Lions Roar

There will be a directors meeting next Thursday night at 8 p. m. All officers, directors and committee chairmen are expected to come, all others are invited. If you missed last week's meeting, this will count as a make up and make you eligible for a 100 percent attendance button if you keep up your perfect attendance until April.

All contests for the year have started, attendance and membership, also contests for the presidents and secretaries of the clubs. The local club has already added four new members since the beginning of the fiscal year, with none dropped. If you get two new members in any two year period you are entitled to a silver key. Give the secretary the names of your members and he will get it for you.

Better drive by the City Park and take a looker you might not know it. Something new is being added nearly every week. Sure is a nice place for a steak fry, barbecue or picnic.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip. They will make their home in Shamrock where he is employed in a grocery store.

Let's follow your physician's prescription into your pharmacist's compounding room . . .

The pharmacist's first act is to carefully interpret the prescription—check its signs and symbols to make sure of their precise meanings. Your safety is his legal responsibility.

That done, he assembles the necessary components for your prescription from the thousands of drugs he has in his stock. He knows them all intimately—their dosage, usage and properties.

Then he skillfully uses his specialized equipment to weigh, mix, or combine the ingredients of your prescription in strict accordance with your physician's specifications.

He checks and rechecks every ingredient he uses, and every step in his compounding technique. Instructions are confirmed, and directions stated on the label in such a way that no misunderstanding will occur. Finally, he registers your prescription by number and files it away for future reference.

He prepares simple mixtures as meticulously as he does the highly complex ones. In filling every prescription, he applies the technical skill and professional knowledge that have been acquired through many years of scientific training.
