GIANTS WIN 4TH GAME OF WORLDS SERIES 2-1

That reminds me...

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following column was taken from the Eastland Telegram of Oct. 6 and reproduced because of the timely nature of the subject handled:

Ever since 1830 there has been a demand for shorter working hours and better pay. At that time there were 15 hours in the working day. Women and children had to be at work at four-thirty o'clock in the morning, and in the factories the children were hurried to their work by overseers, who went about with a rawhide whip, swishing it down on the shoulders of the shrinking little boys and girls. And it was said that about forty percent of all workers were children in that day. The working day didn't end until eight o'clock at night, in the summertime. It used to be the rule to go to work without breakfast and toil until seven or later... more than two hours on an empty stomach. Then they were given about twenty-five minutes to eat their cold lunch. At noon another "lay-off" of the same time was given. In some instances the employers kept the clocks turned a little slow to make the day longer, or so the workers complained. And in some instances that lasted until Franklin D. Roosevelt became president.

Strikes continue in the coal mining districts of the nation and are spreading. Right now in the thick of the NRA battle for recovery. The first unions were a sort of a sick benefit organization somewhat like a lodge. Their organizations were slow. After the Civil War when factories began to grow in number, immigrants began to come in from abroad and women and children began to have a greater share in public employment, this was the time that the trade union began to grow up. The first nationwide union organization was that of the printers, (1857) up to the beginning of the twentieth century there were more than a thousand cases of arguments "lock-outs" and "walk-outs" every year in the United States.

The present coal strike reminds us that back in Theodore Roosevelt's administration there was in progress one of the most serious strikes in action in the Pennsylvania coal mines. The time dragged on with arguments on both sides until the approach of autumn set the nation worrying about a coal shortage. Suddenly Mr. Roosevelt is said to have lost his patience. He called a conference of the mine-owners and labor leaders, and gave an ultimatum in his typical forceful way. He was unable to walk on account of an injury to his foot, but from his chair and bandages he bellowed: "Either these mine will be opened up inside of ten days time, or I'll send the Militia up there to do it!" And the mines were opened at once.

Perhaps another Roosevelt will soon lose patience. And the quicker the better. In 1910 the average American family's income was $1470.00. In 1919 it was $2600.00. In the beginning of 1933 it was less than $1200.00. In spite of decreasing taxes in some instances and the fact that higher wages would have been in order, still the pay check doesn't go so far as it used to in 1910. And what of now with the lowest average of all and commodity prices rising constantly and in addition millions are still unemployed. It is truly the greatest era of depression that the nation has ever known. Is it any wonder that the president will soon lose patience after placing before the nation a plan that should work us out of it and the (Continued on page 4)

THREE GUESSES

BRITAIN MAY PAY PART OF HER WAR DEBT

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 6.—The British government has decided against resuming full payment of war debt installments to the United States regardless of the outcome of present negotiations at Washington, it was learned today from an authoritative source. Two alternatives will be offered the United States, it was said on good authority. They were: 1. A lump settlement in gold of not more than 100,000,000 pounds ($175,000,000). 2. Token payment of $5,000,000 each and every six months in place of the full payment of about $95,500,000. The present capital value of the British war debts is about $4,565,470,000.

Salary Raises for State Employees Is Denied Today

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—Salary raises for state employees to meet NRA costs vanished today when the house of representatives refused to ask the governor to submit the topic. The vote was almost 4 to 1 against changing the salaries fixed in the appropriation bills passed at the January-June session. "If employees are not satisfied with their salaries, let them resign. You can fill every office from governor to porter in 48 hours," Representative McGregor, Austin, close political follower of the governor, said.

Theft Ring Broken By Texas Rangers

FORT WORTH, Oct. 6.—Texas Rangers have smashed a notorious theft ring which furnished guns and ammunition to gangsters, Ranger Captain H. T. Odean announced today. Arrest of seven persons and recovery of loot valued at $10,000 are believed to have broken the ring, he said. Two of the alleged members were taken into custody here, four captured in Dallas and one in Kansas City. Names of the suspects were withheld pending filing of charges.

Former German Charger Back On Job In Montreal

MONTREAL.—"Billy," a 22-year-old veteran of the Great War who has never "kicked" or asked for a pension, will be ready to return to his duties in the town of Montreal South soon. "Billy" is a horse and he has been sick for several weeks, but the veterinarian says that he will be all right soon. "Billy," the town's only horse, has had an eventful career. He served as a charger in the German cavalry during the Great War, became a prisoner of war, was shipped to Canada, and about 15 years ago started work in Montreal.

Bacon and Eggs Were a Marriage Breaking Point

HANFORD, Cal.—Bacon and eggs are all right in themselves, but there's a limit to everything, Clint O. Trout averred today. He sought a divorce from his wife, charging that she served him nothing but bacon and eggs until he couldn't even look at them, let alone eat them. Besides, he complained, she told him she married him only to show a divorced husband she could "marry somebody."

Baptists Declare War On Legal Vice

HOUSTON, Oct. 6.—War on the liquor traffic, race track gambling and "all other forms of legalized vice" was declared today by the Union Baptist association in annual convention here.

Faces Noose

Death on the gallows will be the fate of George J. Shaughnessy, 18, of Albany, N. Y., if his mother's pleas do not win clemency for him. He killed a Tucson, Ariz., auto dealer, with whom he thumbed a ride, when the motorist resisted a robbery attempt. Execution date was set for Oct. 27 in the Arizona state prison at Florence.

MURDER CASE WILL GO TO THE JURY TODAY

FORT WORTH, Oct. 6.—The murder trial of Frederick Simmons, 23 year old negro, charged with the double slaying of Miss Geneva Cantrell, 19, and A. S. Michael, was expected to go to a district court jury about 5 p. m. today. The negro testified that the confession he gave to officers was given under their threats. He said he was struck by a pistol butt by one officer. Efforts of defense attorneys to have the confession thrown out of court was overruled today by Judge George Hosey.

Ruling Is Light Wines Are Legal In Wet Counties

AUSTIN—Wine of 3.2 alcoholic content or less legally may be sold in Texas, Attorney General James V. Allred's department has ruled. However, it was found the state, in levying a $1.50 per barrel tax on beer, had failed to put any tax whatever on wine. Members of the Texas senate announced their idea is that a tax of $3 per barrel on wine would be just. The question of adding this tax, or amending the beer law, has not been submitted by Governor Ferguson so far.

New Trial Motions Vaught Overrules

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 6.—United States Judge Edgar Vaught overruled all motions for new trials for seven convicted defendants in the Urschel kidnaping today. His action cleared the way for passing of sentences tomorrow.

Missing Witness In Investigation Reported Found

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Former secretary of war Patrick J. Hurley today informed the senate stock market investigating committee that Howard C. Hopson, long sought witness, would appear when desired in connection with inquiry into the Associated Gas and Electric Company.

Hopson is head of the Associated Gas and Electric Association, of which special investigator Pecora said early in the week that its corporate structure suggested in some respects the superimposed holding companies created by Samuel and Martin Insull.

COMMITTEES ON ARMISTICE DAY AFFAIR NAMED

At one of the best meetings of the Carl Barnes post of the American Legion, held Thursday night, plans for a big Armistice Day celebration were discussed and committees to take charge of the various phases of the work began functioning. The day's celebration will be opened with a parade, marshaled by George A. Murphy, assisted by Charlie Moore. The parade will form on North Commerce street, travel up Main street to Marston, south on Marston to Pine, east on Pine to South Austin, back to Main street and will stop in the block between Austin and Rusk, where the welcome will be delivered. Judge W. S. Adamson, representing the city of Ranger, will deliver the address of welcome to the visiting Legionnaires and the members of Ambulance Company 359, which will be holding a reunion in the city. A barbecue, given by the Legion post for the members of the company, a football game at Cisco that afternoon, a free sham battle by the Legionnaires and the national guards at 7:45 that night, a smoker for members of the Carl Barnes post at the airport and a dance for the public at the Legion hall, will complete the day's activities, along with the regular meeting of the members of Ambulance Company 359.

H. C. Anderson, representing the Rotary club; J. E. Meroney, representing the Lions club; Charlie Moore, representing the Elks club; W. C. Hickey, representing the National Guards; C. E. May, representing the Boy Scouts; Walter Harwell, representing the city of Ranger, and Dr. P. M. Kuykendall, representing the Chamber of Commerce, will aid in working out the plans. The barbecue will be furnished by the Carl Barnes post. Harry Henry and W. C. Hickey will have charge of the free sham battle. D. W. (Buzz) Johnson will have charge of the smoker, Harry Henry will furnish the entertainment and be in charge of the dance that night. The general committee from the Legion post, which will supervise the day's activities is composed of Bob Robinson, D. W. Johnson, Harry Henry, L. R. Herring and W. C. Hickey.

Violence Feared In Steel Strike

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 6.—New threats of violence hovered over the western Pennsylvania steel and coal sections today. Authorities were determined to break the steel strike at Ambridge, where one man was killed and 29 injured in fighting among pickets and deputy sheriffs yesterday. The situation was tense over a wide area.

OUSTER SUIT APPEAL MAY BE PREPARED

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—Attorney General James V. Allred, "groggy" as he expressed it, from a ruling dismissing his $17,850,000 anti-trust penalty suit against oil companies, today planned an appeal. Judge J. D. Moore dismissed the suit late yesterday in 98th district court, holding the National Recovery program prevents its prosecution. The appeal will be to the third court of civil appeals which sits in Austin. Further appeal can be taken from its ruling to the state supreme court.

Convicted in Bailey's Escape

Grover C. Beville, Dallas, Texas, butcher, left, and Thomas L. Manion, deputy jailer, right, were friends until the escape from Dallas jail of Harvey Bailey, bandit king. Now their friendship is broken. They were convicted of aiding Bailey in his sensational escape. Beville pleaded guilty and appeared as a witness for the government. Manion charged he was a plot victim and fought the case against him.

PLANS ARE MADE FOR A BIG RODEO AND CARNIVAL FOR RANGER IN OCTOBER

Plans for the biggest trade expansion campaign ever staged in Ranger and the surrounding country is planned to start next week with the regular second Monday rodeo, at which time the usual rodeo features, with some added attractions thrown in for the entertainment of the visitors and the contestants. The usual large crowd is anticipated at this event and other attractions have been planned for the following week, when the trade carnival proper will start. Thursday, Oct. 19, horse races will be staged at the Haugland Airport, with good prizes offered for the winners in several races that have been planned. The first race will be for kid ponies, 13 hands high or under. The entrance fee for this event will be 50 cents, with $5.00 added money. The winner will receive half of the combined fees and the added money; second place winner will receive 30 per cent and third place winner will get 20 per cent. This will be a 200-yard race. In the second race, which will be a ladies free for all, the entrance fee will be $1, with $5 added money. The three winners in this event will get 50, 30 and 20 per cent of the combined entrance fees and added money, as in the kid's race. The ladies race will be a 300-yard affair. The last race of the afternoon will be a 250-yard free for all. The entrance fee will be $5 with $15 as added money. Only two winners will share in the prizes in this race, first place taking 70 per cent and second place winner taking 30 per cent. At 7 o'clock that night the merchants carnival on Main Street will be opened and will continue as long as the crowd stays. Band music will be on the program for the night. Friday, October 20, a conference football game between Ranger Junior College and Decatur Baptist College will be played at Lillard field. Friday night at the usual hour, 7 o'clock, the merchants carnival will be opened again. Saturday, Oct. 21, will be the big day of the three day celebration. In the afternoon many prizes will be distributed among the visitors and special attractions will be presented at night at the merchants' carnival. The American Legion Tickville Band, under the direction of Dr. Harry A. Logsdon, will present a program that will be of special interest. After the program by the Tickville band a free wrestling and boxing show will be held at a special arena to be erected on the street for that purpose. Good wrestlers and boxers have been assured for this program, which will probably prove to be one of the big attractions of the carnival.

Government Wins Another Victory In Kidnap Case

DALLAS, Oct. 6.—The government today had won another victory in its roundup of accomplices in the Charles Urschel kidnaping case. Tom Marion, Dallas county jailer and his butcher friend, Grover Beville, awaited sentence today for conspiracy to help in the labor day escape of Harvey Bailey. The two men were found guilty by a federal jury after 30 minutes deliberation. Seven years in prison and $24,000 in fines are possible for each of the men.

Dog Saves Man From Death In Burning Home

FORT WORTH, Oct. 6.—Skippy, eight year old French poodle dog owned by Mrs. Joe Knopp, today saved D. A. Powell from burning to death in a fire that destroyed his home. Mrs. Knopp was awakened by the dog barking. Looking out the window she saw her neighbor's house in flames. She screamed and Powell escaped.

Texas Rangers Will Play D.B.C. Frosh At Brownwood Saturday

The Ranger Junior College Texas Rangers will go to Brownwood, Saturday, where they will play the Daniel Baker College freshman team in the second game of the season. Coach Tricky Ward said today that he could not supply his starting lineup as every man on the squad would be tried out sometime during the game and he might not start the same team that started against McMurry last week.

Rifle Shoot Will Be Held On Sunday

Jack Roach, captain of the Ranger rifle range, announced today that a shoot would be held at the local range Sunday afternoon. All members of the American Legion Rifle club were urged to come out for the practice shoot as an Oil Belt shoot would be staged week after next, and the members were asked to practice for this event.

SPEECHLESSNESS COMPLAINT CENTRAL FALLS, R. I.

Central Falls, R. I.—If you don't believe this one, consult Peter Clare, Fred Mossette and other leading members of the Central Falls Real Estate Taxpayers' Association. They complain that women who attend the association's meetings "never do any of the talking."

COMPROMISE RELIEF BILL SENT SENATE

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—A senate sub-committee today reported out a compromise relief bill to issue $7,500,000 in "bread bonds" create a new relief commission to displace the present commission, but retaining Col. Lawrence Westbrook as state relief director. The new Texas Relief commission would consist of the governor as chairman, the chairmen of the state board of control and highway commission, president of the three regional chambers of commerce and T. A. Low of Brenham, now a member of the rehabilitation and relief commission. The lieutenant governor and speaker of the house are authorized to appoint one member each. The bill provides that county relief funds be named by the county commissioners court, subject to approval by the new commission. County committees would have five members except in counties containing a city of 150,000 population or more. In such instances the city would be empowered to name two members of a seven-member county relief committee. Only the aged, invalid or infirm are entitled to direct relief under the bill. The bill provides the bonds shall be retired by three fourths of the beer tax and 1-20 of other state revenues not raised from real property taxes.

TEXAS BANK IS ROBBED BY THREE BANDITS

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 6.—State headquarters were notified of the robbery of the Buckholts, Milan County, State Bank, by three men drying a coupe reported stolen in Fort Worth yesterday. An estimated loot of $2,500 was taken by the bandits who entered about a half hour after the bank had opened. The two men who entered the bank were dressed in overalls. Each was about 35 years old. No description of the man who remained in the car was obtained. Covering bank employees with weapons, the robbers went behind the bank counter, gathering up all the money in sight. FREDERICK, Okla., Oct. 6.—Four men, armed with a sawed-off shotgun and pistols, held up the First National Bank here today and escaped in a sedan with about $1,000. They fled southeast from here.

Fire Destroys Ranger Laundry At Noon Today

A fire which broke out about 12:20 today in the Ranger Steam Laundry, North Austin street, resulted in complete destruction of the building and its contents. The fire department responded to the alarm to find the building almost a complete mass of flames, that burned rapidly through the building. The cause of the fire was not immediately determined, nor was the amount of damage, because the clothing being laundered was destroyed, as was the building and equipment.

Future Farmers of America Elect For The Coming Year

The Ranger chapter of the Future Farmers of America met Oct. 4 when F. C. Williamson was elected president; Pete Zeigler, vice president; Covis Crawley, treasurer; Arthur Shelton, watch dog, and Scott H. Neal, reporter. Ben Whitehouse, vocational agricultural teacher, was selected as advisor. On Oct. 18 the organization plans to have another meeting. The refreshment committee for the meeting is composed of Roy Spiess, Billie Hinman and Scott Neal.

Boys and Girls World Club

No assembly or special program was held by the Boys and Girls World club at their usual Wednesday afternoon meeting, in the classroom of the Methodist church, as their time was given to the completion of the scrap-books, and other work in hand, to be sent the Indian missions.

The books were finished and a play hour for the primary and beginners was enjoyed, under the direction of Mrs. Fred Drago.

Mrs. J. U. Johnson, superintended the putting together of the three books, and the completing of the toy airplanes by the junior boys, as well as putting in the finishing touches on the towels and wash cloths made by the girls.

Three jig-saw puzzles, designed and made by the children were completed.

These supplies will be shipped next Monday to Nashville, Tenn., to the distribution bureau, and from there will be forwarded to the Oklahoma mission school.

The games were played out of doors, and the circle songs were led by Mrs. Drago, who afterward told the children the stories of "In the Giant's Garden," an allegorical fable, and an Indian story of the little girl who smiled, a series, which was begun last week.

Afterward the club looked over the work they had accomplished. The study this quarter for the club will be of the Japanese children and missions, taken from the magazine, "The World's Friend," one issued for junior use.

Activities suggested in these articles will be carried out in part. The primaries will have a course of study about children of Japan, named "Soi-Chi-Ume."

The activities of these Japanese children will form the themes of programs to be commenced next Wednesday.

All three departments of the Boys and Girls World club were represented in the children attending.

Ranger Club Reception Honors Local Women
The New Era club of Ranger

will open its season with a reception Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, to be held in the colonial room of the Gholson hotel, and in special honor of Mrs. J. M. Perkins, incoming president of Sixth District, T. F. W. C., and secretary, Mrs. James Horton.

The Thursday Afternoon club of Eastland, of which Mrs. Perkins was a past president, and which sponsored her candidacy for the office, has been extended a personal invitation to attend.

All those going are requested by the president of the Thursday Afternoon club, Mrs. F. M. Kenny, to meet at the community clubhouse at 2:30 p. m., and leave in a body for Ranger.

A number of cars will be provided for those going, and ample provision has been made for all who wish to attend from Eastland.

Junior Thursday Club Meets

The Junior Thursday club presented an interesting program at their first study session held Wednesday afternoon in the community clubhouse in the subject for study, "When Dances Were Prayers."

The session was opened by their president, Miss Joyce Johnson, with Miss Sadie Brewer, secretary, in charge of the minutes. z
New members voted in were Mrs. Charles Fagg, Mrs. J. O. Brothers, Mrs. S. J. Petty, and Mrs. Jack Tmmer.

Miss Brewer, hostess for meeting, then took charge of the program as leader, presenting Mrs. Bernie Blowers, who gave an interesting talk, "The Place of the Dance in Mythology."

Miss Mary Pearl Judkins presented the topic, "Dances of Religious Symbolism, Past and Present."

The interesting discussion closed with an appropriate piano selection in Chaminade's "Scarf Dance," brilliantly played by Miss Maurine Davenport.

The hour of meeting was changed to 4:15 p. m.
Miss Lucile Brogdon will be the hostess and leader for the next meeting on Oct. 18, when the subject for study will be "How Dances Mirror the Life of the People."

There was a good attendance of members.

Called Meeting of Officers

The officers of the Martha Dorcas class met at the call of their president, Mrs. D. S. Eubanks, at her home on South Halbryan street, Wednesday afternoon, for the purpose of planning the work of the class, and the program for the following six months.

A membership contest will be inaugurated immediately, to be terminated in six weeks.

The captains for the contending sides will be appointed at the class meeting next Sunday morning in the Methodist church.

As Judge Leslie has announced he will return and be prepared to deliver his lecture to the class next Sunday morning, they decided not to adjourn the meeting to attend the 9:49 anniversary program, unless Judge Leslie is not prepared to be with them at the last moment.

Other minor business details were looked after, and at close of the interesting meeting Mrs. Eubanks refreshed her guests with a dainty course of iced fruited punch and small cakes.

Officers present were Miss Aline Walker, first vice president; Mrs. W. W. Kelly, representing Mr. Kelly, secretary; Mrs. Joe Kraemer, assistant secretary; Mrs. Ed F. Willman, chairman of program committee; Mrs. W. E. Brashier, reporter; Miss Lillian Thompson, song leader, and Mrs. D. S. Eubanks, president.

School Class Picnic Jolly Time
The high second and low third classes of the South Ward school enjoyed a delightful outing and picnic, Wednesday afternoon, arranged by the class teacher, Miss Lois McAnally.

The children, some 40 in number, went to the wooded ground near the tennis court at 3:30 p. m., and had a wonderful play hour, followed by a most appetizing spread of sandwiches, fried chicken, devilled eggs, cakes and fruit.

Miss McAnally was assisted in entertaining the children by the mothers, Mrs. Will Keith and Mrs. C. T. Lucas.

It was a happy sight, as the children played their merry games in the cool zest of the autumn air.

Eastland Women Honored in San Angelo

The San Angelo Women's club honored incoming officers of the Sixth District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. J. M. Perkins, president, and Mrs. James Horton, secretary, and the outgoing president, Miss Carrie Reeves, at the opening of the San Angelo Women's club season, featured in a noon luncheon with the club president, Mrs. Duwain Hughes, presiding.

England and Ireland was the subject for their club study. Principal speakers were the three honor guests.

After the luncheon, Mrs. W. S. Douglas of San Angelo, district chairman of junior clubs of the Sixth district, invited the members of the junior clubs of the city to meet Miss Reeves, Mrs. Perkins and Mrs. Horton, at the open house held informally at her residence.

Among the officers calling was Mrs. C. D. Beall, president of a junior club and well known in Eastland.

Broadway Beauty Seeks Annulment

Meredith Howard (above), famed Broadway show beauty, is seeking an annulment of her marriage to Albert Spurlock, University of North Carolina football coach, from whom she was separated half an hour after their wedding in 1929. Her engagement to the scion of a wealthy automobile family has been reported.

Bronx, N. Y., residents reported a gold strike in their own back yards, but not enough to entice the gold diggers from Broadway.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE ROAD TO WANT: He that oppressteth the poor to increase his riches, and he that giveth to the rich, shall surely come to want.—Proverbs 22: 16.
HOW TO TRUST: Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths.—Proverbs 3: 5, 6.

MR. TUGWELL IS A BIT OFF

Attention has been centered on the aggressive tactics of R. G. Tugwell, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, who has sponsored a bill which would place all patent medicine advertising under the Pure Food and Drug Bureau of the Department of Agriculture.

While we do not doubt the sincerity of Mr. Tugwell's interest, the fact remains that the American Medical Association is particularly interested in assisting with the sponsorship which, were the bill to be passed and go into effect, would, in its present form, prevent drug stores from carrying in stock many remedies that have a known and proved value, because such medicines could not be advertised or sold to the public. Obviously, a greater prescription business and higher prices to the public would result.

In his indictment of patent medicine advertising, Mr. Tugwell has stated, referring to "many fraudulent and misleading advertisements" that "... mail order catalogues, educational and religious journals, cheap fiction and pulp magazines, small dailies, country weeklies ..." are the most flagrant abusers by carrying this advertising. While it is said that every line of business has its charlatans and quacks, it is indeed ill-advised on the part of Tugwell to issue such a blanket condemnation against the smaller city daily newspapers and to classify them with "cheap fiction or pulp magazines."

We do not question his sincerity. We do question his balance of judgment in attempting, because there are certain violators of public confidence, to debar products of tested merit, as are most of those products which have stood the acid test of consistent sales over a period of time.

This newspaper is anxious and willing to protect all of its readers from misleading or fraudulent advertising. We are just as quick to sponsor a cause which is just and to do our level best to fight unjust abuse. In this instance it appears that Mr. Tugwell, while perhaps earnest, also sees an opportunity to enhance his name and fame.

DEATH FOR KIDNAPING

The federal Lindbergh law provides up to a life sentence in prison for kidnaping.

The State of Texas went even further, in passing the Petsch law, by providing the death penalty for kidnaping for ransom.

Texas has had no major kidnaping case to compare with the Urschel ransom case to develop within its borders since enacting the stringent law.

The state probably has escaped some disturbances of the kind by its law, though it would appear from the Bates-Bailey-Killy cases that the law did not deter bringing a kidnaped man within jurisdiction of this death-penalty law.

According to the present temper of citizens, a jury no doubt would impose the death sentence readily in a conviction in this state for a notorious kidnaping for ransom. A jury would levy a stiff sentence for any sort of kidnaping.

It will require but few of the master-strokes such as federal capture of Bailey, Bates, and Kelly, and of vigorous prosecutions over the country, to put an end to this most brutish form of crime outside of cold murder or revishment.

A lot of law-makers seem to like to tell the people to do things that they rarely ever show any signs of wanting to do.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

The small boy who can resist the temptation to take a shot at a bird on a fence or in a tree, if he has anything to shoot with, is yet to be born.

The wanton destruction by small boys—and boys old enough to know better—on bird life is appalling. Much of the killing is done by sling-shots, and it is natural for boys when they reach a certain age to aspire to the possession of a sling-shot, but they should be taught to use particular care in the selection of targets.

They should never be allowed to shoot at the neighbor's windows, birds, the family cat, but should use tin-cans as targets. Now a tin-can makes a wonderful target.

The schools can do much toward stamping out the practice of the killing of birds by small boys, which is no credit to those boys who do so.

If the teachers would appeal to their better nature, it would prove fruitful of good results.

commercial structure of the nation failing to take immediate advantage of it.

All in all we are going to give the worker the full benefit of those drastic measures that have been put into action from time to time and that is that what the worker is holding out for will in time be gained. What does he want? In spite of the harsh things that are said about labor unions—shutting out of the non-member under the "closed shop" system and other complaints—they are working for just a few reasonable objects. The worker wants industry to be a co-operation of producer and financier for the object of serving the public instead of making it a "grabbing" game and an exploitation of the many for a few. He wants a good wage for each worker, on which he can support his family and give them some of the good things of life and bring up his children to be a credit to the race. The worker wants not to be a spoke in the wheel, without intelligence and self control, but a manager and part owner in businesses.

Finally, he wants to turn out as good a product and as much of it as he can under pleasant working conditions. It is for the best interests of the country at large that he get these things, for it is the worker who keeps the great wheels turning that make our nations power and wealth.

Money powers have from time immemorial profited by making slaves and henchmen of their supporters. Gould and Fisk were modern examples of the occasions. Fisk was one of the most unscrupulous men that was ever prominent in American money history so it is said. His headquarters were the center of graft, bribery and hush money were his principal cohorts and favorite means of getting what he wanted. On a day known as "Black Friday," September 24, 1869 a panic such as had never been seen, broke. Fisk was the target for the wrath of those who suffered as a result of his crookedness for gain. He fled, and crept like a whined dog into the dark recesses of his dusty theatre, terror stricken listening to the sounds of an avenging mob seeking his life. His end came in a common street brawl. Thus ended the career of one of America's money grabbing barons. He even offered President Grant a bribe for his means of gain . . . and naturally was promptly turned down.

The quicker that those who have money power today realize the necessity of merging their business with a spirit of co-operation the better it will be. Newspapers are full of monopolistic industries fighting for power even today. And while this is going on, millions of unemployed look on, starving and half clothed, and the story now comes out that those who were smeared in a fiery hell in the Hollywood Canyon were ordered to their death under threat of being discharged. And that money was charity money that paid their wages.

We sincerely hope that the president will lose patience. While we do not wish to see him lose his stimulating and inspiring smile, we trust it will remain there but with the lines of stern and impulsive determination taking the place of those that are now patient and pacific. We are entering that dreaded hard winter.

Most Valuable Players Named In Big Leagues

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—For the second time since the most valuable player awards were inaugurated in 1922, an unanimous vote of the committee making the selections has been cast. Carl Hubbell, the screwball pitching ace of the New York Giants, is so honored in the annual most valuable player choice for the National league by the Sporting News, the national baseball weekly of St. Louis, Mo. Babe Ruth was the other receiving unanimous vote, in 1923. Jimmy Foxx, the Philadelphia Athletics first baseman, won the Sporting News' 1923 award in the American league. It is the second time in succession that he has been so chosen.

Hubbell's selection in the National league also marks the first time since 1924 that a pitcher received the honor, Walter Johnson of Washington and Dazzy Vance of Brooklyn, both, winning the distinction that year in the two leagues. Only one player, George Burns, Cleveland, 1926; Lou Gehrig, New York 1927; Mickey Cochrane, Philadelphia, 1928; Al Simmons, Philadelphia, 1929; Joe Cronin, Washington, 1930; Lou Gehrig, New York, 1931; Jimmy Foxx, Philadelphia, 1932.

National League—Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn, 1924; Rogers Hornsby, St. Louis, 1925; Bob O'Farrell, St. Louis, 1926; Paul Waner, Pittsburgh, 1927; Jim Bottomley, St. Louis, 1928; Rogers Hornsby, Chicago, 1929; Bill Terry, New York, 1930; Chuck Klein, Philadelphia, 1931 and 1932.

The Sporting News has made the selections for the two major leagues ever since the National and American circuits discontinued their official awards, the latter in 1929 and the former in 1930, using the same method of having a baseball writer from each city, pick the players and then getting a consensus by giving eight points for the one considered the most valuable, on down to one point for the last named, as was employed by two leagues before they abandoned the plan.

Figured on this basis, the ranking in the two leagues for 1933 was as follows:

National league—Carl Hubbell, New York Giants, 64; Chuck Klein, Phillies, 37; Gabby Hartnett, Chicago Cubs, 22; Wally Berger, Boston Braves, 21; Pepper Martin, St. Louis Cardinals, 18; Ben Cantwell, Boston Braves, 14; Dizzy Dean, St. Louis Cardinals, 13; Chick Hafey, Cincinnati, and Pie Traynor, Pittsburgh, 11; Johnny Frederick, Brooklyn, and Guy Bush, Chicago, 10; Alfonso Lopez, Brooklyn, 8; Tony Piet, Pittsburgh, Tony Cuccinello, Brooklyn, and Larry French, Pittsburgh, 7; Tommy Thevenow, Pittsburgh, 6; Rabbit Maranville, Boston Braves, 5; Charley Grimm, Chicago, and Frankie Frisch, St. Louis, 4; Van Mungo, Brooklyn, Joe Medwick, St. Louis, and Floyd Vaughan, Pittsburgh, 3.

American League—Jimmy Foxx, Philadelphia, 49; Lou Gehrig, New York, 47; Charley Gehringer, Detroit, 32; Joe Cronin, Washington, 30; Al Simmons, Chicago, 18; Helnie Manush, Washington, 16; Oscar Melillo, St. Louis, 14; Rick Ferrell, Boston, 12; Oral Hildebrand, Cleveland, and Earl Averill, Cleveland, 10; Luke Appling, Chicago, Earl Whitehill, Washington and Joe Kuhel, Washington, 8; Roy Johnson, Boston, and Bob Grove, Philadelphia, 7; Monte Pearson, 3; Jimmy Dykes, Chicago, 2; Lrv Cleveland 5; Sam West, St. Louis, ingers Burns, St. Louis, and Dusty Cooke, Boston, 1.

Other valuable player awards, including those of the leagues and the Sporting News are:
 American League—George Sizer, St. Louis, 1922; Babe Ruth, New York, 1923; Walter Johnson, Washington, 1924; Rogers Peckinburns, Cleveland, 1926; Lou Gehrig, New York 1927; Mickey Cochrane, Philadelphia, 1928; Al Simmons, Philadelphia, 1929; Joe Cronin, Washington, 1930; Lou Gehrig, New York, 1931; Jimmy Foxx, Philadelphia, 1932.

 National League—Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn, 1924; Rogers Hornsby, St. Louis, 1925; Bob O'Farrell, St. Louis, 1926; Paul Waner, Pittsburgh, 1927; Jim Bottomley, St. Louis, 1928; Rogers Hornsby, Chicago, 1929; Bill Terry, New York, 1930; Chuck Klein, Philadelphia, 1931 and 1932.

Nebraska Beet Crop Will Set Record

By United Press
 SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. — With sugar beet acreage totaling nearly 15,000 acres more than last year, western Nebraska is on the verge of its greatest sugar beet harvest in years.

Beginning in early October the harvest of thousands of acres of sugar beets begins in this region and continues unabated in field and refinery for weeks.

Sugar beet acreage in western Nebraska has been increased this year to 70,000 acres as compared with 57,000 acres last year. Growers are optimistic this year as their crop is ready for market. They will receive a large cash payment on their crop from refineries this month.

It's the Southern sunshine you read about, combined with the right sort of climate and moisture, that makes the Carolinas, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, and Virginia the best tobacco country in the world.

You can stand down there in that Southern sunshine and almost see it grow.

This ripe, mellow tobacco is skillfully cured by the farmer. Then, for 30 months, it's aged—just like fine wine.

It takes the right quantity of each kind of these tobaccos, blended and cross-blended—then seasoned with Turkish, to make a milder cigarette. Sunshine helps. Just try it.

Light Backfields Will Prevail In The Southwestern

By TED H. MALOY
United Press Staff Correspondent
DALLAS.—Light backfields and heavy centers will form the ball-carrying machinery for all Southwestern conference football teams this season, with the exception of Rice Institute, the average weights of candidates indicates.

Texas A. & M. has the lightest set of candidates for both the centers and the backfield. University of Arkansas has the heaviest candidates for the line pivot, and Rice has the bulkiest backfield aspirants.

The much-talked-of light backfield at Southern Methodist university really is among the heaviest, exceeded only by Rice and University of Texas, a compilation of average weights showed.

Texas Christian university, 1932 champion, hits the medium for both centers and backs. Its three center candidates average 180 pounds, Derrell Lester, 200-pounder from Jackboro, is the heaviest. Heard Flores, Fort Worth, and James Simpson, San Angelo, weigh 170 pounds each.

Average weight of 15 backfield aspirants at T. C. U. is 169.6 pounds. Charlie Casper, fleet half-back from San Antonio, who earned a letter last year with his triple-threat offensive, is representative. He weighs 169 pounds. Jack Langdon, 189-pound half-back from Cleburne, is largest. Johnny Kitchen, 174 pounds, Okmulgee, Okla., is a veteran plugging full-back. Dan Harston, Dallas, with speed for his 167 pounds, has made a strong bid for Kitchen's place.

Rice's mammoth backs average 185 pounds while the two center candidates average 170. Harry Witt, Houston, who starred as a freshman last year, is the biggest hope for a varsity back. However, his 200 pounds may not be available for the Owls' line-blasting machinery for a few weeks because of an injured knee. Henry Clove, Anahuac, is the lightest veteran in the backfield. He is a 165-pound signal caller.

Percy Arthur, Houston, 165 pounds, and Dick Lauterbach, San Antonio, 175-pounder, will alternate at center.

There will be few chinks in the center of Arkansas' line. Gus Eidson tips the beam at 190, Mark Sheridan weighs 187 pounds and Jack Newby, the "baby" of the aspirants for center, is a 185-pounder.

A heavy or a light backfield could be made easily from Coach Fred C. Tomson's 17 Razorback candidates who average 169.6 pounds. He could build a set along the proportions of Fullbacks Oliver Criswell and W. W. Keaton who weigh 190 pounds each, and Half-back Leo Corrotto, 187-pounder. Or, he could form one using Full-back Joe Biddle, 168 pounds, Half-back Ralph LaForre, 147 pounds, and Quarterback Elvin Geiser, 150 pounds.

Bob Hilliard, Orange, who set the conference afire last season with his multi-threat attack and effective defense work, is the lightest of the University of Texas backfield. His 165 pounds are dwarfed beside the 200-pound Jay Arnold, blocking back from Greenville, and Melvin Preibisch, 190-pounder from Sealy. Coach Clyde Littlefield has 23 backfield candidates weighing an average of 173.2 pounds. There is plenty of weight for the Steers' center position. Charles Coates, Waco, 198 pounds, will be understood by Capt. Bill Smith, Cisco's 175-pounder, besides playing end. There are four others bidding for the pivot job. The average weight is 186.5 pounds.

S. M. U. like Arkansas, could be in for a heavy, line-crushing backfield or put a fleet bunch of ball carriers into action from its 16 candidates that average 173.1 pounds. The giant Hack Ross, 220-pounder from Farmersville, is ace of the heavyweights. Jack Seagraves, Teague, tips the scales at 195, and Charles Baker, Chireno, weighs 189 pounds. With them could run Bob Turner, Weatherford, 175 pounds, Jack Little, Dallas, 172, or Harry Shuford, Tyler, 180.

For the lightweight group Robert Wilson, flashy 150-pound wing-back from Corsicana, would have to be given a berth. His mates could be John Woodward, Dallas, 158; Smith Reed, Holland, 163; Shelly Burt, Hillsboro, 163; Harlan Ray, Wichita Falls, 160, or Jack McNutt, Dallas, 161.

Three Mustang centers average 181.6 pounds, James Bradford, San Antonio, weighs 184 pounds; Puster Raborn, El Dorado, Ark., weighs 185, and Arthur Johnson, Tyler, 176.

The Aggies will have to rely on speed. The 18 men bidding for backfield posts average 162.3 pounds. Among them is the 136-pound quarterback, Jack Hester of Gouff. Halfbacks, with one exception, are under 170 pounds. Ted Spencer of Gilmer, fullback, is the youngest man out this year. He weighs 190 pounds.

Centers are correspondingly light at A. & M. Four of them, including the veterans Ed Reichardt of San Antonio and Jack Roach of Decatur, average 167.2 pounds.

Baylor is pinning its hopes for a scoring backfield on 12 candidates weighing an average of 166.6 pounds. Three expected to play regularly weigh only 165 pounds. They are Jimmy Parks of Palestine, Carl Price of Chillicothe and Hulen Eall of Olanah. But if weight were wanted there is Joe Jack Pearce of Farmersville and John Williams of Wellington who weigh 185 pounds each.

Jim Weatherby of Hubbard, who starred at tackle last year, is considered a center candidate this year. He weighs 200 pounds and is one of the big reasons why the five aspirants for the post average 181 pounds.

CONVENT WINS LANGUAGE PRIZE
MONTREAL.—The convent of the Presentation of Mary, at St. Hyacinthe, Que., has been awarded the French Language prize of the French Academy, Paris, for 1933. It is announced. The prize amounts to 5,000 francs. The award was made in recognition of the work done by the Sisters in preserving French language and culture in North America. The order has 62 institutions in Canada and the United States.

Puts the Jinx on Body Odor!
Science Says Good-Bye to Medicine-Smelling Soaps!
Science has made a new discovery about body odor. It is caused by stale perspiration curds, and requires deep-pore cleansing. It cannot be ended by ordinary soaps, because their sluggish lathers cannot reach into the pores and cleanse them. Instead the soap combines with the waste material and forms clogging curds!
Kirk's Coco Castile soap works in an entirely different way. No matter how hard the water, this 100% pure vegetable oil soap breaks instantly into a searching, bubbly lather. This bubbly lather cleans deep into the pores, actually removes the embedded stale perspiration curds—then rinses out completely, and in a flash. Thus it ends body odor at its source!
Delightful to use, Kirk's Coco Castile is entirely free from M. S. (medicine smell). And stimulating to the skin. A big generous cake, half again larger than the average toilet soap, and now at the lowest price in history! At this new reduced price, it is America's outstanding soap bargain. Be sure to ask for Kirk's Castile by name—at your grocer's.

Ralph Arnold Opens His Own Garage On South Austin Street

Ralph Arnold, who has been in the garage business in Ranger for the past 10 years, specializing in repairing Chevrolet cars, has gone into business for himself in a new location on South Austin street.

Arnold has had factory training in repairing and servicing Chevrolet cars each year for the past 15 years and is well able to do any repair work on these cars. Although he works on any make car, his specialty is the Chevrolet work.
For a number of years he was in charge of the service department of the Oilbelt Motor company, continuing for himself in their building until he became connected with the firm of Anderson-Pruet, Inc., early this year. With the removal of this company to their new location he resigned his position to go back into business for himself.

State Road Fund Has Shrank By Half In 3 Years

AUSTIN.—The state highway fund, once the envy of all state bureaus because of the millions at its command, has shrunk 57 per cent in three department years, according to the tentative budget for the next fiscal year just prepared by department statisticians.

Total state revenue, which will remain to build and maintain Texas' 19,600 miles of state highways, after the various deductions and diversions will be $17,000,000 the department estimated. The same figure was $39,000,000 in 1931, the peak year. Neither sum includes federal aid. Maintenance of existing roads alone now costs about $10,500,000 yearly, a decrease of $1,500,000 worked out since 1931.

Aside from one or two millions a year lost to the road fund through fewer automobiles and less travel, the decline of $22,000,000 a year in road money was caused by a radical change in the state government's viewpoint regarding main trunk highways, the Texas Good Roads association pointed out in connection with the official figures.

"R. S. Sterling's administration first took the position that counties no longer must vote bonds and share the cost of main highways with the state," its statement said. "Thus 'county aid' which exceeded $11,000,000 in 1931, dropped to $1,000,000 this year, and will disappear in 1934. The last year one-fourth of the state gas tax was taken to fund such county bonds already outstanding. It was not enough, but it took another $7,000,000 yearly from the road fund.

"Both these steps give local ad valorem tax relief by shifting the cost of roads, past and present, completely upon the motorist through the gas tax and license fee. The highway fund is so weakened that it must depend on federal aid to keep jobs for thousands of road workers. The plain obligation of the state, then, is to do nothing thenceforth which will imperil federal aid. Shifting of any more state road money to non-road purposes is directly against federal policy as Washington has said. This is what Texas must avoid."

LEG BROKEN TAKING STEP

BOSTON.—One of the queerest broken legs ever to come to the attention of Boston City Hospital doctors was that of Seth Wilson, 56. He fractured his left leg merely in stepping from the road onto a curbstone—and didn't know the leg was broken until his physician told him about it.

In New York's Three-Cornered Mayoralty Tilt

Bitterest of recent political campaigns in the nation's largest city is the tri-cornered mayoralty battle which is being waged by the three candidates pictured here. Standard-bearer of long-dominant Tammany Hall, Mayor John P. O'Brien is shown (left) in a speaking pose as he sought re-election. Opposing him are former President Joseph V. McGee of the board of aldermen who is seen (center) surrounded by newspaper reporters as he figuratively threw his hat in the ring as an Independent candidate, and fiery former Congressman Fiorello H. La Guardia (right), on whom the hopes of the Fusion party rest.

Firestone Dealer Describes Greatest Mountain Spectacle

The towering heights of Pike's Peak loom down each year upon the world's greatest mountain climb spectacle. According to Al Tune, Firestone dealer of this city, the recent 1933 race is a story that should interest all who drive automobiles.

"For the seventh time, Glen Shultz, of Colorado Springs, won this speed classic against 18 of the best racing drivers of the country," Mr. Tune said. "Shultz traveled the steep 12-mile course in 17 minutes and 27.5 seconds.

"Tires, of course, bear the brunt of this grueling test. They must safely negotiate the 131 'hairpin' turns, as the cars travel the dizzy ascent at mile-a-minute speeds. For the eighth consecutive year Firestone High-Speed Gum-Dipped Tires were on the winning car.

"An interesting sidelight on the importance of tires is given by Shultz's wife to Firestone just after his victory. 'The Pike's Peak race is over, and I was fortunate enough to win it again with the able assistance of Firestone tires. The present tread compound is the toughest we have ever seen. On our workouts we used only one-third the rubber that we did last year—and with more horsepower to grind it off. My congratulations on the development of your product."

"The Pike's Peak race is a gripping event. The start is from Crystal Creek bridge, 9,150 feet above sea level, and the summit is 14,109 feet above sea level. Temperature runs from summer heat to freezing. The roadbed is of decomposed granite. Thousands of spectators line the course, which is as jagged as a lightning bolt. The sharp angle turns are like hairpins—'switchbacks' they call them—where the driver must 'throw' the car around into the opposite direction. At one of these a sign reads 'Bottomless Pit' where there is a sheer drop of 5,000 feet.

"Almost every second in this race brings to the tires the extreme tests that the average motorist experiences only once in a while," Mr. Tune concluded. "But having the safest tires when emergencies arise often saves the motorist and his family from injury, or death, and the car from damage."

Many Visitors Attracted Here By Ward Week

Much interest is being displayed by folks from the surrounding country and neighboring towns in the Ward Week Sale now in progress. It is estimated that 700 came from outlying communities on Thursday and Friday, the opening days.

The big sale at Ward's is, of course, the Mecca for all these visitors, but it is by no means getting all the attention. Local restaurants, theatres and soda fountains are doing an unusually big business due to this welcome influx of Ward Week shoppers.

While the Ward Week Sale held last Spring attracted many hundreds of out-of-town visitors, local observers are unanimous in agreeing that this year Ward Week is bringing in perceptibly larger numbers. Manager Fesmire of the local store, stated today that he expects the current Ward Week Sale to surpass all the store's previous sales and attendance records.

Hitler Drives Jews To Spanish Retreat

BARCELONA.—Police estimate over 5,000 German Jews have entered Spain through the port of Barcelona since the rise of Hitler to power in the Reich. The number is increasing daily, according to authorities.

In a section of the city known as Ensanche, German Jews already have opened restaurants for their brother exiles, while wealthier members have taken homes in the aristocratic neighborhoods of San Gervasio and Bonanova.

One exile has drawn attention by selling anti-Hitler newspapers, written in German. According to authorities, it is estimated about 75 per cent of the exiles already have started, or are planning to start, in some business or industry.

Sea Gull Is Pet Of British Skipper

WHITBY, Eng.—A seagull is the almost inseparable companion of a trawler skipper living here.

Skipper Eglon welcomes all seagulls, but his favorite and constant companion is "Billy," a well-grown bird. Whenever the skipper puts to sea he can always be certain that "Billy" will follow him, and he would not think of sailing without some special tit-bit for his bird friend.

As the boat leaves harbor, "Billy" swoops gracefully down, takes his morsel from Eglon's hand, and then goes to the bow of the trawler to await the hauling in of the nets and the resultant fish.

BIKE TIRE SHORTAGE IS REPORTED

TOPEKA, Kan.—A shortage of bicycle tires is in evidence here, due to the present desire "to ride bicycle," tire dealers say. Some attribute it to the starting of school, others to the entrance of girl and women riders into the sports. More tires have been sold during the past six months than during any comparative period since the founding of the city.

PORTERVILLE, Calif.—When "Dick," N. H. Leggett's valued painter dog, points at birds, he stays pointed.

"Dick" disappeared the other day. Leggett promptly offered a reward.

The next day, William Baird, an orange grower, brought the dog home. He found him, he said, "pointing" a covey of birds he had flushed. The dog, he said, apparently had held his position more than 33 hours while awaiting his master.

Park Ranger Faces Big Bear Surplus

YOSEMITE, Cal.—Ranger Bill Reymann of Yosemite National Park surveyed his domain the other day and opined, "I guess we'll have to start plowing the bears under pretty soon."

Ranger Bill feels he has an overproduction problem that merits attention of Agricultural Adjustment Administration experts.

In eight years there has been a 50 per cent increase in the park's California black bear population—and new "No Hunting" signs have been posted.

Every California zoo has more than enough of the bears and refuses to take any more off of Reymann's hands.

Reymann is considering appealing to rug manufacturers.

Sales of Games Show Big Increase

MILWAUKEE.—An increase in the sale of games for both adults and children has been reported this fall by Milwaukee merchants.

More adults started playing games during the depression than ever before and with the new NRA leisure sales are expected to hold up and even increase, one merchant said.

Grownups and children have been stealing each other's games, another dealer reported.

"Children, many only eight or nine years old, are playing bridge now," he said, "and their parents are deserting the card table for games of skill or luck which have developed recently."

FOOTBALL IN THE OILBELT

By J. C. ALLISON

Last week-end engagements by football teams of the Oil Belt District did not give much more insight into the comparative strength of the squads that will begin to close grips next week in the struggle for the honors of the contest season.

However, if an analysis of last week's work would give an advantage to any one team, that advantage would necessarily go to Ranger. Making an overland trip to Lubbock and then meeting an aggregation that could not be classified any less than their equal, the Bulldogs held that crew to a score of 26 to 21.

Cisco's journey to San Angelo, in a way, cleared up the Lobos' prospective standing as a contestant for Oil Belt honors. No one seemed to consider the results of the Lobos' bout with Gorman as indicating strength, but, when the Bobcats romped away with the big end of a 26 to 6 score, it made the Lobos look as if they had given Gorman about the best they had the previous week.

While the Mavericks won their battle against the Dublin Lions by what appears on paper, 19 to 6, to to their performance in past years, was that they were able to go the whole distance and put on a "Marathon finish." They also showed some improvement in a style of play being used by Coach Petty, which, if ever developed to a semblance of perfection, will make them dangerous contestants against anybody's team.

Abilene lost to Sweetwater Friday by a score of 19 to 0. It is difficult to predict just what this means. The Eagles lost to the Mustangs last year at this stage of the running by a score of 20 to 0 and then became one of the strongest contenders in their home district.

Breckenridge was able to run over the Comanche Indians Friday afternoon for a result of 26 to 0, which, if Comanche is anything like the football player of former years, would indicate that the Buckaroos are picking up strength as they go along.

The Brownwood Lions were able to hold their Class B Hamilton team to a tie last week. It seems that they have taken a lease on the collar and intend to remain there regardless of what opposition they might have.

With the exception of Eastland each of the teams take on a little heavier competition for this week-end. Eastland meets Gorman on Maverick field Friday afternoon and will have an opportunity to see the Mavericks as compared to the Lobos after the game is concluded. Ranger will entertain

Jorgotten Sweetheart

by MARY RAYMOND

BOB WESTON was a bit indignant as he slipped it under his brother's head.

John's sister, PAT, two years younger, loves pleasure and pretty clothes. She is infatuated with JERRY FORRESTER, son of her employer.

BARBARA COURTNEY, a popular society girl whom Bob had known in New York, is scheming to win him.

Bob takes Joan to see the textile plant. They have a tentative engagement for that evening but he is compelled to break it when he learns Barbara has included him in a dinner party.

JOAN'S bewildered, incredulous eyes met Pat's. "So you didn't know!" Pat was saying.

Pat said Joan, "you're making all of that up. Give me that paper!" "There's more," said Pat. "Just listen to this!"

Joan paused, staring at the darkness outside.

which had engrossed her so shortly before. Joan was thinking: "Well, of course, he didn't tell me. He wouldn't say, 'I'm the son of the man who owns the whole thing.'"

"I see where Barbara Courtney is having another party," Pat put in. And then, "Well, of all the double-timing men! Guess he thought you didn't read the society page."

JOAN'S bewildered, incredulous eyes met Pat's. "So you didn't know!" Pat was saying. "Somebody's been putting things over on our little Joan. Listen to this!"

Pat said Joan, "you're making all of that up. Give me that paper!" "There's more," said Pat. "Just listen to this!"

"The Weston Mills has a nominal capitalization of $65,000,000, with 1,000,000 shares of common stock quoted at $60 on today's market and 5000 in preferred stock. It is intended to issue 60,000 shares of common stock for expansion purposes in connection with the company's plants at Niagara Falls, another in New Jersey and the Tennessee project. Read it all if you're interested."

Bill said, "Great Scott! What do you know about Joan grabbing somebody like that!" Joan's eyes were wide, her face a little pale. She met her mother's astonished eyes.

"My dear, you didn't dream?" "No, of course not," Joan said. "What difference does it make?" "What difference?" Pat exclaimed. "Oh, none in the world! Rich men go around every day talking for poor girls, like King Copethua and the beggar maid. Only they don't marry them these days."

"A millionaire," said Bill. "Well, Sis!" He stopped, warmed by his mother's glance.

PAT was deep in the society page now, characteristically forgetting for the moment the subject

Book Shelf. I didn't tell you because I hated to spoil the dinner for you after you had worked so hard. I hope you'll drop him like a ton of bricks if he's started twitting."

"I'm going up stairs," Joan said. "Don't worry, Pat. My heart's intact!"

SHE wanted to be alone. Upstairs in the hallway there was a window. Joan paused there, staring at the darkness outside. If Bob had been casual or indifferent it wouldn't have occurred to her to believe he was beginning to care.

"What are you talking about, Pat?" Joan asked. "About your friend, Bob, standing you up for a dinner date with Barbara," said Pat.

"Well, maybe I can't read. Maybe Miss Wilson made a mistake when she wrote this. If you want to read about the party at the Courtneys tonight here it is—with Mr. Robert Weston of New York as big as you please in the guest list!"

There was a silence and then Mrs. Waring, with a glance at Joan's white face, said gently: "Pat, how do you go on! Maybe the young man can explain."

"He didn't!" "He will," Pat said scornfully. "But I hope Joan won't listen to him."

Joan said slowly, unhappily, "Pat, you're a jealous, suspicious, little cat."

"I'd hate to have you lose your head over him when it won't do any good."

Joan smiled. It was a queer little smile that didn't linger, that didn't reach her eyes. Funny for Pat to be talking to her about losing her head.

"I'd hate to see anybody making a fool of you," Pat continued. "I could have told you before. He was the man I saw with Barbara at the thumped and pummeled." She lifted a pillow and shook it before slipping it under her brother's head.

"Joan, Mr. Weston likes you a lot, doesn't he?" "Benny," Joan broke in breathlessly. "You romancer! I barely know him."

She sat down beside the bed and began reading. The book related the adventures of Richard, a modern lion-heart, whose deeds furnished a thrilling saga.

Once when dangers were piling up for the valiant Richard she stumbled over the words.

"Why Joan," Benny exclaimed. "You're crying. Richard won't die. You don't think they would drop a hero right in the beginning, do you?"

Yes, you would drop a hero right in the beginning unless you wanted to suffer terribly.

"You look tired," Benny said. "There are black smudges under your eyes."

THE black smudges were still there the morning. But they were not there an hour after breakfast. It is wonderful what magic there can be in a telephone call.

"I'm afraid I called you too early," Bob's deep voice came over the wire. "But I couldn't wait."

He couldn't wait. Happiness came flooding back. "I was wondering if you couldn't arrange to have lunch with me today. And, Joan, I want to explain about last night."

"It doesn't matter." "All right, go on being a soft-boiled egg!" came Pat's vehement whisper.

"It was a party a girl I know had planned. She had been trying to get me all day and counted me in anyway. It would have upset things if I had dropped out at that hour. I was sure you would understand."

"He knew she would understand! She had been silly." "About lunch?"

"You're absolutely a sap if you don't show some spirit," from Pat. "I'm terribly sorry, Bob, but I'll be teaching until noon and I'll be busy this afternoon, too."

"Well, all right. It's going to be a long day for me. But I guess I'll find plenty to do at the plant." His voice sounded cheerful. He had no idea that he was being punished, Joan decided.

"Shall I drop around about seven?" "Fine," said Joan.

Pat stood in the doorway, her coat and hat on. "You're letting him come tonight?" she asked scornfully.

"Yes," said Joan radiantly. "I am."

"You don't know the first thing about handling men," Pat said. "Not the first thing! Imagine letting him off as easily as that."

"I'm never going to be so silly again," said Joan. "You had me imagining all sorts of things. And there was no reason for it."

"She might have felt less light-hearted if she had known that Bob had just put down the telephone when it rang again."

"Hello," said Barbara. "Wasn't it cruel of me to get you up when you had just gone to bed?" "I had five good hours of sleep. Edison said four was all anybody needed."

"I had to call. You slipped away so early. Couldn't you meet me for lunch. There's something exciting I want to tell you."

If you want to GET RID of Constipation worries Science says Today use a LIQUID Laxative

- 1. Control intestinal action exactly—no "purging" 2. Measure to suit your individual needs to the drop 3. Banish Bowel Fatigue and the laxative habit

Here's Why: Any hospital offers evidence of the harm done by harsh laxatives that drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and in some cases even affect the liver and kidneys.

The liquid test: This test has proved to many men and women that their trouble was not "weak bowels," but strong cathartics: 1. First. Select a good liquid laxative. 2. Take the dose you find suited to your system. 3. Gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving regularly without any need of stimulation.

Fine Arts Program Opens
 New Era Club Year's Work

The New Era club will open this year's work Saturday afternoon at 3:30 with a fine arts program, honoring Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins of Eastland, district president, and Mrs. James Horton, also of Eastland, district secretary of the federation, in the colonial room of the Gholson hotel. This is the eleventh formal opening of this organization which has sponsored a students' loan fund, playground parks, and at one time the Little Theater movement and many other civic and social movements.

The club has had a membership limited to 20, but has raised that number to 25 to accommodate those on the waiting list.

Mrs. O. B. Denny is the president. Under her leadership, the organization has planned one of the most interesting and instructive programs in its history. This program is based on the study of present day government, agricultural situations, art and literature all of Texas, and outstanding Texas personalities.

The organization has had an interesting and helpful history since its organization in 1922 with Mrs. John W. Thurman as its first president. The club has at all times been broad in its policies and with a first aim to interest and develop young women into active club women. Many of them have moved to different parts of the state where they are active and useful members where they reside.

There are only two charter members in the club today, Mrs. M. H. Hagaman and Mrs. O. L. Phillips. Both are well known and loved in the city for their help in various clubs. Mrs. Hagaman is a member of the state board of the federation and a regent of C. I. A.

The club has had nine presidents since its organization: Mmes. John W. Thurman, A. G. Jury, L. C. G. Buchanan, J. M. White, H. C. Anderson, O. L. Phillips, E. C. Byers, Bran Garner, and the present president, Mrs. O. B. Denny.

Those invited to attend the fine arts program, with Mrs. Perkins, honoree, giving the main address, "Federation News," are the Thursday Afternoon club of Eastland, president of the county federation, Ranger's 1920 club, Columbia Study club, New Era club, P. T. A. council, ministers' wives, teachers of the public schools with their husbands and wives, and special guests of the club members.

Wesson Oil Will Have Demonstration At Local Groceries

The Wesson Oil Company will have an interesting demonstration at the Piggly Wink and Adams & Company grocery stores all day Saturday, in order that the public may learn the new, easy way to make mayonnaise at home. The new mixer, which is put out by the Wesson Oil Company, makes mayonnaise making in the home easier than ever before, and the texture and seasoning preferred can be easily worked out to suit each family.

The mixer is so constructed that there is no chance of a failure. You merely pour the oil with one hand while you whip with the other and in very few minutes you have delicious home made mayonnaise. With this new gadget even a child can make good mayonnaise.
