

Whittlin'

By Dolph Moten

Have a farmer friend who came to town the other day. Talked to him after he had been around for an hour or so.

He said the first nine men he saw, he owed, and the tenth was taking up a donation.

Maybe that proves that it takes money or a good credit rating to operate. Surely it proves something.

A Houston writer is planning to take away some of my material. The man's name is Hall and he is a free lance writer. He is making plans and gathering information for a story about some eight men from Tahoka who are mayors in the towns in which they now live.

Our own mayor, J. E. Sherrill, Jr., is one of the eight. Sherrill received a letter from the writer asking for information about himself, his family, his town, etc.

The letter says the man plans to sell the story to The Houston Chronicle and possibly other publications.

Think the story, if and when it is written, should be interesting. Maybe we'll get a chance to read it.

You know, I'd hate to be a free lance writer. It's hard enough for me to sell some of the copy I write to myself, much less to someone else. Think I'll try to get a good ditch-digging job on the side to boost my free lance income.

Took a course once in "How to Write and Sell Feature Stories." Good course. It didn't, however, make me want to make my living that way. Writing is too easy to put off until another day.

However, I understand that a hungry feeling in the stomach will inspire a writer no end.

Received a copy of The Echo, newspaper of the Texas Prison system that is put out by the inmates, last week. The issue was the special rodeo edition.

The prison rodeo is held each Sunday in October at Huntsville as you know and has been built into quite a show. I've had the opportunity to sit in on a couple of performances.

It's a good show and is wonderful entertainment. But, before I'd seen the show, I was under the impression that the inmates, especially the lifers, would be extremely daring and brave.

Such is not the case. Self preservation is just as important to a criminal who is living his life in prison as it is to you and me.

From a rodeo talent standpoint, professional rodeos are far ahead of the prison version. That's to be understood, of course, and the prisoners are just as scared or more so than the professional rodeo hand.

Like I said before, the prison rodeo is a fine show. You get your money's worth in entertainment. I was just surprised to learn the criminals were "human," too.

Clipped the following from the Texas Press Association bulletin: WHY DO THEY TRADE AWAY FROM HOME?—Why people make purchases outside their own communities was studied by University of Michigan Bureau of Business Research. Selecting Oakland County (Mich.) as a testing area, the Bureau found purchasers buying in areas other than their own for these reasons:

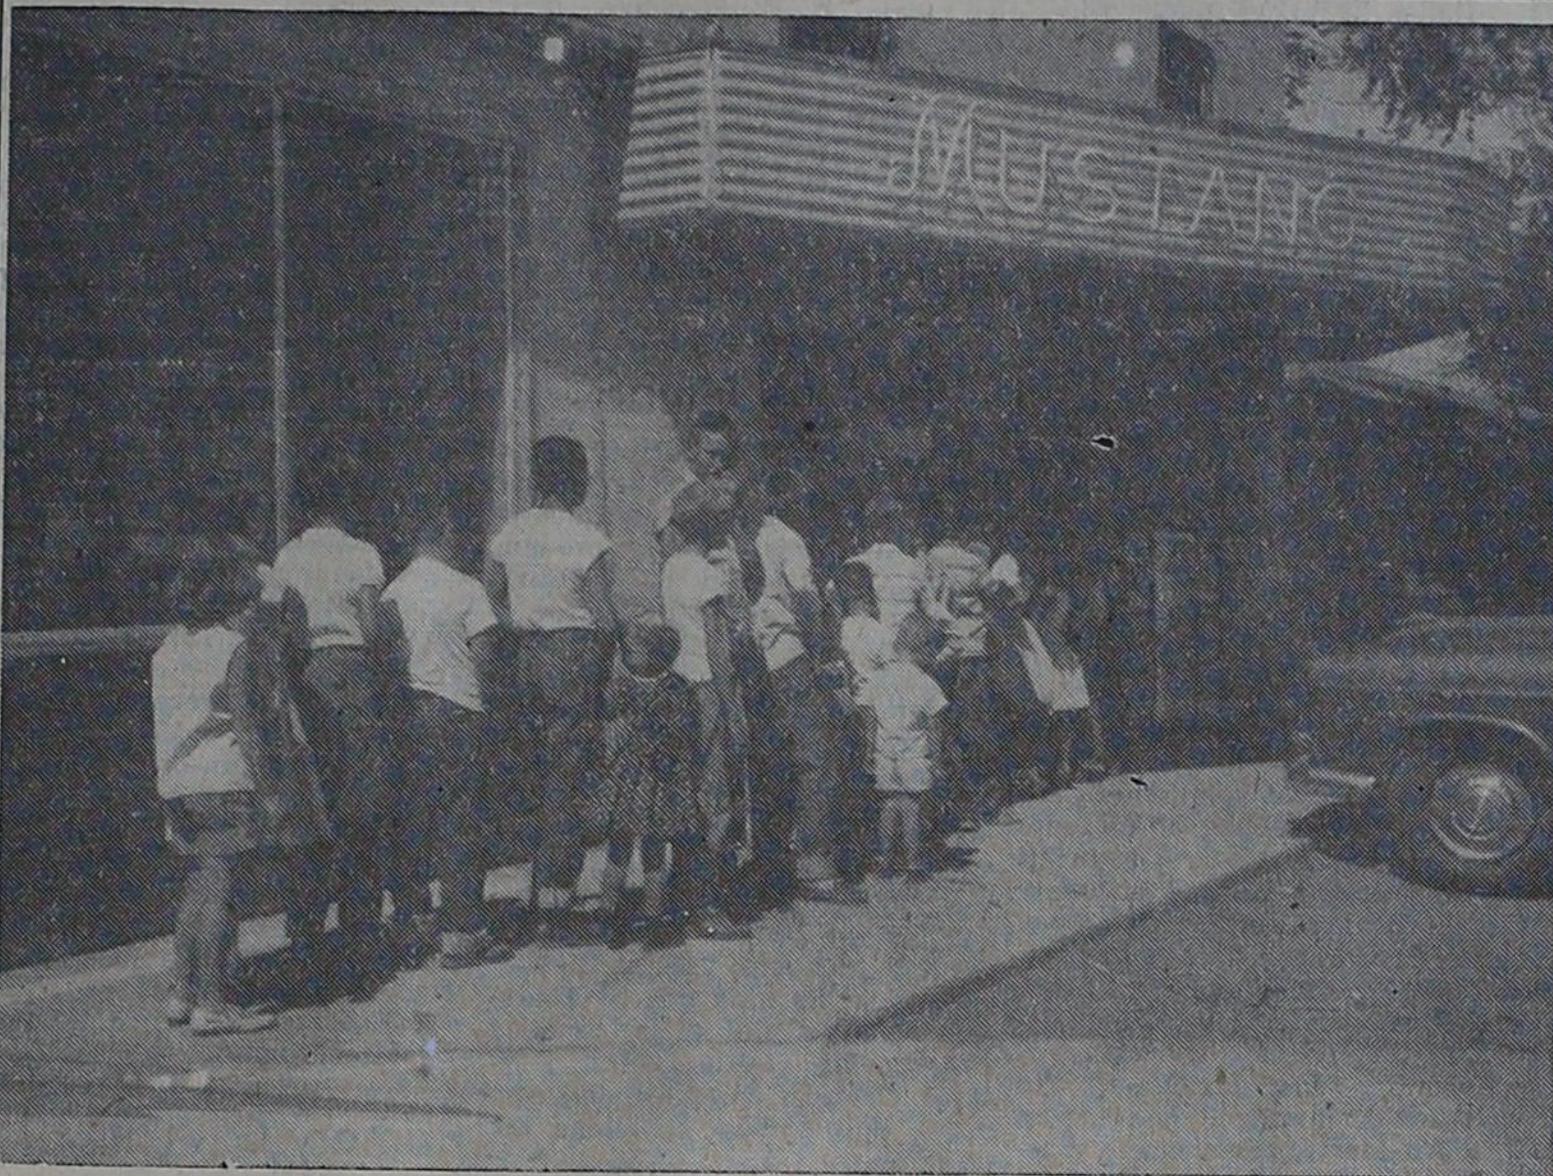

Variety	29.6%
Price	21.2%
Quality	10.3%
Sales	9.3%
Parking	6.7%
Style	3.6%
Service	3.6%
Convenience	3.5%
More Modern Stores	3.2%
Miscellaneous	6.7%

I've talked to some small town merchants who feel that folks are going to do part of their trading outside their own community no matter what. Possibly that's true. However, I feel that merchants should do everything possible to encourage people to trade in their own hometown.

In many cases, as shown by the figures above, the customers feel that the hometown merchant isn't offering deals as good as can be found in other communities.

The sad part about trading in other places is that many times local merchants offer values as good as can be found elsewhere. But still, people spend their money outside their own community.

Maybe a better advertising program would be an aid to stop business from leaving town?

THIRTY MINUTES 'TIL SHOW TIME—The above picture shows the line of Bovina area youngsters who were eagerly awaiting the opening of the theatre Saturday for the first free kid show sponsored by local merchants. Approximately 100 children enjoyed the entertainment. Tickets for next Saturday's show may be obtained from local businesses.

Merchant-Sponsored Movie Saturday Termed Success

Some 100 Bovina area youngsters enjoyed a free movie Saturday afternoon in Mustang Theatre. Free tickets to the show were awarded to the children or to their parents by promotion-minded Bovina merchants.

Scott Levins, manager of the theatre and leader of the promotion, says the first showing of the 15-week program was definitely a success. "Actually, we figured to have about 40 present at the first show," Levins said. "The first show's attendance was much more than we expected and we figure the attendance will continue to grow for several weeks."

Prior to the movie, games and contests were enjoyed by the children. The show included two cartoons, a Three Stooges comedy and the first of a 15-part western serial.

Free tickets to the movie were and may be obtained from any of the 15 participating merchants.

Merchants feel the show will bring more business to town on Saturdays and that the town as a whole will benefit from the promotion.

Most merchants were pleasantly surprised with the results of the first Saturday's showing and feel that it will aid business even more as it goes on.

The show opens at 2:30 and the movie begins at 3:00. The program is over shortly after 4:00 p. m.

Businesses participating in the program are Wilson Grocery, Esquire Cleaners, ABC Drug, Gaines

Hardware Co., and Bonds Gulf; Also, Venable Cleaners, L&E Fabric Shop, Combs Grocery, Trimble Barber Shop and Bovina Restaurant, Sudderth's "66" Service, Bovina Drug, Williams Mercantile Co., Read's Grocery and Queen's Slaughtering.

Ground Observers Will Be Organized

A meeting of local people interested in forming a branch of the Ground Observer Corps for Bovina will be held Wednesday, October 3, J. E. Sherrill, Jr., mayor of Bovina, says.

Air Force Sgt. Calvin G. Doyle, who works out of Amarillo, met with Sherrill and Dolph Moten last week and arranged the meeting. Where the meeting will be has not been announced.

An attempt to organize the Corps in Bovina some 14 months ago failed. Sgt. Doyle scheduled a meeting, but was injured in a car accident and was unable to attend.

O. W. Rhinehart, who was mayor at that time, was appointed post supervisor.

At least 12 people must be present at the meeting to form the organization. Sgt. Doyle says that three meetings must be held in the first 30-day period. Meetings will last a maximum of two hours. At the end of six hours (three meetings) certificates will be awarded to volunteers who have participated.

The idea behind the organization will be to report aircraft to a central station. A four hour practice session will be held once each month, Sgt. Doyle says.

Sherrill has been named post supervisor and will announce where the meeting will be at a later date.

The man who replaced Sgt. Doyle during the time he was injured talked to the Bovina Woman's Study Club. However, members of that organization decided against forming a post.

The Hall of Fame for Great Americans was established in 1900 on the campus of New York University.

Bovina Men Go to Austin In City's Key Rate Interest

J. E. Sherrill, mayor of Bovina, and Roy Fuller, water superintendent, left Tuesday morning for Austin where they will talk to the fire insurance division of the state board of insurance commissioners concerning Bovina's fire insurance key rate.

The city's current key rate is 97 cents. The maximum is $1. The two local men, as well as others, feel that Bovina is entitled to a lower rate. They also feel that a lower rate may be obtained when officials know of facilities in Bovina.

For teaching fire prevention in the local school, three cents is taken off the rate. Other things that are done and that the city has will possibly decrease the figure even more, the men feel.

Fuller says he "hopes" the key rate will be lowered to 75 cents. The following letter was received recently by Otho Hammonds, fire chief:

"Dear Chief, "According to our records, some sort of a system was installed in your city in 1949 which did not include an elevated tank, and we received advices in March, 1954, that the city proposed to install a 50,000 gallon elevated tank. However, we have heard nothing further regarding this particular matter.

"You will please arrange to have the engineer submit detailed plans of the water works system, a block map of the city which show the city limits and the details of the source and amount of water supply, data on all pumping equipment, the sizes and kinds of all mains, the make, type, size of valve openings, and locations of each fire hydrant, full data regarding the elevated tank as to the height of the tower and the dimensions of the bowl. We will then have some idea as to the situation locally and will be able to render you service, but we want to urge that you see that detailed plans and specifications are filed with their office prior to making further changes.

"You will please furnish us a detailed inventory of all your fire apparatus, together with the make and horsepower of the electric siren, if you have one.

"We shall look forward to hearing from you further and assure you of our cooperation.

Sincerely yours, Mark Wentz, commissioner"

Armed with the information listed in the letter, Sherrill and Fuller were scheduled to talk with officials this (Wednesday) morning.

Fuller, who is also fire marshal of the local volunteer fire department, says that an inspector will have to look over the facilities in Bovina. However, Fuller says he is confident that Bovina will get some reduction in its key rate.

Attend Funeral In Chillicothe

Mrs. Harry J. Charles received word Wednesday morning of last week of the death of her grandmother, Mrs. O. L. Simms of Chillicothe. Mrs. Simms had suffered a long illness. Funeral services were held in the Chillicothe Church of Christ Thursday afternoon. Harry J. Charles and daughter, Harriette Lou, attended the services.

Attend Funeral Of Brother

John and Frank Wilson received word Wednesday evening of the death of their brother, Mel Wilson, of Enid, Okla. Wilson died Wednesday evening and funeral services were held in Enid Friday afternoon. Those attending from Bovina were Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson. They were accompanied by the Frank Wilsons' daughter, Mrs. Fred Hoffer and daughter, Stephanie, of Amarillo. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

Bovina Students Go To Fair

Some 96 Bovina students attended the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo on its opening day Monday. Included in the group were some 55 band members and approximately 20 FHA girls and 20 FFA boys.

The band participated in the fair parade Monday morning.

Adult leaders going with the students were R. E. Everett, high school principal, Coach Bob Wills, Roy M. Crawford, vocational agricultural instructor, and W. Wayne Stevens, band instructor.

The students, in three buses, left Bovina at 7:30 a. m. and returned at 7 p. m.

No school was held Monday to allow students to go to the fair.

Warren Morton, superintendent, says the "holiday" also gave parents an opportunity to take their younger children to the fair. By this method, the students will not officially miss a day of school.

Boat Racing Hobby Of A. V. Warren

By Sally Whitesides

A. V. Warren, farmer who lives near Oklahoma Lane, has become one of the millions of Americans who have discovered that water sports and boating has a quality of relaxation. Though there aren't any large bodies of water near Bovina, with the good highways, better transportation and longer weekends, one can drive to several such lakes in a few hours.

Warren's hobby is boat racing and he has shown this summer that he has the ability to succeed in the sport.

Almost any weekend during the warmer months, you may find A. V. and his wife, Bonnie, on their way to one of several lakes in this area. Their favorite lake is Alamogordo Lake, near Ft. Sumner, N. M. There, they spent many happy hours tuning the motors and testing the boats for future races.

Warren became interested in the racing type boats about two years ago when his wife's brother, Robbie Foster, acquired one. They worked together with the racer until, before the summer was gone, Warren had become greatly interested.

He bought his two boats during the spring and summer of 1955. One is a Class "A" Runabout which is 10 feet long, 10 inches deep and 4 feet across. It is powered by a 20 cubic inch, 10 horse power Mercury motor. A. V. has painted the boat red and white and christened her the "Little Wicked."

The other racing boat is a Class "A" three point Marpher Hydro and is 8 feet long and about 4 feet wide. It is also powered by a 10 horse power motor.

The boats are transported from the Warren home to the lake on a two wheel trailer which carries both boats and their motors in double-deck fashion.

The Hydro is a single cockpit boat but the Runabout has a seat up front for a passenger. The (Continued on Last Page)

Mustangs Lose to Rival Farwell, 13-0

By Dolph Moten

It was all Farwell's show Friday night in Steer Stadium as Bovina's Mustangs went down to their second straight defeat by a 13-0 count. It was the Steers' first win in two starts.

They played a 0-0 deadlock with Melrose in their first outing. Featuring two fine backs named Lovelace—Tommy and Johnny—the Steers counted in the second and third quarters. The Mustangs' defense showed improvement over their first game against Sprinklake, which they lost 27-7, but their offense, hampered by injuries to two key backs, Neil Smith and Billy Burnam, couldn't get started.

Farwell's attack was handicapped by penalties that totaled 105 yards during the contest. The Mustangs lost five yards via the penalty route.

Late in the second quarter the Steers managed for their first touchdown of the year. A stubborn defense had the Bovina team backed deep into its own end of the field when Dick Horn, Mustang quarterback, punted out to his own 30. It took the Steers eight plays to score from that point.

David Willard lost two yards to the 32, then made six to the 24. Jerry Henson went to the 15 and a first down. Tommy Lovelace romped down to the eight and Willard plowed to the seven. A fumble on the next play, recovered by the Steers, resulted in no gain.

Phillip Berry picked up a first down on the four yard line and then charged over on the next play for the touchdown. Johnny Lovelace's place kick for the extra point was true and the host team had a 7-0 lead that it never gave up.

The Steers' second touchdown drive, like the first, began on the 30 yard line. They got the ball after a Horn punt to that point.

Tommy Lovelace started the drive by moving six yards to the 24.

Farwell added nine more yards and a first down on the 15. Willard scampered to the 11 and then to the five but a 15 yard penalty for offensive holding moved the ball back to the 26. A Lovelace to Berry pass brought the ball back to the six and Tommy Lovelace went across the left side of the line standing up to make the score 13-0.

The place kick attempt for the extra point was too low and the scoring was over for the evening.

Bovina made its only scoring threat early in the first quarter. The Mustangs kicked off and after three fumbles, two by Farwell and one by the Mustangs, Bovina was in possession of the ball on the Steers' 43. Mike Barraza carried to the 41, but an offside penalty against Farwell moved the ball to the 38. Barraza made three more to the 35 and Burnam picked up a first down on the 31. Another offside penalty against the Steers pushed the ball to the 26. The Mustangs moved the ball to the 24 and Lawlis added two more to the 22. Barraza was stopped for no gain to bring up fourth down with one yard to go. Burnam managed for the first down on the 21, then lost seven to the 28. Barraza made four yards in two carries before a Horn pass was intercepted by Berry.

In the first quarter, the Steers couldn't get inside the Mustang 35 yard line. In the fourth quarter, however, they threatened again as they moved down to the 18 before the Mustangs took over on downs.

Thanks, Fellows

Possibly many local people fail to appreciate what is being done for them by two of our city officials.

J. E. Sherrill, Jr., mayor, and Roy Fuller, water superintendent and fire marshal, are in Austin this week talking with the board of insurance commissioners concerning Bovina's key rate for fire insurance.

Because of lack of interest and initiative on the part of local citizens in the past, and that includes us, Bovina property owners have paid more fire insurance than they should have. That is so much water under the bridge now.

The thing we should be grateful and appreciative for is that these two Bovina boosters have taken the interest in the town that they have gone to bat for us in Austin.

Actually, as we understand the situation, getting the key rate lowered is a matter of formality. The town has the facilities and other requirements that justify a lower rate. However, in the past, no one bothered to tell the state board of insurance commissioners about what was going on in Bovina and about improvements that were being made.

The lack of interest was a shame. We're proud to see that something is finally being done about the situation.

Thanks, Sherrill and Fuller, for what you are doing for your friends and neighbors and the city of Bovina.

Former Resident Adopts Korean Child

Mrs. J. T. Hammonds received word last week that her brother and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Neyland Hester, of Lancaster had adopted a little girl. Linda is a five year old Korean orphan and arrived in Dallas by plane August 26.

Mrs. Hammonds reports that Linda was sent outside by her new parents to play with the neighborhood children. As Linda cannot speak or understand English, they thought this would be a good way for her to pick up words. Sometime later the little girl brought home a girl friend, whom she had taught to sing "Jesus Loves Me" in Korean.

Rev. Hester is a former resident of Bovina, moving from here in 1940. The couple have two sons of their own and one adopted boy.

Details Released for County Emergency Feed Program

Parmer County farmers, reinstated in the government's emergency feed program last week, already are applying for participation, according to John Zahn of the county FHA office.

By Tuesday afternoon, about a dozen farmers and stockmen had been in to inquire for details of the program, which marks the first time Parmer County has been on the "drouth disaster" list since the summer of 1954.

Applications for the program are being taken by the FHA office, and that office also can then proceed to issue purchase certificates for hay. In the case of grain certificates, these will be obtained through the county ASC office, but in both cases, applications must begin at the FHA office.

The local FHA committee will rule on the eligibility of applicants, and certify to their participation. They are scheduled to meet Thursday of this week.

Government support on the emergency provisions is $1 per hundred-weight for grain, and $7.50 per ton for hay or ensilage. Both are maximum figures.

"The feed is for foundation herds only," cautions Zahn, "and not for animals being raised to market."

Amounts permissible are 17 pounds of hay, 4 pounds of grain per day for dairy or beef cows; 12 pounds of hay, 3 of grain for heifers (for foundation herd replacements); 4 pounds of hay, 1 of grain for calves on cows; and 20 pounds of hay, 5 of grain for herd bulls.

It is possible for farmers to pick either or both of the programs, says Zahn. There also is a program available for sheep and goats.

Dealers interested in participating in the program must sign a dealer agreement and be approved by the county committee.

Ex-Farwell Man Gets Write-Up In Farm Magazine

The dairy operation of Kenneth Grissom, Lubbock County, is described in the October issue of The Progressive Farmer magazine.

The article, "Cows, College, and Cash," tells the importance of cows in Grissom's life. He was brought up on a dairy farm near Farwell. When he finished high school, he took one of his father's best Jerseys to Texas Tech with him and found a home where he could keep a cow and exchange milk for room and board. Now he is a successful Grade A dairyman.

Keynote of Grissom's 160-acre dairy farm operation near Shallowater, is efficiency. He is especially proud of a refrigerated vacuum milk tank built at a cost of $3,300. A recently completed modern dairy building on the farm is made of concrete block. It contains a tank silo, milk room, large feed room, eight-stall milking parlor, and an overhead feed box. It is large enough to accommodate twice the size of his 90 grade Holsteins.

Grissom keeps careful records and doesn't keep a cow unless she pays her way. His cows are well fed and receive all the ensilage and cottonseed hulls they can eat. Another secret for his good dairying is cleanliness. The barn is cleaned after each milking; all pipes and milking machines are kept in chlorine water when not in use.

The cows' udders are washed in chlorine water before using milking machines.

Soil Bank Wheat Can Be Grazed

Of interest to farmers and stockmen of Parmer County is the recent relaxation of grazing restrictions for wheat which had been placed in the acreage reserve of the soil bank.

It will now be possible to graze this wheat up until December 31 without penalty. This has been permitted because of the return of Parmer County last week to a "drouth disaster" status.

Cotton Marketing Cards Now Ready

Cotton marketing cards are now ready for the 955 cotton growers of Parmer County, Prentice Mills, ASC office manager, announces this week.

The cards will be mailed on request of growers, or may be picked up at the office.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

Mrs. Foister Rector, who lives south of Friona, writes that she is one homemaker who still makes her own butter and also makes handmade quilts. Her family enjoys homemade butter very much and has never learned to eat substitutes. That reminds us of a slogan which we see on a delivery truck.

It reads, "Only butter tastes like butter."

Mrs. Rector especially enjoys making quilts. Her favorites are embroidered and appliqued, but she makes patchwork quilts, too. She learned the art from her mother, Mrs. P. B. Griffith, but according to Mrs. Rector, "I don't do as nice work as mother does."

An idea which should be used in every home, new or old, is to provide storage space for anything which might be harmful to children. There should be a medicine cabinet which is out of reach of small hands in every home. Just last week two small children in Friona took overdoses of something.

The two were taken to the Parmer County Community Hospital the same day and were given emergency treatment. Several have been treated in the past year. These were all taken to the hospital before their condition became critical. If you have small children in your home, store harmful mixtures out of their reach.

If you dislike ironing, and who doesn't, check labels on garments and buy only those which require little or no ironing. Some of the new drip dry fabrics look wonderful with a minimum of ironing.

There will be demonstrations of electronic ranges at several of the fairs this year. That we sure want to see. Turning out perfectly cooked foods in seconds instead of minutes or hours sounds almost too good to be true. If you see such a demonstration, let us know about it. We may not get around to attending a fair.

What do you homemakers plan to do with your extra time this winter? It seems that those who make gardens, keep lawns, preserve fruits and vegetables and do so many other summer jobs would have a lot of spare time when the weather gets cold.

Of course, we know that those having school age children put in a lot of hours with them during the winter. To you, we would like to suggest that you take an active part in your local PTA organization this school term.

Let us know about your interests, hobbies, etc. Then after we find out about them, we may be wanting to know how you find time for them. Seems like today's homemakers have a bigger problem finding time for outside interests than they do in becoming interested in an outside activity.

Maybe we need to learn how to use our time more effectively. If any of you have suggestions along that line, we would like to hear about them, too.

Several months ago we saved an article on refinishing old furniture to make it look like antique. The ideas expressed sounded so workable our curiosity was aroused. Learned lately that it is a very good idea. Lorraine Welch tried it. The only thing Lorraine found wrong with it was that the main ingredient necessary was elbow grease.

DOUBLE ACTION—This shows how the heads of the tall sart on the Wells farm are topped and conveyed to a rolling truck, and shortly afterward, the remainder of the stalk is cut to shreds in an ensilage cutter, making total use of the crop.

Sart Dual Crop On Wells Farm

A little over a year ago, Pat Patrick of Roberts Seed Company brought back a bundle of a crop called sart that he had noticed growing in Cochran County.

Because of its enormous size, it was examined by numerous farmers and a picture and story was run in The State Line Tribune. Patrick didn't know it, but there were 60 acres of the "new" crop growing right in Parmer County at that time.

It was on the H. C. Wells farm just north of Friona. This week, there is another crop of sart growing on the Wells place, although it has swelled to 165 acres.

Harold Joe Wells, young Friona farmer, and a big crew of harvest hands are busy this week taking the crop in and the system they use to take advantage of both seed and forage presents an unusual scene.

First, a gawky de-header on "stilts" rolls along, its reel pulling the heads into the cutter. The heads continue along a canvas conveyor until they dump into a truck which rolls alongside.

Behind this operation comes a forage cutter which gobbles up the remainder of the stalk and blows it into another rolling truck as shredded forage ready for the silo.

Wells is pleased with the way the crop is turning out this year, and reports that the return from sart is beating considerably what grain sorghum could do.

Silage is weighing out about 25

tom made, and cost Wells $1250. It was manufactured in Tullia.

Also, the price of registered seed for planting comes high. It cost Wells $40 a hundred for planting seed this year.

Harold Joe estimates that they have about $35 per acre invested in the crop, and that it will cost them about $1.75 a ton to cut the ensilage, and about $8 per acre to de-head the seed.

Farm Labor Group Named for County

Three Parmer County citizens, Joe Jones, Bruce Parr, and E. C. Hock, are now serving as a county farm labor committee and met this week with J. D. Jordan, manager of Texas Employment Commission office, to review the total seasonal employment needs developed by the TEC.

The committee was presented with the figures of the TEC that Parmer County will need 5020 cotton pullers during the peak period of the cotton harvest.

The committee will function under Public Law 78, obtaining facts relevant to the supply of domestic farm workers in Parmer County and the shortage of workers, if any, which must be met by importing Mexican Nationals to harvest the cotton crop.

Under Public Law 78, the TEC must supply this information to the secretary of labor who must limit the number of Mexican nationals to be used in this county by granting a "ceiling." The Committee consults with the local office manager to assist him in estimating the number of workers who will be needed, based on current local conditions affecting the cotton crop.

"Ceilings" granted by the secretary of labor limiting the importation of Mexican nationals into this area will be posted. Post offices in Friona and Farwell, in the county agent's office, and in the county courthouse, will have information. The TEC has estimated that 1,775 Mexican Nationals will have to be imported into this county to harvest his year's cotton crop.

Fair time is here again and I have already spent two days judging. Friday I judged at the Castro County Fair and Saturday at the Tri-State Fair. There were lots of frozen, canned and baked foods at both fairs. I enjoyed both fairs but I am now ready to go back and "just look."

Saturday, September 22, Katherine Smith of Lazbuddie, Parmer County district 4-H Club council delegate, and Judy Billingsley of Farwell, Parmer County baking queen, will attend the Tri-State Fair Rural Youth Day program.

Highlight of this annual event will be the crowning of the baking queen and wheat king. This event will take place at 10:30 a. m. The coronation will be followed by the district council meeting.

Stretch Your Clothing Dollars

Are you good at stretching clothing dollars? Outfitting the youngsters with clothes for school or college and planning a fall and winter wardrobe for the family represents quite an investment. Extension clothing specialists say that careful planning before you buy will pay off in savings and satisfaction.

Careful planning is the secret to a wardrobe of costumes or outfits that go well together instead of a collection of miscellaneous items that never seem quite right.

Begin by taking careful stock of clothes on hand. Make necessary alterations of clothes you keep, bring them up to date or put them in first class condition.

Now plan what clothes you need to supplement what you have, keeping in mind your activities.

Each family member should have a part in planning. This makes for better understanding of what happens to clothing dollars and the family budget.

THE PARMER FARMER

If there's ever been a warmer September than this one, we can't recall when it was. The weather has been at least as warm and dry as was August, and this unusual condition has sped crops along toward maturity.

At this time last year, the entire area had received between 1 1/2 and 2 1/2 inches of rain, and fog and drizzle hung around for about 10 days. Compare that with 1956, and you can see why the crops are ripening so rapidly.

Feed grains, a lot of which don't usually get the combine treatment until after the first freeze, are streaming into elevators at a record pace.

There aren't any records to prove it, but most everyone seems to agree that this is the earliest crop in history. Modern self-propelled combines and other harvesting equipment of speed and efficiency greatly shortens the time necessary to do the job.

Last year, Parmer County produced a prodigious 14,000,000 bushels of grain sorghum. This year, we are likely to beat that considerably, if the present trend of good yields and heavy grain holds throughout harvest.

Except for fields which are on sloping land where penetration was hard to get and "hot spots" developed, the grain crop looks uniformly excellent. Farmers seem to have done a good job of land preparation, fertilizing, and getting water to their crops this year, because on the whole the picture is very encouraging.

Several people helped get agricultural products together to be shown at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo this week, but County Agent Joe Jones was the fellow who did all the work.

By netting 14 first places, and a lot of seconds and thirds, he gave Parmer County much favorable publicity at that show. The quality of our products will stand shoulder to shoulder with anyone's.

Parmer County Wins 14 First Positions At Tri-State Fair

Proving again the superiority of this area's agricultural products, 14 blue ribbons were awarded Parmer County exhibits at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo this week.

In addition, showings from the county took seven second places, 11 thirds, and four fourth positions. The exhibits were prepared by County Agent Joe Jones.

Parmer County's achievements were surpassed only by Lamb County, which took home 15 first place ribbons.

There were 22 counties entered this year, and Jones reports that competition was considerably stiffer than it has been in previous years. Thirty-eight divisions were entered for Parmer County.

Gas Tax Refund Deadline Is Near

Farmers who want to get back the federal gasoline tax included in the price of the gasoline they burn for non-highway purposes will have to hurry.

The deadline for making application to obtain a refund is September 31.

Application blanks and information on the rebate can be obtained through the county agent's office or the Farm Bureau office in Friona.

Convention Monday At Bovina School For Farm Bureau

Officials of Parmer County Farm Bureau have been working steadily the last several weeks in preparation for the eighth annual convention to be held in Bovina School auditorium Monday night, September 24, at 8 o'clock.

Gilbert Kaltwasser, county president, says that directors, in a meeting several weeks ago, voted to set the meeting at this earlier date in an effort to gain more participation in adoption of policies for the coming agricultural year.

"Though things seem to be moving along rather quietly and smoothly now," Kaltwasser says, "it is important that farmers keep abreast of further threats to the security of the American farmer, and be prepared to meet those challenges before they are quietly made laws. Most people are aware of the futility of attempts to eliminate detrimental laws, once they are passed."

The evening's program will begin with a 30-minute concert presented by the Bovina School band. Farm Bureau leadership pins will be presented to outstanding 4-H boys and girls, FFA boys and FHA girls of the county school districts. A county president will be elected, as well as five directors.

Brief reports on the past year's activities will be given, and resolutions prepared for consideration by the resolutions committee, as well as any introduced from the floor, will be discussed and voted upon.

Subjects prepared by the resolutions committee, headed by Harry Hamilton, include method of taxing for, and selecting board of directors for any water development program that may be instituted; opposition to any efforts that may be made to repeal Texas' right to work law; asking premium for feed grains free of noxious seeds; requesting depletion allowance on irrigation wells for income tax purposes, similar to that of oil exemptions; for or against flexible price supports and flexible acreage allotments on basic commodities.

Resolutions that have not been presented in the county conventions previously include separation of disaster agricultural insurance from soil bank administration; urging adoption of a minimum of 75% parity on non-basic commodities; favoring reduction of state cotton acreage reserve for all purposes from 10% to 2%; urging repeal of state law requiring licensing of farm utility trailers; favoring retaining present legislative districts; favoring separate, but equal schools for white and colored children; favoring state sales tax for school use only; opposing compulsory consolidation of schools of less than 300 high school enrollment to obtain a minimum enrollment of 1,000;

Urging investigation of possible collusion among oil companies in raising farm delivered fuels 1/2 cent per gallon since federal tax refund has become reality, and offering cooperation when and where possible with the Bi-State Water District in seeking control of production of water from agricultural areas for non-agricultural use.

"Other resolutions will be welcomed from the floor, and we want as much discussion pro and con as we can possibly get before a vote is taken on any resolution," Kaltwasser says.

Everyone is urged to bring the whole family to participate in this evening of important business, and every lady attending will receive an attractive "Lead the South" lapel handkerchief.

Four Parmer County 4-H Club boys were given prizes in judging of Sears gilts at Clays Corner last Saturday.

Winning first was Wayne Hill, who took a $7 prize. Second was Mike Nelson, $6; third, Tommy Tatum, $5; and Roy Donaldson was fourth and won $4.

Then on Monday, Hill took his Sears boar and gilt to the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo where he won second place and third place, respectively, with the two swine.

Hill netted $85 for his efforts at Amarillo.

Sears pigs are given Club boys by Sears-Roebuck Company which each year sponsors an essay writing contest. County Agent Joe Jones says any Club boy may enter.

Filing Regulations Eased For Farmers

Farmers are no longer required to file social security returns on a quarterly basis, according to H. O. Nichols, administrative officer of the Lubbock SS office.

During 1955 farmers were required to file a quarterly social security return with the district director of internal revenue. Due to a change in procedure, farmers now file one return in January covering all taxable wages paid to farm employees during the preceding calendar year.

A farmer must file a social security return during the year when he quits farming before the end of the year and has paid taxable wages during the year.

PROSPECTS SLIM

Prospects right now are slim for winter pastures, but says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, plans, seed and fertilizer should be ready if and when it rains. The need for winter forage is critical in most areas of the state and winter pastures, if conditions become favorable, can be used to cut wintering costs for livestock and up the output of meat and milk from the farm.

Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian, says gin trash and cotton burrs may be used as a maintenance ration for livestock with no danger from poison if insecticides had not been applied to the cotton plants for three or four weeks prior to harvest.

SAFE - SOUND - SECURE

There are good reasons why more people insure with Farm Bureau than with any other Parmer County Agency.

The election for subdivision three was discussed and plans were made to hold the election. The meeting adjourned at 2 o'clock.

FACTORS AFFECTING FALLOUT distribution over countryside downwind from a nuclear blast are the size of the earth particles carrying the radioactivity, their altitude and the speed and direction of the wind. Generally, in the United States, the winds which would dominate the direction of fallout would be the strong, usually west-to-east winds at about 40,000 feet. For this reason, the Federal Civil Defense Administration warns that only weather experts, with their methods of tracking high-altitude winds, can predict with reasonable accuracy the area to be affected by fallout. Men with radiation monitoring instruments are also required to determine whether an area is "safe" from radio active fallout after a nuclear attack. (FCDA Photos)

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

October 1 will be one day too late for you to file for refund of two cents per gallon on farm used motor fuels. If you haven't already done so, do it at your first opportunity. Your wife can do it for you if you're too busy, and it only takes about five minutes. We'll be happy to assist you in the office if you wish.

This coming Monday night, September 24, is the date of the eighth Parmer County Farm Bureau convention. You are urged to attend and speak your piece on the solution to your problems as farmers. You will be courteously heard.

For the fourth time in a row, our Farm Bureau queen failed to win in the district contest in Lubbock. Judy Bruns, your county queen, made a good showing, and she will ride the Farm Bureau float Thursday in Friona.

Among other things, Bruce Parr and the Farm Bureau weed committee have submitted wheat samples to PGC in Amarillo for milling and baking tests. Two slices of bread, encased in plastic are in the office, if you are interested in the results of some of the tests. One slice is from a loaf made of Early Black Hull and the other is from Comanche wheat. It is not difficult to see the difference in quality in the two. The committee is releasing other information resulting from the tests that they believe will help wheat growers decide which is the best kind to grow for market.

Attending the Farm Bureau policy discussion meeting and the queen contest in Lubbock Thursday were Gilbert Kaltwasser, Harry Hamilton, Roy V. Miller, and Raymond Euler.

The government's Smith-Doxey cotton classing service is getting quite a going over by Farm Bureau leaders in Texas and other states, too. Farmers have shown that government classers classed their samples from $10 to $25 per bale lower than private buyers, in some cases. This makes it look like something should be done, and soon. Farm Bureau has had, and is having more meetings to investigate the cause, and a consequent remedy for such goings on.

There is to be an election of a supervisor for subdivision N. 3. The present supervisor for this subdivision is A. L. Black, who has been on the board for eight years. A. Parmer Delegates To THDA Meeting

Three Parmer County home demonstration club members are making plans to attend the Texas Home Demonstration Association convention and the National Home Demonstration Council convention which will both convene in San Antonio next week.

Planning to leave Sunday from Amarillo for the week long activities are Mrs. Dick Rocky of Black, Mrs. Floyd Rector of Friona and Mrs. D. C. Looney of Bovina. Alternates are Mrs. Paul Hall, Mrs. L. C. Johnson and Mrs. D. L. Carmichael.

The national meeting will be held from the 23 to the 27th and the state convention will convene from the 27th to the 29th. Most of the delegates to the state convention plan to attend the national meeting and remain in the Alamo city for the state activities.

A tentative program set up for the National meet include vesper services on Sunday evening with Dr. Imogene Bentley, Dean of Women at North Texas State College, in charge.

On Monday all national officers will be presented and regional luncheons will be held. Committee workshops are to be held during the afternoon session. Monday night has been scheduled as "Texas Night" and the Texas delegation will be hostess for the group. A special program to be presented by "Texas ladies" concerns Texas under six flags.

Tuesday, Governor Allan Shivers will speak to the group and a report of the nominating committee will be heard. A panel of work for the year ahead will also be presented. Tuesday evening will be free for delegates. A tour of the city of San Antonio will be on the agenda of several visiting delegates.

Main speaker for Wednesday's program is Omar Burleson, representative from the 4th Congressional District. Climaxing the national meeting will be a banquet with Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby as main speaker.

The state association's program will consist of the election of new officers and the adoption of the program of work for the coming year.

No special programs have been planned as most of the state delegates will be on hand for the programs to be presented by the national group.

A. V. Warren Has Boat Racing As His Hobby

Boat racing drivers kneel in their boats while racing for two reasons. One, it lowers the vibration of the boat against the water and it is also a safety precaution. Also a kneeling driver has a much better chance of being thrown clear of the boat in case of an accident.

The local farmer has a fine record for so few months in the sport. He has placed and been awarded trophies for 13 of the 15 races in which he has competed. He won two gold cups at a racing meet held in Lubbock the first of this month. The other 11 trophies are miniature racers resting on either gold, plastic or polished wood bases.

Among some of his wins are a second and a third place win at Roswell, N. M. early last spring. One first and two second places were taken at a May race held at Conchas Lake. At this meet, he also won the high point driver's trophy, which is awarded to the racer who makes the most wins for the day.

A. V. says that the cost of this hobby is small after the initial expense of boat and motor. The entrance fee for most races is either $2 or $3. It is his opinion that it is a wholesome outdoor sport which can be enjoyed by the whole family. He says that Bonnie is very interested in their boats and accompanies him on almost every trip. She is anxious to try her hand as a driver and they plan for her to begin in the near future.

Another plan of the couple is to join the NOA, National Outboard Association. At NOA-approved races, prize money is awarded, while in the races Warren has competed in so far, there have been no prizes other than trophies.

Warren is not alone in his interest in boat racing. Others of this area who regularly attend races to compete are James Roach, Owen Patton, Vernon Willard and Robbie Foster.

Warren believes that this sport is comparatively safe if the participant is normally careful. He has never had a serious accident and has never turned over. He has seen other drivers suffer painful injuries from falls into the water which feels like "a slab of concrete" when you hit it from a boat going 40 miles an hour. Other, more serious accidents, are caused by other boats ramming an overturned boat or running over the unfortunate driver who has been thrown from such a boat. Warren says that there are no license fees or other requirements other than all drivers must wear life belts and a crash helmet.

Come the warm weather of spring, A. V., Bonnie and their young daughter are among the many who take advantage of it for a weekend of the roar of motors and the spray of water from their speeding boats which make a hobby that the whole family can enjoy.
