YOU NAME IT

By Everett Taylor

August 3, just two weeks from the season is almost upon us. Seems a little strange to mention football here in the middle of the summer, but the first game Thursday, will mark the first game in the state this year, excepting of course, bowl games.

On that date, the north and south all-stars of the state will clash in a contest at Austin. The following night a basketball game is to be played. Fall must not be so far away.

The events are held in connection with the state coaches school which is held in Austin that week. The actual football season, however, is still some two full months away, so we will swing over to the subject of softball.

Teams from Abilene, Cisco and Eastland will compete for the district title in the tournament to begin here Wednesday night.

Five teams are all that will play in the meet, a number very shy of the total expected to enter.

S-Sgt. Charles Brannon who is in charge of the meet explained that it was believed that several teams which were expected to enter did not do so because of paid players on their team rosters.

Two of the five teams are from Eastland, the Lamb Motor and King Ford nines. Two are from Abilene and the other from Cisco. The tournament is strictly for amateurs.

Brannon said that plans were being talked of holding a "wildcat" tournament here sometime in August, in which there would be no amateur ruling for entering teams.

Winner of the tourney here this week will earn the right to play in the state amateur softball meet in Brownwood in August. Lamb and King appear to have an excellent chance of winning the district title. If one of the teams wins here, it will make a good showing in the state meet later on.

Since we started on sports today, we may as well make this a complete sports discussion by taking a look at the local golf action.

A meeting to strengthen the local country club was held last week. A great deal of interest is being shown in the local course of late, and it looks as if the club is well on its way to bigger things.

Among local golfers, one of the most heated rivalries is between Blair Lewis and Gayland Poe. We heard rumors Monday that Poe had defeated Lewis in a match Sunday afternoon. Lewis, however, spiked the rumors, declaring that he definitely won.

Wednesday, Poe will team with J. G. Hammitt of Breckenridge and Lewis will play with Jimmy Phillips of Ranger in a big match at the local course.

The report we get is that Phillips and Lewis recently defeated Poe and Hammitt on their home course at Breckenridge. The report says that the only reason the winners are playing Poe and Hammitt again is that good competition is hard to find in these parts.

We also understand that Earl Conner, Jr., is going to make the rounds with the four golfers.

Conner is not going to enter in the play, but is to observe the four outstanding golfers, and improve his own game therefrom. A large gallery is expected to watch this grudge match.

Twenty Men Asked For Pre-Induction From Local Board

Eldridge Makes Statement For County Voters

The desire to serve, the ambition to accomplish something worthwhile, and the honor to serve you as County Judge impels me to ask you again for your support. We moved to Eastland County in 1903. I have lived here since that time. My life as a teacher and school superintendent is well known. I resigned my school at New Hope in the fall of 1917 and volunteered to serve in World War I.

I landed in France January 23, 1918, and was in action until the war closed. I was in the Army of Occupation until April 7, 1919, and was honorably discharged on April 26, 1919. I have been an active member of both the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, serving as Post Commander and in other capacities.

I am making this race cleanly, openly and on my own merits. I have taken no part in any race except this.

District Tourney Action Starts Thursday Night At Local Park

Four teams, instead of the five reported yesterday, will enter the district tournament to be held here this week, Chief A. W. Hennessee, has announced.

The tournament is scheduled to begin Thursday night, instead of Wednesday, with King Ford playing Whooten's Wholesale Grocery of Abilene in the first contest at 8 p. m., at Firemen's Field.

Friday night the Lamb Motor team will clash with the Cisco Junior College nine. Winner of the Thursday night game will play the Friday night winner in the final game Saturday night.

The winner and runner-up of the tournament are eligible to attend the state tournament at Brownwood in August. The teams agreed to participate in the state meet upon entering the district tournament, Hennessee stated.

Call Is For Eastland, Stephens Counties; Examined In Dallas

A pre-induction call for 20 men on August 8, has been received by the local draft board, Mrs. Jewell Reeves, board clerk, has announced.

The draft board office is located in room 306 of the Exchange building in Eastland, and the office is for both Eastland and Stephens counties. The call is for both counties.

The men will be sent to Dallas for examination only, and then will be returned to Eastland to await induction call. According to the present draft law, the induction call cannot be earlier than 21 days following pre-induction examination.

Men who have reached their 25th birthday will be the first called, Mrs. Reeves stated. No men 26 years of age will be called. After all 25 year olds have been called, the 24 year olds will be next, and on down through the 19 years olds. No 18 year olds are to be called, Mrs. Reeves added.

All men between the ages of 18 and 26 are required to register.

Men must register upon reaching their 18th birthday. Mrs. Reeves added that men who are being discharged from the service should check to see if they should register.

Mrs. Reeves, who was clerk of the board during World War II and who has been clerk during the peacetime draft, has again been assigned to full-time duties on the local draft board.

A telephone is being assigned to the office next week, Mrs. Reeves said. The board has previously been located in the Eastland county courthouse, and its moving to the Exchange building has caused some confusion.

Rotary Year Achievement Is Reviewed

Dr. K. W. Cowan, past president of the Eastland Rotary Club, reviewed the past year's activities at the regular club meeting at the Connelley Hotel Wednesday.

Following the introduction of visitors, Cowan presented ribbons of Rotary achievement to members for outstanding work during the year.

The first ribbon went to Janelle Patterson, club sweetheart. Mrs. Robinson was presented a ribbon for supervising the preparation of the meals for the club.

Rotary achievement ribbons went to the following for outstanding work on the Horned Toad Derby last year: Herbert Westfall, David McKee, Jim Murphy, Bill Brown, Earl Stephens, Sam Gamble and Benard Hanna.

For the inter-city meet, a ribbon went to Jim Horton.

Ladies night work earned ribbons for Bill Collins, Jim Murphy, Bill Brown, David McKee, Walter Payne, Lewis Fagan, and Sam Gamble.

I. C. Heck received a ribbon for presenting the outstanding program of the year.

Defense Department Officials Deny That Decision On Calling Reservists, Guards Made Yet

By Fred Mullen
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 13 (UP)—Usually well-informed quarters said today that 100,000 or more Reservists and National Guardsmen will be called up for active duty soon to strengthen the armed forces in the Korean crisis. High defense department sources insisted, however, that the question of whether the guard or reserve should be mobilized has not been decided.

U.S. FORCES STIFFENING RESISTENCE

WASHINGTON, July 18 (UP)—A military spokesman today said American and South Korean forces "are holding all along the line and enemy pressure has slackened."

He said this was the latest report received here. It came from a radio teletype conversation between 5 a. m. and 6 a. m. (CST) today.

Asked if this meant a turning point had been reached in the Korean war, the spokesman said he thought such a statement would be premature.

"I hope that is correct, but I am not able to say that it is a fact," the spokesman said.

He said the line being held apparently stretches from Kongju in West South Central Korea to Yongju in East Central Korea.

"It looks like a definite stiffening of our forces, that we're on the build-up and getting artillery and air support," he said.

"It was a good day of operations," he said. "In other words, the plays were clicking better."

"It is very encouraging to me."

References to the South Korean 1st corps from front line news dispatches, he said, also indicate that the South Korean forces have organized to the extent where a unit the size of a corps is in operation. He also referred to that as an encouraging sign.

The city and the chamber of commerce will be in charge of the erection of the bleachers.

The bleachers will be open to anyone who wishes to observe the election returns as they are sent in and posted on the board.

Army secretary Frank Pace, jr., told newsmen yesterday the problem was still under study at the White House but it was hoped a decision could be reached "in the near future."

Other sources said war demands would require the mobilization of some 100,000 guardsmen and reservists before long.

One report said the Navy wants to call up 150,000 of its 1,096,000 reservists while the Air Force wants to mobilize 50,000 of its 399,000-man force.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, believes another draft call is likely in August and that it may be necessary to tighten up present exemptions.

The first 20,000 draftees tagged for Army service last week now are being inducted and many of them are expected to be in uniform in three weeks.

The overall plan of the joint chiefs of staff on what is needed to the the Korean situation and guard against troubles elsewhere still is being worked out. It is a complex problem.

Planning chiefs, for one thing, are poring over manpower requirements of those sections of industry that will have to provide the weapons and all else that must go to a fighting force. There is evidence of some concern over what the recall of Guardsmen and Reservists might do to industry.

The Guard, the organized Reservists, and he Reserves not attached to organized units, total over 2,500,000 men. If all were ordered out immediately, planner said, there would be some impact on production. How serious it would be they do not know.

Mitchell To Represent Ft. Worth At Rodeo

Douglas E. Mitchell, assistant manager of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, will represent the Fort Worth exposition at the Ranger Jaycees' rodeo. Mitchell will ride in the opening day parade and probably will remain the full time the rodeo is in progress.

He is secretary-treasurer of the National Cutting Horse Association and has been connected with the Fort Worth stock show for five seasons, the past four as superintendent of the horse show. Mitchell has shown both gaited and stock horses and he raises cattle on his place near Fort Worth.

Gorman Indian Trail Festival Is Big Success Despite Bad Weather

By Buena Van Winkle
"What is this Indian Trail Festival?"

A brochure which was put out by the Gorman Quarterback club and other cooperating clubs of Gorman helps answer this question.

The front page of the booklet gets right into the spirit of the Festival. The mere mention of Indians takes us back immediately to a past period in the history of our country, and of Texas. Most of us had ancestors who helped to carve this present civilized area out of rawest and wildest wilderness, less than 100 years ago.

As late as 1870, Indians still roamed parts of the Comanche area of which our county was a part. There were raids in Dublin and other neighboring areas which such distinguished citizens as Uncle Tipton Ross of Gorman can recall quite vividly.

Thus the name Indian Festival ties this three days of entertainment and fun up with both the past and the present, because in the "middle" of the front page is the date, 1950.

Just as the quarterback in a football game so often carries a large part of the weight of the game, just so the Quarterback Club of Gorman, composed of young businessmen under 35, carried the load of sponsoring and selling this entertainment.

The Grand Parade for the Festival was to have formed Thursday, July 13, at the High School with numerous entries of floats. Bands from all neighboring communities were booked to attend the band clinic Thursday morning under the auspices of the Hardin-Simmons Band from Abilene, and the local band director, Sam Houston, a member of the HSU Cowboy Band.

But the weather in Texas is notorious for its lack of cooperation, so it rained and mopped the plans up beautifully. The clinic was held Thursday, but there were only two bands of six or eight who were expected to participate. The parade was postponed until Friday. A free movie was given at the local theatre through the courtesy of Hubert Craddock, theatre operator and Quarterback member.

The coronation of the queen was held on schedule Thursday night. It was a beautiful pageant doing full credit to the efforts of the members of the Woman's (Continued on page four)

Rodeo Starts Wednesday

Shiver Johnson's comedy car act will be one of the in-between-performance high lights of the Ranger Jaycee rodeo. The likeable comedian is still fighting that baffling and cantankerous mystery, the gas buggy—especially the Austin gas buggy.

Ranger today began to shake off the last traces of Rodeo lethargy.

Stock for the Ranger Jaycee rodeo was in the pens, the cowboys had arrived in town.

A quick scout through Ranger cafes revealed a great number of cowboys and cowgirls, easy to distinguish in their tight fitting pants, high wide and handsome hats.

Mrs. Fannie Mae Cox was registering cowboys at the Paramount hotel desk. She reported that 250 cowboys registered for the rodeo at Coleman and that there should be as many here.

Ticket sales at C. E. May's insurance office were picking up visibly this morning with the excitement that slowly began to permeate the town.

C. E. sold two large block of tickets while a Ranger Times reporter was in the office. And the buyer said that he might be back in the afternoon to buy more.

The Ranger rodeo will receive its formal kick-off at 12:15 p. m. Wednesday in the Blue Room of the Gholson hotel when the three leading Civic clubs—Rotary, Lions and Jaycees—meet to break bread and kid each other about their exploits.

Ted Gouldy's Texo Hired Hands will join in the bread breaking and broadcast from the Blue Room over a state wide network at 12:30 p. m. The Hired Hands are slated to play for three American Legion dances at the American Legion hall, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

Parade Master Dr. Carl Straley said that a larger parade is shaping up for 4 p. m. Wednesday afternoon. Two Sheriff's posses, a large group of Jaycee riders, several high school bands and maybe some floats will participate in the parade.

One of the outstanding attractions at the parade will be the fine horses that will be displayed. Sure to attract visitor's attentions will be the palominos of Dr. P. M. Kykendall and the rare Appaloosa stallion of James Ratliff. Ratliff believes that there are only four Appaloosa studs in all of Texas.

The horse was a favorite of the Plains Indians during the Indian wars. The breed is relatively small in size compared to Quarterhorses—but fast with lots of stamina.

The parade will be broadcast by wire recording over a Breckenridge station. Broadcasts before rodeo time—7:15 to 7:45 p. m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights from the arena have been slated over the same station.

Election returns will be announced at 30 minute intervals at the rodeo arena Saturday night.

Parade March

The Jaycee parade will form in the intersection of Walnut and Marston about 3 p. m. Wednesday. It will move to Main, march down main to the oil derrick on Commerce, cut to its right on Commerce and march up Pine street to disband at Marston.

Bands from Ranger, Gorman, Stephenville, Eastland will form in the opposite order in Walnut street; Colors, Ranger Junior College, officials and twirlers will form in that order on Marston. The Parker and Palo Pinto county sheriffs' posses and other riders will form back of the twirlers.

CARWILE TO OPEN BAKERY WEDNESDAY

Odin Carwile announces that he will open his Good Eat bakery at 122 North Austin, Wednesday.

Carwile started to open the bakery about two years ago. He got his arm caught in a dough mixer. It was badly mangled and he still carries it in a cast.

Randall Overstreet, who has had 18 years bakery experience, will do the baking at the new plant. Carwile, who said that he would sell butternut bread and handle special orders, has had fourteen years experience with the Wholesome Baking company.

Crossed Fingers Dodgers Winning Pennant At Expense Of Rival Cardinals

By Stan Moekler
United Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS, July 18 (UP)—The year-in, year-out bitter rivalry between the Dodgers and the Cardinals collapsed today under the weight of an amazing Dodger victory parade, and both clubs were trying to figure out why.

In other years, the National League rivals would wage a season long series with one team finally emerging with a slight edge. But not so this season. The Brooklyn belters have made the St. Louis outfit their personal doormat with 11 in 14 meetings—the last seven in a row. They have won the first three tilts of the current four-games series, which ends today.

The plain truth of the matter is that the Cards are keeping the Dodgers in the pennant race. The Cards are tied with Boston for second place. A half game behind Philadelphia, while Brooklyn is a game out of first place, after beating the Cards twice yesterday, 6 and 3 and 7 to 1.

Silver-haired Burt Shotton believes that the worm, meaning St. Louis, is likely to turn. "Sure, we've belted the Cards' pitchers," he said, "but we were due for those hits. St. Louis just happened to be the club we got them against. The season isn't over by any means, the Cards are a good club and they will give us plenty of trouble."

Preacher Roe, with a 4-1 record against the Cards this season after a 7 to 1 victory last night, said "I mixed them up good, but I was getting them out with my curve ball. It worked real good."

In the gloomy Cardinal dressing room, Manager Eddie Dyer said ruefully: "We're going to have to strike up the bats, the batting order or something. I'm more worried about my boys not being able to hit Brooklyn pitching than I am about the way they have been murdering ours."

Dyer said that he planned to use Nippy Jones at first base against left-handed pitching in the future, playing Rock Nelson against right-handers. Outfielder Enos Slaughter angrily denied that Brooklyn had found a secret weapon. "They're no better than they ever were," he said. "I agree with Skip (Dyer). We played lousy against them—worse than we played against any other club."

Stan Musial, the team's top hitter, agreed. "We sure aren't getting out hits against them. Their pitching is no better than it was before, but I think a lot of us have been pressing ever since they beat us in the ninth at Brooklyn in that 9 to 8 games."

Magnolia Bridge Club Of 1931 Hold Week-End Reunion In Olden

A reunion of members of the Magnolia Bridge Club, organized in 1931, was held last Saturday and Sunday, July 15 and 16, at the home of Mrs. Stella Jarrett, in Olden.

The members gathered at noon Saturday with lunch being served to those arriving on time. The main event was a picnic supper on the lawn in the evening, with all the old friends and neighbors in attendance. The group dedicated the reunion to Mr. and Mrs. Henderson of Belen, New Mexico, and plans were made for a duplicate meeting to be held during 1951. Motion pictures were shown of the Magnolia Petroleum Company's operations off the coast in the Gulf of Mexico at Morgan City, La. Scenes in Morgan City were also shown.

On Sunday morning the guests visited and did much reminiscing of days gone by, when all were close neighbors and made lasting friendships. Following lunch and a sing song the reunion was over about 3 p. m., and all were homeward bound after the many pleasant hours spent together.

Gorman—

Study Club under the direction of Mrs. John Wright, president.

Miss Joy Hampton was the Festival Queen, and Bob Brogdon the King. Visiting royalty included Duke Carl Ellis and Duchess Joyce Willis of Comanche; Duke Doug King and Duchess Janiel Day of Eastland; Duke Ben R. Simmons and Duchess Alma Jo Bond of De Leon; and Duchess Patsy Lee of Monroe, Louisiana and Duke Gen Mahaffey.

Ladies-in-waiting and their escorts were: Freda Nelle Wallace and Wilbur Mehaffey; Georgia Lee Potter and Dwayne Clement; La Velle Forrest and Sam Houston; and Joy Hallmark and Fred Rodgers. The crown bearer was Larry Kirk of Gorman. Flower girls included: Kay Ann Craddock, Carolyn Gilbert, Tomasine Whitt, Patricia Deavenport, May Dell Thompson, Judy Parker, Judy Mehaffey, Carol Ramsey and Linda Shell. Train bearers were Gary Poyner, Terry Shell, Harry Gale Hilley, Joe Harrison and Johnnie Davis.

After the program, the Queen's party retired to the Fire Hall for the Queen's Ball which began at 9 p. m. Music for the coronation was furnished by the Gorman Band under the direction of Sam Houston.

After a morning of cloudy mugginess, Dame weather came through with a beautiful afternoon Friday so that the parade was held at 4 p. m. with the Gorman and Eastland Bands furnishing the marching music.

Loving cups were presented to Eastland for being the best all round band present and to Gorman for having the best first year band. An estimated 2,500 persons lined both sides of the main street of Gorman from one end of the business section to the other, and the parade of colorful floats fully repaid their interest.

First prize of $25 went to the Preston Florist for the best float. It was in the form of a huge flower. Second prize of $15 went to Blackwell Sanitarium whose float was an actual scene from everyday hospital routine. Third prize was awarded the Brownie troop of the Gorman Girl Scouts. Honorable mention went to the Corner Drug, Progressive Study Club and Excelsior Club floats.

The bathing revue was held at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Gym auditorium. The revue was divided into groups of 3 to 6 years of age and 14 years up. Winner in the 3 to 6 group was Dona Faye Stewart of Gorman, and Bobbie Shero was winner in the other group. Miss Shero is from Eastland.

Saturday's program was hindered by the war situation which caused cancellation of all aerial displays scheduled. Bascom Giles, who was to have been the principal speaker at a rally Saturday, was called to Washington to help fight for the State's Rights in the tidelands issue.

A softball game was played at 8 p. m. with Lingleville playing Gorman. Lingleville beat the socks off Gorman, 12-4.

The three day Indian Trail Festival, despite all drawbacks, handicaps, and disappointments came to a successful conclusion with a spectacular display of fireworks at 10 p. m. Saturday. The event was engineered by Billie C. Pittman and Floyd Rider.

Decorations for the entire town were arranged and planned by Bill Harbin, decorator from Dublin.

Organized in 1785, the Philadelphia Society for Promoting Agriculture is the oldest agriculture society in the United States.

L. R. PEARSON

My name has been filed by petition with the County Chairman of Eastland and Callahan Counties for a place on the official ballot in the approaching Democratic primary as a candidate for Representative of the 107th Legislative District. This was done without my knowledge or consent.

For this expression of confidence, I am truly grateful. I have concluded to let my name remain on the ballot, and will appreciate any consideration my candidacy may be given. I have no easy political promises to make. They are usually of little or no value. I represented the 107th District in the 49th and 50th sessions and my record in the Legislature reflects my philosophy of State affairs.

The big problems, in my judgment, facing the 52nd Legislature will be water, soil and money, but the greatest of these is money. Runaway government spending, which has increased over 500 percent in the last 14 years, and threatens to increase even more, will be the No. 1 concern of the next Legislature. This money problem can be solved in only one of two ways—by eliminating useless and excessive appropriations to vote for a tax bill of any kind. I will strive to preserve this record, or by levying new and additional taxes. I favor the former. I have yet

The present level of State spending, according to the Comptroller, will create an annual deficit of 76 million dollars in the State General Fund. I will strive to balance the budget and prevent this deficit by rigid economy, instead of by new additional taxes. However, if it develops that taxes are 'must' legislation and additional revenue is absolutely necessary to operate the State government efficiently, I will not sidestep the responsibility, however painful. If new taxes must come, I would favor placing the new levies on present sources which are now escaping taxes. However, I will not support a general sales tax or State income tax.

Also, redistricting, following the new census, is a constitutional mandate. If elected, I will support it.

On other issues coming before the 52nd Legislature I will vote for what I consider the best interest of my State and District.

Frick Says Americans-Nationals Evenly Matched; Others Think That Frick's Got Definite Edge

By Jack Cuddy
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, July 18 (UP)—President Ford Frick of the National League said today the two major circuits "are evenly balanced" in progress; however, many National fans—including some in Frick's own office—believe the National is now forging ahead of the American.

During the week since Frick's Nationals upset the Junior League at Chicago in the 14-inning all star game, Prexy Ford regained his composure sufficiently to state today:

"In my opinion the chief significance of the long, hard battle at Chicago was that it demonstrated vividly the even balance between the two leagues in all departments of play, including power. Naturally we were delighted with the 4-3 victory."

It was apparent that diplomatic Frick desired to start no needless controversy over comparative prowess with Bill Harridge's circuit. Ford probably would be perfectly content to see an evenly balanced world series, in which the National club would win four straight games.

Less diplomatic were a couple of Frick's men, when out of the prexy's ear-range. One of them, whom we will not name, said: "Even the National League now has the edge on the American. Only some bad breaks prevented us from winning that game long before the 14th inning."

Another said: "Since 1945, the American League has been living on its pre-war laurels; but a lot of new blood and a lot of new money have come into the National circuit since the war. Post-war spending and hustle are now bearing fruit. If you're looking for an even balance, you'll find it in our National pennant race. Only 16 games separate last-place Pittsburgh from the top; and four clubs are starting a dog fight for the lead. There are no push-overs in this circuit. Every game is a real battle. And the club that wins this race will be the best in the world."

season if the current races in the International League and American Association are indicators. In the International standing, the only two American farms—Baltimore (Browns) and Buffalo (Tigers)—are second and last, respectively. The other six clubs are National sources of talent.

In the American Association, the three American-League farms—Louisville (Red Sox), Kansas City (Yankees), and Toledo (Tigers)—are third, seventh and eighth, respectively. The other five clubs are Nationals.

The National and American Leagues have not appeared prominently in the past 40 years, but the National circuit won but 13 World Series; and it now has won but five of 17 all-star games. Generally speaking, superior "power" has been credited for American superiority. But the Nationals of today are very power-conscious.

The Loves of Carmen

THE STORY: Don Jose, young officer in a fashionable Spanish regiment, falls victim to the charms of the bewitching gypsy, Carmen. He kills his commanding officer in a sword-fight over her and is forced to flee to a mountain hide-out, where he joins the band of gypsies who are Carmen's associates. Jose's first mission is, however, when he learns that Garcia, the leader, is Carmen's husband. Hiding through the mountain fastnesses, the band is attacked by uniformed constabulary. They take to cover as shooting starts.

CARMEN crawled over beside Jose, her eyes shining with excitement. He reached out and pulled her closer under the protection of the rock and himself, angry because of his fear for her. "Keep down, you little fool!" "When I am killed it won't be by a stranger, Don Jose. That much I know." Carmen's tone was firm.

He turned back to the fight, and as fast as he fired Carmen reloaded his pistols. Once she tugged at his sleeve and pointed at Garcia's back twenty yards away. He looked at her blankly.

Carmen was bland and wide-eyed, saying, "If Garcia got himself killed, we couldn't help that, could we?" "I hate him. But I shoot no comrade in the back."

Carmen was first amazed, then angrily scornful. "You're a weakling," she said. "Always afraid of being dishonorable. You are like the dwarf who believed himself tall because he could spit so far." Jose ignored her. She went back to loading the guns, sulky, pouting.

A shout went up from the constabulary. "The sergeant's been killed." The information was relayed, disastrously. The soldiers began to withdraw as best they could and Garcia called to his men to get out fast. They ran to the horses, Carmen at Don Jose's side. Only Remondado could not run.

share of the money and walked over to Don Jose. He shook his head delightedly. "That girl is crazy, taking a bath in that ice water! Listen to her." Then he paused, squinting down at Don Jose, who looked off in the direction of the voice, a closed, haunted look on his face. Garcia spoke again, this time in a soft, insinuating way. "I didn't say look at her—I said listen to her."

Startled out of his reverie, Don Jose turned on the big man furiously. "I can't see her from here."

"You can see her in your imagination," Garcia taunted him. "And that is what you are doing, seeing her in your mind. I can tell from your face."

Don Jose cut savagely at the leader in his hand. Garcia laughed and offered the bundle of money, saying in mock sympathy, "I'm afraid you will have to be content with just sharing my money with me, Navarro."

Don Jose looked up at him, his eyes sick with loathing and contempt. "I have no wish to share anything with you, Garcia." He went back to his work. "Keep your dirty money."

Garcia straightened slowly and stuffed the money into his pocket, grunting, "He doesn't want my money. Just what did you have in mind, Navarro, that you do want in payment for the work you do here? Is there anything else that belongs to me that you were thinking about?"

Jose replied in a voice biting with insult, "Anything that belongs to you would be as dirty and evil as you are, Garcia. No one would want it." Garcia exploded with loud laughter. "I'll tell her, man!" he shouted as he walked away. "I'll tell her!" Half way to the fire he turned and said, still hugely amused, "But watch yourself. She'll probably carve out your white liver and serve it to me for breakfast."

"Are you such a coward you have to get a woman to do your carving for you, Garcia?" Don Jose flung at him.

Garcia's eyes glistened. "Coward?" he rasped.

KOREDS MAKE HOSPITALS TOP BOMB TARGETS

U. S. Medics Are Carrying Rifles

By Robert C. Miller

WITH U. S. FORCES AT TEAJON FRONT, July 18 (UP) — There are no red crosses in the Korean war. They give the Communists a better target to shoot at.

The medics carry rifles for their own protection. The wounded often are evacuated by tank. Mercy is just about unknown.

The percentage of casualties among doctors and corpsmen has equalled that among combat troops and in many cases is higher.

The enemy expects no quarter and gives none. The Americans entered the Korean war with polished bright crosses on their ambulances and flags flying from their litter jeeps. The corpsmen who attended the wounded wore arm bands and carried no weapons.

"What a bunch of innocents we were!" Pfc. Edward Wilson, Chico, Calif., said today.

For today there is no front line medic who has not been under fire at one time or another trying to bandage wounds and evacuate the injured.

Sgt. Roy Stewart, Chester, Ill., said the first thing the medics did was to paint out red cross insignia.

"We tried leaving some on the roof for air identification," he said. "But that just drew more fire. So we painted them out too."

Capt. Donald L. Duerk of Freeport, N. Y., a medical officer, said his medical company was shot to pieces by the Communists.

"Handling the wounded has been a terrible problem," he said. "The infiltrating enemy have no respect for the Red Cross and often seem to wait until we get our load of wounded aboard before they attack us."

The real heroes of the war are the litter jeep drivers and corpsmen who drive through enemy roadblocks and fighting areas to bring out wounded.

"Never once have they refused a call, even though it often meant risking death and injury. Many times it has been necessary for us to load our wounded into tanks to get them through the enemy roadblocks to safety."

Lt. Julius Okoivich, Nashua, N. H., said the first target of Communist artillery at Chochiwon was the hospital.

"We had to evacuate the wounded under fire but managed to get them all out safely," he said.

Corp. Alfred A. Fankel, East Palestine, O., a jeep litter driver, said he had to fight off an enemy sniper on the Kum river front while his corpsman was bandaging a casualty.

"It was a case of one of us administering relief while the other was trying to kill," he said. "We managed to get out with our wounded GI, but I sure was glad we had a rifle to help. Without it we would have been lost."
