Lions Attend Convention

Eastland Lions who attended the five state convention at Mineral Wells last week end were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McDonald and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crowell, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Conley, Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Rosenquest and Mr. B. E. McGlamery.

Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Oklahoma were represented by their District Governors, and this was one of the most important conferences that will be held by Liondom this year.

The meeting opened at 1:00 p. m. Saturday and the afternoon was given over to a golf tournament on the Mineral Wells Country Club Course. Business got under way at 7:30 Sunday morning with a conference of all presidents and secretaries present and a general assembly of all visiting Lions at 9:00 o'clock.

Mr. McDonald is president of the Eastland Lions Club, while Horace Conley is District Governor of Texas District E.

Rotary Club Held Regular Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Rotary Club Monday, Dr. J. H. Caton and Frank Jones arranged a very interesting program.

Dr. J. B. Tanner made a notable talk on "The Opening of Schools in Eastland." Mr. H. E. Everett of the Everett Motor Company, was accepted as a new member of the club. Miss Martha Frances Thomts furnished the music on the piano.

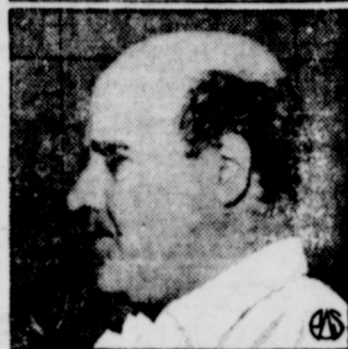

ABILITY OF YOUNG GIRL RECOGNIZED

Mrs. W. K. Jackson was notified yesterday that her granddaughter, Miss Rachel E. Holmes, of Chicago, Ill who is head of the Youth Section of the Internationale Entente in America (a world organization with headquarters in Berne, Switzerland) has been named on the Joint Conference on Unfair Competition of which Ex-Ambassador Girard is Chairman—in recognition of her splendid work. Miss Holmes is not yet 20 years of age; although she has directed the American branch of the Entente the past two years. This appointment was a great honor. The Entente is working against the spread of the Communist movement in our country.

The Joint Conference on Unfair Competition is caused by the Soviet goods flooding this country that our American workmen cannot compete with. The cost of his labor, alone, would pay for the Soviet article itself, completed.

Miss Holmes' mother, Mrs. Charles Wendell Holmes, who is Mrs. Jackson's daughter, has just completed her third term as president of the National Patriotic Association of America, whose headquarters are in Chicago.

STORES CLOSE LABOR DAY

The following is a report secured from the Retail Merchants Association for publication.

Fourteen of the business firms are in favor of closing all day Monday (Labor Day) September 7th. Six were in favor of staying open, but agreed to go by the majority. The variety stores will remain open all day, regardless of whether the other stores close or not. So we take it that everything will be closed that day except the variety stores, drug stores, garages and cafes.—Retail Merchants' Association, Eastland, Texas.

School Notice

Junior high school pupils, that is those who enroll in the sixth and seventh grades, will register Monday, September 7, according to schedule below. If the following schedule and instructions will be followed it will greatly facilitate the matter of registration and avoid a long wait on the part of the pupils.

Registration Schedule

- 7A or high seventh—Monday morning from 9 to 10:30.
- 7B or low seventh—Monday morning from 10:30 to 12.
- 6A or high sixth—Monday afternoon from 1 to 2:30.
- 6B or low sixth—Monday afternoon from 2:30 to 4.

$1.00 deposit will be required for a lock. Heretofore book covers have been supplied at school. The school authorities have been unable to get any business firm to handle them free. Consequently each child will be held responsible for covering his own book. Reasonable time will be given for this after which uncovered books will be taken up. It is a state law that free text books must be kept covered at all times when in the hands of pupils. Book covers may be bought for a nominal sum at the variety stores or the pupil may make his own covers from some durable paper.

All records should be brought from the school last attended, including free text book card. Pupils not in this school last year must present vaccination certificate. Pupils from the first to the fifth grades inclusive should report to the ward schools Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock for enrollment. It is urged that all pupils who intend to enroll in the Eastland schools observe the above instructions and enroll promptly, in order that regular class work may be started as soon as possible.

P. B. Bittle, Superintendent.

HUNTERS BRING BACK NICE LOT OF CHICKENS

Messrs. L. A. Hightower, Dr. J. L. Johnson, J. W. Harris, Curtis Kimbrell, and Will Martin have returned from a hunting trip in the Lamesa country.

They covered about four hundred and fifty miles in one day, and the entire group killed thirty-eight prairie chickens. The trip was certainly worth the "go" since the party enjoyed the healthy exercise and brought back so many birds.

A picture of the hunters and their game will be on display in the Kimbrell Hardware store next week.

Dairy Products Co. Open for Business

September 1 was the opening day of the Eastland Dairy Products Co., on South Green street.

The new company is strictly an Eastland enterprise under the management of Mr. T. R. Seelye, a creamery man with years of experience.

Mr. Seelye and his associates have left nothing undone in remodeling the building which the plant occupies and installing the most complete plant Eastland has ever had.

Mr. Seelye, in addition to modern equipment, has surrounded himself with competent assistants.

Mr. A. J. Williams will be in charge of the making of the ice cream, butter, etc. Mr. Williams expects to move his family to Eastland in the very near future.

The home of the new plant is new throughout and spotlessly clean, having every modern appliance for cleaning, governing of temperatures and efficient and speedy handling of their products. Every installation in the plant has been under the personal supervision of Mr. Seelye.

From the front door to the back you are attracted by the large metal mixers, heating units, cooling units, churns, gauges and controls, everything out of reach of human hands—all and all it represents the last word in sanitation and efficiency.

The trucks were on the streets starting Monday and a very satisfactory business is reported.

This issue of the Record carries their opening announcement.

Mrs. J. T. Ross Visiting Here

Mrs. J. T. Ross of Hobbs, New Mexico, formerly of Eastland, visited the Ladies Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church Tuesday.

While Rev. and Mrs. Ross resided here Rev. Ross was pastor of the Presbyterian church. After leaving here Rev. Ross located at Hobbs, New Mexico, where he has been pastor of the church for the past nine months and whose work now includes all of Lee county.

During his pastorate a modern church structure has been erected in Hobbs. Mr. Ross' work was highly commended by the Synod of New Mexico last week.

In addition to his church work Rev. Ross has been a very active civic worker, being at this time chairman of the Hobbs Ministerial Association, chairman of the Greater Hobbs Welfare Committee, and chairman of Public Relations in the Hobbs Chamber of Commerce.

Donald Reports On Lions Club

The Lions Club held their regular meeting Tuesday noon and heard the reports of several committees.

An invitation from the Clyde Lions was extended to the Eastland Lions to attend a watermelon feast next Tuesday night. Resolutions of appreciation were voted for the courtesies extended by Mr. T. J. Martin to the Lions Club. Mr. Martin, former manager of the Connellee Hotel, is leaving.

A committee composed of E. E. Freysehlag, Donald Kinniard and Earnest Jones was appointed to express good wishes to Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Tanner on the celebration of their fiftieth anniversary.

An invitation was sent to the Eastland Lions by Rising Star asking them to attend the Rising Star Fair. The Club accepted an invitation sent by Cisco to attend the district meeting there this month.

Mr. H. B. Randolph of the Western Union was a guest at the Lions luncheon.

The music was furnished by Raymond Lovett, who played a cornet, accompanied by Mrs. T. J. Pitts on the piano.

Upon asking Mr. Donald Kinniard for a report on the Lions Club, he said that the club is no good to the town or members. That it should be abolished, the quicker the better. He also stated that the Record did not have the nerve to publish his report. Dr. Poe reports that there is no truth in what Kinniard says but that the club is very efficient.

JURORS SUMMONED NEED NOT APPEAR

Judge Geo. L. Davenport of the 91st District court announced Wednesday morning that jurors summoned for service Monday, September 7, need not appear. This became necessary because all the cases scheduled for the week of September 7 in which a jury was needed have been postponed, settled or continued for the term.

The petit jury for the 88th district court, which is summoned to appear Monday, September 7, will appear as summoned. Also the grand jury for the 88th district court will convene.

Mass Meeting On Cotton Acreage Cut

A mass meeting on cotton acreage reduction will be held in Eastland this evening at 8:00 o'clock, and at Rising Star Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

The purpose of the mass meeting here and at each of the subsequent meetings is to secure a composite expression of opinion to guide Governor Sterling in his decision with regards to a proposed special session of the Legislature to deal with cotton acreage reduction. Every farmer and business man interested in the reduction of cotton acreage, pro or con, is invited to attend this mass meeting and to exchange views with others upon the subject.

State Representative Victor B. Gilbert will attend this meeting and discuss the issue from the viewpoint of the legislator. The consensus of opinion at each meeting to be furnished the governor. The attending group of farmers at Ranger voted in favor of the Long plan of total restriction of planting in 1932.

Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary Mon.

Many of the friends of Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Tanner dropped in at the Tanner home on South Seaman Tuesday to congratulate this wonderful couple on their golden anniversary.

A celebration was under way. Friends, letters, telegrams and cabigrams were there expressing good wishes.

The doctor, having practiced medicine, has many friends among the Eastland doctors, who presented the couple with a beautiful gold flower bowl, the Lions Club presenting a large and fragrant bouquet of flowers.

Dr. and Mrs. Tanner have made their home in Eastland for about thirteen years and have hosts of friends who wish them continued health and happiness.

The Doctor, who is 72 years of age, has been very active in all civic work in Eastland, which has been the case all through life, and which induced many congratulatory expressions from the business men, bankers and city officials of his old home, Kankana, Ill, where he served as mayor at one time. He wrote a book, "The History of the Streets of Kankana."

The Doctor's life has been filled with interesting experiences. He spent 14 years in the sugar business in Mexico during which time his home was fired and he had a very narrow escape from death. He served under three Wisconsin governors as State Supervisor of Inspectors of Illuminating Oils, was a candidate for Congress in Illinois and was the Republican nominee for Congress from this district. He is at this time the Secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, doing an unusual amount of effective work in the face of the depression.

Dr. and Mrs. Tanner have three sons and a daughter. Two sons, H. J. and K. B., of Eastland, were present at the celebration. The other children having returned to their homes just recently after visits with their parents.

Burkett, until recently deputy oil and gas supervisor for the state railroad commission, in charge of the Cisco district, has gone to East Texas where he will take charge of a force of men stationed there for the purpose of enforcing the proration orders of the state railroad commission under the new conservation bill passed during the recent called session of the Texas legislature.

W. J. Cardon, formerly stationed at Coleman, will have charge of a new district, which includes the Cisco territory formerly supervised by Mr. Burkett and will be stationed at Abilene.

SCHOOL DAYS

It won't be long now before vacation is over and school will begin again. Then the young ones will get back into their own world, for in the life of the child the real world is that in which he mixes on equal terms with others of his own age. We older folk are too absorbed with the affairs of grown-up to understand what the young ones are thinking about.

We are prone to think as we grow older, that what we had in school is good enough for our children. That would be true if the world stood still, but it doesn't. In a changing world, the best education is that which makes the child alive to the changes, which brings him most closely in touch with the new things that we didn't know anything about when we were young. Everything is different today from yesterday; tomorrow everything of today will be out of date. The boy or girl who gains from his school work the sense of change, of constant forward movement steadily going on, has got the best foundation for success in life.

We don't think it is nearly as important to teach children how to do things as it is to teach them how to understand things. One way is to get more young people as teachers and on school boards. School systems must grow and change, just as the world grows and changes, and old folk are too apt to resist change. There must be old heads in school affairs, of course, but some who are still young enough to remember their own school days ought to have same say about school matters.

THE TURNING TIDE

The public is beginning to buy again. Money is coming back into circulation more freely than for a year or more past. The textile mills are coming back toward normal production. The leather industry is showing a decided improvement. Sales of electric and gas refrigerators is increasing in almost every part of the country. Many of the smaller industrial plants are now running on full time and the larger industries, or many of them, are putting on more help. The steel industry and building construction are still at low ebb and the railroads are not carrying their normal volume of freight and passengers, but those are conditions which a general revival in other lines will remedy.

The country is still suffering from overproduction of wheat, cotton and oil, among other things. It seems to us wrong and wasteful, however, to destroy what has already been produced, as is being advocated in some quarters.

It also seems to us unnecessary to resort to anything like the "dole" system. Nobody in the United States has approached starvation in this crisis except in the regions where the drought of 1930 was at its worst and in one or two "sore spots" in the bituminous coal districts. There may be more who will need help during the coming winter because their reserves are exhausted, but there will be more people in a position to give help, we believe. And there will be more and more jobs for those who really want to work.

How fast the tide of good times will come in nobody can predict. The country has been suffering almost as much from over-prediction as from over-production, and we are not gifted with the power of prophecy. But we have history to back our belief, that the United States of America will come out of this depression, stronger and more prosperous than ever.

Saw Bendy talking to Sam Pitzer today. That was too bad for Airy had lived a blameless life up to this time. Bemous Brewer was also down town Saturday night by himself—that was a shock. Carl Angstast ought to get some other decoration for his show window than Dave Steel. Dave is a good man but no window decoration. Better than Ed Craft would be at that, though.

Could not get any more interviews—everybody runs when I try to ask them questions. I did want to find out from Marvin Grubbs how to fascinate the flappers and was very anxious to have big Nick tell us how to make an gratin potatoes out of turnip green—but nothing doing.

Roscoe Owen is the most careful driver in town—comes to a full stop at every corner and waits for someone to bump him in the rear. Curtis Kimbrell went hunting with Bill Martin and his wife spent the whole morning looking up his life insurance policies—we knew Bill Martin wasn't such a good shot but never thought he was that bad.

Jim Horton sent me a postal card from Jacksonville, Fla., but nobody in town could read what he wrote on it. Dr. Ferguson also sent me a postal card—he did not sign his. Julius Krause has gone to see his fiancee at San Antonio—why in the blankety blank blue blazes a man would leave a good bridge game to see a fiancee is a mystery to Dr. Van De Venter. Dr. Van de Venter is the kind of a man that would go to a flea circus and walk off with all the fleas.

People have been asking me why I make so many typographical errors—I don't. There is a fellow that owns a half interest in the paper named Williams and when he is sober, he is the best type-setter in the world.

Ted Ferguson is getting to be a pretty good bridge player but it is costing him lots of sleep. Abe Cornelius always holds the string in his mouth when he ties up a package—that ought to protect him from pyorrhea. Which reminds me that Dr. Poe is one of us shirt-sleeve boys too.

Donald Kinnard has entirely gotten over his limp. We are proud of Donald—it takes a steady nerve and a clear head to sideswipe busses and stay alive. Donald's office hours are from Ten Forty to Ten Fifty, a. m. I thought maybe you would want to know—it took me a year to find out. Gates and Stire think the new hats are going to be becoming to the ladies. They were the only men in town I could get to express an opinion—everybody else said they never noticed hats.

Seaman Garrison has issued a challenge to all comers to the Legion Boxing meet his week. If we could get Guy Patterson down to the weight, he might stand a show in the square with him but as it stands now, the Record is going to have to put Frank Bida in as their champion. It will be a good fight in spite of Frank's age. There is a rumor that Herbert Reed and D. Samuels are going to put on a show. This would be a grudge fight and if enough of you will encourage it by side remarks, we might be able to make it happen. I am going to have to give up the bridge game Friday night because this show is worth seeing.

Further Deponent sayeth not. I thank you.

THE PEOPLE LOST

Only one portion of the anti-truck law thus far has escaped attack in federal courts, and federal injunctions have rendered inoperative every portion of the law except this one. Truck lines still are subject to regulation of the railroad commission, which recently issued an order directing trucks to charge for the transportation of cotton the same rates set out in railroad tariffs.

It appears that this remaining clause is constitutional. If so, it spells salvation for the railroads, for it is not likely that shippers will choose the more hazardous carrier when no saving is effected.

But the people have lost. A truck as long as from here to Kingdom Come, piled high with as many bales of cotton as human ingenuity can load upon it, and taking as much of the highway as the builder's selfishness and the driver's arrogance may ask, is apt to meet you at any minute. The people are still subjected to the same dangers on the highway; they still dig deep into their pocketbooks to pay for roads that are rapidly destroyed by overloaded trucks.

At the next opportunity let's see what can be done for the people who foot the bills of legislative sessions. Let's forget about legislating railroad competition off the highways, and think more of legislating safety for the people who pay for them. Let's have a people's bill, for the people, written by the people. We've had a railroad bill, for the railroads, written by the railroads—and it didn't hold water.

STATE AGENT KING VISITS IN EASTLAND

Mr. Philip P. King, field agent of the State Health Department at Austin, was in Eastland last week working with the local health officers and county officials, stressing the importance of birth registrations and the obtaining of burial permits.

Mr. King stated that the official records of the county were enough below the average to indicate that the law was not entirely complied with in this respect.

The article below sets forth the advantages to be gained in following the law:

The law requires that the birth of every baby born in Texas shall be reported to the Justice of the Peace or Local Registrar in the Justice precinct where the birth occurred.

A birth certificate may be needed to prove right to property inherited, prove citizenship, prove school age, prove age under child labor laws, prove right to vote, prove right to hold public office, prove age for military service, prove nationality in foreign countries, secure passports, prove qualification for jury service, prove legal age for marriage, establish proof for pensions, insurance, compensations, etc., determine the birth rate in State, counties and cities.

Reports of births are required to be made by the physician or mid-wife in attendance, or, if there is no attendant, by the Father, Mother, or Householder. See that some one makes a report.

Burial Permits Required

The law requires that every death which occurs in Texas shall be reported to the Justice of the Peace or Local Registrar, and that a permit shall be secured from the Registrar or his deputy before any body is buried or removed for burial.

Death certificates are needed to establish property rights, establish insurance claims, establish pension claims, establish legitimacy of children, settle genealogical disputes, settle inheritance claims, establish death rates in state, counties and cities, estimate value of measures for the control of disease, guide home seekers, industries and investors in the selection of healthful locations.

The undertaker or other person who attends to the burial or removal of the dead body is required to file the report and secure the permit from the Registrar in the precinct where the death occurred.

The Registrar is required to forward birth and death certificates to the State Registrar, to be placed in steel, fireproof vaults for permanent records.

Violations of the regulations governing the reporting of births and deaths is punishable by fine, or imprisonment or both, in the discretion of the court.

Help Your Health Department to Help You

The County Attorney does not desire to hold before the people the penalties for the violation of this act, but rather to call attention to the importance of the records, to the individual, the County and the State. The County Attorney desires to obtain the hearty cooperation of every person in the

ROWENA RIDES THE RUMBLE

COPYRIGHT 1931 BY THE AUTHOR

by ETHEL HUESTON

He retired to an inner office and came back immediately with the manager of the house. The manager beamed upon them. He held out his hand, held out both hands, and his smile set his rosy face aglow. Rowena and Peter had their own opinions of hotel managers and accepted his friendly overtures with watchful coldness.

"Meeker's my name," said the manager genially. "And I'm proud to meet you."

They all shook hands, and Rowena nudged Peter to be very careful and not commit himself.

"Come right along with me," said Mr. Meeker. We had a wire from the

He and Peter shook hands, Peter very solemn, Mr. Meeker perspiring and jovial.

"Guess there's no harm in kissing the bride, eh?" said the manager, with a playful dig of a sharp elbow into Peter's ribs. "It's a custom I don't think much of, as a usual thing, but brides don't often come as pretty as this one."

Rowena obligingly lifted her lovely lips and Mr. Meeker kissed her with resounding relish.

"Now, I'll tell you what the program is," he said cheerfully. "The local Rackruff dealer is going to give a big dinner dance in our ballroom tonight—especially in your honor—"

"Well, I'm partial to brides and I give good measure. It's a rule of the house," he said jovially.

And once more Rowena tilted her owlishly solemn face to be kissed.

When he had gone and the door was closed and locked behind him, Peter looked at Rowena. Rowena looked at Peter. Both gazed in solemn stupefaction around the flower laden room.

"Of all the damn impositions—" he began. But to his surprise a sudden ripple of smiles drove the owlish gravity from Rowena's face. Laughter gurgled in her throat and burst from her lips in delighted peals.

"Peter, Peter!" she cried. Isn't it priceless? Isn't it perfect? Darling, though I die tomorrow, I can say I had my moment!—Peter, look at the wedding-ring in yellow roses!—Peter and Rowena.—Look at the little cupids kissing on the candy box!—Oh, here are sarcastic telegrams from all my ex-boy friends.—And Buddy, too," she added uneasily. I suppose I should have warned him. How do you suppose they all found out?"

"Oh, I suppose those idiots put it in the papers," growled Peter. "Naturally they would try to sell cars at the expense of our feelings. We might have known they'd commercialize us to the last ditch."

"Oh, Peter, isn't it the corkingest day of your life? When Mr. Meeker, God rest his soul, stood here pointing things out, I kept telling myself, 'Don't die, don't you dare die of ecstasy until you see this thing through!'"

"You're an odd sort," said Peter moodily. "I thought you would be wild."

"Wild? Certainly not! Except with sheer delight.—Why Peter, this is just an accident. Accidents never make me mad.—Oh, look, here's a present from Racky and Ruffy—a great big one.—Cut the string, Peter—break it—I can't wait!"

Peter broke the string. The present from Messrs. Rack and Ruff, and doubtless charged against dividends, was a complete service of solid silver for the well-laid table. Rowena was a little awed at its completeness and its obvious expensiveness.

"Gosh, Peter, whatever will we do with it?"

"Give it back," he said stiffly.

"Can't. It isn't good form. Even in a divorce it is bad manners to return your wedding present.—I tell you! We'll divide it. After all, real silver always comes in handy and we can make good use of it. We deserve some compensation for all the agony we've gone through, though as far as I am concerned this hour has compensated for everything a hundred times over."

"You can have the silver," said Peter. "I don't want it."

But Rowena would not under any circumstances accept more than her proper half. She immediately set about dividing it, piece by piece, one for her and one for Peter.

"I suppose we could sell it for old silver," he said.

"Oh, you'll put it to good use some day," said Rowena. "When you are rich and famous and have a studio apartment of your own—first thing you know you'll be giving these fast supper parties that artists are noted for—one for you, and one for me—"

"Why not keep it together in the box until the trip is over?" he asked. "We won't be giving any fast suppers on this trip, at any rate."

"You can have the box," she said. "I'd rather divide it if you don't mind. Then each of us will be responsible for his own share and if it is lost or stolen neither of us can blame the other.—One for you and one for me."

As a matter of fact, Rowena was already planning to pawn her share of it right there in Spokane. She had no more than glanced inside the fat letter from Buddy, but that sufficed to tell her that she needed money. She hoped to get enough for her share of the silver to take care of the distant demands and buy herself a new suit as well. She was really getting shabby. Daily motoring was hard on old clothes. And how she yearned for the flattering silver fox packed away in moth balls way back on Third Avenue!

"This really puts us in a frightful jam," said Peter. "I suppose we can bluff through the reception and ball all right—we've had plenty of experience. But I don't see how we can dodge the bridal suite. And won't it jeopardize the annulment? Of course I can look myself in the sitting room—but would anybody believe it?"

"Nobody in the world," said Row-company not two hours ago saying you would be in today without fail. But I must say it is a relief to have you right here on the spot."

They all got into the elevator. The boy at the control smiled at them—a friendly smile. They got out on the fourth floor. A couple of maids were loitering in the corridor. Their faces lighted up with interest and attention.

"Everything ready?" asked the manager anxiously. "Everything all right I hope?"

"Oh, yes sir," said one of the maids. "Yes, indeed sir," added the other. But they looked at Rowena and Peter.

The manager led the way down the corridor.

"Here you are folks," he announced in a voice of happy triumph as he threw open the door. "Our bridal suite!"

"Oh, look, Rowena! Isn't that nice?" said Peter fatuously.

"How lovely!" said Rowena faintly. The bridal suite was a bower of roses. There was a heap of congratulatory letters and telegrams piled high on the table and several conspicuous packages, wrapped in tissue and tied with ribbons, with gift cards prominently displayed.

"Congratulations, folks," said the manager, beaming rosy from one to the other. "Best wishes of Spokane, Washington.—Not bad, eh? Pretty fair!—Well the Company wired us to spare no expense and send them the bill, and I guess we filed the order. We tried to, anyhow. Cigars, cigarettes, candy—and what-not. And"—this with a truly impressive double-jointed bow which included them both—"a little souvenir from the hotel, at our own expense, for we are honored to have you stop with us."

The little present, which he selected from the group on the table and handed to Rowena, who opened it with trembling fingers and an air of owlish gravity, proved to be an immense silver cocktail shaker, suitably engraved.

"Out here we're dry," said Mr. Meeker with a sly wink. "But oh, you New Yorkers!—Compliments of the hotel, and congratulations," he added happily.

swell affair. They've invited all the Rackruff dealers and salesmen in the state, and they say a couple flew in from Oregon this morning on purpose to attend. It's to be a formal, full-dress affair, with souvenirs for the ladies and what-not. And this afternoon at four o'clock they're giving an open reception to the city in their public salesrooms, with afternoon tea and a band, and they've got a car all decorated up like a wedding for you two to sit in and receive the guests. And they're going to present the bride with orange blossoms sent up by aeroplane from California this morning, and a cigarette lighter for you Mr. Blande, with a picture of the Rackruff roadster set on it in pearls. I've seen it myself and it's a beauty, but it wasn't working the day it came in and they had to send it back to the factory."

"How extremely kind," said Peter. "How perfectly sweet," said Rowena.

"Of course, you both being famous characters, authors and artists, all of our best people will turn out for it, and I understand most of our good clubs plan to be there en masse. The Rackruff dealers are all in a sweat over it and they say it's the best break they've had since the war when the Army used a lot of their machines in France. They're coming for you at three-thirty.—Look. This little floral offering here came from them. Pretty nice, eh? We're going to borrow it tonight if you don't mind, to put down behind the orchestra in the ball room. Pretty nifty!"

The little floral offering was an immense ring of yellow roses, with the words "Peter and Rowena," spelled out on the inner side in scarlet rosebuds.

"How marvelous," said Rowena soberly.

"How unusual," added Peter.

"And now I'm going to leave you folks to rest and clean up for the big doings," said Mr. Meeker. "If there's anything you want, you just ask for it. If we haven't got it, we'll get it. And it won't cost you a cent. Well, guess I'll just kiss the bride and be on my way."

"You did kiss the bride," Peter reena cheerfully. "Well, after the ball is over you'll have to go out alone for a little walk and get lost. Then you go to some other hotel and register—don't forget to have witnesses!—and stay there all night. You can meet me here again tomorrow morning. And be sure to get a receipt for your room.—Oh Pete, don't you just adore those kissing cupids? Have a kiss—I mean a candy."

"I think I'd rather have the kiss," said Peter boldly. "After all, a groom should be allowed to rush in where a hotel manager dared to tread."

"I'm very particular," said Rowena firmly. "And I'm developing a vast partiality for hotel managers."

His mind relieved as to how Rowena was going to take it, Peter saw some of the humor in the situation and they made great sport of their predicament. They laughed over the flowery telegraphic congratulations and dispatched flipant answers collect. They called the Rackruff salesrooms by long distance telephone to thank them for the lovely thought and Mr. Rack was so pleased that he had the charges for the call reversed. They tossed a coin for the cocktail shaker which Peter won, considerably to Rowena's regret, for she was sure she could have raised enough on it to make sure of the new suit which she needed for the reception that afternoon.

A CONTRIBUTION

The best asset that a city can have is community good will, based on the mutual respect of its citizens for each other.

To Be Popular In Bridge

1. Pick up your cards as dealt. You will be ready to bid ahead of the others.
2. When you have a poor hand signal immediately by saying, "Who the heck dealt this mess."
3. If you get a poor partner, keep score yourself; you've got to have some advantage.
4. Lead from your own hand or dummy, as convenient.
5. Never hurry. Try several cards on a trick until you are sure which one you prefer.

6. Occasionally ask what is trump. It will show you are interested in the game.

7. Trump your partner's ace—and cinch the trick.

8. Walk around the table when you are dummy and look at the other hands. Tell them what cards are good and how many tricks they can take if they play right.

9. Always ask your partner why he didn't return your lead; this will remind him to lead it next time.

10. Don't try to remember the rules. It is too confusing.

11. Always explain your plays, particularly when set. It shows your card knowledge.

12. Talk about other subjects during the game. It makes for good fellowship.

13. Claim all the honors—you might get away with it.

14. Eat chocolate caramels or other adhesive candy while playing. It keeps the cards from skidding.

15. After the third round lay your hand on the table and claim the rest of the tricks; you may not have them, but it's much easier to play with all the cards on the table.

1. Don't wait for the other fellow to come to you; go to him.

2. In competition with others, always give them the credit for being a little smarter than you are. Then work like the deuce to prove that they aren't.

3. If you have no money and little credit, capitalize your personality. Sometimes it pays to have nerve.

4. Never admit to anybody—and of all to yourself—that you are licked.

5. Keep your business troubles to yourself. Nobody likes a calamity howler. Besides, he finds scant favor with the bankers.

6. Don't be afraid of dreaming too big dreams. It won't hurt you to figure on owning a railroad, even if you have to compromise on a flivver.

7. Make friends; but remember that the best of friends will wear out if used too frequently.

8. Be square even to the point of finickiness, and you will have mighty little occasion to complain of a crooked world.

9. Take advice, but do your own deciding.

10. Don't toady. The world respects the man who stands up and looks it in the eye.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 30.

The golden text was from 1 John 5:20. "We know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an understanding, that we may know him that is true and we are in him that is true, even in his Son Jesus Christ."

Included in the service were the following passages from the Bible (Malachi 3:1,3): "Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: * * * And he shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and he shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer unto the Lord an offering in righteousness."

The reading also embraced the following citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:

"As Paul says: 'There is one God, and onemediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus' (p. 332). Born of a woman, Jesus' advent in the flesh partook partly of Mary's earthly condition, although he was endowed with the Christ, the divine Spirit, without measure." (p. 30).

Dramatic Scene from New Hit

Constance Cummings, Frank Albertson and Carl Miller in a tense scene from "Traveling Husbands," RKO Radio Pictures' comedy-drama, at the Lyric Theatre Sunday.

FILM REVEALS LOVE AFFAIRS OF SALESMEN

"Traveling Husbands" Is Novel, Enjoyable Screen Treat

Meet Mr. Traveling Salesman—He's the parlor car Bedouin, the glib-tongued knight of the rails who carries novelties in his grip and love in his heart wherever he goes.

He's the champion story teller of the world. Everybody likes him.

The Don Juan-like adventures of these smooth-lipped romancers are humorously told in Radio Pictures' unusual comedy-drama "Traveling Husbands," showing Sunday at the Lyric Theatre.

These modern troubadors of love, as they flit from one amorous adventure to another, are presented in an interesting light in this rollicking film.

The salesman's life is a mixture of sales argument, flirtation, conquest and remorse. He is irresistible in love, never takes "no" for a final answer and usually gets what he goes after.

Breach of promise suits are his meat. He escapes them by the simple procedure of moving out of town. He's the fastest moving man in creation.

"Traveling Husbands" concerns the playful moods of these boys on their frequent trips away from the home hearth. The picture features a great comedy cast which includes Evelyn Brent, Frank Albertson, Constance Cummings, Carl Miller, Spencer Charters, Hugh Herbert, Frank McHugh, Purnell Pratt, Dorothy Peterson, Rita LaRoy and Gwen Lee.

TURNING TO THE GENTILES
Acts 13:42-52; Romans 1:14-16
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Genuinely good people can have a difference of opinion. An argument that will always remain a part of history occurred over John Mark at Perga in Pamphylia. At that point it became necessary for Paul and Barnabus to proceed into the interior and the handy man of the evangelistic party decided not to go with them.

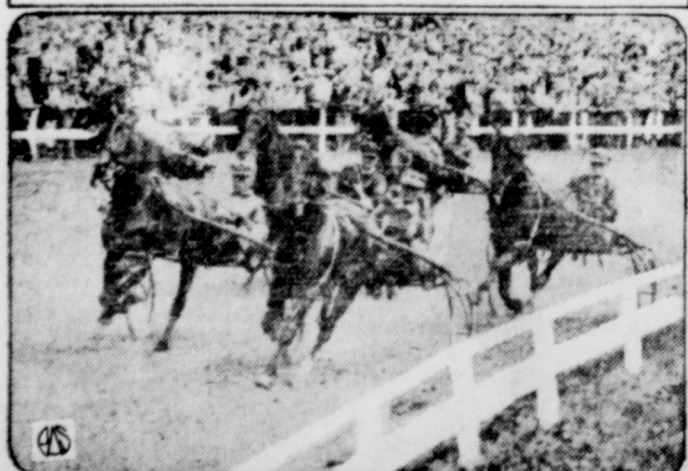

Perilous times awaited the determined evangelist as they went forward on this first missionary journey.

Many Jewish settlements had been made in Asia Minor owing to a system of colonization developed by Antiochus Epiphanes. A synagogue was easily found in Antioch of Pisidia. There were no less than ten Antiochs founded by Selucus Nikator and named after his father, Antiochus. We need distinguish only between those in Pisidia and Syria. Marked attention was given to the address of Paul on that first Sabbath. Many begged that the visitors tarry with them and repeat the teaching about Jesus Christ being the Messiah on the following sabbath. This was done and the entire chapter 13 should be read with care for all the details.

Meanwhile the Jews saw the import of this new teaching and if it prevailed their long established system would need to be modified, for Paul taught that many items had been fulfilled. Jealousy started persecution and Paul made the declaration that now he was free to turn to the Gentiles, for in his commission at Damascus he had been especially set apart as their ambassador on behalf of Jesus Christ. In proportion as the messages were accepted by the Gentiles, persecution was increased by the Jews and Paul and Barnabus had to depart in order to save their lives, but they went forward rejoicing.

VERY LATEST

By Mary Marshall

Here is the new chiffon evening scarf that is rather mystifying the first time you see it worn—but extremely simple once you see it unfolded. You see, it consists of a square made of three strips of chiffon in three tones of the same color or in three different colors and when it is folded over diagonally there is a charming blending of tones.

The colors you chose for your scarf will depend on the color of the dress with which you wish to wear it. With a white and black combination you will find a combination of black, white and gray chiffon charming. With pink and rose, you might chose pale pink, light rose and deep rose—with a green dress three shades of green. Or to wear with a figured chiffon dress, choose three shades of chiffon in three tones shown in the print.

The finished scarf is about one yard square, so each of your three strips should be one yard long and 12 inches wide. The three strips should be joined in a narrow French seam or French fell and the edges are finished with a fine rolled hem. You will probably have to buy a yard of chiffon of each color so you can make three of these smart scarfs from the material that you will need to buy for one. That means one scarf for your self and two to use for gifts.

When the scarf is worn it should be folded diagonally from one corner to the opposite corner—draped around the shoulders and tied in a loose knot. To wear with a day time dress you might make the scarf a trifle smaller, of crepe de chine in three contrasting tones, such as egg-shell, brown and orange, or red black and orange.

OYSTERS Salad

Combine celery with oysters for a salad course for Sunday night supper or a special luncheon. Fry half a dozen large oysters rolled in cracker bread or bread crumbs in a small tablespoon of butter and set them away to cool. Rub the salad bowl with raw onion, cut the oysters into small pieces and mix with six heaping tablespoons of celery. Make a dressing from a quarter of a cup of sour cream whipped to a froth, the yolk of an egg and a pinch of salt, paprika, mustard and sugar, and one tablespoon of oil. Add the cream the last thing, and if not sufficiently tart add a little lemon juice.

Fritters

Scald two dozen large oysters in their own liquor. Then chop them finely and mix with a cup of the liquor which has been drained off and passed through a cheesecloth strainer.

Senate Bill 41 Is Now a Law

Prof. P. B. Bittle, Superintendent of the Eastland high school wishes to announce the following:

Senate Bill 41, passed by the special session of the Forty-second Legislature, restores the benefits of the high school tuition law to all students who reside in districts that levy a local maintenance tax for their public schools. This new law takes care of all students who live in taxing districts who are not eligible to be transferred as well as those who are eligible. Children eighteen, nineteen, and twenty years old can attend school free of tuition in their home districts if a local tax is levied, and can have their tuition paid in any public high school if their home districts do not offer their high school grade. In short, this new law takes care of all high school children in the high school grades of each district that levies a local maintenance tax. The supreme court ruled that the overs could not participate in the benefits of the State school fund as they were not enumerated in the census. In consequence such students who live in a non taxing district must pay their own tuition regardless of where they attend school. Governor Staine has signed the bill and it is now the law. Text book covers will not be furnished free this term.

Wrestling Program--

Clements in a five minute wrestling bout.

The program scheduled for Friday night, September 4th, is as follows:

First will be a watermelon eating contest for all boys under twelve years of age.

Five rounds welter weight boxing bout between Smith, Cisco and Simmons, Eastland.

Five rounds welter weight boxing bout between Evans, Ranger, and Jordan, Eastland.

Six rounds welter weight affair between Garrison, Eastland and Stokes, Eastland.

There will also be a four round middle weight boxing bout between two contestants from Ranger, which should be exciting from start to finish, as these men are real class.

A three fall fly weight wrestling match between Snell, Eastland, and Seaborn, Eastland.

Three fall wrestling bout, Snell, Eastland, and Byron, Eastland.

Light weight wrestling between Donahue, Ranger, and Brown, Cisco. This will be a one fall bout, catch as catch can, and should be one of the big thrills of the evening.

There will also be several boxing matches that we cannot list at this time and the program will move rapidly from start to finish. The American Legion appreciates the attendance that has been enjoyed and asks that it continue, as they are attempting to raise money for several civic projects that need attention and so far they have not realized but little over and above expenses of putting on these entertainments. The people of Eastland and surrounding towns and communities that enjoy this sort of entertainment are cordially invited by the American Legion to come and help them out.

Job Ahead One Of Hard Work

"The only thing which will bring back what we are pleased to call 'The good old times' will be hard work and plenty of it," says J. C. Penney, founder and chairman of the board of the J. C. Penney company.

"Prosperity will never run into us unawares. When it comes back it will be because we have reached out and pulled it into the doors of our own individual establishments.

"There never was more money lying idle in this country than there is at the present time. This idleness shows up in relation to the earning power of money the same way that idleness shows up in individuals. Idle money is cheap money and money has never been so cheap as at the present time.

"Figures have an amazing way of showing up. Recent figures compiled by the Government show retail purchases amounting to fifty-three billion dollars in the United States in 1929. This was at the rate of $407.53 per individual for every individual in the country.

"If sales are off 20 per cent, that 20 per cent can be brought back through increasing the individual expenditures of everyone in our own community twenty-five cents a day.

"This flow of small units of money would re-create the necessary flow of merchandise which, in turn, will afford the stimulation, in such great need of which industry now stands.

"Sheer mass of operation means nothing. Men engaged in the business of retail selling, whether operating on their own capital in their own store, or operating a unit of a wide spread corporation set up, is going to succeed in proportion to their willingness to work.

"There has probably never been a time in our history when the country at large was so willing to look to business for its leadership and so firmly convinced that out of the offices of business men will come the answer to prosperity.

"The time is ripe when we must pick up the working tools we dropped to chase the rainbow. It is the pick and shovel of individual industries that prosperity is searching for.

"Profits remain in just as full volume as they have ever existed in the past, but they remain for the man in the business world who trains his business muscles to do the best job with the pick axe and shovel of real salesmanship. The job ahead of us is a working job."

Nine-Forty-Nine Bible Class Rally

Judge J. E. Hickman, Chief Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, and Mrs. Hickman, return this week after a two month's vacation at Creede, Colorado. Judge Hickman will resume his lectures at the Men's Nine-Forty-Nine Bible Class in the auditorium of the Methodist church, and it is expected that a large crowd will be in attendance.

The Men's class now has a membership of around 300. During Judge Hickman's absence various individual members of the class have taught the lesson, including Judge Cyrus B. Frost, W. S. Michael, Virgil T. Seaberry and Rev. Geo. W. Shearer. Hon. H. C. Shropshire of Weatherford, a noted lay speaker of Texas, gave the class a lecture one Sunday. The attendance of the class has been unusually large for the hot summer Sundays, and since cooler weather is approaching and that fact that Judge Hickman will be back to teach, it is expected that a majority of the members will be in attendance each Sunday.

The class will nominate officers next Sunday for the bi-annual period September to March. The officers will be elected the following Sunday. During the past six months the class has grown in membership from around 125 to near 300. Wilbourne B. Collie is president, A. L. Agate, Secretary, M. L. Keasler, Vice-President, and Leslie R. Gray, Treasurer.

A special program has been arranged for next Sunday morning, in addition to the message to be given by Judge Hickman. Every man in Eastland who does not belong to any Sunday school is cordially invited to attend this class and will receive a friendly welcome.

The class met last Sunday morning at 9:45. The meeting was called to order by President W. B. Collie followed by singing by the class conducted by A. E. Herring with Mrs. W. T. Root at the piano.

Prayer by J. J. Mickle followed by more singing by the class and a quartet composed of Frank Pierce, R. F. Jones, A. E. Herring and W. C. Campbell.

President Collie complimented V. T. Seaberry on his talk to the class last Sunday and the class for the splendid attendance during the hot summer months, also announced that Judge J. E. Hickman would be with us next Sunday. J. W. Chandler was reported as being quite sick. The following introduction of strangers and new members. In the absence of the teacher for today the Booster class with Rev. Geo. W. Shearer as teacher, was invited to meet with us. Rev. Turner Says Revival a Success

The Baptist revival which closed on last Sunday night was considered a successful one according to Pastor W. T. Turner who states that the attendance was beyond all expectations.

There were fourteen additions to the church, all adults except one. While this number was not large more than one hundred and fifty had already joined the church since January 1. Others are expected to join the church because of the revival and it is expected that new members will be added to the Sunday school as a result of the out of door services which attracted many people who are not regular church attendants.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS HOLD REGULAR MEETING

The Talahi Camp Fire Girls met on the lawn of the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at 4:06. They voted to change their meeting place from the Methodist church to the junior high school building.

Meeting adjourned to meet next Friday afternoon at junior high school building at four o'clock.

Man And the Future Church

I am not writing this to show you my authority, but because I love the church. Will say that the future church must be built by the influence of man. Past customs and traditions have been causing man to neglect the church, in as much that their attendance has been on the decline.

The Methodist church is going to have a rally for the men's Bible class, Sunday, September 6, and we would like to see ever non-going church man at this rally. I am a complete stranger to you although a friend and want to go east with a good report in the Sunday school work of Eastland, Texas.—THOMAS STEER.

Blue Lodge Mason will meet in regular stated communication on the second Thursday night which will be on the tenth of September. O. L. Duckett, Worshipful Master says there will be good news as well as important business and would like to see every Mason living in the Eastland jurisdiction in attendance.

GOOD NEWS

Last summer I went to a white church in a new England town. The preacher for the day was a famous man from a big city, who happened to have a summer home near-by.

The church was only about one-tenth filled. Even this famous name was not enough to pull people away from the cool woods and beaches.

When the preacher arose to announce his text, I thought: "Now we'll catch it. We shall be told that these empty pews mean that the world is going to the dogs. We shall hear a half-hour of lament about human wickedness. We few, who have come to church, shall be crucified for the sins of those who have stayed away."

I have listened to many church sermons and I am sick of them.

But I was due for a pleasant surprise. He announced a text from Paul's letter to the Corinthians. He explained that in his passage Paul was really making a plea for a generous collection from the Corinthians for the struggling churches elsewhere. He had an ulterior motive, but that does not change the fact that the whole chapter is full of praise for the Corinthians.

Having told them how kind they are, how courageous, how faithful, Paul concludes by saying, in effect: "Since you have all these many good qualities, I ask you also to have this grace which was in Christ Jesus, who being rich became poor for our sakes."

In other words you are great folks: some on, now, and be generous also.

The preacher then proceeded to tell us what a grand thing it is to belong to the human race—how good people are, how courteous to each other, how brave under their sufferings, how hopeful in the face of an inscrutable Fate.

He said that God created men and women because He wanted companions, and that He was pleased with His creation.

He made us all proud of our humanity, and sent us out more cheerful and better able to fight for the weak.

I wondered why there are not more such sermons.

Jesus did very little denouncing and hardly any "viewing with alarm." He came with a joyous message.

"You are sons of God," he said, "destined for eternal happiness."

People like that sort of talk. They called it "gospel," which is to say, "good news."
