NAVY HEAD ASK WAR, STATEDISAVOWS

YOU NAME IT

By Everett Taylor

With the second Democratic primary, the election for the year in Texas is practically a closed matter.

Of course there is the general election slated for November, but other parties never give the Demos in Texas enough opposition to give the November election in the state any interest to speak of.

Noe even in a presidential election is there much doubt as to which way the state will go, which is, of course, an unhealthy situation for the state, as has been said many times without any great shakes.

So about this time of the year, Texans begin to turn to other matters.

In ordinary times, these matters are gathering crops, the starting of school, the first sign of fall, football, and the world series.

But these are not ordinary times, so a great number of our citizens are thinking of the war in which our nation is involved.

And speaking of the war, we read an article by one Robert C. Ruark yesterday which suggested the hiring of professional fighters for our wars.

The professionals, says Ruark, could be obtained from foreign countries, with some volunteers from our own country. These men would be mercenaries and professional fighters who would be better killers than those who do not care for the life of a warrior.

Ruark points to the statements made by some to the effect that there is a powerful spiritual fibre to the cause of fighting for the U. N. or the U. S. that transcends the mere rounding up of professional fighters to do the job.

All of which, Ruark says, is a lot of propwash, because there are no high ideals in a war on the part of people who fight them.

We are inclined to agree with Ruark, because to a soldier on the front lines, war becomes a personal fight for survival. Thoughts of a great purpose are lost in the fear for the individual safety when shells and sharpnel fly thick and fast.

We have heard men argue the point to great extent, but a majority of the veterans we have seen who have undergone the ordeal of war, agree that most men on the front are just trying to stay alive.

If soldiers can be hired to do the job for us, why not hire them? They could do the job better in all probability and it would save a lot of lives of men who would otherwise reap only the benefits of death from fighting.

Someone will probably answer by saying that we don't let others do our fighting.

But they fail to realize that a great majority of the people in any war are letting others do their fighting. And we imagine that a great number of those who are fighting now in Korea would be willing to step out and let someone else take their place.

Not because they are cowards, but because they like the joys of living a lot better than the dangers of war.

It seems to us to be a suggestion to think about, and we believe Ruark has a swell idea when he says let's hire professionals. We do not know that we could get them, but if we could, we would be suckers not to do it.

Railroad Men Will Work For Uncle Samuel

The nation's industry headed back toward full production today as the government prepared to seize the railroads and Chrysler Corp. granted an unprecedented voluntary out-of-contract pay hike.

However, with the cost of living still rising rapidly, considerable unrest existed among the ranks of labor and many firms faced possible strikes as unions instituted more and more demands for wage boosts.

At a glance, this was the labor situation today: U. S. Railroads—All threat of a nationwide rail strike was removed with President Truman's announcement yesterday that the Army would seize the lines at 5 p.m. EDT Sunday. The Conductors and Trainmen unions immediately called off the strike they had set for Monday and said their 250,000 members "will work for the government gladly" until their dispute with management is settled.

Canadian Railroads—Company and union representatives, scheduled to meet again this morning, reported some progress in negotiations last night toward settling a strike that was slowly strangling the Dominion economy.

Farm Equipment—It was feared that the United Farm Equipment workers might call 17,000 members out on strike against the International Harvester Co. in retaliation for withdrawal of a four cent general wage offer.

Steel—CIO Steelworkers pulled their second strike this week against Allegheny Lullum Steel Corp. at Dunkirk, N. Y., in retaliation for company action in disciplining leaders of the earlier strike.

AUTOMOBILES—CIO AUTO workers officials predicted that Chrysler's voluntary wage hike, which may set a pattern for the first round of increases during the Korean war, would eliminate many nuisance strikes that hit the firm recently.

With the threat of a rail strike removed, the nation's steel plants were re-firing their furnaces to resume operation. Many plants had shut down when the unions called token strikes this week against terminal and belt railroads at St. Paul, Louisville, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Chicago. Those strikes would have ended today without the President's action as they had been called for five-day periods only.

THE UNIONISTS WILL WORK for the government under the same wages and hours currently prevailing with the railroads. Meanwhile, mediators will make a new attempt to settle the long dispute in which the conductors and trainmen have sought a reduction in working hours to 40 a week with no loss in take-home pay.

Chrysler's action in granting surprise pay raises of 10 to 15 cents an hour was expected to end a wave of wildcat strikes that had idled 20,000 workers in five plants. The firm reopened wage provisions of its contract at the request of the CIO Auto Workers even though its contract did not require it to do so until next June.

US OUGHT TO START WAR, CHIEF SAYS

BOSTON, Aug. 26 (UP)—Secretary of the Navy Francis P. Matthews says the United States should be willing to start a war if necessary to achieve a lasting peace.

That statement from the Navy Secretary is the first suggestion of such drastic action by a top Administration official in the present tense international situation.

MATTHEWS MADE THE statement last night at a celebration of the 150th anniversary of the Boston Navy yard. In a special speech, prepared for the occasion, he said:

"To have peace we should be willing, and declare our intention, to pay any price, even the price of instituting a war to compel cooperation for peace."

Matthews conceded this would be a reversal "of the traditional attitude of a Democracy." But he said such a policy is vital to bring about "the salvation of the free world."

WITHOUT NAMING NAMES, the Navy Secretary said only nations which do not want peace would oppose such efforts to smooth "the present international conflict into a tranquil world."

"They would brand our program as imperialistic aggression," he said. But he added:

"We could accept that slander with complacency, for in the implementation of a strong, affirmative peace-seeking policy, though it cast us in the character new to a true Democracy, an initiator of a war of aggression, it would win for us a proud and popular title—we would become the first aggressors for peace."

500 RESCUED FROM NAVY HOSPITAL SHIP THAT SANK OFF GOLDEN GATE, TAKING 18

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26 (UP)—At least 18 persons died and 500 were rescued when the Navy hospital ship Benevolence collided with a freighter in the foggy seas off Golden Gate, the Navy announced today.

Coast Guard vessels stood guard today over the submerged hulk of the Benevolence, which sank within 20 minutes after the collision late yesterday.

The Navy said 500 survivors were plucked from the biting cold waters of the Pacific ocean and brought to shore. Some were afloat as long as two hours.

The accident occurred when the freighter Mary Luckenbach smashed into the Benevolence during a heavy fog. The freighter's prow knifed into the hospital ship's thin hull, ripping it open and bowling it over.

In announcing a list of the dead and those who survived, the Navy said it believed 518 persons were aboard the Benevolence, and that all the survivors have been accounted for.

One was missing. No patients were aboard the 577-foot Benevolence. It was on its final trial run after being pulled from mothballs so that its 800 beds could be used to bring wounded soldiers, sailors and marines back from the Korean war front.

Fifteen Navy nurses were aboard. One died as she was picked up by a rescue vessel. She was one of 10, roped to a raft by a courageous ship's officer. The girls sang and prayed as they floated on the open sea.

Throughout the night, Navy, Coast Guard and Army vessels roamed far out to sea and close inshore searching for bodies or survivors. Their big searchlights barely dented the pea-soup fog hanging over the area and they had to proceed slowly to avoid further collisions.

The Benevolence went down in the main shipping channel leading from the Pacific ocean into the Golden Gate and San Francisco bay. She did not sink to the bottom, but remained just below the surface. The Coast Guard said she might possibly have air in her

South Korea Gives On East Coast; US Forces Smash Reds

Admiral Says Fleet Able To Defend Formosa

By Earnest Hobercht
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO, Aug. 26 (UP)—The Chinese Communists had better think twice before they try to invade Formosa, the commander of U. S. Naval forces in the Far East warned today.

Vice Admiral Charles T. Joy said the Reds will find the U. S. Navy "alert and ready for them" if they attempt to cross the 80 mile stretch of water that separates the Nationalist stronghold from the Chinese mainland.

THE ADMIRAL TOLD THE United Press in an exclusive interview that you can get "any kind of intelligence reports you want"—some that indicate the Communists are preparing to attack immediately and some that indicate they definitely are not.

"But if I were a Communist, I certainly would think twice before attempting what they have been threatening to do," Adm. Joy said. "The Germans thought twice before they tried to invade England and they had far more airpower than the Chinese Communists possess and a far shorter distance to go," he added.

THE ONLY THING THE Chinese Reds possess in greater number is "bodies."

Joy's command includes the 7th Fleet which President Truman sent at the outbreak of hostilities in Korea to protect Formosa against invasion by the Reds.

In addition to guarding the Straits of Formosa, the 7th Fleet has effectively blockaded North Korean shipping.

Joy said the Korean invaders may be getting "small amounts" of supplies by water but that these supplies are not getting through in sufficient quantity to "seriously effect" the outcome of the war.

The Mary Luckenbach's bow was stove in but she made port under her own power with tugs shepherding her.

All traffic in San Francisco harbor was halted as the search progressed.

The acting skipper of the Benevolence, Capt. Barton E. Bacon, charged in a statement from his hospital bed that the Luckenbach was traveling at high speed. But the freighter's lookout responded that he sighted the hospital ship steaming at "about 18 knots" seconds before the collision. The lookout, who declined to be named, said the freighter was traveling at only seven or eight miles an hour.

The lookout said he did not hear the hospital ship sound a collision warning although Bacon claimed his siren blasted forth an alarm just before the crash.

Bacon said his first warning of the crash came when his civilian harbor pilot heard the freighter's whistle through the fog.

TOKYO, Sunday, Aug. 27 (UP)—South Korean forces have yielded some ground in the Pohang sector on the east coast, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today. The Communists are making a three-pronged attack there, his war release added.

Counterattacking Allied forces trapped up to 2,000 Communists on the western front today, and drove the Reds back as much as a mile on the northern rim of the Korean beachhead.

Texas Should Have Turkey

AUSTIN, Aug. 26 (UP)—Texans should have plenty of turkey for Thanksgiving and Christmas, the United States Department of Agriculture predicted today.

Both cars were damaged to a great extent, Williams stated.

Williams said that Maxwell's baby and small boy who were also in the car with their parents, were not injured.

According to Williams, the car driven by Moore collided into the back of the Maxwell automobile. Williams said that the car driven by Maxwell did not have a tail light.

Only slight injuries resulted in a two-car collision near Cisco Friday night.

Mrs. Rufus Maxwell of Cisco suffered a sprained ankle, and Rufus Maxwell and Jack Moore, also of Cisco, drivers of the cars were slightly shaken up, according to Sheriff J. B. Williams who investigated the accident.

STATE HEADS DENY WAR IS US POLICY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (UP)—The State department today vigorously disavowed Navy Secretary Francis P. Matthews' suggestion of "instituting a war to compel cooperation for peace."

The disavowal of any responsibility for Matthews' views was given to the United Press by State Department Press Officer Roger Tubby in response to an inquiry.

"SECRETARY MATTHEWS' speech was not cleared by the Department of State, and it does not represent U. S. policy," Tubby said.

Asked what American policy was on the issue, Tubby said: "The United States does not favor instituting a war of any kind."

Tubby received instructions from top State department officials to be "categorical and make it clear" that Matthews' suggestion did not represent either the State Department's or overall American policy.

HE WOULD NOT SAY whether the instructions came from Secretary of State Dean Acheson who was at his desk when Tubby issued the statement.

Another Shake-Up Coming

AUSTIN, Aug. 26 (UP)—Another shake-up in the administration of Texas' $35,000,000 hospital improvement program appeared possible today following the charge by a state legislator that the building project had bogged down.

Lift Up Your Heart

By Rev. C. Nelson
AMERICA'S GREATEST HERITAGE

It is hard to substance a statement that any one of our many blessings is our greatest heritage, but I believe that our greatest freedom is our freedom of soul.

That freedom that permits us to worship God at the dictates of our own conscience, or permits us to refuse to worship God if we so choose.

History shows with unerring truth that the most unholy alliance ever known to man is the alliance of church and state. If we want our democratic way of life to survive we must guard it against this most deadly of all alliances.

For neither must we master the life of man to the excluding of the powers and rights of the other.

This does not mean that neither shall assert an influence over the other, but rather that they shall both work side by side for a free man in a free state. Our constitution was based upon this great truth and it must ever be preserved if we are to remain a free people. Our constitution has never said that statesmen could not be great Christians, nor the Christian men could never be great statesmen. Rather we see that our greatest statesmen have had deep and abiding faith in God. Our greatest president, Abraham Lincoln, had a deep abiding faith in God. Our greatest general, Robert E. Lee, was a deeply religious man. The world's greatest poet, Tennyson, was a great Christian. Our greatest ambassador, Will Rogers, had deep religious convictions. And all our great philanthropists were great Christians. That is what prompted their philanthropy.

I would sound a warning here that we are already further along this road of danger than the blind will admit, or that the prejudice will own. I am against the appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican and the transporting of children to pericial schools by state busses, not because of religious intolerance toward Roman Catholicism, but because it poses a direct threat to our fundamental belief in a complete separation of church and state.

"Knowing advertising," Alice said, "I'm not surprised. They never hire anyone till they're in a spot. Then the new man gets it from all sides."

When she got away, Alice took a moment in which to examine herself. She did not like what she found.
Her keen disappointment at not seeing Brent Halleck was both silly and weak.

etched Muriel's forehead.
Rick was obedient. He crossed to Muriel. "Show Muriel," he said, as if he were getting his orders straight.

Muriel examined the loot. "Why, they're lovely, dear. Wherever did you find so many? Now show them to Alice. Then it's supper and bed for yours, young man."
The bovine Stella had puffed up. "Come on, Rick," she commanded placidly.
"No," said Rick, disinterestedly rather than rudely. He began to arrange his shells in little heaps in the grass.
Muriel reached for her drink. "That wasn't polite, Rick. Please go with Stella."

RICK looked at her in undecided fashion. But, obviously he felt committed now to a course of action.
"No," he repeated. And with a gesture like an unfortunate afterthought, he stamped his foot.
"Alice," Muriel turned to her, "what do you do in a case like this?"
"I—I don't know," Alice felt strangely apprehensive.
Rick stood stubborn and determined. He was something like Brent—or like Brent might have been when he was four years old. The child's lip moved a little and his eyes filled with tears.

ferred, she had to follow through.
"Let me handle him, Muriel," she said quickly. "You—you're tired."
She didn't wait for a reply. She scooped up the squalling youngster. He screamed lustily and continued kicking. Alice's thighs took a pounding as she carried Rick into the house.
In the hall she sat down, holding the boy in her lap. Gradually she quieted him to a point where the screams ceased and he sobbed spasmodically against her shoulder.
"That was a pretty silly thing to do, Rick," she said then. "Big boys don't do that."
Thereafter she read him a lecture composed of remarks equally sane, Rick, however, appeared to profit by it.
"Rick big boy," he assured her solemnly, eschewing sobs.
"That's debatable," said Alice. And she gave him to Stella who had followed Alice into the house and been a silent witness to the quieting.
"Alice went back to the terrace, aware of having flagrantly exceeded herself and expecting to find Muriel furious.
Muriel wasn't. She rubbed her wrist and gazed at Alice perplexedly. "My goodness," she said, "I didn't think that I did anything to be punished for."
"Och, Muriel, I'm sorry. I had no business doing that. But I was afraid you—you'd—"

Next Friday will be a red letter day for hunters in North Texas—the opening of the 1950 Mourning Dove season.

Dealers report plentiful stocks of shells. That department is well taken care of.

But it looks like there may be more shells than birds because continued rains and cool weather are driving the Doves out of the north zone.

Old timers claim this season offers some of the poorest prospects they've ever seen. There are still a lot of Doves in North Texas, but the count decreases daily.

It looks like the ticket for a full bag will be walking them up in grain fields.

The unusual cold and wet weather in North Texas hasn't bothered fishermen.

To the confirmed angler, brisk weather simply makes him want to feel the smashing strike of a black bass—a thrill that has to be experienced to be believed.

Lower water temperatures invigorate bass. They move about more, have sharper appetites and hit artificial lures with renewed vigor.

All around sportsmen will keep rod and reel handy along with their guns this fall.

Meanwhile, fishing reports indicate that bass are still striking; perhaps not for everyone, but for anglers who follow a few common sense rules.

Top water burping lures still head the list for black bass. Sand bass are being taken in very deep water with minnows, usually in late evening.

It appears that the big lakes of Texas soon will have fish rodeos again; and with sanction of the Great White Fathers in Washington.

Congress passed the Mack bill last week to give its go-ahead signal.

Congressional committees determined that such fishing contests, promoted as tourist attractions, are innocent amusement, even though they contain the elements of a lottery—prizes, entry fee and chance.

BOYCE HOUSE SAYS

A friend dropped into a business man's office, looked around and asked, "Where is that 'do it now' sign you had on the wall the last time I was here?"

The business man said, "It worked too well. My secretary read it and eloped; the office boy read it and resigned to go to Hollywood to try to get into the movies and the cashier read it and skipped out to Canada with $40,000. Yes, that sign worked too well."

Of an impecunious musician, a friend asked, "Have you ever felt the subtle touch of his genius?"

"No," said another, "but I have felt the subtle genius of his touch."

Ducks Unlimited has issued a call for old federal duck stamps.

Philatelists (stamp collectors, son) want them and Ducks Unlimited says it will put them back to work by selling them to collectors.

All proceeds will be used to help worth-while projects of Ducks Unlimited, which has done much to restore hunting.

Send your old stamps to Ducks Unlimited, 342 Madison Ave., New York, 17, New York.

It's not necessary to detach the stamps from old licenses. In fact, Ducks Unlimited would prefer that they be left on the licenses.

Fraley Says Detroit Tigers Do Better Away From Home—No Home Run Hits

By Oscar Fraley
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (UP)—Fearless Fraley's facts and figures: Most major league teams have their greatest success at home but Red Rolfe, manager of the Detroit Tigers, would rather see his Bengals play on the road.

"We aren't a home run hitting club," the blue-eyed red-head explained. "We are fifth in the American league in homers and in Briggs stadium the visitors hit more homers than we do. We have a club which hits a lot of line drives, so we like the bigger parks."

Red would not mind, however, playing a World Series in a comparatively small National League park.

Louise Brough, the belting blonde from Beverly Hills, Calif., who won the national tennis title in 1947 and has held the Wimbledon crown the past three years, was ready to turn professional this year but Bobby Riggs went for Gertrude (Gussie) Moran and her gally gnamor. Gussie, supposed to have signed for $75,000, actually is receiving one-third of that, which still isn't hay. Brough may have her best in Madame Tussaud's London waxworks, but Bobby figured there was more money in a sweater.

Happy Birthday: Today, Alex Kellner, 26, and Len Eshmont, 33; Sunday, Emil Verban, 33; Pennants Lowrey, 32, and Frank Leahy, 42; Monday, Charlie Grimm 51; Tuesday, Mickey McDermott, 22, and Clyde Scott, 22; Wednesday, Billy Johnson, 32; Johnny Lindell, 34; Bing Miller, 56, and Vic Seixas, 27; Thursday, Danny Litwhiler, 34, and Pete Newell, 35; Friday, Cloyd Boyer, 23.

The U. S. Lawn Tennis association is rightfully on the pan for its dictatorial and unreasonable manner of selecting the Davis Cup team, currently in the process of losing the mug to Australia. Instead of Tom Brown, jr., they whisper at Forest Hills, the second single berth should have gone to either Arthur Larsen of San Francisco or Earl Cochell of Los Angeles. But Larsen is persona non grata with the brass hats because of extra curricular activities and Cochell is too aggressive and outspoken. . . . You ain't supposed to growl in this game, old chap.

Eddie Sawyer, pilot of the front-running Philadelphia Phillies, credits much of the team's success this year to new uniforms. The old flannels, a blue and gray symbol of annual defeat, were replaced with red and white outfits which look like a peppermint stick, and have been just about as sweet.

"American Leaguers have always said that when you put on a Yankee uniform you play like a champion," Eddie explained. "Well, it's something like that with us."

Conservation Corner: The Pangolin, a Sumatra ant-eater, has armor strong enough to resist a bullet. (Sounds like a fashion note for umpires.)

National Clay Courts Tennis Champion Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., runner-up in last year's Nationals and at Wimbledon, got a dinner table tip from Coach Mercer Beasley which may finally give her the U. S. crown. She had been running out of gas in her matches and Beasley, who tutored Frankie Parker to the top, pointed out that she was serving from her toes and convinced her to hit her opening shot flat-footed. . . . thus her legs may not give out.

By Onous Dick

AUSTIN — Ninety mail bags containing approximately four tons of assorted licenses were mailed out of the Game, Fish & Oyster Commission headquarters in Austin late this week.

The material was consigned to roughly 1800 agencies which help distribute individual licenses to Texas sportsmen.

Most of the fishing, hunting and other licenses handled by the Game Department have to be renewed when the new fiscal year begins September 1.

The number of licenses readied for the new year totals approximately 600,000. The bulk of these are individual fishing and individual hunting licenses. All but a few thousand of the latter are taken out in the form of the new all-inclusive big game licenses which cost $2.15.

The total number of big game licenses mailed out to the county clerks, game wardens and other licensed deputies was 247,000. Resident fishing licenses shipped out totaled 237,000. The latter costs $1.65 and covers all phases of ordinary fresh water fishing.

Eleven of the thirty-nine kinds of licenses issued by the Game Department are available only at the Commission headquarters in the Walton building in Austin. The others are available only through local agencies. The eleven are the licenses for game breeders; wholesale fish and oyster dealers; retail fish and oyster truck dealers; wholesale fish and oyster truck dealer; fur bearing animal trapper fur bearing animal propagation; commercial fishing boat; mussel shell permit; mussel shell power dredge; rough fish permit; and for antelope hunting.

Hollywood Film Shop

By Patricia Clary
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Irving Sindler, a fixture in movies for 28 years, has conceded finally that talkies may be here to stay.

Sindler is the dean of movie property men. He has had billing for himself on one property or another in every one of the hundreds of pictures he's worked on.

Now, for the first time, Sindler's name will be spoken aloud on the screen. In Robert Stillman's "The Sound of Fury," Richard Carlson will say to a voice over the telephone, "Yes, Mr. Sindler," and "Thank you, Mr. Sindler."

Sindler first gave himself movie billing in 1923 on a false story front in Mary Pickford's "Little Annie Rooney." A sign proclaimed, "I. Sindler, buttons, buckles and braid."

Since then his name, printed in script, plain and with caricatures, has appeared in every movie he's worked on. Each time, it's been in a new way.

Out of Ideas

"This time," he grudgingly admitted, "I just plain ran out of ideas."

"Sindler and Son" appeared on a sewing machine in "North Star" over a mortuary in "Kid From Brooklyn" and on a patent medicine bottle in "Stella Dallas." In "Wuthering Heights," the message "I. Sidler—He was a good man," was carved on a tombstone.

THIS CHURCH PAGE IS PUBLISHED WEEKLY WITH THE HOPE THAT MORE PEOPLE WILL GO TO CHURCH. IT IS SPONSORED BY LOCAL BUSINESS FIRMS WHO BELIEVE WE SHOULD ATTEND RELIGIOUS SERVICES REGULARLY.

What fortunate people we are, in these United States of America! Our fathers purchased for us at great cost the priceless privileges of Democracy; the right of a people to make decisions as to their speech, their government and their religion. This means, as William Jennings Bryan used to say, the right to make our own mistakes, and then the responsibility to correct them. In other words we have accepted responsibility to live together for the common good and in mutual goodwill. We must do two things to be worthy of all of this magnificent inheritance: (1) We must seek to understand and to appreciate what Democracy means, and (2) We must see that Democracy works.

The right to vote carries the responsibility to vote. The right to think for one's self requires that we read and discuss and become responsible and well informed thinkers. The right to free speech calls for the self-control and the wisdom which will make our speech of good temper and of helpful counsel to others, who likewise have the same freedom of speech. The right to worship according to the dictates of our consciences summons us to train our consciences so that we shall choose well, surely that we shall worship somewhere. Democracy is the most elevated of systems of economic, of civil, and of religious living, but it is also the most difficult. For it requires so much of those who assume responsibility to govern themselves. There must be self-discipline; there must be the training of youth in disciplined living; there must be high dedication to the common good, as over against selfish behaviour. A man who lives only for himself is an autocrat and not a democrat.

Democracy challenges each of us to think of every other person as a sister or a brother in the universal family of God; every man is a child of God, who merits respect and concern from us.

Lookout On Mary Luckenbach Tells Of Actions Just Before Ship Crash

By Walter Brakdull
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26 (UP) — The Lookout on board the freighter Mary Luckenbach said today the hospital ship Benevolence was sailing at "about 18 knots" when the two ships collided in a pea-soup fog off the Golden Gate.
 The Luckenbach, according to estimates from the company officials, was sailing at about half speed, "between seven and eight miles an hour."
 The lookout, who declined to give his name, said the Benevolence sounded "no whistles and no sirens."
 "I first saw it about 200 feet away," he said. "I couldn't do anything about it. The seaman with me yelled and we both jumped back."
 Neither man was injured.
 While the lookout was discussing the collisions, several other crewmembers told him to "stop talking to reporters." The lookout then refused to tell any more about the accident.

 The Luckenbach docked here early today with eight survivors from the Benevolence. Four were able to walk. They smiled and waved to persons standing on the dock as they climbed into waiting ambulances.
 The Luckenbach picked up about 40 survivors from the Benevolence, and most of them were transferred to an Army tug and brought ashore last night.
 W. G. Perow, marine superintendent of the Luckenbach Steamship Company, Inc., estimated the damage to the freighter as at least $60,000 to $70,000, and "possibly as high as $100,000."
 The bow of the ship was smashed and part of the railing on the deck was sheared off. One of the anchors was torn away.
 Perow said the captain, L. C. Smith, formerly of Boston, Mass., was not using his radar equipment at the time of the collision with the Benevolence.

Officers Say UN Forces Win Round

By Robert Vermillion
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 ON THE NORTHERN TAEGU FRONT, Korea, Aug. 26 (UP) — American and South Korean officers agreed today that the United Nations forces have won the first round in the battle for Taegu.
 Staff officers reviewing the last 10 days of war on this front said the Reds are withdrawing their heavy forces beyond American artillery range along the Taegu-Kunwi road.
 Col. Paul Freeman, Roanoke, Va., said the three Communist divisions and one armored brigade that unsuccessfully struck American and South Korean lines 15

Divisions in the opening round of their attacks Aug. 15 now contained only small isolated pockets of North Koreans armed with light weapons.

Lt. Col. John Hector of Berkeley, Calif., said he believed "the crisis has definitely passed." He said the Reds had lost 30 tanks in this sector alone in the last 10 days.
 All officers appeared confident that the invaders would not get any closer to Taegu in their drive from the north than the 15 miles which separates them from the city now.
 During the 10-day battle, Col. Hector said American artillery fired at least 7,000 rounds in support of the U. S. 27th Regiment.
 Last night, in one of the concluding phases of the first round of this battle, American guns fired about 450 white phosphorous shells at the head of the "bowing alley" where the Reds were regrouping for another attack. The attack never got underway.

Everybody Needs Money

You may be as good and unselfish as the sermon on the mount requires, but you will need three meals a day, clothing and shelter, and that means money. If you want to help other people have these things, that means more money.

The only way to have it to use for yourself and your family or to give away, is to save it. John D. Rockefeller once said "How can one be ready for the glorious opportunities ahead of him unless he has cultivated the habits of economy and prudence".

Savings deposited in Eastland National Bank will be ready when you need them and the fact that you save money is the best guarantee that you are worthy of a loan of any balance you may need. If you can save you can pay.
