of said judgment at the rate of ten per cent per annum, and costs of suit.
 WITNESS my hand this 31st day of January, 1922.
 L. A. Coffey,
 Sheriff of Roberts County, Texas.

They Appeal to Our Sympathies
 The illness and dyspepsia are constant sufferers and appeal to our sympathies. Many such, however, have been completely restored to health by the use of Chamberlain's Tablets. These tablets strengthen the stomach, invigorate the liver and improve the digestion. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels. When you have any trouble with your stomach, give them a trial.

Lockey Benson—Aching about business being bad will not cure it, but will rather make it worse. A fellow with a bad case of the backside is not going to cure it by howling or aching. The thing to do is to apply some well-known remedy that will hit the spot and relieve the pain. The same is true about business. If business is bad, get a handle on and make it better. The hen does not quit scratching because the worms are scary, but scratches the more. Keep on hustling!—Lubbock Avalanche.
 Pretty timely suggestions for the man of short business vision. The trouble with so many in business these days is that they have thrown up the sponge. We heard a traveling man remark a short time ago in this wise: "For the past several years a boy could sell goods, but it now takes a full-grown, experienced business man to get by." This is a time that is trying business men, and there are going to be some that will not be able to weather the storm. The man who studies his business, and the man who has faith in the country and in his own business ability, will be able to get through and make some money. The man who sits down and whines like a dog on his haunches is going to come out of the little end of the horn. Some men drive business away from them by talking hard times, and telling every customer that comes into their store that the country is going to the dogs. One

SOO SOO CLUB

The Soo Soo Club met January 31, at the home of Mrs. Will Davis with Mrs. Mason Davis as hostess.

This was our regular Social afternoon although some took their work, they were not allowed to work. We were each given a card by which we found our partner and table. We then spent the afternoon in playing "42."

The hostess served to ten members and two visitors a delicious lap luncheon consisting of sandwiches, pickles, salad, coffee, cake, frappe and whipped cream.

Our next meeting will be with Mrs. D. I. Barnett February 17. P. R.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The entertainment given at Mrs. Ewing by the Missionary Society Wednesday afternoon was well attended and a very pleasant afternoon passed.

The program was good and a nice plate lunch was served. We wish to thank everyone who helped to make this afternoon a success.

Remember that the ladies will serve a chicken dinner. Thursday of next week at the old Cap Rock building. All the women in the Missionary Society are urged to get in behind the local committee and make this dinner what it must be. All the members of the church are asked to donate cooked food and sent it to us at the building. Pres Reporter.

S. M. McKee and son, of Goodnight, Texas, were here Thursday afternoon last week, and while here Mr. McKee called at the Chief office and ordered a nice lot of stationery, and renewed his subscription, so that he might keep up with the happenings here, he being a former resident of the Mobeetie neighborhood.

Erve Black, now residing in Colorado Springs was here the first of the week, renewing old acquaintances. He was Tax Assessor here for several years and is well known to the old timers of the locality. He is at present traveling representative for the Farm Journal.

Mr. Strader, of the Canadian Hog Company was a business visitor here Monday and Tuesday. The Canadian Company shipped ten cars of hogs to California Tuesday evening, two of them going from here, G. B. Alexander going with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Certain returned home from Hutchinson, Kansas, Monday night. They had been there for two weeks, during which time Carl submitted to an operation for appendicitis.

Guy Coffee left Sunday afternoon for Lemars, Iowa, to go back to his work for the Sanders Contracting Co. He has been visiting his parents here since the holidays.

B. C. Rogers, was down from Hoover Tuesday and left $1.50 with us so that he might be assured the regular visits of the Chief for a year.

A Judicious Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade, says he has often heard druggists ask a customer, who wished to buy a cough medicine, whether it was for a child or an adult and if for a child, they almost invariably recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it and for colds, croup and whooping cough it is unsurpassed.

The response to our little editorial last week in regard to the keeping up of your subscription to date, has been very good, but there are a lot of folks yet who are neglecting it. Remember we want to give you a Chief that you will be proud to have in the community, and we have to have the cash to get it up to that standard and keep it there.

ELECTION YEAR 1922.

Old Man Heare Han-rangues his Club on their Political duties for 1922.

My Dear, patriotic Comrades:

Your zeal and fidelity too the principles of our order, you well know adherence to your various political parties, to-wit:

Democratic, Republican, Socialist, and Bolshevick marks you as pillars of the best thought, the best informed, the safest guides to unsophisticated voters both Male and Female. Hence, you will be approached, your wisdom will be put to serve tests, wide influence will be sought after. The words of council that falls from your lips, and even the wink of one or both of your eyes will perhaps be seized upon, and used for Political Bunkum. How necessary then that you heed that commands of your chief, and that you be 'wise as serpents and as harmless as doves.'

If you desire to boost for a favorite candidate of the Male variety, even if you know he stole hogs and has a shady reputation otherwise, you have a perfect right to say: He is well made and that his Father before him was a fine old man.

If it is a Female candidate that has won a place in your political affections, you have a perfect right to exhaust the english language and use some Latin in her behalf; "Bro. Bone Publico" or words to that effect.

When Moses sat down on the rocks of Gibraltar, and plucked the sweet flowers of contentment "in the shade of the old apple tree." He did it—"Pro Bono Publico."

When Napoleon crossed the Mississippi to conquer proud Arkansas, he drew his golden hilted sword, "Pro Bono Publico." Consider carefully these facts gleaned from Ancient history.

Take into consideration the economic conditions at the various stages of human endeavor, and you will doubtless agree with me that it is now a propitious time for candidates to announce for the various offices. "For the public good."

The crop of starters will be large, most every one will run for office, male and female.

Sit steadfast, be careful, use no violent exertion, nor strenuous language, in all cases of doubt be doubtful, exercise your inalienable rights, "Pro Bono Publico."

Earnestly submitted,
Old Man Heare,
Your President.

The ladies of the Missionary Society are viging a chicken dinner next Thursday, in the old Cap Rock building and the want YOU to come. 1-27c.

-- SYNOPSIS --

Margaret O'Connell, whose mother was cast off by her people on account of her marriage to a poor Irishman, is brought to England to be raised as a lady by her mother's people.

She has many adventures, both comic and pathetic, among which are several proposals from men ambitious for her wealth.

But in the end she finds "the One Man in all the world", and discovers that "There' nothing half so sweet in life as Love's young dream."

You will want a bottle of the wonderful Tanlac remedy. You can get it from Central Drug Store.

Pretty Things That are made at Home

THE pretty vogue for artificial flowers, as decorations for the home, seems to have come to stay. The shops are showing them in many varieties and often remarkably true to life, made by those who have become expert in manufacturing millinery flowers. These same blossoms, varnished and stiffened with clear shellac, have the appearance of conventional "china" flowers, and they are immensely admired. But neither of these varieties exceeds in beauty those made at home of crepe paper—especially the well-loved garden flowers—as roses, poppies, hollyhocks, cosmos, chrysanthemums, that turn out most successfully in crepe paper. They are used just as natural flowers are, in vases or baskets. Sometimes these receptacles are made at home also, of paper rope. Two sprays of hollyhocks and a cluster of cosmos blossoms have been selected for illustration because they are startlingly lifelike.

It is an old established custom to use baskets or plates of artificial fruits as a finishing touch to the furnishings of the dining or living room, and marvelous reproductions of them are offered in the stores. They are usually somewhat expensive imports. A few of these fruits can be made at home also, of such everyday, commonplace materials as cotton and sealing wax.

These fruits have cotton balls as foundation attached to short pieces of wire for stems. The cotton is covered with wax, heated to the point where it will run, and shaped by turning and modeling with the fingers while it cools. Several colors may be blended together in this way. After the fruit is shaped and cooled, it is heated again—not to the melting point, but enough to give it a glossy finish, and cooled by dipping it in cold water.

Tuxedos and Slip-Overs.

Either paper or millinery foliage is used with both fruit and flowers and wire is wound with green paper for the stems.

Roses, carnations, cosmos and chrysanthemums are made of crepe paper with such fidelity to the natural flowers that it is hard to distinguish between them at a little distance. The paper roses and carnations are sometimes scented with the perfume of these blossoms, adding something to the pleasure they give. Making them is fascinating work and they are so inexpensive that every house may be brightened by them. Fruits are a little more difficult for the amateurs, but they are lasting and will repay the experiment and the small investment in wire, paper, sealing wax and cotton.

slip-overs that fulfill the promise in their name, and they need no fastenings. Almost all sweaters are provided with a girdle to match.

Brittle Nails.

If your finger nails are brittle, and most housewives have this trouble to contend with because they must have their hands in water so many times each day, acquire the habit of rubbing a little vaseline or olive oil on them every night before retiring and this condition will soon disappear.

Queer Customs in New Hebrides

Strange Rites Over Shark Which Natives Bury Annually in Their "Sing-Sing."

CHIEFS HONORED IN EFFIGY

Make Crude Statue of Clay and Fibre and Hold Festivities Around It—Number of Skirts Indicates Woman's Rank.

Washington, D. C.—A proposal of the French society of the New Hebrides to sell to Australia their concessions in the islands which form a large Y in the South Pacific, north of New Zealand and west of Fiji, recalls the strange rites over the shark, which the native men of Ranno island bury annually in their "Sing-Sing" or ceremony grounds," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society from its Washington (D. C.) headquarters.

The inhabitants of this interesting archipelago, composed of 12 large and 100 smaller islands, believe in witchcraft and all sorts of signs and omens, particularly in the spirits of their departed ancestors and in gods which are thought to be incorporated in certain stones or animals. Every village has its dancing ground. Here the natives meet on moonlight nights and perform wild and fantastic antics to the booming of their deep drums, some of which, six feet or more in height and carved from the trunks of trees, are capable of making terrible noises.

Honor Chiefs in Effigy.

"One fantastic rite among them is the memorializing of their chiefs in effigy. A crude statue of clay and fibre, representing the flesh and hair of the chief as he looked in real life, is made, his actual skull being used for the framework of the head, and around this the festivities take place.

"For years the natives of the islands were the prey of the 'Black-birders,' or labor pirates, because they are generally considered more industrious and sturdier of build than the average kanaka. They are reputed to have cannibalistic tendencies, to be treacherous and of uncertain temper, facts probably due in some measure to the treatment to which they were subjected by these traders. They are of Melanesian stock, below the medium in stature, and accentuate the ugliness in their broad, black faces and receding foreheads by sticking coconut fiber in their hair and adorning their ears and flat noses with rings. They pride themselves upon their weapons—spears, clubs, bows, and poisoned arrows—some of which are beautiful in design and elaborate in pattern.

"The women hold a degraded position among them, the wives of the more important members of the race increasing the number of skirts which they wear at one time as an indication of their rank, the 'poo-bah's' wife wearing as many as 40 of them. The 'better half' of a man is sometimes buried alive with her husband upon his death.

"Quiros, the Portuguese navigator, in 1606, was the first white man to see the rugged outline of the coast of the islands, which rise abruptly out of the deep sea in the hurricane zone of the tropics. Believing he had discovered the great southern continent which was at that time the dream of navigators, Quiros may be compared to Columbus, who thought he had found a route to India when he sighted the palm fringed shores of the West Indies.

"He called his discovery Australia del Espritu Santo, which has been shortened by traders to Santo and is applied to the largest island of the group.

Isle of Monster Fruits.

"Countless streams cut Santo, which is 64 miles long and 32 miles wide, into broad, fertile valleys. From its shores and those of the neighboring islands tons of copra are sent to Syd-

Uncle Sam Opens Shop For Stamp Collectors

Stamp collectors and dealers hereafter will be able to buy stamps for their collections direct from the Post Office department in Washington. Postmaster General Hays has issued an order for the establishment of a philatelic stamp agency in the department, to meet the long unmet demand of collectors to be able to buy stamps, particularly special issues frequently not obtainable in post offices, direct from the department. Rare and obsolete issues also will be available through the agency, but all sales are to be on a strictly cash basis.

ney, Australia, and shipped from there to soap makers the world over. Coffee, cocoa and vanilla, as well as tropical fruits, grow in abundance. Oranges are said to grow so large that both a man's hands can scarcely span one of them, and the pineapples of the islands sometimes weigh 20 pounds. So rich is the soil and luxuriant the vegetation, that in many places 5,000 sheep can be kept on two thousand acres of land.

"Vila harbor, which is set between mountain peaks and gemmed with islands, is the most important commercially among the many commodious and strategic harbors, which the islands afford. The scattered little village, which does under the shelter of its palm trees, has built no pier to encourage its shipping. The cargoes must be landed by the natives in small boats. Though the progress of conquering nations has left its mark in the Catholic and Presbyterian churches and the large wireless station, the town is essentially native in character with its thatched-roofed houses set amid the colorful hibiscus blossoms, and sometimes fortified with stone walls."

AMERICANS LOSE LUXURY TAX

Forget Their Receipts, So French Government Does Not Refund Sums.

Paris, France.—Several French newspapers are protesting against what they term "the misplaced generosity" of the government in refunding to Americans, when they return to the United States, the 10 per cent luxury tax they have paid on purchases. The newspapers say the government is giving away hundreds of thousands of francs in this way which rightfully belong to the country.

Americans have read these protests with not a little surprise. Many who have tried to get back the total of their luxury tax have discovered the difficulties are many. The first and most essential demand of the government officials at the port of embarkation is that all receipts of purchases must be presented. Luxury tax concerns women almost entirely, and most of them forget or lose these receipts.

Those who know of this demand are comparatively few, so the luxury tax, so far as most homeward-bound Americans are concerned, usually remains in France.

"LOVE METER" GUIDES SWAINS

Device Records Heart Flutters—Happy Marriages Promised by Scientists.

New York.—The wizards of science now have a mechanical contrivance by which the quality of love may be measured by observing the exaggerated effect of the lover's presence on the heart action of his lady.

Such was the announcement of the Society for Electrical Development in describing the workings of the "telegraphophone," an instrument by the use of which, its inventor declared, unhappy marriages might be prevented.

All that is necessary to insure results, the inventor explained, is for the doubtful swain to adjust the device over the heart of his intended, whisper a well-calculated word into her ear and watch the indicator. If it flutters violently, then all is well and the banes may be published, but if not, beware!

Great Light as Columbus Tomb

Receiver General Pulliam's Idea for Memorial to the Great Discoverer.

FUND OF $500,000 IS NEEDED

Contents That Columbus' Bones Are in Santo Domingo—Says All Americans Should Contribute to Fund.

New York.—One of the most interesting undertakings interrupted by the war was that of building a great tomb and lighthouse over the remains of Christopher Columbus in Santo Domingo. It was the idea of William E. Pulliam, then receiver general of customs of the Dominican Republic, and his wife. When Mr. Pulliam left New York recently to resume that post he said that the plans for the monument would be taken up again. If they are carried to completion a lofty mausoleum, like that of Napoleon in Les Invalides in Paris, or Grant's tomb, on Riverside drive, will rise over the remains of Columbus and a giant beacon crowning it will light the way of boats plying the Caribbean sea.

Remains in Santo Domingo.

There is general contention as to where the authentic remains of Columbus really lie. Many authorities, especially those in Spain, maintain that the bones were removed from Santo Domingo to Havana in 1795 and thence in 1898 to Seville, Spain, but other historians and experts, with whom Mr. Pulliam agrees, say that these are the remains either of Columbus's son, Diego, or his grandson, Luis, and that a leaden casket dug up in the cathedral of Santo Domingo in 1877 containing human bones has been established through inscriptions and historical records as the coffin of the discoverer.

The following extracts are from letters written by Mr. Pulliam in 1914 to the Pan-American Union in Washington and to President Jose Bordas of Santo Domingo regarding his project:

"From my general investigation of the subject, it would appear the unanimous opinion of investigators that the remains of Columbus are in Santo Domingo, where they have lain since brought from Spain about 1537. About twenty years ago the Dominican government set aside and vested in a Junta Colombiana, a tract of land in the heart of the city, for the purpose of erecting thereon a mausoleum for these remains. The location is ideal. It overlooks the sea so often traveled by Columbus on his voyages of discovery, and the anchorage where the humiliated admiral, divested of his authority by Bobadilla, embarked for Spain in October, 1500, in irons. The mausoleum plan failed of completion, but as a substitute a monument was erected in the cathedral, and in a crypt provided therefor the remains are now preserved. The monument, though ornate, is not commensurate with the greatness of Columbus, nor does it constitute a fitting mark for such a world character.

"I have often thought that a mausoleum corresponding in a way to that of Napoleon in Paris or the Grant tomb in New York, should be erected. Its construction to be the concern of the Republic of North, Central and South America and of Canada. A massive tomb could be erected, and on the same a lighthouse superimposed and a powerful light installed to guide by night the path of the present-day perplexed mariner. Each country assisting might supply a marble slab or bronze tablet, suitably inscribed, to be placed in the interior around the sarcophagus."

The total cost of the memorial tomb and lighthouse Mr. Pulliam placed in 1914 at about $500,000. Whatever the present outlook would have to be, it is his and Mrs. Pulliam's view that every individual in the Americas should have his or her chance to contribute to the memorial, and that a levy of 50 cents on each person would probably bring in enough money to see the building through and provide a fund for maintenance and upkeep. His plan has received the enthusiastic endorsement of leaders throughout the American continent and in the Dominican Republic, and he said the unofficial approval of the scheme has recently been expressed by the government at Washington.

FARM LIVE STOCK

FEED FOR FATTENING CATTLE

Data Gathered by Department of Agriculture of Much Value to Producers of Beef.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Data gathered by the United States Department of Agriculture regarding the daily gain and the amount of feed and pasture consumed by 34,004 head of fattening corn-belt farms during the last two winters, are of value to beef producers as an indication of how much feed is required on the average corn-belt farm to produce pounds of gain.

The average weight of all the cattle at the start of the feeding period was 783 pounds, while the final weight

Pasture Is Essential to the Production of Beef.

1,070 pounds, the gain amounting to 284 pounds in a period of 174 days. The average quantity of feed consumed for 100 pounds of gain was 580 pounds of grain, 62 pounds of commercial concentrates, 391 pounds of dry roughage such as hay and corn fodder, 10 pounds of silage, and the equivalent of 30 days of pasturage.

In addition to these complete feeding trials with cattlemen in Iowa, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota, the United States Department of Agriculture is conducting investigations in southwestern Wisconsin to determine the costs and amounts of feed required to fatten cattle on grass and without a supplement, and of feed required to maintain a herd of beef cattle for one year, to raise calves from weaning to yearlings.

SELF-FEEDERS ARE POPULAR

Devices Eliminate Great Portion of Labor Involved and Insure Uniform Results.

Self-feeders for hogs have come into great popularity among farmers because they largely eliminate a great portion of the labor involved in feeding and insure more uniform results and gains from the hogs. Hogs in the wild state were self-feeding animals, living upon such food as would satisfy their appetites, and under domestication they seem to be best when fed by the same principle. The marked success of the self-feeder to the fact that they may be used on an abundance of those feeds which nourish them to the best advantage.

The self-feeder should be designed primarily to keep an available supply of grain constantly before the hog, and at the same time protect the contents against waste due to wind and rain. A self-feeder consists of a hopper to hold the feed and a trough or low pit into which the grain flows as the hogs eat it. Complete plans for the Iowa self-feeder can be obtained from the extension department of State college, Ames, Iowa.

ECONOMICAL BEEF IN SOUTHWEST

Mixture of Silage, Dry Velvet Beans and Cottonseed Meal Is Most Satisfactory.

The United States Department of Agriculture has conducted a steady churning experiment in Mississippi which shows that velvet beans are well adapted for use in making beef. The mixture of silage, dry velvet beans and cotton seed were combined with combinations of silage and velvet beans. The mixture of silage and soaked velvet beans resulted in the most economical and profitable production of beef, while the mixture of silage, dry velvet beans and cotton seed meal proved more satisfactory than the combination of silage and dry velvet beans.

WATCH FOR MOLDY SILAGE

All Stuff Found Decayed Should Be Placed Where Live Stock Cannot Reach It.

In opening the silo it is a good idea to watch out for mold which may be there. These molds are very poisonous to horses and often cause the death of cattle as well.

Be sure that the decayed silage all scraped off the top and put in the livestock cannot get to it. It is poor economy to try and eat the top silage and take a chance of losing valuable stock.

Old Times on Mississippi Not Gone

PETER'S RETURN.

Doctor Strickland, residing in Mill Valley, near San Francisco, has three daughters, Alix, 21, and her sisters, Anne, 24, and Charity, 26. His wife, Mrs.
Joyce, is a devoted friend of the girls. Martin, a valley engineer, has married Cherry, a girl who has been off to El Nido, a mine
in the mountains. Peter,
a young man, has been sent home from the army
because of a "grand passion,"
without the girl. Martin

January, however, he came home
to find her hatted and dressed to go.

"Mart—it's Daddy!" she said.
"I've got to see him! He's my life!"

"I'll go with you," said Martin,
not protesting, but not unsympathetic either.

Answer she gave him the yellow
that was wet with her tears.
"Oh, my dear," he said. "Don't worry,
if you can. Alix."

It was a put-up job between Alix and Martin, said in indis-

fully inherit, but her share would be only a trifle less than her consins'.
Things had reached this point when Justin Little calmly and confidently claimed that Anne's share was to be based upon an old loan of Anne's father to his brother, a loan of three thousand dollars to float Lee Strickland's invention, with the understanding that Vincent Strickland be subsequently entitled to one-third of the returns. As the patent had been sold for nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, one-third of it, with accumulative interest for ten years, of which no payment had ever been made Anne, was a large proportion of the entire estate, and the development of this claim, in Justin Little's assured, wooden voice, caused every one to look grave.

The estate was not worth one hundred and fifty thousand dollars now,
by any means; it had been reduced to little more than two-thirds of that sum, and Anne's bright concern that every one should be satisfied with what was right, and her ingenious pleasure in Justin's cleverness in thinking of this possibility, were met with noticeable coldness.

If Anne was wrong, and the paper
she held in her hand worthless, each girl would inherit a comfortable little fortune, but if Anne was right, Cherry
and Alix would have only a few thousand dollars apiece, and the old home.

The business talk was over before any of them realized the enormity of Anne's contention, and Anne and Justin had departed. But both the old doctor and the lawyer agreed with Martin that it looked as if Anne was right, and when the family was alone
again, and had had the time to digest
the matter, they felt as if a thunderbolt had fallen across their lives.

"That Anne could do it!" Alix said,
over and over. Cherry seemed dazed,
spoke not at all, and Martin had said
"little."

"People will do anything for money,"
he observed once drily. He had met Justin sternly. "I'm not thinking of my wife's share—I didn't marry her for her money; never knew she had any! But I'm thinking of Alix."

"Yes—we must think of darling Alix!" Anne had said, nervously eager that there should be no quarrel. "If Uncle Lee intended me to have all this money, then I suppose I must take it,
but I shan't be happy unless things are arranged so that Alix shall be comfortable."

"But the worst of it is, Alix!"
Cherry stammered, suddenly, on the day before she and Martin were to return to Red Creek, "I—I counted on having enough—enough to live my own life!"

"Your father!" Peter said, shocked.
"But hadn't you heard, Peter?"
"My dear—my dearest child, I'm just off the steamer. I got in at six o'clock. I'd been thinking of you all the time, and I suddenly decided to cross the bay and come straight on to the valley, before I even went to the club or got my mail! Tell me—your father—"

She had knelt before the cold hearth, and he knelt beside her, and they busied themselves with logs and kindling in the old way. A blaze crept up about the logs and Alix accepted Peter's handkerchief and wiped a streak of soot from her wrist,
quite as if she was a child again, as she settled herself in her chair.

Peter took the doctor's chair, keeping his concerned and sympathetic eyes upon her.

"He was well one day," she said,
simply, "and the next—the next, he didn't come downstairs, and Hong waited and waited—and about nine o'clock I went up—and he had fallen
—he had fallen—"

She was in tears again and Peter
put his hand out and covered hers and held it.

"He must have been going to call
some one," said Alix, after a while,
"he said he never suffered at all.
This was January, the last day, and Cherry got here the same night. He knew us both toward morning. And that—that was all. Cherry was here for two weeks. Martin came and went—"

"Where is Cherry now?" Peter interrupted.

"Back at Red Creek," Alix wiped
her eyes. "She hates it, but Martin
had a good position there. Poor Cherry, it made her ill."

"Anne came?"

"Anne and Justin, of course," Peter
could not understand Alix's expression. She fell silent, still holding his hand and looking at the fire.

He looked at her with a great rush of admiration and affection. She was not only a pretty and a clever woman;
but, in her plain black, with this new aspect of gravity and dignity, and
with new notes of pathos and appeal
in her exquisite voice, he realized that she was an extremely charming woman.

Before he said good-by to her, he had asked her to marry him. He well remembered her look of bright and interested surprise.

"D'you mean to tell me you have forgotten your lady love of the hoopskirts and ringlets?" she had demanded.

"No," Peter had told her, frankly.
"I shall always love her, in a way.
But she is married; she never thinks
of me. And I like you so much, Alix;
I like our music and cooking and tramps and reading—together. Isn't that a pretty good basis for marriage?"

"No!" Alix had answered, decidedly.
"Perhaps if I were madly in love with you I should say yes, and trust to little fingers to lead you gently, and so on—"

He remembered ending the conversation in one of his quick moods of irritation against her. If she couldn't take anybody or anything seriously—
he had said.

Poor Alix—she was taking life seriously enough tonight, Peter thought,
as he watched her.

"Tell me about Cherry," he said.
"Cherry is well, but just a little thin,
and heartbroken now, of course. Martin never seems to stay at any one place very long, so I keep hoping—"

"Doesn't make good!" Peter said,
shaking his head.

"Doesn't seem to! It's partly Cherry, I think," Alix said honestly. "She was too young, really. She never quite settles down, or takes life in earnest. But he's got a contract now
for three years, and so she seems to
be resigning herself, and she has a
maid, I believe."

"It's just that I got bad moods," she said, bravely. "I was pretty young to marry at all, I guess."

"Martin loves you," Alix suggested timidly.

"He takes me for granted," Cherry said, after a pause. "There doesn't seem to be anything alive in the feeling between us," she added, slowly. "If he says something to me, I make an effort to get his point of view before I answer. If I tell him some plan of mine, I can see that he thinks it sounds crazy! I don't seem very domestic—that's all. I—I try. Really, I do!
But—" and Cherry seemed to brace herself in soul and body—"but that's marriage. I'll try again!"

She gave Alix a long kiss in parting,
the next day, and clung to her.

"I'll write you about the case, and wire you if you're needed, and see you soon!" Alix said, cheerfully. Then she turned and went back into the empty house, keeping back her tears until the sound of the surrey had quite died away.

CHAPTER X.

Alexandra Strickland, coming down
the stairway of the valley house on an April evening, glanced curiously at the door. Only eight o'clock, but the day had been so long and so quiet that she had fancied that the hour was much later, and had wondered who knocked
so late.

She crossed to the door and opened
it to darkness and rain, and to a man
in a raincoat who whipped off a spattered cap and stood smiling in the light of the lamp she held. Instantly, with a sort of gasp of surprise and pleasure and some deeper emotion, she set down the lamp, and held out her hands gropingly and went into his arms. He laughed joyously as he kissed her, and for a minute they clung together.

"Peter!" she said. "You angel—
when did you arrive and what are you doing, and tell me all about it!"

"But Alix—you're thin!" Peter said, holding her at arm's length. "And—
and—" He gently touched the black
she wore, and fixed puzzled and troubled eyes upon her face. "Alix—"
he asked, apprehensively.

For answer she tried to smile at him, but her lips trembled and her eyes brimmed. She had led the way into the old sitting room.

"You heard—about Dad?" Alix faltered, turning to face him at the mantel.

"Your father?" Peter said, shocked.
"But hadn't you heard, Peter?"

for three years, and so she seems to
be resigning herself, and she has a
maid, I believe."

"We must love him," Peter submitted. Alix looked surprised.

"Why not?" she smiled. "I suppose when you've had ups and downs with a man, and been rich and poor, and sick and well, and have lived in half-a-dozen different places, you rather
take him for granted!" she added.

"Oh, you think it works that way?"
Peter asked, with a keen look.

"Well, don't you think so? Aren't lots of marriages like that?"

"You false alarm. You quitter!" he answered. Alix laughed, a trifle gullibly. Also she flushed, with a great wave of splendid young color that made her face look seventeen again.

"Your father left you—something, Alix?" Peter asked presently, with some hesitation.

"That," she answered frankly, "is where Anne comes in!"

"Anne?"

"Anne and Justin came straight over," Alix went on, "and they were really lovely. Doctor Younger and George Sewall were here every day;
you and George were named as executors. I was so mixed up in policies and deeds and overdue taxes and interest and bonds—"

"Poor old Alix, if I had only been here to help you!" the man said. And for a moment they looked a little consciously at each other.

"Well, anyway," the girl resumed
hastily, "when it came to reading the will, Anne and Justin sprung a mine
under us! It seems that ten years ago, when the Strickland patent fire extinguisher was put upon the market, my adorable father didn't have much money—he never did have,
somehow. So Anne's father, my Uncle Vincent, went into it with him to the extent of about three thousand dollars—"

"Three thousand!" Peter, who had been leaning forward, earnestly attention, echoed in relief.

"That was all. Dad had about three hundred. Dad did all the work, and put in his three hundred, and Uncle Vincent put in three thousand—
and the funny thing is," Alix broke off to say, musingly, "Uncle Vincent was perfectly splendid about it; I myself remember him saying, 'Don't worry, Lee. I'm speculating on my own responsibility, not yours.'"

"Well?" Peter prompted, as she hesi-tated.

"Well. They had a written agreement then, giving Uncle Vincent a third interest in the patent, should it be sold or put on the market—"

"Ha!" Peter ejaculated, struck.

"Which, of course, was only a little while before Uncle Vincent died," Alix went on, with a grave nod. "The agreement lay in Dad's desk all these years—fancy how easily he might have burned it many a time! But he didn't. George Sewall says that Anne is right. They've broken the will."

Peter, in the silence, whistled expressively.

"Ge-e-rusalem!" he exclaimed. "What does it come to?"

At this Alix looked very sober,
gazed down at the fire and shook her head.

"All he had!" she answered, briefly.

Peter was silent, looking at her in stupor.

"Almost, that is," Alix amended
more cheerfully. "As it was—we should have had more than thirty thousand apiece. As it is, Anne gets it all, or if not quite all, nearly all."

"Gets!" he echoed, hotly. "How do you mean?"

"It seems to be perfectly just," the girl answered, rather lifelessly. But immediately she laughed. "Don't look so awful, Peter. In the first place, Cherry and I still have the house. In the second place, I am singing at St.
Raphael's for five hundred a year, and singing other places now and then.
Anyway, I'm glad you're home again,
Peter!" she added.

"Home again," he answered, half-angrily. "I should hope I am—and high time, too! Has this—this money been turned over to Anne?"

"Not yet. Nobody gets anything until the estate is cleared—a year or more from now. There are some things to be thankful for," Alix added,
dashing the sudden tears from her eyes, "and one is that Dad never knew
it!"

"Dear old Alix!" he said, putting his arm about her.

BLANCHE BLAIR

REGINA MCCABE and RICHARD LEARY

THAT Tanlac is a wonderful medicine for delicate children is conclusively proven by the remarkable results accomplished in the cases of the three children shown in this picture.

Little Blanche Blair, of Providence,
R. I., age 13, gained 10 pounds; Regina McCabe, at right, age 9, of Scranton, Pa., gained 15 pounds; Little Richard Leary, Jr., of Philadelphia,
who was very delicate, is now in fine,
robust health. The statements made by their parents are as follows:

Mr. A. M. Blair, residing at 20 Atwood street, Providence, R. I., said:
"We are just so happy over the change Tanlac has made in our little girl that we can't do or say enough to show our appreciation. She had lost nearly 20 pounds in weight and looked so frail and weak that her mother and I were both almost worried sick over her condition. Since taking Tanlac, she has already gained 10 pounds, her color is better than it ever has been and she looks and acts
like a different girl."

Mrs. Catherine McCabe, 414 Dickens Ave., Scranton, Pa., said: "The 'flu' left my little Regina in such a bad condition that I have no idea she would be with me now if it hadn't been for Tanlac. It is a mystery to me how she lived on the little she was eating and was so lifeless she never even cared to play with the dolls and toys she got at Christmas.
Since taking Tanlac she is as hardy
and well as any child could be and has gained 15 pounds in weight. I will always praise Tanlac for restoring our little girl's health."

Richard Leary, 2342 Palethorpe St., Philadelphia, said: "There is no doubt in my mind but that Tanlac saved my little boy's life. For two years I wouldn't have been a bit surprised to have seen him drop off at any time. He had stomach trouble and many a time the gas pressed up into his chest until his heart palpitated so I thought sure he couldn't breathe but a few more gasps. But Tanalac gave him back to us strong and well and we will praise it to our dying day.

The effect of Tanlac on the delicate stomachs of the young is one of the strongest evidences of its wholesome as well as its unusual merit. Although a powerful reconstructive, Tanlac contains no harmful ingredients, minerals or opiates
which are so often found in other medicines. Being composed of the most beneficial roots and herbs
known to science it is purely vegetable and can be taken by the most delicate children, and does not upset
or injure the weakest or most delicate stomach.

There is a Tanlac agent in every town.—Advertisement.

Cities as Thunderstorm Spots.

The conclusion has been reached by a well-known engineer who has given
the subject considerable attention
that certain cities, if not indeed most inland cities of say 100,000 population
or more, appear to be "thunderstorm spots." The observation has been made by E. R. Horton, of Voorheesville, N. Y., who also points out that "a shallow lake with sandy margins
located in a forest may serve as a thunderstorm breeder" and cites as proof observations made by him
over Onedia lake, New York.

Old Court Has Much Power.

In Liverpool (Eng.) there still exists
one of the very few remaining medieval borough courts of record. At one time there were 215 in various parts of the kingdom. The Liverpool court of passage, as it is called, has practically unlimited jurisdiction in cases
of action arising within the city,
and has more power than has the City
of London court which has jurisdiction only when the defendant is employed in the city itself.

Misery loves company, but the company isn't apt to make a second call.

Nature's Supreme Wisdom.

If it were not for the check that winter interposes, vegetation would climb skyward until we had tropical jungles and flowers high in the branches of the forest, instead of violets and daisies and lady-slipper orchids. As it is, the year's tender growths decay
in the wet and cold of winter, furnish shelter to the seeds of grasses and small woodland plants, and so foster
a new growth for the coming of spring.
Even in decay there is a purpose; in nature always there is a new beginning.—Youth's Companion.

ECHOES from M. I. S.

By Students of MIAMI INDEPENDENT SCHOOL

In spite of the unfavorable weather Saturday evening Miss Gault, of the Redpath Lyceum Bureau, gave a very interesting and entertaining program.

Beginning with this school month we will give pupils an opportunity to place their names on the Honor Roll. The requirements for the grade pupils are: must have a perfect attendance record, that is, be neither absent nor tardy during the month.

We haven't as many pupils with perfect attendance as we have seen, but we are proud of what we have. The following pupils have been neither absent nor tardy during the month ending January 27.

WILLIE FAY NEWMAN, CLAUDE LOCKE, FERN PROSSANG, PINKNEY DEAN, ROBERT ROBBINS, LAURA CHRISTOPHER, EDNA DAUGHETER, SENIE DIAL, GLADYS LOWRY, MAE McLAUGHLIN, JESSIE CRUMP, CHARLEY RUSSELL, EFFIE COWAN, FAY COWAN, EDNA JONES, THELMA PROSSANG, BLUEBELL WICKESAR, RUBY PENNINGTON.

EIGHTH GRADE: Allene Coffey, Carrie Lee Mathers, Ada Wickeser, Acie Estes, B. F. Jackson, Andrew Jones, Raymond McLaughlin, Hazel Lowry, Neva Prossang, Inis Russell, Virginia Hale, Frank Talley, Raymond Nelson, Chester Gill.

SEVENTH GRADE: Marie Duran, Eva Christopher, Elizabeth Dial, Thelma Gill, Dora Locke, Mary Michel, Mabel Wells, Anne Neal, Lena Ring, Ed Carr, Frank Kelley, Ellis Locke, Leyton Simmons.

SIXTH GRADE: Evelyn Blair, Ester Gill, Melba Stocker, Orval Christopher, Dee Lowry, F. B. Gunn.

FIFTH GRADE: John Abel Kelley, Ted Nichol, Inez Neal.

FOURTH GRADE: Ruth Blair, Mayne Pennington, Minerva Dunwoy, Edith Johnston, Mary Hope Wells, Ida Mae Ring, Oleta Daugheter, Herchel Gill, J. P. Osborn, Kent Philpott.

THIRD GRADE: Edell Durrett, Lora Morse, Camille Supers, Dorothy McLennan, T. M. Kriebler, P. B. Talley, Lynn Rogers, Ernest Wickeser.

FIRST GRADE: Eleanor Talley, Durline Gunn, Melba Cantrell, Truman White, William Leley, Donald Blair, Charles Lyons, Jesse Dial, Lewis McChristian, Dana Pursey.

Second and Third grades are running a Perfect Day contest in which they tied this month. Each room making 27 hundred. A Perfect Day is made by the pupils keeping perfect order in their lines throughout the day.

Members of the Faculty Club enjoyed their first outing last Friday evening which was in the form of a Banquet at the "Garden Cafe."

Promptly at 7:30 fourteen of the aforesaid members began a search for their places which were marked by dainty hand painted place cards prepared by our instructor in "Art of Home Making."

Under the glow of various colored lights, the dining table, so prettily decorated with pot plants, was the center of attraction. This was especially true when the delicious menu of soup, baked chicken with all its accessories, ice cream and cake were served.

It is useless to say that the evening was enjoyed to the fullest extent and as a "get acquainted" meeting it proved to be "a howling success."

The Junior Geometry students have had to draw so many circles of late, that their heads are in a whirl.

Mrs. Baker has only been teaching public school music one month, but we can notice a marked improvement in the chapel singing. The pupils seem to enjoy this work and we are very glad they have the opportunity to take it under Mrs. Baker.

The Agriculture class had a very enjoyable and profitable trip to a stock sale at Shamrock last weekend.

Why did people walk like drunks men Tuesday morning? They didn't want to fall.

The Philomathean Literary Society met on Friday, January 27th, and were entertained by the best program of the year.

The following visitors encouraged us by their presence: Mesdames Locke, Seiber, Barnett, O'Loughlin, Newman, Montgomery, Hale, Talley, Johnston, Lowry, Lard and Harry and Guy Coffee.

Our next meeting will be held Friday, February 10th, in the High School Auditorium. We invite everyone to attend our meetings.

Classroom: Vandenberg, Verna Vandenberg, Steve Lynn, Dan Coffey, Jack Rughan, Mary Cronson, Shoshel Dunwoy, George Gill, Thelma Walker, Meredith Honey.

FOURTH GRADE: Ruth Blair, Mayne Pennington, Minerva Dunwoy, Edith Johnston, Mary Hope Wells, Ida Mae Ring, Oleta Daugheter, Herchel Gill, J. P. Osborn, Kent Philpott.

THIRD GRADE: Edell Durrett, Lora Morse, Camille Supers, Dorothy McLennan, T. M. Kriebler, P. B. Talley, Lynn Rogers, Ernest Wickeser.

Our Basket Ball girls have not been defeated this year by a team that belongs to the Inter-scholastic League. They are now practicing for several match games that are to be played here, and we are sure that our team can defeat any in the Panhandle.

Football having faded for another year upon the horizon of M. I. S. athletics, we turn our eyes to another phase of manly sport. We are very proud of our basketball team, and this year's team will rank high among the best of its class.

Little support has ever been offered a team of this sort here, but this year we hope it will be different. As business men and school supporters are coming into closer and closer contact with our work, they are recognizing more and more the importance of physical development, and are steadily giving more support and encouragement to athletics.

But whether business men or the general public aid or not, there is, most assuredly, school spirit to encourage and contribute to the cause of athletics. Yes, our football teams are well-supported, but simply because the have been developed to the proper degree to stir public enthusiasm.

Back this year's basket ball team you'll not lose by it.

PLAY BALL

(Dedicated to the Football Boys, Individually, and to their Coach.)

This world's a gridiron, with the goals laid, And on it Life's great game of ball is played. The teams are Human Beings versus Fate, And time's the umpire standing by the plate. We've got the ball; O'er purpose o'er and o'er, To make Ambitions run and try to score.

To try to solve the ball the full back throws And take the pigskin beyond the home team's goal.

William O'Loughlin was asked to write a theme in Eighth grade English on the Stock Show. The following is his theme.

KANSAS NATIONAL LIVE STOCK SHOW

While I was at Wichita, Kansas January 22-24 I attended the National Live Stock Show. There I saw some of the prettiest cattle, horses, hogs, and sheep in the United States.

The first day I saw them judge the Hereford cattle and the Percheron horses. The next day they judged the Short Horn cattle and Duroc Jersey hogs and had the Hereford cattle sale at the same time. The Short Horns and hogs were to be sold Wednesday and Thursday.

The Stock Show was held at the Wichita Forum, where all such events are held. The building covers a whole block.

The admission was twenty-five and fifty cents, but it was well worth it. While I was there I met one of the best cattle feeders in the United States. He is a Scotchman and all of the cattle he fed took a prize in the judging contest.

The Eighth grade pupils were asked to write paragraphs on various subjects. The following optimistic one was written.

"THE BUSYBODY" The busybody hurries all day long, From early morn till set of sun, She does little deeds as she labors on And always has a smile for everyone. Her heart is full, her blessing treasured, The breadth of her deeds would never be measured.

When one thing is done she hunts another Maybe a poor little child to mother, Maybe an old man's burdens to brighten; She makes this sad old earth brighter.

Some Sentence One morning in Seventh Grade spelling class Miss Carter had the pupils to make sentences using the words they spelled. The phrase, "wholesome food", was given, and one of the pupils gave the following sentence:

"I can whole some food."

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB The Home Economics Club met Tuesday. The first year Home Economics girls will take their first lesson in cooking Friday.

The second year Home Economics girls began their sewing Monday. We were drawing figures for our dresses, when Senie got off the subject.

Senie—"Miss Worley, I just can't make 'eyes'." Miss Worley—"I'm sorry."

There are a few hypocrites who always come to school smiling.

Hazel—"Miss Worley, I just can't make this sleeve fit." Miss Worley—"Why Hazel, you have it in upside down."

Senie—"Miss Worley, I look like an ape in this picture." Miss Worley—"You should be that of that before you had the picture taken."

Winnie—"What's the matter with this old machine. It won't make a stitch." Elbe—"Course not, I took a needle out."

SENIORS' NOTES "Everybody—especially the Seniors have seen busy times for several weeks. It has been amusing to hear "O! please let me see your proof won't let anyone see them!"

"No; I don't like them. I have have them taken over, no good?" "They are fine. If I were you I take this one. It's just dandy. Get me one, won't you?"

"Oh! what a cute kodak picture, want one with you looking just the way." "You know you are merely making fun. Go on and hush."

Now these are only a few of the sayings. Buy an Annual and you will see all these funny, some striking and fascinating pictures the very best that can be seen. Do be the last to subscribe, but let your Annual before the tag has been opened.

TWO VERSIONS "Twinkle, twinkle, little star, How I wonder what you are; Up above the world so high, Like a diamond in the sky."

Senior: "Scintillate, scintillate, luminescence, Interrogatively and admiringly questioned your constituent elements. In your prodigious attitude at the terrestrial sphere, Similar to a carbonaceous isomer suspended in the celestial firmament."

A DREAM Last night I lay a-dreaming, I dreamed a dream so rare, And saw the Seniors there.

Miss Keevil: "It pains me to put down this sixty, Cecil." Cecil: "Oh! Miss Keevil, it pains you that much, then don't it."

JUNIORS The Juniors are planning to play in the near future, the program going to the Annual Fund. We realize what a big task it is to get our Annual and we want to do all we can to help.

A JUNIOR'S PRAYER For that terrible exam, And if I fail to get this junk, I pray the Lord I will not flunk. A new pupil was added to Freshman class this morning whose name is Eurice Johnston.
