

Commission Grants Gas Franchise

Wrestling and Boxing Bouts Saturday Night

THE CITY IS OFFERED
50c GAS RATE BY
JOHN W. MOORE

At the regular meeting of the City Commission Monday the following franchise was granted.

An ordinance by the City of Eastland, granting to John W. Moore, his successors and assigns, a Franchise to construct and maintain for a period of thirty years, a gas distributing system in Eastland, Texas; to distribute and sell gas for domestic and commercial and industrial purposes; and to do all things to accomplish such matters.

Be it Ordained by the City of Eastland, Texas:

Section 1. That John W. Moore, his successors and assigns are hereby granted a franchise, for a period of thirty years, from and after the passage of this ordinance, to acquire, construct and maintain a natural gas plant, system, works, for the manufacture, and—distribution of natural or artificial gas within said City, and all additions thereto, or that may hereafter be added. That said John W. Moore, his successors and assigns, during the life of this franchise, is given the privilege and authority to enter, dig and excavate in the streets, alleys, avenues, ways and byways and public grounds of this city, and lay below the surface, through and on bridges, viaducts of said city, gas mains and equipment, and all necessary and proper attachments, connections and appurtenances for the purpose of manufacturing, supplying, distributing, transmitting, and selling manufactured or natural gas to, in through, or from the said City of Eastland, with the rights at all times during the life of this franchise, to dig and excavate for the purpose of constructing, laying, repairing, relaying, replacing—or for removing said gas mains, pipes, equipment, or any portion thereof, and for the same purpose to make any connection thereof for the said City gas consumers, with such pipe lines and mains, provided, however, that when said mains are laid, relaid, repaired, replaced or removed, all excavations shall be properly filled and all sidewalks and pavements shall be replaced in as good condition as they were in before such excavations were made; and; and the grantee herein, his successors and assigns, shall assume to pay all damages caused to private persons or private property owners in the construction and maintenance of such gas manufacturing and—distributing system.

Section 2. That under the authority here granted to said John W. Moore, his successors and assigns, he shall furnish natural gas to said City of Eastland, Texas, and to its inhabitants at a rate not to exceed 50c per thousand cubic feet, such gas containing not less than 1,000 B. T. U. (British Thermal Units), provided that said John W. Moore, his successors and assigns, have the right to charge any gas user a minimum of $1.25 per month, and shall have the right to charge a connection or tapping fee of $3.00 when connections to the mains are made. Each consumer shall pay for the gas furnished to him on or before the tenth (10th) day of the month following that during which the gas is used; and in the event the consumer shall fail to pay for the gas so used during any month on or before the tenth day of the month following that during which the gas is used, then the grantee, his successors and assigns, are given the right to discontinue or cut off the gas supply from such delinquent.

Section 3. That the said John W. Moore, his successors and assigns, are hereby privileged and granted the further right of furnishing and distributing industrial gas, natural or manufactured, to users thereof, in said City, at such rates and under such conditions as may be agreed upon.

Pay Air Port Debt This Week

The American Legion show, "Chances," at the Connellee Theatre will be shown tonight for the last time. It is a good war picture and showing for an admission of 35 cents, half of which goes to pay off the debt on the Legion Air Port—that is if you buy your tickets from the Legion or from the young ladies on the streets who have been so kind as to help in the sale of tickets.

You are receiving your money's worth, both at the show and in helping to raise the money for your air port.

As is always the case the Legion is raising money for the betterment of our town so go down and buy tickets and send them to your friends—let's help finish up this debt. There is no other such field in this section.

The services of the Camp Fire Girls is greatly appreciated as well as that of Mrs. Tom Harrell. Watch for the Girls on the streets and their booth at the northwest corner of the square and buy tickets until it hurts.

County Agent Re- turns From A&M

County Agent J. C. Patterson returned Saturday noon from ten days at A&M College where he attended the summer short course.

Mr. Patterson arrived at the College early in order that he might install a mid-way like the one used at the Eastland Fair last year, so that a demonstration could be made for the benefit of those attending.

A complete mid-way was build and put into operation, the different county agents and home demonstration agents being in charge of the different concessions while members of the staff served in other ways including riding the ducking machine.

Much interest was displayed and the plan was adopted for other fairs of the state.

Many interesting talks were made by congressmen, legislators and experiment station workers, all of which were very constructive.

Ben E. Hamner Buys Barrow's Interests

Mr. Ben E. Hamner was in Abilene Wednesday where he attended a meeting of the stockholders of the Henry Barrow Undertaking Company.

Mr. Hamner took over Mr. Barrow's interest in the Hamner-Barrow Undertaking Company of Eastland.

This transaction places Mr. Hamner sole owner of the local company which will be known as the Hamner Undertaking Company.

Mr. Hamner is thoroughly experienced in the Undertaking business, all work being under his personal supervision. He has spent several years in the work here in Eastland and has many friends here who wish him success.

Historical Ass'n. Year Book Received

A copy of the year book of the West Texas Historical Association was received at the Chamber of Commerce offices early in the week.

The Association held a convention in Eastland recently at which time Dr. H. B. Tanner was asked to write an obituary for C. U. Connellee, a charter member of the association and an early settler in West Texas.

The obituary appears in this issue of the year book which is a permanent record and will be placed in the largest libraries of the nation.

Special Program at Church of God Meeting Tonight

The Camp Meeting now in session on the Campus of Warner Memorial University, has been gaining in attendance daily and the interest is growing with every day's program. Tonight at the Young People's Service at 6:30 in the University Auditorium, the young folks are giving the play, "Janey." This is a very splendid little play with a wonderful lesson contained in it. They story of "Janey" the mountain girl is an interesting one and is well depicted as the play proceeds. Everyone, both young and old, is cordially invited to attend this play and it is hoped a good crowd will be present.

At the night service at eight o'clock, Rev. H. T. McNeill of Harlingen, Texas, will speak. Brother McNeill is sure to have a good message, and special music will also be rendered.

WATCH YOUR STEP

YOU MAY BE THE PERSON TO RECEIVE
Free Theatre Ticket

If the Watch Your Step editor notices you on the street; sees you do some act of kindness, an amusing act or anything out of the ordinary you will find the act described in this column the following week, and you will be entitled to a free ticket to the Lyric Theatre. Your name will not appear.

Old folk, young folk, everyone alike, watch your step. Look over the list below and see if you are among those receiving a free ticket this week to see—

"SPORTING BLOOD"

If the young lady who had to ride to town in an old model Ford when her new Chevy refused to start will call she will receive a ticket.

If the gentleman that wins the argument regarding regarding Paul Brown and the Eastland Steam Laundry will call he will receive a ticket.

If the bride-to-be who, with her mother, visited the United Dry Goods Store Tuesday will call she will receive a ticket.

If the young lady, who informed the editor of Static, that he could not write off the square, will call she will receive a free ticket.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS MEET

The Camp Fire girls met Wednesday afternoon at the BYPU cottagae at four o'clock for a business meeting.

The meeting was called to order by Elizabeth Ann Harrell, president. Plans were perfected for selling tickets for the show the American Legion is sponsoring at the Connellee Theatre August 6th and 7th.

After the meeting adjourned the girls, with their guardian, Mrs. Tom Harrell, went out to the Olden swimming pool and enjoyed a swim. They will meet Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist church at four o'clock. The girls will derive ten per cent on all tickets sold.

At the Connellee Theatre Saturday night, August 8th, the Camp Fire Girls will present the following program:

"Whelo Call" by Guardian, Mrs. Tom Harrell.
Song, "Whelo Cheer," by group.
Three minute talk on "Camp Fire," Elizabeth Ann Harrell.
"Fire Fighting Ceremony," by Joan Johnson, Jean Kitley and Jo Earl Uttz.

Song, "Burn Fire Burn," by group.
Song, "Mammy Moon," by group.
Song, "Now Our-Camp Fire's Burn Low," by group.
Indian Dance by fourteen girls.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Graham and Mrs. Don Brewer went to Rising Star Tuesday night to attend the revival meeting now in progress at the Baptist church there. The meeting is being conducted by Rev. C. Y. Dorsey. Rev. Dorsey will be remembered as the evangelist who held the revival meeting here in March.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ANSWERS GRASS BLAZE

The Fire Department was called to West Main and Dixie Streets Wednesday noon to extinguish a grass fire.

Mr. Ed Bellow, with the Magnolia Petroleum Company of Olden, left Saturday for Missouri to visit his daughter and family. While away he plans to visit in Ohio and Illinois.

Mrs. M. T. Valliant and daughter, Ouida, of Olden, visited in the home of her sister and family, Mr and Mrs. J. B. Overton, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Barney Tyson of Breckenridge who underwent an operation at Payne Hospital Thursday morning, is doing nicely. Mrs. Tyson, before her marriage, was Miss Leata Hudspeth.

The public is cordially invited and urged to attend every service. Every one welcome. Come!

Dr. Whittington Buried Here Today

Word was received here Thursday morning of the death of Dr. H. D. Whittington in a Fort Worth hospital. Dr. Whittington lived in Eastland for a number of years and practiced medicine here. He left Eastland about nine years ago and at the time of his death was living in Amarillo. The family was one of the early settlers of the county. His father served as treasurer of Eastland county for a number of years.

Funeral services will be held from the home of his sister, Mrs. Oscar Chastain, 1301 So. Seaman street, Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock, August 7th. Rev. Geo. Shearer officiating. Pall bearers will be the doctors of Eastland and Ranger.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Oscar Chastain of Eastland, and Mrs. M. H. Hagaman of Ranger.

Dr. Tanner Receives Old Rip's Image

Old Rip's image now decorates the desk of Dr. Tanner at the Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Blanche Tanner, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Tanner, who is on her way to Seattle, Washington, stopped over in Salt Lake City and found Old Rip in the form of a metal paper weight. She at once sent one to her father as the Doctor has shown much interest and done much to spread the news of Rip and our court house.

The weight is a wonderful reproduction being of a brass colored metal and very near the same size as the original with a reproduction of the Mormon Temple at Salt Lake on the back of the frog.

Dr. Tanner invites his friends to drop in and see his highly prized gift.

Eastland Singers To Broadcast

A group of Eastland singers have accepted an invitation to sing over station K F P L at Dublin Sunday, September 6th.

A very complimentary letter from Dr. W. B. Goodner has been received by Mr. J. R. Woods in which the Doctor stated that he had received more compliments on this group than any he had had during the time he has operated his period of broadcast, and would be glad to have them return on the above mentioned date.

They were heard in Eastland during one of the Saturday night programs which the merchants here are putting on each week.

They are considered some of the best singers in the country are sure to be enjoyed by all that listen in during the Dr. Goodner hour on K. F. P. L.

Among the singers of the group is Ewell D. Bond and the father of Ewell. Lillian Bond, Judge Rust, Prof. Sprawl, Len Lynch and Ray Hardwick.

After several games were played delicious refreshments of cake and ice cream were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Horn announce the arrival of a nine pound boy, born Wednesday, August 5. Mother and babe are doing nicely.

Little Patsy Ann Hilburn, who has been visiting her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Overton, will leave today with her Aunt, Miss Josie Hilburn of Roby, to visit her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hilburn. Patsy will be joined at Roby by her father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. Lynn Hilburn of Houston.

LEGION FURNISHES SATURDAY NIGHT PROGRAM ON SQUARE

The aim of the Eastland merchants is to offer a variety of programs, so this Saturday night the American Legion has agreed to furnish the entertainment, which, from all reports, will be one of the best yet.

The Legion has developed into one of the city's most valuable service organizations, giving all the money raised on the different stunts to the development of Eastland and Eastland county. This stunt is FREE however. They are glad to help the city at all times.

The Post Commander R. P. Crouch, and the chairman of the entertainment committee, Earl Francis, announce for this occasion some good wrestling matches and boxing bouts, which promise to be some of the best amateur bouts to be seen in Eastland for some time, and which is expected to draw crowds from every part of the county.

Plans have been made to start the entertainment much earlier each week so be on the square about seven o'clock and from now on all programs will start about that hour.

CITY MARKET UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

The City Market is now under the management of Arlys Burgamy, who for many years has been associated with the meat and grocery business in Eastland, having operated a shop in the present location, 407 South Seaman street.

Arlys is an Eastland boy, having attended school here and played on the Eastland high school team. He has recently been in business with his father at Lamesa, Texas.

He invites his friends to visit him in his new business place.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hudspeth of Breckenridge are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Lambert.

STATIC

By J. L. COTTINGHAM

Some years ago Mike Ferrell and Bill Thomas went deer hunting together. Now Bill alleges that Mike sleeps like a horse—with his shoes on. Talking about horses, though, there is enough material in Bill Thomas to make a good horse. P. S.: Neither killed a deer.

W. K. Jackson wears no hat and believes the country is going to the dogs. Fred Blatt does not care where the country is going but thinks the golf courses ought to be improved. Has John Mouser ever parred the course yet?

People seem to want to know what the dues to the Liars Club are. Purely psychological. A member is supposed to tell the truth once a week. Tom Harris is six months behind on his. When we started out we were going to have a requirement that a man always tell his wife the truth but Len Hightower and Hammond objected so strongly that we had to give that idea up.

Carlyle works in a hardware store and is a leading light in the Baptist church. That ought to explode the old idea about a man not being able to have a conscience and sell hardware at the same time. You may have wondered why L. Y. Morris is always standing on the corner—I did too—he is counting the pennies that go into these scales. Ladies, you can pass him without trepidation, he claims you won't be noticed.

Lewell Snyder is missing out of the A. & P. Mothers will now find it much harder to get their daughters to do the grocery shopping. However, the young ladies will be relieved to know that Grady Pipkin is still in town. Does Horace Oldham ever go home? Morris Keasler is a typical man-about-town.

The gas fight is doing some good. As soon as Fred Yonkers heard that Marshall McCullough was on his trail, he quit the Lone Star and opened a fruit stand. Alfalfa Bill Murray could not have gotten any better results than that.

Jack Muhead is a good automotive man but if he would change his name to Monsieur Futrelle and open a ladies' hair dressing parlor, he would make a fortune in no time. It is alleged that Arthur Wright has a new pair of coveralls. He ought to write a testimonial on the last pair he had, they wore-out all over at the same time. Tucker has not quit tinkering with Fords. Curly Maynard is now selling Chevrolets, but Fred Davenport is still peddling Fords. This fellow Lambert of the Gulf has no more sense than I have—he drives a Whippet too. That is all the automobile news.

The following items were picked up at the Liars club. They are believed to be without any foundation of truth but are repeated here to let the public and the grand jury know what is going on there:

"Dr. Ferguson will never catch any fish." "Red Peters is getting to old for a rifle shot." "Ninety per cent of the women in this town have synthetic figures." "Jim Horton is the best collector in town." "Ralph Crouch is the next best collector." "Every deer that Bryan Stokes missed was a twenty-five pointer." "Mesh hose ought to be against the law." "Pentecost is losing weight."

Crossley is the only barber in town that will cut your hair without suggesting that you need a bath. J. M. Sherrill has a fatherly way of flirting with the pretty ones that even the most jealous husband cannot object to.

Well—that will have to be all. I nearly ran out before getting this far. This job is not as easy as you would think. I thank you.

Science Goes to Work In the Home

A talk by Mrs. Jane S. McKinnon, State Home Demonstration Agent, Assistant Director of Extension, Raleigh, North Carolina. It is furnished us through the courtesy of the local Chamber of Commerce.

There was never anything more depressing than the old adage, "Man works from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done." One could think of nothing but a drab creature going from sunrise to bedtime in a hopeless round of drudgery contributing to the needs of the family only in a material way and sinking under the burden.

You do not hear this adage quoted so frequently in the country today, for science has gone to work in the home. A rural woman who has had the inspiration of meeting with her neighbors for homemaking instruction in the home demonstration clubs can wish herself "Many happy returns of the day" when well planned work hours, labor saving conveniences, and a knowledge of how to coordinate her work have secured for her a balance of time to be used for the interesting and joyful things she has always wished to do.

Someone has called the home demonstration clubs, which are organized in rural communities all over the United States, the "Country Woman's College," a good name for an organization through which the scientific teachings of the colleges are extended to the home in practical demonstrations.

One of the biggest interests of the rural home today centers around the family's nutrition. What to do about breakfast, dinner, and supper; what diet will build the best bodies for the children; and what will keep that husband in repair and feeling fit and good humored. There's the question also of preparation that none of the nutritive value may be lost.

A farm woman who has had the training that home demonstration work gives knows the body's daily needs and she also knows that if the bulk of the food necessary to satisfy these needs is not produced on the farm, it is not apt to be served on the family table.

The fact that has brought the home makes and her farmer husband, together with the nutritionist and the farm and home agents, to work out a food production budget which outlines the amount of milk, eggs, meat, cereals, vegetables, etc., which a farm should produce to feed the family for twelve months.

From growing a garden and keeping a few hens to a budgeted production of the family's food supply is a big step for the farmer and one that points to a possible balancing of agricultural production and perhaps to an increase in the farm income.

As one successful farmer expressed it, "if every citizen of the state would eat every day the meat, milk, eggs and vegetables these scientific people have proved we need, every farmer would be so busy producing food stuff for an insistent market that he would not have time to worry about his so-called 'money crops.'"

The farm woman who wishes to manage her home, as well as her husband does his farm, finds that home demonstration works makes a telling approach through the keeping of household accounts; the family budget; step-saving, time-saving arrangement of equipment, and the use of household conveniences.

If I were asked what three material things would most surely raise the standard of living in the farm home, I should answer without hesitation—running water, electrical current, and furnace heat—the three great time savers which release a woman for recreation, community interest, and all the other things that make her a wholesome personality, an interesting companion, and a desirable citizen.

Order and business management of a home go hand in hand with comfort and beauty. A vision of color harmonies, furniture arrangement, and beauty in line and design has developed in the rural woman a love of the beautiful that expresses itself in changed attitudes toward life.

Gets Quick Service at His Meals

Capt. Frank Hawks is shown taking off from Roosevelt Field for Havana. He breakfasted and dined in New York, and ate luncheon in Havana, in between breaking a lot of airplane records. It develops a good appetite, he admits.

"Sometime," said an awakened woman, "when I look out through my pretty curtains on the larkspur and ragged robins growing in lovely masses of color under my kitchen window, I wonder what could have been the matter with my eyes all these years that I could not see that old garbage barrel that stood in the place where the flowers are."

It was a country doctor's wife who found a sweeter, closer companionship growing up between herself and her husband when they planned arrangement of her kitchen enabled her to make an inviting rest corner under the south window with a couch, comfortable easy chairs, and a table full of magazines.

"I Haven't seen so much of the doctor since before I was married," she said. "Now when he comes in for the midday meal or at supper, instead of going to the living room he drops on the couch in the kitchen, picks up a paper, and reads to me while I dish up the meal. Sometimes I am guilty of prolonging my dishing the reading is so interesting."

Standards in the home have much to do with the personal appearance of the family, and clothing looms large in the rural woman's planning. There is the question of making or purchasing, remodeling or casting aside, and through it all is the cost and how the family exchequer can stand the expense. Home demonstration work has given the housewife a basis for choosing and weighing values in clothes.

Perhaps it gives a basis also for choosing and weighing values in the other responsibilities that life has thrust upon her, but when science can lift drudgery into the realm of interesting things, I think there evolves a housekeeper who can get a vision of "the rainbow on soapsuds in dishwasher."

WORK FOR PUBLIC SAFETY

Every state should officially inaugurate a "Save-a-Life" motor vehicle campaign this year.

Such campaigns have been tried in a number of eastern states with splendid results. Brakes, steering and lights are inspected and corrected and the need for safe and sane driving is brought home to the motorist. It is the common experience that the accident rate declines during the campaign and the period following.

Only organized effort can make progress against the increasing danger of our highways. The incompetent and the reckless have become genuine menaces to the lives and property of all. The sad toll of deaths and injuries mounts day by day, in spite of modernization of traffic laws in many states.

We must, through rigorous examination, make sure that the driver is capable of safely operating a car. Then we must, through "Save-a-Life" campaigns or similar movements, make sure that the car he drives is mechanically safe. Thereafter the problem comes down to individual responsibility and understanding. Education must be unremitting. The motorist as an individual, must accept the responsibility that is his when he uses the public highways.

Automobiles cost more lives than wars. At a time when all the enlightened nations of the world are working for peace, it might likewise be well for them to concentrate on peacetime public safety.

Wolf's Buyer, Mrs. D. Wolf, Returns

After a three week's buying trip in the East Mrs. D. Wolf, the buyer at Wolf's Store, arrived home Monday.

Mrs. Wolf reports that by using the fastest trains and taking advantage of every opportunity possible she was able to crowd into three weeks her regular four week's work.

She visited New York, Chicago and St. Louis and reports beautiful showing at all of the style centers—in fact so attractive were the new styles she could hardly resist buying most everything she saw.

She stated, "I am just rushed to death but if my friends will watch next week's Record I will carry an ad with full taylor details—but don't wait about coming into see me."

ROWENA RIDES THE RUMBLE

COPYRIGHT 1931 BY THE AUTHOR

BY ETHEL HUSTON

FOURTH INSTALLMENT

There were bound to be ever so many pleasant, cool, shadowy short-cuts between St. Louis and Kansas City.

On the way between St. Louis and Kansas City, Peter asked about short-cuts at no end of filling stations and garages as they went west, but no one seemed very well informed about by-roads, and for the most part every one advised against attempting any such thing.

It was well on toward noon when Peter found a man in a garage who thought there really was a short-cut just as Peter wanted. He wasn't altogether sure it was a direct route to Kansas City, but at least it did not lead back toward St. Louis.

They had driven about twenty miles along this rambling lane, which at times seemed to turn uncertainly toward Kansas City, and then made a dead run for the Nebraska line, when they saw a stalled car in the road before them. The driver lay stretched out on the bank with his hat over his face.

Peter slowed up. Rowena leaned forward and rapped sharply on the glass. "Never ask advice of a broken down driver," she warned him darkly. "If he knew what he was doing he wouldn't be broken down."

But Peter for once had struck the right party. The man knew every road in the State.

Peter thanked him for his careful directions and returned to the car. He was too much of a gentleman to leer triumphantly back at Rowena under the awning umbrella in the rumble seat. He just got in behind the wheel and started the motor.

He had driven fully twenty miles over the worst possible sort of country road when he found that a bridge was out, that there was no detour, and that the only possible way to go on in the direction of Kansas City was to go back to the main road and start over. Very meekly he turned around to pay homage to better judgement, but stopped short, staring open-mouthed. Bobby, who always looked where others did, turned too and her amazement surpassed his own.

The rumble seat was empty. Rowena was not there.

Peter slowly returned over the roads to where the self-styled expert had given him his directions.

Twenty miles! Bobby closed her eyes. Peter hoped she was praying. He would have prayed himself except that the hard driving over the bad road required his complete attention. But he did keep breathing over and over in his heart the one word, "God! God! God!" and trusted that the Infinite would understand it for appeal.

Instinctively his foot lifted from the accelerator and at a noiseless crawl the car rolled up to the shadowy bank under the willow tree where the stranger with the stalled motor had mapped out the futile short-cut.

"Oh," whispered Bobby weakly. "Look—look! Rowena!"

Rowena indeed, lying motionless beside the road where the afternoon sun slanted behind the trees to throw protecting shadows over her slender figure. Peter was out of the car long before it had come to a stop and was up the bank and kneeling beside her. He lifted one limp slim hand. It was stained red.

"Rowena!" he whispered. Rowena opened her eyes. "Oh, hello," she said cheerfully. "Gosh you were a long time coming back."

"Are—are you—hurt?" stammered Peter.

"Hurt? Why no! What do you mean hurt?" She licked a bit of red raspberry juice from her finger as she spoke.

"D—did you fall out, darling?" asked Bobby in fatuously affectionate tones.

"Fall out?" repeated Rowena. "Certainly not." She stood up, lifted her arms, stretching her slender figure comfortably to its utmost height. "Had a grand nap," she said. "And wrote out just what I think of Missouri. Poor dears, you must be dreadfully hot and tired. Come and sit down—a nature's feast to feed you. Berries and cold spring water. I knew you would be famished so I picked heaps."

"You darling," said Bobby, and greedily fell to. "But will you please tell us," she mumbled, with a full mouth, for she was very hungry "how you fell—how you got—out of the rumble seat?"

"I climbed out," said Rowena cheerfully. "It's the only way you can get out of a rumble seat."

"But when—"

"But how—"

"We didn't see you!"

"When Peter and the broken down gent were dusting off Missouri in the middle of the road I noticed the wild berries up on the bank among the rocks. I must have got myself out of sight of the car without knowing it, for the first thing I knew, I heard the usual racing of the engine with which dear Peter gets under way, so I ran down and there you were—tearing off among the ruts in a cloud of metaphorical glory. So I picked some more berries, and the broken down gent and I shot craps until the man from the garage came and towed him in. He invited me to go with them, but I knew you would be back for me when you got around to it."

"There was a bridge out on the short-cut," explained Peter quickly.

"I know. The broken down gent remembered it about ten minutes after you had gone. But of course it was too late then."

"You're very game about it, Rowena. Very sporting. I wouldn't blame you if you didn't speak to me again from here to the coast."

"Oh, nonsense!" said Rowena pleasantly. "That was just an accident. Accidents never make me mad. It's just," she added meaningly, "certain people."

In Kansas City Bobby found thirty-one telegrams from Carter, each increasingly immoderate in its demands for her to give over this outrageous conduct and return home at once.

Rowena had the usual fat one addressed in the boyish scrawl, and surely she had read no further than the first paragraph when she began counting out her money. Peter had a comforting telegram from Mr. Rack, with a friendly postscript by Mr. Ruff, advising that the red haired siege was lifted and that they had been honored with a sort of an apology, but warning them to be careful of their future conduct.

Mr. Rack also said they were extremely pleased with the character of the work that had been turned out, and enclosed check for next week's expenses. Peter was extremely grateful for that check, for Bobby had spent the last cent of her week's allowance by Wednesday, after which time he and Rowena, after which time he and Rowena had been obliged to carry her between them.

"Chaperons come high, don't they?" grumbled Rowena, as she counted out nickels and dimes to make up her portion of Bobby's last manure.

It was a genuine hardship to them to be obliged to contribute so extensively to the maintenance of luxury-loving Bobby. On the other hand her presence was so essential to the all-important tour that they were in no position to quarrel very seriously even with her extravagances.

"For my part, I'd rather pay her bills than read Carter's telegrams," said Petr moodily.

"I wouldn't" disagreed Rowena promptly. "I've learned to read with one eye and listen with one ear, and that way I get through with only half the mental strain."

"Yes," but you've got a rumble to retire to."

"So I have. But I have to sleep with her."

One thing was certain. Her presence was essential, and Carter and his telegrams, she and her extravagances were alike to be endured.

At Topeka she was startled to find but one telegram awaiting her—a ten-word, straight day message.

"Are you taking the first train home or are you not?"

It was not even signed.

Bobby's fright was so genuine, her disappointment so real, that Rowena and Peter tried to console her.

Peter took them out to a movie, and Rowena—with her own money—bought her a cunning little Kansas souvenir, a flask carved out of a corn-cob—and she seemed slightly more resigned.

She was very quiet as they crossed Kansas, and when they complained of the notoriously hot winds, she smiled patiently and said she didn't mind. She ate very little, and had fifteen cents of her allowance left at the end of the week.

When they reached Denver they hurried at once as they always did, to get their mail, and there was nothing at all for Bobby; not a letter, not a telegram, not so much as a souvenir postcard. She said nothing, but turned pale and a little sad smile froze the dimples in the soft face.

When Rowena went down to dinner she made excuses not to go—said she was very tired, said she wanted a hot bath and a good sleep, said she would just read a magazine she had picked out at the news stand.

They went up to the room immediately after dinner with all good intentions, and Rowena knocked. When there was no answer she opened the door and they went in. The room had a deserted appearance. Bobby's handsome articles of toilet were gone from the dressing table. Her beautiful dressing gown was gone from the foot of the bed, her satin mules from beneath it. Her imported traveling bag no longer stood beside Rowena's shabby suitcase on the baggage rack.

Peter and Rowena looked at each other in wide-eyed consternation.

There was a note, written on hotel paper in Bobby's round childish hand. It was pinned to Rowena's pillow.

"Darlings, I'm going home. I've got to. If I don't I'll never get him back. I'll send Peter the money I borrowed as soon as I get my allowance. I'm going on the seven o'clock train and I've already wired him to meet me. You're both just sweet and I love you. But I do wish you wouldn't quarrel so. I'm glad Carter and I get along better."

"And that," said Rowena flatly, "is that."

"It's all of that," added Peter gloomily.

"Nothing," declared Rowena drearily, "could be more irretrievably fatal than this."

"It was great sport while it lasted," said Peter. "You have been pretty game all the way through, Rowena."

"It was corking good business, too," said Rowena. "And taking it all in all, you are not half bad to breeze around with, Peter."

"Well, it's all over with now," said Peter.

"You don't suppose we could pick up one here, do you?—By advertising. The way we got Bobby in the first place."

But they both knew it was pretty hopeless.

They said good night with something vaguely suggestive of affectionate regard, for this killing, kindred disappointment gave them a cordial meeting-ground for almost the first time.

Rowena sat alone at her window, little and high up, for she had frugally changed from a double to a single room immediately after the desertion of Bobby.

She was not one to give up without a struggle—nor to give up at all, for that matter.

It was nearly midnight when she shook off her final hesitation, with Spinach Salad.

Chop cooked spinach. Add chopped boiled egg and a little chopped cold tongue or ham. One egg to cups of the spinach should be allowed and for the sa emamount a half cup of chopped meat. Add a half cup of toasted bread crumbs. Pack in small cups or molds and chill. When ready to serve turn out on beds of lettuce leaves and dress with mayonnaise.

For Frying

Next time you have any fish or croquettes to fry—anything that needs to be rolled in fine crumbs or flour—

a mind made up. An idea had come to her, terrifying and tremendous, hours before. She had toyed with it, weighed it in the balance and, finding it wanting, pushed it resolutely away; but had permitted it to work its way back, insidiously, sure. At twelve o'clock she called Peter on the telephone and that was an end of her hesitation.

"Listen, Peter. You meet me down stairs in the lobby, right away, will you? I have an idea."

"But I'm in bed!"

It is a nespacially good when there is fish to fry.

Cheese on Salad

Did you ever try grated cheese on salad? Use yellow cheese dry enough to be grated and then after you have added a little mayonnaise to the salad sprinkle the cheese lightly on top, or pass in a little dish with the mayonnaise. It is especially good with a salad made from cold coulflower.

For luncheon some time try a salad from cooked rice that has been set to cool in small individual molds. Place one of the rice molds on each bed of lettuce, and serve with mayonnaise or home made boiled salad dressing with grated cheese sprinkled on the top.

RE: Additional Discounts.

Dear Friends,

Eastland, Texas

I am glad to be back, have lots to tell you.

My new fall purchases will begin to arrive by the end of next week, so I can't be bothered with the summer togs on our racks.

Only a few days remain and we are going to make additional discounts, discounts that you can hardly realize until you see the garments. At the new low prices we expect an absolute clean-up by the end of next week.

Pay me a visit and at the same time see these wonderful offers.

Sincerely yours,

MRS. D. WOLF.

GREAT NEWS!

CITY COMMISSION OFFERED—

Section 4. That the meters used under this franchise shall be of standard type and shall be conditioned and maintained by the grantee, his successors and assigns, so as to run not less than 2 per cent slow or fast, and shall be installed and maintained by the grantee for each gas user; and that customers or gas users may be required to deposit a minimum of ten dollars ($10.00), meter deposit to guarantee payment of monthly bills or to pay such other sum as a deposit as may reasonably be estimated as amount of a customer's monthly bills.

Section 5. That the said John W. Moore, his successors and assigns, have the right to adopt all such rules and regulations as may be necessary and proper to operate their gas distributing and manufacturing system; to protect themselves from loss or damage by imposition or fraud, and to prevent the waste of gas; and to make all reasonable rules and regulations governing the method of making connections and testing meters in compliance with any and all laws of the State of Texas.

Section 6. That it shall be the right of the City of Eastland acting by and through its manager, board of commissioners, agents and servants, duly authorized, to inspect the pipe, connections equipment and meters at any time; to inspect the books of the grantees at any time, and the grantees are bound to make reports at least once a year, or oftener if necessary, to the board of city commissioners when request for such report is called for; and the said City is hereby authorized by its agents and servants, to test any and all meters and equipment used for supplying gas to the inhabitants of the City.

Section 7. That the said John W. Moore, his successors and assigns, shall furnish gas at the line of the street next to the consumer; all service pipe and fixtures to be furnished by the consumer or at his expense. The cut off shall be furnished and maintained by the grantee at the curb line of the street. Each consumer shall keep the pipe lines on his premises free from any and all leaks and waste, and in the event any consumer shall fail to do so within twenty-four hours after having been given notice, the grantee may cut off the supply of gas until such leaks and escapeage have been repaired; and in any instance where the gas has been cut off for non payment of bills or to prevent waste and leakage, the grantee has the right to make a charge of $1.00 for turning on again the gas supply to such consumer.

Section 8. That in event of any change in the grade of any street or any public place in said City, by the governing body thereof, then the grantee herein may be required to remove, relay or replace and relocate his pipes, mains and equipment that may be affected, so as to conform to the street grade after such changes or grading have been made, and the expense of such removal, replacing and relaying shall be borne by the grantee.

Section 9. That the said John W. Moore, his successors and assigns, in constructing, laying and maintaining the gas lines for such gas distributing system shall install in the system a reasonable number of regulators over such system as will maintain in the gas mains a pressure of about eight ounces above an atmospheric pressure of fourteen and four tenths (14.4 lbs.) pounds, so as to give a pressure of at least four ounces at the customers meter.

Section 10. That the said John W. Moore, his successors and assigns, shall lay a sufficient number of mains and lines within the limits of said city, and such mains and lines shall be sufficient in size to supply the amount of gas required by the citizenship of the city, such lines and mains are to be extended and made accessible to any consumers, provided however, that existing conditions are justifiable and the permanent financial returns are shown to be possible for the amount invested in same.

Section 11. That the failure, at any time, on the part of the said John W. Moore, his successors and assigns, subject to the provisions herein, to comply with all the provisions of this franchise ordinance, or the failure to keep the contemplated gas plant and distributing system in operation, shall work a forfeiture of this franchise and all the rights, powers, and privileges granted herein, provided that at least 30 days written notice shall be given the grantee, or his successor, or assigns that any such forfeiture ther, that the closing of such plant shall be claimed; and provided further and distributing system for necessary repairs or on account of strikes, fires, or other unavoidable cause or causes shall not work a forfeiture, and provided also that the grantee herein, his successors and assigns, shall at all time exercise due diligence in making such repairs.

Section 12. That the said City of Eastland agrees to protect the said John W. Moore, his successors and assigns in all legal ways in and to the rights, powers and privileges granted in this franchise.

Section 13. That in order to carry out and perform all the obligations of this franchise and to make the said City of Eastland, Texas, safe in awarding this franchise to the said John W. Moore, his successors and assigns, the said John W. Moore, for himself, successors and assigns, agrees to execute his bond to the City of Eastland, in the penal sum of $25,000.00, either in some surety company authorized to do business in the State of Texas, as surety, or with private sureties satisfactory to the board of city commissioners, conditioned for the full and faithful performance of each and all obligations contained in and imposed by the terms of this franchise; that the said John W. Moore agrees and binds himself to begin, within 30 days after the acceptance of his bond, the work of constructing said gas distributing system, and to prosecute the work the same with due diligence from day to day and to complete the construction thereof within 90 working days after the commencement of the first construction work, reasonable time to be taken, if necessary, to secure material, pipe and other supplies.

Section 14. That this ordinance shall be in effect and force from and after its passage and adoption, provided the said John W. Moore, shall accept the same on his part within 15 days after its passage, and shall within such time execute the bond provided for in Section 13 of this ordinance.

Chairman, Board of City Commissioners, City of Eastland, Texas.

Attest:

City Secretary.

CHURCH NEWS METHODIST CHURCH

The Belle Bennett and Martha Stewart Circles met at the Methodist church Monday afternoon in business and literary session. Mrs. A. F. Taylor, program leader for the afternoon, brought a helpful message from the Gospel according to John, on the subject, "Comradship with the Divine." She told of the natural manner in which Jesus sought the companionship of his Father, and that the same privilege is available today. She closed with the following poem by Margaret Burton:

"The Lord is my Father,
I shall not perish.
He maketh me live in the sense of his presence.
He leadeth me in the ways of life unending.
His love abideth forever.
He teacheth my heart to love others,
And his lessons are not for the day, but forever.
He hath bidden me to be perfect.
Therefore hath he set eternity in my heart.
He hath called me to work in his kingdom,
His kingdom that hath no end.
Yes, when I walk through the valley of the shadow of death
I will fear no evil.

For he will be with me; his love and strength shall preserve me.
His arms everlasting sustain me,
My Father's home is before me,
And joy that faileth never.
Surely I shall work and live with those I love in the house of many mansions,
And I shall be safe in the heart of my Lord forever."

The devotional service was concluded by several prayers of consecration and by singing "In the Garden." The discussion topic, New Emphasis in Home Missions, was ably presented by Mmes. W. B. Collie, D. J. Jobe, Lola Mitchell, and T. M. Collie. Results of the Washington congress history of the home Mission enterprise, problems of a changing world, and echoes from the North American Home Mission Congress were told in an interesting manner. "Work for the Night Is Coming" was sung. The president, Mrs. Willman, presided over a short business session. Reports were made and plans formulated for a program of varied entertainment to be given in the near future under the auspices of the Belle Bennett circle. Mrs. W. K. Jackson was welcomed as a new member.

The meeting was closed by prayer led by Mrs. T. J. Haley. Those present were: Mmes. Taylor, Willman, Haley, Stubblefield, Frank Jones, Wayne Jones, Mitchell, Kinard, Kenny, McGlamery, M. H. Kelly, Fagg, Sikes, W. F. Davenport, Castleberry, Jobe, Graham, T. M. Collie, W. B. Collie and Joe Stephens.

MONTHLY BUSINESS MEETING OF W. M. S.

Circles Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Society met at the church Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for their monthly business meeting. "Love lifted me," was sung as the opening song. The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. Frank Lovett. The Devotional was conducted by Mrs. Lovett, on "Love," from numerous scriptures from both the Old and New Testaments. The theme of her devotional was "What love will do." Prayer by Mrs. A. M. Hearn. Minutes of previous meeting read and adopted. Personal service report, Mrs. S. C. Walker.

Mrs. J. B. Overton, Benevolence chairman, recommended that we start on box for Buckner Orphan's Home. Nominating committees nominated the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. S. C. Walker; Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Don Brewer; Recording Secretary, Mrs. L. V. Simmons; Young People's Leader, Mrs. W. T. Turner. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. S. C. Walker.

Members present were: Mmes. Don Brewer, Carl Springer, F. V. Williams, Mother Pritchard, Haines, L. V. Simmons, Frank Lovett, Norton Herrington, Hearn, S. C. Walker, Lee Bishop, J. B. Overton, T. J. Pitts, and Miss Sallie Morris. One visitor, Mrs. Edgar Otto, formerly of Eastland, but now of Abilene.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Love" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 2.

The golden text was from Zephaniah 3:17. "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing."

The service included the following passage from the Bible (1 John 4:16): "And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

This citation from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, was also read (pp 319-320):

"A misplaced word changes the sense and misstates the Science of the Scriptures, as, for instance, to name Love as merely an attribute of God; but we can by special and proper capitalization speak of the love of Love, meaning by that what the beloved disciple meant in one of his epistles, when he said, 'God is love'."

Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist church will meet at the church next Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for the Bible Study lesson. The lesson will be taught by Rev. W. T. Turner from the 12th and 13th chapters of Revelations.

Y. W. A. MEETS.

The Young Young Woman's Auxiliary of the Baptist church will meet Thursday night at 7:00 o'clock in the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. T. Turner. Program will be in charge of Miss Dorothy McCanlis.

Wedding Ceremony Held In Lubbock

Miss Elizabeth Rodgers and Charles Fagg were married Saturday morning at ten o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, Lubbock.

The ceremony was read by Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the church, before an improvised altar of palms, ferns and flowers, the color worn by the wedding party.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Rodgers, 1009 17th street, Lubbock, and Mr. Fagg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Fagg, 606 South Seaman Street, Eastland.

Preceding the entrance of the wedding party, Mrs. Loys Tubbs sang "At Dawning," and "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by Miss Lola Bowden of Brownwood, who played the wedding processional and recessional and "Love Dream" as the ceremony was read.

The bride, who entered with her father, was attended by her sister, Mrs. C. A. Tubbs, and small niece, Betty Loys Tubbs, who was flower girl, wore a flesh Organdie and lace frock and harmonizing accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of pink Ophelia roses. Mrs. Tubbs' frock was of orchid organdy, with a picture hat to match, and bouquet of pink rose buds. Her little daughter's dress was of rose organdy.

Mr. and Mrs. Fagg left for a week's trip to Colorado Springs and other points of interest in Colorado, after which they will return here to make their home.

The out of town guests were Miss Lola Bowden, Miss Eska Branum of Brownwood, and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Fagg of Eastland.

Finishes at Tech

Mr. and Mrs. Fagg were members of the 1929 graduating class at Texas Technological College. Since they graduated Mr. Fagg has been with the Texas Electric Service Company here and Mrs. Fagg has been teaching in Breckenridge schools.

Hostess to the Wedding Party

On Friday evening Mrs. Rodgers, the bride's mother, was hostess to the members of the wedding party and the out of town guests.

MRS. MOORHEAD HOSTESS TO AUXILIARY

The Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church met at the church Monday afternoon at 3:30. The devotional was brought by Mrs. W. J. Peters on "Faith." A lesson on "Hope" was read by Mrs. Geo. Cross.

Greetings from Mrs. F. M. Gill, president of Abilene Presbytery, were received and missionary business transacted.

The fall study course of the auxiliary will be resumed under the direction of Mrs. Homy Sone. This work has been discontinued since Mrs. F. C. Corts moved to Lonview.

After the meeting adjourned refreshments of peach ice cream and tea cakes were served to the following: Mmes. Frank Bond, E. Martin, J. A. Beskow, J. Lee Roy Arnold, Geo. E. Cross, Jack Meredith, M. Q. Taylor, Miss Mable Hart, Mrs. B. Cornelius of Crane, Texas, Patty Cornelius of Ranger, and Mrs. Bobby Moorhead, hostess.

BELLE BENNETT CIRCLE MEETS

The Belle Bennett circle of the Methodist church will meet at the church Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for a business meeting. Plans will be formulated for the program to be given the latter part of the month. Mrs. Wayne Jones is in charge of the meeting.

Chairman of the Martha Stewart Circle, Mrs. Ed Graham, reported that they would not have a meeting next Monday.

MRS. J. R. WOOD ENTERTAINS ROYAL NEIGHBORS TUESDAY
